and this ... Our Purpose

Suffolk, standing proudly in back of our state capital, is centered in one of Boston's oldest sections, known to the people of the United States and the world for its cultural, political, and historical heritage.

Sinuous and narrow streets, quaint restaurants and shops, and russet brawnstone apartment buildings exude a spirit of pride to fulfill a purpose of people who have passed into the pages of history—the spirit that has made Boston what it is today. They are gone, but the spiritual cornerstone of their century is now the cornerstone of ours, to inspire students of Suffolk with traditions of pride, purpose, and pursuit.

This is our school—our Suffolk. This is our trusted heritage to treasure and emulate, and then, after leaving Suffolk and entering the world, to surpass. Our job and obligation is to carry on.

ORGANIZATIONS

We Salute Our Former ...

Dr. Robert J. Munce

After twelve years of devoted duty to Suffolk University, Dr. Robert J. Munce released the presidential reins to assume the newly-created chair of chancellor. Since 1948 Dr. Munce faithfully served Suffolk, and before 1948, was associated with the Universities of Pittsburgh and Washington. We know Dr. Munce will be happy and at home at the helm of our university.

And Welcome

Our New President

After serving as superintendent of Boston's school system since 1948, Dr. Dennis C. Haley, in September, 1960, was appointed President of Suffolk, and we know he will carry on the fine tradition established under the administration of Dr. Munce.

Dr. Haley was graduated from Holy Cross College and Boston Normal School and holds masters degrees from Harvard and Boston College, and honorary doctorates from three distinguished institutions.

Welcome aboard.

Dr. Dennis C. Haley

Administration

Fifty-five impressive years have been torn off the calendar since the University first opened its doors with a student body, faculty and administration which could be counted on one hand. Today, the University boasts instructors and professors from some of the finest schools in the world.

Fifty-five years have created a student growing student body under the tutelage of fine academic minds, and alumni who are spread to the far corners of the United States and the world.

PROLOGUE

Suffolk, surrounded by cars, buildings, and people, lives within its own world. In early morning students stream to Suffolk from subways, train stations, cars, and motorscooters parked here and there and, at night, stream back to their suburbs, jobs, and apartments in Boston.

This heterogeneous student body displays a variety of study moods—sitting and smoking on the stairs, cramming chemistry in the cafeteria, reading religiously in the library's solemn shadows, drinking in the professors pearls of wisdom.

The Pursuit for

Knowledge is Never-ending.

Suffolk Encourages An Inter-change

Suffolk, nestled in historic Boston, awakens with the warmth of the spring sun. Its students saunter in the shadows of the statehouse dome or lean against the sun-splashed walls, smoking and talking of things only the spring evokes—joy, sorrow, sweethearts, the future. And the spring seeps through the walls, too, as boys and girls meet and talk.

Of Ideas

The students are quiet and attentive in the classrooms. Then—the break. Silence is shattered as students jam the halls, talking and walking here and there, and soon a blue mist of smoke hangs heavy. The break over—class resumes.

SENIOR PROM

The senior prom is a gala event at any school and Suffolk University is no exception.

At this last formal assemblage of their class, the '61 Seniors will long remember and cherish the dancing, laughing, gabbing, and good cheer.

"But I am 21!"

"They're playing our song, dear."

Enjoying a hearty meal, students take time out to pose for a group picture.

...ar da they?

The prom is a time when even the faculty leaves their baaks behind...

Couples chat while having a sociable drink.

I could have danced all night was the theme far most couples.

Girls exchange latest gossip while waiting for their dates to return with thirst-quenchers.

The food was so tasty that some people did not have time for our camera man.

But it's difficult to smile while you're standing on my foot!

"Charmed, I'm sure!"

SENIOR PROM

"...and how did you enjoy the filet mignon?"

"What's next on the menu?"

Guest speaker, C. Edwin Holland, Editor of The Record American, delivering a brilliant speech on the current world problem.

One of the academic years biggest events is Recognition Day. This is the time of year that one day is set aside for the student body and faculty to honor those students who have done outstanding work in school organizations, sports and of course scholastically.

Suffolk Journal

Under the efficient Editorship of Walter O'Brien, this year's Journal was truly a democratic student organ. Maintaining the tenor of propriety and providing the opportunity for the expression of individual attitudes, the Journal as the "voice" of the student was unexcelled. The incessant diligence of the staff, the receptivity of the student body, and the competent efforts of editor O'Brien culminated monthly in publication certainly of credit to Suffolk University,—a journal par excellence. As alumni we anxiously await contact with S. U. via the Journal.

