

The SUFFOLK JOURNAL

"The heights by great men reached and kept
Were not attained by sudden flight;

But they, while their companions slept,
Were toiling upward in the night."

Longfellow

BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS

May 20, 1938

VOL. 2, NO. 5

Law Freshmen Elect First Student Council

Close Battle For Seat In Every Division: Nine to Aid Class Officers

Friday, April 29th, the Law School freshmen held another election, and for the first time in the history of the school a class is to have a student council.

Because of the large size of the class, it was decided that four officers did not have enough time to get around and contact all the students. These councilors are true representatives of their classes and will always be in immediate touch with their respective divisions. The mid-year students were not allowed to compete in the regular election, so it was decided to make at least one councilor from each class as a mid-year student. Three councilors in all represented each class.

A close battle was fought in every division. In the first division, which was the largest, the battle was between P. Avey of Boston, who gained 97 votes.

Charles P. Ford of East Boston, a very likable young man, took the show position with 89 votes.

James A. Coffey of Arlington, a mid-year student, was unopposed in the 2-30 class. Jim is very popular in the Young Democrats and will be a great help to the student council because of his varied educational experience. Charles P. "Chas" McGuire, who made Mr. Ellsworth, former at the Freshman frolic, got 113 votes. Charles McGuire, who made Mr. Ellsworth, former at the Freshman frolic, got 113 votes. Charles McGuire, who made Mr. Ellsworth, former at the Freshman frolic, got 113 votes.

Charles McGuire, who made Mr. Ellsworth, former at the Freshman frolic, got 113 votes.

Charles McGuire, who made Mr. Ellsworth, former at the Freshman frolic, got 113 votes.

Charles McGuire, who made Mr. Ellsworth, former at the Freshman frolic, got 113 votes.

Charles McGuire, who made Mr. Ellsworth, former at the Freshman frolic, got 113 votes.

Charles McGuire, who made Mr. Ellsworth, former at the Freshman frolic, got 113 votes.

Charles McGuire, who made Mr. Ellsworth, former at the Freshman frolic, got 113 votes.

Charles McGuire, who made Mr. Ellsworth, former at the Freshman frolic, got 113 votes.

Charles McGuire, who made Mr. Ellsworth, former at the Freshman frolic, got 113 votes.

Charles McGuire, who made Mr. Ellsworth, former at the Freshman frolic, got 113 votes.

Charles McGuire, who made Mr. Ellsworth, former at the Freshman frolic, got 113 votes.

Charles McGuire, who made Mr. Ellsworth, former at the Freshman frolic, got 113 votes.

Charles McGuire, who made Mr. Ellsworth, former at the Freshman frolic, got 113 votes.

Charles McGuire, who made Mr. Ellsworth, former at the Freshman frolic, got 113 votes.

Charles McGuire, who made Mr. Ellsworth, former at the Freshman frolic, got 113 votes.

Charles McGuire, who made Mr. Ellsworth, former at the Freshman frolic, got 113 votes.

Charles McGuire, who made Mr. Ellsworth, former at the Freshman frolic, got 113 votes.

Charles McGuire, who made Mr. Ellsworth, former at the Freshman frolic, got 113 votes.

Charles McGuire, who made Mr. Ellsworth, former at the Freshman frolic, got 113 votes.

Charles McGuire, who made Mr. Ellsworth, former at the Freshman frolic, got 113 votes.

Charles McGuire, who made Mr. Ellsworth, former at the Freshman frolic, got 113 votes.

Charles McGuire, who made Mr. Ellsworth, former at the Freshman frolic, got 113 votes.

Charles McGuire, who made Mr. Ellsworth, former at the Freshman frolic, got 113 votes.

Charles McGuire, who made Mr. Ellsworth, former at the Freshman frolic, got 113 votes.

Annual Commencement, June 16th 150 Seniors Await Final Event

Fox and Sands
Commencement

Honor Men

June 12th Baccalaureate Service Begins
Commencement Week; Honor Elections
Held In College Law School

LAW SCHOOL CLASS DAY SPEAKERS

Joseph Fox
Charles Sands
James A. Sullivan
Michael C. O'Neill
Ellis F. Brown
Frederic L. Conway
John F. O'Neill
and Francis E. White

By JAMES F. RAND

"One hundred and fifty men and women of Suffolk are busy these days preparing for the most important moment in their lives when they will step forward on the platform of the Auditorium to receive their degrees from President Gleason I. Archer."

The commencement festivities on that evening will be the concluding event in a program which stretches over four days and includes a baccalaureate service on Sunday, the first annual University Banquet on Monday, the College of Liberal Arts Class Day on Tuesday, and the Law School Class Day on the afternoon of Commencement Day.

HONOR ELECTIONS

The Law School is graduating a class of one hundred and twenty students. The final list of honor students in the Law School and the graduates of the School of Law were not available at the time of going to press.

A Murder Is Arranged By The Players

Mystery Thriller Final Production of Year

The players in the darkened auditorium were swinging a popular favorite when suddenly the curtains of the stage were brushed aside by the entrance of a young girl.

"You're driving me crazy," she cried.

And so the final production of the Suffolk Players, a mystery thriller entitled "A Murder Has Been Arranged" began the first of its three acts.

The girl was Virginia Sanderson, Journalism freshman, whose characterization of the spunky Miss Grogan, private secretary of the Suffolk Players, was one of the outstanding features of the evening.

The course of the plot was that of a friend, it developed that he is a noted criminal and is there to do the evil deed without which the play must go on forever without an end. And furthermore, he is in league with the spunky Miss Grogan.

So by the end of the second act, a little party he held in the '38

James Theatre, supposed to be haunted by a 15th century ghost.

Orbit Party

A believer in the occult, he planned that guests at the party should wear costumes of famous phantoms of history. His young wife, Lady Beatrice Jasper (Agnes Treas-urant) was quite terrified by the whole venture. But the presence of Jimmy North (Rudolph Black) who met her at a cocktail party and came to the theatre to protect her, somewhat reassured her.

Maurice Mullins, (Frank Barnes) Sir Jasper's only living relative and heir to the fortune if anything he, just anything happens to Sir Jasper, arrives to stir the whole plot into a booming bloody mess.

Although he appears in the guise of a friend, it develops that he is a noted criminal and is there to do the evil deed without which the play must go on forever without an end. And furthermore, he is in league with the spunky Miss Grogan.

So by the end of the second act, a little party he held in the '38 was supposed and tucked away in a corner, faded away. His body is discovered by the maid, Mrs. Winger (Anne Carter) and Lady Jasper.

The third act of the play is a battle of wits between Lady Jasper, who is trying to conceal the fact that she knows her husband has been done in by that dastardly villain, Frank—well, we mean Maurice Mullins, who knows that the crime has been done and is trying to reveal it before eleven o'clock so that he can claim the fortune. But he is trying to do this without implicating himself.

The presence of a dumb mystic, played by Elaine Foster, fits right in with the tradition that when a dumb woman shall appear and suddenly he is killed, the murdered man shall stay.

Maurice Mullins, who knows that the crime has been done and is trying to reveal it before eleven o'clock so that he can claim the fortune. But he is trying to do this without implicating himself.

The presence of a dumb mystic, played by Elaine Foster, fits right in with the tradition that when a dumb woman shall appear and suddenly he is killed, the murdered man shall stay.

Maurice Mullins, who knows that the crime has been done and is trying to reveal it before eleven o'clock so that he can claim the fortune. But he is trying to do this without implicating himself.

