NINETEEN HUNDRED AND SIXTY

SUFFOLK UNIVERSITY
BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS

YEARS OF DECISION

The Law School, the first unit of the University, was established in September, 1906, to provide professional training for ambitious young men and women of moderate means. In 1914 the school was chartered with degree-granting powers by the Legislature of Massachusetts.

Educational facilities have been expanded in the belief that training in the liberal arts and sciences is an integral part of a balanced education. The College of Liberal Arts was founded in 1934, the Graduate School of Law in 1935, the College of Journalism in 1936, and the College of Business Administration in 1937. The various departments were incorporated by the Massachusetts Legislature in 1937.

Physical growth of the University was accompanied by professional recognition: Suffolk is a member of the New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and of the Association of American Colleges. The College Departments are approved by the Board of Collegiate Authority, Department of Education, Commonwealth of Massachusetts. The Law School is approved by the American Bar Association. The Veterans Administration approves all courses for GI benefits.

Located on Beacon Hill, directly behind the State House, near the building housing the Supreme Judicial, Superior, Probate, Land and Municipal Courts, Suffolk University provides excellent accommodations for educational work. In the University building are the Administrative offices, University Library, classrooms, completely equipped and modern laboratories for biology, chemistry, geology and physics, University Auditorium, Bookstore, and student lounges.

ADMINISTRATION

When we look back to our days at Suffolk University, we will never forget the faculty members. We will feel proud that we knew them not only as learned persons, but also as our friends, unlike students in many other universities, where a student-instructor relationship is practically unknown.

SENIORS

The Senior Class has come a long way during these past four years, from our freshmen days, when we were struggling to keep our wits about us, to this our senior year, when we realize that all of our trials and tribulations, though many, were not in vain. We accomplished much, but we suffered much. We were praised, but we were misunderstood. We laughed, but we cried. But we matured.

ACTIVITIES

Suffolk has a well-formulated undergraduate program of activities designed to develop and encourage personal qualities of leadership, initiative, cooperation, and sportsmanship. However, as the University feels that studies come first, and rightly so, it has made one prerequisite for active participation—the maintenance of a satisfactory scholastic standard.

SPORTS

As Suffolk has advanced in learning, so it has also in providing recreational activities for its students. It now has teams representative in Baseball, Basketball, Golf, and Tennis, which provide the students with recreation and entertainment in their off-study time.

Respectfully Dedicated to

DOROTHY M. McNAMARA

In dedicating this Yearbook to Miss Dorothy M. McNamara, the Class of 1960 is expressing its appreciation of her long years of devoted service.

To the students of Suffolk University Miss McNamara is a friend. Her sincere interest in each student's present activities and future plans has won her our confidence, respect, and gratitude. We remember happily her unfailing willingness to help us whenever we were in need.

It is a joy to us of 1960 to review our associations with Miss McNamara and to thank her profoundly for her heartwarming, sincere friendship and kindly guidance. We are indebted to her for helping to foster in us the school spirit she herself so strongly feels.

With fond memories of Suffolk University shared with her, we happily dedicate our Yearbook to Miss McNamara, Bursar of Suffolk University.

The President

ROBERT J. MUNCE
President of Suffolk University

You Seniors, Class of 1960, have been active participating members of the Suffolk Family for the past four years, and during this time you have formed many friendships that will endure for a long time. Among the many friendships thus formed, you will find that there are three or four that are particularly close and will endure for a long, long time. Now, three or four very close "bonds of friendship" may seem to indicate that you have failed in your personal relations with your fellow students. On the contrary, it proves that you have been very successful in revealing your true nature to your fellow classmates to the extent that they have found much good in you and want to share in that which is good.

The memory of these close associations will provide substance for many pleasant recollections of events and situations which developed while you were together in the University.

Soon you will become Alumni of Suffolk and will want to take part in the activities of the General Alumni Association. The gatherings of the Alumni will provide the medium to retell the stories about your student days that have amused you over the years and you may want to recall events that influenced your lives.

You will be surprised how warm, wise and reassuring these remembrances of informal talks with your professors, the administrative officers and fellow students can be. Many times they give new meaning to life.

I have stressed the importance of belonging to the Memory Group—Alumni Association. As time goes on, you will realize that the value of your Suffolk friendships will actually outweigh the value of the "textbook learning." Always remember that as you go, so goes the Suffolk Family and as the Suffolk Family goes, so go you.

So I say, farewell Class of 1960 and fare-you-well.

