

Suffolk Sports

Senior Scott Dunn tossed as 5-hitter against Eastern Nazarene last Wednesday.

Ramettes redeem themselves at Pine Manor doubleheader

By Ryan Foley
JOURNAL STAFF

Such is the beauty of sport. You can be humiliated one day, then redeem yourself the next.

For example, the Ramettes were swept by Endicott College on Monday by 15-13 and 13-1 scores. Not exactly humiliating, but still cause for redemption.

So on Saturday, the Ramettes produced their own brooms, sweeping a doubleheader from Pine Manor College by scores of 23-6 and 29-15.

Tammy Sprague was the victor, notching her fifth and sixth wins of the season. Erica Peterson and Jeanette Rodriguez each had five hits in the second game, while Leonard Carriglio, who was named NEWAC Player of the Week, smacked four hits of her own.

"Our offense played very well against Pine Manor," said Carr. "Sprague pitched very well and so did Michelle Kelley. We have several tough games coming up including a double-header against Daniel Webster College. I'm confident we'll get our victories though."

Rams can't come up big against Northeastern

By Ryan Foley
JOURNAL STAFF

This win would have been bigger than their victory over Brandeis College two weeks ago. Bigger than their UMass/Lowell victory at the beginning of the year. Bigger than any victory this season.

But alas, it wasn't meant to be, as Suffolk got ripped by Northeastern University on Monday, falling three runs short of that aforementioned big victory and having to settle for a heart-wrenching loss.

"We played good enough to win on any other day," said Coach Joe Walsh. "We definitely gave them a scare, considering the powerhouse that Northeastern is."

The Rams were not awed by the Huskies' Division I status though, or their threat as a powerhouse for that matter, but instead by the pitcher they faced, Northeastern's Jay O'Shaughnessy only threw for five innings versus Suffolk, yet in that short span of time he struck-out 13 batters on route to the 2-0 win.

"UMass is just a very strong team," said Walsh. "They have a tough pitching staff. They're very young. We haven't beaten them in seven years, so we've got quite a rivalry with them. It's almost like a war."

O'Shaughnessy's skills killed the Rams at the plate (they only managed a pair of singles for the day), yet all the baseball minds in attendance were not thinking solely of the performance he was giving on the mound.

"Dennis Luti pitched a heck of a ballgame for us," surmised Walsh. "He kept us into the game till the end, and though the sport-light may have been on O'Shaughnessy, I still noticed Luti."

The Rams found themselves entangled in another duel between pitchers on Saturday. Against a tough UMass/Dartmouth squad, Suffolk leaped to an early two-run lead in the first on hits from Darwin Hernandez and Chris Anderson.

UMass (7-12) knotted the game at 2-2 in the fourth inning when they replied with two runs of their own on back-to-back doubles. From there though, pitchers Rob Fournier and Suffolk's Eric Daniels both settled down respectively until the contest entered the ninth.

With one out and men on first and third, the Rams had an opportunity for victory before UMass eventually retired Rob Zeytoonian and Steve Loud to stifle their chances.

A bases-loaded single in the bottom half of the ninth ultimately gave UMass the 3-2 win.

"UMass is just a very strong team," said Walsh. "They have a tough pitching staff. They're very young. We haven't beaten them in seven years, so we've got quite a rivalry with them. It's almost like a war."

"The story of the game was Dunn," said Walsh. "But that first inning proved to be too much for Eastern Nazarene."

This week's Division III rankings for New England had the Rams (14-5) in the sixth spot dropping down two places from last week's position of fourth.

"We dropped a little in the polls, but we deserved to drop," Walsh said. "We have a big game against Amherst College on Saturday and then two against Babson College who we swept last year. I'm just hoping when the weather gets warmer, our bats will get warm again."

Coach Joe Walsh has led his Rams to a 14-5 record this season.

The Suffolk Journal

Volume 53, Number 23

Beacon Hill, Boston, Massachusetts

Wednesday, April 12, 1995

Nobel prize hopeful to speak at commencement

By Ron Vieira
JOURNAL STAFF

The university recently announced that John Hume, a Nobel Peace Prize contender influential in his struggle to end the conflict in Northern Ireland, will speak at Suffolk University's commencement exercises.

The graduation ceremony for Suffolk's College of Liberal Arts and Sciences will be held on Sunday, May 28, 1995 at 2:30 p.m. The Wang Center for the Performing Arts will be the site of the festivities.

Hume, a member of the British House of Commons from Northern Ireland, has consistently rejected all forms of violence. According to university sources, Hume's long articulation of the need for a "healing process" of dialogue and partnership have won him recognition as a leader with vision and responsibility.

Disagreement commences over speaker

By Ron Vieira
JOURNAL STAFF

University officials expressed their disappointment earlier this month, when it was discovered that officials from Boston College were actively pursuing John Hume to speak at B.C.'s commencement after his own commencement exercises.

"According to accounts of the dispute, details of which were available in the Apr. 6 edition of The Boston Globe, Boston College made the best of extensive communications with Hume and stated the Nobel Peace Prize contender to speak for B.C. graduates on May 22. The problem is that Suffolk had previously scheduled a Hume appearance for its commencement on May 28."

"In the commencement speaker sweepstakes among New England colleges and universities each year, the same dignity rarely speaks at two institutions so close in time and location," wrote Anthony Flim, a staff writer for The Globe, adding "speakers have been known to decline invitations in observance of that unspoken protocol."

University President David J. Sargant was quoted as saying that this predicament is "unusual," and added "It's not a huge issue. But I'm disappointed. It takes a little of the thrill away from our graduates."

Flim cited reactions of some other university officials and trustees as being less ambiguous. "Some said privately that B.C.'s actions constituted a 'professional discourtesy,'" and asserted that B.C. sought to steal Hume only to repair the "mess" of the Thatcher affair."

A swirl of controversy accompanied an attempt at B.C. to award former British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher with its Ignatius Medal.

For their part, B.C. officials pled ignorance regarding the repercussions of their decision to pursue Hume.

"I'm really surprised to hear there's any kind of conflict here," B.C. spokesman Doug Whiting was reported as saying. "Our graduates aren't attending Suffolk's commencement and their aren't coming to ours."

While Suffolk contacted Hume

SPEAKER
continued on page 2

about Talks" that have taken place in Northern Ireland and the Brooke Initiative. The Talks to which four parties and both governments have agreed cover three strands. These strands reflect the three sets of relationships (within Northern Ireland, Northern and Southern Ireland, and between Ireland and Britain) which John Hume had long argued were at the heart of what is called the Northern Ireland problem.

Photo by Louise Pomeroy
Class of '96 President David Tam

Faculty input a concern as evaluation handbook takes shape

By Ron Vieira
JOURNAL STAFF

A lack of faculty participation, coupled with complaints about the nature of questionnaire's content, has Class of 1996 President David Tam, searching for ways to publish a student evaluation handbook that has been months in the making.

In an effort to provide students registering for courses a means to make more informed decisions, Tam and Diego Portillo, president of the International Students Association, have resurrected the idea of a student evaluation handbook. The handbook would inform students about the kinds of evaluations that others have given courses they may be interested in and the instructors who have taught them.

"We didn't get too many responses from faculty members this year," Tam croaked, attributing the low response rate (10%) to the questions that appeared on the sample questionnaire. "We're going to have to revise the questionnaire for next year; include some questions and

HANDBOOK
continued on page 2

Suffolk flaunts fabulous finish in Forensics finals

By Dana Barisano
JOURNAL STAFF

Suffolk University placed first at the National Forensics Association's 25th anniversary tourney competition, beating out 98 schools from across the United States, including colleges and universities including Harvard University, Cornell University, University of Pennsylvania, Illinois State, ASU, Alabama, University of Florida, and West Point. The tourney was held at Eastern Michigan University this past weekend, with students participating in 1700 competitive slots in the forensics tournament.

Participating Suffolk students included Mary Cunningham, Kevin

Cossely, Russ Patten, Valley Whelan, Martin, Carlson, Sharon Swedberg, and graduating seniors Karyn Cole, Ted Furrado. Other Suffolk students were Dr. Edward Har-

FORENSICS
continued on page 2

Inside the Journal

News	1
Entertainment & Leisure	4
Editorials	6
Opinions	7
Sports	12

12 Pages

Jim, it's much, much too late for goodbyes.

Ryan gives the best of the year in Suffolk sports

Suffolk Journal

Beacon Hill, Boston, Massachusetts Wednesday, April 19, 1995

Hopeful to speak

unity of the Irish speaking our common while respecting our been Hume's goal solution to the problem that will in "spilling our sweat ng the non-volent ill rights in the late was elected to the Assembly in 1973. ted in the Constitu on of 1976, and was European Parliament ad 1989.

Faculty input a concern as evaluation handbook takes shape

By Ben Vieira
JOURNAL STAFF

A lack of faculty participation, coupled with complaints about the nature of questionnaire's content, has Class of 1996 President David Tam, searching for ways to publish a student evaluation handbook that has been months in the making.

In an effort to provide students registering for courses a means to make more informed decisions, Tam and Diego Portillo, president of the International Students Association, have resurrected the idea of a student evaluation handbook. The handbook would inform students about the kinds of evaluations that others have given courses they may be interested in and the instructors who have taught them.

Suffolk flaunts fabulous finish in Forensics final

By Dena Barlasano
JOURNAL STAFF

Suffolk University placed first at the National Forensics Association's 25th anniversary tourney competition, beating out 98 schools from across the United States. Competing colleges and universities included Harvard University, Cornell University, University of Pennsylvania, Illinois State, ASU, Alabama, University of Florida, and West Point. The tourney was held at Eastern Michigan University this past weekend, with students participating in 1700 competitive slots in the forensics tournament.

Participating Suffolk students included Mary Cunningham, Kevin

Photo by Estelita Pancher
Class of '96 President Dave Tam

Such an effort would require some cooperation with faculty. As a result, Tam and Portillo distributed samples of a questionnaire to faculty members that they'd hoped would provide the information necessary to get the handbook out of the planning stages and into the hands of students.

Unfortunately, faculty input on the questionnaires was less than impressive, Tam said.

"We didn't get too many responses from faculty members this year," Tam conceded, attributing the low response rate (10%) to the questions that appeared on the sample questionnaire. "We're going to have to revise the questionnaire for next year, include some questions and

HANDBOOK

continued on page 2

FORENSICS

continued on page 2

Inside the Journal
News	1
Entertainment & Leisure	4
Editorials	6
Opinions	7
Sports	12
12 Pages

Suffolk in NH predicting the presidential race in '96

By Dena Barlasano
JOURNAL STAFF

The results of a Suffolk University poll placed Bob Dole as the top contender in the next presidential election, racking up 46% against Clinton's 36% of the 501 registered New Hampshire voters that were surveyed.

These residents included 186 Republicans, 133 Democrats and 176 independent/unenrolled voters. The poll had a margin of error of plus or minus 4.4 percent, and also recorded 18 percent undecided.

This poll was conducted between March 6 and 10 by students in Suffolk's graduate program in professional politics, as part of their "Political Survey Research" course.

Noted political pollster and Suffolk adjunct faculty member David Paleologos supervised the research with his firm DABA Associates, Inc. of Woburn. DABA has conducted polls for 170 clients in Massachusetts for the last 10 years.

Assisting the poll was Opinion Research Dynamics of Cambridge. The results were announced at the lavish ballroom of the Omni Parker House Hotel in Boston.

Lyndon noted the likelihood of a Ross Perot or strong third candidate challenge having an impact on the race.

HANDBOOK

Continued from page 1

exclude some other questions."

When asked why he thought some faculty members objected to the questions, Tam said "They felt that the questions that were being asked wouldn't adequately describe themselves or the course."

More specifically, Tam said that many faculty members took issue with what they viewed as an overly simplified process of evaluation. "They thought that we focused too much on the easy versus difficult aspects of the exams and the proce-pher Lyndon, and radio talk show host Alexander "Shandy" Tennant."

Claproot pointed out that New Hampshire is generally a conservative state noting, "Bill Clinton has an enormous window of opportunity between now and the election." She also commented she feels the Democratic candidate will "drive" the election, with six months of living with the GOP's Contract with America.

Tennant offered up an alternative view, "The good news is Bob Dole is ahead of Clinton and the bad news is that it's not enough yet."

Lyndon noted the likelihood of a Ross Perot or strong third candidate challenge having an impact on the race.

He noted that different students "learn differently," and are considering different criteria when deciding what section of a course to register for or what professors to take. "Every professor approaches teaching differently." As a result, Tam believes students seek out professors that "match their interests."

Out of approximately 200 instructors contacted by Tam, only 20 responded. Of those 20 respondents, 17 were of a positive nature, with the remainder less so.

Tam found it ironic that the least positive responses came from instructors considered by many students as "less difficult." Tam said "some of the professors who are viewed as difficult, actually submitted approval forms, allowing students to go to their classes to issue questionnaires. And some of the professors, who were most favored by the students, ironically, didn't submit an approval form."

FORENSICS

Continued from page 1

Director of Forensic and also the national tournament director, Dr. Vicki Karns, and Dr. Richard Kropp, Director of Individual events. Also attending were graduate students/assistant coaches Kristin Ciolkoski, Meg Gossin, and Zack Elliot.

The Lincoln-Douglas (LD) debates drew competition from 85 schools. Mary Cunningham finished as the 1995 individual champion, while Suffolk University won the 1995 team championship. Kropp was enthusiastic about the finish. "This is the first time that any university has won the individual Lincoln-Douglas debate and the team Lincoln-Douglas debate the same year."

Connolly was a quarter finalist in the prose interpretation. Tad Furtado and Vickie Whelen were both octo finalists in the LD.

Kropp also added, "1994-1995 season was our most successful in recent history." He also extended thanks to Dr. Harris for the opportunity to coach the team, to the graduate assistants for their help, and to the graduating seniors and the entire team.

Any interested in joining the team for the 95-96 season, should contact Dr. Kropp at 573-8236 for more information.

itself," said Tam. "They felt that we should have put more emphasis on the learning aspect."

This faculty response has troubled Tam somewhat.

"This is difficult for me and Diego because when we first started to devise the student evaluation handbook questionnaire, we took a consensus, a student body consensus, on what the students wanted asked," Tam said, adding "most students were concerned more about the difficulty level of the course than what they would be learning."

He noted that different students "learn differently," and are considering different criteria when deciding what section of a course to register for or what professors to take. "Every professor approaches teaching differently." As a result, Tam believes students seek out professors that "match their interests."

Out of approximately 200 instructors contacted by Tam, only 20 responded. Of those 20 respondents, 17 were of a positive nature, with the remainder less so.

Tam found it ironic that the least positive responses came from instructors considered by many students as "less difficult." Tam said "some of the professors who are viewed as difficult, actually submitted approval forms, allowing students to go to their classes to issue questionnaires. And some of the professors, who were most favored by the students, ironically, didn't submit an approval form."

Despite the minimal response, Tam estimated that the student evaluation handbook should be ready for students just in time for the spring semester 1996.

FORENSICS

Continued from page 1

Director of Forensic and also the national tournament director, Dr. Vicki Karns, and Dr. Richard Kropp, Director of Individual events. Also attending were graduate students/assistant coaches Kristin Ciolkoski, Meg Gossin, and Zack Elliot.

The Lincoln-Douglas (LD) debates drew competition from 85 schools. Mary Cunningham finished as the 1995 individual champion, while Suffolk University won the 1995 team championship. Kropp was enthusiastic about the finish. "This is the first time that any university has won the individual Lincoln-Douglas debate and the team Lincoln-Douglas debate the same year."

Connolly was a quarter finalist in the prose interpretation. Tad Furtado and Vickie Whelen were both octo finalists in the LD.

Kropp also added, "1994-1995 season was our most successful in recent history." He also extended thanks to Dr. Harris for the opportunity to coach the team, to the graduate assistants for their help, and to the graduating seniors and the entire team.

Any interested in joining the team for the 95-96 season, should contact Dr. Kropp at 573-8236 for more information.

SPEAKER
Continued from page 1

through a friend, James Cintros, B.C. reportedly capitalized on the fact that Hume's son graduated from B.C. in their attempt to lure the elder Hume to its commencement exercises.

An interview with State Auditor Joseph DiNucci

By Bobby Trudo
JOURNAL CONTRIBUTOR

State Auditor Joseph DiNucci worked hard to get where he is today. After a proud boxing career, he started his career in politics at the very bottom and worked his way up to the top. What I saw in him, as I interviewed him in his Newton home, was a devoted family man who stopped the interview when his grandchild-dren came into the room, not what people perceive as a typical politician. He came across as someone who really cares about people, and someone who does what he can for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Where did you grow up?

"I was born in Nonantum, a village of Newton. When I was eight years old my family moved to Westtown for five years, and then moved back to Newton on the border of 'The Lake' [Nonantum] and Newton Corner. When I got married I moved to West Newton, and have lived there ever since."

Did your parents grow up in Newton?

"My mother was born in Italy and my father was born in America. Both of their parents were born in Italy. They both grew up in Newton, and have always been a part of the Newton community."

How far did you go in school?

"I graduated from Newton High School in 1957, and was boxing professionally at the time. I attended Boston University at night, but never graduated. In those days it was not as common to go to college as it is today."

How did you get into boxing?

"My father taught boxing as a second job at the YMCA. It was a part of his livelihood to give boxing lessons. I guess I was bred into it by watching it, looking at it and my father being a fighter. He never wanted me to make boxing my career. When I was around fifteen I got very interested in it, and won the Golden gloves a chance. I gave in 1956 when I was a junior in high school. I turned pro the next year when I was a senior in high school. From there I went on to have a pretty good boxing career."

What do you feel was your greatest achievement in boxing?

"I was New England Middle weight champion, and as a professional I was ranked in the top ten. Being recognized as one of the top middle weights in the world and being in and out of the top ten in my weight class throughout my career was a fantastic achievement."

DI NUCCI
continued on page 8

Suffolk University presents

Lowell Lecture Series '95

Family Ties: Bridging the Generation Gaps

"Living Out Loud: Life in the 90's"

Tuesday
April 25, 1995
4:30 p.m.

C. Walsh Theatre
55 Temple Street
Beacon Hill, Boston

A reception will follow. To RSVP or for more information, please call 573-8613. This program is funded by the Lowell Institute and is free and open to the public.

Anna Quindlen
Pulitzer Prize Winner,
Former New York Times Columnist,
Author of Thinking Out Loud

Suffolk in NH predicting the presidential race in '96

By Deea Barisano
JOURNAL STAFF

The results of a Suffolk University poll placed Bob Dole as the top contender in the next presidential election, racking up 46% against Clinton's 36% of the 501 registered New Hampshire voters that were surveyed.

These residents included 186 Republicans, 135 Democrats and 176 independent/unenrolled voters. The poll had a margin of error of plus or minus 4.4 percent, and also recorded 18 percent undecided.

This poll was conducted between March 6 and 10 by students in Suffolk's graduate program in professional politics, as part of their "Political Survey Research" course. Noted political pollster and Suffolk adjunct faculty member David Paleologos supervised the research with his firm DAPA Associates, Inc., of Woburn. DAPA has conducted polls for 170 clients in Massachusetts for the last 10 years.

Assisting the poll was Opinion Research Dynamics of Cambridge.

The results were announced at the lavish ballroom of the Omni Parker House Hotel in Boston. Paleologos moderated a panel consisting of former Lieutenant Governor and talk show host Marjorie Claproot, former Boston mayoral candidate and WGBH anchor Christine Lyndon, and radio talk show host Alexander "Sandy Tennant."

Claproot pointed out that New Hampshire is generally a conservative state noting, "Bill Clinton has an enormous window of opportunity between now and the election." She also commented she feels the Democratic candidate will "drive" the election, with six months of living with the GOP's Contract with America.

