*Resigned

We, the Selectmen of Farmington, herewith submit our annual report for the year 1964, for your consideration .

We would first like to call your attention to the financial report. Our surplus this year is $4,265.37. After the expenditure of $5,000.00 for a used truck, with the approval of the Budget Committee, gives us an overall increase of $1,267.19 this year.

The appropriation for summer maintenance was used to continue the re-surfacing of streets, and improvements of roads in various sections of town. A big improvement was the new bridge which was built on the River Road and should give us many years of service.

The money from T R A was used to complete the Tebbetts Hill Road from the Waldron Bridge to the New Durham line. This money will be used in another section of town this year to further improve our roads.

Under the Welfare Department we have once again found it necessary to ask for an increase in the appropriation, welfare seems to increase each year especially the Old Age Assistance.

With money from the Parking Meter Reserve fund we continued repair of sidewalks and gutters. With the monies from this fund this year we again recommend the continuation of this work in other sections of town.

We wish to extend our sincere appreciation for the fairness and understanding which the townspeople have shown us this year and sincerely hope that our efforts have resulted in benefits to the town.

Respectfully submitted,
Fred O. Tebbetts
Carroll H. Kimball
Chester Glidden

FIRE WARDEN REPORT

REPORT OF THE FOREST FIRE WARDEN AND YOUR DISTRICT CHIEF

The 1964 forest fire season surpassed the record year of 1963 in both length and severity. For the second successive year, we experienced a rainfall deficiency of more than ten inches and the compounding of such drought conditions, together with the many days of strong, dry winds, characterized 1964 as one of the most hazardous years in the past half century. Although our fire season was three weeks longer than that of 1963, the number of fires showed only a slight increase and more remarkable was the fact that the area burned dropped from 2280 acres in 1963 to 900 acres in 1964. Early detection and rapid response kept many potential fire disasters from becoming reality. We all owe a debt of gratitude to the men in this community who responded and fought our fires so efficiently. Our state is now 86% wooded and its economy—both industrial and recreational—is greatly dependent on this forest resource. The responsibility for adequate fire protection of this great area—4,350,000 acres—is everyone's responsibility and prevention is one of our most effective tools.

Prevention is good common sense.

1. Take your rubbish to the town dump. If you must burn, obtain a permit and watch your fire until it is dead out.
2. Instruct your children in fire safety. Keep matches from young children. Explain to them the dangers of lighting matches and making outdoor fires.
3. Be sure discarded smoking material and matches are out.

A major portion of our preventable fires this year are chargeable to three causes: (1) permit fires allowed to escape; (2) children playing with matches; and (3) smokers. Let's be mindful of the fact that all such fires endanger property and lives.

We wish to thank you for your very fine cooperation during the past fire season and with your continued cooperation we are confident that we can improve our fire record in 1965.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

To the School Board and Citizens of Farmington:

The task ahead of the public schools in scope, program, quality, and sheer added numbers calls for a financial effort as magnificent as is our ideal. Immediate steps are demanded for holding excellence where it now exists and for hurriedly closing the gap where it is lacking.

Although certain values, certain knowledge, certain skills are constant, education like our society must change. The educational program of today should be different from that of yesterday, and today's will prove inadequate tomorrow. Public schooling in the United States has had the essential quality of flexibility in the past. This characteristic is imperative for the future. Where the schools are headed is more important than where they have been.

School board members should be sensitive to the desires, aspirations, and judgments of the people, recognizing that after all the conversation, comments, commendations, and complaints have been heard, they themselves must ultimately serve as umpire and resolve the arguments because it is their legal responsibility.

As legally selected representatives of the general public, school boards are obligated to take leadership to provide ever-improved educational programs and better facilities for learning.

The professional staff has a clear responsibility to give objective information to boards of education and to the public relative to the degree to which the purposes of education are being achieved and to acquaint them with the methods and procedure used.

The public schools are public ventures and will be supported to the degree the public understands their role and sees their dividends to society. Greater financial support seems imperative in the immediate future. This the public should know.

Parents have a partnership with the professional staff of the public schools, and the helpful role of each should be understood by each.

Pupils, when given a reasonable chance, will take responsibilities for study and learning; and, when given opportunity, will reveal what they know and what they don't know. This is basic to good instruction.

Children and youth will fail only if the adults first fail them.

