

Locke December 17th 1790.

Dear Miss

of mind & have gone thro' by it and our worthy friends silence, as I did not get it either you mention to have sent by hand, nor did not know what to think, till I had the pleasure of receiving yours of yester 27th of last month, which did not surprise me, to find by it yet nothing was in yet fix'd as I was rare & shan't soon being need acquainted with how matters went; if there was any good news, and the yester receipt of yr Letter & speak to Mr. Doran, who is so good as to write in my Name, to the superious before his intress, and yest she wold be so charitable as not to defer, making her Community give a categorical answer, as to y^r point & think she had well refuse, y^r last request in conuincing is too y^r other she may not have any scruple about it, had I wrote my self the night say 5 last for it as well be done as on this occasion, and others my believe it ill, y^r I did not pay them this compliment, only Mr. Morgan, has such patience as I do, he would verily long ago given up y^r affair, as he is resolv'd to leave now from outburn'd to bring about the foundation he says: you and he will consider what is best to be done, for I durst say never will consent to your so useful

A subject, its all in of power of of Almighty, we don't know who is best for ours is, ought to be refer'd to his divine will. and as by Lady abbess, I am a foord tho' she is a good many years proff'ed yet, she is so young of the world not consent to part with her on y^t account, and as for Mr. Tribe's niece y^t is there she is richly tho' my good a person, not aback proff' as she is not very sensible as I have had, the other he told me was very clever: are not some of your ladies y^t are put in from an other Convent, who has no the most agreeable time of it, where there payable of such an undertaking if man low'd be got among them, ab both sides there would not be much difficulty to quitt each other: men would be better pleased by some acquaintance with a person than to have a stranger, & only men this as how in case of y^t getting now displeasing its to y^t ladies, you are with to have them, and case of y^t objections they made about taking any from this foundation, you must be best judge how to act so that say now more on y^t subject.

Then Edmon reason, to take it on kind of you to give me so many reasons for making use, of y^t friends to give you, on M^r Webb y^t may be one nothing low'd give me more pleasure than y^t to convey my oblige, y^t and by you'll not be contrary if M^r Fitzsimons le you me ready, for Money is at present so scarce, and such a rise on y^t Bankes in this Kingdom, y^t people land get what is due to you, & that regard ye when its pay'd, when war is in a strange Country any benefit is sensible to a person, as for my part I offer without money y^t as I know me & dont mind it.

it gives me vast pleasure to find Miss Farough, is so much please'd with teaching in y^t poor school, it shows a particular care for y^t great god, to see the delight in it, & trust this her health is better yet, in winter it will be too cold for her, and it would be that she should take care of her self, for y^t good of y^t poor here when she can be of more service than there, and to beg you will to prevent her from going to y^t her, & had an account from my friend Beth, y^t as soon as her posted, got a letter from this world where she talkt of her being gone to y^t Luttrells and her return resolution to take on there he sent you y^e letter, and said he woud have being very pleas'd it was for the foundation she had determin'd, and y^e woud never say a word to hinder y^e man y^e did, whether he has kept up to this resolution you know best: the young lady in Dublin Name is Jandles when every thing was settled f^r - Mr. Ben told us, her father came to town he cou'd not prevail on him come with her here, he is so close he need not give her leave to come, when she got company propos'd for her to travel with the fines with emmance of her in James in Street he ingag'd, not too let her want any thing during her life, we are so now of y^e coming over, by reports y^e saturday you were on y^e journey, only Mr. Doran in your^e into the brush of y^e m^r before the wrobb, to tell her you was Dapie's^s hairy, when y^e woud find you was now³ brabb in it, what woud they think of it, cou'd have woult when you were Dapie's^s, not to come this winter y^e had being inform'd of that so much on my account as on flattering his a cou'd not have do'd^d put my self to some expence at a time & had my laks for Money, and employing workmen in y^e short days, when make work come out vastly fair, and only as I mention to you I^s was resolv'd, not^t buy what cou'd be had in a few hours, or at least in a few day put my self to very or repay expence, which I am to be vart pleasure to me to find your Master, is so much chang'd in behaviour, & I thin^t there is now great^s happiness in this world for to live in union, who^s love we live with, we must^t be happy^s to have some thing to suffer, as this world is not to be our^t home^s hope: as I fint they will allow you to learn what y^e have a mind any thing you like k, may be unfull to teach her after you or my son may get over to instruct y^e if y^e please to beg y^e godly person my best exper't to Mr. M^r O'leary, and y^e former Mrs^r the sups^r and y^e present Mrs^r my wife compleat^t set of young ladies, I was sorry to hear of Mr. French's death, his family has a great loss in his de cease, a reknowned woman endear to Mr. French most^t by when you see her my best wish^s shad always after I^s and such^s was never forgot^t A her earthly to which I have a great^s affection of and beseeching me to be wife of jemima Lyndham Mrs^r Miss^r most^t to you to be her friend and you will forgive me^s for most^t
