GUIDE BEE REPORTING

Hello to you all, it's me again with more news of our Pioneer Girls. We had a fine meeting Thursday afternoon with plenty of sewing and activity. We were very pleased to have Mrs. Miller, and Mrs. Foley as our guests. We hope more will be with us every meeting day, as all are welcome.

Martha Foley sang a solo, which we enjoyed very much, entitled In The Garden. We now have organized a Pioneer Girls choir, under the leadership of Anne Swanson and Dot Willson, about twelve girls have been chosen, so watch for more about their progress.

We had two generous gifts presented to us this week, five dollars from an interested friend from Massachusetts, also five dollars from a mother of one of our Pioneer Girls. The money will be used to purchase Bibles and scissors for our Fortresses.

Now, at last, here is the news of our October fun date. It is to be a real Halloween party, with all the fixings. All Pioneer Girls, come in costume to the Baptist church vestry Wednesday night, October 29, at 7:30 "o'clock. Don't miss this party, as there will be loads of fun and plenty to eat. The girls on our refreshment committee are Thelma Willson, Martha Foley, Viola Brough and Virginia Souter, so we know it will be good. The guides and helpers have charge of the games and program, so wear your best smile and worst costume and join the fun.

Well, folks, that's it for another week, but I'll be back soon with more about our real Pioneers.

FARMINGTON GIRL SCOUTS

Brownie Troop 17, at the meeting on Tuesday, October 14, held a general discussion of Helpfulness at Home, after which they worked on this subject.

Troop 15 has selected the proficiency badges for which it will work during the first half of the year. They include weaving, cat and dog care, design, hostess, child care, leather, and horse-woman.

On Wednesday, October 29, the four Farmington Scout troops will hold a food sale for the benefit of the general fund, to be used for various needs and projects which a single troop could not undertake. Mr. LaChance has kindly given the use of his store for the sale.

National Girl Scout week begins Sunday, October 26 on that Sunday, Girl Scouts all over the United States will attend church in groups, each attending the church of her choice. During the week, special observance will be made of the birthday of Juliette Low, founder of Girl Scouting in the United States.

ADVENT CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Fred Flewelling, Pastor

In our Sunday school lesson for this week we are asked to face ourselves in the mirror of God's Word. It is a lot easier to look at our neighbors and criticize their faults, but if we face ourselves in this light and become "doers of the Word and not hearers only", then we shall be blessed and our religion will not be in vain.

Our school is observing Rally day and Promotion day combined this week. A special feature of the morning session will be a moving picture of the early life of Christ.

Sunday school at 10 a. m. Morning worship at 11 o'clock.

The prayer group at 8:30 in the evening will be followed by a big union service with the Baptist church uniting with us. We expect to have another beautiful Christian moving picture as a part of the evening program, which will be in charge of the laymen of the churches.

Plan now to attend church both morning and evening this week.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Myles D. Blanchard, Minister

Morning worship at 10:30. Church school at 11:45.

The Men's club will have for its speaker next Tuesday night, Sherman Adams, ex-congressman from New Hampshire.

The Young Adult group will meet on Wednesday at 7:30 and the program will include an entertainment by a magician.

Cheves Haskell has been elected president of the Pilgrim Fellowship.

BAPTIST CHURCH

A. Aubert, Pastor

FARMINGTON BATTLING

RAGING FOREST FIRE

Homes Menaced by Blaze

Covering Many Square Miles

Since Tuesday, a forest fire which has been raging in Farmington has burned over many square miles and has menaced many buildings especially in the southern part of the town. The fire started at a point not far from the highway on Route 11, two or three miles from the village and due to the tinder dry conditions, it was a matter of minutes before it was covering a large area.

The Farmington fire department raced to the scene, and soon scores of men and boys were battling a situation which was terrifying in the face of a gale of wind that was blowing in the direction of the village. Apparatus from Rochester joined the local forces, while state and local special police came to aid in handling traffic. For a time general travel was detoured while the fighters made a desperate effort to keep fire from crossing the highway and they succeeded.

Several families in the exposed vicinity were all packed up ready to abandon their homes.

By Tuesday night it appeared that the fire was temporarily under control, but early Wednesday it renewed its intensity and several hundred persons were fighting furiously in a short time.

The firemen under direction of Chief Engineer Marshall Gibbs, were joined by volunteers which included the boys of Farmington high school, armed with spades, and supervised by Headmaster Carl Harriman. They succeeded controlling the fire at the most critical points, and by this Thursday morning it was burning in a westerly direction.

It is not possible to estimate the loss of timber and young growth, but fortunately up to now no valuable buildings have been destroyed and no personal casualties have been suffered.

Farmington may well be proud of the capable operation of Chief Gibbs and his fire department, and of the groups who aided in providing food and other necessities.

Normand P. Liberty, chairman of the local disaster committee of the American Red Cross, furnished a vehicle from the H. O. Rondeau Shoe Co., to distribute food, which was prepared by members of the Red Cross. These women worked in shifts, all Wednesday night at the Congregational vestry to prepare the food. The Auxiliary of Willson-Hunt Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, worked long hours preparing and distributing food to the men, with headquarters at the Wagon Wheel Ranch. Too much praise cannot be given to all these agencies for aid which is of major importance in this extremity.

Condition of surface and weather make it inadvisable to build backfires, so it is necessary to use every other possible measure to combat the danger. No rain is predicted as this section goes into its second month of drought, and until rain comes in quantity, every precaution must be taken against further fire hazard.

MARSHALL F. GIBBS

NAMED VICE PRESIDENT

OF COUNTY FIRE WARDENS

Marshall F. Gibbs, chief of the Farmington fire department and county fire warden, was named first vice president of the Stratford County Fire Wardens association at the first annual meeting of that group held at Grange hall, Rochester, October 15. The group is headed by Capt. John O'Neill of the Dover fire department, who was named president. Other officers of the association are: Mrs. Ruth G. Kelley of Middleton, second vice president, only female member of the ten associations in the state; Carl Wentworth of Madbury, secretary; Harold Flower of Barrington, member of the executive committee, for three years. A nice banquet was served by women of the Rochester Grange.

A normal dog that is bitten by a rabid animal may develop rabies in as short a time as ten days, or it may show no symptoms until several months later.

It has been estimated that there are 25 million cats in the United States.

The ration for turkey poulters should contain not less than 25 percent protein.