In conclusion, may I say that during my nine and half years as your superintendent, many changes have occurred. Because of these changes I am all the more appreciative of the constant cooperation given me by the school board, citizens, teachers, and students of this community.

Respectfully submitted,
Ramon Martineau
Superintendent of Schools
Bruce L. Smith

REPORT OF PRINCIPAL

To the Superintendent of Schools:

The undersigned herewith submits his report for the period from January 28, 1964 to January 25, 1965.

The enrollment in grades eight through twelve was 268 pupils on January 27. In the period to September 9, when the present school year began, there had been 13 pupil transfers to other schools: 13 pupils had left school; and 3 new pupils had been enrolled. (Part of this total occurred during the summer recess when 10 pupils transferred to other schools, and 6 pupils decided not to return to school). The enrollment at the end of the school year, in June, was 261. Since September 9, when 288 pupils registered, 2 pupils have transferred to other schools, 5 have left school; and 10 have been enrolled since school began. The total enrollment is now 291, plus one post graduate student attending on a part time basis. With the trend toward an ever increasing enrollment continuing, the possibility of the present school housing reaching capacity in the very near future should be noted in making plans for Farmington High School.

In June of 1964, forty pupils were graduated from Farmington High School. Of this total, fourteen elected to continue their educations in colleges, technical schools, business schools, nursing schools, and in other institutions; four entered the armed forces; two became housewives; eighteen were employed; and two were at home. It is understood that this is the largest class ever to graduate from Farmington High, but the next two classes scheduled for graduation promise to be even larger.

There has been a number of changes within the curricula effected this year. The courses in psychology and economics have been made alternating, one semester courses to permit more students to take advantage of these offerings without increasing staff size or purchasing additional textbooks. The capacity of these subjects was doubled by doing so. The first year biology course has been made mandatory for all entering freshmen in order that the graduation requirement of one science unit be met, and to comply with the legislative requirement concerning alcohol education. An advanced biology course has been added for those pupils who wish more preparation in this area, and, in general, is open to sophomores with good grades in biology. The course in earth science has been retained for those students who wish to acquire a broader science background, or who have been unable to succeed in the biology program. The general mathematics program is being strengthened by phasing out of the old review type of mathematics and substituting a new sequence. Those freshmen who are not planning for a college preparatory mathematics program, and who find difficulty in achieving success in mathematics, will have available to them a program better suited to their needs. This will meet the graduation requirement of one unit in mathematics. This course will be expanded to a two year sequence, should sufficient demand develop, which would be the approximate equivalent of one year of algebra, should both the first and second year courses be completed. This plan is recommended by the current thought of mathematics authorities. The industrial arts offerings have been improved by making available to boys not interested in a post graduate academic training, a four year sequence of courses by adding mechanical drawing and sheet metal as subjects. The shop program is still heavily weighted toward woodworking, however. The district might consider substituting a course in electricity, welding, small internal combustion engines, or the like, for the second of the woodworking courses. This would provide an exploratory experience of more practicality for the local area. The home economics program has been strengthened by limiting the program to girls, and by offering a three year sequence of courses for them. A fourth course, for those girls who have not had an opportunity in this area, has been opened to senior girls, especially those who have been occupied with the college preparatory or business programs.

The improvement in the high school library has been marked by an increase in books and equipment, both by purchase and by gifts. The book collection is approaching the point where the school library will meet the state requirement in regard to the number of volumes. The problem now is to be sure that the collection is properly balanced. That is, that a sufficient number of volumes be acquired to represent adequately the ten major divisions of knowledge as recommended by the minimum requirements. A further danger would be the failure to keep the collection up to date. As there are changes in styles, and in knowledge, books representing these changes should be acquired, and those which have become obsolete should be discarded. Each high school student is required to take a course in the use of libraries, applicable not only to the school library, but to other libraries as well. To accomplish this, each student is assigned to the library for one period per week. The library has become a most effective part of the school system, and of great value to students and faculty alike.

The students have available to them a very limited educational guidance program. It is recommended that this program be expanded to the point where it would meet the minimum requirements of all high school students. However, in order to do this, it would be necessary to add a faculty member to the staff. This is due to the anticipated increase in enrollment for the 1965-1966 school year, and the belief that it is the desire of the district to maintain its present standards of pupil-teacher ratios and subject offerings. If the district chooses not to have a guidance program, it would not need this addition to the staff, as guidance could be abandoned. The writer does not endorse this move, as a properly conducted guidance program is of great value to the student, both in his making wise choices while in school, and the effect these choices have on the individual's future well being and happiness. (This is especially true with the college bound, who are finding an ever greater competition for space in colleges very difficult to meet successfully). These, in turn, would reflect the value they received in the local community by making these citizens better able to benefit that community.

