Junior Prexy Decided By Single Vote

BY NORM RUBY

After a more than usually colorful campaign, Mike Lynch took one of the most coveted titles in the school as he became president of the Senior Class at the annual class election. Pulling 106 votes out of 192 ballots cast, Lynch was made victor by an actual majority, outstripping his nearest opponent, Paul Buchanan, who was thought to be a serious threat early in the balloting, was disqualified in the midst of the election for failure to comply with the qualifications for candidacy. The other two presidential aspirants, Dave Manning and Robert Yarrington pulled it and it votes respect-fully.

Incumbent David Green ran up 112 votes against his only opponent, James Lynch, who received a count of 90 votes. Lynch was also disappointed on the third day of balloting on the same technicality as Buchanan. Arthur Bell, former Class Treasurer over Nicholas Samaras, and John Ryan took the Secretary's position away from Wilmer Weinstein and Joseph Sands whose combined total of 80 votes did not touch Ryan's total of 111.

The Junior Class saw a political upset combined with a thrilling

Student Council to Sponsor Talent Show In December

The Student Council has definite plans to sponsor a Talent Show. It is believed that the show will take place sometime in December. A special committee headed by Manuel W. Strauss, has been set up. Strauss, and his committee, is now on the look-out for hidden talent here at Suffolk. Contestants will be given an opportunity to win cash prizes. The show also provides a chance to gain the experience of performing. It will be put on at a special assembly before the entire student body. All those interested in participating should contact Strauss, or leave their names with Miss Martin in Room 21. Further information will be posted on the bulletin boards.

The Council has also announced that its Investigation Committee has completed its investigation of the Bookstore Problem and the Canteen Problem. On the basis of the results of the investigation, the Council is at work with Dean Mance in an effort to determine a system which will allow more efficient distribution of books. For the purpose of regaining money lost in the Canteen Machine, this form is available to the student body.

The Council has installed a pencil sharpener in Room 3 as a first step in increasing the convenience for the students. They are also working towards the purchase of an adding machine for the Accounting Lab.

The parking problem is found to be very acute. The Council has contacted the Traffic Commission in an attempt to ameliorate the problem. As yet no official action has been taken, but the Council has learned from a usually reliable source, that special permission for parking privileges has, in the past, been granted.

IZFA Region Host At Holiday Dance

IZFA of Suffolk University will play host to the New England region of IZFA, Thursday evening, November 10 at the chapter's annual Amistice Eve Dance. A highlight of the affair, which will be held at the Twentieth Century Club, Joy Street, Boston, will be presentation of authentic Israeli Folk Dances by a specially trained group.

The event officially opens Suffolk IZFA's Fall program of education and social activities. A second affair of the season will be the chapter's sponsorship of Dr. Abraham J. Feldman, noted Rabbi, author, and lecturer, in an address before the general student body, Tuesday afternoon, November 15.

The Factor will speak at "Contributions of Judaism to Modern Society." Members of The Newman Club, IBC, and IZFA are invited to attend the open forum which will be held following the lecture. This is in keeping with IZFA's President Jason Edelman's policy of "fostering an integrated program suitable to members, non-members, and the university."

Education Club Elects Officers

Plans to set up an Education Club in Suffolk are in operation. Because many students are now engaged in the practice teaching program, and many more are studying education, with the aim of teaching, it is felt that such an organization will be of interest and value to the University.

The club organizers have already been active in seeking recognition. They have prepared a constitution which has gone to the Student Council for approval.

To facilitate rapid development of the Education Club, officers have been elected. Homer Bagnall has been chosen as President, Robert Pelletier has been elected Vice President and Lydia Corbin has been selected for Secretary.

"LOST BOUNDARIES" PRODUCER SPEAKS AT PUBLIC LIBRARY

The second annual Human Relations Institute for Teachers and Librarians, sponsored by the Boston Public Library with the cooperation of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, was held in the Lecture Hall of the Boston Public Library on Saturday, November 5.

Dr. Martin P. Chlowawsky, director, intergroup relations program, Columbia University, spoke on "The Intergroup Educational Response of Schools and Librarians." The afternoon session at 2:30 was devoted to the production, exhibition, and use of human relations films, and film demonstrations. The speaker was Louis de Rochemont, famed specialist in dramatic documentaries, film producer of "Lost Boundaries" and "The Birth and Its People," a new and pioneering effort in human relations motion pictures.

New Lecture and Concert Program at Museum

A program of Concert and Lectures has been announced by the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. The program began on October 30. It will continue through December 11.

Among the lectures is "Romanesque and Gothic Architecture" on November 15; "The French Tradition in the Arts," on November 27; and the "Imagery of Christmas," on December 11. These lectures will all begin at 8:00 p.m.

The lectures will be followed by concerts. The lectures will be held in the Lecture Hall, the Concerts in the Tapestry Gallery.

SETTING, COSTUMES, PEACHES MAKE BEAUX ARTS BALL SUCCESS

The Beaux Arts Ball was held on November 4 at the American Legion Hall on Commonwealth Avenue. Sponsored by the Social Club, the dance was acclaimed a success by Nicholas Katsoulis, the club's president. In unique dress, hundreds thronged the hall to make the affair one of Suffolk's most gala.

The great variety of original and colorful costumes contributed to the Beaux Arts atmosphere. Prizes were awarded for the most original costume, for the most distinguished looking costume, and for many other things.