From The Office Of The Dean

To my friends in the Class of 1960:

College and its experiences have meant many different things to you. And yet there have been elements in the Suffolk years that have been common to you all. Even though you have pursued a major field of study with a personal vocation in mind, all of you have studied certain fundamental problems in the sciences, the humanities, and the social studies. Your interests in activities may have ranged as widely as dramatics, business clubs, publications, religious associations, dance committees, athletic teams, or student government. Yet in these varied activities you have made an individual gift of energy and thought to benefit a group identified with the larger society of the University.

The life you now enter is to be lived in a still larger society—a free society we call the United States. It will not be enough for you to concentrate all your efforts upon personal success, just as it has not been enough for you to concentrate solely on your college major. You have seen how activities flourish when individuals work together for common purposes and ideals. This experience you, as a college graduate, have an obligation to repeat in the larger society. I am confident that you will do your civic share to keep our nation free and strong, remembering that only in such a society is the personal success you desire possible.

Keep close to your friends at Suffolk. We will wish you well throughout the years.

ADMINISTRATION

The administration officers here at Suffolk University greatly influence the student during these four essential years of college life. Hardly a day goes by, when at least one of them is not approached by a student seeking assistance. The student goes willingly, as he realizes that in time of need he will find the help and understanding he wants.

These people are not amateurs to this form of student guidance. They have been trained in both "textbook learning" and personal experience, and thus know the best methods for handling student problems.

These administration officers also offer invaluable assistance to the faculty. This assistance stems from the responsibility placed upon them by the University, to prepare the student psychologically, physically, and intellectually for the four strenuous years of college life that lie before him.

A Thought For The Class of 1960

With your college years now at an end, you should not make the mistake of believing the old saying that "these are the best years of one's life," no matter how much-or how-you may have enjoyed them. The best years are, in fact, those ahead. This will always be true because your continuing education, perhaps modestly begun here, will enable you to live more fully the more time passes. But how rich your lives will be depends upon how much effort you are willing to put into your development. Only you can decide that.

THE LAW SCHOOL

An integrated Moot Court program has been established for the purpose of acquainting the students with the elements of pleading, practice, trial, brief-writing and appellate argument. It is felt that a prospective lawyer should gain some practical experience in law school and not be confronted with such matters for the first time after he has been admitted to the Bar.

The course in Practice and Procedure, which is required of all students, deals particularly with Massachusetts practice at both trial and appellate levels, and involves consideration of the following: jurisdiction of the various courts; venue; forms, substance and service of writs including attachments and arrest; the various kinds of action at law; parties; declarations; motions to dismiss, answers in abatement, demurrers, answers to the merits; amendments; interrogatories; notice to admit facts; proceedings before auditors and masters; exceptions; appeals; reports; judgment; execution; extraordinary writs.

A Trial Court practice course is also required. Each student must take a contested case through trial in a Moot Court, (either a District Court, a Probate Court, or the Superior Court with or without a jury,) preserving rights of review. The jurisdiction of these Moot Courts is based upon that of the like Courts of Massachusetts. Each of the Courts has a student Clerk.

Practice in these Courts is conducted strictly in accordance with the law and rules of courts of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. Student counsel draw their own writs and other process, have them served by the Moot Court Sheriff and returned to the Clerk's Office. Each counsel drafts and files his own pleadings and other papers within the times fixed by law. Failure to do entails the consequences which would follow such default in actual litigation. Sessions of the Courts are held for interlocutory matters, and actual trials are held before juries impaneled from the student body or in sessions without jury.

An optional activity in which all students are urged to participate is that of Moot Appellate Court. In this program the student handles the appellate brief and argument of a case upon an assigned record supposed to be under review in the Moot Court, (either the Supreme Court, the Supreme Judicial Court, or the Court of last appeal in the jurisdiction of a fictitious state.)

Suffolk University Law School participates in the National Moot Court Competition conducted annually under the auspices of the Young Lawyers Committee of the Bar of the City of New York. The students who show the most promise in the Appellate Court program are selected as the team to represent the Law School in this Competition.

The regular student body is integrated as The Student Bar Association of Suffolk University Law School.

The objectives of the Association, as described in its Charter, are "to assist in the development of a sound program of legal education, to promote understanding and coordination of activity among the members of the Law School community, and to foster cooperation with national, state and local bar associations, and with other law schools through participation in the American Law Student Association."

Under the leadership of its Officers and Board of Governors elected from the upper classes of the student body, the Association sponsors, coordinates and carries on various student activities. It operates through standing committees, whose titles, indicative of the major fields of Association interest are as follows: Appellate Court Practice, By-Law, Election, Legal Memo Publication, Pre-law Club, and Social.