The presence of a dumb mystic, played by Elaine Foster, fits right in with the tradition that when a dumb woman shall appear and suddenly he is killed, the murdered man shall stay.

Maurice Mullins, who knows that the crime has been done and is trying to reveal it before eleven o'clock so that he can claim the fortune. But he is trying to do this without implicating himself.

The presence of a dumb mystic, played by Elaine Foster, fits right in with the tradition that when a dumb woman shall appear and suddenly he is killed, the murdered man shall stay.

Maurice Mullins, who knows that the crime has been done and is trying to reveal it before eleven o'clock so that he can claim the fortune. But he is trying to do this without implicating himself.

The presence of a dumb mystic, played by Elaine Foster, fits right in with the tradition that when a dumb woman shall appear and suddenly he is killed, the murdered man shall stay.

Maurice Mullins, who knows that the crime has been done and is trying to reveal it before eleven o'clock so that he can claim the fortune. But he is trying to do this without implicating himself.

The presence of a dumb mystic, played by Elaine Foster, fits right in with the tradition that when a dumb woman shall appear and suddenly he is killed, the murdered man shall stay.

Finegan Elected

Joseph W. Finegan of Everett, who was elected president of the 1938 Commencement class of the College of Liberal Arts at a special election held on Friday night.

Other officers are Agnes Lavery, vice president; Charles Lavelle, treasurer; and Thelma Payne, secretary.

The class discussed their commencement and class day plans. It was voted to have midnight blue as their class color.

Commencement Week starts on Sunday, June 12th, when at two o'clock graduates of the University and their parents will be gathered in the University Auditorium for the impressive Baccalaureate Service. The service will be published immediately after the June 16th Commencement.

Commencement Week starts on Sunday, June 12th, when at two o'clock graduates of the University and their parents will be gathered in the University Auditorium for the impressive Baccalaureate Service. The service will be published immediately after the June 16th Commencement.

Commencement Week starts on Sunday, June 12th, when at two o'clock graduates of the University and their parents will be gathered in the University Auditorium for the impressive Baccalaureate Service. The service will be published immediately after the June 16th Commencement.

Commencement Week starts on Sunday, June 12th, when at two o'clock graduates of the University and their parents will be gathered in the University Auditorium for the impressive Baccalaureate Service. The service will be published immediately after the June 16th Commencement.

Commencement Week starts on Sunday, June 12th, when at two o'clock graduates of the University and their parents will be gathered in the University Auditorium for the impressive Baccalaureate Service. The service will be published immediately after the June 16th Commencement.

Commencement Week starts on Sunday, June 12th, when at two o'clock graduates of the University and their parents will be gathered in the University Auditorium for the impressive Baccalaureate Service. The service will be published immediately after the June 16th Commencement.

Commencement Week starts on Sunday, June 12th, when at two o'clock graduates of the University and their parents will be gathered in the University Auditorium for the impressive Baccalaureate Service. The service will be published immediately after the June 16th Commencement.

Commencement Week starts on Sunday, June 12th, when at two o'clock graduates of the University and their parents will be gathered in the University Auditorium for the impressive Baccalaureate Service. The service will be published immediately after the June 16th Commencement.

By KENNETH WILLIAMS

plain that the present bill

11

1

100

Summer Session Begins July 5 President Archer's Portrait Eight Head Departments Of Colleges

Visiting Professors Furnish and Gerry to Give Courses

A special bulletin has recently been issued describing the second annual Summer Session of Suffolk University which will be held from July 5th to August 15th 1938. All classes will meet in the University building and will enjoy air conditioned classrooms. Courses in Public Speaking, American Literature, Advanced English Composition, General Psychology, Mental Hygiene, Educational Measurement, Secondary Education, Constitutional History, Europe since 1870, Town, Municipal, and State Government, World Politics 1918-1938, Economic History of the United States, The Family, and Musical Appreciation will be offered by members of the regular University faculty and by visiting professors from other universities and colleges.

In accordance with the recently adopted policy of having visiting professors offer some of the courses in the Summer Session, the office of the President has announced the appointment of Professor Clifford J. Furness of the Faculty of the New England Conservatory of Music, who will teach the course in Musical Appreciation. Professor Furness recently received the Bachelor of Arts degree from Northwestern University in 1921 and the degree of Master of Arts from Harvard in 1928. Professor Furness is a well known authority on "Walt Whitman and Music." Another announcement is to the effect that Dr. Henry C. Gerry, Professor of Education at Teachers College of the City of Boston, will be giving a course in Educational and Teaching in the Summer Session. Dr. Gerry is well known in educational circles and is the author of a very well known standard text in high school Chemistry. Dr. Gerry received his degree of Doctor of Education from Harvard in 1923 and also holds degrees from Bates College.

Suffolk University Summer Session is planned to meet the needs of the following: (1) graduates of normal schools who desire to complete the requirements for a college degree; (2) teachers in service desiring to make further progress toward a college degree; (3) undergraduate college students interested in completing degree requirements in the minimum time; (4) persons interested in securing further training in special fields; and (5) those interested in study for its cultural value.

Law Students Enrolled

Many students enrolled in the colleges during the regular university year have indicated their intention of attending the Summer Session. Students in the Law School are exhibiting interest in several of the courses, particularly the course offered by Assistant Professor Browning entitled Effective Public Speaking. The aim of this course is to improve the individual's ability to speak in public. It is practical and not too theoretical. While the course in Public Speaking has direct value to prospective lawyers, there are many other courses listed in the Summer Session Bulletin which will indirectly furnish a splendid background for advancement in the legal profession.

Those who attended the Summer session at Suffolk were unanimous in expressing the opinion that superior advantages were offered to all those who were interested in making educational progress through Summer study. They had not previously realized the advantages of evening study in the Summer. All our classes are held in modern air conditioned classrooms in the cool and quiet of the early evening from 6 to 7:30 and 7:30 to 9. Thus, the mornings and afternoons are left free for reading, work, or recreation. In this plan, there are no lectures to be listened to or classes to be attended during the heat of the day as is customary in 90 per cent of the Summer Sessions. You will also appreciate the long work week with no classes on Friday's classes are held on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday.

In addition to the visiting professors, whose appointments were indicated earlier in this announcement, courses will be offered by the following members of the regular University Faculty: Dr. Harold Claffin, Dr. Shirley F. Hawley, Dr. Norman E. Lord, Professor William F. Leamer, Dr. Donald W. Miller, Professor Nicholas J. Bonath, Professor Ward Browning and Professor Mark V. Crockett.

FRESHMEN —

After a conference and examination of the pictures, the judges signed the names of the winners. Paul J. Dolan of Roslindale, Paul J. Dolan of Boston took the show position. Dolan and Gahlin are both mid-year students. With nine live wire student councilmen and the officers, watch the class of 1941 go.

It has been traditional at Suffolk Law School that somehow or other the sophomore class is always the worst class scholastically and socially in the school — with humblest apologies to Mr. Kelly and General reflection on them in particular.

Probably the fresh socky freshmen will wake up and sadly realize that perhaps they don't know it all. Maybe, the Professors and superior court judges do know a little more about law than a freshman.

Let's go freshmen! We can be with you a little more spirit, the best class in the history of Suffolk.

The folks about us what fun we can really have when we get together socially. It is sad but true, but it is almost late to run a Freshman ball because of the work we have ahead of us; the students have to be home and we all have to study a little bit for our finals, spring fever or no-spring fever.