The students have open to their use a fairly large number of co - curricula activities. These include the athletic teams, the Science Club, Math Club, Dramatics Club, and the class organizations. The Booster Club is a new organization this year, striving to develop school spirit and encourage the basketball team and cheerleaders by its vocal support. The Student Council is maintaining its control of the student driving program, as well as attempting to foster better school spirit. These co-curricula groups have been quite active, and have helped to maintain the interest of the students in the school.

The school has had a large turnover in its staff during the past school year. Fortunately, the replacements have turned out well as a whole, being most cooperative and willing to work to become good teachers. Credit is due to the veteran teachers that have remained in Farmington and have been of considerable assistance to the novices; and who have been quite effective in providing the necessary continuity any school must have.

The building has remained in good condition, and requires no more than the usual precautions necessary to preserve the district's investment. Additional furniture will be required for the coming school year as the number of students is expected to increase. It might be wise to consider the necessity for additional classroom space in the future as projected enrollment continues its upward trend. The district would be wise to provide a financial program to take care of special maintenance, such as cleaning septic tanks, repairing heating equipment, and the like. One never knows when these sorts of items will suddenly need attention, and the failure of either could prove hazardous to the health of the pupils. In passing, it is noted that parts of the building, such as the auditorium, have been used by local organizations a total of sixty different times during the past year, and that the building provided space for an extension course that was conducted by the University of New Hampshire.

In closing the writer would like to express his appreciation of the fine cooperation he has received from the Farmington School Board, the Superintendent of Schools, fellow principals, faculty and staff, and from the pupils and their parents.

MAIN STREET SCHOOL ELEMENTARY PRINCIPAL'S REPORT

Improvements To Instructional Program

Our most important, and hopefully our most significant, new undertaking this year reflected our desire to seek out more effective and more enriching methods of instructional technique. In considering possible means by which to realize our goal, it was decided that two key innovations would be adopted, using the fifth grade as the trial group.

One of these innovations represents a basic departure from traditional concepts of class organization in local elementary schools, i.e. - the use of departmentalization in lieu of the traditional self-contained classroom concept. In an effort to effect a smooth transition from a familiar to a novel instructional system, and to guard against an undue complete reliance in an untested system, only part of the day has been organized on a departmentalized basis, with the remainder devoted to the traditional self-contained classroom principle.

In this way we hoped to combine the major advantages of both systems and ameliorate the intrinsic weaknesses of each. Thus each specialist teacher's increased study and attention to her major subject produces benefits to the pupils in broader insights and improved techniques of instruction through the auspices of departmentalization, while, at the same time, during the part of the day devoted to the traditional manner, the increased security and correlation of concepts that should be its benefits result. Also, the use of both methods precludes the possible lack of close student - teacher relationships which complete departmentalization might encourage, but, similarly, discourages the passive or static thought that association with only one teacher might tend to foster.

To date the teachers involved feel that the experiment has been successful and that the arrangement has proven more desirable than the system it replaced.

The other innovation is not new, but a re-adoption of a formerly used technique, i.e. -homogeneous grouping. This system of pupil grouping lends itself very well to departmentalization of instruction. Therefore, during that part of the day when instruction is offered on a departmentalized basis, homogeneous grouping is in use, while during the remainder of the day, when the self-contained classroom concept prevails, heterogeneous grouping is the pattern.

Improvements of Instructional Materials

Our efforts to increase the quality and utility of our materials of instruction have, naturally, continued pace. We concentrated our efforts here in the area of science, that former step-sister of the elementary curriculum. Lamentably, we had not procured nearly enough of the necessary instructional materials to raise that subject from the menial position it had for so long occupied in the elementary curriculum, even though some years have passed since the estimation of its value in the education of children has been greatly elevated. By the purchase of new science texts for the fifth, sixth and seventh grades, both the nature and the quality of our science instruction have been considerably advanced. Preparations have also been made for the purchase of a film-strip projector and film series whose salutary effects will be felt primarily in this area. Some small additional investment will be necessary to consummate a well developed science program.