THANKSGIVING DANCE IN GEORGIAN ROOM OF HOTEL STATLER

The Social Club has formulated plans for this year's Thanksgiving Dance. The affair, in the past, has been one of the highlights of the Suffolk social season.

This year the Georgian Room, at the Hotel Statler, has been engaged. The dance will be held on the eve before Thanksgiving, November 23.

Due to the size of the hall, attendance will be limited to two hundred and seventy-five couples. This will be the fourth annual Thanksgiving Day Dance. Last year it was also held at the Statler and was acclaimed to be an extraordinary success. Music was furnished by Freddy Guerra.

The Social Club is endeavoring to make this year's dance even greater success than it has been in the past.

The hall was the women's first gathering of the entire student body. As night drew a large number of couples.

Purchase Cards On Sale Monday

National Student Association purchase cards are expected to go on sale at Suffolk on November 14. It has been announced that eight stores have been added to the list making a total of 15.

Participating in the discount plan, participating in the operation and distribution of sales was taken at the regional convention, held at the Newton College, on October 22 and 23.

The convention also set up a program for the coming academic year. The region will sponsor a symphonic program. Participating will be the first Veterans Symphony Orchestra and possibly a chorus. It is hoped that the affair will be held towards the end of November.

N. S. A. is also conducting a drive for the benefit of displaced persons. It is attempting to bring foreign students to the United States for academic endeavors. N. S. A. will screen foreign applicants for the individual colleges.

The foreign summer study tours will be conducted as usual. About eight hundred students are expected to take the various tours.

YOUR PINK SLIP IS SHOWING

One sure way to keep the deficit of the MTA down to a minimum is to make all streets one-way in the wrong direction, and make all the possible parking spaces reserved for the General Court et al.

Boston has made great advances on both counts. To take a "for instance": The General Court of session, residing in the State House, has been out on a vacation since August 31, and isn't expected back until the first of the year. But still Hancock Street, parallel to the school, is restricted for the General Court.

The closest parking space (at 50¢ per) is usually so crowded that by the time you get your car parked it's time to go home. That makes the closest and safest parking spot the Bowdoin Square Garage, which, on a cold, snowy, winter day, is a country mile away.

So let's all react! Let's park our cars in the closest available space. Then we can hold classes at the court house, and pay our fines between periods.

YOUR ELBOW IS BURNING

In the issue of Oct. 13 we commented on smoking in the classrooms. We pointed out that not only was it forbidden by law but that one could not tell (because of that indoor fog) whether one was in the correct classroom. The rest was left up to the student. It was up to him to "clear up" the situation if he so desired.

The little lady who walked into the Journal office with a burnt elbow last week has made our problem even more complicated. Here's what she told us in Room 40: "I was going to my class on the fourth floor when somebody's cigarette burned me on the elbow. I knew it would happen some day. Everytime I walk through the corridors between classes I feel like I'm going through an obstacle course. Everybody is smoking and everybody is standing right in the middle of the corridor. Not only is it hard to squeeze through, but I've got to watch out for lighted cigarettes also. Why don't you write an editorial about it?"

Okay, Miss Coled, here it is. You've got a legitimate complaint and we're going to try to do something about it. We can't stop the boys from smoking in the corridors because they ARE allowed to do so, but we CAN ask them to keep close to the walls and leave a passageway in the middle. We can also ask them not to keep their lighted cigarettes at arm's length. The rest is up to the boys.

Was it a bad burn?

WE'RE BURNING, TOO

About a month ago, the JOURNAL published a story on the prospects of football for Suffolk. President Burse was interviewed and a lot of first hand information was obtained. Since the story appeared, there have been many who come up to us and said, "Who yer tryin' to kid?"

We're trying to kid no one. We didn't say that there would definitely be football at Suffolk in 1950, but we did hint that football in the near future was possible. And why not? There are smaller schools than Suffolk who are fielding football teams. With SU it is just a matter of time and a playing field.

One sure way NOT to have football is to stop hoping and working for it.

INSIDE S.U.

BY PAUL THORNTON

Dear Sir:
I would like to call your attention to an error in Vol. 7, No. 3 publication of the list of new appointments to S. U. colleges. The writer was Harold J. Hardman of Malden. Correct is Albert J. Hardman of Melford. I mention it only in the event that reference might be made to it at some later date.

Incidentally, as an "outsider" enjoy reading your publication very much, and the student body can well be proud of such an excellent medium of expression.

With best wishes for your success, I am,
Very truly yours,
Albert J. Hardman

Dear Editor:
We read your new column "Marmerisms" thoroughly, and think that those fellows are a pain. We have never read anything so funny in all our lives. Hope to see a great deal more of this column in the Journal. Hate to go into any lengthy eulogy, and therefore, mere to be redundant, but see, those guys are a riot.

Would they be interested in buying two tickets for a raffle?
Lots of luck,
Merrill D. Marmer
Francis Donoghue

Dear Editor:
A "room full of roys" to Jack Malone for the current column of LEGALLY SPEAKING. I am certain that the majority of law students find the column interesting and most worthy of attention.

Those of us who know Jack Malone personally are not surprised by the excellence of LEGALLY SPEAKING. We authors of law articles in the column should and will continue to find a receptive student body.

Sincerely,
Ed Mastromarino

Chart Computes Govt. Payments on Dividend Checks

According to the Veterans Administration, each veteran can get his S.S.I.L. dividend check by multiplying the number of months of his service by the rate for his age (see below) for each $1000 of insurance carried. For instance, if a veteran took out $1000 in 1940 and carried it through the same month in 1948, he would multiply 96 months (the term of his service) by 50 if he was under 70 at the end of the insurance. This gives him a figure of $4800, the amount of his check, and the highest amount any veteran can get.