Tennant offered up an alternative view, "The good news is Bob Dole is ahead of Clinton and the bad news is that it's not enough yet."

Lyndon noted the likelihood of a Ross Perot or strong third candidate challenge having an impact on the race.

■ HANDBOOK Continued from page 1

exclude some other questions."

When asked why he thought some faculty members objected to the questions, Tam said "They felt that the questions that were being asked wouldn't adequately describe themselves or the course."

More specifically, Tam said that many faculty members took issue with what they viewed as an overly simplified process of evaluation. "They thought that we focused too much on the easy versus difficult aspect of the exams and of the course

itself," said Tam. "They felt that we should have put more emphasis on the learning aspect."

This faculty response has troubled Tam somewhat.

"This is difficult for me and Diago because when we first started to devise the student evaluation handbook questionnaire, we took a consensus, a student body consensus, on what the students wanted asked," Tam said, adding "most students were concerned more about the difficulty level of the course than what they would be learning."

He noted that different students "learn differently," and are considering different criteria when deciding what section of a course to register for or what professors to take. "Every professor approaches teaching differently." As a result, Tam believes students seek out professors that "match their interests."

Out of approximately 200 instructors contacted by Tam, only 20 responded. Of those 20 respondents, 17 were of a positive nature, with the remainder less so.

Tam found it ironic that the least positive responses came from instructors considered by many students as "less difficult." Tam said "some of the professors who are viewed as difficult, actually submitted approval forms, allowing students to go to their classes to issue questionnaires. And some of the professors, who were most favored by the students, ironically, didn't submit an approval form."

Despite the minimal response, Tam estimated that the student evaluation handbook should be ready for students just in time for the spring semester 1996.

■ FORENSICS Continued from page 1

ris, Director of Forensic and also the national tournament director, Dr. Vicki Kams, and Dr. Richard Kropp, Director of Individual events. Also attending were graduate students/assistant coaches Kristin Ciolkosz, Meg Gossan, and Zack Elliot.

The Lincoln-Douglas (LD) debates drew competition from 85 schools. Mary Cunningham finished as the 1995 Individual champion, while Suffolk University won the 1995 team champion. Kropp was enthusiastic about the finish, "This is the first time that any university has women the individual Lincoln-Douglas debate and the team Lincoln-Douglas debate the same year."

Connolly was a quarter finalist in the prose interpretation. Tad Furtado and Vicky Whelan were both octo finalists in the LD.

Kropp also added, "1994-1995 season was our most successful in recent history." He also extended thanks to Dr. Harris for the opportunity to coach the team, to the graduate assistants for their help, and to the graduating seniors and the entire team.

Any interested in joining the team for the 95-96 season should contact Dr. Kropp at 573-6236 for more information.

■ SPEAKER Continued from page 1

through a friend, James Cintros, B.C. reportedly capitalized on the fact that Hume's son graduated from B.C. in their attempt to lure the elder Hume to its commencement exercises.

An Interview with State Auditor Joseph DiNucci

By Bobby Trudo
JOURNAL CONTRIBUTOR

State Auditor Joseph DeNucci worked hard to get where he is today. After a proud boxing career, he started his career in politics at the very bottom and worked his way up to the top. What I saw in him, as I interviewed him in his Newton home, was a devoted family man (he stopped the interview when his grandchildren came into the room), not what people perceive as a typical politician. He came across as someone who really cares about people, and someone who does what he can for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Where did you grow up?

"I was born in Nonantum, a village of Newton. When I was eight years old my family moved to Watertown for five years, and then moved back to Newton on the border of "The Lake" (Nonantum) and Newton Corner. When I got married I moved to West Newton, and have lived there ever since."

Did your parents grow up in Newton?

"My mother was born in Italy and my father was born in America. Both of their parents were born in Italy. They both grew up in Newton, and have always been a part of the Newton community."

How far did you go in school?

"I graduated from Newton High School in 1957, and was boxing professionally at the time. I attended Boston University at night, but never graduated. In those days it was not as common to go to college as it is today."

How did you get into boxing?

"My father taught boxing as a second job at the YMCA. It was a part of his livelihood to give boxing lessons. I guess I was bred into it by watching it, looking at it and my father being a fighter. He never wanted me to make boxing my career. When I was around fifteen I got very interested in it and gave the Golden gloves a chance. I won in 1956 when I was a junior in high school. I turned pro the next year when I was a senior in high school. From there I went on to have a pretty good boxing career."

What do you feel was your greatest achievement in boxing?

"I was New England Middle weight champion, and as a professional I was ranked in the top ten. Being recognized as one of the top middle weights in the world and being in and out of the top ten in my weight class throughout my career was a fantastic achievement."

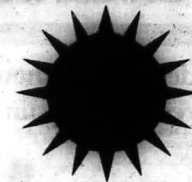

DINUCCI
continued on page 8

The LAST RAT April 26, 3-7pm

Celebrate the last day of classes with games, prizes, DJ and MORE!!!

Temple St. FFAA
APRIL 20, 1995
BEACH PARTY!!!

12-3pm, Games
Prizes, Entertainment
LIVE on Temple St.

PROGRAM COUNCIL UPCOMING EVENTS

THE TENT
Martha Bay, Quincy
Wed. MAY 10, 1995

SPRING BALL, 1995
MAY 12, Hyatt Regency
Cambridge, 7pm-1am

12-5pm, Food, DJ
Dancing and more.
$15.00 per person
Guest Tix Available
Selling FAST!!!!!!

$20.00 a ticket, tickets are limited, purchase NOW!!
Available until 4/26 1995
NO TIX SOLD AT DOOR

Suffolk University

Lowell Lecture Series '95

Family Ties: Bridging the Generation Gaps

"Living Out Loud: Life in the '90's"

Tuesday
April 25, 1995
4:30 p.m.

C. Walsh Theatre
55 Temple Street
Beacon Hill, Boston

Anna Quindlen
Pulitzer Prize Winner,
Former New York Times Columnist,
Author of *Thinking
Out Loud*

A reception will follow. To RSVP or for more information, please call 573-8613.
This program is funded by the Lowell Institute and is free and open to the public.

E & L Entertainment and Leisure

April's video releases should keep video stores busy 'til summer

By Justin Grieco
JOURNAL STAFF

Finals are right around the corner and between research papers and last minute exams, students can feel the strain of major academic stress. So take a few hours out, relax, sit back and watch a flick. The video stores have plenty to choose from for the month of April.

"Ed Wood"
Tim Burton ("Batman") directed this touching, heartfelt and funny film which tells the story of real-life filmmaker Edward D. Wood Jr. Played by Johnny Depp, Ed Wood was most definitely one of the worst filmmakers of all time. Responsible for such camp classics such as "Plan 9 From Outer Space," Wood is amazingly positive throughout his career.
It is a sappily romance but is nicely buffered by comic bits involving Beatty and his notorious love life. Being is terrific and the film is totally likable.
Grade: B

"Milk Money"
An absolute mess. This "romantic comedy" is total trash. It leaves the viewer wondering if Melanie Griffith or Ed Harris read the beyond dumb excuse for a screenplay.
Enough of the prostitute-while a heart-of-gold theme already.
Grade: F

"The River Wild"
Meryl Streep's foray into the action/adventure genre is a taut, very well acted thriller with exceptional cinematography and intense river sequences. The story is predictable and the situations slightly contrived but the film will have you hanging onto your chair with excitement.
Grade: B+

"The Specialist"
Stallone and Stone heat up the screen in this so-bad-it's-great actioner. The sex is steamy, the dialog ludicrous and the action is over-the-top. The whole production is staged with a kind of tongue-in-cheek trashiness which translates into mindless entertainment.
Grade: B-

"Forrest Gump"
The Oscar sweeper arrives on video on April 28 and is expected to hit the sales and rental charts like a rocket.
Robert Zemeckis directed this sweet story of one man's innocence and triumph over some of the most important decades in America. This movie is acted with skill by Tom Hanks and Gary Sinise but when all is said and done "Gump" is over long, predictable and slightly annoying.
The movie is simply over hyped but if expectations are kept out of the sky, "Forrest Gump" is an entertaining and well-made epic.
It will be shown on May 8, at 7pm on the State House Lawn, as part of Suffolk's Spring Week.
Grade: B

"The Saturday Night Live skit is stretched-into-a-76 minute movie, and the whole film is just a reminder of how unfunny SNL has become. It's 'Pat' is embarrassingly flat and dull. The movie bombed at the box office and once you see it, you'll know why."
Grade: F

"Love and a 45"
This film is essentially a rip-off of "Reservoir Dogs," "True Romance," "Natural Born Killers," "Killing Zoe," and "Pulp Fiction." However, it is a good rip-off.
The film borrows the attitude of "Dogs," the breakneck pace of "Romance," the sly, self-reflection of "Killers," the blood bath of "Zoe," and the snappy dialog of "Fiction." Entertaining and lively, "Love and a 45" is a true blast. The only thing missing is any hint of those films originality.
Grade: A-

"While You Were Sleeping"
Warren Beatty and wife Annette Bening star in this update of "An Affair to Remember," which was also an update of the original "Love Affair."
It is a sappily romance but is nicely buffered by comic bits involving Beatty and his notorious love life. Being is terrific and the film is totally likable.
Grade: B

"Milk Money"
An absolute mess. This "romantic comedy" is total trash. It leaves the viewer wondering if Melanie Griffith or Ed Harris read the beyond dumb excuse for a screenplay.
Enough of the prostitute-while a heart-of-gold theme already.
Grade: F

"The Specialist"
Stallone and Stone heat up the screen in this so-bad-it's-great actioner. The sex is steamy, the dialog ludicrous and the action is over-the-top. The whole production is staged with a kind of tongue-in-cheek trashiness which translates into mindless entertainment.
Grade: B-

VIDEO continued on page 5

(c) Hollywood Pictures Company. All Rights Reserved.
Bill Pullman and Sandra Bullock, the stars of Hollywood Pictures' new romantic comedy "While You Were Sleeping."

"While You Were Sleeping" is one to stay awake for

By Dan Coakley
JOURNAL STAFF

There are several elements that make up a good romantic comedy. Interesting and engaging characters for one, played by actors we can genuinely like. It must also have liberal doses of complications. The more obstacles put in front of a couple, the more we root for them to finally get together.
"While You Were Sleeping," a new romantic comedy by Jon Turteltaub, has all of these and more.
Sandra Bullock's Lucy is vulnerable, funny and quirky in a fun way. We can all sympathize with her crush from afar on a good-looking stranger who comes to her token booth on the Chicago subway every morning.
Bullock, "Speed," "Demolition Man" adds just the right amount of sweetness to the role and never falls over into cloying sentimentality.
Bill Pullman ("Spaceballs," "Ruthless People"), as Jack, the brother of Peter, the stranger Lucy saves who lies in a coma while his family believes Lucy to be his fiancée, is wonderful in the role. His attraction to the girl he thinks is his brother's wife to be is real, and his guilt over that adds realism to the suspicion he has over some discrepancy he starts to see in Lucy's story. We know the truth, but Jack is confused; he wonders how much of his suspicion is genuine and how much is jealousy.
The Callaghan family, featuring veteran actors like Peter Boyle, Glynnis Johns and Jack Warden, is funny and quirky enough, it's clear

- ### WFSR'S TOP TEN
- The ten most requested artists for the week of April 17, 1995
1. Nine Inch Nails
 2. Filter
 3. Pearl Jam
 4. Metallica
 5. Eagles
 6. Nirvana
 7. Boys II Men
 8. R. Kelly
 9. Sade
 10. Rage Against The Machine

TKE celebrates 25th anniversary at Suffolk

By Anthony N. Arzalone
JOURNAL CONTRIBUTOR

On April 18, 1970, the Suffolk chapter of TKE was founded. At the moment, the Suffolk chapter of TKE boasts 300 members, and the TKE International has hit the 2,000 mark.

Commenting on TKE's stay at Suffolk, member Steve Carson stated "It's been tough. TKE and the other Greek organizations are very discriminated against in this university." Carson mentioned that at one time there were five Greek organizations at Suffolk, and now that number has dwindled to two. "We are recognized by the school but we receive no help from them outside of this office," Carson said.

There have been numerous TKE members that have gone on to be famous. TKE boasts Elvis Presley, Ronald Reagan, Terry Bradshaw, Danny Thomas and a few Nobel Prize winners. Carson also said that this is their 25th year collecting for UNICEF and for their annual spaghetti dinner aiding the homeless.

TKE members also seem to take their scholastic duties quite seriously. The overall GPA in the Suffolk chapter is 3.2 and two members are Trustees Ambassadors. Several TKE members have also been elected to the Student Government Association.

The Suffolk chapter also keeps up healthy relations with other TKE chapters by taking several road trips. "We've visited chapters in Syracuse, Worcester, Poly Tech, even Montreal," Carson said.

New album releases will keep the request lines ringing well into the summer heat

By Justin Grieco
JOURNAL STAFF

These chart topping albums on the rock and alternative music scene are generally good and will give record buyers plenty to choose from for their summer music collection.

Juliana Hatfield - "Only Everything"
Hatfield's latest release shows off all of her strengths, meaningful lyrics, and soothing melodies. The album is definitely Hatfield's catchiest work to date.
Grade: A-

Our Lady Peace - "Navweed"
More Pearl Jam wannabe's have the Seattle sound down pat and with singles like the rocking "Stargaze" this group could easily be more than just a flash-in-the-pan.
Grade: B

Cold Water Flat
This Boston-based band has garnered lots of buzz by opening for Belly and soon the Cranberries, and the music is quite good too. Songs like the hit "Magnetic North Pole" bring back the classic rock sound.
Grade: B

Sponge - "Rotting Piñata"
This band is part Offspring, part Pearl Jam and lots of fun despite the generic quality of many of their songs.
Grade: B-

Mad Season - "Above"
Members of Alice in Chains, Pearl

Jam and the Screaming Trees combine for this Seattle supergroup. The songs are enhanced by good writing, like the hit "River of Deceit" but the album is a little too slow and could use a shot of adrenaline.
Grade: B

Bush - "Sixteen Stone"
This British band emerges as Pearl Jam and Stone Temple Pilots clones...how original! The songs however are great, and the band is good, real good. The songs are rough and fast like "Everything Zen" and "Bomb" (also featured on the "Tank Girl" soundtrack) and are drenched in mood and atmosphere. A solid effort all the way.
Grade: A-

Corrosion of Conformity - "Deliverance"
Buzzed about metal band will blow the roof off with speaker blasting tracks like "Albatross."
Grade: B+

Elastica
Female-fronted British band comes off like a twisted cross between Ace of Base and Yereca Salt. The album is consistent and songs like "Connection" provide pop novelty value that you'll be humming for months.
Grade: B-

Collective Soul
The self-titled sophomore effort from the popular rockers is a very good album. It is loaded with rocking tunes ("Gel") and plenty of finely tuned, beautifully arranged ballads.
Grade: A-

Matthew Sweet - "100% Fun"
The latest from the alternative rock singer/songwriter is an infectious blend of solid lyrical writing and great, low-key vocal harmonies. A very fun pop collection.
Grade: A-

Oasis - "Definitely Maybe"
Snobby British band album has a strong set of songs and plenty of catchy hooks. Now if only they can put aside their egos for a minute...
Grade: B

VIDEO
Continued from page 4

"Timecop"
A really entertaining Van Damme movie! What a concept! This futuristic time travel adventure is unusually intelligent and well plotted. Van Damme is his usual dead pan self but the supporting cast, including Ron Silver, as the villain make "Timecop" an above average action film.
By the way, the movie is also a very nice, very short, 90 minutes.
Grade: B

"Wes Craven's New Nightmare"
Director Wes Craven attempts to

Mike Watt - "ball-hog or tug-boat"
Indie rock master Watt is joined by the likes of Eddie Vedder, Henry Rollins, David Pinner and many others for an alterna-rock festival. Lots of fun, tastefully done with hit songs, "Big Train" and "Against the 70's."
Grade: A-

Better Than Ezra - "Deluxe"
REMeque rock band will get plenty of airplay on the strength of their catchy arrangement of mid-tempo tracks.
Grade: B+

Radiohead - "The Bends"
This sophomore effort outdoes the bands incredible first album. Loaded with chilling ballads ("Fake Plastic Trees") and heavy industrial rock tracks (Radiohead more than proves themselves. The album plays like a Nine Inch Nails effort with better vocals and a more sedated perception of rage.
Grade: A

Various Artists - "Encomium: A Tribute to Led Zepplin"
The Led Zep tribute disc avoids disaster but is still a hit-or-miss effort nonetheless. The strong tracks include A Non Blondes rendition of "Misty Mountain Hop," Hootie and the Blowfish doing a folk version of "Hey, What Can I Do," Sheryl Crowe's passionate "D'yer Mak'er," and Stone Temple Pilots' funky "Dancing Days." The true stand out however is Robert Plant and Tori Amos doing a duet of "Down by the Seaside."
Grade: B+

Traveling?

Low Student, Teacher & Youth Airfares

International Student, Teacher & Youth ID

Embark & Depart Passes

Work & Study Ahead Programs

Adventure Tours

Car Rental & Travel Guides

Language Classes & Much More!

FREE Student Travel Magazine

Council Travel

729 Boylston St
Boston, MA 02116
(617) 266-1926

revive the horror franchise he created with this weak, pretentious, and incoherent bore.

Craven can't seem to find the line between his archy, Freudian vision and a clichéd, run-of-the-mill slasher flick. The result is a stylish but unoriginal mother-and-child-in-jeopardy film.

Some witty moments involving producer Robert Shay, Craven himself and the always wonderful Robert Englund (playing Krueger yet again), are the only worthwhile elements which make this watchable.

Better luck next time Wes.
Grade: C

Book now before the rush

LONDON $199

SHANNON	$200
PHARIS	$279
ROME	$319
ATHENS	$345
MADRID	$369
COFENHAGEN	$319
MOSCOW	$349
FRANKFURT	$289
CAIRO	$399

Pares are each way based on a round trip purchase from Boston. Student or faculty ID may be required. Taxes & surcharges not included. Pares subject to change. FREE Student Travel Magazine!

Council Travel

729 Boylston St
Boston, MA 02116
(617) 266-1926

Editorials

Try to be strong

Yes, this is the last issue of the Suffolk Journal for the year.

We'll wait if you need to get a hankie. This past year, the Journal has tried to give you the best news, entertainment and sports, and hopefully, you agree we've tried our best.

If not, maybe you can come down next year and help out. As has been said in this space often enough, the Journal is YOUR student newspaper.

Only you can help make the Journal more to your liking. Only you can help the Journal live up to its potential.

Only you can make the Journal YOUR newspaper. We on the Journal staff would like to take this time to thank everyone who has helped out this past year. Whether it was help in the form of work, or support, or Twinkies, it was all of you, and you all know who you are, who make the task of putting out a paper every week easier.

We really couldn't have done it without you. The Suffolk Journal wishes all of you out there good luck on your finals. As soon as that hurdle is passed, may we suggest taking some time to rest, relax and just plain enjoy yourselves.

You deserve it.

QUOTE OF THE YEAR

"I don't think human flesh would taste that bad. Not if it were frozen properly."

— Christian Engler, Managing Editor of the Suffolk Journal, discussing the book "Alive" during a Journal production day.

Okay, faculty, it's your turn

Many have complained about low student involvement in Suffolk, from activities to sporting events to SGA elections. For a change, the low turn-out of this time is on the part of the faculty.

Dave Tam and Diego Portillo's student evaluation handbook has received a low response rate among Suffolk professors, with about 10% of professors actually responding to the questionnaires.

It is understandable that some teachers may not like the process, or not see the value in it. Sometimes, students feel the same way.

