Dreams in the Making

As freshmen's becoming the first incoming class at Suffolk University for the new millennium was a great honor. At orientation we commenced into the thrilling nature of all-nighters, ghastly dorm food, cutting classes just for the reason that you could, those unfortunate mornings awoken and still under the influence and at the same time thinking of how you get to where you are. In support of some, it was the first experience away from the comfort of your home in a big city without the direction of our parents and having to share our personal liberty with unfamiliar persons. Orientation was a time to get a feel of the whole transition process of college life for which we grew accustomed to. Like for example: staying up until the early hours in the morning, talking with our new friends, frequenting the clubs in our surrounding area and just checking with mom and dad for rent and food money. Looking back through this experience we've made and lost friends, and lovers, and we've formed relations that will last a lifetime. As graduation comes upon us, we will commence to build our future with the never-ending possibilities in life. You Came... You Saw... You Conquered... So lets always cherish these recollections of various times in our lives, and of those with whom we started this voyage with.

So Sit Back... Relax... & Enjoy The Captions in seeing one's dream come to fruition.

Message From President Sargent
To The Class Of 2004.*

Congratulations to the Class of 2004! Your professors and all members of the Suffolk community are proud of your hard work and dedication. Now, using the knowledge, confidence and insight you have gained through your studies, you are ready to begin the next stage of your life's journey. It has been an honor to guide you thus far, and we wish you the best as you pursue your careers or further your educations.

Your time here at Suffolk has been a dynamic, exciting time for the University, which has experienced an influx of students and expanded facilities and programs. Yet we continue to maintain the small classes and personal attention from faculty that are our hallmark. Each administrator, faculty member and staff person cares about students and, as a community, we all care about promoting a society in which each individual has a chance to succeed.

This school celebrates diversity, not because it is politically correct, but because diversity is what makes us rich. We see that in each of you. You have much to offer and through the gift of education, your minds are open to learn from others. Please remember that as you enter a world fraught by division and turmoil. A just and fair society begins with the individual. We must find ways to come together, or society risks being torn apart.

As Suffolk University bids the Class of 2004 farewell, I can't help but think about milestones. It has been 50 years since my commencement, and I will be celebrating a golden anniversary reunion with my classmates from the Law School as you embark on new ventures. And the University marks its Centennial in 2006: 100 years of opportunity and the cause of tremendous celebration. We are a school that in a relatively short period of time has made a great impact, initially upon Boston and New England, increasingly upon the nation and the world.

Suffolk University has remained central to my life in the past 50 years, and I hope that you, too, will retain strong bonds with your alma mater. As you graduate, you will become one of more than 44,000 active University alumni - leaders in business, education, law, public service, the sciences and the arts. We look forward to seeing new leaders emerge from among you, not only in the professions, but in family, friendship and community.

As you grow in success, we hope that you will remember your roots and form a fresh new bond with the Suffolk University family. Join a caring community involved in mentorship, internships and networking. Pass along your own prosperity to future Suffolk students through your contributions of time, talent, counsel, expertise and financial resources. As a student, you benefited from the care of your predecessors. Please remember that your continued support is essential to our mission of providing educational access and excellence to all.

Graduation

Dear Seniors : As you take a momentary look from beginning to end of the following pages, keep in mind all the times you have seen these recognizable faces, while strolling from class to class, or taking a smoke outside the building or just relaxing in the student lounge in the Donahue building. Do you remember how these were on one occasion the faces of petrified freshman at orientation who were so scared of the challenges that lied ahead. At present, as you will notice these faces, they are no long those of worried freshman, but assured and established graduates prepared to discover new possibilities. So as this years theme states: I came...I saw... I conquered Know that this is not the end but a new beginning.

Suffolk University's History

Founded to overcome barriers of income and discrimination, Suffolk University has a proud history of enabling its students to become honored members of the academic community, the business world, the professions of accounting, public service, health, law and the judiciary. In 1906, Gleason L. Archer founded Suffolk Law School to make knowledge of the law available to those denied access to a legal education by virtue of social class, religion or income. Archer had come to Boston from rural Maine to study law. He subsequently sought to provide an opportunity for other working students to study law. The response was enthusiastic, eventually prompting him to initiate other programs. The College of Arts and Sciences, founded in 1934, was one of the first institutions of higher education in New England at which a student could earn a Bachelor of Arts degree entirely through evening study. The study of sciences was strengthened after the Second World War. There are now seventeen academic departments in the College of Arts and Sciences offering over fifty programs of specialized study including the New England School of Art & Design at Suffolk University. NESADSU was established in March 1996, by joining the New England School of Art & Design and Suffolk University. The Frank Sawyer School of Management was established in 1937 to provide management education to working students in a part-time format. The Sawyer School of Management is accredited by the National Association of Schools of Public Affairs and Administration (NASPAA) and AACSB International – The Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business. The Sawyer School is the only school in Boston to achieve special accreditation of its accounting and taxation programs from AACSB International. The Sawyer School's MST program is the only AACSB International taxation program accredited by AACSB International in Massachusetts. The Sawyer School bears the name of Frank Sawyer, a man who is the quintessential example of creative American entrepreneurship.