AGE AT END OF	Rate Per Mo.
on each thousand
40 and under	50
41	52
42	54
43	56
44	58
45	60
46	62
47	64
48	66
49	68
50	70
51	72
52	74
53	76
54	78
55 and over	80

The Veterans Administration asks that no one contact them to find the date their insurance went into effect. If the V. A. has to pull your folder from their files, it will only cause that much more delay in your payment.

Greetings from Inside S. U. and congratulations to all the winners in the recent class elections. In an effort to remain impartial and refrain from giving any one candidate an unfair advantage over the others, your reporter and your JOURNAL did not attempt to predict the results. Anything that appeared in the JOURNAL concerning the candidates, was in the form of a paid advertisement.

LET'S GET THINGS BOLLING Dept. — How did you like the Beaux Arts Ball? The S. U. Social Club has come up with another one of their smash hits. This group is so amazing, that we have come to expect nothing the same time or unassuming, that they'll be coming up with something new shortly. Let's show 'em our appreciation by getting behind their next election.

FUTURE MAYOES Dept. — Your Ed. is still waiting for word from Tom Fitzpatrick as to how he came out in the Peabody election candidate as the final for Councilor at large is destined for a successful political career.

IT HAPPENED UNDER OUR NOSE Dept. — The Chicago White Sox of the American Baseball League, have grabbed a potent S. U. star out from under our noses, by signing Charlie MacIntosh to a contract. Chuck, a West Roxbury mound ace, will report for spring training with the pauper club, this coming spring.

LOST AND FOUND Dept. — Dr. Sterling Tracy, the popular head of last year's Journalism dept., has returned to his old position as a feature writer on the Commercial Appeal, one of the leading publications in Memphis, Tenn.

OLD SHOES AND RICE Dept. — With Christmas drawing near and everybody watching their pennies, very little activity is noticed on the romance front. Nothing at all to report in the University, but John O'Hara, a senior in the Law School is preparing to carry his first legal contract with Miss Colleen Cass, a young graduate course of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital. What is the spell that these nurses cast, hey Mrs. T?

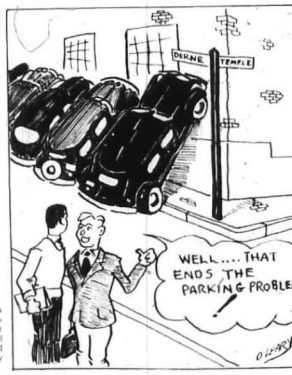

SOCCER AT SUFFOLK Dept. — Welcome to Malcolm M. Donahue, former soccer player, because and member of Phi Psi. Andrew and Harvard 4, who has recently been appointed as the letter man for Phi Psi.

SWELL Dept. — How did you like the "swell" show? I used to find it very entertaining and spoke to a lot of other people who felt the same way. It took a little time to get it rolling but by the end of last season, the fellows really had something. Publicity of that sort could never hurt S. U. What will the new class officers do about their campaign promises, now that they have been elected?

Wonder if the girls have started to prepare for the annual Miss Suffolk contest? Also, with all the pretty girls around this year, wonder who the winner will be?

Hey G. I. How are you going to spend that dividend check? January is signing awfully close.

HUMBLENESS IS A VIRTUE Dept. — Read this issue's Letters to the Eds. Dept. Ed. Mastromarino's retort to Jack Malone's Legally Speaking column, comes from the former editor of that same column.

LEGALLY SPEAKING

by JACK MALONE

The court work in the Superior and Municipal Courts of Suffolk University is proceeding rather rapidly and the cases ordinarily appear before the parties to the litigation are third year students who are only now taking Evidence and Practice and Reading the law. In fact, judges have been rather lenient. (I trust where those gentlemen have arisen. Second year students should take note now that such subjects in the second year, they will be held accountable for a workable knowledge of Evidence and Practice and Reading when they appear before the bench next year.

While the judges thus far have been understanding of erroneous court procedure in the presentation of evidence, they are aware that the same errors are committed in trial after trial. Although witnesses as such are not invited to attend the court sessions, the third year students who are waiting to try their cases could, by sitting in, derive the benefit of corrections made by the judges hearing cases. In fact, it has been decided that in the future student attorneys indicate a failure to derive a benefit from others' mistakes will be expressing their selves to the judge's course.

It has also been noted that some of the openings fail to make out a PRIME FACTS case. To date, 64 cases have been filed, 32 in the Superior and 12 in the Municipal Court. Of the 12 cases tried, there have been 10 verdicts for the plaintiff and 2 for the defendants. Only two Bills in Equity have been filed, and in Bill of Exception has been taken to the Supreme Court.

Mr. Warren Burwell is doing an admirable job as clerk of courts in keeping the court files and court calendar in order.

The Wig and Robe Society of Suffolk University Law School announced its second date of the year. Your columnist was rather impressed by the uniqueness and appropriateness of the title and information inscribed on the tickets, as this is the "Annual Dinner of the Law and Bench, LOCUS IN QVO New England Mutual Hall, Saturday, November 12, 1949, in consideration of $129 tax included, TEMPTU'S eight to midnight.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

We certainly appreciate the coverage and publicity given our organization in your column of October 26, 1949. But we should like to call your attention at this time to the omission of one of the principal officers of our Society. At the elections this year, in addition to the other officers, Julian Perry was elected Treasurer.