In our continually developing insight into the role of reading as the key, the vital, the fundamental, the indispensable essential for success both in the formal education of school, and, fully as important if not more so, the informal education, the self-education, of later life, we try never to fail to extend a major share of our effort to the field of reading.

Our efforts here have included: 1-the continued development of our school library, using both school - budget funds and funds raised through our own efforts; 2- an introduction into our reading classes of material specifically designed to develop the vital skills associated with the application of critical reasoning and interpretation to written material, which is, after all, the highest and most valuable function of reading: 3- the purchase of a second basal reader for our fifth grade reading groups where the advent of departmentalization admits to the functional application of such varied supplementary materials; 4- an intensified effort extended to those of our pupils who have major reading problems by increasing the amount of time and attention devoted to them via individualized instruction, through the offices of our remedial reading instructor, Mrs. Haskell.

It has perhaps been true that, in our anxious desire to develop in our pupils competency in the mechanics of reading, we have lost sight of the fact that this is simply a tool, albeit a key one, with which we hope to cultivate the more vital, the more elevating skills inherent to the basis nature of reading; or, stated another way, we have tended to consider, unintentionally, I feel, that competency in the mechanics of reading is our goal, our end, while in fact it is rather a first step, a means, to a considerably more important end. With this in mind, much of our recent effort has been at least partially designed to reorient our thinking so as to bring it in line with the more realistic goals of reading instruction. In this regard our library helps by fostering intellectual curiosity through presenting broad areas of interest and experience, which at the same time help to develop certain desirable standards of taste and judgement. Similarly, habits of independent thought, careful and critical analysis of information, and healthy scepticism (attributes so essential but so often lacking in today's world) are fostered by our use of special materials for reading with thought. These newly developing features of our program now supplement our basic classroom instruction and the specialized individual help offered by Mrs. Haskell.

Finally, in this area, one set each of sixth grade social studies texts and seventh grade math texts were purchased as replacement items, though it should be noted that the quality of these replacements exceeds that of the original materials.

Improvements To The Plan

In the realm of improvement of the physical plant, besides the normal maintenance features carried out each year, three special items merit mention. Our program of enclosing our playground with a highly functional and esthetic chain link fence has been consummated with the installation of same on the southeast side. Our vocal and instrumental music room was refurbished after having suffered some weather damage. And initial steps, including primarily the installation of larger mains, have been taken to accommodate the convenient replacement of our ancient basement facilities with more modern and less wasteful equipment.

|         | Total, Grade 4 | 75        |
|         | Grand Total    | 339       |

The 1963 September enrollment was 337. However our enrollment has shown a steady increase. It is now 350 and our total registration to date for this year is 357.

Memorial Drive School has ten regular classrooms. With eleven necessary divisions of the four grades, one division must not number more than twenty, that it may be accommodated in a small room.

The following changes were made in the teaching staff this year. Mrs. King, who retired after many years of valuable service, was replaced by Mrs. Larow. Mrs. Larow previously taught one of the fourth grades. Mrs. Ellamarie Carr replaced Mrs. Collins in grade 4 and Mrs. Jo Ann Warren took over Mrs. Parkinson's assignment in grade 2. Mrs. Nancy Jones was assigned to the new division of grade 3.

Mrs. Dorothy Bassett and Mr. Julian Leach continue their work in vocal instruction and instrumental music.

Changes have been made this year in our reading program, which are explained in the report of Mrs. Haskell, our reading coordinator.

We hope to institute a new math program in grades 1, 2 and 3 next September.

A well equipped science cabinet was added to our equipment and is proving to be most helpful in the teaching of this subject.

We are very grateful to the Woman's Club for the gift of an overhead projector.

Our "intercom" system is proving its worth every day.

Hot Lunch still continues to be popular with the primary grades. Although there is no Future Teachers Club this year, the high school students continue to give us valued help this period, and, in connection with this, I wish to express our thanks to Mr. Morgan and the high school students for their cooperation in so many ways.

READING CONSULTANT'S REPORT

To the Superintendent of Schools:

In Sept. 1964, 244 pupils in grades 5, 6, 7 were tested in ability to recognize words at sight. Results are as follows; those who were 1 1/2 or more years retarded in this skill by grades—Grade 7, 18%; Grade 6, 24%; Grade 5, 34%. Many children in grade 7 had been given individual help in varying amounts while in grades 5 and 6. Some of the 6th graders had received help while in Grade 5. None of the 5th graders had received individual help.