Some of the professors have stated they have problems with the forms, or with the way some of the questions are phrased. There has been some concern about students using the handbook to select only the "easy" teachers.

If a majority of Suffolk students consider one professor to be "hard," there is usually good reason for that. Perhaps the professor's tests are overly difficult, or he or she presents the material in an oblique or incomprehensible manner.

The handbook does not only help students, it can help the teaching staff as well. Professors can see how their students evaluate them and perhaps alter their teaching style accordingly.

Letters

Fires in the Mirror; Suffolk has much to be proud of

Dear Dan Coakley, I wanted to thank you on your thoughtful and well written critique of Fires in the Mirror by Anna Devere Smith. Having seen the play on Friday, April 7, I thought you represented what was interesting about the process and the production of this unusual and creative piece. I have some comments I would like to add to yours as I reflect back on my experience as part of the audience. The play was a profoundly moving experience — as expressed by the student actors (whose lives I believe have been changed by this experience) and by viewers in the post-play discussion. One student said it was the best Friday night she'd spent and she wished that everyone at Suffolk had had the opportunity to see the play. I, as an experienced theatre-goer, was very touched by this performance. The process of preparing for the play was also rather extraordinary. Dr. Plotkins organized a trip for the actors to Crown Heights to meet their characters and others involved in this terrible incident. There were workshops that dealt with racism, multicultural dinners, and African dance workshops for a cast that was extremely diverse.

The play ran for three nights. On Friday night, there were lots of empty seats and I'm told that very few Suffolk University administrative staff or faculty came out for this play. I realized this with some puzzlement and some dismay; here was a very special opportunity being offered to the Suffolk community that was being missed, an opportunity for reflection and certainly a chance to support and applaud young people who are making strides in building community in a difficult world. It seemed a lost opportunity, not only for classes of Suffolk students who could have benefited tremendously from this performance and the thoughtful post-theatre discussion. But its impact was so broad that I found myself wishing there had been an opportunity to bring in high school classes from all over the city to see this play. With much to be learned from the play and the experience of the student actors, I thought what a tremendous community service Suffolk University could have offered.

Instead, there were lots of empty seats. Those of us who participated in this event go away much richer for it. I'm most impressed with what Dr. Plotkins and these young people have done. I hope that the play will be resurrected for the entire Suffolk and the greater Boston community, with the active support of the administration.

I congratulate the Theatre Arts Department and the students who participated. Suffolk University has much to be proud of in them.

Susan Bamaig
Deputy Director,
Community Health
Leadership Program

Who are you calling a student leader?

Dan Coakley — Someone called me a "student leader" the other day.

I looked around to see if Arlene Santiago was behind me.

I certainly don't think of myself as a "student leader." I'm just some guy who was too dumb to run when last year's Suffolk Journal editor, Gordon Glenn, tapped me on the shoulder and said "TAG, you're editor."

Journalists, as a rule, don't make good leaders. We do not try to lead people or shape opinions or take action; at least not if we're doing our job properly. We tell people what happened, try to put it in some kind of context if possible, and let others take it from there.

Journalists don't lead, they stand on the sidelines and tell others what's happening. Impartiality and fairness are important to the work of journalism, not leadership and the ability to incite people.

So, does being editor of the Suffolk Journal make me a leader? To be a leader, one must have a following, I guess. Who follows me? The readers of the Journal?

Okay, everyone out there, come down to the Journal offices and give me money! The line forms to the right. Does the Journal lead public opinion at Suffolk? As much work as we all put in to the paper, in our news reporting, entertainment articles, features and op-ed pieces, I doubt people are

Don't you forget about me, says Jim

Jim Behrle — So Long, Suffolians! I'm going out of style quicker than disco!

It's the end of the spring semester, and historically it's the time that seniors line up like roaches towards a bug hotel to weep and moan about how much they're going to miss this glorified high school.

I got two words for you: SHOW ME TO THE DOOR!

After four years in this scummy little garage, I'm ready to slip-slice away! No more books, dirty looks, TKE dorks, round tables, chandeliers, or waiting in line for fuschball.

Give me my boarding pass to the real world. One way. No stops. In-flight movie? The Exorcist!

Suffolk is like a bad tattoo written deep in my soul. Suffolk University is the tattoo worm up my ass. Suffolk University is the fly in my gyro.

I want to watch this place come down around my ankles. I'd enjoy watching the carthogen up and munch on the Sawyer building, like a brick chimichanga! I wouldn't mind if God suddenly decided to try his walking boots all over Ridgeway! I'd rather like it if Magilla Gorilla moseyed on by and used Fenton as a toothpick!

But, wait, Jim, you say. You've learned nothing at Suffolk? I belong at Suffolk. So, I'm never leaving! I'm taking up residence in the Venture office! Bring in the Chia Pet! Mom, send me my pants! I'm changing my name to Jim Venture!

I'll fall every course they throw at n never have home here type these v I'm so old! the firehos write these withoutak my own s Jim Journ many stor ticles about me, I will make You'll mention of become so of on Alpo all the ticking brain drills But, crys did prom Andy, I'd drinking de So, I go shove-off. Keep y ground, y clauds, y cages, and oves. And m all my art reputation

The Suffolk Journal
By the students, for the students, since 1936

Dan Coakley, Editor-in-Chief

Mike Shaw, Executive Editor
Roi Vieira, News Editor
Justin Grieco, Entertainment Editor
Jim Behrle, Columnist
Dr. Gerald Richman, Advisor

Christian Engler, Managing Editor
Karen M. Courtney, Business Manager
Ryan Foley, Sports Editor
Erskine Plummer, Photo Editor
Norine Bacigalupo, Journal Consultant

The Suffolk Journal is the student newspaper of Suffolk University. It is the mission of the Suffolk Journal to provide the Suffolk community with the best reporting of news, events, current trends and styles, entertainment, sports and opinions. The reporting, views and opinions in the Suffolk Journal are solely those of the editors and staff of the Suffolk Journal and do not reflect those of Suffolk University, unless otherwise stated. The Suffolk Journal does not discriminate against any persons for any reason and complies with all university policies concerning equal opportunity. A comprehensive copy of the Suffolk Journal's editorial policy, operating procedures, and advertising policy is available upon request.

28 Dorne Street • Boston, Massachusetts 02114 • Phone & Fax (617) 573-8323

Voices of Suffolk By Christian Engler and Erskine Plummer

Besides studying, what are you doing to prepare for fin

"I either go to the Roxy, M80 or El Panino, just so I don't get stressed out."	"I will either watch TV, read books, especially Tom Clancy, or just go out with a few friends."	"I sleep. I sleep as much as I can!"	"The definite fact that I'm going to China this summer gets me through everything."	"I try to read books not related to school doing that, ing at the Office! It rejuvenates if Christine Nsiah Senior

Editorials

Try to be strong

Yes, this is the last issue of the Suffolk Journal for the year. We'll wait if you need to get a hankie.

This past year, the Journal has tried to give you the best news, entertainment and sports, and hopefully, you agree we've tried our best.

If not, maybe you can come down next year and help out. As has been said in this space often, the Journal is YOUR student newspaper.

Only you can help make the Journal more to your liking. Only you can help the Journal live up to its potential.

Only you can make the Journal YOUR newspaper.

We on the Journal staff would like to take this time to thank everyone who has helped out this past year. Whether it was help in the form of work, or support, or Twinkies, it was all of you, and you all know who you are, who make the task of putting out a paper every week easier.

We really couldn't have done it without you.

The Suffolk Journal wishes all of you out there good luck on your finals. As soon as that hurdle is passed, may we suggest taking some time to rest, relax and just plain enjoy yourselves.

You deserve it.

QUOTE OF THE YEAR

"I don't think human flesh would taste that bad. Not if it were frozen properly."

— Christian Engler, Managing Editor of the Suffolk Journal, discussing the book "Alive" during a Journal production day.

Okay, faculty, it's your turn

Many have complained about low student involvement in Suffolk, from activities to sporting events to SGA elections. For a change, the low turn-out this time is on the part of the faculty.

Dave Tam and Diego Portillo's student evaluation handbook has received a low response rate among Suffolk professors, with about 10% of professors actually responding to the questionnaire.

It is the kind of example the faculty should be presenting to the students!

Some of the professors have stated they have problems with the forms, or with the way some of the questions are phrased. There has been some concern about students using the handbook to select only the "easy" teachers.

If a majority of Suffolk students consider one professor to be "hard," there is usually good reason for that. Perhaps the professor's tests are overly difficult, or he or she presents the material in an oblique or incomprehensible manner.

The handbook does not only help students, it can help the teaching staff as well. Professors can see how their students evaluate them and perhaps alter their teaching style accordingly.

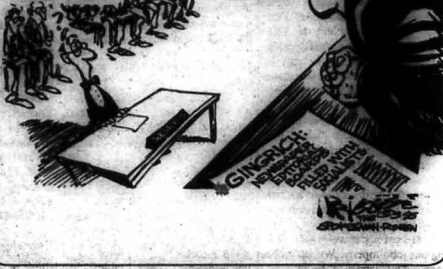

As difficult as some of the material taught here at Suffolk can be, students will not learn from obscure teaching methods. If a student does not relate to a particular teacher's style, then the student's time and money, as well as the teacher's, has been wasted.

So come on, faculty. This is something the students at Suffolk need to make their decisions about classes to take.

It is understandable that some teachers may not like the process, or not see the value in it.

Sometimes, students feel the same way.

ARE YOU NOW OR HAVE YOU EVER BEEN THE MEMBER OF A NEWSPAPER EDITORIAL BOARD?

Letters

Fires in the Mirror: Suffolk has much to be proud of

Dear Dan Coakley,

I wanted to thank you on your thoughtful and well written critique of Fires in the Mirror by Anna Devere Smith. Having seen the play on Friday, April 7, I thought you represented what was interesting about the process and the production of this unusual and creative piece.

I have some comments I would like to add to yours as I reflect back on my experience as part of the audience. The play was a profoundly moving experience — as expressed by the student actors (whose names I believe have been changed by this experience) and by viewers in the post-play discussion. One student said it was the best Friday night she'd spent and she wished that everyone at Suffolk had had the opportunity to see the play.

I, as an experienced theatre-goer, was very touched by this performance. The process of preparing for the play was also rather extraordinary. Dr. Plotkins organized a trip for the actors to Crown Heights to meet their characters and others involved in this terrible incident. There were workshops that dealt with racism, multicultural dinners, and African dance workshops for a cast that was extremely diverse.

The play ran for three nights. On Friday night, there were lots of empty seats and I'm told that very few Suffolk University administrative staff or faculty came out for this play. I realized this with some puzzlement and some dismay; here was a very special opportunity being offered to the Suffolk community that was being missed, an opportunity for reflection and certainly a chance to support and applaud young people who are making strides in building community in a difficult world. It seemed a lost opportunity, not only for classes of Suffolk students who could have benefited tremendously from this performance and the thoughtful post-theatre discussion. But it was myself so broad that I found myself wishing there had been an opportunity to bring in high school classes from all over the city to see this play.

With much to be learned from the play and the experience of the student actors, I thought, what a tremendous community service Suffolk University could have offered.

Instead, there were lots of empty seats. Those of us who participated in this event go away much richer for it. I'm most impressed with what Dr. Plotkins and these young people have done. I hope that the play will be resurrected for the entire Suffolk and the greater Boston community, with the active support of the administration.

I congratulate the Theatre Arts Department and the students who participated. Suffolk University has much to be proud of in them.

Susan Buzaglo
Deputy Director,
Community Health
Leadership Program

Who are you calling a student leader? Don't you forget about me, says Jim

Dan Coakley

Someone called me a "student leader" the other day.

I looked around to see if Arlene Santiago was behind me.

I certainly don't think of myself as a "student leader." I'm just some guy who was too dumb to run when last year's Suffolk Journal editor, Gordon Glenn, tapped me on the shoulder and said "TAG, you're editor."

Journalists, as a rule, don't make good leaders. We do not try to lead people or shape opinions or take action; at least not if we're doing our job properly. We tell people what happened, try to put it in some kind of context if possible, and let others take it from there.

Journalists don't lead, they stand on the sidelines and tell others what's happening. Impartiality and fairness are important to the work of journalism, not leadership and the ability to incite people.

So, does being editor of the Suffolk Journal make me a leader?

To be a leader, one must have a following, I guess. Who follows me? The readers of the Journal?

Okay, everyone out there, come down to the Journal offices and give me money!

The line forms to the right. Does the Journal lead public opinion at Suffolk? As much work as we all put in to the paper, in our news reporting, entertainment articles, features and op-ed pieces, I doubt people are picking up the Journal every Wednesday wondering "What is Jim Behrle's stand on Bosnia?"

We present our opinions, both in op-ed pieces and in the entertainment reviews, not to lead people or change their opinions, but to give readers something to think about. If Justin Grieco likes about "Pulp Fiction," it doesn't translate into millions at the box office. It gives Suffolk students the chance to see one person's opinion before shelling out their hard-earned seven bucks. "You know, I agree with what Justin said about 'Freddy's Back,' maybe I'll agree with him about 'Pulp Fiction.'"

Is this leadership? Someone else could just have easily said "I never agree with a thing Justin says. He hated 'The Mangler,' so I'm sure I'll love it."

Student leaders are generally heads of organizations like COP or SGA, organizing programs and activities or battling with the administration over tuition hikes. When- ever students are trying to change or write policy for the University, you can count on me and the Journal to cover it, or at least try to.

In other words, tell everyone about it. I have never tried to lead anyone. I don't feel comfortable with that responsibility. I go through life with my own set of opinions, and will give them freely to anyone who asks (or even displays the mildest interest), but I

COAKLEY continued on page 8

Jim Behrle

So Long, Suffolksians! I'm going out of style quicker than disco!

It's the end of the spring semester, and historically it's the time that seniors line up like roaches towards a bug hotel to weep and moan about how much they're going to miss this glorified high school.

I got two words for you: SHOW ME TO THE DOOR!

After four years in this scummy little garage, I'm ready to slip-slide away!

No more books, dirty looks, TKE dorks, round tables, chandeliers, or waiting in line for fuschball.

Give me my boarding pass to the real world. One way. No stops. In-flight movie? The Exorcist!

Suffolk is like a bad tattoo written deep in my soul. Suffolk University is the harem worn up my ass. Suffolk University is the fly in my eye.

I want to be a celebrity, man. People follow me wherever I go on campus, looking for autographs, tongs of hair, pieces of my clothing, samples of my urine.

I belong at Suffolk. I'm never leaving! I'd rather like it if Magilla Gonilla moseyed on by and used Mented as a toothpick!

But, wait, Jim, you say. You've learned nothing at Suffolk?

That's not true. I was very fortunate to learn the most important lesson of my life at Suffolk University. That lesson was this: THAT I ALREADY KNOW EVERYTHING!

I'm omniscient, baby! I played you in Trivial Pursuit. I'd have that "Full-wedgie" and be prancing in the winner's circle before you even had a turn! If I went on Jeopardy! they'd be as broke as Congress!

I shouldn't just get A's. They should give me Z's! Even the alphabet isn't big enough to hold me!

Oh, who am I kidding?

Without Suffolk University, I'm just another pathetic little weasel looking for a rock to suck on. Suffolk taught me everything I know. Suffolk University is responsible for bringing out the real Jim (frightening, ain't it?).

The Suffolk Journal has brought me more fame and fortune than even I could have foreseen. I'm like a celebrity, man. People follow me wherever I go on campus, looking for autographs, tongs of hair, pieces of my clothing, samples of my urine.

I belong at Suffolk. I'm never leaving! I'm taking up residence in the Venture office! Bring in the Chia Pet! Mom, send me your pants! I'm changing my name to Jim Venture!

I'll fall every course they throw at me, just so I will never have to relinquish my home here at the big SU! I'll type these weekly articles 'til I'm so old they'll have to turn the firehoses on me. Hell, I'll write these weekly ditties without a Journal! I'll start my own newspaper! The Jim Journal! They'll be so many stories about me, articles about me, horoscopes about me, pictures of me—it will make you Jim sick!

You'll spew at the very mention of my name! You'll become so tired of me you'll drop out of Suffolk and snick on Alpo all day, listening to the ticking sounds of your brain drying up!

But, come to think of it, I did promise my brother Andy. I'd join that blood-drinking demon cult within.

So, I guess this is the big shove-off.

Keep your feet on the ground, your head in the clouds, your pets in their cages, and your Fresca in the oven.

And make sure to burn all my articles, I've got a reputation to uphold, baby!

Voices of Suffolk By Christian Engler and Erskine Plummer

Besides studying, what are you doing to prepare for finals?

"I either go to the Roxy, M80 or El Panino, just so I don't get stressed out."	"I will either watch TV, read books, especially Tom Clancy, or just go out with a few friends."	"I sleep. I sleep as much as I can!"	"The definite fact that I'm going to China this summer gets me through everything."	"I try to read books that are not related to school. If I'm not doing that, I'm dancing at the Officers or Roxy. It rejuvenates the mind."

28 Dorne Street • Boston, Massachusetts 02114 • Phone & Fax (617) 573-8323

Letters

In the Mirror: Suffolk has much to be proud of

... Coakley...
... to thank you...
... and well write...
... by Anna DeVere...
... on April 7, I thought...
... created what was...
... about the process...
... and creative piece...
... to add to yours as...
... on my expert...
... of the audience...
... was a profoundly...
... as every student...
... I believe have...
... by viewers in the...
... discussion. One...
... it was the best...
... she'd spent and...
... ad that everyone...
... the play...
... an experienced the-

...-goer, was very touched by this performance. The process of preparing for the play was also rather extraordinary. Dr. Plotkins organized a trip for the actors to Crown Heights to meet their characters and others involved in this terrible incident. There were workshops that dealt with racism, multicultural dinners, and African dance workshops for a cast that was extremely diverse.

The play ran for three nights. On Friday night, there were lots of empty seats and I'm told that very few Suffolk University administrative staff or faculty came out for this play. I realized this with some puzzlement and some dismay: here was a very special opportunity being offered to the Suffolk community that was being missed, an opportunity for reflection and certainly a chance to sup-

Who are you calling a student leader? Don't you forget about me, says Jim

Dan Coakley

Someone called me a "student leader" the other day.

I looked around to see if Arlene Santiago was behind me.

I certainly don't think of myself as a "student leader." I'm just some guy who was too dumb to run when last year's Suffolk Journal editor, Gordon Glenn, tapped me on the shoulder and said "TAG, you're editor."

Journalists, as a rule, don't make good leaders. We do not try to lead people or shape opinions or take action; at least not if we're doing our job properly. We tell people what happened, try to put it in some kind of context if possible, and let others take it from there.

Journalists don't lead, they stand on the sidelines and tell others what's happening. Impartiality and fairness are important to the work of journalism, not leadership and the ability to incite people.

To be a leader, one must have a following, I guess. Who follows me? The readers of the Journal?

Okay, everyone out there, come down to the Journal office and give me money!

Does the Journal lead public opinion at Suffolk? As much work as we all put in to the paper, in our news reporting, entertainment articles, features and op-ed pieces, I doubt people are picking up the Journal every Wednesday wondering "What is Jim Behrle's stand on Bosnia?"

We present our opinions, both in op-ed pieces and in the entertainment reviews, not to lead people or change their opinions, but to give readers something to think about. If Justin Grisco likes about "Pulp Fiction," it doesn't translate into millions at the box office. It gives Suffolk students the chance to see one person's opinion before shelling out their hard-earned seven bucks. You know, I agree with what Justin said about "Freddy's Back," maybe I'll agree with him about "Pulp Fiction."

Is this leadership? Someone else could just have easily said "I never agree with a thing Justin says. He hated 'The Mangler,' so I'm sure I'll love it."