Sincerely yours,
Suzanne and E. H. S. S. S.

Dear Editor:

Your coverage of the club sponsored with Suffolk University, which law students also play an active part in, to include the Suffolk University Club of Lowell.

The Club, now in its second successful year, embraces students from both the Law School and the college departments, with the law students holding a slight edge in numbers.

At a recent meeting a resolution was passed to accept applications for membership from alumni regardless of graduation date. This change in club policy indicates that the membership should pass the two hundred mark this year.

The current administration under Frank Monaraki (Law) has set for its goal: permanent club headquarters, increased membership, and a continuation of the usual social events.

Frank Monaraki,
Secretary and Public Relations

Editor's Note:

The above letter shows what can be accomplished in a city away from the site of the Law School but it also reveals that no organization of this kind exists in Boston. Less than nine months from now, we will be leaving the University and our classmates, and will be stepping out into a chilly professional world. We have some through pre-legal and law school students, having only a nodding acquaintance with many of our fellow students. Wouldn't this be the time to solidify acquaintances through a local organization of our own making so that we shall not lose contact when we no longer meet daily?

To the Editor:

It has been quite noticeable, for some time now, that certain law students remove volumes from the library shelves, take them to tables, and after using them thoughtlessly and inconsiderately fail to replace them on the shelves. By four o'clock the library tables are loaded with law volumes, which renders it increasingly difficult to locate particular volumes in the racks. Such failure to return books is an intolerable practice because it necessitates the wasting of other students' valuable time in searching for them. If not a serious situation, it is at least a highly irksome one. Furthermore, it is unfair to the members of the library staff who must ultimately return such volumes to the racks. In the future, it would be appreciated if students would cooperate in this matter.

M. E. M. (3rd year law.)

Many students wonder how many hours they should be expected to study. The following is an excerpt from the BULLETIN of New York University Law School.

"The course of study in the full time division demands the undivided attention of students for three academic years (six terms). Although the schedule of classes consists of only fourteen hours per week during the first year, and thirteen hours per week during the second and third years, each hour of class normally requires three hours of preparation in the library or at home and students should, in addition, make adequate time allowances for law-note research and for participation in the moot courts and other student activities. Violation of this is regarded as sufficient cause for immediate dismissal." So you think we have difficulties!

Some of these "Sunny" days one needs to wear sun glasses.

Suffolk Radio Show May Be Revived

Martin Wolfson, Captain Brantley of the hit play "South Pacific" watched the first light show the night before he spoke. When the light died, signifying he was off the air, he stood away from the microphone. "Boys, you have a good show! Thanks for an interesting hour! Coming from a man who has spent twenty three years in radio, it was a compliment that the 'Suffolk University Radio Show' as presented. Aired over WYOM every Saturday last year, the Suffolk Show was a success. It can happen again."

More boasting of such guest interviews with Mr. Wolfson who was paired with Joanna Hall (Miss Mary of "South Pacific"), Governor Doherty, Jackie Cooper, Larry Green, Arthur Fiedler, Judy Valentine, Tracy Pace and others. The radio show has had an intimate death. With a half hour format consisting of college news and taped interviews, the show was maintained by the publicity departments of surrounding colleges as a program of great professional merit. There are some who wonder if it can be repeated.

Richard Stransky, former instructor in Journalism, now with the Chapman Publicity Office in New York, was the organizer behind last year's show. The contacts that he made put the Suffolk show on the air and those contacts will not make the future programs possible. There are many at Suffolk who would welcome the opportunity to begin into radio. As a means of expression it ranks with the best in value as a contact medium for the individual cannot be measured. With a little organization and planning perhaps Suffolk can again enjoy the success of another "Suffolk University Show". Interested?

We've had many comments about our last column. We'll continue despite them.

LITTLE KNOWN CLUB NEWS Not to be outdone by WASU, the Stone Hearted Men of Suffolk (SHMS), under the direction of club prez, Sylvester Urgan, have undertaken a fall cleanup of the club prez. STRICTLY G.I. VETS: Are you hung up for cash between checks? Do you miss the jungle of small change in your pocket? Here are a few suggestions for obtaining some ready loot:

1. Fill out as many cards as you can get away with, for refunds on the candy and coke machines. (We know of two guys who made $9.00 apiece last week.)
2. Go to bureau's office and see how many registration fees you can claim.
3. Ball elevator privileges to freshmen.
4. Don't read textbooks - you will want them in perfect condition for resale.

How about a new foreign language course so that university men can understand law school students?

WASU THE JUNGLE GIRL

Deep in the heart of dense, steaming Africa, miles from civilization lives Wau, child of the wilderness. The orphaned daughter of English explorers who were hacked to death by the savage Sogall tribe, Wau was left to shift for herself in the jungle. She befriended the wild beasts and lived on berries until she contracted the dread berry-berry. Wau had little to do each day but read a long ranged copy of a college catalogue that had trickled through from the United States. She planned to set off immediately for America as soon as she had fought off her berry-berry but news of the approaching Sogall tribe reached her and soon after she heard their ominous drum beats coming nearer and nearer each minute.

DRAMATIC WORKSHOP

The Suffolk University Dramatic Workshop presents "Bertha the Beautiful Typewriter" (act) Thursday and Friday evenings, November 11 and 12, at 8 o'clock in the University auditorium. All seats for the coming performances will be reserved.