Outstanding students participate in legal internship in the office of the Middlesex County District Attorney, where the program was initiated in this region, and also in the office of the Attorney General of Massachusetts. Others gain practical experience through clerkships in leading law offices.

Student activities sponsored by the University are open to qualified students in the Law School. Maintenance of a satisfactory scholastic standard is a prerequisite for participation in such activities.

The Wig and Robe Society is a private organization in which all male students in the Law School are eligible for membership. It maintains club rooms proximate to the School in which it has the reports of the Supreme Judicial Court of the Commonwealth, the Federal Reports, Corpus Juris, text books and other legal material available to its membership. Guest lecturers are procured to speak on problems of the law. It is an aim of the Society to foster a closer unity between students, Faculty and alumni.

HISTORY OF SUFFOLK UNIVERSITY

The Law School, the first unit of the University, was established in September, 1906, to provide professional training for ambitious young men and women of moderate means. In 1914 the school was chartered with degree-granting powers by the Legislature of Massachusetts.

Educational facilities have been expanded in the belief that training in the liberal arts and sciences is an integral part of a balanced education. The College of Liberal Arts was founded in 1934, the Graduate School of Law in 1935, the College of Journalism in 1936, and the College of Business Administration in 1937. The various departments were incorporated by the Massachusetts Legislature in 1937.

Physical growth of the University has been accompanied by professional recognition. On the level of national accreditation, Suffolk University is a member of the New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, and the Law School is fully approved by the American Bar Association.

The University is also a member of the Association of American Colleges, and all schools and departments are approved by the Board of Collegiate Authority of the Massachusetts Department of Education. The Veterans Administration approves all courses for GI benefits.

Located on Beacon Hill, directly behind the State House, near the building housing the Supreme Judicial, Superior, Probate, Land and Municipal Courts, Suffolk University provides excellent accommodations for educational work. In the University building are the Administrative Offices, University Library, Auditorium, classrooms, completely equipped and modern laboratories for biology, chemistry, geology and physics, and the University Bookstore.

Although the physical equipment of a university is important, the quality of its educational program is even more significant. The true measure of a university is reflected in the record of its graduates. Early in its history, Suffolk University gained recognition for the quality of its Faculty and the success of its graduates. Judges, lawyers, bankers, businessmen, educators, and leaders in civic and political life owe their advancement to the quality of training received at Suffolk University.

THE LAW LIBRARY

The Law Library, containing over twenty-five thousand volumes, is located on the third floor of the University and is part of the University Library. By yearly appropriations and gifts from Alumni and others it is constantly increasing its collection.

The Library includes all of the reported decisions of all the states, in the National Reporter System, and all of the official reports of many of the states; reports of all the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States and other Federal courts; reports of selected Federal Administrative Agencies; the American Digest;

Corpus Juris and Corpus Juris Secundum; American Jurisprudence and American Law Reports. It contains a full set of English reports and a large collection of legal periodicals, text-books and case-books.

With regard to statutory material, the Library has the United States Statutes at Large, the United States Code Annotated, all the compilations of the Massachusetts statutes, the Annotated Laws of Massachusetts, the Massachusetts General Laws Annotated, the statutes of the New England and other selected states.

The Suffolk Journal is the official publication of the students of Suffolk University, and has its own office in the building. Its policy is to promote and publicize all student activities and to record all school events. It is a medium for democratic expression by the students and serves as a practical laboratory for those in the department of Journalism. Those who work on the staff gain invaluable practical experience in newspaper writing and administration. News reporting, feature stories, re-writing, makeup and layout are some of the functions of this activity which help the student from a scholastic as well as a practical point of view.

BUSINESS CLUB AND ADVISORS

BUSINESS CLUB

The Business Club was one of the most active clubs within the University this year. It offers its members opportunities to become acquainted with business leaders, to join professional organizations such as the American Marketing Association, and to become better acquainted with the members' fellow students.

The club's annual banquet was held during the first semester. The guest speaker was John Griffin, of the Manning Wholesale Tobacco Company, Boston.

The club also sponsored a trip to the New York Stock Exchange. This trip afforded to many of the club's members an opportunity to talk with some of the Exchange's outstanding members.

The club's program also included a trip to the Carling Brewery in Natick.

S.A.M., the Society for the Advancement of Management, is the recognized national organization of management in industry, commerce, government, and education and is the pioneer in management philosophy. It has been dedicated to the advancement of management since the Frederick W. Taylor Society was established in 1912.

The basic objectives of the University's program are to bring together executives in business and students preparing to go into business: to serve as an effective medium for the exchange and distribution of information on the problems, policies, and methods of industry and management; to provide students with the opportunity to participate in the organizing, planning, directing, and controlling of an organization dedicated to the advancement of management.