NEW MEDICAL-TECH PROGRAM DR. HALEY NEW PRESIDENT

SUFFOLK JOINS HOSPITAL IN COMMUNITY SERVICE

The University's new program was expanded one step further this September with the joint announcement by President Haley and William Brune of Northern Wellefield Hospital concerning a new program in medical technology. Under the leadership of Dr. Robert S. Friedman, chairman of the Department of Biology, and Mr. Russell Howard, Assistant Professor of Biology, who is directing the program, Suffolk is now prepared to help meet the growing demand for well-trained medical technologists. It is estimated that some 1,000 such men will be needed in the next decade. The principle objective of the new program, according to Mr. Howard, will be to graduate technologists who have not only a thorough, basic education in the liberal arts and sciences, but also a strong background in the physical and biological sciences. Technical details of the program were worked out by Dr. Friedman, Dr. Howard, and Joseph H. Searles, Assistant Dean of Suffolk's College of Arts and Sciences. Dr. Friedman, who is also chairman of the Suffolk Board of Trustees, said that the program is a joint effort of the University and the hospital. He said that the program is a joint effort of the University and the hospital. He said that the program is a joint effort of the University and the hospital.

Dr. Muncie Moves Up To Chancellor

Newness is the key to Suffolk's character as it stands before the doorway of a new decade. The university enters the 1960's with a new president, a new recorder, and the new office of the Chancellor. Dr. Dennis Curran Haley, superintendent of schools for the City of Boston since 1948, moved to the helm of Suffolk University this September, after former President Robert J. Muncie's promotion to the newly-created office of Chancellor.

NEW SECRETARY

President Haley's close associate, Dr. Haley's loyalty to the Suffolk school system is unquestioned. He got his new secretary there. Dr. Haley, who retired as Superintendent of Boston's schools, chose Miss Mary Clark, an honor graduate of Boston College, to be his secretary. Miss Clark is a resident of South Boston.

President's Greeting

As President of Suffolk University, I am pleased to extend my personal greetings and the greetings of the faculty to those students entering the university for the first time, as well as to those returning to our institution for continuing their studies. Suffolk University offers unique opportunities to both men and women in either day or evening divisions. Our faculty of men and women is highly competent and well-qualified. Working with them faithfully and effectively will cultivate your personality, refine your character and personality, and equip you with a sound and practical college education. It is my sincere hope that under divine protection you will enjoy both excellent health and a most successful academic year in 1960-61.

Throughout the year, Suffolk's two teams travelled to contests at Brown University,

Hofstrou, Columbio and American International College. Quarterback McCarthy inspired the rhetoric of his "backs" who carried the ball obly. ## SPORTS AT SUFFOLK

With the increasing demand for physical fitness programs in schools and universities throughout the country by such distinguished men as President John F. Kennedy and Admiral Hyman Rickover, the University encourages its students to take part in the sports offered to them.

The two major sports to be found at Suffolk are basketball and baseball. During the past school year a golf team has been started which offers a promising future to the Suffolk sports department.

It is the hope of this yearbook that we can see added sports activities with greater student participation.

BASKETBALL

With an even win-loss record for the season, the Suffolk basketball team closed out the year and won the Babsan Invitational Basketball Tournament.

Coached by capable Charles Law, the Rams began this year's schedule with almost an entire new crop of promising competitors to replace the graduates.

The Rams in recent years have been gaining in sports recognition among the small college leagues and are now making rival coaches look ahead, worry about the day, not far off, when Suffolk will become a basketball power.

BASEBALL

Baseball practice got off to a late start this year with the return of eight lettermen and the addition of five rookies.

Hoping to better their 1960 record, the diamondmen counted heavily on such dependable performers as Charlie Remos and Bill McCarthy. As a result, with tighter pitching and good fielding, Suffolk baseball boasted a good outlook.

SPECIAL RECOGNITION

DR. STANLEY VOGEL

Perhaps every class has its able advisor, yet few classes can boast of having as amiable, valuable, and pleasant a friend as we have had in Dr. Stanley Vogel. Always willing and anxious to encourage the serious student, the Doctor listened intently, responded easily, and urged gently. Gratitude expressed here can hardly approximate the degree of thanks deserved. To Dr. Vogel we are indebted for the insight he inspired—the intellectual air, the spirit, and the hope of our class.

FREDERICK A. McDERMOTT
Dean of The Law School

In 1906 a young lawyer, Gleason Leonard Archer founded Suffolk University. After being befriended by a wealthy man who helped him to secure an education, he was determined to establish a law school for aspiring young men who found it necessary to work while earning their degrees.

In the incipient stages, Mr. Archer held the first law classes in an unpretentious apartment in Roxbury. Because of his enthusiasm, leadership, and ability to inspire his students in the face of hardships, the small school grew speedily in popularity and was granted a charter by the Legislature of Massachusetts in 1914.

The early success of Suffolk Law School was due primarily to the effectiveness by which self-supporting students were trained to grasp the fundamentals of law and prepare for the bar examination. Hundreds of judges, lawyers, businessmen, and leaders in civic and political life attest to the success Suffolk has gained and continues to gain today. To anyone connected with law or its component fields no matter where he or she may be, Suffolk Law School has the reputation of having turned out stable and competent men and women.

And to provide greater opportunities in the field of law a Graduate School of Law was established in September, 1935, and it too has grown rapidly as a permanent department of the law school.