FRESHMAN PLAN BALL

With 13 leaders, that's had luck, twelve leaders and a treasurer, we can plan a ball for our own at the beginning of the next term. This ball will probably be the Alumni Ball which is quite a mark to shoot at. Speaking of that most enjoyable affair, the alumni ball, it is worthy of note that there were more freshmen there than were members of any other class, alumni included. And furthermore, through the efforts of our popular Pres., Mr. Jim F. Cunningham, we had a suite from the room-lands of the State of Maine.

This portrait of Suffolk University's general president hangs in the Trustees Room in the third floor of the University Building.

A study youth he came to Learning's home.

The University that bears the City's name

And then this student youth another time

Has come to give that city greater life.

To welcome all who seek and strive to find

His flaming torch has pierced the very night

Her students' minds, their hearts, are urged

To enter mine, New England's strength, to bring

That simple will that conquered long ago

That vision that saw beyond the scary

That humility that from her bosom came

Creating the wisdom of all who try

To walk most humbly daily with their God

RESULT OF CLASS OF 1941 ELECTION OF STUDENT EXECUTIVE BOARD

10 A.M. Division
Herbert W. Warren, '41B, of Boston
Stephen J. Parry, '41, of Hamilton
Lawrence F. Ford, '41, of East Boston

3:30 P.M. Division
James A. Coffey, '41B, of Arlington
Matthew J. Parry, '41, of Boston
Charles F. McGuire, '41, of South Boston

7:30 P.M. Division
Paul J. Dolan, '41B, of Boston
Frederick J. Gahlin, '41B, of Boston
Patrick J. Sullivan, '41, of Roslindale of rooms, something not even the chairman of the hall was able to manage.

The council and the officers are going to get together now and plan a real program for the next term. Remember, the council and the officers welcome any suggestions from any and every member of our class. If you have any ideas about what should be done, or how things should be carried out, please get in touch with the officers personally or write a note and leave it in the students' files in the corridor.

No matter how hard the elected leaders of the class work, no affair can be a success without your full and active cooperation. We will work every day and every night, and we will have very much time to get together. We cannot get together and know each other any too soon.

With a couple of social gets to gether, our formal and one informal get-together, we can get to know each other and perhaps we can keep each other in one way or another.

"OK, let's go!" — MAX MARSHALL, Freshman Secretary.

House Presided Over By Student

Lawrence H. Davis, sophomore in the Law School, presided over the House of Representatives April 15th. Representative Davis, who lives in Everett, has not yet observed his twentieth birthday. The Everett legislator is the youngest Republican member of the House and probably is the youngest man ever to wield the gavel in the House Chamber. Davis presided in the absence of Speaker Horace T. Cahill.

The acting speaker was presented to the House by Lawrence Grove, assistant House clerk, who announced that Speaker Cahill had selected Davis to preside in his absence.

Davis, serving his first term in the Legislature, previously was a member of the Everett Common Council. He served as president of the high body in 1936. He is a graduate of Everett High School and attended Suffolk College before entering Suffolk.

SONS OF SUFFOLK

Congratulations are in order for Arthur Flaherty, Law School senior, Francis McDonald, third-year student in the College of Liberal Arts, and Joseph Kaplan '37. By some quirk of fate, they are all the proud fathers of house, baby boys. What, no cigars?

NEW CATALOGUES OUT Faculties Set Off Into Departments

Eight members of Suffolk University's faculty have received appointments as departmental chairmen in the Colleges of Liberal Arts and Journalism. Appointments in the college of Business Administration will be announced later.

These appointments and the organizing of the faculties of the three colleges into departments are two of the new features of the catalogues which were issued this past month.

Five appointments are in the College of Liberal Arts and three in the College of Journalism. In the Liberal Arts, Dean Donald W. Miller is chairman of the department of philosophy, psychology and education. Other appointments are:

Walter Russell Tiffin, chairman of the department of social science; Francis Morton Foster, chairman of the department of modern languages; Shirley Wilson Harvey, chairman of the department of English and Harry Clark, chairman of the department of biological and physical science.

Appointments of department heads in the departments of mathematics and art and music, will be announced later.

Dean Donald W. Miller will be the acting dean of the College of Journalism, and the College of Business Administration.

New department heads in the College of Journalism are: Robert Weston (business), Charles H. Hays (journalism), and Arthur H. Hays (public relations). Dean Hays, chairman of the department of advertising, will be announced later.

Each of the catalogues contains the purpose of each college on the inside front cover. The College of Liberal Arts desires to maintain co-education, low tuition and give preparation for further study as it aids its students in preparation for intelligent living.

The College of Journalism seeks to provide the fundamentals of a liberal education while giving practical newspaper practice. The College of Business Administration, besides providing a liberal education and a thorough knowledge of the field of business, enables its students to specialize in one phase of business. To this end there is contained in the catalogue, charts showing the specializing student exactly what steps he must take to specialize in accounting, advertising or business management.

The College of Liberal Arts this year is offering two three year pre-professional courses, a pre-law course, and a pre-medical course.

The catalogues all give information on the admission, pre-admission regulations and procedures. The extra-curricular activities of the University are described and a directory of the students of each college is contained in the catalogues.

Noted in the College of Business Administration catalogue was that this institution had this year the same number of students as the college of Liberal Arts. The college of Liberal Arts, which was founded thirty-two years ago to found Suffolk Law School. This is the first year of the college. Whether this is prophetic or not, only time will tell.

The SUFFOLK JOURNAL

Official newspaper published by the students of Suffolk University. Editorial Office at 55 Hancock Street, Boston, Massachusetts.
Subscription Price, $1.00 per year. Single Copy, 10 cents.
Advertising rates on request.

EDITORIAL STAFF
Editor-in-chief	JAMES F. RAND J '41
News Editor	JOHN NEWHALL J '41
Feature Editor	MARY LOU SNOW J '41
MARGERY PICKETT	LA '39
FRANK J. HARRIS	LA '40
JAMES CANAVAN	J '41
LAWRENCE SIMMONS	J '39
EDWARD JACOBSON	J '39
JOSEPH DOHERTY	LA '39
MAURILL HAIN	J '42
ARTHUR SPARKES	J '42
Faculty Advisor	THOMAS G. ECKLES

EDITORIALS

Month of Solemnity

In the month of June, Nature is at her gayest and yet, to many people, it is a month of solemnity, rather than a month of joy.

At the beginning of the month, if we may take the liberty to call the last day of May, a part of June, we gather together to honor those of our loved ones who have passed on to the higher realms of life. It is the day when we are reminded of the saddest periods of life. The horrors of war, so much in the thoughts of the people in these troubled days, are brought vividly home to us as veterans decorate the graves of their buddies. Better than the words of any pompous speaker is the lesson of peace brought to us by the simple act of placing flowers on the grave of a veteran on the streaming of flowers upon the water where they may float down on the tide lake to home those who have died at sea.

During the greater part of the month, in colleges and universities all over the land, black-robed seniors gather at solemn convocations for the final ceremony of their four years of college.

And to the student whether he be a senior who will shortly don the black robe and cap, or one whose day of glory is not yet here, June becomes a month of solemnity. It is in this month that he faces his eyes more firmly upon the goal ahead, and in this month that he sees the goal coming a little closer.

Here at Suffolk University in less than a month, our Senior Law School students will graduate, ready to take their bar exams and begin the practice of law. They have reached their first goal, graduation. In the five schools and colleges of this institution there are many others who have a longer time to wait but their eyes are still fixed on the goal that seems so far away.

We called June the month of solemnity and so it is. We do not mean that we should not join in the gaiety and fun that surrounds every college at Commencement time but in the midst of this gaiety, we should take time and think of the future.

