

GARY MANSIR

JOHN MILLER

Nov. 11, 1992, age 44

TV production veteran in the wardrobe departments of Columbia Pictures/Sony Studios.

PAUL MORSE

Aug. 7, 1992, age 45

Award-winning composer, lyricist, playwright, and actor who toured with the musical Zorba.

DAVID MUSSELMAN

Sept. 23, 1992, age 38

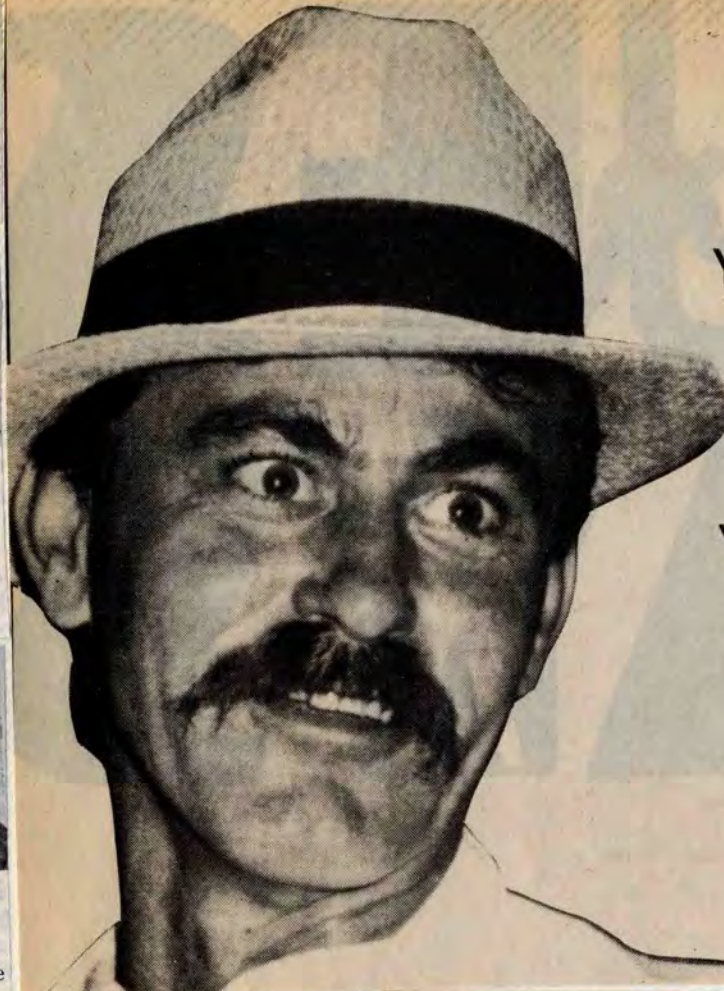

Theatrical production manager whose credits include Les Liaisons Dangereuses and Les Miserables.

RON MILLER

July 9, 1992, age 36

Director of contract administration for the Writers Guild of America West.

You were with us from the beginning

You will be in our hearts forever

Fredrick Mongue, who directed all-male adult films under the name Christopher Rage, died of complications from AIDS April 24 in New York City. He was 42. Mongue's films included Sleaze (1982), Manholes (1985), Fucked Up (1986), and Sex Junkies (1991). Mongue also recorded an album of songs, The Singing Rage, in 1988. 1991

Jimmy Mellen

1926-1992

Remembered laughter,
Remembered pleasure.

Fondly remembered at Playland
18 Oct. 1992

We will miss the pleasure of your company.

Gerald Mallon, a founder of the Philadelphia chapter of the gay civil-rights group Black and White Men Together, died of complications from AIDS Dec. 5 in Philadelphia. He was 39. 91

Michael Marseglia

Former V.P. at Bank of Boston

Michael Marseglia, age 43, a lifelong resident of Boston, died on January 3 from complications due to AIDS.

Michael served in the Navy from 1966 to 1970, after which he worked in the Mutual Funds industry in Boston, a career culminating with his position as a Vice President at the Bank of Boston.

Michael was a man of enormous integrity and generosity of spirit. Michael's greatest gift was an extraordinary capacity to share his heart with not only his family with whom he was very close, but also his extended family of a very large number of extremely close personal friends. Exceptional among these were the participants in his funeral, Eric Sanders, Harold Delaite, Paul Bosworth, Mel Philbrook, George Forrest, Victor Labadini, Edward Hahn, Paul Higgins, Alan Wild, Gene Foglia, Ed Jeffries and Donald Muroski.

His death is a profound loss to all who knew him well and he will be greatly missed.

Michael Marseglia

Donations in Michael's memory can be made to the AIDS ACTION Committee, or, alternatively, to the Multiple Sclerosis National Society.

Freddie Mercury, 45, Lead Singer Of the Rock Band Queen, Is Dead

11-24-91

LONDON, Reuters, Nov. 24 — Freddie Mercury, who as the lead singer of the hard-rock group Queen, died today at his home in Kensington here. He was 45 years old.

He died of bronchopneumonia resulting from AIDS, his publicity agent said.

Mr. Mercury announced on Saturday that he had AIDS.

As the singer and lyricist for Queen, Mr. Mercury helped forge a hugely popular hybrid of hard-rock, pop, heavy-metal, cabaret and a hint of opera. In its mid-1970's heyday, the group created an image of playful decadence while fabricating elaborate studio productions on its albums, overdubbing multiple guitar and vocal lines. Mr. Mercury strutted and preened, by turns campy and almost militaristic, at the center of Queen's stage shows.

A Group's Glory Days

In one of Queen's definitive hits, "Bohemian Rhapsody," Mr. Mercury overdubbed his voice until it became a choir, with words like "Mama mia," "Galileo" and "Figaro" bouncing up and down the octaves. But he also sang dramatic solo vocals in hits like the ballad "We Are the Champions" and the mock-rockabilly song "Crazy Little Thing Called Love."

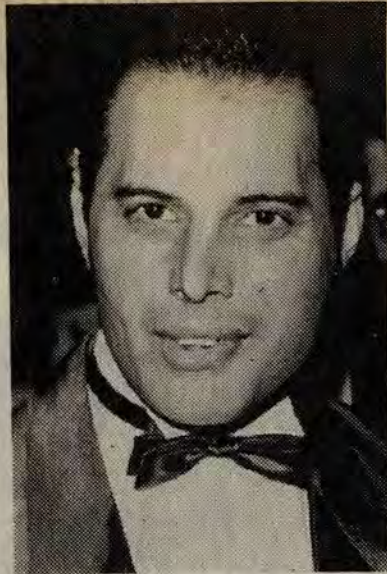

Queen thrived commercially from 1975, when "Killer Queen" appeared, to 1980, when the disco-style "Another One Bites the Dust" reached No. 1 on the pop-singles chart. Although Queen's commercial success waned in the 1980's, it was partly vindicated when the hook from "Under Pressure," its collaboration with David Bowie in 1982, was borrowed by the rapper Vanilla Ice for his hit single "Ice, Ice Baby."

From Zanzibar to the World Stage

He was one of a number of celebrities who had announced that they suffered from AIDS to try to increase the public's awareness of the disease. In a statement on the eve of his death, Mr. Mercury called on his fans around the world to join the fight against AIDS.

OF ART AND AIDS: A self-portrait of artist Robert Mapplethorpe after learning he had AIDS in March 1989.

Agence France-Presse

Freddie Mercury

Mr. Mercury, whose name was originally Frederick Bulsara, was born in Zanzibar, the son of a Government accountant. He rose to fame as the bravura singer for Queen, whose elaborate and occasionally bombastic songs made the group one of the most popular in the 1970's.

In addition to recording with Queen, Mr. Mercury later released solo albums, including "The Great Pretender."

In recent years, he lived a secluded life and resisted responding to persistent rumors that he had AIDS.

After speculating for weeks that Mr. Mercury might have AIDS, British tabloids played up his confirmation that he had the disease.

A private cremation is to be held this week.

Robert A. Martinez

Professor, 49 4/3/92

Dr. Robert Anthony Martinez, an associate professor of black and Hispanic studies at Baruch College, the City University of New York, died on Friday at New York University Medical Center. He was 49 years old and lived in Brooklyn.

A statement from Baruch said his death was AIDS related.

A graduate of City College with a Ph.D. in urban education from Fordham University, Dr. Martinez joined the Baruch faculty in 1972 as an instructor. He was chairman of his department from 1989 until illness forced him to step down early this year. He was also a past chairman of the black and Hispanic caucus at Baruch and the author of many articles on the dual-cultural world of Puerto Ricans living in urban centers of North America.

His companion was Michael Davidson.

Kevin Martin, 25, of Jamaica Plain, computer analyst

12-5-91

Kevin M. Martin of Jamaica Plain, a computer analyst for the Bank of Boston for five years, died Friday at Brigham and Women's Hospital following a lengthy illness. He was 25.

Born in Brookline, he was a 1984 graduate of Don Bosco Technical High School in Boston. 12-6-91

He is survived by his parents, Joseph M. and Nancy M. (Lindblade) of Jamaica Plain; a brother, Brian J. of Cambridge; a sister, Karen A. Raymond of Roslindale; two grandmothers, Aile H. Lindblade of Needham and Margaret J. Kelly of Tewksbury; and best friend, Keith P. Barakos of Bilerica.

A funeral Mass will be celebrated at 11 a.m. tomorrow in Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Jamaica Plain.

MURPHY—Of Weston, April 15, John Diehl Murphy, Jr. Attended Tulane University. Resided in New York City for the past 10 years. Died of complications from AIDS. Son of Mrs. Ann (Sheehan) Murphy and the late John Diehl Murphy. Brother of Mrs. William (Jane) Boling of Needham, Suzanne E. Murphy of Nantucket, Sarah A. Murphy of Wellesley, Jason E. Murphy of Weston, Beth A. Murphy of Wellesley and Peter D. Murphy of Boston. Visiting hours at the Eaton Funeral Home, 1351 Highland Ave., NEEDHAM, on Wednesday 2-4 & 7-9 pm. Relatives & friends are kindly invited. At John's request, there will be no Funeral Services. In lieu of flowers donations in John's memory may be made to the AIDS Action Committee of Boston, 131 Clarendon St., Boston, MA 02116.

MITCHESON—Thomas P., Jr. Died Oct. 23, 1991, of NY, formerly of Boston, Survived by his partner Kenneth Branch. Son of Florence (Peterson) Sharpe of North Reading, the late Thomas P. Sr. Beloved brother of Marie James of North Reading & James M. of Burlington. Memorial Service to be held on November 16th at Metropolitan Duane Methodist Church, New York, NY at 4:00 p.m. Donations in Tom's memory may be made to: PWA Coalition, 31 W.26th St, NY, NY 10010

MEDIN—On Friday, October 29, Edna Butt (Clark) of Newton Centre. Beloved wife of Harry. Loving mother of Robert of Newton, Karen Thompson of Sudbury and Kenneth of Newton. Dear grandmother of Leah, Michael, Romy, Kelly, Eric, Neil and Keary. Sister of the late Samuel Clark. Graveside services were held at Sharon Memorial Park on Friday afternoon. Donations in her memory may be made to Hospice at Mission Hill Homecare Services, 254 South St. Waltham, MA 02154. Arrangements were by LeVine Chapel, BROOKLINE. 1993

Charles Bernell Marchbank

May 15, 1954 - June 26, 1994

Charles passed on peacefully at Bartlett House on Sunday, June 26, after a long battle with AIDS.

Photography was his art. He studied at Columbia College and freelanced in Detroit, Chicago, New York, San Francisco and Italy.

Charles will be remembered in the photography world for the visions of beauty he contributed for over ten years. He will be greatly missed by his friends and family, having shared his amazing gifts of courage and strength with those he loved.

Always known for his uncanny ability to be difficult, he used his wit and undefeatable spirit to fight his disease, amazing and confounding those around him. He was and is an inspiration to us all. Bye, queen! ▼

BRACKLIN—Christopher W., of Brooklyn, NY, on March 31, 1993. Son of James K. and Marilyn (nee Fox). Services Saturday, 7 PM, Frank E. Campbell, 1076 Madison Ave., New York, NY. Interment private. Calling hours Saturday 5-7 PM. In lieu of flowers contributions to Manhattan Center for Living, GMHC or the P.W.A. Coalition would be appreciated.

MAMO—George, died of 36 of AIDS in Rochester on Dec 14. He is survived by his loving parents, sisters and friends. You left us on the same day as Myrna; make friends with her, and enjoy this petty scene from your new vantage. I'll miss and love you always, Robert

MELNIK—Brian, On April 18, 1991 in Baltimore. Loving son of George and Martha of Newark, DE, and loving brother of George Melnik. Close friend of Jonathan Mark, and Patrick of New York City and Donald of San Antonio Texas. Burial in Ohio. Graveside services private.

MOREHOUSE—Jim, Actor, on Wednesday, May 9. Beloved brother of Dan and Ed, son of Edward and Sylvia, best friend to John, father to Reggie. Memorials may be made to The Actors Fund.

MURPHY—Kevin F. died on April 6th following a long and courageous battle against AIDS. A theatrical agent turned social worker, he leaves behind him many dear friends who will remember him for his style and intelligence. 92

MENAKER—John David, Born 11/13/29, lost his battle with AIDS 5/19/92. He is survived by his sister, Billie (Wilma) Hockett and his close friend Sween Metzger. Memorial gathering will be announced.

MARCUS—Charles Edward, on March 29, 1994. Beloved son of Honnie and the late Sam Marcus. Devoted brother of Ken and Steve, and brother-in-law of Lisa. Uncle of Sara and Katie. Cousin of Suzie, Rob, Judy, Jeffrey, Sharon and Andrea. Newborn of Jack and Clara. His memory will be cherished by scores and scores of loving friends. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to his employer, the Village AIDS Day Treatment Program, 133 West 20th Street, New York, NY 10011. A memorial service will be held on Monday, April 10, at 2 PM, at the NY Society for Ethical Culture, 2 West 64th Street, To "One Singular Sensation" with love.

MATTUS—John D., on Jan 31, 1996, age 44, at his home in NYC. He is survived by his companion of 20 years, Kevin Brown, as well as his parents, John S. and Anne Mattus, and his brother, Gregory Mattus of West Hartford, CT. A funeral Mass will be held on Tuesday, February 6, 10:30AM, St. Thomas More Church, 65 E. 89th St., NYC. Interment will follow at the Putnam Cemetery, Greenwich, CT.

MADIGAN—Thomas, Of New York City, died peacefully on Sunday April 17, 1994. Devoted son of Eugene and Mildred Madigan, beloved brother of Steven and David of Dallas, TX, Kevin of Avon Lake, OH, Martin of Sarasota, FL, and Jane of Hartland, MI. Long time companion of Donald V.S. Harley. Wake at Frank E. Campbell, 1076 Madison Ave, Tues, April 19, 2-4 and 7-9 P.M. Funeral services at Grace and St. Paul's Church, 123 W 71 St, 1 P.M. Wednesday, April 20. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to GMHC or God's Love We Deliver or Miracle House.