As in the past, Kirian Productions have met with the approval of the student body. This is no exception to the rule. Predictions are that it should be one of the best productions in the long list of the S. U. Dramatic Workshop comedies. Gregory Finn, CLA Junior of Milford, will be featured in the starring role as the immensely witty "James Business Desmond".

The female lead "Bertha" presents quite a contrast to the usually extreme femininity and impersonation portrayed by Frances Birk and CLA Freshman of Rochester.

Tickets will be on sale at the second floor in the near future. Price, tax included, will be $1.00. More information and tickets will be forthcoming as the first major University production of the year. Watch for posters and pictures on the bulletin boards.

ITALIAN CLUB

The first meeting of the Italian Club was held on October 20 at 10:00. A discussion was held concerning the proposed future activities. Plans were discussed for a "pizza" party. It was decided that the club's monthly meetings would not be on any particular day. It was also decided to do away with the payment of dues. The club decides in the future that it needs the money.

SOCIAL CLUB

The second meeting of the Social Club at Suffolk University was held on October 21 at 8:00. Plans were discussed for a "pizza" party. It was decided that the club's monthly meetings would not be on any particular day. It was also decided to do away with the payment of dues. The club decides in the future that it needs the money.

GERMAN CLUB

The second meeting of the German Club at Suffolk University was held at the home of Dr. Alphonse Vogel on Thursday, October 27. Refreshments were served, and the members of the club were entertained with classical and operatic music and a number of popular ballads.

College Life Compared To Three-Ring Circus

Bathson, Pa. — (AP) — College life does not fit the main theme of a three-ringed circus with all the excitement going on to distract students from their main purpose.

Wray H. Condon, director of admissions at Lehigh University in a new booklet "How to Avoid 'Exercising' for Success" says:

1. "Can I go to a lounge and find the person who is responsible for writing an assignment on the topic?"

2. "Can I make up a budget for the day, use of my time to meet all necessary assignments, have a proper amount of time left for sleeping, eating and wholesome recreation and then stick to the budget in spite of all lures of the fish and devil?"

3. "When I have homework to do, can I settle down to it promptly and concentrate on my work at one without daydreaming and frittering away my time?"

4. "Can I listen to an address or lecture and note briefly the main points as that when I've gone home, I can reconstruct the essential theme of what the lecturer said?"

5. "Can I read an article in 'The Atlantic Monthly' rapidly (100 to 200 words per minute) and retain the main arguments lucidly in mind for three days?"

6. "Can I write five consecutive paragraphs on a given topic and express myself coherently, correctly and intelligently?"

7. "Can I write down to it promptly and concentrate on my work at one without daydreaming and frittering away my time?"

MOVING REPORTER ASKS TEACHERS:

"What Do You Find Is Most Annoying And Most Pleasing About College Students?"

BY DICK HAWES

In all halls of learning, one hears continual gripes and complaints about teachers, students, and the administration. These complaints come from all angles. For this reason, I have undertaken to discover just how many of these complaints are genuine, and not found in the imagination of the complainer. In this issue we devote our time to querying the members of the faculty and you can see the results yourself. In the next issue, students will be asked what they like and dislike about instructors. But for the present—

Robert J. Munce, Acting Dean of the College Department:
"I admit that in my case there must be very little to complain about, since I have been pleased to work with college students for many years.
There is, however, one characteristic that both annoys me and at the same time pleases me. The dual effect is accomplished by the fact that students take a realistic view of life and see things as they are. They expect to be taught not preached to. This makes it difficult for those of us who tend to think and act in terms of ideal situations.
It tends to annoy me to be made aware of things as they are, and that they are not as I would have them.
But praise be for students who think, realize, and create. The student's point of view is wholesome and I thrive on it. What could be more pleasant?"

Edith M. Marken, Head of Journalism Department:
"The most pleasing trait is the student's willingness to differ with the instructor on facts and suppositions which he, the student, can verify with his own knowledge of the subject. This unwillingness to accept without question indicates that the student is attentive and critical and desires to correlate the instructor's statements with his own experience. Conversely this trait not to accept the instructor's judgment of the student's work as reflected in the grades, is annoying and frequently leads to discourtesy on the part of the student."

Dr. Harold Cogg, Director of Student Teaching:
I cannot say that I find anything even annoying let alone most annoying. Perhaps the failure of some students to realize that we as a faculty have the sole function

Govt. Dividend Checks Subject To Deductions

Special dividend checks payable to veterans on National Service Life Insurance policies will be subject to deduction for funds owed to the government by the veterans, according to a statement by Clarence E. Harbert, Boston, director of the insurance service for the Veterans Administration in New England.

"Some veterans may find all or part of their share of the forthcoming special dividend payment on National Service Life Insurance deducted to cover debts resulting from arrearages on subsistence allowances or other veterans' benefits or from defaults on loans guaranteed by the VA," Mr. Harbert said.

A considerable number of veterans are now receiving indebtedness by having deductions from their monthly checks. When the indebtedness is wiped out it must be by the dividend deductions, there will be no further withholding."

Pres. Of Lafayette Warns Against Community Colleges

Easton, Pa. (AP) — Warning that politics and education constitute one of the unwholesome mixtures in the history of government, Dr. Ralph C. Hutchison, president of Lafayette College, takes issue with the proposal of the President's Commission on Higher Education that community colleges be established so that everyone could go to college.

