DAILY VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL TO BEGIN MONDAY

The fourth annual Daily Vacation Bible school of Farmington will open Monday morning, July 7, under the united direction of the Advent, Baptist and Congregational churches. The school will meet daily from 9 to 11 a m five days of the week for three weeks.

The school will be divided into three units: The beginners' school, including all those under eight years of age, will meet at the School street school, the primary school, which will include all those between the ages of eight and ten, meeting at the Baptist church, and the junior school, including those over ten, meeting at the Congregational church. The children will report to these schools Monday morning at nine o'clock.

The work of the school as in the past, will consist of Bible stories, memory work, dramatization of stories, sewing, recitation, basketry, calligraphy, doll making, soap carving, wood-work, etc. On Friday of each week an assembly will be held in which the entire school will gather for a special program.

The teaching staff of the school includes a number of teachers from each of the three churches, with Mr. Hopper of the Congregational church, as principal. There are still a few teachers needed.

The work of the school throughout the next three weeks will move rapidly toward the annual exhibition night, to be held Friday evening, July 25. To this exhibition, parents and friends will be invited, the work of the school will be on display, and a program by the children will be presented.

AUTO ACCIDENT BRINGS PAIR BEFORE COURT
When a Buick automobile operated by Harry Spudowitz of Boston, accompanied by A. I. Cohen of Brookline, Mass., struck and broke off a telephone pole near the Country club golf course Monday afternoon, was the beginning of an accident that subsequently landed the two young men in court several hours later, where they pleaded guilty. Spudowitz answered to the charge of being under the influence of intoxicating liquor and reckless driving, and Cohen pleaded guilty to the charge of intoxication, and they paid respective fines of $100 and costs of $6.70 and $10 and costs of $6.70. The intoxication charge was prosecuted by Chief of Police W. B. Dame, and the reckless driving charge by State Motorcycle Officer Ralph Emerson. In imposing sentences, Judge A. H. Wiggin severely reprimanded the offenders.

BAPTIST CHURCH NOTES

JULY FOURTH

The "News" goes to press this week on the eve of the great American holiday, Independence day, July 4th, which occurs on Friday. It will be the 154th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence and that "the spirit of '76" still survives not merely in a tradition but as one of the greatest American achievements. There is plenty of manifest evidence within our national boundaries and all United States possessions. Business will be suspended generally and the American colors will predominate. While Farmington has contemplated no ordered program for the day's celebration, there will be nothing lacking in the spirit of the occasion. From the small child up, there will be an ardent display of American pride. If not with a participation in the revelry and the enchantment of adding to the general racket, there will be an ordered preservation of peace and prosperity that has been in preparation for many weeks. The grooming of residential property and places of business has been in preparation for midsummer and the 4th of July for many weeks and the accomplishments are impressed upon any and all observers who care to survey the general aspect with thoughtful consideration. Wherever a piece of property of whatever nature has an outstanding prominence there have been no reservations in making it presentable to the gaze with cleanliness and features of beauty more or less abundant. Beautiful gardens, green, well-cropped lawns and fresh paint forecast the glamour and redolence of a thrifty and well-ordered community. The preservation of the citizenry and the property of such a composite structure is among our first regards. Especially at such times as the Fourth of July, when the bare restraint are let down while a great event of universal moment is being celebrated, there is likely to be, with no intention at lawlessness, a common relaxation toward destruction. On such occasions as the Fourth of July, the real patriot, whether youth or adult, is the individual who regards with scrupulous care the rights of others and joins his fellows in the wilds of celebration without abandon. In such a spirit of celebration everybody has the sympathy and encouragement of the community. Those who use the crowded highways at this season are especially cautioned to avoid collision and destruction to themselves and others. Herein lies one of the greatest elements of danger and it is sincerely hoped that the "News" will have few, if any, local casualties to report after the holiday is passed. To impress the great element of danger that is abroad at this time, insurance statistics show that more people buy automobile insurance on or prior to this holiday than at any other holiday season of the year. To show that the apprehension is well founded, the insurance companies report that for one day more claims are paid than for any other day in the year except Labor day. We certainly urge our citizens to celebrate the Fourth and to indulge in all the reasonable pastimes, but to exercise extreme care in the preservation of their own safety and the safety of others. The handling of fireworks and explosives should at all times be entrusted to mature judgment and we sincerely hope that wherever children are allowed to handle these instruments it will be under the supervision of their elders. From Thursday at midnight until Friday at midnight the town will be under extra police surveillance and all lines of law and order will be drawn tight. Traffic rules must be observed and extreme precaution be taken against fire. With these suggestions in mind, not to spoil or detract from anybody's good time, but rather to insure the resumption of our peace, prosperity and pursuit of happiness after the "Glorious Fourth" has passed, the "News" extends its best wishes for every bounty that the holiday may afford.