Since there is an ever increasing demand for more and better lawyers and judges we are sure that Suffolk Law School will continue to develop men and women of high caliber.

the organizations highlights is the annual Mather and Daughter Tea and an Athletic Program held at the Boston YWCA.

SPANISH CLUB

Through films of Spain and Hispana - america, discussion among the members of folk mores, Spanish literature and music, each participant in the club's active program became infarmally related to aspects of the Spanish culture. The adept use of Spanish at every meeting reflected the integration of the club with Spanish courses at S.U. Several veteran members of the club aptly directed activities found by each and all to be both interesting and infarmative. The club boasts a future as warthy.

DRAMA CLUB

The Drama Club is comprised of a group who are interested in the phases of theater. Individual interests may range from such functions as learning the art of make-up or stage setting or acting. The student will find that whether he is designing a small part of stage setting or learning to recite in a forceful tone Shakespeare, no one role is of less importance than the next. Through such activities the student gains fundamental and practical experience in the field of drama.

EDUCATION ASSOCIATION

One of the more active organizations at the University is the Education Association. Members of the Association enjoy such activities as teas, panels, speakers, and discussion groups. The student can not help being stimulated and enlightened in the study of education because of the more complete acquaintanceship the association offers between students and faculty.

CHALLENGES

S.U. DRAMATICS

After hours upon hours of rehearsing their lines, worrying, selling tickets etc., the Suffolk Players were ready for their master production of Stolog 17. Directed by Mr. Peter Mockloin, the University Theater coach, who frequently exercised his vocal cords in directing the neo-Beacon stors, the play was found to be a huge success.

The students who porticipote in the Universities' theatre production obtain voluoble experience in stoge setting, moke-up, ond of course octing.

PHI BETA CHI

Phi Beta Chi is a national organization whose membership is limited to those students who have obtained a high scholastic average as well as outstanding work in the field of science.

PHI BETA CHI — Mr. Russell Hawland, Melvin Grassman, Robert Learson, Dr. Richard Maehl.

POLITICAL SCIENCE CLUB

POLITICAL SCIENCE CLUB OFFICERS—
T. Brownell, T. Herbert, K. Fabrizia.

Members of the Political Science Club have indeed had a busy year in activities. They have enjoyed talks from outstanding men in the field of government as well as having seen such films as "The Face of Red China" and the very controversial film "Operation Abolition". One of the club's highlights this year was the state and federal election polls that they conducted among the Suffolk students.

POLITICAL SCIENCE CLUB—Seated: T. McKenna, J. Dias, E. Zide, J. Chrisfulli, K. Fabrizia, P. Brown, A. Ryan, A.

Fitzpatrick. Standing: F. Silva, W. Joyce, R. Hadaya, F. DiMeo, R. Chaput, L. Clinton, J. O'Keefe.

NEWMAN CLUB

NEWMAN CLUB OFFICERS—M. Danavan, J. Hennessy, W. Smith, A. Fitzpatrick.

With notable lectures by Fr. Norman O'Connor, the noted jazz lecturer; Dr. Frederick J. Rosenheim; and our own Fr. Thomas Finn, C.S.P., the S.U. Newman Club found itself attracting members of all faiths. Our Newmanities have continued to promote and present interesting and varied programs of intellectual and social benefit. Christmas activities were perhaps the highlight on the agenda, yet the schedule of events open to the members was never sparse. No "Apologies" were necessary this year!

NEWMAN CLUB—Front: V. Danavan, B. Butler, L. Moran, B. Smith, M. Danavan, J. Hennessey, A. Fitzpatrick, W. Joyce, P. McKeon, P. Foster, J. Dias. Standing: F. Silva, J. O'Keefe, L. Clinton, H. Farley, R. Chaput, J. Coffey, R. Hadaya, E. DePierro, P. Caliri.

JAZZ SOCIETY

JAZZ SOCIETY—Front: D. Freeman, R. Birkenshaw, E. Puzniak, B. Rutstein, J. Christofulli, P. Kellet, T. Dakin. Back: A. Chapmon, P. Brawn, A. Harowitz, R. Hadayo.

Just founded this year and noted as one of the University's most active student organizations, the Society boasts of a membership that includes several professional musicians, who provided an invaluable opportunity for the members to view the Jazz world from the inside out. The "Listening Past", an informal session during the club's meeting, was replete in up-to-date recorded jazz performances. A series of lectures on the "Evaluation of Jazz" was presented by musician-member Al Stern and was esteemed.

HUMANITIES CLUB

Organized to stimulate and encourage a better appreciation of the arts, the activities of the club this past year have perhaps even excelled the goal. Throughout the year trips were taken to various points of cultural and educational significance. All will recall the lesson in stained glassmaking at the Stained Glass Museum in Cambridge; the Madigliani exhibit at the Museum of Fine Art is memorable as well. The welcome afforded all by Mr. Paul Deon at his Newton home, and his entertaining discussions perhaps are the most pleasant moments for the members to recall. Not only a superb supplement to the Humanities courses, the club always maintained an air of friendly invitation which each and all were encouraged to nourish.
