

The contents of this booklet consists of all the known Burial lots visited by Wilfred Osgood during the period of 1970 through 1983.

The names are listed alphabetically, followed by numbers and letters which refer to the map at the rear of this booklet. The map is divided across by numbers and down the sides by letters forming squares. Within each square each burial lot is numbered.

To locate the burial lots and stones of any given family, find the family name in the front index. Following each family name are numbers and letters referring to the map. For example, the Canney family has lots and stones in several locations. One of these, identified as IC2, indicates that this particular lot is located in Section I, level C, #2 in the IC square.

In addition the Canney IC2 identification in the index refers to the page numbers on which more specific information may be found. The pages are arranged in alphabetical order, preceded by the number of the square.

LOCATION:

Off the Meaderboro Road on the Farmington-New Durham town line. Follow the stone wall, on west side of the highway. The remains of a barbed wire fence, caught in some large trees, to another piece of stone wall. On the south side approximately twenty feet is a burial lot. This lot is approximately fourteen feet by eight feet. It is thought to be the burial ground of LEVI HAYES. It has seven unmarked stones. The lot is enclosed with granite posts and iron rods.

LOCATION:

Westerly side of Meaderboro road south of the Farmington-New Durham town line.

Go to the Farmington-New Durham town line, then south toward Farmington, at the first stone wall on the right hand side, or westerly side of the road, follow that wall perpendicular to the road until that wall joins a wall running southerly. Follow southerly wall until there is a walled in area.

A precious one from us is gone
A voice we loved is stilled
A place is vacant in our home
Which never can be filled
God in his wisdom has recalled
The boon his love has given
And though the body slumbers here
The soul is safe in heaven

CHARLES H. PEAVEY

LOCATION:

This is a single grave burial lot several hundred feet up Hussey Mountain, in back of the former John Canney place, now the property of the Swift Water Girl Scouts. This is a iron fenced in area about the size of a casket. The stone is marked with only the name PEAVEY.

According to tradition, CHARLES H. PEAVEY lived with the John Canney household and was treated as a member of the family. His full name is given in the John Canney estate papers at the Strafford County Court House. Since he was considered as a member of the family, he was given the option of being buried in the Canney family burial lot. However, according to tradition, there was this area where the side of the mountain leveled off and which he used as his "Quiet Place" during his lifetime. When the days farm work was over, ne retreated here to be alone with his thoughts and where he could watch the sun setting over Blue Job to the West. He allegedly had remarked that since he had spent so many pleasant hours in this particular location, he would like it to be his final resting place.

His wishes were honored.

JOHN CANNEY

LOCATION:

On the Swift Water Girl Scout Camp property just a few yards beyond a cleared area, on the old road, by a Girl Scout Camp. This is in a stone walled area.

There are at least three other grave marked only by flat field stones.

LOCATION: On the east side of the Chestnut Hill Road, that is between a stone wall and a power line that is just north of the second house, north of Woodland road. About one hundred feet in from the road is a mound of high ground. In the year 1972 there was one stone marked I H and another with the date of 1828 and a foot stone. In 1983 there is a stone about three feet high and two feet wide marked I H and below 1828. There is also an unmarked stone and a foot stone F H. The area is grown up with bushes and brush.

The markings have been cut into the stone since the early visit.

Right of way to Private Graveyards

Any person wishing to have a temporary right of entry over private land in order to enter a private graveyard enclosure to which there is no public right of way, may apply in writing to the selectmen of a town, stating the reason for such a request and the period of time for which such right is to be exercised. Said applicant shall also notify in writing the owner or occupier of the land over which the right of way is desired. The selectmen may in the exercise of discretion, issue a permit for such temporary right of entry designating the particular place where said land may be crossed. The owner or occupier of said land may recommend said place of crossing which, if reasonable, shall be the place so designated by the selectmen or mayor.

GOODWIN LIBRARY

INDEX TO CEMETERY DATA IN

FAMILY HOMESTEAD CEMETERIES OF FARMINGTON, NH

Some of the entries for women list both the maiden name and the married name. In these cases, there are two entries. One lists the married name first, followed by the first name and the maiden name. (Smith, Betty Jones). The second lists the maiden name, followed by the married name, then the first name (Jones Smith, Betty). When a man is a Junior, the "Jr." is placed after his first name in order that the entry sorts with the last name, then the first name, rather than last name, then "Jr.", then first name. Dates are entered here in order to help differentiate between people with the same names. However, dates should be used from the volume, not from this index, to preclude errors on the transcriber's part.

If no date is listed in the reference volume, "???" is inserted in this index to indicate that the date was not left out as an oversight. In some cases an age is listed but one date, either of birth or death, is missing. In these cases, the missing date has been entered by adding or subtracting the age to the date listed. Such date listings are followed by the letter "e" for "estimated", to indicate that the date may be off by one year. In the event the age and one of the years is missing, the missing year is indicated by "???" since, without an age, the missing date cannot be estimated.

Note: This index was created from a copy in the Rochester Public Library. Pages 26, 27, and 28 are missing from that copy. Hence, the entries thereon are not included in this index.

Note A: The entry reads "died Nov. 2, 1883/AE 84 yrs...". In parentheses is added "(born May 16, 1779)". It is assumed this is a typographical error and is more probably 1799. This latter date is used in this index listing.

Note B: The entry does not specifically say the deceased's last name is Emerson. Rather it is inferred as it appears between two Emerson entries.

Note C: The date listed in this entry reads 1943. It should be 1843.