Student leaders are generally heads of organizations like COP or SGA, organizing programs and activities or battling with the administration over tuition hikes. Whenever students are trying to change or write policy for the University, you can count on me and the Journal to cover it, or at least try to.

In other words, tell everyone about it. I have never tried to lead anyone. I don't feel comfortable with that responsibility. I go through life with my own set of opinions, and will give them freely to anyone who asks (or even displays the mildest interest), but I

COAKLEY
continued on page 8

Jim Behrle

So Long, Suffolkians! I'm going out of style quicker than disco!

It's the end of the spring semester, and historically it's the time that seniors line up like roaches towards a bug hotel to weep and moan about how much they're going to miss this glorified high school.

I got two words for you: SHOW ME TO THE DOOR!

After four years in this scummy little garage, I'm ready to slip-slide away!

No more books, dirty looks, TKE dorks, round tables, chandeliers, or waiting in line for fuschall.

Give me your boarding pass to the real world. One way. No stops. In-flight movie? The Exorcist!

Suffolk is like a bad tattoo written deep in my soul. Suffolk University is the tapeworm up my ass. Suffolk University is the fly in my gyro.

I want to watch this place come down, around my ankles. I'd enjoy watching the earth open up and munch on the Sawyer building, like a brick chimichanga! I wouldn't mind if God suddenly decided to try his walking boots all over Ridgeway!

I'd rather like it if Magilla Gorilla moseyed on by and used Penton as a toothpick!

But, wait, Jim, you say. You've learned nothing at Suffolk?

That's not true. I was very fortunate to learn the most important lesson of my life at Suffolk University. That lesson was this: THAT I ALREADY KNOW EVERYTHING!

I'm omniscient, baby! If I played you in Trivial Pursuit, I'd have that "Full wedge" and be prancing in the winner's circle before you even had a turn! If I went on Jeopardy! they'd be as broke as Congress!

I shouldn't just get A's. They should give me Z's!

Even the alphabet isn't big enough to hold me!

Oh, who am I kidding? Without Suffolk University, I'm just another pathetic little weasel looking for a rock to suck on.

Suffolk University is responsible for bringing out the real Jim (frightening, ain't it?).

The Suffolk Journal has brought me more fame and fortune than even I could have foreseen. I'm like a celebrity, man. People follow me wherever I go on campus, looking for autographs, tugs of hair, pieces of my clothing, samples of my urine.

I belong at Suffolk. So, I'm never leaving!

I'm taking up residence in the Venture office! Bring in the Chia Pet! Mom, send me my pants! I'm changing my name to Jim Venture!

I'll fail every course they throw at me, just so I will never have to relinquish my home here at the big SU! I'll type these weekly articles to I'm so old they'll have to turn the firehoses on me. Hell, I'll write these weekly dummies without a journal! I'll startup my own newspaper, The Jim Journal! They'll be so many stories about me, articles about me, horoscopes about me, pictures of me—it will make you Jim sick!

You'll spew at the very mention of my name! You'll become so tired of me you'll drop out of Suffolk and smack on Alpo all day, listening to the ticking sounds of your brain trying to wrap its head around this.

But, come to think of it, I did promise my brother Andy, I'd join that blood-drinking demon cult with him.

So, I guess this is the big shove-off.

Keep your feet on the ground, your head in the clouds, your pets in their cages, and your Fresca in the oven.

And make sure to burn all my articles, I've got a reputation to uphold, baby!

Voices of Suffolk
By Christian Engler and Erskine Plummer

Besides studying, what are you doing to prepare for finals?

"I either go to the Roxy, M80 or El Panino, just so I don't get stressed out."	"I will either watch TV, read books, especially Tom Clancy, or just go out with a few friends."	"I sleep. I sleep as much as I can!"	"The definite fact that I'm going to China this summer gets me through everything."	"I try to read books that are not related to school. If I'm not doing that, I'm dancing at the Officers or Roxy. It rejuvenates the mind."
Gobena Demena Junior	Joe Cheverle Sophomore	Dahung Le Sophomore	Nancy Summers Senior	Christine Nsahai Senior

Suffolk Journal
for the students, since 1936

Editor-in-Chief
Christian Engler, Managing Editor
Karen M. Courtney, Business Manager
Ryan Foley, Sports Editor
Erskine Plummer, Photo Editor

Norine Baicalupo, Journal Consultant

Suffolk University. It is the mission of the Suffolk Journal to provide news, events, current trends and styles, entertainment, sports and other information of interest to the students and staff of the Suffolk University. The Suffolk Journal does not discriminate on the basis of race, sex, religion, or ethnicity in its policies, procedures, and advertising policy. A policy, operating procedures, and advertising policy is available upon request.

ussets 02114 • Phone & Fax (617) 573-8323

COAK
Contin

don't try in. I don't rallies.
If you disagree w
Not ex
Okay at the Jour can be led production gather and I also resp dissatisfie give the st sible when Try to lent of "P Vanderbilt
Yes, w disorganiz year. Many writes as were pleas happenings cover. Part ter, was d editor to c that we h in this sem
Ron Vieira work he h
But I around can slipped. M that, I don
I know down beca building, c vacant sp torial anal to find out hope I ha year's stat have pleas

Don't you forget about me, says Jim

That's not true. I was very fortunate to learn the most important lesson of my life at Suffolk University. That lesson was that: I ALREADY KNOW EVERYTHING!

I'm omniscient, baby! If I played you in Trivial Pursuit, I'd have that "Full-wedge" and be prancing in the winner's circle before you even had a turn! If I went on Jeopardy! they'd be as broke as Congress!

I shouldn't just get A's. They should give me Z's! Even the alphabet isn't big enough to hold me! Oh, who am I kidding?

Without Suffolk University, I'm just another pathetic little weasel looking for a rock to suck on. Suffolk taught me everything I know. Suffolk University is responsible for bringing out the real Jim (frightening, ain't it?).

The Suffolk Journal has brought me more fame and fortune than even I could have foreseen. I'm like a celebrity, man. People follow me wherever I go on campus, looking for autographs, tongs of hair, pieces of my clothing, samples of my urine.

I belong at Suffolk. So, I'm never leaving! I'm taking up residence in the Venture office! Bring in the Chia Pet! Mom, send me my pants! I'm changing my name to Jim Venture!

I'll fall every course they throw at me, just so I will never have to relinquish my home here at the big SU! I'll type these weekly articles 'til I'm so old they'll have to turn the firehoses on me. Hell, I'll write these weekly ditties without a Journal! I'll start up my own newspaper, The Jim Journal! They'll be so many stories about me, articles about me, horoscopes about me, pictures of me—it will make you Jim sick!

You'll spew at the very mention of my name! You'll become so tired of me you'll drop out of Suffolk and snuck on Alpo all day, listening to the ticking sounds of your brain drying up!

But, come to think of it, I did promise my brother Andy, I'd join that blood-drinking demon cult with him.

So, I guess this is the big shove-off. Keep your feet on the ground, your head in the clouds, your pets in their cages, and your Fresca in the oven.

And make sure to burn all my articles. I've got a reputation to uphold, baby!

By Christian Engler and Erskine Plummer

What are you doing to prepare for finals?

"The definite fact that I'm going to China this summer gets me through everything."

Nancy Summers
Senior

"I try to read books that are not related to school. If I'm not doing that, I'm dancing at the Offshoots or Floxy. It rejuvenates the mind."

Christine Nsahlai
Senior

COAKLEY Continued from page 7

don't try to change anyone's opinion. I don't try to lead any protests or rallies.

If you disagree with me, fine. If I disagree with you, fine.

Not exactly leadership, is it? Okay, I lead the crew down here at the Journal, as much as this crew can be led. I lead the charge every production day to put the paper together and send it out to the printers.

I take responsibility when people are dissatisfied with the Journal, and give the credit to the people responsible when they like something.

Try to imagine the Suffolk equivalent of "F Troop" (with Jim Behrle as Vanderbilt).

Yes, we have been somewhat disorganized down here this past year. Many of the stories have been written at the last minute, and there were plenty of events and important happenings we just weren't able to cover. Part of that, at least last semester, was due to the lack of a news editor to cover these things, a fact that we have been lucky to change this semester with the addition of Ron Vieira to the staff, and the great work he has done.

But I have heard grumblings around campus that the Journal has slipped. Maybe there is some truth to that. I don't know.

I know how hard all of us work down here. This year was sort of a rebuilding year, with me as the incoming editor trying to fill all the vacant spots as last year's under-collectors have graduated. I did manage to find some very good people, and I hope I have set the stage for next year's staff. Next year's editor will have plenty of people with experience from this year to rely on next year. I guess you could call that leadership. I don't know, I was too busy scrambling at the time, trying to put out an issue every week.

It seems to me an effective leader inspires those who follow him. He convinces them to do their best and pull together and win one for the gipper.

Or words to that effect. Have I done that? Wow, I'm impressed.

It just doesn't seem that way to me. I was too busy coping.

Maybe that is what leadership is, though. I may not have been a charismatic Jack Kennedy-like figure, rallying the troops and inspiring loyalty. I've just been quietly toiling down here to put out the best newspaper we can.

I've seen the people I work with down here grow in experience and talent. I've seen the Suffolk Journal get better each week; even though we are not to the high standards I may imagine for us (then again, neither is the Boston Globe), we are on a road that brings improvement with every week of experience.

Maybe the best kind of leadership is quiet, setting an example by hard work rather than standing aloof from the crowd and leading from atop a podium.

I've seen the crew I've worked with down here work harder and harder every week, and I've been able to lessen my individual burden as I've seen them learn and gain more confidence and experience.

Good, maybe I've been a leader after all.

All I know is I'm tired, and I want to go home and get some sleep.

Say, Ryan. TAG! You're editor.

DINUCCI Continued from page 7

How did you make the switch from boxing to politics?

"It was through my boxing that I met Speaker of the House, John Thompson, and he liked how I boxed. He grew to like me, and let me work at the State House as a page the summer before my senior year. As a page I was assigned to a committee. I started getting bills for representatives: answering phone calls, bringing in messages, running messages back and forth - that's how you learn. I learned the business from the bottom up. After graduating from high school I worked at the State House full time. It was from there that I learned about state government, the legislature and how it operated, and what a profound impact government had on the lives of people."

What were your first few jobs in politics?

"I never planned on running for public office, but when my boxing career was over a legislative seat opened up in my district. I decided to run for it, because I felt I could do as good a job as anybody. I ran hard for it and won the seat. After that I was promoted to general court officer, then assigned to a committee as a legislative aid, I became an administrative assistant, then a house chairman, and that is where I got my background. Before I got elected to my last position I worked as an administrative assistant to Rep. Dick Landry of Waltham, who was the chairman of the Committee of Public Service. Ironically enough, the district I ended up representing, after Rep. Landry passed away tragically and suddenly, was the one he represented when I worked for him. I was elected to the House, in 1976. When they cut the House from 240 members to 160 in 1978 the districts had to get larger. Instead of having a Newton district I had a Newton/Waltham district."

When and for how long did you work as the State Representative?

"Ten years. Six of those years I was House Chairman of the Committee of Human Services and Elderly Affairs."

Why did you decide to run for State Auditor?

"I was always concerned about how the money was being used on the programs and laws we passed and fought for on the legislature, and I wanted to see the results that we fought for. I felt I was qualified for the job because I had worked for years in the legislature and I know state government. I wanted to make sure that the programs were working and the public funds were being devoted to the various agencies and purposes they were intended for. What is your usual day-to-day schedule like as Auditor?"

"I oversee a staff of approximately 330 employees. I meet regularly with my staff regarding the various issues that require my attention. I am in charge of auditing every entity of state government at least once every two years. I am also responsible for the Division of Local Mandates under Proposition 2 1/2, and to protect cities and towns from unfunded state mandates. I am a member of the emergency finance board that meets at least two days a week and I attend those meetings faithfully. I am a member of the Comptroller Advisory Board, and Inspector General's Council. I am very accessible to the public. I meet regularly with my staff regarding the various issues that require my attention."

DINUCCI
continued on page 10

The bad boys of abridgement are back -- and this time it's BLASPHEMY! Notorious for their four-minute Hamlet and seen previously at the A.R.T. in The Complete Works of Shakespeare (abridged) and The Complete History of America (abridged), the R.S.C. now romp through the holy book with irreverent glee. This time the "begats," floods, pestilences, prophecies and sermons are mercifully short and wickedly funny. So, whether you're orthodox or orthodoxist, you'll laugh and sing along with this unauthorized King Jim Version of the Greatest Stories Ever Shortened.

Now through May 7
at the C. Walsh Theatre

Presented by the American Repertory Theatre

1/2 Price to all
Suffolk Community
(proper ID required)

Regular prices $19 to $39

Student rush 1/2 hour prior to curtain based on availability Only $12

Charge by phone: (617) 547-8300

COAKLEY
Continued from page 7

don't try to change anyone's opinion. I don't try to lead any protests or rallies.

If you disagree with me, fine. If I disagree with you, fine.

Not exactly leadership, is it?

Okay, I lead the crew down here at the Journal, as much as this crew can be led. I lead the charge every production day to put the paper together and send it out to the printers. I take responsibility when people are dissatisfied with the Journal, and give the credit to the people responsible when they like something.

Try to imagine the Suffolk equivalent of "P Thoop" (with Jim Behrie as Vanderbilt).

Yes, we have been somewhat disorganized down here this past year. Many of the stories have been written at the last minute, and there were plenty of events and important happenings we just weren't able to cover. Part of that, at least last semester, was due to the lack of a news editor to cover these things, a fact that we have been lucky to change this semester with the addition of Ron Vicaria to the staff, and the great work he has done.

But I have heard grumblings around campus that the Journal has slipped. Maybe there is some truth to that, I don't know.

I know how hard all of us work down here. This year was sort of a rebuilding year, with me as the incoming editor trying to fill the vacant spot as last year's entire editorial staff graduated. I did manage to find some very good people, and I hope I have set the stage for next year's staff. Next year's editor will have plenty of people with experience from this year to rely on next year.

I guess you could call that leadership. I don't know, I was too busy scrambling at the time, trying to put out an issue every week.

It seems to me an effective leader inspires those who follow him. He convinces them to do their best and pull together and win one for the gipper.

Or words to that effect.

Have I done that? Wow, I'm impressed.

It just doesn't seem that way to me. I was too busy coping.

Maybe that is what leadership is, though. I may not have been a charismatic Jack Kennedy-like figure, rallying the troops and inspiring loyalty. I've just been quietly toiling down here to put out the best newspaper we can.

I've seen the people I work with down here grow in experience and talent. I've seen the Suffolk Journal get better each week; even though we are not to the high standards I may imagine for us (then again, neither is the Boston Globe), we are on a road that brings improvement with every week of experience.

Maybe the best kind of leadership is quiet, setting an example by hard work rather than standing aloof from the crowd and leading from atop a podium.

I've seen the crew I've worked with down here work harder and harder every week, and I've been able to lessen my individual burden as I've seen them learn and gain more confidence and experience.

Gosh, maybe I've been a leader after all.

All I know is I'm tired, and I want to go home and get some sleep.

Say, Ryan. TAG! You're editor.

DINUCCI
Continued from page 7

How did you make the switch from boxing to politics?

"It was through my boxing that I met Speaker of the House, John Thompson, and he liked how I boxed. He grew to like me, and let me work at the State House as a page the summer before my senior year. As a page I was assigned to a committee. I started getting bills for representatives, answering phone calls, bringing in messages, running messages back and forth - that's how you learn. I learned the business from the bottom up. After graduating from high school I worked at the State House full time. It was from there that I learned about state government, the legislature and how it operated, and what a profound impact government had on the lives of people."

What were your first few jobs in politics?

"I never planned on running for public office, but when my boxing career was over a legislative seat opened up in my district. I decided to run for it, because I felt I could do as good a job as anybody. I ran hard for it and won the seat. After that I was promoted to general court officer, then assigned to a committee as a legislative aid. I became an administrative assistant, then a house chairman, and that is where I got my background. Before I got elected to my last position I worked as an administrative assistant to Rep. Dick Landry of Waltham, who was the chairman of the Committee of Public Service. Ironically enough, the district I ended up representing - after Rep. Landry passed away tragically and suddenly, was the one he represented when I worked for him. I was elected to the House in 1976. When they cut the House from 240 members to 160 in 1978 the districts had to get larger. Instead of having a Newton district I had a Newton/Waltham district."

When and for how long did you work as the State Representative?

Ten years. Six of those years I was House Chairman of the Committee of Human Services and Elderly Affairs."

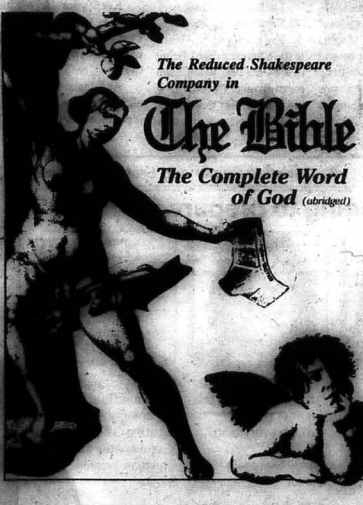

Why did you decide to run for State Auditor?

"I was always concerned about how the money was being used on the programs and laws we passed and fought for on the legislature, and I wanted to see the results that we fought for. I felt I was qualified for the job because I had worked for years in the legislature and I know state government. I wanted to make sure that the programs were working and the public funds were being devoted to the various agencies and purposes they were intended for." What is your usual day-to-day schedule like as Auditor?

"I oversee a staff of approximately 330 employees. I meet regularly with my staff regarding the various issues that require my attention. I am in charge of auditing every entity of state government at least once every two years. I am also responsible for the Division of Local Mandates under Proposition 2 1/2, and to protect cities and towns from unfunded state mandates. I am a member of the emergency finance board that meets at least two days a week and I attend those meetings faithfully. I am a member of the Comptroller Advisory Board, and Inspector General's Council. I am very accessible to the public. I meet regu-

DINUCCI
continued on page 10

The Reduced Shakespeare Company in

The Bible
The Complete Word of God (abridged)

The bad boys of abridgement are back -- and this time it's BLASPHEMY! Notorious for their four-minute Hamlet and seen previously at the A.R.T. in The Complete Works of Shakespeare (abridged) and The Complete History of America (abridged), the R.S.C. now romp through the holy book with irreverent glee. This time the "begats," floods, pestilences, prophecies and sermons are mercifully short and wickedly funny. So, whether you're orthodox or orthodontist, you'll laugh and sing along with this unauthorized King Jim Version of the Greatest Stories Ever Shortened.

Now through May 7
at the C. Walsh Theatre

Presented by the American Repertory Theatre

1/2 Price to all Suffolk Community

(proper ID required)
Regular prices $19 to $39

Student rush 1/2 hour prior to curtain
based on availability Only $12

Charge by phone: (617) 547-8300

The Suffolk Journal

Your New England Ford Dealers have

Qualified graduates get $400 cash back and pre-approval. The $400 cash back is in addition to most all other offers or qualified pre-approved credit, there's no down payment and no payment for 12 months.

Probe Escort

Amount awarded to graduate school or who has or will graduate with at least a bachelor's degree or graduate degree) and delivery from October 1, 1994 through September 30, 1995. Qualified buyers from Ford Credit are restricted to 12 months. Vehicle purchase within 120 days of vehicle purchase at a sales outlet to cover being equipped and vehicle.

COAKLEY

Continued from page 7

don't try to change anyone's opinion. I don't try to lead any protests or rallies.

If you disagree with me, fine. If I disagree with you, fine.

Not exactly leadership, is it?

Okay, I lead the crew down here at the Journal, as much as this crew can be led. I lead the charge every production day to put the paper together and send it out to the printers. I take responsibility when people are dissatisfied with the Journal, and give the credit to the people responsible when they like something.