MANN—Robert A. Retired executive, died Thursday, May 12 of a massive heart attack. He was 67 and lived in Manhattan. Mr. Mann was born in New York on June 5, 1926, graduated from UCLA and began working at the B. Manischewitz Company in 1952 where he became an executive officer. He retired in 1992. He was the President of the Meyer & Min Manischewitz Foundation, Inc. Mr. Mann was a supporter of the Metropolitan Opera, The GMHC, PEN, The New York Public Library, Lincoln Center Theater, and other cultural organizations. He is survived by his nieces, Victoria Dailey, of Los Angeles. Plans for a memorial service are pending. 94

MESINA—Eduardo G., on June 19, 1994. Longtime companion of Steven De Young. Beloved son of Eduardo and Eleanor. Brother and brother in-law of Editha and David Sundberg. Eduardo was a buyer for Abraham and Strauss for 12 years.

Bill Metz

William D. Metz, 36, a former Washington, D.C. resident, died of stab wounds on Friday, July 8, 1994, in Reno, Nevada. Metz was the victim of a hate crime, according to his longtime friend, Philip Metzler of Arlington, Virginia.

Metz was born May 17, 1958 in the D.C. area. He received a bachelor's degree in urban planning in 1985 and a master's degree in business administration in 1988 from the University of Maryland in College Park, Md. Metz then worked as a business manager for Eye Associates in Greenbelt, Md., until 1993 when he moved to Reno, Nevada, where he served as the business manager for Radiation Oncology Associates of Reno and Carson City.

His other interests included volunteering at Bread for the City, a charity group for the homeless, and listening to jazz and Brazilian music.

"He was always thinking of other people," said Metzler. "Whether he was helping someone get a great deal on a car, cooking a delicious meal for a group of friends, or volunteering, he was always giving of himself."

In addition to Metzler, Metz is survived by his mother, Jewel Hutchinson Metz of New Jersey; father, Douglas W. Metz of Annapolis, Md.; step-mother, Elinor Metz of Rockville, Md.; siblings, Mary Jane Dohey of South Carolina; Kathrin, Paula, and Brad Metz, all of Rockville, Md.

Robert L. Moyer Jr., 43

Professor of anatomy, physiology

Robert L. Moyer Jr., a professor of anatomy, physiology and biology at Massachusetts Bay Community College in Wellesley since 1973, died yesterday at the Hospice at Mission Hill. He was 43 and lived in Brighton.

Born in Worcester, Mr. Moyer graduated from Worcester Classical High School in 1965 and Worcester State College. He received a master's degree in science from Northeastern University.

He leaves his father, Robert L. of Worcester; his aunt, Eva Moyer of Worcester; a stepbrother, Ronald Eppinger of Florida; and his companion, James McLaughlin.

Services will be held at 11 a.m. tomorrow in the Lehman and Reen Funeral Home, Cambridge Street, Brighton. 6-1991

David E. Martin

Coordinator of AAC Buddy Program <sup>1992</sup>

David E. Martin, a coordinator of the AIDS Action Committee's Buddy Program, died of AIDS-related complications on June 21. He was 30.

For many who volunteered to be a Buddy to a person with AIDS, their first contact was with this quiet, gentle man. His dry humor, flirtatious smile and ever so kind eyes endeared him to everyone and inspired confidence in first-time volunteers who weren't quite sure they were cut out to be a Buddy.

David's kindness and patience only served to reassure his new recruits that the road they were about to take was one worth taking. He knew this first-hand, as, prior to his own diagnosis, he was a volunteer at AIDS Action, and served as a Buddy to another person with HIV.

David's contribution to AIDS Action and its Buddy Program were enormous. David, however, was a modest man who would blush at such accolades. He was most comfortable recognizing and affirming the contributions of others, particularly the hundreds of volunteers he helped recruit and train to offer emotional support and companionship for people living with AIDS. During last year alone, David helped match over 300 people living with AIDS with volunteer buddies.

For Nancy Silverman and Steve Rowley, David's dear friends and colleagues in the Buddy Program, there was never delineation by job title, seniority or workload. They were simply family who worked together.

David was a graduate of Boston University from which he received his degree from the School of Music in 1984. He toured Europe with the American Youth Jazz Band and Chorus, performed with the Green Mountain Guild of Vermont and was a vocalist at the Tanglewood Summer Institute.

When a severe car accident ended David's musical theater career in 1986, he continued to perform as a church soloist. At the time of his death, he was a tenor soloist at the Second Church in Newton.

David is survived by his beloved companion, Robert L. Ingari, of Boston and by his extended family members: Carol Woeppel and Ginny Hammel of Scituate, at whose home he died; Billy Cotten of Allston; and Nancy Silverman of Weston.

A Memorial Service is being planned by his friends for a later date.

Peter Maroon, 43

Peter Maroon, 43, of Boston, died of AIDS at the Hospice at Mission Hill on July 19. A native of Springfield, and a U.S. Army veteran, he had lived in San Francisco and Boston most of his life. These last ten years in the Fenway neighborhood he was sometimes known as "the Mayor of Kilmarnock street." He worked in the Emergency Room at Children's Hospital since the early 1980s.

As a man of many talents and interests, he was a founding member of the East Coast Education Tour Against Anita Bryant and the Dade County Vote, he worked early and long on Boston Gay Pride activities, the Massachusetts Organizing Committee for the March on Washington, and several ad hoc gay rights groups. Peter was a PWA of courage and conviction and a power of example to many in the struggle with AIDS.

Peter enjoyed travel and toured extensively with many friends to London, Amsterdam, San Francisco, Phoenix, Denver, Nashville, New York, Washington and Montreal.

His talent and interest in art took him to museums wherever he went. He was member of the Museum of Fine Arts and the Institute of Contemporary Art, and studied at the Massachusetts College of Art.

MORICONI Joseph L., age 32, of CA, and formerly of Medford, MA, passed away Sat., May 14, 1994. Joe has concerned his life with controlling the spread of AIDS through film production, direction and PSA announcements, including his own creation of "That's No Bull". Joe was a very personal man with a strong zest for life and will always be remembered for his rapier wit! He is survived by his mother Aurelia (Moriconi) Tashetta of Lake Worth, FL. His lifetime partner and companion, Michael Healey of North Hollywood, CA, two sisters Donna Carbone of Lake Worth, FL and Kathleen Moriconi of MA, 2 brothers Dennis Moriconi of MA, and Michael Tashetta of NH, also surviving are several nieces and nephews. Funeral Services were held on May 16th in FL. The family requests that Memorials be made to the donors favorite charity concerning a cure or care for those with AIDS. Arrangements entrusted to E. Earl Smith & Son Memory Gardens Chapel, 3041 Kirk Rd., LAKE WORTH, FL 33461.

MACAULEY Of Hull, suddenly, Jan. 1, 1992 Robert C. "Bobby" age 39 years, beloved companion of Warren W. Dunn. Devoted son of Margaret (Staskowicz) of Naples, FL and the late Robert Ralph Macauley. Loving brother of Charlotte DeRusso, William, Kevin, Paul and Roger Macauley and the late Ronald. Also survived by several nieces & nephews. Visiting hours at Hamel, Wickens & Troupe Funeral Home, 26 Adams St., QUINCY CENTER on Friday, 2-4 and 7-9 PM with a Service at 8 o'clock. Relatives and friends invited. In lieu of flowers, memorial donations may be sent to WELL-SPRING, Nantasket Ave., Hull, MA 02045.

Karl Mullings

Karl Mullings, a lifetime Washington, D.C., area resident, died at home on Wednesday, June 8, 1994 of AIDS-related causes, according to his friend, Mark Wyn of Arlington, Virginia.

Patricia Mullings said her brother's favorite pastimes were travel, photography, and cars. Mullings would often go to car shows or test-drive new cars, she said, adding that he exercised his interest in photography on trips to Toronto, Ottawa, Miami, New York, and New Jersey.

Mullings was also interested in music, art and design, his sister said, remarking that Mullings devotedly watched public television's home renovation and repair program, This Old House.

Doug Greenaway knew Mullings for 12 years and conducted his memorial service.

"Karl showed a lot of compassion for everyone around him," Greenaway said. "It seemed he was more concerned with how others felt... He was my shoulder."

Mullings is predeceased by his parents, Sarah Dorothy Kelsey and George Mullings, and his grandmother, Dorothy Kelsey. She, along with his aunts Rosa and Daisy Kelsey, helped raise Mullings after his mother's death when he was an infant.

Mullings is survived by his brother, Kirk Mullings of Brentwood, Md.; a sister, Patricia Mullings and niece, Raheedah Mullings of D.C.; grandmother, Alice Mullings of New York City; aunts, Rosa Kelsey, Daisy Kelsey and Julie Swann; uncles, John Kelsey, Robert Kelsey, and Karl Williams all of D.C. Mullings is also survived by his friends, Greenaway and Wyn as well as many other relatives and friends, Patricia Mullings said.

A memorial service honoring Mullings was held June 11 at the Church of the Epiphany in the District. Mullings's remains, which were cremated, were interred the same day at Lincoln Memorial Cemetery in Suitland, Md.

Joseph Marshall

Ballet Dancer, 28

Joseph Marshall, a former dancer with Feld Ballets/NY, the Joffrey Ballet and Oregon Ballet Theater, died on April 14 in Portland, Ore. He was 28.

The cause was AIDS, said Lyle Sweeney, his companion.

The dancer, whose full name was Joseph Marshall Brown, studied at the Joffrey Ballet School. He danced with Joffrey II, the Joffrey's junior company, before joining the Feld company. After becoming ill, Mr. Marshall left for Portland, where he danced with Oregon Ballet Theater.

In addition to Mr. Sweeney, he is survived by his parents, Gary and Kathy Brown of Ridgefield, Wash.; three sisters, Shelly Holcomb of Ridgefield, Sandy Brown and Samantha Julian, both of Vancouver, Wash., and a brother, James, of Ridgefield. 94

KENNETH MOONEY

June 1, 1995, age 42

Video editor who worked on the CBS newsmagazine 48 Hours.

Richard Gene Myers

January 14, 1943 - January 3, 1996

Dick died a quiet death at home in Avondale Estates after a long, valiant struggle against HIV. An Ohio native, he is especially missed by his close friends—Rob, Lee and Bill, Bill B., John D., Sheilagh and Tom, Len, Reuben, Mary, Cheryl, Veronica, Melinda, Tilla, and Maureen, and by his father, Carl.

A spring memorial service is planned.

Tony Morreale

6/18/57 - 7/12/90

A memorial service will be held for Tony Morreale, who died on July 12, 1990. Born on June 18, 1957, Tony was a South End resident who tended bar at the Ramrod in Boston. He was also superior wit and a fine chef.

Tony is survived by his lover Stephen Clark, and his family in Ashland. His memorial service will be held on July 25 at 7:00 p.m. at the Arlington Street Church.

Alfredo Medina

April 1, 1938 - Dec. 23, 1995 95

Alfredo passed away on Saturday, December 23, at 11:30 a.m. peacefully at home, surrounded by relatives (brothers, sisters, nieces and nephews), friends and his long, long-time companion, Lenny, at his side.

Alfredo was born in Durango, Mexico, and moved to the most beautiful City by the Bay in the spring of 1966. He was one of 16 children and is therefore survived by many family members, who will dearly miss his laughter. His deep love of life included a diverse circle of friends in the Bay Area.

A memorial service will be held on February 3 at 11 a.m. at St. James Catholic Church, 1086 Guerrero (at 23rd), in San Francisco. Alfredo was cremated, and his ashes will be scattered in the family plot at the family ranch in Mexico at a later date.

Adieu, my friend. Wait for me on the other side. We will be together again soon. - Love always, Lenny

CARRILLO-MOLINA—Of Boston, Luis Alberto Carrillo-Molina on Saturday, July 4th, Son of Rosa Candelaria Molina Vda. de Carrillo Molina, Cecilia Maria de la Cruz Carrillo Molina, and Rosa Maria Carrillo Molina, Echegaray Carrillo, Jennifer Echegaray Carrillo, and Dafne Certrudis Medina Carrillo, all of Peru. Services are private. Expressions of sympathy may be made to the AIDS Action Committee, 131 Clarendon St., Boston, MA 02116. Arrangements by J.S. Waterman & Sons and Eastman-Waring Funeral Home of BOSTON.

MOLIGNANO—Marybeth age 25 of Weymouth suddenly March 3, 1996. Beloved daughter of John C. Sr. & Alice M. (Murphy) Mollignano of Weymouth. Sister of John C. Jr. of Braintree, Howard R. of E. Providence, R.I., Alison Bean of Weymouth, Tracy Ramsey of Salem, James C. of Weymouth & Wendy J. Flynn of Weymouth. Aunt of Jennifer & Jody Mollignano, John Mollignano, Erika Mollignano & David & Matthew Bean. Also survived by many aunts, uncles & cousins. Funeral Prayer Service in the McDonald Funeral Home SOUTH WEYMOUTH at 809 Main St. (Rt. 1B on South Shore Hospital) exit 16B off Rt. 3 S. Fri. March 22, 1996 at 11 o'clock. Relatives & friends invited. Visiting hours Thursday 2-4 & 7-9 p.m. Late employee Linda Jeans Restaurant, Martha's Vineyard. If you wish, donations in Marybeth's memory may be made to AIDS Action Comm. of Mass., Inc. 131 Clarendon St., Boston, MA 02116. Interment Fairmount Cemetery, Weymouth.

Edward Myers, director of the Nashville [Tenn.] Ballet and a former principal dancer with the Pennsylvania Ballet, died of complications from AIDS Feb. 5 in Nashville. He was 42. 1993

Charles Mulberger

Theater Dresser, 42 1-5-96

Charles (Chip) Mulberger, a Broadway wardrobe supervisor and dresser, died on Sunday at Bryn Mawr Hospital in Pennsylvania. He was 42 years old.

He died of AIDS, said his mother, Doris Mulberger, of Gladwyne, Pa.

Mr. Mulberger worked in various costume houses before becoming a dresser and wardrobe supervisor in the theater. Among the Broadway shows to his credit are "La Cage aux Folles," "Gypsy," "Into the Woods" and "Nine." He also traveled with many touring companies.

In addition to his mother, he is survived by two brothers, Thomas, of Gladwyne, and Robert, of Alexandria, MUSCATO—Of Boston, April 3, 1992. Paul C. Age 28 yrs. Beloved son of Linda D. Murray of Hingham and Herbert W. Muscato of Quincy. Brother of Bryan R. of Quincy and Kristen M. of So. Boston. Grandson of Charles J. Murray of Arlington. Memorial Service will be held at J.S. Waterman & Sons-Waring Funeral Home, 495 Commonwealth Ave., at Kenmore Sq., BOSTON, on Tuesday, April 7, at 1 o'clock. Relatives and friends respectfully invited. In lieu of flowers Memorial contributions may be sent to the Hospice at Mission Hill, 20 Parker Hill Ave., Boston, MA 02120.

