SUNDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 1

“Civil Rights and World Peace”

THURGOOD MARSHALL, chief legal officer of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, was born in Baltimore, Maryland, and educated in the local public schools. He graduated from Lincoln University and attended Howard University Law School. He was Counsel for the Baltimore City Branch of the N.A.A.C.P. from 1934 to 1936 before being appointed Assistant Special Counsel for the N.A.A.C.P., and in 1938 was appointed Special Counsel in active charge of legal cases to secure and protect full citizenship rights for Negroes. He is also Director-Counsel for the N.A.A.C.P. Legal Defense and Educational Fund.

He has appeared before the Supreme Court of the United States and the Federal and State Courts for most of the states of the South, and has recently appeared before the Supreme Court as one of the Counsels for the N.A.A.C.P. in the case now being tried dealing with segregation in the public schools of the South.

In 1951, Mr. Marshall went to Japan and Korea to make a first-hand investigation of courts-martial cases involving Negro soldiers.

Mr. Marshall has been the recipient of several awards, among them the famous Spingarn Medal which is awarded each year by the Special Spingarn Committee of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People to the Negro making the greatest contribution to the advancement of the Negro in American life. This, he received in 1946. He has also received the Negro Newspaper Publishers Association's Russwurm Award "in recognition of outstanding achievement in making possible a richer conception of democratic principles and in tribute for upholding those highest traditions considered as the ideals of the American Way of Life."

We are, indeed, happy to have Mr. Marshall with us this evening.

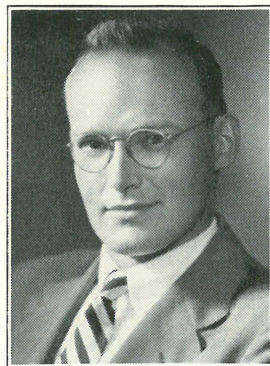

SUNDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 8

“The Eisenhower Administration — Hopes and Fears”

McGEORGE BUNDY is Associate Professor of Government at Harvard University. He graduated from Yale, Summa Cum Laude and Phi Beta Kappa, in 1940. He interrupted his education at Harvard to serve in World War II for four years, completing his graduate work in 1948. He has been teaching Government at Harvard since 1949.

Mr. Bundy, who collaborated with Henry L. Stimson in writing On Active Service in Peace and War, has also edited The Pattern of Responsibility "a comprehensive picture of our foreign policy in the actual words of Dean Acheson, the man who has directed it."

Mr. Bundy is a contributor to Foreign Affairs, The Reporter, Atlantic and others. He was an active worker in General Eisenhower's nomination for President of the United States and his election.

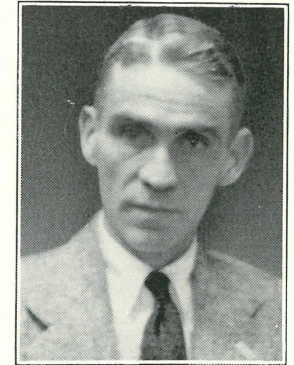

SUNDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 8

MARK DeWOLFE HOWE, Professor of American Legal History and Constitutional Law at Harvard Law School, was born in Boston and is a graduate of Harvard College and Harvard Law School. He was secretary to Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes for one year in 1933, returning to Boston to practice law until 1937. He then became a professor and later Dean of the Law School at the University of Buffalo. He gave up this position to serve in World War II.

Professor Howe was editor of the Holmes-Pollack Letters and he has just completed similar editorial work on the letters of Justice Holmes and Harold Laski which will be published in two volumes in March of this year.

During the recent campaign, Professor Howe was an active supporter of Governor Stevenson. He is a member of the Executive Committee of the Massachusetts Civil Liberties Union.

SUNDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 15

“The American Stake in the Asian Revolution”

G. BROMLEY OXNAM, Bishop of the Methodist Church in the Washington Area, to which he was assigned in June, 1952, is a native of California.

In addition to his episcopal duties, he has served as President of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, and as a special mediator on the National War Labor Board in labor disputes.

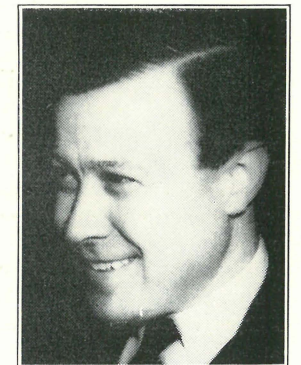

Bishop Oxnam has been closely identified with the field of education. During his pastorate at the Church of All Nations, he was Professor of Social Ethics at the University of Southern California, a member of the faculty at Boston University School of Theology and later President of DePauw University. He was a member of President Truman's Committee on Higher Education from 1946-48. His travels have led him into most of the countries of Europe and Asia and just a month ago he returned from India where he attended the Central Committee of the World Council of Churches.

SUNDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 22

“Freedom Must Take the Offensive”

WALTER P. REUTHER, newly-elected President of the C.I.O., has been interested in unions and labor problems all his life. He left school at fifteen to become an apprentice tool and die maker but continued his high school education at night and then went three years to Wayne University. In 1933, Mr. Reuther was discharged from Ford's for labor-union activity and with his brother Victor embarked on a world tour which took them through eleven countries of Europe and Asia where they worked in factories and studied the labor movements.

Returning to Detroit in 1935, he went to work in a shop and plunged into the job of organizing auto workers. Under his leadership, the West Side Local 174 of the United Automobile Workers made great strides and in 1936 he was elected to the International Executive Board and in 1942 was elected vice-President. After the automobile companies were brought to a greater acceptance of unionism, Mr. Reuther worked on the problems of making collective bargaining more efficient.

Walter Reuther was elected President of the UAW-CIO at the Auto Workers' Tenth Convention in Atlantic City in 1946 and a few months later he was elected to the post of CIO vice-President. He was instrumental in bringing about the employer-financed pensions and health insurance for the UAW-CIO members.

Mr. Reuther served as labor representative with OPM and the War Manpower Commission and long before V-J Day, proposed a Peace Production Board to guide our economy during the difficult transition period to full peacetime production and employment.