Try to imagine the Suffolk equivalent of "F Troop" (with Jim Behrle as Vanderbilt).

Yes, we have been somewhat disorganized down here this past year. Many of the stories have been written at the last minute, and there were plenty of events and important happenings we just weren't able to cover. Part of that, at least last semester, was due to the lack of a news editor to cover these things, a fact that we have been lucky to change this semester with the addition of Ron Vieira to the staff, and the great work he has done.

But I have heard grumblings around campus that the Journal has slipped. Maybe there is some truth to that. I don't know.

I know how hard all of us work down here. This year was sort of a rebuilding year, with me as the incoming editor trying to fill all the vacant spots as last year's entire editorial staff graduated. I did manage to find some very good people, and I hope I have set the stage for next year's staff. Next year's editor will have plenty of people with experience from this year to rely on next year.

I guess you could call that leadership, I don't know. I was to busy scrambling at the time, trying to put out an issue every week.

It seems to me an effective leader inspires those who follow him. He convinces them to do their best and pull together and win one for the gipper.

Or words to that effect.

Have I done that? Wow, I'm impressed.

It just doesn't seem that way to me. I was too busy coping.

Maybe that is what leadership is, though. I may not have been a charismatic Jack Kennedy-like figure, rallying the troops and inspiring loyalty. I've just been quietly toiling down here to put out the best newspaper we can.

I've seen the people I work with down here grow in experience and talent. I've seen the Suffolk Journal get better each week; even though we are not to the high standards I may imagine for us (then again, neither is the Boston Globe), we are on a road that brings improvement with every week of experience.

Maybe the best kind of leadership is quiet, setting an example by hard work rather than standing aloof from the crowd and leading from atop a podium.

I've seen the crew I've worked with down here work harder and harder every week, and I've been able to lessen my individual burden as I've seen them learn and gain more confidence and experience.

God, maybe I've been a leader after all.

All I know is I'm tired, and I want to go home and get some sleep.

Say, Ryan. TAG! You're editor.

DINUCCI

Continued from page 7

How did you make the switch from boxing to politics?

"It was through my boxing that I met Speaker of the House, John Thompson, and he liked how I boxed. He grew to like me, and let me work at the State House as a page the summer before my senior year. As a page I was assigned to a committee.

I started getting bills for representatives, answering phone calls, bringing in messages, running messages back and forth - that's how you learn. I learned the business from the bottom up. After graduating from high school I worked at the State House full time. It was from there that I learned about state government, the legislature and how it operated, and what a profound impact government had on the lives of people."

What were your first few jobs in politics?

"I never planned on running for public office, but when my boxing career was over a legislative seat opened up in my district. I decided to run for it, because I felt I could do as good a job as anybody. I ran hard for it and won the seat. After that I was promoted to general court officer, then assigned to a committee as a legislative aid. I became an administrative assistant, then a house chairman, and that is where I got my background. Before I got elected to my last position I worked as an administrative assistant to Rep. Dick Landry of Waltham, who was the chairman of the Committee of Public Service. Ironically enough, the district I ended up representing - after Rep. Landry passed away tragically and suddenly, was the one he represented when I worked for him. I was elected to the House, in 1976. When they cut the House from 240 members to 160 in 1978 the districts had to get larger. Instead of having a Newton district I had a Newton/Waltham district."

When and for how long did you work as the State Representative?

"Ten years. Six of those years I was House Chairman of the Committee of Human Services and Elderly Affairs."

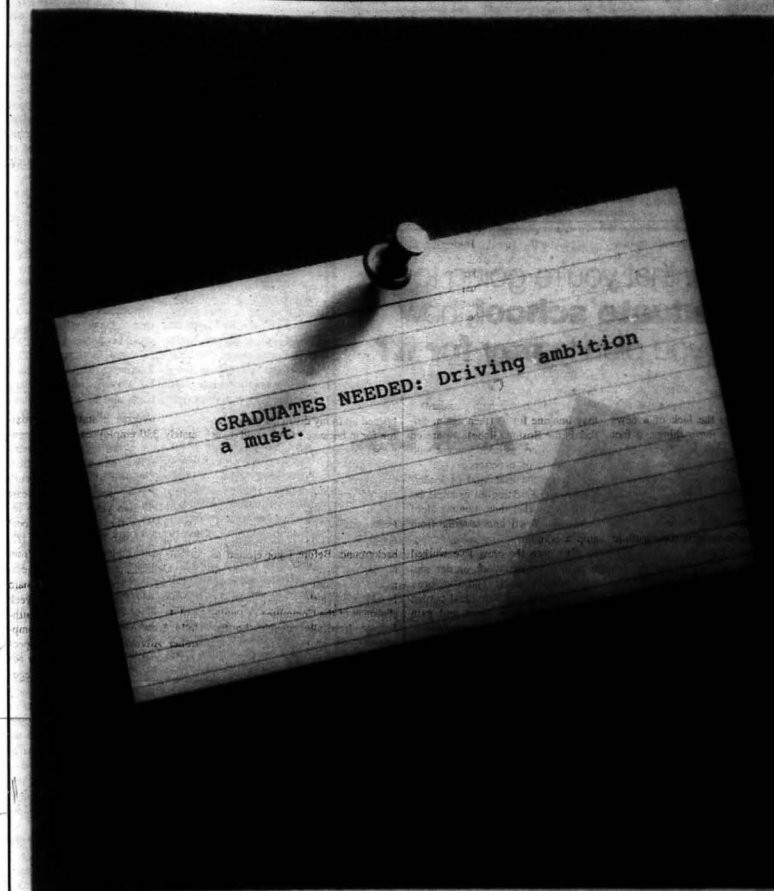

Why did you decide to run for State Auditor?

"I was always concerned about how the money was being used on the programs and laws we passed and fought for on the legislature, and I wanted to see the results that we fought for. I felt I was qualified for the job because I had worked for years in the legislature and I know state government. I wanted to make sure that the programs were working and the public funds were being devoted to the various agencies and purposes they were intended for."

What is your usual day-to-day schedule like as Auditor?

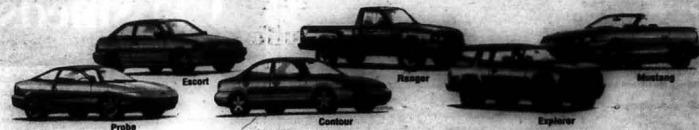

"I oversee a staff of approximately 330 employees. I meet regularly with my staff regarding the various issues that require my attention. I am in charge of auditing every entity of state government at least once every two years. I am also responsible for the Division of Local Mandates under Proposition 2 1/2, and to protect cities and towns from unfunded state mandates. I am a member of the emergency finance board that meets at least two days a week and I attend those meetings faithfully. I am a member of the Comptroller Advisory Board, and Inspector General's Council. I am very accessible to the public - I meet regu-

DINUCCI
continued on page 10

Your New England Ford Dealers have great incentives for '95 college graduates.

Qualified graduates get $400 cash back and pre-approved credit up to $18,000 on any new Ford. The $400 cash back is in addition to most all other offers or qualified graduates can take advantage of special financing. And with your pre-approved credit, there's no down payment and no payment for 129 days. So hurry in. Or for more information call 1-800-321-1536.

Anyone needed in graduate school or who has or will graduate with at least a bachelor's degree or graduate degree between January 1, 1993 and December 31, 1995 is eligible for either the cash rebate or special financing financing on purchase only while you buy a new delivery from October 1, 1994 through September 30, 1995. Limited to one Ford Credit offer per graduate. Pre-approved credit is purchase only, up to $18,000 or 360% whichever is lower. No down payment and 129 days deferred payment eligibility based on verified employment within 120 days of vehicle purchase at a salary sufficient to cover lease payments and vehicle payments. Financing restrictions may apply. All 1994, 1995 and 1996 Ford cars, light trucks and minivans are eligible. See dealer for additional details.

The Reduced Shakespeare Company in

The Bible

The Complete Word of God (abridged)

The bad boys of abridgement are back -- and this time it's BLASPHEMY! Notorious for their four-minute Hamlet and seen previously at the A.R.T. in The Complete Works of Shakespeare (abridged) and The Complete History of America (abridged), the R.S.C. now romp through the holy book with irreverent glee. This time the "begats," floods, pestilences, prophecies and sermons are mercifully short and wickedly funny. So, whether you're orthodox or orthodontist, you'll laugh and sing along with this unauthorized King Jim Version of the Greatest Stories Ever Shortened.

Now through May 7
at the C. Walsh Theatre

Presented by the American Repertory Theatre

1/2 Price to all
Suffolk Community

(proper ID required)

Regular prices $19 to $39

Student rush 1/2 hour prior to curtain
based on availability Only $12

Charge by phone: (617) 547-8300

DINUCCI

Continued from page 7
How did you make the switch from boxing to politics?

"It was through my boxing that I met Speaker of the House, John Thompson, and he liked how I boxed. He grew to like me, and let me work at the State House as a page the summer before my senior year. As a page I was assigned to a committee. I started getting bills for representatives, answering phone calls, bringing in messages, running messages back and forth - that's how you learn. I learned the business from the bottom up. After graduating from high school I worked at the State House full time. It was from there that I learned about state government, the legislature and how it operated, and what a profound impact government had on the lives of people."

What were your first few jobs in politics?

"I never planned on running for public office, but when my boxing career was over a legislative seat opened up in my district. I decided to run for it, because I felt I could do as good a job as anybody. I ran hard for it and won the seat. After that I was promoted to general court officer, then assigned to a committee as a legislative aid. I became an administrative assistant, then a house chairman, and that is where I got my background. Before I got elected to my last position I worked as an administrative assistant to Rep. Dick Landry of Waltham, who was the chairman of the Committee of Public Service. Ironically enough, the district I ended up representing, after Rep. Landry passed away tragically and suddenly, was the one he represented when I worked for him. I was elected to the House, in 1976. When they cut the House from 240 members to 160 in 1978 the districts had to get larger. Instead of having a Newton district I had a Newton/Waltham district."

When and for how long did you work as the State Representative?

"Ten years. Six of those years I was House Chairman of the Committee of Human Services and Elderly Affairs."

Why did you decide to run for State Auditor?

"I was always concerned about how the money was being used on the programs and laws we passed and fought for on the legislature, and I wanted to see the results that we fought for. I felt I was qualified for the job because I had worked for years in the legislature and I know state government. I wanted to make sure that the programs were working and the public funds were being devoted to the various agencies and purposes they were intended for."

What is your usual day-to-day schedule like as Auditor?

"I oversee a staff of approximately 330 employees. I meet regularly with my staff regarding the various issues that require my attention. I am in charge of auditing every entity of state government at least once every two years. I am also responsible for the Division of Local Mandates under Proposition 2 1/2, and to protect cities and towns from unfunded state mandates. I am a member of the emergency finance board that meets at least two days a week and I attend those meetings faithfully. I am a member of the Comptroller Advisory Board, and Inspector General's Council. I am very accessible to the public. I meet regu-

DINUCCI
continued on page 10

The bad boys of abridgement are back -- and this time it's BLASPHEMY! Notorious for their four-minute Hamlet and seen previously at the A.R.T. in The Complete Works of Shakespeare (abridged) and The Complete History of America (abridged), the R.S.C. now romp through the holy book with irreverent glee. This time the "begs," floods, pestilences, prophecies and sermons are mercifully short and wickedly funny. So, whether you're orthodox or orthodontist, you'll laugh and sing along with this unauthorized King Jim Version of the Greatest Stories Ever Shortened.

Now through May 7
at the C. Walsh Theatre

Presented by the American Repertory Theatre

1/2 Price to all
Suffolk Community

(proper ID required)

Regular prices $19 to $39

Student rush 1/2 hour prior to curtain
based on availability Only $12

Charge by phone: (617) 547-8300

Your New England Ford Dealers have great incentives for '95 college graduates.

Qualified graduates get $400 cash back and pre-approved credit up to $18,000 on any new Ford. NEW ENGLAND FORD DEALERS
The $400 cash back is in addition to most all other offers or qualified graduates can take advantage of special financing. And with your pre-approved credit, there's no down payment and no payment for 120 days. So hurry in. Or for more information call 1-800-321-1535.

Financing available to graduate school or who has or will graduate with at least a bachelor's degree or graduate degree between January 1, 1993 and September 30, 1995 is eligible for either the cash rebate or special purchase financing on purchases only when you take retail delivery from October 1, 1994 through September 30, 1995. Qualified buyers from Ford Credit are restricted to pre-approved credit on purchases only, up to $18,000 or MSRP whichever is lower. No down payment and 120 days deferred payment eligible based on vehicle employment within 120 days of vehicle purchase at a salary sufficient to cover long expense and vehicle payments. Financing restrictions may apply. All 1994, 1995 and 1996 Ford cars, SUVs and minivans are eligible. See dealer for additional details.

10
SPO
Con team, w graduati theless, to root Acc (1.6
ond on list) an career all-time
the Ran 11-14.
For

Chitbank
Loans
Y
and
C
C
C
M
C
C
2

GRADUATES NEEDED: Driving ambition a must.

Your New England Ford Dealers have great incentives for '95 college graduates.

Qualified graduates get $400 cash back and pre-approved credit up to $18,000 on any new Ford. The $400 cash back is in addition to most all other offers or qualified graduates can take advantage of special financing. And with your pre-approved credit, there's no down payment and no payment for 120 days. So hurry in. Or for more information call 1-800-321-1538.

Offers involved in graduate school or who has or will graduate with at least a bachelor's degree or graduate degree between January 1, 1993 and September 30, 1995 is eligible for either the cash rebate or special purchase financing on purchases only when you take retail delivery from October 1, 1993 through September 30, 1995. Qualified buyers from Ford Credit are restricted to one approved vehicle purchase only, up to $18,000 or 200% (whichever is lower). No other payment (including down payment) will be applied to the vehicle purchase. Vehicle must be used for personal use only. See dealer for additional details. ©1995 Ford Motor Company. All rights reserved.

SPORTS

Continued from page 12
 team, which featured five graduating seniors. Nonetheless, there was still plenty to root for as seniors Rick Ace (1,658 career points; second on the all-time scoring list) and Mike Vieira (1,259 career points; ninth on the all-time scoring list) stored the Rams to a final record of 11-14.

For women's hoops,

Couch Ed Leyden climbed aboard as the new head coach replacing Joe Walsh. The team suffered a mediocre season, but with a backbone of six solid players returning for next season, the Lady Rams and were being directed by a tag-team of squad MVP Tim Kane and Ron Fallon who were undefeated thus far this season. At their current pace, the team will conclude the season with the best record in the program's history.

and goal-scorer Bill Mullyaly among others.
 The spring sport season has yet to end, but we can still join them in progress. The men's tennis team had a 5-2 overall record as of April 18 and were being directed by a tag-team of squad MVP Tim Kane and Ron Fallon who were undefeated thus far this season. At their current pace, the team will conclude the season with the best record in the program's history.

Now that you're going to graduate school, how do you plan to pay for it?

Ask us.

Citibank Graduate Loans

For Graduate Students

(pursuing all types of advanced degrees such as law, engineering, nursing, etc.) The Citibank Graduate Loan Program offers Federal Stafford Loans and our exclusive Grad-Assist Loan.

No matter what you study or where you currently bank, you can count on Citibank, the nation's number one originator of student loans, to help finance your education.

For Medical Students (pursuing allopathic and osteopathic medicine) The Citimedical Loan Program offers Federal Stafford Loans and our exclusive MedicalAssist Loan.

For MBA Students The CitMBA Loan Program offers Federal Stafford Loans and our exclusive MAAssist Loan.

- easy repayment,
 - low interest rates,
 - no application fees,
 - an easy application process,
 - fast approvals,
 - and one toll-free number to call for answers to all your questions.
- For more information and an application for a Citibank Graduate Loan, call 1-800-692-8200, and ask for Operator 256.

Call 1-800-692-8200, ext. 256

Yes! I want more information and an application for the following Citibank Graduate Loans:

- All Federal Stafford Loans
- Citibank MedicalAssist Loan (for students of allopathic and osteopathic medicine)
- Citibank MAAssist Loan (for business students)
- Citibank GradAssist Loan (for graduate students)

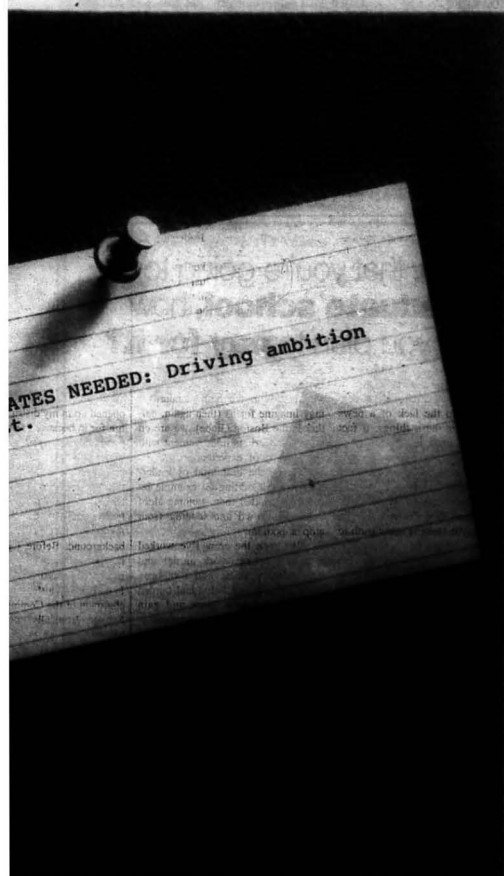

Mail this coupon to:
 Citibank Student Loans
 P.O. Box 22948
 Rochester, NY 14692-2948

Citibank (New York State)

Name of Student _____
 Address _____ Apt. _____
 City _____
 State _____ Zip _____
 Telephone _____
 Student's Social Security # _____
 Student is currently in College Graduate School
 Year of Graduation _____ Field of Study _____
 Name of College/Graduate School _____
 Are you a previous student loan borrower? Yes No

Or for faster service, call 1-800-692-8200, and ask for Operator 256.

dealers have great incentives for '95 college graduates.

Get back and pre-approved credit up to $18,000 on any new Ford. NEW ENGLAND FORD DEALERS. Others or qualified graduates can take advantage of special financing. And with your so payment for 120 days. So hurry in. Or for more information call 1-800-321-1536.

degree or graduate degree between January 1, 1993 and September 30, 1995 is eligible for either the cash rebate or special purchase financing on purchases only when you take and credit are restricted to pre-approved credit on purchases only, up to $18,000 or $20,000 whichever is lower. No down payment and 120 days deferred payment schedule based on long repayment and vehicle payments. Financing restrictions may apply. All 1994, 1995 and 1996 Ford cars. Light trucks and minivans are eligible. See dealer for additional details.

SPORTS

Continued from page 12
 team, which featured five graduating seniors. Nonetheless, there was still plenty to root for as seniors Rick Ace (1,658 career points; second on the all-time scoring list) and Mike Vieira (1,259 career points; ninth on the all-time scoring list) steered the Rams to a final record of 11-14.

For women's hoops,

Coach Ed Leyden climbed aboard as the new head coach replacing Joe Walsh. The team suffered a mediocre season, but with a backbone of six solid players returning for next season, the Lady Rams and were being directed by a tag-team of squad MVP Tim Kane and Ron Fallon who were undefeated thus far this season. At their current pace, the team will conclude the season with the best record in the program's history.