MANGANO—John, 35, on Aug. 2nd of AIDS related complications. Graduate of Carnegie-Mellon, formerly with Goodspeed Opera, former production manager and director at Theater for the New City, active in Off-Broadway for many years. He produced the "One Act Festival" for TNC, a three day marathon of one act plays. TNC also mounted a production of his musical comedy, "Reefer Madness." He was involved in the AIDS Theatre Project which performed his last play, "AIDS is Everybody." He wrote, directed and starred in the New York State Health Department's video production of "A Right to Care," dealing with PWA's right to health care. Survived by his father, Joseph, sisters, Maria, Morris and Regina, nieces and nephews, Mass. St. John the Evangelist Church, Center Moriches, NY, Monday, 9:15 am. Burial private.

MUGARO—Todd Russell. On August 21, 1991. Beloved son of Deanna and Mario Mugaro. Fond brother of Danielle Alucaro. Devoted grandson of Fannie and Harry Schwab. Friends may call at the Bennett Funeral Home, 824 Scarsdale Avenue, Scarsdale, New York, Friday, 2-4 and 7-9PM. Mass of Christian Burial Sacred Heart Church, Saturday, 10AM. In lieu of flowers, donations to AIDS Related Community Services, Elm-stord, New York appreciated.

MENDELSON—Andrew. On September 9, in Nyack, NY following a long battle with AIDS. Formerly Head of the Voice and Speech Program of the Mason Gross School of the Arts at Rutgers University. Andy was previously a member of the faculties of Stanford University and the University of Michigan. Since 1982, he served as dialect coach for a number of regional theatres, including the Long Wharf Theatre and the Williamstown Theatre Festival, while also pursuing a successful career in voice-overs. He is survived by his loving partner of fifteen years Roy Holliday, as well as his parents, Carol and Mike, brothers Peter and James, sister Kathryn, nephew Adam and grandmother Selma Flint. He will be missed by many friends as well as the cats. In lieu of flowers, contributions in Andy's name should be made to God's Love We Deliver of NYC or The L Post of Falls Village, CT.

MITCHELL—Michael A. 39. On April 28, 1994. Beloved brother of Pamela and son of Gloria and Howard, of Chicago, and devoted and loving friend. Actor, singer, director and playwright. With humor and honesty, he reflected his world. Funeral: Tues, May 3, 1 PM, Weinstein Brothers, 111 Skokie Blvd, Wilmette, IL. In lieu of flowers, please make contributions to Friends in Deed, 594 Broadway #706, N.Y.C. 10012. Memorial service in NYC to be announced.

John Maguire

John Patrick Maguire, 36, a former Washington, D.C., resident, died of AIDS-related complications on Tuesday, June 21, 1994, in San Francisco, California, according to his friend, Jean Homza of D.C.

Maguire left D.C. in 1982 to move to California. He worked as a personnel analyst for the San Francisco Public Library and was eventually promoted to personnel program director. He stayed at the library until he went to work for the AIDS Foundation Hotline. Maguire had been a volunteer for the hotline since the late 1980s. He became hotline director in the early 1990s and retired in 1993.

Maguire was born Aug. 24, 1958, in Arlington, Va. He grew up in Virginia Beach, Va. Maguire returned to the D.C. area to study theology at the Catholic University of America in D.C. where he received a bachelor's degree in 1980.

Maguire's hobbies included art, museums, and food, and bicycling.

Maguire participated in several AIDS clinical trials and studies.

"[H]is pure beauty, intelligence, humor, gentleness, intensity, strength, and love," will be missed, said Homza.

In addition to Homza, Maguire is survived by his partner of five years, Keith Lowery of San Francisco; parents, Nancy and John B. Maguire of Colonial Beach, Va.; sisters, Teresa Carter of Virginia Beach, Va.; and Kathleen Maguire of Waynesboro, Va.; and many friends on the East and West Coasts.

▼ In a hate crime-related civil suit settled April 25, a young man was ordered to perform 200 hours of community service with Kuopona Network, an agency working on AIDS among African-Americans. John Matthews and Sam Young, a couple, filed suit against a neighboring family on the South Side last year after criminal charges against the family, which had been harassing the couple for four years, were dismissed. The gay couple ultimately moved out of their townhouse because of the harassment; Matthews died in January. The case marks the first time a civil court hate crime case has agreed to perform community service, said Young's lawyer, Stephen Wood of Jenner and Block, who took the case through the Chicago Lawyers Committee for Civil Rights. 94

TIMOTHY PATRICK MURPHY, the actor who played Mickey Trotter on the television series Dallas, died of complications from AIDS Dec. 6 in Sherman Oaks, Calif. He was 29.

RANDY MOFFAT You were taken from us a year ago, much too soon. But, we'll always remember your decency, your friendship, your thoughtfulness, your great sense of fun. The beach houses, Capitol Hill parties, great conversations & more. Thanks for all you've given us; we'll never forget you.

Dr. Paul Marx Receives Award Posthumously at Harvard Commencement

Dr. Paul Marx, a tutor at Dunster House at Harvard University, Lecturer of Architectural History, Literature, and American Art at the Harvard Design and Extension Schools and also a Professor of Architectural History and the Humanities at the Boston Architectural Center on Newbury Street, was the first recipient of the Petra Shattuck Excellence in Teaching Award at Harvard Commencement on June 8.

Marx, who died of AIDS on March 11, 1989, had an incredible string of accomplishments. His most successful book was the original Let's Go Italy, which is still published and is in its 8th edition.

Marx was a remarkable friend who left an indelible impression on all those he touched at a personal level and also as a great teacher. His exuberant vitality and enthusiasm for life made his death a truly great tragedy for the thousands of dear friends and acquaintances who felt they knew and loved him.

I sincerely wish that peace will replace heartache, and may only the warmest memories of Paul Marx remain in the hearts of his friends and students. □

Paul Marx

—from Stephen Farias,
Paul Marx's lover

Douglas James Joseph Murphey

Oct. 2, 1954 - Oct. 4, 1995

Douglas Murphey passed on to the other side peacefully around 7:05 a.m. at Palm Drive Hospital in Sebastopol. His months-long battle with lymphoma finally resulted in lung congestion accompanied by liver and spleen complications.

Douglas was born in St. Louis, and later lived and worked in New York, Texas and Northern California. His forte was always as an organizer of large events. Doug also worked as a counselor for people with HIV for the past seven to eight years with such organizations as The Revici Foundation; AIDS, Medicine and Miracles; and, most recently, the Billy Club.

Doug distinguished himself as a long-term HIV survivor (since 1978), after having been treated by Dr. Emanuel Revici, whose alternative therapies for cancer and AIDS were not always acknowledged or accepted by the mainstream medical community. Doug's good health led to his championing the Revici method, which often created lively discussions around him.

A celebration of Doug's life was held October 14 at his residence in Windsor, Calif. His family and friends request that donations be made to the following nonprofit organizations: The San Francisco Center for Living, Face to Face and Food for Thought. ▼ of Los Angeles died Aug. 21 due to complications from AIDS; Montgomery, a past secretary for Christopher Street West, was also active in the San Fernando Valley Court System.

John R. MacAuley, president of the Lesbian and Gay Bands of America from 1987 to 1990, died of complications from AIDS Dec. 23 in Baltimore. He was 43

Charles H. Montgomery, 45,

LEONARD MADRID

Oct. 28, 1994, age 43

Accountant who worked most recently for Warner Bros. Pictures and formerly for Twentieth Century Fox.

Jerry Moran

Sept. 3, 1946 - Dec. 22, 1995

Jerry Moran, a native of Portland, Oregon, and longtime San Francisco resident, died peacefully Dec. 22 at Coming Home Hospice. Like many people with AIDS, Jerry turned his life around dramatically after his diagnosis, and actually credits the disease with getting him clean and sober and off the streets into housing.

Jerry said the last years of his life were the happiest. He was a caring, compassionate human being who inspired everyone he encountered. He made himself available to doctors, pharmaceutical companies and the media as far away as Japan to be interviewed, analyzed and discussed as a long-term AIDS survivor. Some of his friends called him the "miracle boy"; there were so many false alarms that it seemed he would live forever.

A beautiful memorial service (as per Jerry's instructions) was held at St. Boniface Church by Fr. Louis and Fr. John. Family members and close friends were in attendance, and there were musical and dance performances in Jerry's honor.

Friends are invited to join family members on Saturday, January 20, to plant a tree and do some work on the AIDS Memorial Grove in Golden Gate Park. Those so moved may make gifts to AIDS organizations and homeless shelters. ▼

Eliana Martinez won landmark court case, at 8

TAMPA, Fla. — Eliana Martinez, an 8-year-old AIDS-afflicted girl who won a landmark 2½-year court battle to attend public school, died Monday, a spokesman said.

Miss Martinez died in her bed at home at about 5:30 p.m., said Dan McClowry, the child's former speech therapist and a friend of the family.

"She had been in and out of a coma for the last three days," he said.

Miss Martinez's adoptive mother, Rosa Martinez, and a few family friends had been sitting up with the child for the last few days knowing death was near, McClowry said.

Doctors took Miss Martinez off the experimental AIDS-fighting drug DDI on Oct. 4, saying it wasn't protecting her from life-threatening, AIDS-related infections. Miss Martinez had been given AZT, the only federally approved AIDS drug, for two years and was switched when it was no longer helping her.

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — John Murray, formerly of Boston and Austin, Texas, died here on October 29 after struggling for a number of years with systemic lupus erythematosus, a disorder of the immune system.

A printer by trade, John helped produce GCN as an employee of the company that prints the paper and occasionally as a volunteer. He was patient and generous in support for his lover, David Morris, who was on the GCN staff from 1980 to 1984.

John was born in New Mexico in 1955 and raised in California and Texas. □ 89

ALWAYS IN OUR THOUGHTS - Lars Malmquist (8/83 - Sweden) & Jack Metherell (8/88 - Washington, DC). Mireille, Simone & Maya.

Peter Morgan, operated Boston & Cape Cod inns

Peter A. Morgan of Boston, a former innkeeper in Provincetown and Boston, died Sunday at the Hospice at Mission Hill in Boston after a lengthy illness.

Born and raised in Gardner, he moved to Boston 16 years ago.

Mr. Morgan was a member of Alcoholics Anonymous, and had just received a medallion commemorating four years of sobriety.

He is survived by his mother, June J. of Gardner; four sisters, Savoie, Sharon and Sheila Whitney, all of Templeton, and Rebecca of St. Petersburg, Fla.; three brothers, Jim and Marc, both of Gardner, and Christopher Morgan-James of South Berwick, Maine; and 10 nieces and nephews.

A memorial service will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday in the Jesuit Center, Boston.

Arrangements are by Commonwealth Funeral Home, Boston.

Dr. Joel D. Meyers, 46, An Expert on Infections

Dr. Joel D. Meyers, a leading researcher of infections caused by suppression of the immune system in organ transplant and AIDS patients, died Oct. 27 at Swedish Hospital in Seattle. He was 46 years old and lived in Mercer Island, Wash.

He died of colon cancer, his family said.

He headed the infectious diseases and virology program at the Fred Hutchinson Cancer Research Center in Seattle and was a medical school professor at the University of Washington.

Dr. Meyers was an international leader in his studies, said Dr. E. Donald Thomas, a 1990 Nobel laureate, adding that his work led to the prevention of cytomegalovirus and other herpes infections after transplants of organs and bone marrow, thus improving survival rates.

Born in Detroit, Dr. Meyers was a graduate of Dartmouth College and Harvard Medical School. He was an intern and resident at the Hospital of the University of Pennsylvania.

In 1972 he moved to Atlanta to work for the Federal Centers for Disease Control in immunization. He went to Seattle in 1975 as a medical school fellow and joined the University of Washington faculty in 1977. He joined the research center in 1978 and was promoted to his current job in 1982.

MAGUIRE - Of Jamaica Plain, August 31, 1991, after a long illness. Long time friend of Bill W. Funeral Mass will be held on Saturday at 10 a.m. at Sacred Heart Chapel, 386 Hancock St. N. Quincy. Relatives & friends invited. Donations in his memory may be made to Answer House Alumni Fund. 93

Gary Mascaro, choreographer for the New York City, Los Angeles, and Italian productions of the play Tamara, died of complications from AIDS Dec. 2 in Los Angeles. He was 47

James G. Mayer

Dec. 26, 1955 - Dec. 8, 1995

Jimbo was born in Baton Rouge, La., where he grew up and graduated from Istrouma High School in 1973. He did a tour of duty in the U.S. Navy from 1977 to 1978 and was honorably discharged in San Diego, where he remained until he and his lover moved to the Bay Area in 1985.

Jimmy built a good life for himself here as a payroll supervisor and then personnel supervisor at Able Building Maintenance. After a long struggle with AIDS, he passed peacefully in the early morning hours. He leaves behind many friends and family who will miss him very much. Here's to short skirts, tall hairdos, seamed stockings and bad attitudes! ▼

James Patrick Mason

March 17, 1960 - Dec. 20, 1995

Jimmy passed away on December 20 at California Pacific Medical Center.

In his 34 years, he traveled many roads, which led him on many life experiences. One of those was becoming a certified nurse attendant and working at Coming Home Hospice, which brought him a great sense of accomplishment.

Jimmy is survived by a loving family here in SF and elsewhere, plus a loving group of friends. He always had an angelic spirit and gave a lot of himself to others. A memorial service will be held at Coming Home Hospice. Call 861-1110 for the date and time. ▼

MERRITT - Peter J. Age 40, after a heroic struggle to work and live a full life until the end. He will be dearly missed by his parents, friends, co-workers, and life partner, Mitchell Seligman. Private memorial service celebrating his life on March 10th.

MASNY - Joseph, age 33, of Brooklyn, formerly of Horseheads, NY, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Masny. Services held at Barber Funeral Home, 413 S. Main St., Horseheads, NY 14845. A memorial service will be held in Long Island in February. Donations can be made to the local AIDS foundation. 74

MARCHBANKS - James Stanton, 40, Manhattan resident, formerly of Sparta, TN, died Wednesday, July 29, 1992 of AIDS related complications at St. Luke's Roosevelt Hospital. Until the onset of his illness, he worked for Cox Enterprises as "Lifestyles of the Rich and Famous" as their computer specialist. After his retirement in 1990, Marchbanks and his life-partner of seven years, William F. Chafin, traveled throughout the world and helped found GW Magazine, a NY gay publication. Mr. Marchbanks is survived in New York by Chafin and a family of friends. In Tennessee, Marchbanks is survived by Nell and Will Marchbanks, a brother, Billy Mack Marchbanks, four sisters, Barbara Holder, Janie Miller and Linda Selby, all of Sparta, and Sue Drinnen of Dixon, TN. A memorial service will be held in September in Fire Island Pines, NY. Contributions: Community Research Initiative on AIDS, 31 West 26th Street, N.Y., N.Y. 10010.

Cookie Mueller Dead; Actress and Writer, 40

Dorothy (Cookie) Mueller, an actress, columnist and art critic, died of pneumonia resulting from AIDS on Friday at Cabrini Medical Center. She was 40 years old and lived in the West Village.

Ms. Mueller starred in John Waters's "Pink Flamingoes" and "Female Trouble," two acclaimed underground films. She acted in numerous Off Broadway productions, including "The Roman Polanski Story," in which she portrayed Sharon Tate.