The activities of S.A.M. center around meetings, conferences, news bulletins and magazines, seminars, plant visits with business executives, research projects and community services to give the student members an insight into the practice of the management profession. The students also receive valuable experience through running the University chapter.

The Veterans Club has once again had a banner year contributing to the social life of the student body.

With the proceeds from the Halloween Dance, the club was able to furnish sufficient funds to make the Christmas Party at the Boston State Mental Hospital a success.

The club's Christmas Day Santa, aided by various club members and co-eds from the University, distributed more than 100 gifts to the patients in the children's ward at Boston City Hospital.

In the future, the club hopes to have its annual Easter Party at one of the local hospitals. In June the club's grand finale will be the "Ye Ole Vets Outing," one of the University's most popular events.

Last year Suffolk University played host to the 13th Annual Eastern Colleges' Science Conference. Since most of the time was spent preparing for this conference, the club's activities had to be put aside.

This year the picture has changed, and our activities have been numerous.

Professor West, the club's faculty advisor, spoke and showed colored slides of his trip to Arizona. Upon a request from the members of the club, Father Robert Baer, Chaplain of the Newman Club, gave a talk concerning the relationship of science and religion.

Some of the other activities were: a guided tour through the Veterans Administration Hospital, a tour of the Crime Lab, a spring picnic, and several informal parties.

In the spring of 1957 a group of some sixteen students who had presented a collection of one-act plays the previous January (with moderate success) took a deep breath, threw caution to the wind, and attempted a production of William Inge's hit "Picnic". The show was a great success, and the Suffolk Players have been in business ever since. Their 1957-58 season saw the curtain go up on "You Can't Take It With You" and "Ten Little Indians". The popular players followed three first-rate productions with the hilarious "My Three Angels" and the thrilling "Dial M for Murder" in 1958-59. This year the group drew cheers for their stunning production of the delightful "Seven Year Itch," and plan a spring production of Sophocles' "Antigone."

Of all the extracurricular organizations developed at Suffolk University during the past several years, none has received such popularity and student participation as the Humanities Club. It is an organization whose members are interested in learning about the old and the new worlds. The members make trips to various museums, historical landmarks, and places of general cultural interest located in Massachusetts.

The club members are as much interested in the culture of the twentieth-century as they are in the culture of Greece and Rome. This fact was made clear by the interest shown by the members in an exhibit on modern architecture during a trip to the Museum of Fine Arts.

The Israelite Club is the first successful Jewish organization at Suffolk University and is certain to become a major part of the college life.

It is composed of students who are dedicated to the advancement of Jewish learning.

Speakers, discussion groups, debates, and films are planned to improve the student's understanding of Judaism and its relationship to other religious groups.

NEWMAN CLUB OFFICERS AND MEMBERS

NEWMAN CLUB

The Newman Club has always acted as a guide for the Catholic students at Suffolk University. With its three-fold purpose—religious, social, and intellectual—the club has enabled its members to broaden and enrich four of the most important years of their lives.

The club in its religious program tries to impart a greater meaning of life to the students by seeking to explain the practical, the more worldly side of their faith. Prominent laymen, experts in their fields, are invited to address the club's members and guests on various subjects which are of vital importance to every college student. Retreats and a Communion breakfast round out the religious program.

The social calendar is planned with the students in mind. Activities, such as spaghetti suppers, skating parties, and dances are sponsored to aid the students in strengthening college friendships.

The club also publishes a monthly paper, the Eye Opener, to which all members may contribute.

SPANISH CLUB

The Spanish Club was organized to give the student a social and cultural approach to the Spanish language. This activity invites people who are familiar with the Spanish culture to conduct formal meetings. Students who are language majors or those who have a working knowledge of Spanish find the activities interesting and helpful in preparing them to develop poise while speaking the language.

PSYCHOLOGY CLUB

Through the investigation of psychological problems, familiarization with relevant psychological publications, and discussions, with competent men in the fields of the behavioral sciences, the Psychology Club endeavors to enhance the students' background of current psychological theories and methods.

While strong emphasis is placed upon orientation to graduate study, the club provides an opportunity to participate in social, as well as academic activities. The club is open to all students who would like to know more about psychology as a field of study and work. Field trips to hospitals and clinics are designed to acquaint the students with the work of applied psychologists and allied disciplines.

THE STUDENT GOVERNMENT

The Student Government was very active this year not only in functioning as the "voice of the student body" but also in constantly increasing the prestige of the University.