Christine Carr arrived as coach of the softball team for the 1995 season succeeding Donna Ruseckas. Erica Peterson, who led the III in doubles for Division III, and Leonarda Carriglio were pacing the offense, while Tammy Sprague stepped forward as one of the team's premier starters. The squad also made its first ever trip down to Florida during Suffolk's spring break. And finally, the baseball team was enjoying one of its trademark excellent seasons. The team won six of seven during its Florida trip and as of April 18 had compiled a 17-6 record and a ranking in the Division III New England poll. Durwin Hernandez had clubbed nine homers and on the mound Rob Fournier was undefeated at 4-0.

BEST

Continued from page 12

Nichols College on April 13. Some sports fans might have opened their morning papers and thought they were seeing a spring football score. The final was 24-3 with the Rams scoring 11 runs in the third inning alone. The baseball team has put up some ungodly numbers in the past, but this was just downright offensive.

We'd be lost without you: Who knows where these teams would be without their star players: Jennifer Lammers (women's tennis), John Gilpatrick (hockey), Noreen McBride (women's basketball), Darwin Hernandez (baseball), and Tim Kane (men's tennis).

Ending to a game most likely to appear on Sports-center: Men's basketball contest Jan. 19, Suffolk down by two against Fitchburg State College. Center Mike Vieira drains a three-pointer

DINUCCI
 Continued from page 8
 larly with people who have concerns about state government and some who are having problems. I help senior citizens, young people, all kinds of people. The State Auditor is elected by the people so I feel I should be accountable to the people that elected me.

with no time left and no buzzer sounding to give the Rams a one-point victory. Eat your heart out Dan Patrick.

Five fab freshman: A diverse quartet of talented newcomers who will lead Suffolk athletics into the future: Dave Allen (men's cross-country), Paula Noto (women's basketball), Tammy Sprague (softball), Ed Hurley (men's basketball), and Miguel Fernandes (soccer and men's basketball).

Notable numbers: Coach Joe Walsh tallied his 200th victory as baseball coach on March 25. Mike Vieira scored his 1,000th basketball point on Jan. 15. Coach Christine Carr got her 1st win at Suffolk as coach of the softball team on March 28. The soccer team notched its 8th victory on Oct. 15, granting the program its first winning season in history. On Nov. 19, rookie basketball coach Ed Leyden rang up his 1st win at Suffolk.

lot of little things that have had an everlasting effect on how things are done. I guess I am most proud of my reputation and my career as someone who is devoted to public service. I hope that perception does not change, because I certainly will not change.
 How do you feel about the new term limits?
 "I am opposed to term limits now - they are called elections. I love public service, and I hope that I have the opportunity to continue to serve the people of Massachusetts."

Now that you're going to graduate school, how do you plan to pay for it?

Ask us.

For Graduate Students
 (pursuing all types of advanced degrees such as law, engineering, nursing, etc.) The Citibank Graduate Loan Program offers Federal Stafford Loans and our exclusive Grad-Assist Loan.

And, all of the Citibank Graduate Loan Programs offer:

- easy repayment,
- low interest rates,
- no application fees,
- an easy application process,
- fast approvals,
- and one toll-free number to call for answers to all your questions.

For more information and an application for a Citibank Graduate Loan, call 1-800-692-8200, and ask for Operator 256.

Call 1-800-692-8200, ext. 256

Yes! I want more information and an application for the following Citibank Graduate Loans:

- All Federal Stafford Loans
- Citibank Medical/Assist Loan (for students of allopathic and osteopathic medicine)
- Citibank MBA/Assist Loan (for business students)
- Citibank Grad/Assist Loan (for graduate students)

Mail this coupon to:
 Citibank Student Loans
 P.O. Box 22948
 Rochester, NY 14602-0248

Name of Student _____
 Address _____ Apt. _____
 City _____
 State _____ Zip _____
 Telephone _____
 Student's Social Security # _____
 (the last seven digits are on the Social Security Number card)
 Student is currently in College Graduate School
 Year of Graduation _____ Field of Study _____
 Name of College/Graduate School _____
 Are you a previous student loan borrower? Yes No

Or for faster service, call 1-800-692-8200, and ask for Operator 256.

Classifieds

Beacon Hill: Modern luxury 1 BD Duplex on Chestnut St. Tile Kitchen/Bath, oversized bedrm, many closets $1,600 - Includes heat and hot water.
Back Bay: 1 BD/1.5b on Beacon St. $1,500. Both are avail. for SEPT. 1st. CALL 536-0493.

Met during spring break: Looking for Suffolk student named David. Said he was in Delta Epsilon and had four sisters. Met at Charlie's on South Padre Island. Were supposed to meet again on the beach. Sorry missed you then. Please contact: Brandy Haldemanna, 1746 Oakhokh Ave. Oakhokh, WI 54901 or call (414) 426-9384.

SPORTS

Continued from page 12
Team, which featured five graduating seniors. Nonetheless, there was still plenty to root for as seniors Rick Ace (1,658 career points; second on the all-time scoring list) and Mike Vieira (1,259 career points; ninth on the all-time scoring list) steered the Rams to a final record of 11-14.

For women's hoops,

Coch Ed Leyden climbed aboard as the new head coach replacing Joe Walsh. The team suffered a mediocre season, but with a backbone of six solid players returning for next season, the Lady Rams hope to improve vastly.

Shifting from wood to ice, the hockey team managed only nine points for the entire season (a 3-16-3 record), yet witnessed the emergence of several budding stars such as netminder John Gilpatrick and goal-scorer Bill Mullaly among others. The spring sport season has yet to end, but we can still join them in progress. The men's tennis team had a 5-2 overall record as of April 18 and were being directed by tag-team of squad MVP Tim Kane and Ron Fallon who were undefeated thus far this season. At their current pace, the team will conclude the season with the best record in the program's history.

Christine Carr arrived as coach of the softball team for the 1995 season succeeding Donna Ruseckas. Erica Peterson, who led the nation in doubles for Division III, and Leonard Carriglio were pacing the offense, while Tammy Sprague stepped forward as one of the team's pull. Darwin Hernandez had clubbed nine homers and on the mound Rob Fournier was undefeated at 4-0.

BEST

Continued from page 12
Nichols College on April 13. Some sports fans might have opened their morning papers and thought they were seeing a spring football score. The final was 24-3 with the Rams scoring 11 runs in the third inning alone. The baseball team has put up some ugly numbers in the past, but this was just downright offensive.

We'd be lost without you: Who knows where these teams would be without their star players: Jennifer Lammers (women's tennis), John Gilpatrick (hockey), Noreen McBride (women's basketball), Darwin Hernandez (baseball), and Tim Kane (men's tennis).
Ending to a game most likely to appear on SportsCenter: Men's basketball contest Jan. 19, Suffolk down by two against Fitchburg State College. Center Mike Vieira drains a three-pointer with no time left and no buzzer sounding to give the Rams a one-point victory. Eat your heart out Dan Patrick.

Five Job freshmen: A diverse quartet of talented newcomers who will lead Suffolk athletics into the future: Dave Allen (men's cross-country), Paula Noto (women's basketball), Tammy Sprague (softball), Ed Hurley (men's basketball), and Miguel Fernandes (soccer and men's basketball).

Notable numbers: Coach Joe Walsh tallied his 200th victory as baseball coach on March 25. Mike Vieira scored his 1,000th basketball point on Jan. 15. Coach Christine Carr got her 1st win at Suffolk as coach of the softball team on March 28. The soccer team notched its 8th victory on Oct. 15 granting the program its first winning season in history. On Nov. 19, rookie basketball coach Ed Leyden ran up his 1st win at Suffolk.

lot of little things that have had an everlasting effect on how things are done. I guess I am most proud of my reputation and my career as someone who is devoted to public service. I hope that perception does not change, because I certainly will not change."

How do you feel about the new term limits?
"I am opposed to term limits. I believe we have term limits now, they are called elections. I love public service, and I hope that I have the opportunity to continue to serve the people of Massachusetts."

DINUCCI

Continued from page 8
larly with people who have concerns about state government and some who are having problems. I help senior citizens, young people, all kinds of people. The State Auditor is elected by the people so I feel I should be accountable to the people that elected me."
What has been your brightest moment in politics?
"Getting elected statewide and getting re-elected were bright moments in my career. I cannot point to one issue, but there have been a of little things that have had an everlasting effect on how things are done. I guess I am most proud of my reputation and my career as someone who is devoted to public service. I hope that perception does not change, because I certainly will not change."

How do you feel about the new term limits?
"I am opposed to term limits. I believe we have term limits now, they are called elections. I love public service, and I hope that I have the opportunity to continue to serve the people of Massachusetts."

Beacon Hill: Modern luxury 1. BD Duplex on Chestnut St. Tile Kitchen/Bath, oversized bedrm, many closets $1,600. Includes heat and hot water. Back Bay: 1 BD+loft on Beacon St. $1,500. Both are avail. for SEPT. 1st. CALL 536-0493.

University DateLine

April 19 - 25, 1995

Suffolk University's Calendar of Events

Wednesday, 4/19

10:30 - 4:30
11:00 - 12:00
12:00 - 1:00
12:00 - 1:00
1:00 - 2:00
1:00 - 2:00
2:00 - 4:00
2:00
2:30 - 4:30
3:00
3:30
8:00

Wednesday Evening Classes Cancelled-Monday Evening Classes Meet
University Blood Drive
B.L.C. Study Group - Statistics 250
B.L.C. Study Group - Chemistry 112
B.L.C. Study Group - Accounting 322
B.L.C. Study Group - Economics 212
B.L.C. Study Group - Accounting 202
B.L.C. Study Group - Physical Science 2
MIS Training Session: EMAIL Basics
"What Happens When God Goes to College?" Lecture by Erica Jefferson, Chaplain, Wellesley College
Psi Chi Induction Ceremony
Women's Varsity Softball vs. US Coast Guard
Men's Varsity Baseball vs. Rhode Island College
Reduced Shakespeare Co.'s The Bible

Fenton Lounge
Sawyer 430
Sawyer 430
Sawyer 430
Sawyer 430
Sawyer 1021
Fenton 530
MIS, One Beacon
Sawyer 421
Sawyer 308
Andrew J. Puopio Field
Rhode Island College
C. Walsh Theatre

Thursday, 4/20

12:00 - 3:00
1:00 - 2:00
1:00 - 2:00
1:00 - 2:00
1:00 - 2:15
1:00 - 2:30
1:00 - 2:25
1:00 - 2:30
1:00 - 2:30
1:00 - 2:30
1:00 - 2:30
1:00 - 2:30
3:00 - 4:00
8:00

Temple Street Fair Beach Party
B.L.C. Study Group - Chemistry 212
B.L.C. Study Group - Accounting 322
B.L.C. Study Group - Accounting 202
Post Marvin Bell - Sponsored by Cultural Events Committee
Council of Presidents Meeting
Alpha Phi Omega Meeting
SOM Faculty Meeting
International Student Association Meeting
Beta Alpha Psi Meeting
Archer Fellows Meeting
B.L.C. Study Group - Economics 212
CLAS Seminar Series: Shakespeare on the Public Image
Economics Association Meeting
Men's Varsity Baseball vs. Bryant College
B.L.C. Study Group - Physical Science 2
Reduced Shakespeare Co.'s The Bible

Temple Street
Archer 632
Sawyer 430
Sawyer 1138
Fenton Lounge
Sawyer 921
Fenton 430 A & B
Sawyer 427 & 429
Sawyer 708
Sawyer 927
Sawyer 1108
Sawyer 1134
Archer 110
Economics Department, 20 Ashburton Place
Bryant College
Sawyer 450
C. Walsh Theatre

Friday, 4/21

12:00 - 1:00
4:30 - 6:00
6:00
8:00

Last Day to Buy Spring Week Packages
B.L.C. Study Group - Accounting 201
Passing of the Gavel Ceremony & Reception
Women's Center Awards Dinner
Reduced Shakespeare Co.'s The Bible

Sawyer Cafeteria
Sawyer 450
Sawyer Cafeteria
CMD Conference Room, One Beacon
C. Walsh Theatre

Saturday, 4/22

8:00
12:00
12:00
1:00
8:00

College World Series of Advertising Competition
Men's Varsity Baseball vs. UMASS Boston
Men's Varsity Tennis vs. Worcester State
Women's Varsity Softball vs. Rivier College
Reduced Shakespeare Co.'s The Bible

Sawyer 427 & 429
78A
Charles River Park Tennis Club
Rivier College
C. Walsh Theatre

Sunday, 4/23

2:00
3:00 - 5:00
6:30 - 8:30
7:00

Reduced Shakespeare Co.'s The Bible
B.L.C. Study Group - Chemistry 212
B.L.C. Study Group - Chemistry 112
Reduced Shakespeare Co.'s The Bible

C. Walsh Theatre
Sawyer 430
Sawyer 430
C. Walsh Theatre

Monday, 4/24

11:00 - 12:00
12:00 - 1:00
1:00 - 2:00
3:00

B.L.C. Study Group - Statistics 250
B.L.C. Study Group - Accounting 322
B.L.C. Study Group - Accounting 202
Men's Varsity Baseball vs. Curry College

Sawyer 430
Sawyer 430
Sawyer 1021
Curry College

Tuesday, 4/25

1:00
1:00 - 2:00
1:00 - 2:00
1:00 - 2:00
1:00 - 2:00
1:00 - 2:30
1:00 - 2:30
1:00 - 2:30
1:00 - 2:30
1:00 - 2:30
4:30 - 5:00
4:30
8:00

Annual Recognition Day Ceremony
B.L.C. Study Group - Chemistry 112
B.L.C. Study Group - Physical Science 2
B.L.C. Study Group - Statistics 250
B.L.C. Study Group - Accounting 201
Student Government Association Meeting
Program Council Meeting
Caribbean American Student Alliance Meeting
College Republicans Meeting
Beta Alpha Psi Meeting
Black Student Union Meeting
Men's Varsity Tennis vs. Wentworth Institute
B.L.C. Study Group - Chemistry 212
"Living Life Out Loud: Life in the 90's", Speaker: Anna Quindlen
Lowell Lecture Series
Reduced Shakespeare Co.'s The Bible

C. Walsh Theatre
Archer 632
Sawyer 430
Sawyer 1134
Sawyer 1138
Sawyer 423
Fenton 603
Sawyer 821
Sawyer 808
Sawyer 927
Sawyer 921
Charles River Park Tennis Club
Sawyer 430
C. Walsh Theatre
C. Walsh Theatre

Now that you're going to graduate school, how do you plan to pay for it?

Ask us.

For Graduate Students
(pursuing all types of advanced degrees such as law, engineering, nursing, etc.) The Citibank Graduate Loan Program offers Federal Stafford Loans and our exclusive Grad-Assist Loan.

And, all of the Citibank Graduate Loan Programs offer:

- easy repayment,
- low interest rates,
- no application fees,
- an easy application process,
- fast approvals,
- and one toll-free number to call for answers to all your questions.

For more information and an application for a Citibank Graduate Loan, call 1-800-692-8200, and ask for Operator 256.

Call 1-800-692-8200, ext. 256

Yes! I want more information and an application for the following Citibank Graduate Loans:

- All Federal Stafford Loans
- Citibank Graduate Assist Loan (for students of allopathic and osteopathic medicine)
- Citibank MBA Assist Loan (for business students)
- Citibank Grad Assist Loan (for graduate students)

Name of Student _____
Address _____ Apt. _____
City _____ State _____ Zip _____
Telephone _____
Student's Social Security # _____
(Do not write on this line. It will be used for credit review purposes only.)
Student is currently in: College Graduate School
Year of Graduation _____ Field of Study _____
Name of College/Graduate School _____
Are you a previous student loan borrower? Yes No

Or for faster service, call 1-800-692-8200, and ask for Operator 256.

Mail this coupon to:
Citibank Student Loans
P.O. Box 22048
Rochester, NY 14602-2048

Citibank (New York State)
250

Classifieds

Beacon Hill: Modern luxury 1. BD Duplex on Chestnut St. Tile Kitchen/Bath, oversized bedrm, many closets $1,600. Includes heat and hot water. Back Bay: 1 BD+loft on Beacon St. $1,500. Both are avail. for SEPT. 1st. CALL 536-0493.

Met during spring break. Looking for Suffolk student named David. Said he was in Delta Epsilon and had four sisters. Met at Charlie's on South Padre Island. Were supposed to meet again on the beach. Sorry missed you then. Please contact Brandy Haldebrand, 1746 Oshkosh Ave., Oshkosh, WI 54901 or call (414) 426-9384.

University DateLine is Suffolk University's master calendar. For information on any scheduled event, any day of the academic year, or to list an event that you are planning call 573-8082. A comprehensive record of what is happening, when and where — for planning, publicity or general information.

corner Bill Mullaly says. Christine Carr arrived as coach of the softball team for the 1995 season succeeding Donna Rusecka. Erica Peterson, who led the nation in doubles for Division III, and Leonarda Carriglio were pacing the offense, while Tammy Sprague stepped forward as one of the team's premier starters. The squad also made its first ever trip down to Florida during Suffolk's spring break. And finally, the baseball team was enjoying one of its trademark excellent seasons. The team won six of seven during its Florida trip and as of April 18 had compiled a 17-6 record and a ranking in the Division III New England poll. Darwin Hernandez had clubbed nine homers and on the mound Rob Fournier was undefeated at 4-0.

BEST
Continued from page 12

Nichols College on April 13. Some sports fans might have opened their morning papers and thought they were seeing a spring football score. The final was 24-3 with the Rams scoring 11 runs in the third inning alone. The baseball team has put up some ungodly numbers in the past, but this was just downright offensive.

We'd be lost without you: Who knows where these teams would be without their star players: Jennifer Lammers (women's tennis), John Gilpatrick (hockey), Noreen McBride (women's basketball), Darwin Hernandez (baseball), and Tim Kane (men's tennis).

Ending to a game most likely to appear on SportsCenter: Men's basketball contest Jan. 19. Suffolk down by two against Fitchburg State College. Center Mike Vieira drains a three-pointer with no time left and no buzzer sounding to give the Rams a one-point victory. Eat your heart out Dan Patrick.

Five fab freshman: A diverse quartet of talented newcomers who will lead Suffolk athletics into the future: Dave Aitten (men's cross-country), Paula Noto (women's basketball), Tammy Sprague (softball), Ed Hurley (men's basketball), and Miguel Fernandes (soccer and men's basketball).

Notable numbers: Coach Joe Walsh tallied his 200th victory as baseball coach on March 15. Mike Vieira scored his 1,000th basketball point on Jan. 15. Coach Christine Carr got her 1st win at Suffolk as coach of the softball team on March 28. The soccer team notched its 8th victory on Oct. 15 granting the program its first winning season in history. On Nov. 19, rookie basketball coach Ed Leyden rang-up his 1st win at Suffolk.

DINUCCI
Continued from page 8

larily with people who have concerns about state government and some who are having problems. I help senior citizens, young people, all kinds of people. The State Auditor is elected by the people so I feel I should be accountable to the people that elected me.

What has been your brightest moment in politics?
"Getting elected state-wide and getting re-elected were bright moments in my career. I cannot point to one issue, but there have been a lot of little things that have had an everlasting effect on how things are done. I guess I am most proud of my reputation and my career as someone who is devoted to public service. I hope that perception does not change, because I certainly will not change."

How do you feel about the new term limits?

"I am opposed to term limits. I believe we have term limits now - they are called elections. I love public service, and I hope that I have the opportunity to continue to serve the people of Massachusetts."

Classifieds

Beacon Hill: Modern luxury 1 BD Duplex on Chestnut St. Tile Kitchen/Bath, oversized bedroom, many closets $1,600 - Includes heat and hot water.
Back Bay: 1 BD+loft on Beacon St. $1,500. Both are available for SEPT. 1st. CALL 536-0493.

Met during spring break: Looking for Suffolk student named David. Said he was in Delta Epsilon and had four sisters. Met at Charlie's on South Padre Island. Were supposed to meet again on the beach. Sorry missed you then. Please contact: Brandy Haldemann, 1746 Oshkosh Ave., Oshkosh, WI 54901 or call (414) 426-9384.