For many years she wrote a column, "Ask Dr. Mueller," for the East Village Eye. She also wrote for Bomb, an art magazine, and for the last five years was an art critic for Details magazine.

Her novella "Fan Mail, Frank Letters and Crank Calls," was published this year. She also wrote the text for a book of drawings from a hospital bed by her husband, Vittorio Scarpati, an artist who died of AIDS in September. It is to be published in December.

She is survived by a son, Max.

DIED: Ronald Muchnick, talent agent, 56, of complications from AIDS Jan. 4 in Los Angeles. Muchnick's clients included Richard Gere, Clifton Davis, Lesley Ann Warren, and Marian Mercer. 94

MILLS - Robert E. II, 47 years of Ashland, passed away December 9, 1993 in Boston after a long battle with cancer. He was born in Hartford Connecticut, the son of Robert E. Mills of Hilton Head, SC and the late Patricia (Galvin) Mills. Besides his father he is survived by two sons, Robert III and Michael, both of Roanoke, VA and his beloved partner, Judy Abrahams of Ashland. At the time of his death he was a student at the Mass. College of Art in Boston, studying architecture. Funeral services are private and under the direction of the Matarese Funeral Home of ASHLAND. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the Hospice of Mission Hill.

MACINTYRE - In Roslindale, formerly of Dorchester, May 12th, John C. MacIntyre, beloved son of the late Alan & Phemie (Vicars) MacIntyre. Friend of Brian Riley of Roslindale. Complete notice to follow. Arrangements by the Francis E. Keegan & Son's Funeral Home, HYDE PARK. 74

KIKI MASON, 36, an outspoken activist who wrote about life with AIDS as a columnist for POZ magazine, died of AIDS complications recently in New York. 8-596

As many of you may already know, Bob Malchodi died on May 29 at the Hospice at Mission Hill. Bob was our Wellness Coordinator and had been <sup>1990</sup> editing this newsletter, Wellspring, until he became too ill. He had been diagnosed with AIDS in April of 1987, and was my client, my friend, and my colleague. I want to share some thoughts of him with you.

I met Bob three years ago when he walked into my office for an intake, in the old AAC offices on Boylston Street. Like most everyone arriving for an intake, he was a little nervous. But more than that, he was incredibly assertive and full of information about how he was already prepared to take control of his life, in the face of his AIDS diagnosis. It was as if Bob had been preparing for this battle for years, by becoming involved in meditation, macrobiotic eating, and using alternative forms of treatment like acupuncture and Chinese herbs. Like a lot of people, I had heard of most of these things but had never known anyone who had really incorporated them into his or her life.

Bob knew so much more than I did - about everything. By the end of our appointment I was referring him to apply for the Wellness Coordinator position at the Committee. I just had a feeling that with all he had to offer, including an incredible gift for teaching and tons of charisma, he would be "The One". Of course, Bob got the job.

Over the past several years, Bob's teaching and example raised AAC clients' consciousness about holistic therapies and living. But, he also changed me personally. It took about a year and a half for me to realize that, maybe, all of this could work for me, too, and not just for my clients. Bob referred me to an acupuncturist, a chiropractor, got me into Chinese herbs, and encouraged my investigation into a vegetarian diet. Then he took his share of the credit when I lost weight and got healthier!

Bob was not just a mentor and role model to me about physical health. He embodied strength of will and character, hope and faith in something beyond himself; he taught me to care about myself and believe in myself. And with all this he was also immensely realistic; he did not kid himself or believe in things blindly.

Finally, Bob was committed to helping other people with AIDS. When he made the choice to work at the AAC, and "come out of retirement" from disability, he sacrificed a life that had allowed him to focus most of his energy on his own health, and began to share his wealth of knowledge and insight with so many of us. I am so grateful to Bob for all he shared with me. I will miss him, both personally as well as professionally.

I am grateful that Bob has moved on, as he wanted to, finally.

A memorial gathering to celebrate and remember Bob has been planned for Tuesday, July 10, at 6:30 pm, at the First and Second Church, located at the corner of Marlborough and Berkeley Streets in Boston, near the Arlington "T" stop. Everyone is welcome. We look forward to seeing you there.

B. Edward Mendez

Dec. 29, 1954 - Jan. 15, 1996

Ed passed away on Monday, Jan. 15, in his beloved San Francisco. Ed was a fun-loving, independent, strongly opinionated individual, who was the adviser and counselor to his many friends and family.

Ed did a lot of living in his 41 years, traveling to numerous places and experiencing all that he could. He decided to settle down in his favorite City by the Bay. We will remember how he loved to show his friends and family around San Francisco, reciting interesting anecdotes; how he loved to play pool at the "saloons" on Castro; how we all hated that horrendous trek up Noe Street and every one of those 58 steps up to his apartment!

Ed lived and died the way he wished: with no excuses and in his own way. He is survived by a large and loving family, and his many dear friends. We will all miss his advice, his love and his Cheshire-cat grin.

A small private memorial service was held at his home on Saturday, Jan 20. His family requests that donations be made to the AIDS Foundation of San Francisco. Ed will be cremated and his ashes scattered across the waters of San Francisco Bay. ▼

Douglas Marland, 58, the head writer for the television soap opera As the World Turns, who in 1988 created daytime drama's first Gay male character, Hank Eliot, died March 6 in Norwalk, Conn., of complications from abdominal surgery (New York Times)

MITCHELL 91

Of Needham Heights, formerly of Medford, September 27, William P. Dear friend of William G. Thompson of Needham Heights, Brother of Marion E. Mitchell of Plymouth, and Jean Adra Hunter of CT. Services at the Congregational Church of W. Medford, 400 High St., Tuesday at 10:30 AM. Visiting hours at the Beals-Geake Golden Rule Funeral Home, 29 Governors Ave., Medford Sunday and Monday 7-9 P.M. Gifts in lieu of flowers may be made to the Memorial Music Fund of the Congregational Church of W. Medford.

MacLEAN - Of Roslindale, March 29, 196 Edmund B. MacLean, Father of Doris Pamela of CA. Son of Edmund G. and Doris M. (Matheson) MacLean of N.S., Canada. Barbara MacDonald of W. Roxbury, Karen MacLean of Westwood, Charles of Hyde Park, Darrel of Sharon, David MacLean of British Columbia and the late Kevin MacLean, also survived by several nieces and nephews. Funeral at the Covenant Congregational Church, 455 Arborway, Jamaica Plain, Monday at 11 o'clock. Relatives and friends invited, visiting hours Sunday 2-4 & 7-9 p.m. at the Mann & Rodgers Funeral Home, 44 Perkins St. (Cor. of South Huntington Ave.) JAMAICA PLAIN. In lieu of flowers donations in his memory may be made to the Health Care Dimensions, 20 Parker Hill Ave., Boston, MA 02120. Interment Gillis Cemetery, Nova Scotia.

DIED: Barry Matalon, 47, hairstylist, of complications from AIDS August 18 in Los Angeles. Matalon created the chin-length shag cut for which Jane Fonda became known in the mid '80s. Other clients included Debra Winger, Madeleine Stowe, and Rosemary Clooney. 75

MOORE - Of Foxboro, formerly of Norwood, December 9, 1991, John E., age 28 years. Beloved husband of Susan E. (McLaughlin) Moore. Devoted son of John and Judith (Rich) Moore of Norwood. Brother of Kathy (Calif.) Darwin Moore and Amanda Moore both of Mansfield. Son-in-law of Helene and Cornelius McLaughlin of West Roxbury. Funeral from the James H. Delaney & Son Funeral Home, 48 Common St., WALPOLE, on Friday at 9 a.m. A Mass of Christian Burial will be celebrated in the Blessed Sacrament Church, Walpole at 10 a.m. Relatives and friends are kindly invited. Visiting hours Wednesday 7-9, Thursday 2-4 and 7-9. Interment St. Mary's Cemetery, Foxboro. Donations in his memory may be made to Hospice at Mission Hill, 20 Parker Hill Ave.

MURRAY - Of Saugus, August 23, James K., Jr. Son of Marion I. Murray of Saugus and James K. Murray, Sr. of Malden. Father of Shaina M. Murray; and Shaina's mother Diane Solari, both of Malden. Brother of Joyce L. Sevens of Essex and William F. Murray of Goffstown, NH. Grandson of Elise L. Bennett of Woburn. Also survived by one niece, Jacqueline Sevens of Essex and one nephew, Michael Murray of NH. Visiting hours have been omitted. Memorial Services to be held in the Weir-MacCuish Golden Rule Funeral Home, 144 Salem St., MALDEN FR., August 29, at 11 AM. Relatives & friends invited. In lieu of flowers, contributions in his memory may be made to the Hospice at Mission Hill, 20 Parker Hill Av., Boston, MA 02128 c/o Betty Briggs. Interment to follow in Forest Dale Cemetery, Malden. 1992

MOSES - Of Rockport, formerly of Boston, May 1, 1994, Michael Warren Moses, Brother of Barbara M. Machnick of Rockport and uncle of Kimberly and Kellie. There will be a gathering of friends on Wednesday, May 4th at the Forsyth Chapel of Forest Hills Cemetery, 95 Forest Hills Ave., in Jamaica Plain at 1:30 pm. A Graveside Service will follow. Donations in his memory may be made to the North Shore AIDS Health Project, 25 Duncan St., Gloucester, MA 01936. Arrangements by Commonwealth Funeral Service BRIGHTON

MEYERSON - Michael Scott, 32. On Feb 4, 1992. Died from complications of AIDS. A longtime companion of the late Donald Ator. He is survived by his loving father, Jerry, devoted sister Catherine and mother Hayne. He was best known by those who were fortunate to have shared his life for his warmth of spirit and a sensitive dedication to the ongoing efforts to increase knowledge of this terrible disease and to assist those struggling with it. He will be sadly missed by family and friends. Services at Liberty South Carolina Mortuary of 2PM, Feb 7, 1992. Contributions to GMHC of New York in his name would be appreciated.

MILHEISER - William J., Age 51, on November 21, of complications from AIDS. Vice President of Chase Manhattan Bank. Beloved husband and best friend to Ann. Devoted son of Amanda Milheiser. Loving brother and brother-in-law of Kenneth and June Milheiser. Grand uncle of Kristin and Kimberly Milheiser. Friends may call at Frank E. Cambell, 1076 Madison Avenue at 81 Street, Friday 2-5 and 7-9PM with funeral service Saturday, 9:30AM. Donations in his memory may be made to Gay Men's Health Crisis, 129 West 20 Street, NYC 10011 or Cherry Grove Memorial Fund Inc. Cherry Grove, New York 11782. 87

MULDER - John, 59. Professor of English at Drew University in Madison, N.J. Died on October 18 at the home of his friend, Thomas Conklin in New York City of AIDS related lymphoma. He is survived by six brothers, Tony, Bill, Joe, Nick, Jerry and Ted and a sister Anne Marie Breen all of Canada. Funeral services took place on October 26, in Oromocto, New Brunswick and a memorial service will be held at the Church of St. Mary the Virgin, 145 West 46 St, NYC on Sunday, November 17 at 4PM. Contributions may be made to PWA Coalition, 31 West 26 St, NYC 10010. 1991

MUDD - Dominic, 30, on May 7, 1992. Beloved son of Peggy and Dr. Lawrence Mudd; brother of Tim, Sean and Shannon. Died from complications of AIDS at his mother's home in Louisville, Kentucky after a long and courageous fight. His friends will always remember his love of life and the unique way he brought so much to the lives of everyone he knew. Nick, we will all miss you terribly and hold you in our hearts forever. Donations may be made to an AIDS organization of your choice. Memorial May 30th, 2 PM, St. Vincent Ferrer, Lexington and 65th St.

MARZONE—Jean Amelia. On January 31, 1992. Jean A. Marzone died in her 46th year of complications of AIDS. She passed away at The New York Hospital in Manhattan. Born in Union City, New Jersey, Jean attended local schools, graduated from Douglas College at Rutgers University, and did her postgraduate work at Columbia University in educational psychology. After a brief period as an English teacher, she became an educational researcher of some note. Until 1977 she was Assistant Director of Columbia University's Clearinghouse on Urban Education. She was successively Associate Director of the Womens' Educational Equity Communications Network, Director of the National Diffusion Networks' Educational Materials Center and Director of Technology Information for Educators. These programs were housed at the Far West Laboratory for Educational Research and Development in San Francisco, CA. At her death, Jean was Associate Director of Guidance Publishing and Director of Information Services at the College Board. She was a past editor of The College Handbook. Jean was a parish member of the Church of the Ascension (Episcopal), where she was a lay reader, member of the Altar Guild and worked in the homeless shelter program. Jean was the cherished daughter of Amelia Marzone of Union City, NJ and the late Henry Marzone. She was the beloved sister of Janet Marzone Madden and dear friend of her brother-in-law Timothy Madden of Teaneck, NJ. She was the thoughtful aunt of Suzanne, Timothy and Christopher Madden. She was the Life Companion of Michael Robert Crawford of Manhattan. Jean is also survived by Ronald Davis Anderson, Emily Katharine Estabrook, James M. Estabrook IV, Jason Harper Crawford and Justin Westcott Crawford. Jean was greatly loved and the pain of her passing cannot be expressed. A Requiem Mass will be celebrated at the Church of the Ascension, Fifth Avenue at 10th Street, in Manhattan, on Tuesday, February 4, 1992, at 1 P.M. Flowers may be sent to the Parish Hall at 12 West 11th St., or donations may be made to AIDS research organizations.

MANAS—Jay L. December 30, 1994. Beloved son of Miriam and Jack. Loving brother of Helen Ross, brother-in-law of Dr. Ronald Ross, uncle of Heather Lowenstein and David and Steven Ross. Friend of Bill Harris. Service on Sunday, January 1, 1995, 10 AM "The Riverside", 76th Street and Amsterdam Avenue. In lieu of flowers contributions may be made to your favorite charity in memory of Jay Manas.

MONCION—Francisco. New York City Ballet mourns the passing of Francisco Moncion, a former principal dancer with the Company. Francisco began his career with NYCB in 1946 with Ballet Society, the precursor to New York City Ballet. His career as a principal dancer with New York City Ballet spanned from 1948 through 1985. Known for his commanding stage presence, Francisco was famous for his roles in George Balanchine's "Orpheus," "La Valse," "The Prodigal Son," "Firebird" and "The Four Temperaments," and Jerome Robbins' "Afternoon of a Faun." Francisco helped to define New York City Ballet's artistic persona in the early years of the Company. The dance world has lost a formidable talent and a good friend. 4-4-95

MASSONI—Edward Andrew. On Sunday, January 8, 1995, after a long illness. He is survived by his companion Timothy R. Corns, father John, stepmother Marion, sister Mrs. Carol McFadden, brother John Massoni, stepisters Diane O'Dougherty and Theresa Long and half-brothers James and Dennis Massoni and aunt Dorothy Pilon. Mr. Massoni had been an import/export executive with International Paper and was a graduate of Cathedral College, Douglaston, NY. He was the son of John and Mildred Gilmartin Massoni. Reposing at the McLaughlin Funeral Home, 8225 Third Avenue, Brooklyn, NY, until 10:15 AM Tuesday. Mass of Christian Burial, Our Lady of Angels R.C. Church, 11 AM. In lieu of flowers, contributions to God's Love We Deliver.

