On awakening next Sunday morning, the people of the United States, universally, will be enjoying the standard schedule of time and the country again will be cooperating with the clock instead of rushing about madly with a railroad timetable in one hand, a watch in the other and an uncertain idea of "what to do and when to do it" in the mind.

A PROCLAMATION ON ARMISTICE DAY

Two years ago on the 11th of November, a cessation of the most stupendous war in the world's history brought joy to millions of people in Europe and America. The nation which had waged hostilities against the forces of civilization with a ferocity unsurpassed in the annals of warfare acknowledged defeat and laid down its arms before the armies of liberty. The part played in that glorious event is inevitably recalled as the anniversary of the armistice comes around it is fitting and proper that the self-sacrifice and devotion of our brave defenders of liberty should be recognized on that day.

Therefore, as governor of the State of New Hampshire, I, John H. Bartlett urge upon all our citizens to hold this day in sacred remembrance. Let the flag of our country for which our blood and treasure was expended without stint, be displayed prominently on Armistice day, November 11, 1920. Let appropriate exercises be held wherever practicable, to pay tribute to those who served so nobly in the great war, to the end that it may not be said that their honorable sacrifices are unrewarded and forgotten, and that this spirit may be inculcated in those who are to carry on the torch of liberty which they kept burning in the world's darkest hours.

Barbless Hooks for Anglers. A very commendable movement is under way among members of the Megantic club, and probably other sporting clubs, for the use of the barbless hook. The idea is that true sportsmanship consists in giving the members of the "finny tribe" a fair chance for life and escape, and that to catch a fish with a barbless hook is more creditable than to use the old-fashioned barb. When trout or salmon are caught with a barbed hook, they are apt to be seriously injured, and even if thrown back into the water do not recover, in many cases. Whereas, if the barbless hook is used, as now advocated, they are, if returned to the water, in almost all instances revived and may be caught over and over again. This is true sportsmanship, and it is to be hoped that the barbless hook movement will succeed.—Boston Post.

Army Has New "Eyes."

Army engineers are said to have developed a new type of searchlight, mounted on a rubber-tired trailer that can be pulled great distances by a motor truck which promises to be a great aid in anti-aircraft operations. It is a 60-inch light of the "dishpan" type yet weighs but 700 pounds as against the old light of this size, which weighed 6,000 pounds. The cost of the new light also has been reduced, being about a quarter of the cost of the first light, which had a glass mirror that was not only very heavy but also difficult to manufacture. The new light has a mirror of metal with a backing of reinforced concrete. This construction is said to promise excellent results.

Deer Become Nuisance.

Hazleton, Pa.—State troopers were notified here recently that deer have become a real nuisance in the vicinity of Wetherly and other Carbon county towns and that they are destroying the crops of farmers. The animals are no longer a curiosity to the people of that section and graze in the fields with impunity. They have a peculiar liking for vegetables and come close to farm houses.

AVENGE ESSAD PASHA

"Blood Brother" Is Ready to Keep His Oath.

Gambling Incident With Slain Albanian Cemented Friendship Long Ago.

Paris.—Vengeance for the assassination of Essad Pasha, head of the Albanian delegation here, is being quietly awaited by a "blood brother" of the Balkan leader, according to a circumstantial story by a French writer, published by the Excelsior.

This man, now rich and influential in France, the story goes, was one of several poor young men who 80 years ago met Essad Pasha, then known as the "Black Dagger of Abdul Hamid," in Constantinople, when he crowded into a card game and insisted upon playing with them. Fearing Essad Pasha, they protested they were too poor to play with him, but he insisted, emphasizing it by placing his revolver on the table as a threat.

To meet this, the "blood brother" put down his dagger, poisoned, he said. Essad Pasha showed his surprise, then his pleasure.

"Young man," he exclaimed, "this is the first time anyone has dared defy me. Men like you are rarer than diamonds. Essad Pasha took his own dagger, opened a vein in his wrist and also in that of the young man, each sucked a few drops of blood from the other and they became "blood brothers," according to Albanian customs, sworn to avenge each other's deaths.

"I am ready," this "brother" now is quoted as saying, "to keep my oath, but I have confidence that French courts will make it unnecessary for me to interfere."

Rustem Aveni, arrested on the spot for shooting down Essad Pasha as the latter was entering his automobile in the downtown district recently, is awaiting trial. He was a student who posed as the avenger of Albanian's wrongs.