IN MEMORIAM

Mrs. Francis F. Wadleigh
The sympathy of this community is expressed for Mrs. Harry A. Nute and family in the death of her mother, Mrs. Mary J. Wadleigh, wife of Francis J. Wadleigh, which occurred at her home in Union village late Monday evening, June 30. The end came after a protracted attack of pneumonia preceded by several years of steadily failing health. She was a native of Springhill, N. H. She was the second daughter in a family of eight children born to James and Francis (McKinn) Gilmore and was the last survivor of this family group. Mr. and Mrs. Wadleigh were united in marriage 48 years ago and 43 years of this happy and prosperous married life were spent in Union, where they mingled freely and helpfully with the associations of the community. Mrs. Wadleigh was a member of Unity Chapter, O. E. S., and a constant attendant and active worker in the Congregational church and Ladies' Aid society. She gave the influence of a great-hearted and noble woman, a devoted wife and faithful mother to every contact with life by which these wonderful estates are ennobled. Industrious, patient, a champion or right and a challenger of wrong, she set exemplary precepts before all who cared to observe and cherish the best. She is survived by her husband, four daughters, Miss Frances and Miss Charlotte Wadleigh of Union, Mrs. Harry A. Nute of Farmington and Mrs. Edwina Wadleigh of Lynn, Mass., and four grandchildren, Joseph Wadleigh of Lynn, Eugene, Charlotte and Rhoda Nute of Farmington. Funeral services will be held from the home in Union at two o'clock Saturday afternoon, with Rev. Newton, pastor of the Congregational church of Newton officiating, and remains will be taken to Pine Hill cemetery for interment, with committal services performed by Rev. Newton.

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY OF MR. AND MRS. A. E. TUTTLE