MANGAN—Doris Christopher, after a long illness, at St. Catherine's Hospital, Mass Beach, CA., Jan. 2, 1992. Son and stepson of John and Lynn Mangan and Patricia and Clifford Melim; brother of John Jr., Patrick, William, James and Elizabeth; grandson of Elsie Mangan. A native of New York City. Age 29 years. Memorial Mass 10 A.M., Friday, Jan. 10 at Church of the Nativity, 210 Oak Grove Ave., Menlo Park, Ca. Vigil Service at 7:30 P.M., Thurs., Jan. 9 at Roller Haggood & Tinnev, 980 Middlefield Rd., Palo Alto, Ca. Contributions to the Daniel C. Mangan Fund at either: St. Catherine's Hospital, Seton Health Services Foundation, 1900 Sullivan Avenue, Daly City, Ca. 94015 or to AIDS Research, University of California Medical Center, UCSF Foundation, Box 0248, San Francisco, Ca. 94143.

MEYERS—Michael Scott. Son of Marilyn and Murray Meyers, brother of Judith Rifkin. Resident of Connecticut, New York and Florence, Italy. Died of AIDS, February, 22 in Boca Raton, FL. Services at 12:00 noon, February 24, Gutterman Warheit, Boca Raton, and graveside at Independent Hebrew Society, Richards Ave., Norwalk, CT, March 1, at 11 AM.

MEYERS—Michael Scott. Son of Marilyn and Murray Meyers, brother of Judith Rifkin. Resident of Connecticut, New York and Florence, Italy. Died of AIDS, February, 22 in Boca Raton, FL. Services at 12:00 noon, February 24, Gutterman Warheit, Boca Raton, and graveside at Independent Hebrew Society, Richards Ave., Norwalk, CT, March 1, at 11 AM.

Philip Minges III, a publicist whose clients included actress Shirley MacLaine and author Judith Krantz, died of complications from AIDS July 30 in Los Angeles. He was 39.

MANDEL—Kenneth M. On September 15, 1994. Beloved life partner of Bill Byrd. Beloved son of Ely and Roslyn, and brother of Lynne, Ronnie and Jeffrey. Contributions in his memory may be made to God's Love We Deliver.

MEHRTENS—Hans-Gerd, of New York City and San Francisco on November 15. Born in Ohlenstedt, Germany, and a graduate of the Hochschule Der Kuenste and the Freie Universitaet, Berlin, he was an artist and actor. He leaves his partner Ken Hedrick, his mother Johanne Mehrtens and many friends. A memorial service will be held at 2 PM, November 27, at 142 West 26 St #6. In lieu of flowers donations may be made in Hans-Gerd's memory to God's Love We Deliver, 895 Amsterdam Avenue, New York City, 10025.

MOSS—Richard Charles. On January 9, 1995. Life partner of Ernie Pedrosa. Beloved son of Evelyn Golden and the late Dr. Norman Moss. Loving brother of Leslie and Marilyn Moss and Dr. Morton Moss. Cherished uncle of Nerl, Borra and Jessica. Services Wednesday, 2:45 PM at "The Riverside", 76 Street and Amsterdam Ave. In lieu of flowers contributions may be made to G.M.H.C.

MEHLIG—Lee. The Fire Island Association mourns the passing of Lee H. Mehlig, long of Soltaire. A dedicated member of FIA, his many good works helped to make Fire Island a place uniquely valued by many. It is typical of Lee's devotion that he requested Memorial donations be sent to The Fire Island Association, 263 W. 20 St, NY, NY 10011. 11-22-94

MINER—Monette E. of Boston, June 13, age 87. Wife of the late Gilman. Mother of Rayleen Gaudet (Craig) Blutz of Boston. Grandmother of Monette Bay, Francine Bay, Lujean, Amziah, Kyeisha and Nantana Craig, also survived by 3 great grandchildren. Sister of Claudette Widner of Harteville, MO., also survived by other relatives and many friends. Visiting hours at the Tobin Funeral Service, 666 Mission Hill, BOSTON, on Mon., 5:30-8:30 p.m. Funeral Mass at St. Francis deSales Church, Ruggles St., Roxbury on Tues. at 10 a.m. Interment St. Bernard's Cemetery, Fitchburg. Donations in Mrs. Miner's memory can be made to the Hospice of Mission Hill, 20 Parker Hill Ave., Boston, 02120.

A. Damien Martin, 57, A Gay Rights Advocate

Dr. A. Damien Martin, one of the founders of Harvey Milk High School and a social-service agency to assist young homosexuals and their families, died on Thursday at his home. He was 57 years old and lived in New York.

He died of complications of AIDS, said Frances Kunreuther, executive director of the Hetrick-Martin Institute. The institute was founded in 1979 by Dr. Martin and his companion, Dr. Emery S. Hetrick, as the Institute for the Protection of Lesbian and Gay Youth. In 1988, a year after the death of Dr. Hetrick, the chief of psychiatric emergency and crisis treatment services at Harlem Hospital, the institute was renamed for its two founders.

The Harvey Milk High School was established by the institute and the New York City Board of Education as an alternative secondary school program created, Dr. Martin said, "for gay youths, partly because violence inflicted on young homosexuals made it impossible for some to stay in other schools."

Dr. Martin was affiliated with many gay-rights organizations and was a member of the Governor's Task Force on Teen Suicide, the Child Welfare League of America's Task Force on AIDS, the New York City Task Force on AIDS and the New York City Board of Education's Multicultural Advisory Committee.

A Philadelphia native, Dr. Martin taught speech pathology at New York University's School of Education.

He is survived by three sisters, Anne and Therese Martin and Rosemary Edwards, all of New York City, and two brothers, John Lambert of Blackwood, N.J., and Charles Lambert of Philadelphia, and a niece, Eileen McGrath.

MacDONALD—of Boston, Michael P. age 41 years, February 24, 1991. Son of Helen (Smailcombe) of Hyde Park and the late James H. MacDonald. Brother of James A. MacDonald of Boston and Kathleen R. Busell of Winchester. Also survived by several nieces and nephews. A Funeral Mass will be celebrated on Wed February 27 at 10 am at the Jesuit Urban Center, 775 Harrison Ave, South End. In lieu of flowers donations in Michael's memory may be made to the Living Center, 140 Clarendon St, Boston or to the Pediatric AIDS Care, Boston City Hospital, Late US Army Veteran. Arrangements by Commonwealth Funeral Service of BOSTON

MORIN—David E., age 38, of 66 Robinwood Ave., Jamaica Plain, on July 8, after a long illness. Funeral will be held Thursday, July 11 at 10:30 a.m. at St. Joseph's Church, 46 Woodland St., Fitchburg, MA. Calling hours at the Louis M. Isabelle Funeral Home, 316 Clarendon St., FITCHBURG, Wednesday 2-4 and 7-9 p.m. A memorial service will also be held at St. John's Episcopal Church, 35 Bowdoin St., Boston, on Saturday, July 20 at 2 p.m. Memorial donations may be made to the AIDS Action Committee, 131 Clarendon St., Boston, MA 02116. 7/10/91

MEUSE—Of Gloucester, June 24, Donald S. Meuse, 41, of 12 Blake Ct. Son of Stanley J. and Elizabeth B. (Hall) Meuse. Brother of Deborah E. and Dale R. Meuses. Grandson of Ruth E. Hall and uncle to Kelsey R. Meuse-Hassinger. A memorial service will be held on Sunday, July 12 at 2 p.m. in the Pike-Grondin Funeral Home, 61 Middle St., GLOUCESTER. Relatives and friends invited to attend. Expressions of sympathy may be made in his memory to the Hospice at Mission Hill, 20 Parker Hill Ave., Boston, MA 02120. 1992

Belinda Mason, 33; AIDS victim, activist

The Associated Press 9-4-91

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Belinda Mason, the only AIDS-infected member of the National Commission on AIDS and an outspoken critic of President Bush's AIDS research policy, died yesterday of complications from the disease. She was 33.

Mason, who contracted the disease through a blood transfusion, died of AIDS-related pneumonia at Vanderbilt University Medical Center in Nashville, said hospital spokesman Doug Williams.

Her husband, Stephen Carden, said she had been hospitalized since Wednesday.

"She brought a depth of compassion and humanity to the National Commission on AIDS that will be sorely missed," said the commission's head, Dr. June Osborn.

Mason had become a national symbol for AIDS sufferers, said Carisa Cunningham, a spokeswoman for the Washington-based AIDS Action Council.

"I think that what was special and courageous about Belinda was that although she acquired HIV [the AIDS virus] through an unusual mode of transmission, she never tried to separate herself from every other person with AIDS who got it through drug use or sex activity," Cunningham said.

Mason, of Utica, Ky., was president of the National Association of People With AIDS when Bush appointed her in 1989 to the commission created by Congress to advise lawmakers and the president on AIDS issues.

She was often critical of Bush's stance on AIDS, contending the administration treated the AIDS crisis as a moral issue and not a public-health issue.

"It seems they would think that a condom and a pamphlet on how to use it would be a good investment, compared to lifetime health care," she said in the June interview.

Mason became infected with the AIDS virus in January 1987 while receiving a blood transfusion during the birth of her second child. She was diagnosed as having the disease in October 1988.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by her children, Polly, 8, and Clayton, 4; her parents, and two brothers.

SAVANNAH — A Chatham County Superior Court judge has ordered Memorial Medical Center to give lawyers the medical records of Dr. Ronal Marasco, 28, who had the AIDS virus. 3 class-action suits involving ex-patients were pending when he died in May, and 2 were settled last week for $300,000. The judge ruled that the plaintiffs' welfare outweighs Marasco's privacy interest. 92

Friends ~ Roz Melvard inspired by her son
Steve Melvard

Gone away to a beautiful land
I walk with you still, I hold your hand

Short though it was, my life was full Blessed to have had friends like you

I know how you long for me, believe me I do
Did you really think I'd ever leave you?

All the fun we had together
In both the good and stormy weather

We had many a laugh and many a cry
When we the news we all knew I would die

My spirits you always tried to keep up
With love and compassion you filled my cup

Those last few months we knew what was ahead
Filling our hearts and minds with a terrible dread

For my family, you took my place
Guiding, helping them with gentle grace

Steadfast you were until the end
In vigil you watched your friend

Groggy and sleepy believe me I was
To be perfectly honest I had quite a buzz

It wouldn't be me without a joke
What a way to throw out my smokes

You held my hand, you kissed my face
Thinking to yourselves what a terrible waste

Taken in mist my spirit was
To a mystical land far above

I'm happy my friends, don't grieve for me
In heaven I am in ecstasy

Flowers ablaze with colors of love
Your earthly minds cannot fathom what's here above

My spirits will always exist
I kiss you gently, it's a mystical kiss

Thank you dear friends for all you have done
My spirit and yours are as one

Feel my presence? I know you do
Once again my friends I will never leave you

Stephen Maloney, 37, state clerk, Hub resident

Stephen J. Maloney of West Roxbury, a clerk for the commonwealth of Massachusetts, died Thursday at New England Deaconess Hospital. He was 37.

Born in Boston, he resided in West Roxbury.

He is survived by his mother, Phyllis L. Larkin of West Roxbury; a sister, Dianne Jones of Norwood; his grandmother, Evelyn Larkin of Dedham; and a nephew, Kenneth Jones Jr.

A funeral Mass will be celebrated 9 a.m. today in St. Mary's Church, 420 High St., Dedham.

Burial will be in St. Joseph's Cemetery, West Roxbury.

Arrangements are by Murray Funeral Home, West Roxbury.

During this past month, we lost three people who are known to Last Tuesdays. Gail MacDonald lived at Amory Street and found Last Tuesdays to be an important community for her; she died during Palm Sunday weekend. Sister Jeannette was a very good friend. We had a memorial service here at the Jesuit Urban Center on Thursday, March 31st with a number of people from Amory Street in attendance. 94

STEPHEN L. MELVARD

1960 - 1991

On Wednesday, March 20, the AIDS ACTION Committee and the larger community lost a very special man.

The only way to describe Steve Melvard would be in the words of his friends and colleagues: "Classy," "Committed," "Creative and attentive to detail," "100 percent an events person," "Dedicated — no, very dedicated," "Leonine and very French," "A man with a lot of nice ties," "Elegant, energetic, always in motion," "Tenacious," "Talented," "Thoughtful and generous," "Hardworking and a perfectionist — and don't forget loyal."

"Steven was a gentleman and a professional and definitely a class act." "He took what could have been a devastating blow and transformed it into something remarkable and artistic for the community." "Steve was a work of art."

These were just a few of the impressions shared by those who worked with Steve Melvard.

Steve's efforts with the AIDS ACTION Committee began shortly after he tested positive for the HIV virus in 1985. Having volunteered to work on the first Artcetera, Steve then decided to devote his energies full-time in the battle against this epidemic. In 1987 he joined the staff of the AIDS ACTION Development Department as the Small Business Coordinator. He organized the involvement of small businesses on Newbury Street and the Back Bay and for the next few years found he could make his largest contribution organizing events.

He played a major role in Aid and Comfort, Heartstrings, From All Walks of Life, the Provincetown Hat Party, and many other AAC events, both large and small. He was a volunteer, a full-time staff person, and later, a contract employee. There were times when he was a volunteer organizer at one event while having full responsibility for producing another event staged at the same time.

Steve's event production activities culminated with his co-production of the most successful Artcetera '90 last November.

Steve's other community activities included work with the Fenway Community Health Center, the National Lesbian and Gay Health Foundation, DIFFA, Bay Windows and South End News.

Jerry Mills, creator of the comic strip "Poppers," which was published in In Touch and Advocate MEN magazines, died of complications from AIDS Jan. 28 in Los Angeles. He was 41.

Terryl Joseph "TJ" Myers

Singer with The Flirtations

Charismatic singer of the a capella group, The Flirtations, lead dancer with the Rachel Lampert Dance Company and an organizational whiz kid of the Gay Men's Health Crisis, Terryl Joseph "TJ" Myers died peacefully of complications due to AIDS on August 28, days after moving from New York to San Francisco to join his lover, Michael Weiss. Born on February 7, 1960, in Twenty-Nine Palms, California, TJ had always wanted to live in his sunny birthstate. And in a very TJ-like fashion, he did what he set out to do.

A singer, dancer, actor, choreographer, producer, teacher, graphics designer, adventurer, TJ was a man of boundless talent and energy. There was seemingly nothing he couldn't do, nothing he couldn't make happen. He had the quickest mind I've ever seen. And there was nothing he loved more than a challenge.

When he came to New York after graduating Phi Beta Kappa from the University of Iowa (the state where he spent most of his youth), he quickly became a lead dancer with Rachel Lambert's modern dance troupe — an association that continued to his death. He also danced with several companies, including M.T.A. and the TNT Dancers, and in numerous shows and industrials. He even taught at the Joffrey.