"If (the report) overlooks the fact that we are not now able adequately to finance our elementary and secondary education, that we are paying those teachers starvation wages, and that we have not satisfactorily extended the rudiments of education to all parts of the country, that our local, state and Federal units of government are pouring money and bankruptcy by spending funds which they do not have," he said.

"It is soft peddling the fact that only some men should go to college, not all. It is a doctrine of the unfortunate and unsound doctrine that advanced education is the only way to accomplishment and success. It proposes in essence that everyone should go to college and to that end that a community college should be established in every city and in most towns in the nation. It proposes that these be supported by local and state governments, but mainly by the Federal government."

H. M. Stone, Assistant Professor of Business Administration:
"The most annoying trait I find among students is their emphasis on marks as such. Some students seem to find that education is interfering with their outside activities."
Most pleasing is their sense of humor. They laugh at my jokes. Or maybe I should have said politeness."

The wonderful love of a beautiful maid,
The love of a stamper, true man,
And the love of a baby unafraid,

But the greatest love—the love of love
Even greater than that of a mother,
Is the tender, passionate, infinite love
Of one drunken lout for another!

I'm worth more than you a hundred fold,
And written on me in letters bold
Tis the motto drawn from the poem creed,

PARKING TROUBLES? HERE'S AN ANSWER
THE BOWDOIN SQUARE GARAGE AT 21 CAMBRIDGE ST., Bowdoin Square has plenty of parking space available in its spacious building. The rate is fifty cents for the first 30 minutes and only ten cents each additional hour. This is still a real bargain for the rate on the little pink slips. Unknown SU Senior Wins $200, Outguesses Happy Clairvoyant

BY LENNY O'HARE

The happy clairvoyant is posting because the same week that his own predictions were played with sports, a Suffolk senior in the school of Business Administration walked off with the $200 top prize offered by the Record-American in their weekly football contest. The student whose name escapes me at the moment, told reporters that he "just guessed" the answers. Maybe the clairvoyant ought to toss away the ouija board and do some guessing too.

Jim Lavrov of Suffolk might be interested to know that ex-jockey Jim Harlow who used to ride for Jim's uncle Tom Harlow, is making a success at his first year of training out on the West coast. Harlow, some of you may remember, owned such good horses as Windmill and Evenly Right. He also was president of the horse owners' organization. Speaking of relatives, Mike Driscoll, last year's Freshman class president and candidate for the Senate's presidency at this writing, is the cousin of Fr. George Kerr, the American instructor of Leahy's team at B. C.

Basketball and soccer star Ben Sheeham was earmarked for the University of Illinois after discharge and even got as far as the college gates. Illinois guaranteed everything including room and board money but they didn't guarantee finding their abbeys. A few miles away, so Ben packed his bags and headed back East.

Notice that Braves players made themselves look like chumps when they decided that Bill Southworth should only deserve one-half share of series lost. The difference came to about $150 or about a few days pay to him so it couldn't be an argument over the money factor unless they're really going soft.

Story to hear of the passing of Marcel Cerdan. Personally I think that Robinson could have taken him although I had only seen the Frenchman in action once. He had been a shot in the past war area of international boxing interest.

New Leagues Made Soccer Team Downed Again For 6th Straight Loss, 10-0

The Suffolk University soccer team was unmercifully slaughtered by a superior Bradford Text last season 10-0 on the Boston Common Tuesday, November 1 for the sixth straight loss and their sixth straight scoreless ball game. The department hopes to utilize the facilities of West End House so that all will have the opportunity to compete in some form of soccer activity whether it be recreative or intermural.

Hockey Squad Holds Practice At Skating Club

Plans for a hockey team for the current season are being worked at the skating club. The club has two skaters in the Greater Boston area. At this writing the athletic department has not named a new coach to succeed Tom Collins. An announcement concerning the matter is expected soon.

Thirty Candidates Answer Call For Basketball Try-outs

The first call for the forthcoming basketball season was answered by thirty candidates at the West End House on October 31. Among the thirty were eight former ball handlers.

The Coach pointed out that although the night may have been uneventful as past Suffolk B.C. teams heretofore the same as the past team last year's, sound are Tom Ivelin, Ben Silverblom, Ed Blanton, Sam Wright, Don Wood, and Bill Harry. Her German of Suffolk's brilliant "12" squad was also among the candidates.

The opener will be played at West End House against Gordon Theological School. All students of Suffolk will be admitted to all home games without charge, and it is hoped that the support of the school will be the highest. Students may consult the bulletin boards in the school corridors for the starting time of all games.

Among the teams that Suffolk students will have an opportunity to see in action here are Bridge Water Curry, Brent Hillier, and Stone Hill. Coach Law will still give any additional candidate a chance to participate in try-out and also to develop any coach's talent that may still need coaching before participating in varsity competition.

ABOUT OUR SOCCER TEAM

When you criticize the soccer team, your criticizing yourself. How the heck do Suffolk students expect to field a football team when they fail to support the major sports that we already have.

In the case of the Soccer squad, we must admit that it is the best team that Mal Donahue can put on the field considering the barriers standing in his way.

There is nothing wrong with Mal Donahue as coach of soccer at Suffolk. He knows his game. There is nothing wrong with the spirit of this year's soccer squad. They are playing to the best of their ability.

Many of them never saw a game until the day they stepped out on the field against Tufts in the opener. They were weak in fundamentals, but how can they improve when there aren't enough men out for the team to hold an intro squad scrimmage.