The remedial help for the first half year has been concentrated on the pupils in grades 6 and 7 who are still in need of help. An attempt has been made to get them as near grade level as possible or to the limit of their ability. The rest of available time has been spent with some 5th graders and more of these are added as time permits.

Grade 5 was divided into 4 reading groups according to ability and are given class instruction at a challenging achievement level, rather than at frustration level. We presently have four groups reading at four different levels.

We know that all children can not read at grade level and that some will never be able to but an attempt is made to get them as far as possible.

In Dec. grade 4 was checked and found to be needing more help than a regular classroom teacher has time for. This grade was then divided into 4 sections with each teacher taking two of the groups. Letters and word lists were sent home to parents who have been assisting with drill work. Time was set aside three afternoons a week when team teaching was put into effect. "Johnnie, who reads extremely well, helps Mary, who doesn't read well." "High school girls come in on free periods and assist with individual children. Once a week each child is checked individually on his progress. In the short time this has been in effect, a tremendous improvement has been noted.

In all 1st grades, a new system of reading was introduced, stressing phonics. A pilot group in both grades 2 and 3 was started on the same system. After standard reading tests are given in May, we will have a better idea of whether the new approach improves the child's ability to attack new words. Thus improving his overall reading success.

It is our hope that eventually all children will be reading at least up to their ability.

REPORT OF SCHOOL NURSE

To the Townspeople, School Board and Superintendent of Schools:

The following report is for the school year 1963 to 1964.

The communicable disease incidence was low with a mild epidemic of German measles, four cases of mumps, twenty-one cases of impetigo, three cases of scarlet fever and fourteen cases of hepatitis.

The annoying incidence of pediculosis (head lice) totaled just three cases and parents were notified and the child was treated.

The Chest Mobil Unit was at the Town Hall February 17, 1964 and one-hundred eighty chest plates were taken, six of these were children.

The Orthopedic Clinic was held in Dover, N. H. December 6, 1963 and four children were transported to it.

G. Globulin shots were administered to twenty-five teachers and personnel, October 21, 1963 to help prevent hepatitis.

Two Tetanus Clinics were held, first April 15, 1964 with one-hundred twenty-three children receiving the tetanus shot and the second clinic was held May 27, 1964, with one-hundred twenty-seven children receiving the tetanus shot.

A School Dental Clinic was started in March 1964 and teeth were cleaned, examined and received a fluoride treatment in grades one, two, three and four. Two-hundred fifty-four children took advantage of this dental clinic sponsored by the Farmington Visiting Nurse Association. All parents were notified of any defects and advised to take their children to their family dentist as soon as possible.

The usual health physical examinations were carried out by the school physicians Dr. Robert E. Lord and Dr. George E. Quinn. Four-hundred and ninety-two students were examined and whenever there was an abnormal condition existing in any pupil the parents were notified and advised to consult their family physician. Minor defects were promptly treated.

Vision testing was administered to check defective vision on four - hundred and thirty-one students and hearing tests with the Maico Audiometer were done through-out the school year to help the student, One-hundred and fifty-one children were tested.

No child needs to go with out glasses because financial assistance is available in obtaining proper diagnosis and corrective treatment. This may be arranged through me (school nurse) through various organizations.

The Pre-School Round-Up was held May 4-5-6, 1964 and seventy - eight children were registered at the round-up to start school in September 1964. Each child received a vision test, hearing test, was weighed , measured and teeth were checked and a history was taken on each child

During the school year four-hundred and thirty five schools calls were made by the school nurse in person or by telephone.

One-hundred and thirty-three children were transported home by the school nurse and sixty children were transported to the doctors during the school year 1963 and 1964 by the school nurse.

In concluding this report, it is a privilege to mention the cooperation of the following service organizations and groups who have helped in many ways and many times; Kiwanis Club, Salvation Army, Farmington Women's Club, Ladies Church Service Organizations, American Legion, Elks Club, Rainbow Girls, 500 Boys Club and Legion Ladies Aux.

These groups and organizations are continuously serving and providing suitable clothing, dental and vision aid, food and many things to the children and by doing so, they help to build a better and healthy community.

Following is the statistical report of the school health work for the school year 1963 and 1964.