Armed with his intelligence, remarkable business instincts and the highest ethical principles, Frank Sawyer built a corporate empire that today stretches across the world. These qualities, and the ideals for which they stand, are embedded in the Sawyer School's mission to advance global, accessible, lifelong learning. Emphasizing pragmatic management education for pre-professional and working students, the School enrolls over 2,100 undergraduate and graduate students. The Sawyer School has attracted a diverse faculty committed to excellence in teaching and research. Unique to higher education, Sawyer School faculty teach both undergraduate and graduate students. Ninety-three percent of the full-time faculties hold doctoral degrees. Over eighty individuals serve as adjunct faculty members. They, along with the Sawyer School's eight Advisory Councils, provide a strong link with professional practitioners in all levels of business and government. The Sawyer School offers the Bachelor of Science in Business Administration (BSBA) degree with nine majors. Graduate degree programs leading to the Master of Business Administration (MBA) and the Master of Public Administration (MPA) are offered by the Sawyer School, as well as specialized Master's degree programs in Accounting, Finance, Financial Services and Banking, Health Administration, Philanthropy and Media, and Taxation. The Sawyer School also offers a Graduate Diploma in Professional Accounting. Joint Degree programs with Suffolk Law School lead to the JD MBA, JD/MPA, and the JD/MSF. In addition to the Beacon Hill location, the MBA degree is offered in North Andover at Merrimack College, the BSBA, MBA, and MPA degrees are offered on the Cape at Cape Cod Community College, and the BSBA and MBA degrees are offered in Franklin at Dean College. Suffolk University maintains campuses in Chongching, China; Madrid, Spain; and Dakar, Senegal. In 2001, Suffolk University graduated the first students from New England's first online MBA program, The Suffolk Online eMBA Program. 2000-2001 marks the 25th anniversary of Suffolk's highly successful Executive MBA Program – the only Saturday-only Executive MBA in New England. In recent decades, Suffolk University has continually updated and expanded its curriculum and buildings to fulfill its commitment to respond to the changing needs of its students and to new developments in various fields of study

STUDENT LIFE

Societal existence is one of the majority significance in the lives of college students. The association and people one stumble upon in the commencement of college are those who will stay close to one throughout their college education. Measures made by the University's student organization, administrative and support staff members and the different departments that make up Suffolk are vital in bringing Suffolk's community in one place for the central reason of integration and activities. The University continues its trend in working hard throughout the school year of 2003-2004 to make a social life fulfilling for all that roam the halls of Suffolk. So here is a year in review of events provided by Suffolk University.

In loving memory of an inspired student and wonderful teacher.

You taught us all to set high goals.

*Your legacy to us all, especially to Rachel and Michael,
is the tireless effort you demonstrated in achieving those goals.*

*To our daughter, sister, wife, mother and friend,
Thank you for all your encouragement, support and love.*

*We will never stop missing you or loving you.
You are in our hearts forever.*

Editor's Thanks

It seems like only yesterday, when I was confronted with a new reality. I had just migrated from a land I called home from the time of my birth to this new country America. It was a very difficult transition for me with the experience of a new culture, and now I stand proud today to have accomplished a milestone in my life. My three and a half years at Suffolk University, were surely some of the most fun days that I had ever experienced yet still I dreaded those assignments that all seemed to be given all at once. But at the end of the day I can still say the experience was one to remember. As editor of the yearbook I wish to extend my congratulations to all the graduates and best of luck in all your undertakings. To the professors, without your hard work and encouragement we surely wouldn't have made it this far. My most heartfelt thank you goes to my parents and my family, without your support and encouragement throughout my life I would never have become the person that I am today. So as we bid farewell to our dear school lets live by these words..... "Dreams are hopeless aspirations in hopes of coming true, believe in yourself the rest is up to me and you."

Big Ups to my cousins:
 Michelle, Latasha, Clive,
 Kimane, Cindy, Alison,
 Jeffery, Shanice, Clemox,
 Gina, Tallulah, Melvin,
 Wayne, David,
 Sherma & Pearl

Lastly, to the staff & faculty members, mentors, supervisor, employers and the list go on. THANK YOU! I can't go without acknowledging your contributions to me

Carl Parks, Judy Benson, Susan Francis, Dan McHugh, Angela Counts, Aurelio, Bessie, Amy French, Wilma, Lori, Denise Malvo, Kim Powers, Olga, Amy, Chris DeStefano, Teri, Cathy, Karen, Kim & Jen in student activities, Dahlia, Sheneka & the Year Book Staff Members

Happy 50th birthday Daddy & Much Love Mom.

One love to my brother Ronnie & Sister Lisa aka Jarasha
 My Aunts & Uncles : Serphine, Fredricka, Noreen, Tessa, Joyce, Davison, Carlton, Marcus, Clement, BA, Randy
 Grandparents: Theresa, Sandrine, and Fredrick
 To all my other families members one love and Thanks a million.
 To my friends Continue to do what you do best: Monica, Fiaka, Kevin, Rebecca, Nerisa, AnnMarie, Harriett, Alex, Yves and other whose names are too numerous to mention One Love!

The Business office staff: Greg Harris, Yeuris Mejia, Wendy Alterno, Paul Ryan, Dung Words can't express my appreciation for all you have done. Well, this was my time... De eyes have them!

Fall Fest

Fall Fest is Suffolk's annual variety show presented every year over Family Weekend. This show provides a venue for Suffolk students and staff to display their hidden, and not so hidden performing arts talents within the structure of an exciting musical extravaganza.

This year's theme was "Suffolk goes to Hollywood". Each number was created from a Hollywood film musical. The acts ranged from "The Wizard of Oz" and "Grease" to "Moulin Rouge" and "The Rocky Horror Picture Show". The cast sang, danced and impersonated Suffolk's top administrators to the delight of the sell out crowds. Individual acts included an original vocal and piano composition, magic tricks, a dance solo, as well as performances by Suffolk's Step Squad, Chorus and Dance Team.

Christmas Service Event

MONSTER MASH @ the Matrix

Sponsored by The Program Council, Suffolk's Annual Halloween Party was well attended. Tinted with good music, food and array of creative costumes; the night was filled with all-night dancing and great prizes for the top three best costumes. If you were in attendance at this event, I must say that you had a blast and if you weren't, well take a look at that moment in time.