For those of us who are seniors, this month is indeed solemn. We have achieved the first goal, let us try for the second and greater one. Let us continue to keep our eyes on the goal of success in our chosen field.

And those of us who are not seniors still have our eyes and hearts set on that goal of graduation. Let us not look away from that goal. June is the month for solemnity. Not only in the glory and tradition that surrounds June in college but in the thoughts and hopes of the thousands of the student of the land.

June is the month of solemnity.

University Council

The Freshman Class in the Law school expects that should be remedied. School this month elected the first. The students of the Law School and student council in the history of the students of the colleges have the school and thereby set a precedent common bond that links them in respect that other classes would be social and student activities. The will to follow.

The Law School already has a several of their correlated sub-strong alumni association and an sports. There is some unity in the organization such as it is needed in various extra-curricular activities, the Law School to unite the four but those are included in by only a selfless fee and leave a great proportion of the students unity has need of an organization.

Furthermore, the entire University which would unite the five out of a University Council which the University. At present a situation would be composed of delegates

TALL TREES

Where tall trees towering, reach to meet the sky
A Nature-formed cathedral stands serene
One passing 'neath their Gothic arching boughs
May summon contact with the World Unknown

And there beneath the leafy ceiling high
To spread a web of life
No massive doors of oak exclude the poor
E'en timid animals find shelter there

Sacred Sabbath calm here lingers every day,
With bird-song's sacred "music" in the air
Here, far removed from man's unwelcome world
His every upward look becomes a prayer

Oh, "templed hills" of our beloved land,
The rocks and hills become an altar place
Where men with searing hearts their faith renew
And turn from care to blessings that endure

ELIZABETH GUINN ARCHER
Mar. 1, '38

Citizens of Tomorrow

The college student formerly was in good fun. Lately, he pictured as a frail bookish creature who burned the midnight oil, study, a more serious vocation, and engaged in very few least in their intent. All over the college activities. His chief joy country students have been taking as excellent in Latin, Greek and an active interest in the affairs of other rather ponderous subjects this country. The college press has To a large extent, little heed was conducted polls which have told and to the affairs of the busy national student of today on affairs of college and international importance. Courses in economics, government and sociology plunge him right into the merry har for success in this world of ours. The affairs of the world, in many classrooms become the textbooks which the student learns of the world by practical example rather than by professional theories.

With this familiar attitude of the world's affairs, students of today take increasing interest in these affairs, outside of regular classroom studies. In the public arena, there has been reported of late, student strikes for the cause of peace, several of which have been held in Boston for the past few years. Recently the hidden taxing of industry by our government was demonstrated by students of one New York college who "cored" all the pennies in their city and then paid the taxes on their subsequent pennies with the pennies.

Students have always been rather belligerent and it has always from each class of the five schools would serve to unite the University student body. It would facilitate social gatherings, athletics and formal contexts between the various classes and by this union, a quiet survey of the student opinion on important matters relative to the school could be obtained either by the executives of the University or by the student leaders themselves.

When a campaign of the Endowment Fund type is launched, a student organization would be ready to lend aid and assistance. There is only a few of the many desirable features of this plan.

But only the freshman class of the Law School is organized. Others have done so it will be time to make plans for an All-University group.

Let's see the freshman lead the way in the organizing of a great student group.

PRESIDENT ARCHER'S COLUMN

Student Activities

Suffolk University has now completed its first year under the University Charter. The first great task of the institution was, of course, to provide adequate accommodations for its various departments. That task accomplished, we are able to settle down to the long-range problems of University development. The present school year has witnessed notable advances along various fronts. Entrance requirements in the law department have been raised to two years, or sixty semester hours, of college work. Other undergraduate departments conform to the usual college entrance requirements. Notable additions to the faculties of the several departments have been made since April, 1937.

One of the most gratifying developments of the year concerns the student body. Intercollegiate debating has made a grand beginning under the instruction of Professor Ward Browning. The Suffolk Players, directed by Miss Esther Newman, are concluding a second successful season. Suffolk Jiu Jitsu is now being conducted by undergraduate students. James F. Rand, Journalism '41, is demonstrating outstanding ability as Editor-in-chief. Staff members from all departments are displaying unusual originality and talent.

The beginning of undergraduate clubs are in process. A tennis club is being formed and a fencing club is also in the offing. Some of our golf champions in the school are initiating University entrance into this field of sports. The University Golf Club and University Orchestra will be functioning next year.

One of the significant beginnings of the year is the formation of the Suffolk University Old Colony Club with headquarters in Taunton. It is composed of students and alumni in that district. Its president is a lawyer who was graduated from Suffolk eleven years ago. It is hoped that this is only the beginning of many such organizations in Massachusetts.

Suffolk University welcomes this awakening of inter-departmental student participation in extra-curricular activities. If of our desire to develop in our students a strong spirit of fellowship and cooperation in all such fields.

Notice!

Reservations for the June 13th University banquet must be in the hands of Miss Carolyn A. Bryant, Executive Secretary, by May 20th at the latest. No reservations will be accepted after that date. Only reservations will be made at this time as tickets will not be issued until the final week of the final exams. Miss Bryant this week emphasized that the banquet will begin promptly at 7 o'clock sharp.

Hail Players!

A few short days ago we thrilled and cheered with childlike glee as we sat in the Auditorium and watched the latest production of the Suffolk Players, "A Murder Has Been Arranged."

The Players are only two years old. Yet during these two years they have made progress in spite of great handicaps. Last year, they had a bare stage and meager theatrical equipment to cope with. This year, the Players have had with the latest in lighting equipment. And they have made great strides with their dramatic group giving us several favorites whom we have not seen enough of yet.

Their next production will not be until next fall but already we are looking forward to it!

Mystery Drama Players Final — Murderer Wants Job

Harris As Villain 'The Bell . . . That Didn't Ring'

Stars In 3 Act Play

(Continued from Page 1)

Each member of the cast portrayed his role very nicely. Special notice goes to Rudin Blank as Jimmy North, the love interest in the play. And what an interest! Frank Harris was a villain to behold. He looked very villainous until the third act when he appeared in the Scarlet costume of Cesare Borgia, the old Italian poisoner. And then we're afraid that the audience were more struck with the costume than with the villainous appearance he intended to put on.

But although Virginia Sanders, Frank Harris, and Rudin Blank seemed to deserve a lot more notice than the others, all the cast deserves compliments for their acting. Renee Curvelli was Mr. Cavendish, gentleman hired to play the piano at stated intervals during the evening. A difficult role.

Flowers to Cast

After the play was over, audience clapped for several curtain calls for the players. Flowers were presented to the feminine members of the cast and to Miss Newcome, the director.

Miss Newcome deserves a sizable lot of recognition here for she was suffering with a cold the night of the play. Long works of rehearsal had revealed the play and the performance gave indication that it had not been in vain.

Mr. Foster, mother of a number of the cast, made up the players very effectively.

By a curious coincidence, May 19th was the birthday of Renee Curvelli, Miss Catherine Gardner, and Margery Peckett.

The stage committee for the play was composed of Rex Farrell, (L); Marshall Hahn, (J); Frank White, (L); Nellie Anne Smith (J); Richard Hagan, (L); Theresa Bullock, (L); W. Sumner Kenney, (J); Samuel R. Milburn, (L); and Joseph Yelle (L).

Nautical Dance Held By Players

LOG OF THE S. S. SUFFOLK

April 19, 1938. It is a clear evening, the wind is from the south and we are in quiet.

We put underway promptly at eight with passengers and crew all safely aboard. We are carrying approximately sixty passengers and the crew.