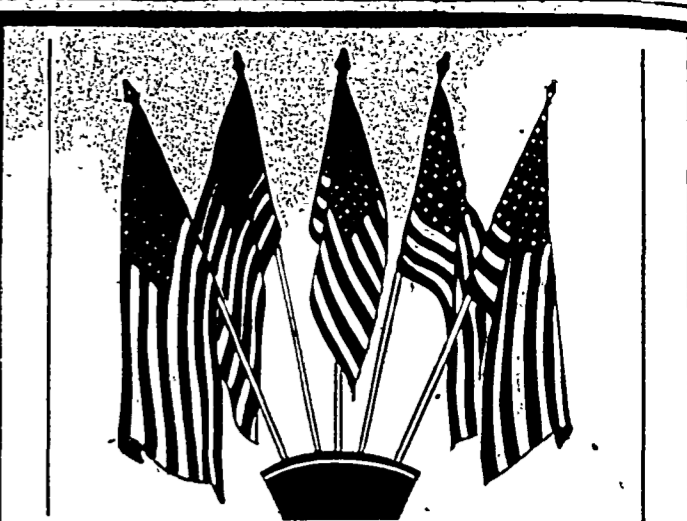

The distinction that comes from 60 years of happily wedded and successful married lives is the honor that time has bestowed upon Mr. and Mrs. Allison E. Tuttle, who observed their 50th wedding anniversary at their home on Monday, June 30. The fact that there were no planned ceremonies precluded the public and a host of friends from paying tributes that were eminently due the occasion. However, their children were determined that the noteworthy event should at least be recorded in the family annals with a reunion, hence the presence of their two sons, G. A. Tuttle of Watertown, Mass., and Eugene Tuttle of Providence, R. I., with their families. While no ceremony was indulged in, many tokens of kindred affection were bestowed upon Mr. and Mrs. Tuttle and among other reminders of the event were many letters and cards and the gift of the customary fifty dollars in gold. Mr. and Mrs. Tuttle were married in Lewiston, Me., June 30, 1880, and for many years Mr. Tuttle served the teaching profession as a high school principal, his last office in that capacity having been the administration of the Bellows Falls, Vt., high school, from which he retired about five years ago to inhabit his ancestral home on Central street. Since his return to Farmington he has localized his active and influential interest in public affairs, most of his noteworthy undertakings having been connected with public building boards, matters of the schools and representative to the general court during the last two terms. In every phase of success that has come to these good people during their 50 years of married life they have shared with mutual sympathy and understanding and their reward is retirement and the unspilled respect and friendship of their fellow citizens.

"THE FLYING YANKEE"

A green and gold locomotive, re-splendent with nickel-plated cylinder heads and carrying a brass plate reading "The Flying Yankee" at her front, will, some time this week, add to the distinctiveness of the Boston & Maine railroad's crack, non-stop express as it races through Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Maine on its daily run in both directions between Boston and Portland.

The "Flying Yankee," hauled by a locomotive painted in the conventional black has, since April 28, 1929, been making a daily run that has brought the train to the fore among the fastest in the country, averaging 51 miles an hour on its entire trip.

The newly named locomotive, on which two tones of green, broken by the gold stripes and shining nickel, replace the sombre black, will be seen at various points on the Boston & Maine system during the next few days, as she is broken in during preliminary runs prior to taking up the more strenuous task of hauling the steel Pullmans and coaches of the "Flying Yankee" over the 114 1/2 miles between Boston and Portland in the fast time of two hours and 15 minutes.

The buff and blue of the locomotives "Paul Revere" and "William Dawes, Jr.," which haul the "Minute Man," Chicago express of the Boston & Maine, pale in comparison with the new motive power of the "Flying Yankee."

The upper part of its great boiler jacket, surmounted by the steel dome and sand dome, steel turrets and the locomotive bell, is painted a green, matching the grass on New England's hills. Below that, the running gear is a darker green, the color of the pines. Both are striped with gold. A stripe of gold marks the running board the entire length of the engine, and the tender, painted the darker green, bears the Boston & Maine railroad insignia in gold. The wheels are tinged with silver paint. Below the cab window also in letters of gold, is painted "The Flying Yankee."

Stone Carving Thought to Be of Bronze Age

On a hill near Afling, in Bornholm, Denmark, a large block of stone carvings has been found on the face of the rock, which, it is thought, belongs to the Bronze age. The carvings are made with flint, and show a vessel about forty-three inches in length, with a smaller one above it. The date is supposed to be from 1000 to 500 B. C.

There will be difficulty in removing the stone, as the ground is at present a quarry, but it is proposed to divide it into parts and remove it to the Zoone museum garden. Rocks of the Iron age have been found in parts of Denmark, but this is the largest one yet found of the Bronze age, in that country.

English colts have also been plowed up in Denmark and Germany recently. The colts are about 1,000 years old, and are from the reign of Sven Estridson of Denmark, Canute the Great, Hardeknute and Magnus the Good. These consist of pennies, with the names, Amos and Alzig, and the arms of Lord, Breter and Roskilde (cathedral on one side, the other having the figurehead—Philadelphia Inquirer).

THE STORY OF FARMINGTON

The public library dates back to 1853, when a group of prominent men united in forming the Social Library Association. The library grew consistently for many years until it suffered loss by fire while located in the opera house. It recovered from this disaster through the generosity of many friends and the ambition of the association and others interested. At the time of the dedication of the beautiful new building on Main street, made possible through the gift of the late George H. Goodwin, there were books, periodicals and other material sufficient to equip the library in a manner of which to be proud.

The high school, grown naturally from the building of the first schoolhouse in town in 1791, was organized in the "Attica," with Dr. Henry R. Parker the first principal. The original building has been altered recently to conform with the educational requirements of the present day.