HALLOWEEN PARTY

Mrs. Frank I. Whitehouse gave an elaborate Halloween party to her little daughter Dorothy at her home on Orange street last Wednesday evening. Twelve small guests were present at the frolic and upon their arrival were met at the door by weird, moving witches. The rooms were lighted only with the dim rays of witch and bat shaded candles and jack-o'-lanterns which diffused a mysterious glow over the scene. The rooms were decorated with all the suggestive art of the season and in a dark corner a witch told fortunes. Games and Halloween stunts kept the children merry until a late hour when the dining room claimed the entire attention of the merry troupe. The table was a most unique arrangement of dainty and suggestive odibles and ingenious decorations and place cards. It was one of the most delightful little parties staged here in a long time and the little hostess and her guests, as well as the elders who were in attendance, enjoyed the affair to the limit.

SPAULDING IN SUPPORT OF SENATOR MOSES

The Manchester Union published this Thursday morning contains an article, relative to a letter received this week from Huntley N. Spaulding, the content of which is as follows:

"Because of various conflicting statements, all of them unauthorized, which have lately come to my attention relative to my attitude on the election of a United States senator from New Hampshire, I ask permission through this letter, which you may make public, to define once for all my position on that subject.

"If supposed I had made this perfectly clear both during the primary contest for the nomination and since its result was known, I repeat, however, what I have frequently said, that as a republican I shall support Senator Moses for re-election, just as I shall support Senator Harding and the rest of the ticket.

"My views on the subject of a League of Nations have not changed and are not likely to change, but the League controversy is not the only question to be considered by the voters at the forthcoming election. As Mr. Hoover concisely and forcefully puts it, 'The solemn referendum is not on the League; it is on the failure of the democratic party.' Furthermore, I believe with the 31 eminent supporters of the League idea whose views have recently been published that the inclusion of the United States in a workable association of nations is more apt to result from the election of the republican candidate than from a democratic victory."

SCHOOL NOTES

The county Y. M. C. A. secretary gave a talk at the high school building, Wednesday evening, to all boys over fifteen who are interested in having a Y. M. C. A. class in this community. A "goodly" number of the boys were present and after the talk by the secretary an organization was attempted with the election of the following officers: Fred Chesley, president; Albert Davis, vice president; Ralph Nutter, treasurer; Gordon Kimball, secretary; A. R. Foley, leader.

Defeat is anticipated for the local football squad, which will play against Rochester next Saturday afternoon at Cold Spring park, but it doubtless will be a very interesting game, played on the square. Be sure to remember the senior Halloween party this Thursday evening. Everybody come prepared to visit all the side shows and take home a bag of loot.

STRAND THEATRE OPENS

For some two weeks movie programs have been suspended at the Strand theatre, during which time this popular playhouse, formerly the Olympia, has been undergoing quite extensive repairs and improvements. Chief among them are the repainting of the exterior and interior of the theatre and the new decorations of the curtain and stage alcove. Everything is fresh and pleasing to the eye. It is one of the best little theatres in southern New Hampshire that the Strand will offer to the public on Saturday at its opening performance at 2:30 p. m. The reels have been carefully selected for the occasion and both the afternoon and evening programs should be of the highest order.

Motor Buses to Holy Land.

"The Hamallah company of Jerusalem and New York," says Shipping, "recently shipped several motorbuses fitted with special omnibus bodies to accommodate 25 passengers, the first of their kind ever sent to Palestine." So the holy city will soon begin to look like Fifth avenue! The day of the camel is passing, remarks the Outlook.

MEMORY LOST FOR 25 YEARS

Mind Restored, Indiana Man Is Now Seeking Wife Who Has Remarried.

Terre Haute, Ind.—Alexander Bell's memory has been restored to him after a lapse of twenty-five years. The man formerly lived in Tell City, Ind. Out in Haskell, Okla., the quiet routine of Mrs. A. R. Barr's life has been interrupted. She finds herself the wife of two men. Twenty-five years ago Alexander Bell left Tell City, Ind., to visit his brother at Chattanooga, Tenn. He found his brother had moved to this county, so the visitor set out through the woods to seek him. Nothing was heard from that time until he returned here recently.

After Mr. Bell's disappearance his wife went on with their general merchandise business. Detectives in many states and the man's two sons searched the country for him. Later they searched South America, Cuba and Europe personally. Mrs. Bell followed a daughter to Oklahoma, met Mr. Barr and married him.

Mr. Bell can remember nothing of his life for the last twenty-five years. Following a spinal adjustment his memory returned and he began a search for his family. Because of poor health Mr. Bell has not been told of his wife's second marriage.

Reduced Rates.

A little girl who was in the habit of bringing ten cents to Sunday school, heard the superintendent say that each child in her department had been apportioned six cents a Sunday for the centenary. Upon reaching home she ran to her mother and said: "Mother, Mr. M. says we needn't bring but six cents to Sunday school now. You know, that's five cents for Sunday school and the war tax."—Zion's Herald.