It set up "Freshmen Initiation Week" during which all freshmen are required to wear their Suffolk beanies and to obey the commands of their upper classmen.

The Government, along with members of the faculty, also selects worthy seniors to represent the University in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Recognition Day, a day set aside in the spring of each year on which tribute is paid to those students who excel in scholarship and extracurricular activities, and the elections of all class officers are also handled by the Government.

In essence, the Student Government is the Congress and the Supreme Court of Suffolk University.

DELTA SIGMA PI FRATERNITY

The Delta Sigma Fraternity of Suffolk University is a professional commerce and business administration fraternity designed to meet the needs of the future business executive and admits to membership only those students who are enrolled in the Business Department. Delta Sigma sponsors a program consisting of business luncheons, guest speakers from the business world, industrial motion pictures, business forums, and industrial business tours.

THE FOUNDERS WITH ADVISOR

Seated: A. Tully, T. Flaherty. Standing: Mr. Stone Advisor, D. Buono.

Although the emphasis is on professional activities, Delta Sigma does have a charitable and social program, a ritualistic initiation, an official publication issued semi-annually, in fact all the things normally associated with a college fraternity. It also receives fine faculty support because the faculty members are particularly interested in the professional nature of the fraternity.

Membership in Delta Sigma offers opportunities to gain practical business experience through active participation in a management program as well as in a sales campaign conducted on the same high professional level as that found in any business organization in the modern business world. In addition, a complete accounting system is maintained in keeping with the generally accepted accounting principles and procedures prescribed by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

GAMMA SIGMA EPSILON

The purpose of the WASU is to further the general interests of women students of the University and to foster friendship among the members of the society. The activities of this organization include sponsoring the annual contest in which Miss Suffolk University is chosen, and holding numerous parties and teas for co-eds during the year.

EDUCATION ASSOCIATION

The Education Association was started this fall, with membership open to all students, members of the Faculty, and Administration at Suffolk University. The Association aims to stimulate and wide the study of education and to promote social life and more complete acquaintanceship among students and faculty through such activities as teas, panels, speakers, and discussion groups.

The first such activity sponsored by the Association was the Freshman Tea held in January. At this time members of the Education Department met informally with the students to discuss general topics as well as the new five-year education program.

Senate Majority Leader Maurice Donahue, speaking on "Education in the Fabulous Sixties" and Basilla Neilan, speaking on "Abolescent Psychology" were two speakers sponsored by the Association.

Next year the Association plans to include the Alumni in its membership.

The Board of Directors elected for this year is Kenneth Compton, Chairman; Beverly Ann Tosi, Recorder; Ann Picardi, Treasurer; William Chambers, Paul McDade, George Pratt, and Paul Pedi. Mr. Burton is faculty advisor.

PRE-LEGAL

Under the guidance nad dirtcion of Prof. Colburn, a club for pre-legal students was formed. Headed by Paul Buckley and ably assisted by Joseph Cashton, the club presented speakers and films for all people interested in any aspect of the law. In addition to speakers from the Massachusetts Bar Association and the FBI, the club had the opportunity to sit in on lectures and various classes of the law school. The law school drew witnesses and jurors from the club members. With an enrollment of 45, the Pre-Legal Club should produce capable law students in the future.

ATHLETICS

Offering the opportunity to develop personal qualities of leadership and sportsmanship, Suffolk University has representative teams in Baseball, Basketball, Golf, and Tennis.

BASKETBALL

Depending entirely on his seniors since about two complete teams of freshmen were benched for various reasons, Coach Charlie Law faced a rough season.

Losing their first round to Norwich U., 72-67, they entered the first round of the Babson Invitational Tournament. Rolling up a lop-sided score of 84-48 against Boston State Teachers in their first try, they lost to Nichols Junior, 54-48, in the semi-finals. A six foot-one inch freshman, Ray Conerty, proved he has the makings to be a vital fifth cog in the wheels of the Suffolk quintet.

CHEERLEADERS

One of the main-stays of any athletic program is the cheering squad, and this year's squad was no exception. Through victory and defeat, these girls cheered for the teams and sparked spirit and morale. With their energetic routines, they made victory sweeter, and defeat, easier to accept. These girls and their encouraging cheers helped to bring many colorful and thrilling moments to Suffolk's athletic events.

WORD from the editors

The completion of a book and its final realization in black and white is reward enough for any time and labor spent to achieve this end.

It is the sincere wish of those persons who made up this annual for the class of 1960 that henceforth it will serve as a valuable reference and reminder of our past four years.

We wish to thank the administration, faculty, and students, all of whose cooperation, suggestions and help were greatly appreciated.