TJ was what you'd call "a natural" — dancing came easily to him. He was a choreographer's dream. Not only could he remember whole combinations of steps from a rehearsal several weeks earlier, he was at home in every conceivable dance style. He moved with absolute surety and dramatic understanding. He was all confidence and concentration. It was the same quality that he brought to his work with The Flirtations. Even in his illness, he would somehow rise to the occasion, turning on all that TJ-electricity and warmth. Of course his boyish good looks and his sexy, pop voice didn't hurt. Audiences simply fell in love with him.

So did everyone at GMHC. He worked in the Department of Client Services for several years. There he developed their excellent publication, Living with AIDS — a resource directory for New York City. He also brought the Department into the computer age, changing most of their operational procedures and making them far more efficient. As I said, he loved a challenge.

His unexpected death left behind an army of friends, relatives and acquaintances: his lover Michael; his brother Randy and Randy's lover Jimmy Mello with whom TJ and Michael had lived in New York; his mother, Shirley, his three sisters and one other brother (all back in Iowa); Rachel Lampert and countless dance partners, students and choreographers, with whom he worked through the years; the "FAB—ulous Flirts" (as he used to call them, his voice soaring) with whom he created something that transcended the sum of their lives; scores of co-workers at GMHC; and thousands of friends and fans across the country.

TJ Myers

He touched so many people in so many ways in his short life. Several weeks before his death, we were sitting in a restaurant somewhere while out on the road (was it Chicago?) and our waitress admired one of his multiple silver earrings. He took it off and gave it to her. Vintage TJ. He was all about giving, doing and being. What a full, rich thirty years he had.

Funeral services were held in Iowa in early September, but a memorial service-celebration will be held in New York at a date to be announced. The family requests that memorial contributions be made to the University of Iowa Dance Department, or an appropriate AIDS organization.

Donations will be collected by The Flirtations: P.O. Box 421, Prince St. Station, New York, NY 10012-0008. It's little consolation, but I'm glad his final concert with The Flirts was one of those thrilling, magical performances (he was in his glory). I'm glad he made it back home to California. I'm glad Michael was at his side at the end.

—Jon Arterton

Bob Mundstock, 45, a Vermont artist and award-winning AIDS activist, died Oct. 11 in Vermont of AIDS complications. Mundstock helped found Vermont CARES, the state's first AIDS service organization, and Out in the Mountains, Vermont's Gay newsletter. The state Department of Health awarded him its 1992 AIDS Awareness Award in recognition of his efforts to educate high school and college students about AIDS.

Calvin Morgan, 49, Designer of Furniture

6-6-92

Calvin Morgan, a stage, furniture and interior designer, died on Saturday at Cardinal Cook Hospice in New York. He was 49 years old and lived in Manhattan.

He died of complications from AIDS, said David Ostwald, a friend.

Mr. Morgan moved to New York in 1976 to be the director of the Stage Division of the Juilliard School. While at Juilliard, Mr. Morgan designed productions for the drama, opera and dance departments.

Mr. Morgan left Juilliard in 1980 and began his career as a furniture designer in association with Ward Bennett. Mr. Morgan went on to design furniture collections in his own name for such companies as Steelcase, Hickory Business Furniture and Bernhardt. He also designed interiors, including his own Greenwich Village apartment, which appeared on the cover of the English magazine World of Interiors in April 1992.

A native of Clifton Forge, Va., Mr. Morgan was a professor of theater at Denison University before going to Juilliard.

Mr. Morgan is survived by his mother, Helen, a sister, Jane, and a brother Donald, all of Clifton Forge; and another brother, Richard, of Tampa, Fla.

MACKEY Thomas D. III, age 48, of Cambridge, MA, died on July 29, 1992, of AIDS related illness. Son of Thomas D. Mackey Jr. and Regina Mackey both of Ft. Worth, TX. Brother of Dr. Maureen Mackey of Las Vegas, NV, and dear companion of Carlos Davila of Jamaica Plain, MA. Nephew of Mary Rogers of Tom's River, NJ, and Marion and Felix DeGregorio of NY, NY. Also survived by several cousins and a very close circle of friends. Relatives and friends are invited to call Friday from 7-9 p.m. at the Celestial Chapel in the J.S. Waterman & Sons and Eastman-Waring Funeral Home, 495 Commonwealth Ave., BOSTON, Mass. of Christian Burial will take place Saturday 10 a.m. at the Holy Name Church, 1689 Centre St., West Roxbury, where family and friends may assemble prior to Mass. Interment will follow at Mt. Benedict Cemetery, West Roxbury.

MEEK—Formerly of Brighton, in Virginia Beach, Virginia, November 20, 1991. Wilfred (O'Connor), beloved wife of Warren L. Meek. Devoted mother of Kevin P. of Chesapeake, Virginia, Condon J. of Yuba City, CA and Catherine M. of Randolph, Mother-in-law of Kris E. Meek of Chesapeake, Virginia and Diane L. Meek of Yuba City, CA. Daughter of the late Patrick J. and Catherine (Gavin) O'Connor Lovine, sister of Margaret Kennedy of Brookline, Patricia Ridge of Norwood, Maureen McDonald of Randolph, John O'Connor of Phoenix, AR and the late James P. O'Connor. Dear friend of Margaret Wilkinson of Brighton and Joseph Killilea of Chestnut Hill. Funeral from the Gerald W. BRIGHTON, Tuesday morning at 10:00 am followed by a Funeral Mass in St. Columbkille Church at 11:00. Relatives and friends are kindly invited. Interment Calvary Cemetery, Woburn. Visiting hours Sunday and Monday 2-4 & 7-9 pm. Member First Re-servant Assoc., Branch #99, Ladies Auxiliary and the Irish-American Society of Tidewater Virginia. In lieu of flowers, contributions to the Children's AIDS Program, c/o Sarah Scobel, Dowling 5 So., Boston City Hosp., 818 Harrison Ave, Boston, MA 02118 in memory of Mrs. Meek would be appreciated.

Brian A. Moore, at 35, attorney, of Provincetown

7-21-94
Brian A. Moore of Provincetown, an attorney and former Boston resident, died Thursday at his Provincetown home of complications from AIDS. He was 35.

Born in Boston, he attended local schools. He lived in Boston for many years before moving to Provincetown more than a year ago.

Mr. Moore graduated from the University of Massachusetts in 1983 with a bachelor of science degree. In 1987, he graduated from the New England School of Law with a juris doctor and passed the Massachusetts Bar exam.

His first law position was as assistant general counsel in the Department of Mental Health. In 1989, he was staff attorney at the Department of Revenue.

In 1990, he opened an office at Court Square, with a concentration on mental health and probate law. He also acted as mental health special prosecutor, handling sexual assault and similar cases.

He is survived by his companion, D. Mark Hardwicke of Provincetown; his parents, Joseph T. and Marie V. (Summering) of Braintree and Port Charlotte, Fla.; a sister, Katherine M. Skinner of Lynnfield; a brother, Joseph T. Jr. of South Boston, Paul of East Bridgewater, James of Braintree; and many nieces and nephews.

RON JEAN-PAUL MARCIL

October 15, 1958 — January 6, 1995

Sparkles, laughs, frustrations, and tears (in both official languages), ice cream binges, painful talks 'til three or four. But always the laughter. Imaginary bears outside the cabin window, groceries from a stranger's shopping cart, brains connected to light switches.

Your chuckle was worth a million rainbows, heaven will be a far better place. Sorry I didn't get to say goodbye; goodnight Poux.

MOTTA, Gustavo Alfred. Died February 6, 1993 of AIDS-related illness. Composer, song writer, director, teacher, friend and life force. Murphy, Jo-Jo, Peggvy, Pat, James, Cornelia, Johnny and Barbara. Thank you for your life, your love and your music—Gusto, per sempre. Memorial concert in Spring, in Spring when blossoms re-appear, where they belong.

William (Wayne) Mattock

Passed away peacefully after a lengthy illness on November 2, 1994.

Survived by his parents Bill and Gladys and sister Barb. Memorial was held November 14, 1994.

DIED: F. George Mendenhall, gay journalist, 64, of complications from AIDS Feb. 21 in San Francisco. Mendenhall wrote for The Advocate from 1967 to 1976. 74

Anthony Mezias, Jr.

Helped start Commonwealth Day School

Anthony (Tony) Mezias, Jr., died of AIDS-related pneumonia at Brigham and Women's Hospital on June 9, 1990. He was 41. He spent his last two months at the Hospice on Mission Hill, where he received excellent care. He is survived by his mother, Helen Chapar Mezias, of Bridgeport, Connecticut, along with many aunts, uncles, cousins, nieces and nephews, all of Connecticut and New York City. Locally, he is survived by his cousin, Lawrence Mezias, and many friends.

Tony grew up in Fairfield, Connecticut, attended Emerson College and resided in the South End ever since. He was instrumental in starting The Commonwealth Day School where he worked for 12 years helping underprivileged children. After traveling extensively in Asia and throughout the world, he returned to Boston and opened Fiori's Flower shop on Tremont Street in the South End. He ran the flower shop for five years until it closed one year ago.

Anthony Mezias, Jr.

Contributions in his memory should be directed to Nancy Silverman at the AIDS Action Committee. □

Richard W. Maus

Family practice physician

Richard W. Maus, a family practice physician, died peacefully from complications related to AIDS on April 1 at the home of two close friends in Dedham. He was 34 and loved in Boston and San Francisco.

Rick was born and raised in Palmer, Mass. He graduated from the University of New Hampshire in 1979 with degrees in both Art History and Zoology. He completed his medical schooling at Tufts University in 1983.

He was a medical resident at Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center in New York City for pediatrics and at San Francisco General Hospital for family practice medicine. Upon his return to the Boston area, he joined the Codman Square Health Center in Dorchester as a family doctor.

While living in Boston, he became an avid Texas two-stepper, enjoyed bicycling and cooking, and had begun taking French lessons. In October, 1991, he fulfilled a longtime wish by touring New Zealand and Australia.

Rick leaves his parents, Catherine and William Maus of Palmer, his sister, Elaine Scarlattelli of Detroit, Michigan, and his friend, D.J. Wilson, of Malden.

Contributions on Richard Maus' behalf may be made to the Boston City Hospital/Children AIDS Program, 818 Harrison Avenue, Boston, MA 02118.

The abbot of a Benedictine monastery near Dade City hastened the death of an HIV-positive monk by subjecting him to emotional torment and harsh living conditions, the monk's parents alleged in a wrongful-death lawsuit filed in Pasco County district court Oct. 17.

The parents, John and Mary Meeker of New Port Richey, also alleged that their son, John L. Meeker, was coerced into naming the monastery as the primary beneficiary of his life insurance policy. The Meekers' son died of complications from AIDS Feb. 17, about three weeks after leaving the monastery.

Niles Merton, 40, former Advocate publisher, died of AIDS-related complications Thursday, March 14, 1996, at his Los Angeles home surrounded by family and friends, according to his partner of 11 years, David Russell, also of Los Angeles.

Merton was hired as chief executive officer and publisher of the Advocate in 1984. In 1993, his fourth year with full-blown AIDS, he stepped down from his position. Russell said Merton was responsible for transforming the Advocate from a newspaper to a magazine. In 1994, Merton and Russell cofounded the Los Angeles-based company Alverstone Medical Products. According to Russell, Merton was an active supporter of the Los Angeles Gay and Lesbian Community Center, and he revamped the Gay and Lesbian Community Center of the County of Orange, California, now known as the Center of the County of Orange. Merton was a longtime member of the Holy Nativity Episcopal Church in Los Angeles, where he founded and led the youth choir.

In addition to Russell, Merton is survived by his parents, Walter and Shirley; brother, Bryan Merton; and sister, Lee Kyle, all of southern California; and other brother and sister, Stefan Townsend of Frederick, Md., and Judy McKinney of Port Townsend, Wash.; and many godchildren of southern California.

Services were held March 17, in Los Angeles. Contributions may be made to the Black Gay and Lesbian Leadership Forum, the Phill Wilson Fund, 1219 S. La Brea Ave., Los Angeles, CA 90019.

— Christopher Jones

Steven M. Moreland

On June 15th Steven M. Moreland, age 27, formerly of Braintree, passed away in Columbus, Ohio due to complications from AIDS.

Steven was born Dec. 7th 1963 and had lived in Boston and New York most of his adult life. He moved to Ohio in 1986.

Memorial services given by his former lover and longtime friend Jonathan M. Defilippo will be held Friday July 19th at 7 p.m. at the chapel in the Arlington St. Church, 351 Boylston Street, Boston.

Douglas Milinazzo

Douglas Milinazzo, 34, passed away at his home in Milton on Oct. 2, attended by his lover, Gregory Baratini and members of his family. Doug died from complications due to AIDS.

Graduating in 1981 from Northeastern University as a physical therapist, Doug began his career at University Hospital, later joining the Visiting Nurses Association of Boston. He was respected by his professional colleagues for his skill and acumen and was loved by many of his patients as a warm and truly giving health care provider.

A keen and appreciative observer of his environment, Doug pursued a wide variety of avocational interests. He was a superb cook, especially accomplished in the cuisines of France and Italy. His eye for detail led to a natural delight in interior design and architecture. He could watch a tufted tumbler with as much pleasure, so varied was his appreciation. He had the opportunity to indulge in many of his interests and pursuits on trips to Europe, the Far East, and the Caribbean.

In the last few years, Doug became committed to and struggled courageously for an end to violence against gays and lesbians. After two traumatic personal experiences, he appeared on both the local and national media to discuss anti-gay violence, not flinching from identifying this menace in his efforts to address and overcome it. The positive response gratified him.

Doug also leaves behind his close companion, Norka Shedlock, and his family; including his mother, Patricia Milinazzo of Waltham; two sisters, Deborah and Lynn (Gaudet); two brothers, Peter and Louis; and his grandmother, Theresa McDermott of Waltham.

A memorial service will take place on Sunday, Dec. 6 at 3:00 p.m. at the J.S. Waterman and Sons/Eastman Waring Funeral home in Boston's Kenmore Square. In lieu of flowers, contributions may be made to the Douglas Milinazzo Memorial Fund, 333 Brush Hill Road, Milton, MA 02186.

Scott A. MacDonald, 29

Was barber in Salem

Scott Anthony MacDonald, a licensed master barber from Salem, died Tuesday in Beth Israel Hospital of complications from AIDS. He was 29.

Mr. MacDonald was born and raised in South Boston and had lived in Scituate for several years.

He graduated from the Massachusetts School of Barbering in Boston in 1980 and worked for Sir Hare in Somerville. He later opened his own barbershop in Somerville, naming it Scott Anthony Hair.

For the past five years he lived in Salem, where he was a member of St. Joseph's Parish.

Mr. MacDonald leaves his father, Richard MacDonald of Rockland; his mother, Katherine (Dwyer) MacDonald of South Boston; four brothers, Richard of Quincy, Steven of Weymouth, Glenn and Greg, both of Rockland; two sisters, Melissa and Donna Grace, both of Rockland; his stepmother, Donna MacDonald of Rockland; and his companion, Carl W. Ramos of Salem.