The guests are enjoying themselves dancing in the ship's cabin to the music of the Teddy Bears' Orchestra of WMAZ fame.

While strolling the deck in an effort to keep cool, we spot many Suffolk Players, members of the degree. Looking particularly cool, collected, and charming was Catherine Curvelli, Margery Peckett. Other members of the committee assigned scholarships in the Graduate School of Law leading to the who alternate at the job of guard during the exchange. Miss Termination and Anne Crenner. We did not notice that the fair Suffolk girls, along with hands are as follows: 15-22; Edward Victor Hickey, 68 of the Teddy Bears' Orchestra. We are a vote of thanks to Frank White for securing this orchestra for us.

Behind the Scenes at the Latest "Drayma" of the Suffolk Player Mysteryfiers

By MARSHALL HAHN

Scene—Backstage

Characters: A couple of stage hands, a stage manager and some actors and actresses thrown in or our whichever you prefer.

The Play, which is the thing, you know, is running along smoothly—oh yeh. Well, wait and see!

ACTOR 1: "Waiting for cue."

ACTOR 2: Hey, I'm nervous!

ACTRESS 1: Gosh, I'm nervous!

ACTRESS 2: I feel like an automatic jitterbug.

STAGE HAND 1: (Sarcastically) Pipe, mystery play, the phoeds are more frightened than the audience.

STAGE HAND 1 and 2 get off

comes for costumes.

S. H. 1: (Looking at script)

Now, look! There's a telephone ring in this act. Let's see if we can't do a good job.

S. H. 2: Right!

S. H. 1: Now look here all you have to do. When I give you the signal, you touch this wire from the bell on to this thingamajig on the battery, get it?

S. H. 2: (Hesitating slowly) Then

touch wire from bell on to thinga-

majig on battery. Like this?

S. H. 1: (Hesitating slowly) Then

touch wire from bell on to thinga-

majig on battery. Like this?

S. H. 2: (Hesitating slowly) Then

touch wire from bell on to thinga-

majig on battery. Like this?

S. H. 1: (Hesitating slowly) Then

touch wire from bell on to thinga-

majig on battery. Like this?

S. H. 2: (Hesitating slowly) Then

touch wire from bell on to thinga-

majig on battery. Like this?

S. H. 1: (Hesitating slowly) Then

touch wire from bell on to thinga-

majig on battery. Like this?

S. H. 2: (Hesitating slowly) Then

touch wire from bell on to thinga-

majig on battery. Like this?

S. H. 1: (Hesitating slowly) Then

touch wire from bell on to thinga-

majig on battery. Like this?

S. H. 2: (Hesitating slowly) Then

touch wire from bell on to thinga-

majig on battery. Like this?

S. H. 1: (Hesitating slowly) Then

touch wire from bell on to thinga-

majig on battery. Like this?

S. H. 2: (Hesitating slowly) Then

touch wire from bell on to thinga-

majig on battery. Like this?

S. H. 1: (Hesitating slowly) Then

touch wire from bell on to thinga-

majig on battery. Like this?

S. H. 2: (Hesitating slowly) Then

touch wire from bell on to thinga-

majig on battery. Like this?

S. H. 1: (Hesitating slowly) Then

touch wire from bell on to thinga-

majig on battery. Like this?

S. H. 2: (Hesitating slowly) Then

touch wire from bell on to thinga-

majig on battery. Like this?

S. H. 1: (Hesitating slowly) Then

touch wire from bell on to thinga-

majig on battery. Like this?

S. H. 2: (Hesitating slowly) Then

touch wire from bell on to thinga-

majig on battery. Like this?

STAGE MANAGER (With forced gentleness) Pardon me for protesting, gentlemen, but there's a play trying to make itself heard

on the other side of the scenery,

you know.

S. H. 1: (Vexed) All right. All

right.

S. H. 2: Hey, what about that

telephone?

S. H. 1: Oh yeah—let's see,

where are they? (Looks at script.)

Wow, 'nother page and we're on.

S. H. 2: O.K. Tell me when.

S. H. 1: Oh ready—

S. H. 2: Now?

S. H. 1: (Watching script) No.

S. H. 2: Now?

S. H. 1: Not yet.

S. H. 2: Now?

S. H. 1: (Frustrated) I'll tell you

when. Almost! (Seconds pass.)

Hey, where are they? Mignad,

they skipped! (Pauses.)

S. H. 2: No telephone?

S. H. 1: (Frustrated) No telephone.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (With forced gentleness) Pardon me for protesting, gentlemen, but there's

a play trying to make itself heard

on the other side of the scenery,

you know.

S. H. 1: (Vexed) All right. All

right.

S. H. 2: Hey, what about that

telephone?

S. H. 1: Oh yeah—let's see,

where are they? (Looks at script.)

Wow, 'nother page and we're on.

S. H. 2: O.K. Tell me when.

S. H. 1: Oh ready—

S. H. 2: Now?

S. H. 1: (Watching script) No.

S. H. 2: Now?

S. H. 1: Not yet.

S. H. 2: Now?

S. H. 1: (Frustrated) I'll tell you

when. Almost! (Seconds pass.)

Hey, where are they? Mignad,

they skipped! (Pauses.)

S. H. 2: No telephone?

S. H. 1: (Frustrated) No telephone.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

STAGE MANAGER (reappearing up-

on stage, looks and waits) Stop her.

SITUATIONS WANTED—MALE

MURDERER—First class, willing to travel, union price. Possessing a specialty; references on request.

Hallo! yeh this is Joe—oh, h'ya

Butch, how's tricks? Me!—oh, you know how it is dese days—

money. Y'know I ain't had even a

</

Princeton Graduate

The swinging hammock, she admitted, had been mother and joined between two giant elms that shaded the lovely young lady. Scarcely out of her teens she made a beautiful picture as she swung her, had presented him with the idly to and fro. Her mind, however, was not on her surroundings but was absorbed by the thoughts of a handsome young man. The thought of the dinner dance she had attended crowded all else from her mind, for it was there a short week ago that she had met Thomas O'Neil.

"Mr. Thomas O'Neil," the butler had announced. He had come striding in, youthfully confident with that air of nonchalant indifference to youth. With sangfroid assurance Maria had even herself completely monopolized by Tommy, much to the disgust and chagrin of several other highly eligible males who were present. Before the evening was over, Tommy and Maria had slipped into the garden.

The gently swaying trees had formed a perfect canopy that allowed the silvery moonlight to come filtering through. The rustic bench that received them was uncomfortable in its simplicity, but neither of them was aware of that or anything else when they embraced. Maria had left Tommy knowing more about him than his name, and that of all the people in the world, he would be the only one for her.

The pleasant reverie into which Maria had fallen was brought to an abrupt end by the sudden arrival of a messenger boy in a bicycle who came to a stop almost at her feet. "Message for Miss Maria Jennings," he placidly announced. Her hasty signature was a nervous scrawl, and there he was gone. She opened it with trembling fingers and before reading it attempted to regain her composure.

"How silly!" she murmured. Just like a high school girl receiving her first love note! She read it rapidly through and a little "Oh!" escaped her lips. So that was it! A vague feeling of having met an old man Tommy before had materialized. Hurrying into the house she feverishly looked over some old news papers. At last! Here it was—Tommy's face peering at her from a tabloid. Not Tommy with his close smile or infectious grin, rather was it an alien, an unusual Tommy, cold and grim. Beneath it was the caption, "O'Neil Challenges in Light-Heavyweight Title Bout." Maria was momentarily dazed a prizefighter! She struggled with herself. What did ference did it make? If only Daddy would listen!