Have you ever watched a football team that was weak on downfield blocking? Only practice can improve their timing and teamwork. How can Donahue improve Suffolk's timing during a session out of a 15-man squad because of class schedules and injuries.

Some of these little colleges with student bodies of a couple of hundred make our school spirit look like just so much eyewash with their thirty-five man squads and their loyal cheering sections.

There are players with soccer experience in the school. Every team that we have ever played has said that we have the best in Capt. Ski Szempkowski who plays his heart out in every game. One man can't do it, it takes teamwork.

I never learn to throw cross blocks in football in a single game or vest pocket catches in baseball or hook shots in basketball in a single game, so I know I'd never be a whiz at soccer in my first game. It takes experience to pick up the savvy necessary to play a winning game. You, the Freshman and the Sophomore, can save sports at Suffolk by going out and participating in athletics. Suffolk can compete in Soccer, Baseball, Hockey or Basketball with any team in the East and that includes Army, Harvard, Cornell, and Boston College.

You'll realize that I haven't been smoking since when you remember that Hingham University kept both first-nine students when they almost won the national championship in basketball and that the B. C. Eagles had less students than Suffolk when they made their famous trip to the Sugar Bowl.

Give the kids who fought for Suffolk this past fall a little bit of credit. At least they made sure that no Suffolk team lost a game by default and when that happens I will be the first to agree with those of our student body who say that the Board of Directors should stop the appropriations for athletics because Mr. Average Suffolk Student doesn't want athletics. Yes, the athletic department will then silently steal away like Omar Khayyam's Arabs and with it will go Suffolk's last chance for recognition as a major college.

Maybe what I have written will be but a wasted effort. Maybe the only thing that I might accomplish will be to recast my typewriter ribbon. Who knows? Only time will tell.

THE VARSITY CLUB

Certain varsity club members have pointed out to me that their elected officers are asleep at the switch. With classes in full swing there has been no meeting of the club. Already they have lost the choice date for the annual Thanksgiving dance. Last year's hasty made plans meant that their dance was a financial flopper. It is this dance that is supposed to raise the money that pays for sweaters for Suffolk lettermen. Hope you noticed that no athlete from Suffolk is wearing a sweater for his efforts of last season.

THE NEW HOCKEY COACH

I hope that whoever has the duty of hiring the new hockey coach doesn't wait too long. Whether the job belongs to Pres. Bursz, the Board of Directors, Athletic Director Law, Director of Student Affairs DeForest or whoever it may be, I hope they don't put the guy on the same spot as was Mal Donahue in having to take over a new squad but a few days before the season opener.

Clark Hands SU Seventh Straight Setback, 7-0

Suffolk suffered their seventh straight soccer setback in a 7-0 defeat by Clark University 7:0 at the last field in Worcester on Saturday, November 5.

Suffolk, stacked with underclassmen, was out of sync from the start of the season as team members tried to relieve some of the starters.

Clark jumped to a 3-0 first period lead, added two more in the second and then picked up single tallys in each of the remaining quarters.

Suffolk took their breaks while the home team made the most of their opportunities to make a run out of what appeared to have been a loose ball game.

Student Interest In Golf Teams Remains High

A recent survey by the athletic department relative to student interest in golf has encouraged the department to make plans for expansion of this program in the spring.

Athletic Director Law was amazed at the number of students interested in varsity competition and basic instruction in the sport. Law regrets that plans will have to wait because of the coming winter, but promises all the students who inquired that a definite program will be set up here at the school.

This program will give students who know little of the game a chance to learn the finer points and to improve, and the varsity player an opportunity at top flight competition.

SU Upperclassmen Offered Recreation

Athletic Director Law invites any student of the upper classes to take advantage of the facilities of the West End House in order to keep in top physical shape.

At present there are a number of tennis courts in the gym to play basketball during their spare time toward the signs of an unhealthy body.

Freshmen are required to take physical education but upperclassmen may join in the fun during some of those long breaks between classes. A healthy mind is best lodged in a healthy body.

Undergrads Are As Capable As Grads, Says Dean Munce

Commencement exercises at the large graduation do not stimulate appreciable transformation in the character of the individual. From this thesis Dean Robert J. Munce has culminated his philosophy of education.

It is from this theory that the Dean derives his faith in the student. "Why view the undergrads as an impediment to the graduate's progress? It is, therefore," says Dean Munce, "he believes that the student acquires behavior patterns long before the introduction of the formal education process. It is the faculty primarily that the educator should endeavor to change over the formation of attitudes."

Because of the persistence of these attitudes, there is no rational avenue for full use to treat the individual as raised in a morally high environment, nothing in the course of his life will divert him from the track. Despite almost employment changes and graduations, the individual will invariably react consistently with his early learning.

"It is not our purpose in the field of education to be the cause of attitude of our students," Dean Munce asserts. The objective of educating personality is his guiding principle. He believes that the happiness of the individual depends upon diverse interests. A narrow field of endeavor will make life monotonous.

The Dean sees no necessity of strictly disciplining the direction of personality expansion. He believes that the early learned principles will not only ensure the adoption of interests, but will also persist through out participation.

"Give the student freedom, and he will always come through. At least that is the way I would advise Dean Munce."

Tough Diamond Foes for SU

Although it may appear a little early athletic director Charlie Law is busy arranging the toughest schedule that any Suffolk baseball team ever faced since the introduction of the diamond sport here.