University DateLine

Suffolk University's Calendar of Events

April 19 - 25, 1995

Wednesday, 4/19

- 10:30 - 4:30 University Blood Drive
- 11:00 - 12:00 B.L.C. Study Group - Statistics 250
- 12:00 - 1:00 B.L.C. Study Group - Chemistry 112
- 12:00 - 1:00 B.L.C. Study Group - Accounting 322
- 1:00 - 2:00 B.L.C. Study Group - Economics 212
- 1:00 - 2:00 B.L.C. Study Group - Accounting 202
- 1:00 - 2:00 B.L.C. Study Group - Physical Science 2
- 1:00 - 2:00 MIS Training Session: EMAIL Basics
- 2:00 - 4:00 "What Happens When God Goes to College?" Lecture by Erica Jefferson, Chaplain, Wellesley College
- 2:00 Psi Chi Induction Ceremony
- 3:00 Women's Varsity Softball vs. US Coast Guard
- 3:30 Men's Varsity Baseball vs. Rhode Island College
- 8:00 Reduced Shakespeare Co.'s The Bible

Wednesday Evening Classes Cancelled-Monday Evening Classes Meet

- 10:30 - 4:30 University Blood Drive
- 11:00 - 12:00 B.L.C. Study Group - Statistics 250
- 12:00 - 1:00 B.L.C. Study Group - Chemistry 112
- 12:00 - 1:00 B.L.C. Study Group - Accounting 322
- 1:00 - 2:00 B.L.C. Study Group - Economics 212
- 1:00 - 2:00 B.L.C. Study Group - Accounting 202
- 1:00 - 2:00 B.L.C. Study Group - Physical Science 2
- 1:00 - 2:00 MIS Training Session: EMAIL Basics
- 2:00 "What Happens When God Goes to College?" Lecture by Erica Jefferson, Chaplain, Wellesley College
- 2:00 Psi Chi Induction Ceremony
- 3:00 Women's Varsity Softball vs. US Coast Guard
- 3:30 Men's Varsity Baseball vs. Rhode Island College
- 8:00 Reduced Shakespeare Co.'s The Bible

- Fenton Lounge
- Sawyer 430
- Sawyer 430
- Sawyer 927
- Sawyer 430
- Sawyer 1021
- Fenton 530
- MIS, One Beacon
- Sawyer 421
- Sawyer 308
- Andrew J. Puopolo Field
- Rhode Island College
- C. Walsh Theatre

Thursday, 4/20

- 12:00 - 3:00 Temple Street Fair Beach Party
- 1:00 - 2:00 B.L.C. Study Group - Chemistry 212
- 1:00 - 2:00 B.L.C. Study Group - Accounting 322
- 1:00 - 2:00 B.L.C. Study Group - Accounting 202
- 1:00 - 2:15 Poet Marvin Bell - Sponsored by Cultural Events Committee
- 1:00 - 2:30 Council of Presidents Meeting
- 1:00 - 2:25 Alpha Psi Omega Meeting
- 1:00 - 2:30 SOM Faculty Meeting
- 1:00 - 2:30 International Student Association Meeting
- 1:00 - 2:30 Beta Alpha Psi Meeting
- 1:00 - 2:30 Archer Fellows Meeting
- 1:00 - 2:40 B.L.C. Study Group - Economics 212
- 1:00 - 2:30 CLAS Seminar Series: Shakespeare on the Public Image
- 2:00 Economics Association Meeting
- 3:00 Men's Varsity Baseball vs. Bryant College
- 3:00 - 4:00 B.L.C. Study Group - Physical Science 2
- 8:00 Reduced Shakespeare Co.'s The Bible

- Temple Street
- Archer 632
- Sawyer 430
- Sawyer 1138
- Fenton Lounge
- Sawyer 921
- Fenton 430 A & B
- Sawyer 427 & 429
- Sawyer 708
- Sawyer 927
- Sawyer 1108
- Sawyer 1134
- Archer 110
- Economics Department, 20 Ashburton Place
- Bryant College
- Sawyer 430
- C. Walsh Theatre

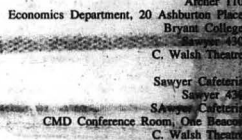

Economics Department, 20 Ashburton Place

- Sawyer Cafeteria
- Sawyer 430
- Sawyer Cafeteria
- CMD Conference Room, One Beacon
- C. Walsh Theatre

Friday, 4/21

- 12:00 - 1:00 Last Day to Buy Spring Week Packages
- 4:30 - 6:00 B.L.C. Study Group - Accounting 201
- 6:00 - 8:00 Passing of the Gavel Ceremony & Reception
- 8:00 Women's Center Awards Dinner
- 8:00 Reduced Shakespeare Co.'s The Bible

- 12:00 - 1:00 Last Day to Buy Spring Week Packages
- 4:30 - 6:00 B.L.C. Study Group - Accounting 201
- 6:00 - 8:00 Passing of the Gavel Ceremony & Reception
- 8:00 Women's Center Awards Dinner
- 8:00 Reduced Shakespeare Co.'s The Bible

Saturday, 4/22

- 8:00 College World Series of Advertising Competition
- 12:00 Men's Varsity Baseball vs. UMASS Boston
- 12:00 Men's Varsity Tennis vs. Worcester State
- 1:00 Women's Varsity Softball vs. Rivier College
- 8:00 Reduced Shakespeare Co.'s The Bible

- College World Series of Advertising Competition
- Men's Varsity Baseball vs. UMASS Boston
- Men's Varsity Tennis vs. Worcester State
- Women's Varsity Softball vs. Rivier College
- Reduced Shakespeare Co.'s The Bible

- Sawyer 427 & 429
- TBA
- Charles River Park Tennis Club
- Rivier College
- C. Walsh Theatre

Sunday, 4/23

- 2:00 Reduced Shakespeare Co.'s The Bible
- 3:00 - 5:00 B.L.C. Study Group - Chemistry 212
- 6:30 - 8:30 B.L.C. Study Group - Chemistry 112
- 7:00 Reduced Shakespeare Co.'s The Bible

- Reduced Shakespeare Co.'s The Bible
- B.L.C. Study Group - Chemistry 212
- B.L.C. Study Group - Chemistry 112
- Reduced Shakespeare Co.'s The Bible

- C. Walsh Theatre
- Sawyer 430
- Sawyer 430
- C. Walsh Theatre

Monday, 4/24

- 11:00 - 12:00 B.L.C. Study Group - Statistics 250
- 12:00 - 1:00 B.L.C. Study Group - Accounting 322
- 1:00 - 2:00 B.L.C. Study Group - Accounting 202
- 3:00 Men's Varsity Baseball vs. Curry College

- B.L.C. Study Group - Statistics 250
- B.L.C. Study Group - Accounting 322
- B.L.C. Study Group - Accounting 202
- Men's Varsity Baseball vs. Curry College

- Sawyer 430
- Sawyer 430
- Sawyer 1021
- Curry College

Tuesday, 4/25

- 1:00 Annual Recognition Day Ceremony
- 1:00 - 2:00 B.L.C. Study Group - Chemistry 112
- 1:00 - 2:00 B.L.C. Study Group - Physical Science 2
- 1:00 - 2:00 B.L.C. Study Group - Statistics 250
- 1:00 - 2:00 B.L.C. Study Group - Accounting 201
- 1:00 - 2:00 Student Government Association Meeting
- 1:00 - 2:30 Program Council Meeting
- 1:00 - 2:30 Caribbean American Student Alliance Meeting
- 1:00 - 2:30 College Republicans Meeting
- 1:00 - 2:30 Beta Alpha Psi Meeting
- 1:00 - 2:30 Black Student Union Meeting
- 2:00 Men's Varsity Tennis vs. Wentworth Institute
- 2:00 B.L.C. Study Group - Chemistry 212
- 4:00 - 5:00 "Living Life Out Loud: Life in the 90's", Speaker: Anna Quindlen
- 4:30 Lowell Lecture Series
- 8:00 Reduced Shakespeare Co.'s The Bible

- Annual Recognition Day Ceremony
- B.L.C. Study Group - Chemistry 112
- B.L.C. Study Group - Physical Science 2
- B.L.C. Study Group - Statistics 250
- B.L.C. Study Group - Accounting 201
- Student Government Association Meeting
- Program Council Meeting
- Caribbean American Student Alliance Meeting
- College Republicans Meeting
- Beta Alpha Psi Meeting
- Black Student Union Meeting
- Men's Varsity Tennis vs. Wentworth Institute
- B.L.C. Study Group - Chemistry 212
- "Living Life Out Loud: Life in the 90's", Speaker: Anna Quindlen
- Lowell Lecture Series
- Reduced Shakespeare Co.'s The Bible

- C. Walsh Theatre
- Archer 632
- Sawyer 430
- Sawyer 1134
- Sawyer 1138
- Sawyer 423
- Fenton 603
- Sawyer 821
- Sawyer 808
- Sawyer 927
- Sawyer 921
- Charles River Park Tennis Club
- Sawyer 430
- C. Walsh Theatre
- C. Walsh Theatre

University DateLine is Suffolk University's master calendar. For information on any scheduled event, any day of the academic year; or to list an event that you are planning call 573-8082. A comprehensive record of what is happening, when and where - for planning, publicity or general information.

12

The ugly...

By JOUR

Teams and teams... their pro-... Teams that successful... history and campaigns... like to see... memories... 95 spots... bare write... and anything... quick... athletic... To see... the success... its first win... program... concluded... 4, up from... the previous... nipped... competing... non... yet... em... leaving... tion... Coach... expects... to the same p... The... country is... by one pro... its season... Despite its... performance... regularly... McBride... and Nancy... On the... was not a... ters, but its... surprises... the Buck... the other... transfer... Dave... the city of... The... By JOUR

Eye-op... Without a... soccer team... its first on... Nothing is... adoring the... listed since... promotion... der second... Franz... quickly... The playoff... expect... tion next at

University DateLine

Suffolk University's Calendar of Events

April 19 - 25, 1995

Wednesday, 4/19

10:30 - 4:30	Wednesday Evening Classes Cancelled-Monday Evening Classes Meet	Fenton Lounge
11:00 - 12:00	University Blood Drive	Sawyer 430
12:00 - 1:00	B.L.C. Study Group - Statistics 250	Sawyer 430
12:00 - 1:00	B.L.C. Study Group - Chemistry 112	Sawyer 927
1:00 - 2:00	B.L.C. Study Group - Accounting 322	Sawyer 430
1:00 - 2:00	B.L.C. Study Group - Economics 212	Sawyer 1021
1:00 - 2:00	B.L.C. Study Group - Accounting 202	Fenton 530
2:00 - 4:00	B.L.C. Study Group - Physical Science 2	MIS, One Beacon
2:00	MIS Training Session: EMAIL Basics	Sawyer 421
2:00	"What Happens When God Goes to College?" Lecture by Erica Jefferson, Chaplain, Wellesley College	Sawyer 308
2:30 - 4:30	Psi Chi Induction Ceremony	Andrew J. Puopolo Field
3:00	Women's Varsity Softball vs. US Coast Guard	Rhode Island College
3:30	Men's Varsity Baseball vs. Rhode Island College	C. Walsh Theatre
8:00	Reduced Shakespeare Co.'s The Bible

Thursday, 4/20

12:00 - 3:00	Temple Street Fair/Beach Party	Temple Street
1:00 - 2:00	B.L.C. Study Group - Chemistry 212	Archer 632
1:00 - 2:00	B.L.C. Study Group - Accounting 322	Sawyer 430
1:00 - 2:00	B.L.C. Study Group - Accounting 202	Sawyer 1138
1:00 - 2:15	Poet Marvin Bell - Sponsored by Cultural Events Committee	Fenton Lounge
1:00 - 2:30	Council of Presidents Meeting	Sawyer 921
1:00 - 2:25	Alpha Phi Omega Meeting	Fenton 430 A & B
1:00 - 2:30	SOM Faculty Meeting	Sawyer 427 & 429
1:00 - 2:30	International Student Association Meeting	Sawyer 708
1:00 - 2:30	Beta Alpha Psi Meeting	Sawyer 927
1:00 - 2:30	Archer Fellows Meeting	Sawyer 1108
1:00 - 2:00	B.L.C. Study Group - Economics 212	Sawyer 1134
1:00 - 2:30	CLAS Seminar Series: Shakespeare on the Public Image	Archer 110
2:00	Economics Association Meeting	Economics Department, 20 Ashburton Place
3:00	Men's Varsity Baseball vs. Bryant College	Bryant College
3:00 - 4:00	B.L.C. Study Group - Physical Science 2	Sawyer 430
8:00	Reduced Shakespeare Co.'s The Bible	C. Walsh Theatre

Friday, 4/21

12:00 - 1:00	Last Day to Buy Spring Week Packages	Sawyer Cafeteria
4:30 - 6:00	B.L.C. Study Group - Accounting 201	Sawyer 430
6:00	Passing of the Gavel Ceremony & Reception	Sawyer Cafeteria
8:00	Women's Center Awards Dinner	CMD Conference Room, One Beacon
	Reduced Shakespeare Co.'s The Bible	C. Walsh Theatre

Saturday, 4/22

8:00	College World Series of Advertising Competition	Sawyer 427 & 429
12:00	Men's Varsity Baseball vs. UMASS Boston	TBA
12:00	Men's Varsity Tennis vs. Worcester State	Charles River Park Tennis Club
1:00	Women's Varsity Softball vs. Rivier College	Rivier College
8:00	Reduced Shakespeare Co.'s The Bible	C. Walsh Theatre

Sunday, 4/23

2:00	Reduced Shakespeare Co.'s The Bible	C. Walsh Theatre
3:00 - 5:00	B.L.C. Study Group - Chemistry 212	Sawyer 430
6:30 - 8:30	B.L.C. Study Group - Chemistry 112	Sawyer 430
7:00	Reduced Shakespeare Co.'s The Bible	C. Walsh Theatre

Monday, 4/24

11:00 - 12:00	B.L.C. Study Group - Statistics 250	Sawyer 430
12:00 - 1:00	B.L.C. Study Group - Accounting 322	Sawyer 430
1:00 - 2:00	B.L.C. Study Group - Accounting 202	Sawyer 1021
3:00	Men's Varsity Baseball vs. Curry College	Curry College

Tuesday, 4/25

1:00	Annual Recognition Day Ceremony	C. Walsh Theatre
1:00 - 2:00	B.L.C. Study Group - Chemistry 112	Archer 632
1:00 - 2:00	B.L.C. Study Group - Physical Science 2	Sawyer 430
1:00 - 2:00	B.L.C. Study Group - Statistics 250	Sawyer 1134
1:00 - 2:00	B.L.C. Study Group - Accounting 201	Sawyer 1138
1:00 - 2:30	Student Government Association Meeting	Sawyer 423
1:00 - 2:30	Program Council Meeting	Fenton 603
1:00 - 2:30	Caribbean American Student Alliance Meeting	Sawyer 821
1:00 - 2:30	College Republicans Meeting	Sawyer 808
1:00 - 2:30	Beta Alpha Psi Meeting	Sawyer 927
1:00 - 2:30	Black Student Union Meeting	Sawyer 921
2:00	Men's Varsity Tennis vs. Wentworth Institute	Charles River Park Tennis Club
4:00 - 5:00	B.L.C. Study Group - Chemistry 212	Sawyer 430
8:00	"Living Life Out Loud: Life in the 90's", Speaker: Anna Quindlen	C. Walsh Theatre
	Lowell Lecture Series	C. Walsh Theatre
	Reduced Shakespeare Co.'s The Bible	C. Walsh Theatre

University DateLine is Suffolk University's master calendar. For information on any scheduled event, any day of the academic year, or to list an event that you are planning call 573-8082. A comprehensive record of what is happening, when and where — for planning, publicity or general information.

Suffolk Sports

The good, the bad, and the ugly...Suffolk sports saw it all

By Ryan Foley
JOURNAL STAFF

Teams that overachieved and teams that did not meet their pre-season promises. Teams that recorded the most successful seasons in their history and teams that had campaigns we would...well, like to soon wipe from our memories. Suffolk's 1994-95 sports season seemed to bare witness to everything and anything, so here's a quick synopsis of the athletic year.

To commence, there was the soccer team, which sealed its first winning season in the program's history. The team concluded the season at 10-4, up from a mark of 2-8-1 the previous year. They were nipped when it came to competing in the post-season, yet with only three players leaving due to graduation, Coach Dennis Franczak expects to have his team in the same position in 1995.

The women's cross-country team was plagued by one problem for most of its season: a lack of runners. Despite this hurdle, stellar performances were turned in regularly by Noreen McBride, Jennifer Verlicco and Nancy Glennon.

On the men's side there was not a dearth of competitors, but instead two pleasant surprises. One hailed from the Buckeye State and the other was a Jayhawk transfer.

Dave Allen, fresh from the city of Lorain, Ohio, finished 11th overall in his maiden run for Suffolk while Dan Alperin, a former student at the University of Kansas, emerged as the other promising star. Both newcomers will be running once again next year on a squad that will be returning most of his core runners.

Besides sandtraps and the occasional drink, Suffolk's golf team faced its share of obstacles. Among other things, the squad consistently squared-off against Division 1 juggernauts like Harvard University and Boston College. Chris Dupill and Mike DeBenedictis paced the team in the fall and figure to next season as well, as all but one player will be returning.

The women's tennis team had one of those aforementioned forgettable seasons, yet that couldn't discern from the individual highlights. Jennifer Lammer, a sophomore transfer, logged an 11-4 record on the court to lead a squad stocked primarily with underclassmen. Lammer, along with standouts Catbion Hoang and Natasha Zok, will be returning for Coach Rich Levenson in September.

With autumn eventually turning to winter, the basketball and hockey seasons inevitably began. One team that may not have lived up to its pre-season expectations was the men's basketball team.

With most of the players returning, this year's team roster looks like it came from a United Nations meeting.

The women's tennis team opened the 1995 season with an unprecedented 6-3 victory over UMASS/Boston. The squad also logged victories over Gordon College, Elmston, Bridgewater State and Eastern Nazarene to run their overall record this season to 5-2.

"We are eager to have a season which would allow us to top our records of 7-3 at 7-5 in the last two years said Coach Rich Levenson. "Beyond that, our main objective is to obtain the best record in Suffolk's tennis history. Last year we were 2-1 at this time. Now we are 5-2 and we are confident that we try hard we could defy the trends coming up on it schedule."

With most of the players returning, this year's team roster looks like it came from a United Nations meeting.

With most of the players returning, this year's team roster looks like it came from a United Nations meeting.

With most of the players returning, this year's team roster looks like it came from a United Nations meeting.

Coach Levenson and the tennis program's highlights.

Suffolk Tennis

By Rodrigo Mendes
SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL

Suffolk's varsity tennis team opened the 1995 season with an unprecedented 6-3 victory over UMASS/Boston. The squad also logged victories over Gordon College, Elmston, Bridgewater State and Eastern Nazarene to run their overall record this season to 5-2.

"We are eager to have a season which would allow us to top our records of 7-3 at 7-5 in the last two years said Coach Rich Levenson. "Beyond that, our main objective is to obtain the best record in Suffolk's tennis history. Last year we were 2-1 at this time. Now we are 5-2 and we are confident that we try hard we could defy the trends coming up on it schedule."

With most of the players returning, this year's team roster looks like it came from a United Nations meeting.

The rest of the best for 1994-94

By Ryan Foley
JOURNAL STAFF

Eye-opener of the year: Without a doubt it was the soccer team, which secured its first ever winning season. Nothing shabby either, considering the program has existed since the 1950s. Improvement was expected under second-year coach Dennis Franczak, but not this quickly. They barely missed the playoffs this year, but expect post-season competition next season.