As if that thought were a signal, Martin Jennings entered the room. He beamed complacently at his daughter. A firm, vigorous man in his early fifties, he was the owner and editor of the most influential paper of the city. He retained much of the virile strength that had made him in the heyday of his youth the captain of a Princeton football team, and one of the most dangerous backs to ever cross an unbeaten football machine.

Maria came running over to him. "Oh, Dad," she faltered. Her arms were around him and she hugged him close. He eyed her bearded head suspiciously, sighted wearily, and resigned himself to the inevitable.

"Well, little woman, what can I do?"

"Swingin' in The Corner"

By TIMOTHY J. HIRSHO

This column will not take part in any of the current controversy regarding "swing" music. It merely presents a type of music. Swing has been declared to be a truly American music. Every stranger has listened to many of the foremost classical composers. Perhaps Tchaikovsky and Mahler have composed it as a vital part in American music today.

GOSSIPATION: Now that Gene Krupa has left Benny Goodman's band and has organized his own outfit, we wonder whether the new band will be the top group. Gene has plenty of potential talent in his new group, but unfortunately, Joe Glavin will compare the band with Benny Goodman's outfit, as he has done in the past.

"I'll have him here in a jiffy," she promised, and scampered from the room. He watched her retreating figure whimsically, but as she disappeared through the doorway, his mind reverted to more pressing problems of his own. Would Martin and Hanson carry out their threat? He had not told Maria anything about it, for he had not wanted to worry her. His newspaper had been carrying articles recently dictated by him hammering at the corrupt practices of Fred Martin, the mayor, and his bodyguard, Hugh Hanson. As late as this morning they had stormed into his office advising him to clamp down, or else. He reached out tentatively for his tobacco, found he could not reach it without fouling his suit, and he turned to the door, and he saw them.

Outside, the dark clouds rained the moon, offering grateful concealment to three men who slowly crept toward the lighted window of Jennings' library. Silently, they peered at his retreating figure through the veranda door.

"Damn them," Jennings was sending reminiscently at home. "They think they can scare me?" Expressed in his thoughts, the first thing that made him aware of a foreign presence were the words "Shut up!" The three men filed into the room through the veranda door.

"Well, Jennings," the foremost of the masked trio said. "When we get through with you, you'll never write another article for your dirty sheet."

"Come from behind that mask, Hanson," said Jennings. "I'll recognize your ugly voice anywhere!"

"Damn you," the third grunted. "This!" Infuriated beyond words, he reentered the hall of his gun and flubbed Jennings. Fast as light, Jennings ducked and clinched with him before either of the other two thugs could make a move.

Sounds of the vicious struggle carried to Maria and Tommy who were slowly sending their way to the house. Realizing that something was amiss, Tommy sprang for the house, followed the sounds of battle, and burst into the library. At a glance he took in the scene, and the young athlete, the least of the fight world, combined with a famous back of a big man, when football was played, he showed brute strength and went into action.

Later, while the three thugs were vaguely talking, they scattered music. Really fine, but then Hal's always been among the leaders. Another name to be reckoned with is that of Larry Clinton. Larry is well-known as a composer, arranger, and orchestra leader. He has written such popular ditties as "Study in Brown," "Dixie Doodle," "Midnight in A Madhouse," "The Big Dipper," and "College Humor." His recordings with Victor are gems. And his arrangements—well, we're running out of adjectives. Keep your eyes on Larry Clinton. . . And now that practically all of the old Scotch songs have been swung, Benny Berrigan is due to do a bit of swinging on the Irish tunes. Imagine Irish jigs in swingland! Wool Wool . . . "Shimmy" Ennis, heretofore master of percussion (drummers with Hal Kemp's orchestra has organized his own band . . .

REVIEWING THE PLATTERS:

"Strictly Live," Chick Webb Orchestra. Here is another good bit for the Chick Webb fans. Although the tune is not exactly a masterpiece, the boys swing out in good style. (Other side: "Rock It For Me" A honey of a record for the Ella Fitzgerald fans. This tune actually seems to rock. You can almost hear the creak of a rocking chair.

"The Big Crack from China," Bob Crosby's Bobcats featuring Ray Hinde on the drums. (Decca) Here is another good bit for the Bob Crosby fans. Although the tune is not exactly a masterpiece, the boys swing out in good style. (Other side: "Rock It For Me" A honey of a record for the Ella Fitzgerald fans. This tune actually seems to rock. You can almost hear the creak of a rocking chair.

"Don't Be That Way," Benny Goodman Orchestra. (Victor) Here is another good bit for the Benny Goodman fans. Although the tune is not exactly a masterpiece, the boys swing out in good style. (Other side: "Rock It For Me" A honey of a record for the Ella Fitzgerald fans. This tune actually seems to rock. You can almost hear the creak of a rocking chair.

"More Than Somewhat," Danny Polo and his Swing Stars. (Decca) This group comes from Bert Ambrose's orchestra. Includes clarinet, trumpet, piano, bass, guitar and drums. Sounds like a superior jam session. It is easy to hear. Other side: "Blue Murder." This tune does not sound anything like what its name suggests. In slightly low-down tempo it features fine clarinet and trumpet work.

"Grand Terrace Rhythm," (Natural Blues) Bob Crosby Orchestra. Here we have a tune by Percy Henderson. We must admit that this recording found a warm spot in our hearts. There is something about the slow rocking rhythm that always "sends" it. Need more be said?

BALL —

(Continued from Page 1)

Assisting Professor Thomas Finnegan on the Ball Committee were: Sumner S. Mast, Eugene S. Mast, Joseph S. Fox, John O'Neil, Michael O'Neil and F. Harvey Hovall. Brum Bartlett, president of the Alumni Association and went to the University Employees' Association. Secretary

Aunties' Feud with T.E.J.

The Coeds' Column

Considering the fact that we ladies and laddies have recently been swamped with exams, alumni balls, convicts and what not, the lovely column of Auntie's Abbie and Gail has slipped into the back-ground. However, love problems are still the first and foremost of our many worries—the lounge chatter even at the height of exams proved this. But, however, we have a very interesting letter to answer in which we believe all students will be interested.

Dear Mr. —:

We understand from your letter that you lawyers believe yourselves more capable of understanding youth's love problems than we have. We have entered the bonds of matrimony six times each. (Auntie Gail is about to embark on a 7th.) This our own special case (we don't like to be personal, but under the circumstances . . .) lawyers have proved quite a necessity, but they cannot produce heart balm—only heart interest.

As to your request—we would be very glad to establish a date bureau if you can guarantee that, large who has been to St. Vitus dance and not overrated prunes. (We would greatly appreciate your cooperation in this matter.) Sincerely, Auntie A. and G. If such a bureau is to be established we must get down to business.

1. Blondes, brunettes, or red heads? (Redheads are rather scarce at present.)

2. Tall, angular girls, or short rounded girls?

3. Slim exotic girls, or the "bunny type"? The above is just a starter for you—we would like you to list your preferences and send them to us and we in turn will interview our fair clientele as to their likes and dislikes. You understand, we must have the best references.

Speaking of dates—it appears that not all would-be lawyers need a bureau. Johnson's waitresses seem to attract enormously. F. W. was once thrilled when a cute little blonde waitress (C. G. please note) told him that "the hostess will be free at 8"—Was she, Fran?

The four charming females mentioned in last month's column have a rival who seems to have her speed of heart on the right track to the affection and attention of our well-known dramatist—Too bad girls, why don't you try the date bureau?