MATHEUS — Of Randolph, Sept. 9th, Alan D., age 37 yrs, lovingly survived by his partner Stephen Watson, his parents Elgene and JoAnn (Wheeler), two sisters, Allyson and Robin and their families all of Beasley, Texas and his other mother, Irene Whitman of Berwick, Maine, the Watson Family and his close friends, Jeff Dugan, Terry Young and Helen Ladd. A Celebration of Alan's life was held in Falmouth on Saturday, Sept. 16th. Donations in his memory may be sent to Community Research Initiative of N.E., 320 Washington St., Brookline, c/o Dr. Calvin Cohen, Funeral Services under the direction of J.S. Waterman & Sons-Eastman-Waring, 495 Commonwealth Ave., Boston.

David Mankaba, 32, guitarist for Bhundu Boys

HARARE, Zimbabwe — David Mankaba, a guitarist whose pop group the Bhundu Boys helped popularize African music in Europe and the United States, died Thursday of tuberculosis complicated by AIDS, relatives said. He was 32.

Mr. Mankaba died in his apartment in downtown Harare.

Mr. Mankaba's pop group made several successful tours of Europe and the United States and were especially popular in Britain.

After collapsing on tour in the United States last year, Mr. Mankaba was diagnosed as being infected with the virus that causes AIDS, friends and relatives said.

He later was visited in an AIDS hospice in Britain by singer Cliff Richard and Sarah Ferguson, the Duchess of York.

John Maddix, 42, a health educator who designed community training programs for the Whitman-Walker Clinic, died on Tuesday, December 15, 1992 at the Washington Home and Hospice in Northwest, of complications associated with AIDS.

Maddix joined Whitman-Walker in 1987 as director of Training after receiving a master's degree in social work from Catholic University of America earlier the same year. At the Clinic he coordinated the speaker's bureau and designed the clinic's HIV-related community training and volunteer programs, according to his friend, Fred Davidson of D.C.

Maddix also set up an extensive volunteer recruitment program at the Clinic and developed the "AIDS in the Workplace" seminars that have been presented to hundreds of area corporations and government agencies.

Following his retirement on disability in 1991, Maddix was appointed to the Clinic's Board of Directors, where he established the Persons with HIV Advisory Committee, according to Davidson. This year the Clinic recognized Maddix's contributions by awarding him the Courage Award and naming the Clinic's education building the John Maddix Center.

"John was very close to everyone here," said Jim Graham, the clinic's executive director. "We valued him for his wonderful spirit and his loving ways."

"John was an incredible model of commitment to people with AIDS and

The Larry Medley Staff Award is dedicated to the memory of Larry Medley, who worked at Whitman-Walker Clinic for nine years, from 1981 until his death in 1990. Larry served as the Director of the Gay Men's V.D. Clinic and, for a short time, as Administrator.

The three awards in memory of Gene, Fred, and Larry recognize those who have contributed to the well-being of the community

Frederick D. Murphy
Publicist, 53

Frederick D. Murphy, a New York publicist who represented entertainers and philanthropies, died on Nov. 7 at St. Luke's-Roosevelt Hospital Center. He was 53.

He died of complications from AIDS, said Ida Lewis, a friend.

In recent years he had helped in fund raising for the Urban League and the Dance Theatre of Harlem. Mr. Murphy, a graduate of Brooklyn College, was a free-lance writer in New York, then represented entertainers, singers, actors and record companies. His clients included Roberta Flack, Melba Moore and Miles Davis.

Mr. Murphy, who lived in Manhattan, is survived by three sisters and three brothers, all of Philadelphia: Sandra Willie, Lisa Murphy, Chelli Robinson, Roscoe Murphy, Robert Murphy and Craig Murphy.

those who are HIV positive," Davidson said. "He didn't know the meaning of the word quit."

Maddix was born in Mason City, Iowa, and grew up in Manly, Iowa. In 1973 he received a bachelor's degree in special education and psychology from the University of Iowa. Maddix moved to D.C. in 1973 and worked until 1976 as a vocational development coordinator for the Prince George's County public school system.

In 1977 Maddix received a master's degree in education from George Washington University and then joined the Peace Corps, where he lived in Brazil, according to Davidson. After three years of service in the Corps, Maddix returned to D.C. in 1980 and began working for ACTION, the federal domestic volunteer agency. After a year with ACTION, Maddix worked until 1987 for the World Bank in D.C. as a computer specialist.

Maddix's interests included bicycling, jogging, hiking, and traveling. He also was an accomplished pianist, according to Davidson.

Maddix is predeceased by his father, William Maddix. In addition to Davidson, he is survived by his mother, Louise Maddix of Manly; two sisters, Mary Soliere and her son, Michael of Holyoke, Mass.; and Helen of Broadview, Ill.; two brothers, Tom of Edmonton, Alberta, Canada; and William and sister-in-law Kim Hanson, and their children Lena, Rachel, Sonja, and Helen, all of Minneapolis, Minn.; and many close friends.

Maddix's remains will be cremated and interred in the Sacred Heart Cemetery in Manly, Iowa. A memorial mass will be held Saturday, Dec. 19, at 1 p.m., at St. Augustine Catholic Church, 1419 V St., NW, Washington, DC. Visitation will be on Friday, Dec. 18, at St. Augustine from 6 to 9 p.m.

Contributions in Maddix's name may be made to the Men's Outreach Education Program of the Sunnye-Sherman AIDS Education Program, Whitman-Walker Clinic, 1407 S St., Washington, DC 20009.

ANTHONY MARQUARDT

Anthony Marquardt, 35
Student of romance languages

Anthony Marquardt, a teacher of languages, died June 1 at his home in Provincetown from complications of AIDS. He was 35.

Born in Springfield, Ohio, he attended the Universita Italiana per Stranieri in Perugia, Italy, and held a BA in Italian/French studies and a master's degree in Italian literature from Ohio State University.

At his death, he was completing the final program elements for his doctorate in Romance languages and literature from the University of North Carolina graduate school.

He was nominated twice as a Fulbright Scholar, once in 1988 and again in 1990, based on his passion for languages. He lectured and studied in Romanic while focusing his research through the Linguistic Institute of Bucharest.

Mr. Marquardt first moved to Provincetown in 1984 and returned several times over the years. He maintained residences in Provincetown and in North Carolina.

Employed at the Boatslip Beach Club until illness prevented him from working, Mr. Marquardt also spent his time giving support and advice to many other people with AIDS.

He was a frequent participant in the Provincetown AIDS Support Group education program and spoke to high school audiences about AIDS and its impact on his life.

He leaves two brothers, Tom Wright, of Springfield, Ohio, and John of Tallahassee, Fla.; a sister, Mary Barnes of London, Ohio, and his partner, Jeffrey Meaney.

A memorial celebration of Mr. Marquardt's life will be held July 1, which would have been his 36th birthday, at noon at the Boatslip Beach Club in Provincetown.

Morty Manford, 41, a Lawyer And Early Gay-Rights Advocate

By BRUCE LAMBERT

Morty Manford, an assistant New York State attorney general and an early gay-rights advocate, died yesterday at his home in Flushing, Queens.

He was 41 years old and died of complications from AIDS, his family said.

Mr. Manford was a leader in the modern gay-rights movement. While a student in 1968, he helped found Gay People at Columbia University, one of the nation's first gay campus groups.

In 1969 he was at the Stonewall Inn, a Greenwich Village bar, when a melee broke out between gay customers and raiding police officers. The incident spurred protests and a new militancy. That year Mr. Manford helped found the Gay Activists Alliance and became its president. His mother founded the forerunner of Parents and Friends of Lesbians and Gays, a national organization.

But Mr. Manford was best known for his role in the 1972 indictment and trial of Michael Maye, then president of the city's Uniformed Firefighters Association. Mr. Maye was accused of beating Mr. Manford at a gay-rights protest.

The incident occurred at the 50th annual Inner Circle dinner and lampoon show, sponsored by present and former reporters and attended by public officials and business executives.

Mr. Manford and a few cohorts invaded the affair, in a Hilton Hotel ballroom, to distribute leaflets and briefly seize the stage. They protested that the news media and government were ignoring gay issues.

They were ejected. Some people followed them into the hallway, and a fight ensued. Several city officials who witnessed the incident testified at the trial that Mr. Maye threw Mr. Manford down an escalator, then kicked and stomped him.

Mr. Maye denied the charges, saying he had been attacked. In the end, the judge acquitted Mr. Maye. But the case drew attention to the protest, to violence against homosexuals and to attempts to adopt a city gay-rights law, which Mr. Maye adamantly opposed. The law finally passed in 1986.

Mr. Manford was born in Queens. He graduated from Columbia in 1975 and from Cardozo Law School in 1981.

Surviving are his mother, Jeanne, of Astoria, Queens, and a sister, Suzanne Swan of San Francisco.

MAIENZA—of Provincetown formerly of Norwood, March 29, 1993, Jeffrey J. age 39 after a long illness. Beloved son of Pauline (Sweeney) and the late Joseph S. Maienza. Brother of Mark H. of North Attleboro and the late Joseph S. Maienza III, and uncle of Felicia Maienza. Also survived by many aunts, uncles and cousins. Devoted friend of Jim Rann, John Ryan Perry and Ernie Reppucci of Provincetown. Funeral from the McHoul Funeral Home, Harry Kemp Way and Howland St, PROVINCETOWN, Thursday April 1st at 9am followed by a Mass of Christian Burial in St Peter the Apostle Church at 10 o'clock. Relatives and friends are invited to attend. Visiting hours Wednesday 2-4 & 7-9pm with Vigil Prayer at 8pm. Late employee Town of Provincetown, member of the Advisory Board of CRI of New England. In lieu of flowers, memorial donations may be made to Hospice at Mission Hill, 20 Parker Ave, Boston, MA

Ned Moraghan

January 31, 1994

Edward Lawrence Moraghan died at home on Monday, January 31, 1994, of AIDS; he was 45 years old.

He will be missed by many, but especially by his immediate family of lover, Brett Turner; sister, Rosemary Calabrese; brother, Tom Moraghan; and friends, Corky and Penny Courson; Bonnie; Gary; Hal; Joyce; Martin; Peter; Mikey; and Gridley.

Ned was a familiar face for many years in the box offices of first the Golden Gate Theatre and later the San Francisco Symphony. He was a proud friend of Bill W. for over 16 years.

We would like to express our heartfelt appreciation to the Coursons and the folks at the San Francisco Symphony. Their support provided Ned with the care that permitted him to pass in comfort and peace.

NEW YORK — 4½ years after an art dealer left $7 million to AIDS research, a judge appointed six trustees to manage the money. The money was left by Royal S. Marks, a prominent New York City art dealer who died in 1987, reportedly of AIDS. ... The New York Civil Liberties Union said it will sue the city's Board of Education for severely restricting the content of "safer sex" education in the schools. The board voted Wednesday to allow only materials that give more attention to abstinence than to other AIDS-prevention methods.

Bob Jeffrey Munzer

Dec. 22, 1955 - March 12, 1996

Bob died while he was watching an episode of the Golden Girls, a show he loved. His valiant and intelligent fight of almost 10 years against HIV and AIDS was over. Anyone who knew Bob will never forget his courage, honesty, patience and loyalty.

Bob was born in New York. He moved here in 1976, just in time for the Harvey Milk era.

However, this era was social, too. Bob spent Saturday afternoons with his favorite bartender, the recently deceased Craig Roody, at Kimo's. Saturday nights meant dancing at the End Up.

Bob's interest in the 49ers, California Angels and UCLA teams baffled Manny, Bill and Scott, the three men he was involved with, but it didn't puzzle me. I was his friend for 16 years and roommate for half that time. We talked about sports forever.

Bob had a serious side, too. In 1983, he earned a B.S. in business administration from SFSU. He served as an auditor at Homestake Mining Company.

The real strength of Bob's life came from his parents, Cal and Joan Munzer, who always showed total love and support for their son.

At Bob's request, no services were held. He was cremated on March 14. ▼

MANCINI—Gregory A. Died in his home on Dec. 17, 1993. Beloved companion of William Rice and Randolph Colvin. Most cherished friend of Judy and Eric Freedman, and Hilary and Randy Zelin. He will be lovingly remembered and will live in our hearts forever.

Ben Jeffrey Maddox

May 27, 1950 - Feb. 8, 1993

On February 8, 1993, Ben completed his journey on this earth after a long battle with cirrhosis of the liver. Those eyes, that smile, that happy personality are now bringing joy once again to Carlton and so many other friends that preceded him on his journey to a peaceful, happier place.

Since July of 1978, when Ben first arrived in San Francisco he touched and bettered the lives of many, many people. Ben was an important part of my life for over five years. His zest and appreciation for life taught me how to live. Ben's beautiful voice, which graced many theatrical performances both in San Francisco and his native Louisville, Kentucky, is greatly missed.

A part of you lives within me and so many other people who you touched in your time on this earth. For that, I am eternally grateful that you were and always will be a part of my life.

Goodbye, Ben. Charlie, Deborah, and all of your friends who were your family here miss you. ▼

ROLF ERIKSON PREPARING TO MARCH TO THE WHITE HOUSE BEARING THE ASHES OF HIS COMPANION, STEVE MADDOX. (STEVEN SKUCE PHOTO) 10/2/94

FRANK MARCUS, 68, who wrote the lesbian-themed play The Killing of Sister George (later made into a film) died Aug. 5 in London.

Raymond Macias

April 16, 1948 - Jan. 18, 1996

Raymond passed on to the other side to join lost loves of his heart on Thursday morning, Jan. 18. Complications of AIDS mounted quickly, resulting in a swift departure after his first hospitalization on the day after Christmas.

Raymond is survived by his mother, Carmen Postell of El Paso, Texas; his sister, Helen Jackson of Seaside, Calif.; and seven other siblings. He also leaves behind his close companion, Bill Moore, and a number of very dear friends who will greatly miss him, including Bob Mesi, Jere Mitchell, Dan Nuckels, Bob Roscher and Steve Seaver.

Raymond worked for Pacific Bell for 16 years and took a disability retirement 20 months ago. He had a unique mischievous innocence in the way he embraced life. While his pure honesty could at times be direct and exacting, his boyish charm also touched countless friends and acquaintances worldwide.

A void now exists that no one else can ever fill. We all will miss you, Raymond.

A memorial event is planned around Raymond's birthday in April. For further information, please call 415/647-5067. ▼

Macone

Formerly of Carlisle, October 30, Daniel Frederick Macone, age 37, Son of Thelma A. (Comedy) Macone of Cape Coral, FL and the late Frederick W. Macone. Brother of Nicholas Ralph Macone, Jane Marie Story, William Frederick Macone, Betsy Anne Bautista, Kathleen Marie Mock and Timothy Charles Macone, all of Cape Coral, FL; Joanne Macone-Smith of Hollywood, FL and Marcia Macone of Homer, AK. Grandson of Margaret (Foley) Macone of Carlisle. Also survived by twelve nieces and nephews and many aunts, uncles and cousins. Memorial Service Wednesday, November 2 at 2:30 p.m. in the Bigelow Chapel at Mt. Auburn Cemetery, Mt. Auburn Street, Cambridge. Contributions in his memory may be made to the Hospice at Mission Hill, 20 Parker Hill Avenue, Boston, MA 02120. Arrangements by Joseph Dee & Son Funeral Home, 27 Bedford Street, CONCORD.