Already arranged are games with Tufts, Colby, MIT, Bowdoin, Lowell, Tufts, and Assumption. Efforts are being made to line up other well-known schools in the New England area.

Soccer Team Meets MIT On Nov. 11

The Suffolk soccer team has been scheduled to meet the MIT Jayvees at MIT's home field Friday, November 11th.

Suffolk will have the benefit of a week's rest after playing Clark University in Worcester last Saturday. The game will be expected to be at full strength.

The MIT outfit has been tagged the "United Nations" team by Boston sportswriters because of the many foreign born players on their lineup.

The game will mark the final one for both teams on the respective schools.

QUIZ

Instead of the usual list of questions to answer we have a baseball puzzle for you to figure out. What is the maximum number of pitches that can be thrown to a single batter (excluding fouls and bunts) pitched in a single time at bat?

Answer

Eight. A pitcher is allowed to pitch as many as eight pitches in one at bat. The pitcher may pitch as many as three pitches to the batter in one at bat. The batter may swing at as many as three pitches in one at bat. The pitcher may pitch as many as two pitches to the batter in one at bat. The batter may swing at as many as two pitches in one at bat. The pitcher may pitch as many as one pitch to the batter in one at bat. The batter may swing at as many as one pitch in one at bat.

 race for president that elected Dave Edelstein over James Caras by a single vote. The totals: Edelstein, 62; Caras, 61. The upset came when Elliott Izen, Edelstein's running mate, was defeated 70 to 63 by David Rubin in the Vice-Presidential Contest. David O'Meara was elected Treasurer and Herbert Goodman became Secretary over no opposition, as they were the only candidates seeking these two offices.

The Sophomore Class Election found a field of six presidential candidates in the race. George Levine became the minority class leader in the six-way contest, becoming President by a plurality, polling just 24 votes of 188 cast. Nearest competition was John Deaver with 23 votes, followed by John McDonough, 21; Mike Driscoll, 20; Warren Brown, 17; and Manuel Strauss, 15. In the battle for the Vice-President's chair, Edwin Hinch cornered 62 votes, thus winning over Charles Dimare, James McGrath, and John Roche. Robert Dupont automatically became Treasurer over no opposition on the ballot, and Paul Menigay was elected Secretary over Bill Bellini by 107 to 78.

Another spirited campaign saw Howard King made majority President of the Freshman Class by capturing 78 of the 100 votes cast. Priscilla Traustein took the other 22 votes. Janet Spillane became one of the two co-ed office holders as she was elected Vice-President over Bob Panaman, 79 to 20. The contest for Freshman Class Treasurer was won by Francis Balabanis who polled 61 votes to Allen Burnstein's 39. Shirley Bagdikian, the only other female victor, took the Secretary's post from Raymond Botavert by a margin of 66 votes.

At a glance, here are the exact tabulations as announced by the Student Council:

Freshmen Soph Jun Sen
Wed.	51	129	100
Thurs.	37	27	21
Fri.	22	22	11
Total	100	188	137
Class Reg 294	250	202	272

Usually, the Senior Class Elections hold most of the school's interest because of the honor and the seriousness of the posts, and because of the more than spirited campaigning. This year, interest in the upper class contest was doubtless heightened by the upset surrounding the late-discovered ineligibility of two of the Senior candidates.

Twenty-four Students Teach In Greater Boston Schools

Twenty-four Suffolk University students are preparing this semester for the teaching profession by doing student observation and teaching work in ten of our Greater Boston cities and towns under the direction of the school's Education Department and in cooperation with the local school systems.

Men and women alike are recruited from the college of Journalism, college of Business, college of Liberal Arts, and the newly formed Graduate school in such cities as Beverly, Chelsea, Lowell, Gloucester, Merrimack, Newton, Quincy, Revere, Somerville, and Marblehead.

Suffolk's largest representation is at Somerville, where six men are observing in the senior high school, two in the junior high, and two women in the elementary schools.

At it's high school, under the direction of Headmaster Albert Giroux, are John Donovan, Leonard O'Hare, Robert Pelletier, Homer or Saw, John Shero, and Clifford Patro. Donovan is cooperating school and has classes in history in all grades.

Richard Hayes and Leonard Greenfield are at two of Chelsea's junior high schools. Hayes is assigned to the Shurtleff Junior High teaching History, Civics, Geography and Homeroom Spelling while Greenfield is cooperating with the English Department at the Carter Junior High School.

Language study in the Hobbs Junior High in Melrose is handled by Henry A. Robert who observes and teaches in the eighth and ninth grades of that school.

One of three Lowell representatives, Constantine Caracostas, holds the unusual position of Assistant Guidance Counselor in the Senior High besides handling classes in Astronomy. Caracostas aids veteran Lowell teachers in carrying out a class in Human Relations.

Also at Lowell is Melvin Cheney and Joseph Panessiti. Cheney has classes in both English and History while Panessiti, a candidate for a B.S. in B.A. is handling classes in commercial subjects at the school.

In the other school systems are William Chaverie in the social studies department at Newton High, Frank Maell and Edward Poole, a graduate student, both at Quincy High, and Albert Manoff at a junior high in Revere. Jobi Moody is gaining experience in college instruction working with Mr. McKeown in his remedial reading program here at the university.

The tops head of Education Department, pointed out that Suffolk's recent on student training did not mean an extension of his own department but an expansion of all departments of the school so that tomorrow's teachers will be well interested in the fields in which they are to teach.