We understand that the College was represented at the alumni ball by only four students—! Quite shocking, we think. One of the girls dressed at school for the ball and asked one of her many admirers, a Guy C.A.R.K., to take life things home for her. As he was leaving school, a partying shot was heard from one of our clever students:

"Hey, fella, your slip's hanging."

"Did he blush?" (Well, what wouldn't?)

In Dean Archer also took an active part in the arrangements.

All of the proceeds of the Ball of the Alumni Association and went to the University Employees' Fund.

Scribe Advocates Intra-Mural Sports — Tennis Teams Lose Two

The Suffolk Scribe Tennis, Golf Tourneys In Fall Head New Plan

By JAMES F. RAND

During the past month, the first step has been taken towards the establishment of intercollegiate athletics here at Suffolk University. We were quite surprised when we read on the bulletin board the announcement that tennis and golf teams were to be organized. For we had thought that students of our university didn't have any time for such endeavors. But it seems they have time, and already before this gets to print they will have had their first intercollegiate matches under their belts.

It is singular that the tennis and golf teams were organized exactly the opposite of most intercollegiate teams. In most cases, intra-mural sports flourish for some time before varsity and freshman teams appear on the scene.

It is easy to see that these teams may lead to other teams in other sports. Several years from now, this sprawling university may have a complete athletic program, engaging in intercollegiate matches with other teams of this New England sector.

But we wonder if it is possible if sports in the future are organized on the same plan as the tennis and golf teams. We do not criticize the gentlemen who were instrumental in organizing these teams but we do feel that there are dangers in organization such as this.

There is danger that the gentlemen, who have acquired the right to play golf and tennis under the name of Suffolk, will, when they graduate, take the teams right out of the South with them. There is danger too that athletics may be restricted to a "clique." We mean nothing derogatory by this statement for it is natural that it should happen and experience has proved to us that it does often happen.

We spoke of one of the managers of our sports about the possibility of a fall tennis tournament for the entire school and he seemed puzzled as to why a tennis tournament in the fall, of all times.

Fall to us is the ideal time for such an event. It falls of course, we mean those golden days of October when the sun is warm enough to give that satisfied feeling, the first day of fall and suggest to us that we do not. Our tennis players will come back to school refreshed by the summer's play and will be in top form. Thus a few will be had on those who can best be picked for the 1938 varsity and freshman teams.

Colleges throughout the land hold tournaments and they have become increasingly popular. It seems to us that out of eleven hundred sufficient number of tennis players to warrant such a tournament.

This would be the start of an intra-mural program of sports which would have at least two advantages: (1) Varsity teams would be able to pick promising talent from intra-mural groups and develop them for play on the varsity; (2) Those who cannot devote time for long practice sessions but who have the urge to compete in group sports would be accommodated. And in any institution, this group is by far the majority.

We've had this idea in our brain for quite a while. As a matter of fact, it rested there, peaceful and calm, for a long time before our tennis and golf teams appeared on the scene.

What started us off, was the lack of a bowling league or even a team here at Suffolk. We don't bowl, but we would like to. As long as our attendance here at school prevents us from bowling outside, why not bowl in company with some of the fellows who sit beside us in school?

Bowling is the ideal sport for an intra-mural program. Teams could be organized in each class in the Law School, and the three following smaller divisions in the University would soon appear on the scene, it seems evident.

The sports program of an evening university is necessarily handicapped because many of its students work during the day and study at night. So time for practice just isn't. The range in the ages of its students also is detrimental to athletics. But bowling, again, showing new popularity in many parts of the country accommodates everyone, no matter what his age or sex.

Fall and spring tennis tournaments, as well as golf and tennis tournaments between sections of the University would not be too extensive a program. Both of these sports require no team practice, the chief factor in selecting sports for an evening university.

The field is not too limited with bowling, squash, badminton, and swimming as possibilities.

The number of teams that could compete in these sports is unlimited and a brisk intra-mural league in each would form the basis for establishing varsity teams later.

To establish any sport in this University, the approval of the University must be granted and students are advised to consult Dean Miller of the College of Liberal Arts if they are interested in forming teams or leagues in any intra-mural sport.

In our discussion of the pro and con on the place of athletics in our university, we have meant no harm to existing teams but have simply pointed dangers which are apparent in the present system.

Sincerely yours,

—The Suffolk Scribe

Dean Miller — Sports at Suffolk

The recently issued catalogue of the various colleges of our University contain the following statement:

"The University encourages forms of intercollegiate and interdepartmental athletics that are suited to its organization and educational program."

Sports such as swimming, golf, tennis, and volleyball will be organized on demand and facilities seem to make desirable."

This present semester the Executive Officers of the University have had requests for help in organizing teams in golf, tennis, and gymnastics. Unfortunately, these requests were received too late for very effective action on our part. One must remember that schedules are worked out several months in advance of the season for a sport and scheduling contests and matches is only a small part of the preliminary work that must be done.

However, we have made progress in spite of the handicap just mentioned. Competitive try-outs for Tennis were held on the courts at Magazine Beach, Cambridge and have enabled us to get a line on our material for this sport. Our schedule for Tennis will, when completed, probably contain from three to five matches some of which will be for our Freshman Team and at least one for our Varsity Team.

Another year we may have a more extensive schedule.

We are now making plans for next University Year. If you have suggestions, in regard to athletic activities at Suffolk, it will be a pleasure to talk with you.

—DEAN DONALD W. MILLER

Varsity Tennis Team Chosen

The first tennis team in Suffolk history, in fact the first athletic team of any sort, was picked April 22 after a tournament on the Magazine Beach courts, Cambridge.

Paul Rish of Newton, runner-up two years ago in the state championships, defeated Wilfred Joyce of Melrose for the number one position. Rish was later elected captain of the team.

The rest of the team in composition of Robert Harkins, number 2; Earl L. Doolittle, number 3; John Doughterty, number 4; Joseph Conolly, number 5; John Hurley, number 6; James Doughterty, number 7; and Joe Yelle, number 8.

This comprise the varsity squad with Rish, Harkins, Conolly, James Doughterty, and Hurley all Law freshmen, playing also for the Freshman.

Besides the May 11th match with U. S. Diesel Engineering school, the schedule includes tentative matches with the Harvard and Tufts Junior Varsity for the varsity. The Freshman will meet Newton High School for the championship last year.

For the championship last year.

For the championship last year.

For the championship last year.

For the championship last year.

For the championship last year.

For the championship last year.

For the championship last year.

For the championship last year.

For the championship last year.

For the championship last year.

For the championship last year.

For the championship last year.

For the championship last year.

For the championship last year.

For the championship last year.

Tennis Team Loses

Diesel Match, 4-3

The varsity tennis team lost its opening match of the season, 4-3 to the United States Diesel Engineering School, May 11, when Lutes and Harkins of the victors defeated Hurley and Doolittle, 6-1; 5-1 in the final doubles match.

The feature of the match was a three hour set between Bob Harkins of Suffolk and Edgardson of the Diesel School. Edgardson finally won, 14-12. It was a heartbreaker for Bob to lose.

The M.D.C. courts at Magazine Beach was the scene of the tight struggle between the two schools. The use of the courts was secured through the generosity of Captain Kellner of the Metropolitan Police Department.

Suffolk will play a return match with their conquerors in the near future.