Best Ro Jackson imitator: There was a multitude of multi-faceted athletes to select from such as Miguel Fernandes (soccer and basketball), Mike DeBenedictis (golf and baseball), and Nancy Glennon (tennis, basketball, softball) to name but a few. The winner was Noreen McBride though, who was the top performer on the women's cross-country team, the leading scorer and rebounder on the women's basketball team and the catcher on the softball team (when!). Best one-game offensive performance (player): Jo Fama's scoring clinic on Jan 26 against Stonehill College. The senior for the hockey team tallied five goals in one game, but it proved to be inadequate enough on this particular evening, as the Rams lost anyway 9-8. Best one-game offensive performance (team): The baseball team's thrashing of...

the softball team (when!). Best one-game offensive performance (player): Jo Fama's scoring clinic on Jan 26 against Stonehill College. The senior for the hockey team tallied five goals in one game, but it proved to be inadequate enough on this particular evening, as the Rams lost anyway 9-8. Best one-game offensive performance (team): The baseball team's thrashing of...

With most of the players returning, this year's team roster looks like it came from a United Nations meeting.

y DateLine

Suffolk University's Calendar of Events

Wednesday Evening Classes Cancelled-Monday Evening Classes Meet University Blood Drive B.L.C. Study Group - Statistics 250 B.L.C. Study Group - Chemistry 112 B.L.C. Study Group - Accounting 322 B.L.C. Study Group - Economics 212 B.L.C. Study Group - Accounting 202 B.L.C. Study Group - Physical Science 2 MIS Training Session: EMAIL Basics "What Happens When God Goes to College?" Lecture by Erica Jefferson, Chaplain, Wellesley College Psi Chi Induction Ceremony Women's Varsity Softball vs. US Coast Guard Men's Varsity Baseball vs. Rhode Island College Reduced Shakespeare Co.'s The Bible	Fenton Lounge Sawyer 430 Sawyer 430 Sawyer 927 Sawyer 430 Sawyer 1021 Fenton 530 MIS, One Beacon Sawyer 421 Sawyer 308 Andrew J. Paupio Field Rhode Island College C. Walsh Theatre
Temple Street Fair Beach Party B.L.C. Study Group - Chemistry 212 B.L.C. Study Group - Accounting 322 B.L.C. Study Group - Accounting 202 Poet Marvin Bell - Sponsored by Cultural Events Committee Council of Presidents Meeting Alpha Phi Omega Meeting SOM Faculty Meeting International Student Association Meeting Beta Alpha Psi Meeting Archer Fellows Meeting B.L.C. Study Group - Economics 212 CLAS Seminar Series: Shakespeare on the Public Image Economics Association Meeting Men's Varsity Baseball vs. Bryant College B.L.C. Study Group - Physical Science 2 Reduced Shakespeare Co.'s The Bible	Temple Street Archer 632 Sawyer 430 Sawyer 1138 Fenton Lounge Sawyer 921 Fenton 430 A & B Sawyer 427 & 429 Sawyer 708 Sawyer 927 Sawyer 1108 Sawyer 1134 Archer 110 20 Ashburton Place Bryant College Sawyer 430 C. Walsh Theatre
Last Day to Buy Spring Week Packages B.L.C. Study Group - Accounting 201 Passing of the Gavel Ceremony & Reception Women's Center Awards Dinner Reduced Shakespeare Co.'s The Bible	Sawyer Cafeteria Sawyer 430 Sawyer Cafeteria Room, One Beacon C. Walsh Theatre
College World Series of Advertising Competition Men's Varsity Baseball vs. UMASS Boston Men's Varsity Tennis vs. Worcester State Women's Varsity Softball vs. Rivier College Reduced Shakespeare Co.'s The Bible	Sawyer 427 & 429 TBA Charles River Park Tennis Club Rivier College C. Walsh Theatre
Reduced Shakespeare Co.'s The Bible B.L.C. Study Group - Chemistry 212 B.L.C. Study Group - Chemistry 112 Reduced Shakespeare Co.'s The Bible	C. Walsh Theatre Sawyer 430 Sawyer 430 C. Walsh Theatre
B.L.C. Study Group - Statistics 250 B.L.C. Study Group - Accounting 322 B.L.C. Study Group - Accounting 202 Men's Varsity Baseball vs. Curry College	Sawyer 430 Sawyer 430 Sawyer 1021 Curry College
Annual Recognition Day Ceremony B.L.C. Study Group - Chemistry 112 B.L.C. Study Group - Physical Science 2 B.L.C. Study Group - Statistics 250 B.L.C. Study Group - Accounting 201 Student Government Association Meeting Program Council Meeting Caribbean American Student Alliance Meeting College Republicans Meeting Beta Alpha Psi Meeting Black Student Union Meeting Men's Varsity Tennis vs. Wentworth Institute B.L.C. Study Group - Chemistry 212 "Living Life Out Loud: Life in the 90's", Speaker: Anna Quindlen Lowell Lecture Series Reduced Shakespeare Co.'s The Bible	C. Walsh Theatre Archer 632 Sawyer 430 Sawyer 1134 Sawyer 1138 Sawyer 423 Fenton 603 Sawyer 821 Sawyer 808 Sawyer 927 Sawyer 328 Charles River Park Tennis Club Sawyer 430
C. Walsh Theatre C. Walsh Theatre	C. Walsh Theatre C. Walsh Theatre

Suffolk University's master calendar. For information on any scheduled event, any day of the academic year, or to list an event 73-8082. A comprehensive record of what is happening, when and where — for planning, publicity or general information.

Suffolk Sports

The good, the bad, and the ugly...Suffolk sports saw it all

By Ryan Foley
JOURNAL STAFF

Teams that overachieved and teams that did not meet their pre-season promises. Teams that recorded the most successful seasons in their history and teams that had campaigns we would...well, like to soon wipe from our memories. Suffolk's 1994-95 sports season seemed to bare witness to everything and anything, so here's a quick synopsis of the athletic year.

To commence, there was the soccer team, which sealed its first winning season in the program's history. The team concluded the season at 10-4, up from a mark of 2-8-1 the previous year. They were nipped when it came to competing in the post-season, yet with only three players leaving due to graduation, Coach Dennis Franczak expects to have his team in the same position in 1995.

The women's cross-country team was plagued by one problem for most of its season: a lack of runners. Despite this hurdle, stellar performances were turned in regularly by Norreen McBride, Jennifer Verlicco and Nancy Glennon.

On the men's side there was not a dearth of competitors, but instead two pleasant surprises. One hailed from the Buckeye State and the other was a Jayhawk transfer.

Dave Allen, fresh from the city of Lorain, Ohio, finished 11th overall in his maiden run for Suffolk while Dan Alperin, a former student at the University of Kansas, emerged as the other promising star. Both newcomers will be running once again next year on a squad that will be returning most of its core runners.

Besides sandtraps and the occasional drink, Suffolk's golf team faced its share of obstacles: "Among other things, the squad consistently squared-off against Division I juggernauts like Harvard University and Boston College. Chris Dupill and Mike DeBenedictis paced the team in the fall and figure to next season as well, as all but one player will be returning.

The women's tennis team had one of those aforementioned forgettable seasons, yet that couldn't discern from the individual highlights. Jennifer Lammers, a sophomore transfer, logged an 11-1 record on the court to lead a squad stocked primarily with underclassmen. Lammers, along with standouts Caribien Hoang and Natasha Zok, will be returning for Coach Rich Levenson in September.

With autumn eventually turning to winter, the basketball and hockey seasons inevitably began. One team that may not have lived up to its pre-season expectations was the men's basketball team. Now we are 5-2 and we are confident that if we try hard we could defeat the teams coming up on the schedule."

With most of the players returning, this year's tennis roster looks like it came from a United Nations meeting.

Coach Levenson and the Suffolk tennis team are aiming for the best record in the tennis program's history.

Suffolk Tennis team aims to be the best

By Rodrigo Mendez
SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL

Suffolk's varsity tennis team opened the 1995 season with an unprecedented 6-3 victory over UMASS/Boston in the fall and figure to next season as well, as all but one player will be returning.

"We are eager to have a season which would allow us to top our records of 7-3 and 7-5 in the last two years," said Coach Rich Levenson. "Beyond that, our main objective is to obtain the best record in Suffolk's tennis history. Last year we were 2-4 at this time. Now we are 5-2 and we are confident that if we try hard we could defeat the teams coming up on the schedule."

With most of the players returning, this year's tennis roster looks like it came from a United Nations meeting.

Freshman Loay Samhoun (undefeated in 7 singles and 5 doubles) hails from Beirut, while senior Manuel Balmori (5-1 in singles) comes from Mexico and Spain. Also from the country of Spain is Jose Ignacio "Nacho" Tasis who is known for his consistency and efficiency at the net. Another Spanish-speaking player is Rodrigo "Rod" Mendez from Chile, currently playing his fourth consecutive season at Suffolk. There's also freshman Gerardo Townsend from Guatemala City, Josef Sczcnak who hails from Slovakia and Tony Mirogiannis who is Greek and Yazan Sureideh, a native of Jordan.

The American nucleus of the team is made up of Greg Bacos, Dan McGuffigan and doubles partners Ron Fallon and Tim Kane who combined 40-5 last year who have yet to lose this season.

"This is the biggest coaching for St. Levenson said. "It has very good depth exciting to use those players each match less-experienced... the opportunity to valuable experience match conditions." According to Levenson he will still be proud squad, regardless of record this year, doesn't mean he is up on getting those stories to earn him among Suffolk's athletes. "It still would be awfully to get the best record Suffolk tennis history

Around the Campus

The softball team swept a doubleheader from Daniel College on April 12 by scores of 13-11 and 7-0; chances of the Ramettes beginning a lengthy win streak stiffed the following day (4/13) though, when MIT Suffolk a 8-7 loss. Playing their third twinnbill of the Saturday (4/15), the Ramettes split against Albertus College, losing 14-10 and winning 18-10...Suffolk's Vieira and Biek Ace participated in the Division England All-Star Basketball game on Wednesday. The contest, held at Holy Cross College in Worcester, Vieira scores 20 points (four three-pointers) and A eight points of his own. Their performances were in effort though, as their West squad fell to the East squad 118-...The basketball team, disposed of three opponents by scores of 11-2 (Maine Maritime), 11-1 (University) and 24-3 (Nichols College). Stand-out mannaes were turned in by Darwin Hernandez who his ninth homer in the Nichols win and Rob Fourn who his fourth game of the year. On Saturday, the R to eight-ranked Amherst College 4-3 ending their game-win streak. In this week's coaches poll, rankings.

The rest of the best for 1994-94

By Ryan Foley
JOURNAL STAFF

Eye-opener of the year: Without a doubt it was the soccer team, which secured its first ever winning season. Nothing shabby either, considering the program has existed since the 1950s. Improvement was expected under second-year coach Dennis Franczak, but not this quickly. They barely missed the playoffs this year, but expect post-season competition next season.

Best Bo Jackson imitator: There was a multitude of multi-faceted athletes to select from such as Miguel Fernandes (soccer and basketball), Mike DeBenedictis (golf and baseball) and Nancy Glennon (tennis, basketball, softball) to name but a few. The winner was Norreen McBride though, who was the top performer on the women's cross-country team, the leading scorer and rebounder on the women's basketball team and the catcher on the softball team (when), Best one-game offensive performance player: Ron Fama's scoring clinic on Jan. 26 against Stonehill College. The senior for the hockey team tallied five goals for the game, but it proved to be not adequate enough on this particular evening, as the Rams lost anyway 9-3. Best one-game offensive performance team: The basketball team's thrashing of

BEST continued on page 10

Suffolk University's Calendar of Events

Classes Cancelled-Monday Evening Classes Meet

Statistics 250	Fenton Lounge
Chemistry 112	Sawyer 430
Accounting 322	Sawyer 430
Economics 212	Sawyer 927
Accounting 202	Sawyer 430
Physical Science 2	Sawyer 1021
EMAIL Basics	Fenton 530
God Goes to College? Lecture by Erica Jefferson, Chaplain, Wellesley College	MIS, One Beacon
smony	Sawyer 421
ball vs. US Coast Guard	Sawyer 308
ll vs. Rhode Island College	Andrew J. Pucio Field
Co.'s The Bible	Rhode Island College
	C. Walsh Theatre

ach Party	Temple Street
Chemistry 212	Archer 632
Accounting 322	Sawyer 430
Accounting 202	Sawyer 1138

Sponsored by Cultural Events Committee

Meeting	Fenton Lounge
eting	Sawyer 921
	Fenton 430 A & B
	Sawyer 427 & 429
Association Meeting	Sawyer 708
ig	Sawyer 927
ig	Sawyer 1108
Economics 212	Sawyer 1134

Shakespeare on the Public Image

a Meeting	Archer 119
ll vs. Bryant College	Economics Department, 20 Ashburton Place
Physical Science 2	Bryant College
Co.'s The Bible	Sawyer 430
	C. Walsh Theatre

ig Week Packages	Sawyer Cafeteria
Accounting 201	Sawyer 430
Ceremony & Reception	Sawyer Cafeteria
rd's Dinner	CMD Conference Room, One Beacon
Co.'s The Bible	C. Walsh Theatre

of Advertising Competition

ll vs. UMASS Boston	Sawyer 427 & 429
vs. Worcester State	TBA
ball vs. Rivier College	Charles River Park Tennis Club
Co.'s The Bible	Rivier College
	C. Walsh Theatre

Co.'s The Bible	C. Walsh Theatre
Chemistry 212	Sawyer 430
Chemistry 112	Sawyer 430
Co.'s The Bible	C. Walsh Theatre

Statistics 250	Sawyer 430
Accounting 322	Sawyer 430
Accounting 202	Sawyer 1021
ll vs. Curry College	Curry College

ay Ceremony	C. Walsh Theatre
Chemistry 112	Archer 632
Physical Science 2	Sawyer 430
Statistics 250	Sawyer 1134
Accounting 201	Sawyer 1138

Association Meeting	Sawyer 423
ig	Fenton 603
udent Alliance Meeting	Sawyer 821
Meeting	Sawyer 808
Meeting	Sawyer 927
Meeting	Sawyer 921

vs. Wentworth Institute	Charles River Park Tennis Club
Chemistry 212	Sawyer 430

Life in the 90's, Speaker: Anna Quindlen	C. Walsh Theatre
Co.'s The Bible	C. Walsh Theatre

endar. For information on any scheduled event, any day of the academic year, or to list an event record of what is happening, when and where — for planning, publicity or general information.

Suffolk Sports

The good, the bad, and the ugly...Suffolk sports saw it all

By Ryan Foley
JOURNAL STAFF

Teams that overachieved and teams that did not meet their pre-season promises. Teams that recorded the most successful seasons in their history and teams that had campaigns we would...well, like to soon wipe from our memories. Suffolk's 1994-95 sports season seemed to bare witness to everything and anything, so here's a quick synopsis of the athletic year.

To commence, there was the soccer team, which sealed its first winning season in the program's history. The team concluded the season at 10-4, up from a mark of 2-8-1 the previous year. They were nipped when it came to competing in the post-season, yet with only three players leaving due to graduation, Coach Dennis Franczak expects to have his team in the same position in 1995.

The women's cross-country team was plagued by one problem for most of its season: a lack of runners. Despite this hurdle, stellar performances were turned in regularly by Noreen McBride, Jennifer Verlicco and Nancy Glennon.

On the men's side there was not a dearth of competitors, but instead two pleasant surprises. One hailed from the Buckeye State and the other was a Jayhawk transfer.

Dave Allen, fresh from the city of Lorain, Ohio, finished 11th overall in his maiden run for Suffolk while Dan Alperin, a former student at the University of Kansas, emerged as the other promising star. Both newcomers will be running once again next year on a squad that will be returning most of his core runners.

Besides sandtraps and the occasional drink, Suffolk's golf team faced its share of obstacles. Among other things, the squad consistently squared-off against Division I juggernauts like Harvard University and Boston College.

Chris Dupill and Mike DeBenedictis paced the team in the fall and figure to best season as well, as all but one player will be returning.

The women's tennis team had one of those aforementioned forgettable seasons, yet that couldn't discern from the individual highlights. Jennifer Lammers, a sophomore transfer, logged an 11-4 record on the court in lead a squad stocked primarily with underclassmen. Lammers, along with standouts Catbien Hoang and Naitasha Zok, will be returning for Coach Rich Levenson in September.

With autumn eventually turning to winter, the basketball and hockey seasons inevitably began. One team that may not have lived up to its pre-season expectations was the men's basketball

SPORTS

continued on page 10

Photo by Radka Smejkalova

Coach Levenson and the Suffolk tennis team are aiming for the best record in the tennis program's history.

Suffolk Tennis team aims to be the best

By Rodrigo Mendez
SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL

Suffolk's varsity tennis team opened the 1995 season with an unprecedented 6-3 victory over UMass/Boston. The squad also logged victories over Gordon College, Emerson, Bridgewater State and Eastern Nazarene to run their overall record this season to 5-2.

"We are eager to have a season which would allow us to top our records of 7-3 and 7-5 in the last two years," said Coach Rich Levenson. "Beyond that, our main objective is to obtain the best record in Suffolk's tennis history. Last year we were 2-4 at this time. Now we are 5-2 and we are confident that if we try hard we could defeat the teams coming up on the schedule."

With most of the players returning, this year's tennis roster looks like it came from a United Nations meeting.

Around the Campus

by Ryan Foley

The softball team swept a doubleheader from Daniel Webster College on April 12 by scores of 13-11 and 7-2. Any chances of the Ramettes beginning a lengthy win streak were stifled the following day (4/13) though, when MIT handed Suffolk a 8-7 loss. Playing their third twinbill of the week on Saturday (4/15), the Ramettes split against Albertus Magnus College, losing 14-10 and winning 18-10. Suffolk's Mike Vieira and Rick Aze participated in the Division III New England All-Star Basketball game on Wednesday (4/12). The contest, held at Holy Cross College in Worcester, saw Vieira score 20 points (four three-pointers) and Ace tally eight points of his own. Their performances were in a losing effort though, as their West squad fell to the East squad, 124-118.... The baseball team disposed of three opponents last week by scores of 11-2 (Maine Maritime), 11-1 (Clark University) and 24-3 (Nichols College). Stand-out performers were turned in by Darwin Hernandez who cranked his ninth homer in the Nichols win and Rob Fournier who won his fourth game of the year. On Saturday, the Rams fell to eight-ranked Amherst College 4-3 ending their three-game win streak. In this week's coaches poll, Suffolk retained its position of sixth in the rankings.

BEST
continued on page 10

The rest of the best for 1994-94

By Ryan Foley
JOURNAL STAFF

Eye-opener of the year: Without a doubt it was the soccer team, which secured its first ever winning season. Nothing shabby either, considering the program has existed since the 1950s. Improvement was expected under second-year coach Dennis Franczak, but not this quickly. They barely missed the playoffs this year, but expect post-season competition next season.

Best Bo Jackson imitator: There was a multitude of multi-faceted athletes to select from such as Miguel Fernandes (soccer and basketball), Mike DeBenedictis (golf and baseball) and Nancy Glennon (tennis, basketball, softball) to name but a few. The winner was Noreen McBride though, who was the top performer on the women's cross-country team, the leading scorer and rebounder on the women's basketball team and the catcher on the softball team (whew!).

Best one-game offensive performance (player): Ron Fama's scoring clinic on Jan. 26 against Stonehill College. The senior for the hockey team tallied five goals for the game, but it proved to be not adequate enough on this particular evening, as the Rams lost anyway 9-8.
Best one-game offensive performance (team): The baseball team's thrashing of