The Summary:

Singles: Paul Rish (S) defeated Lutes (D) 6-1, 6-1; Harkins (S) defeated Hurley (D) 6-1, 6-1; Hurley (D) defeated Doolittle (S) 6-1, 6-1; Doolittle (S) defeated Rish (D) 6-1, 6-1; Rish (D) defeated Harkins (S) 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles: Lutes and Harkins (D) defeated Hurley and Doolittle (S) 6-1, 6-1; Hurley and Doolittle (S) defeated Lutes and Harkins (D) 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles: Lutes and Harkins (D) defeated Hurley and Doolittle (S) 6-1, 6-1; Hurley and Doolittle (S) defeated Lutes and Harkins (D) 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles: Lutes and Harkins (D) defeated Hurley and Doolittle (S) 6-1, 6-1; Hurley and Doolittle (S) defeated Lutes and Harkins (D) 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles: Lutes and Harkins (D) defeated Hurley and Doolittle (S) 6-1, 6-1; Hurley and Doolittle (S) defeated Lutes and Harkins (D) 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles: Lutes and Harkins (D) defeated Hurley and Doolittle (S) 6-1, 6-1; Hurley and Doolittle (S) defeated Lutes and Harkins (D) 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles: Lutes and Harkins (D) defeated Hurley and Doolittle (S) 6-1, 6-1; Hurley and Doolittle (S) defeated Lutes and Harkins (D) 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles: Lutes and Harkins (D) defeated Hurley and Doolittle (S) 6-1, 6-1; Hurley and Doolittle (S) defeated Lutes and Harkins (D) 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles: Lutes and Harkins (D) defeated Hurley and Doolittle (S) 6-1, 6-1; Hurley and Doolittle (S) defeated Lutes and Harkins (D) 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles: Lutes and Harkins (D) defeated Hurley and Doolittle (S) 6-1, 6-1; Hurley and Doolittle (S) defeated Lutes and Harkins (D) 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles: Lutes and Harkins (D) defeated Hurley and Doolittle (S) 6-1, 6-1; Hurley and Doolittle (S) defeated Lutes and Harkins (D) 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles: Lutes and Harkins (D) defeated Hurley and Doolittle (S) 6-1, 6-1; Hurley and Doolittle (S) defeated Lutes and Harkins (D) 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles: Lutes and Harkins (D) defeated Hurley and Doolittle (S) 6-1, 6-1; Hurley and Doolittle (S) defeated Lutes and Harkins (D) 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles: Lutes and Harkins (D) defeated Hurley and Doolittle (S) 6-1, 6-1; Hurley and Doolittle (S) defeated Lutes and Harkins (D) 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles: Lutes and Harkins (D) defeated Hurley and Doolittle (S) 6-1, 6-1; Hurley and Doolittle (S) defeated Lutes and Harkins (D) 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles: Lutes and Harkins (D) defeated Hurley and Doolittle (S) 6-1, 6-1; Hurley and Doolittle (S) defeated Lutes and Harkins (D) 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles: Lutes and Harkins (D) defeated Hurley and Doolittle (S) 6-1, 6-1; Hurley and Doolittle (S) defeated Lutes and Harkins (D) 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles: Lutes and Harkins (D) defeated Hurley and Doolittle (S) 6-1, 6-1; Hurley and Doolittle (S) defeated Lutes and Harkins (D) 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles: Lutes and Harkins (D) defeated Hurley and Doolittle (S) 6-1, 6-1; Hurley and Doolittle (S) defeated Lutes and Harkins (D) 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles: Lutes and Harkins (D) defeated Hurley and Doolittle (S) 6-1, 6-1; Hurley and Doolittle (S) defeated Lutes and Harkins (D) 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles: Lutes and Harkins (D) defeated Hurley and Doolittle (S) 6-1, 6-1; Hurley and Doolittle (S) defeated Lutes and Harkins (D) 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles: Lutes and Harkins (D) defeated Hurley and Doolittle (S) 6-1, 6-1; Hurley and Doolittle (S) defeated Lutes and Harkins (D) 6-1, 6-1.

Freshman Tennis Team Defeated, 4-3

Winchester High School, runner-up to Newton for the state championship, defeated Suffolk University freshman in a very close tennis match on the Winchester courts.

May 7. It was the first athletic contest in Suffolk's history. Graham of Winchester defeated Joe Connolly in the final match to give his team a 4-3 victory over the Blue and Gold.

The Summary:

Singles: Paul Rish (S) beat Capt. Beggs (W) 6-1, 6-1; Rish (S) beat John Hurley (W) 6-1, 6-1; Hurley (W) beat Rish (S) 6-1, 6-1; Rish (S) beat Hurley (W) 6-1, 6-1; Hurley (W) beat Rish (S) 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles: Lutes and Harkins (D) defeated Hurley and Doolittle (S) 6-1, 6-1; Hurley and Doolittle (S) defeated Lutes and Harkins (D) 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles: Lutes and Harkins (D) defeated Hurley and Doolittle (S) 6-1, 6-1; Hurley and Doolittle (S) defeated Lutes and Harkins (D) 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles: Lutes and Harkins (D) defeated Hurley and Doolittle (S) 6-1, 6-1; Hurley and Doolittle (S) defeated Lutes and Harkins (D) 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles: Lutes and Harkins (D) defeated Hurley and Doolittle (S) 6-1, 6-1; Hurley and Doolittle (S) defeated Lutes and Harkins (D) 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles: Lutes and Harkins (D) defeated Hurley and Doolittle (S) 6-1, 6-1; Hurley and Doolittle (S) defeated Lutes and Harkins (D) 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles: Lutes and Harkins (D) defeated Hurley and Doolittle (S) 6-1, 6-1; Hurley and Doolittle (S) defeated Lutes and Harkins (D) 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles: Lutes and Harkins (D) defeated Hurley and Doolittle (S) 6-1, 6-1; Hurley and Doolittle (S) defeated Lutes and Harkins (D) 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles: Lutes and Harkins (D) defeated Hurley and Doolittle (S) 6-1, 6-1; Hurley and Doolittle (S) defeated Lutes and Harkins (D) 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles: Lutes and Harkins (D) defeated Hurley and Doolittle (S) 6-1, 6-1; Hurley and Doolittle (S) defeated Lutes and Harkins (D) 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles: Lutes and Harkins (D) defeated Hurley and Doolittle (S) 6-1, 6-1; Hurley and Doolittle (S) defeated Lutes and Harkins (D) 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles: Lutes and Harkins (D) defeated Hurley and Doolittle (S) 6-1, 6-1; Hurley and Doolittle (S) defeated Lutes and Harkins (D) 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles: Lutes and Harkins (D) defeated Hurley and Doolittle (S) 6-1, 6-1; Hurley and Doolittle (S) defeated Lutes and Harkins (D) 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles: Lutes and Harkins (D) defeated Hurley and Doolittle (S) 6-1, 6-1; Hurley and Doolittle (S) defeated Lutes and Harkins (D) 6-1, 6-1.

A CIRCUS FAN!

Professor Harold Benson of the College of Journalism certainly is the prize circus fan. He attended four performances of the Barnum and Bailey, Ringling Brothers' Circus during its stay in Boston. At the Saturday matinee he sat with Merle Evans, the handreader, for the big show. The kids aren't the only ones that love the circus.

Banner Hung in Library

Suffolk University's blue and gold banner is now in the University Library where it is framed in a large colonial case with flags of the Law School, state and nation. The flag was carried for the first time in the February 6th dedication procession.

SUFFOLK UNIVERSITY

BOOKSTORE

Suggests

A Preparedness Crusade
Law Dictionaries

Your Books

MYRTLE LUNCH

24 MYRTLE STREET
BOSTON

R. A. WELCH, Prop.

Captain MISS