MAURICE Died September 9th in Boston, Mr. Richard (Rusty) Maurice, aged 43 of 100 Mass Mill Drive, Lowell. There will be no calling hours. Funeral Tuesday morning with a Funeral Mass to be celebrated at 11 o'clock at St. Jean de Baptiste Church. Friends are invited to attend. Burial in St. Joseph's Cemetery. In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to the Mission Hill Hospice Program, 20 Parker Hill Ave., Boston, Mass. 02120. MAR-

DARYL MOORE, president of the People with AIDS Coalition of Dallas and one of the group's cofounders, died Aug. 10 of AIDS-related complications. He was 27. In March 1987, Moore was appointed to the board of directors of the National Association of People with AIDS and served as a cochair.

Hank Moir

1991

Hank Moir, 41, died of AIDS at his home in Cambridge early in the morning of Nov. 6. Through hard work and devotion of his family and close friends and the support of many others, Hank was able to live out his greatest wish, to remain home 'til the end.

Hank was born and grew up in Melrose. He was a graduate of Bryant and Stratton Junior College. He lived at various times in Naples, Italy and Sacramento. He had been a salesperson, waiter, framer, actor, photographer, and electronic typesetter. He served in the U.S. Navy from 1971 to 1975.

As a longtime survivor of AIDS, Hank had touched the lives of many. He volunteered at the AIDS Action Committee, on the hotline, for reception and at the speaker's bureau; worked on the Names Project and was an active supporter of "From All Walks of Life."

Hank was a wonderful man, stubborn as could be, handsome, private and a man with a great sense of humor. Hank changed all our lives and he will be deeply missed and lovingly remembered by those who called him son, brother, uncle, lover and friend.

He is survived by his parents, Henry and Dorothy; his sisters, Susan and her lover, Harneen, Carol and Barbara; his nieces and nephews, Kenny and his partner, Karen, Gail and her partner, John, Erin, Katie, Denise, Bobby, T.J. and baby Ryan, born on the day of Hank's passing; and his friends, Mark, Lisa, Sue, David and his aide Cheryl.

A memorial service and reception will be held at 4:00 p.m., Nov. 23, at the Church of All Nations, 333 Tremont St. (corner of Charles St. So., Boston). Donations in Hank's memory may be made to Cambridge Cares About AIDS.

Robert Mittle

Robert Neil Mittle, 36, of Washington, D.C., died on Monday, March 1, 1993 at the Washington Hospital Center of complications associated with AIDS, according to his friend, Linda Horn of Chevy Chase, Maryland.

A lawyer who specialized in real estate and financial institutions law, Mittle was an associate at Ingersoll and Bloch, a law firm in D.C. Mittle graduated in 1978 from Reed College in Portland, Ore. Five years later he earned his law degree from Lewis and Clark Law School in Portland. He received in 1985 a master's degree in public and private management from Yale University School of Management in New Haven, Conn.

Mittle was certified in environmental law, and coauthored Producing Lower Income Housing: Local Initiatives, a book published by the Bureau of National Affairs.

In addition to Horn, Mittle is survived by his companion, John Kiser; mother, Suzanne Mittle of Arizona; sister, Leslie Atkins of New Mexico; and brother, David of Dallas, Texas.

Mittle had been diagnosed with thyroid cancer and passed the five year mark in his fight against the disease, Horn said, signifying a cure. Contributions in Mittle's name may be made to the American Cancer Society, 1875 Connecticut Ave., NW, suite 730, Washington, DC 20009.

John Moylan

Former manager at Syms clothing

A memorial service was held for John Moylan at 10:00 a.m., Saturday, April 21, 1990, at the Church of the Covenant (corner of Newbury and Berkeley Streets) in Boston. John passed away on April 6, 1990, the result of AIDS-related opportunistic infections.

Prior to his illness, John had been a manager for Syms clothing stores in New York City, Peabody, and most recently Norwood, Massachusetts. He resided in the South End with his partner of nine years, Rod MacKenzie.

John is survived by his parents, Phil and Joan Moylan (formerly of Long Island and presently of Franklin Park, New Jersey), four brothers, one sister and his partner, Rod.

In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the Visiting Nurses Association of Boston.

Malcolm Maloof

Leader in rehabilitation nursing field

Malcolm Maloof, 39, died January 19 at his Washington, D.C. home of an AIDS-related illness, surrounded by many loving friends and family. At the time of his death, Malcolm was an Associate Administrator and Director of Nursing at the National Rehabilitation Hospital in Washington, D.C., and the National President of the Association of Rehabilitation Nurses. He is the author of numerous articles on the treatment and care of persons with disabilities and lectured throughout the country on rehabilitation issues.

Prior to 1982, Malcolm worked at Lakeville Hospital, Boston University Hospital and University of Massachusetts Hospital in Worcester, with a profound commitment to the care of persons with disabilities. He received his B.S. in Nursing from Northeastern University and his M.S. in Nursing from Boston University. During 1980 and 1981, he was a volunteer nurse in refugee camps in Thailand where he assisted Cambodian victims of the Pol Pot regime.

He left Boston in 1982 to become the Director of Nursing at Montebello Hospital in Baltimore, Maryland. He also volunteered with the Health Resources Education Organization (H.E.R.O.) where he led a support group for people with HIV disease.

Malcolm survived by his lover of eight years, Dan Anderson of Washington; his parents, Kaye and Eddie Maloof of Raynham, MA; six brothers, George, Peter, Thomas, Daniel, Philip and John; two sisters, Kathryn and Paula; a grandmother, Anna Maloof; and loving friends, Rick Gosselin, Christine Jervant, Diane Robinson, Trisha Vaccari, Denise Bisailon, and Kevin Clarke, all of Massachusetts.

1991

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Before they died of AIDS, Thomas Markowski and James Leach wanted to create a lasting legacy. The result: college scholarships for gay and lesbian students.

"It's wonderful that (their) vision is finally coming to fruition," said Bill Brockett, longtime friend of the couple and executor of their estate.

"I think along the way they did see that it was difficult for gay people to fit in ... they thought that was an injustice and they thought they might address that by providing education for gay people."

The $200,000 scholarship fund administered by the San Francisco State University Foundation was announced this week to the cheers of gay rights advocates.

"This is extremely significant for the gay and lesbian movement," said Robert Bray of the National Gay and Lesbian Task Force. "We're finally seeing the campus closet door opening."

Bray said the scholarships appeared to be among a very few in the nation and he did not know of any other grants left by and for openly gay students at a four-year school.

In 1989, two-year City College of San Francisco received $25,000 for scholarships for gay students from the estate of Dan Allen, who taught gay and lesbian literature at the school.

The scholarships, which will translate to about a dozen $1,000 awards a year, will be offered by the foundation to gay and lesbian students at San Francisco State University, the University of California at Berkeley and Stanford University.

Awards will be based on the student's potential to contribute to society, thereby raising the self-esteem and profile of the gay community, said Ron Barr, director of development at San Francisco University.

Barr said the university took a careful look at the recent controversy over whether grants for minorities violate federal government guidelines before accepting the scholarships. But since the fund is private, it was determined there would be no legal problems, he said.

For Brockett, announcing the scholarships this week helped him bid farewell to Markowski and Leach, whom he met shortly after they moved to San Francisco.

Markowski died in 1987 at age 28 and Leach died in 1989 at age 32.

When the men, both successful computer analysts, became ill, they felt that AIDS might not have reached epidemic proportions if there had been earlier intervention when the virus was considered to be largely limited to the gay community, Brockett said.

That led to the scholarship idea, he said. "They talked about the fact that this kind of thing didn't exist. It wasn't like, 'We're going to set this precedent. It was more like, 'Hey, this isn't available, let's make it available.'"

Jack Marshall

1952-1989

Jack passed away peacefully on Thursday, October 26, 1989, from complications due to AIDS. He was 32-years old.

Originally from Brockton, MA, Jack moved to Boston in 1981 to find work and live in the city. He moved to Hawaii in the mid-1980s with a lover then returned to Boston and was diagnosed in 1987.

We will remember Jack for his humor and wit and his loyalty to friends. His honesty and candor was rare. He was very brave during his illness. He will remain in our hearts and we will miss him very much.

JOE MAYS
Jan. 27, 1994, age 45
Veteran character actor who appeared on L.A. Law, as well as in the movies For the Boys and Mr. Saturday Night.

JACK MORAN
March 5, 1994, age 45
Singer on variety shows hosted by Ed Sullivan, Bing Crosby, and Bob Hope. Also appeared in TV commercials.

DANIEL JAMES MESSETT
Dec. 18, 1993, age 34
Choreographer and dancer who taught dance at UCLA. He appeared in the movies C.H.U.D. II and Fatal Beauty.

WINSTON MAY
April 29, 1994, age 57
A New York-based actor who appeared on TV and Off Broadway. A member of the Roundabout Theatre Company.

It's wrong to portray homosexuals as outsiders

My brother Jeffrey died of AIDS three weeks before Magic Johnson brought the topic into the American mainstream. In those few weeks, as my family and I talked about Jeff's death with friends and acquaintances, we relearned something that is too important to get lost in the sudden rush of concern over heterosexual vulnerability.

My parents were the first to notice that almost every time they talked about Jeff people would eventually, and carefully, mention that they, too, knew someone who had died of AIDS, or who had AIDS, or who might be at risk.

1991

In these conversations, the fact that the other person was gay was usually implied rather than stated.

Who knows how long the other person's homosexuality was suspected or known within the family or friendship network. It certainly wasn't discussed. But, because of AIDS, people are slowly and nervously beginning to open up.

Religious fundamentalists and political conservatives portray homosexuals as outsiders against whom American society must protect itself. But the truth is that there is no separation between homosexuals and heterosexuals; we are on opposite sides of a dividing line. The truth is that we are an integral part of each other's daily lives and deepest concerns.

For years the gay community, almost single-mindedly, has had to bear the burden of AIDS - caring for the sick, pushing for research into causes and cures, struggling for public understanding and support.

Now we all must join the fray. But we should acknowledge the heroism and contributions of those living and dead who have blazed the way.

STEVEN E. MILLER
Cambridge

Atty. Frederick Mandel, human rights leader, 42,

Frederick Mandel of Boston, an attorney and community human rights leader, died Monday of complications due to AIDS. He was 42.

Mr. Mandel served as the first director of the Boston Human Rights Commission, following many years as a civil rights spokesman and political activist.

Long active in the civil rights movement, he played a leadership role in efforts to rid Boston institutions of discrimination against people of color, gays, ethnic minorities, women and, most recently, PWAs - persons with AIDS.

His professional career as a public interest lawyer included service as a staff attorney at the Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination and the Mass. Department of Education.

A co-author of the Boston Human Rights Ordinance, he was appointed as the first director of the Boston Human Rights Commission, inaugurating procedures to shape the commission and establish it as a force in city government to meet the needs of the diverse population of Boston.

A major report of the Human Rights Commission during his tenure revealed widespread patterns of racial abuse in the Emergency Medical Services Department of the city. That report resulted in significant reorganization of the management structure of that city agency.

From 1988 to 1989, he served as legal counsel to the Committee on Bills in Third Reading at the House of Representatives on Beacon Hill.

In recent years he had turned his efforts to encouraging the formulation of programs to combat the AIDS epidemic and to help persons with the disease.

He was serving as executive director of Community Research Initiative, Inc., an organization that coordinates HIV/AIDS treatment and research, enabling individuals to obtain compassionate use of drugs under trial and to gain access to alternative therapies for various opportunistic infections associated with HIV/AIDS.

Mr. Mandel served on the Boston Ward 5 and Ward 11 committees and the Bay State Gay and Lesbian Democratic Club. Although he had been an active participant in the mayoral campaign of Mel King, he accepted Mayor Ray Flynn's invitation to serve as a co-chairman of Flynn's initial transition team on civil rights and minority affairs.

The task force studied minority business contracting, affirmative action and central compliance issues as well as municipal legislation relating to matters of human rights and produced hundreds of recommendations for changes in city government.

He served as financial secretary of the New England Region of the American Jewish Congress. He was responsible for the establishment of the American Jewish Congress/Combined Jewish Philanthropies Joint AIDS Task Force and played a crucial role in the establishment of Community Servings, a broad-based coalition working out of the American Jewish Congress office which began providing home-delivered hot meals to Boston residents with AIDS.

He was a member of the board of the Greater Boston Lesbian/Gay Political Alliance, the board of the Jewish Community Relations Council and vice chairman of the board of the Fenway Community Health Center, and the Government Relations Task Force of the AIDS Action Committee. He also served as a cooperating attorney with Gay and Lesbian Advocates and Defenders.

Mr. Mandel had been honored for his efforts by the AIDS Action Committee, AM TIKVA, the BL/GPA, AJ Congress and Combined Jewish Philanthropies.

He had attended the University of Wisconsin, graduated cum laude from City College of New York in 1968 and was a 1980 graduate of Northeastern Law School.

He is survived by his father, Daniel of Miami Beach, Fla.; a sister, Jane Hinerfeld; a brother, Alen of Philadelphia; his companion, Donald Yasi of Boston; a niece, a nephew, and an extended family of friends and colleagues.

A funeral service will be held at 4 p.m. today at Levine Chapels, 470 Harvard St., Brookline.

Burial will be in Miami, Fla. A memorial service will be held in Boston at a later date.

Arrangements are by Levine Chapels, Brookline.

Ernest Martin

Feb. 27, 1956-July 2, 1993

Our friend Ernest made a peaceful transition with the same dignity in which he lived his life, his strength and attitude throughout his illness being nothing less than phenomenal. Dear friend, your laugh and smile will be with us always.

Hey! Word up.

A tasteful soiree for his friends will take place Saturday, July 24, 1993. For more information call 431-5995. ▼

MIMO

NOVEMBER 24, 1965

MARCH 3, 1996

MEMORIAL SERVICE

ST. MARGARET'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH
1820 CONNECTICUT AVENUE, NW

SATURDAY, MARCH 9, 1996

2:00 PM

May 28, 1923-April 22, 1993

Michael Louis Marin, born May 28, 1923, in New Iberia, Louisiana, died April 22, 1993 in Thousand Palms, California.

Mr. Marin was self-employed for over 20 years in San Francisco after a 16-year career in Grand Rapids, Michigan. He retired to the desert in 1990.

He is survived by several generations of a very loving family in Louisiana, Alabama and Texas and a legion of loving friends in Michigan, Illinois and California. ▼

Jeff Myers

In memory of our beloved Jeff, a memorial service will be held in Golden Gate Park on Saturday, Sept. 17, at 1 p.m. For directions call Brian or Rick at (415) 552-8105. Please come. ▼

Kevin Francis Martin of Boston, at age 33

Kevin Francis Martin of Boston, an AIDS patient who courageously allowed himself to be photographed for a recent Boston Herald series on the AIDS epidemic, died Friday. He was 33.

Mr. Martin, whose compelling photograph graced the Herald's Oct. 1 front page, was quoted in the article as saying: "I think about the positive things. Most of my family and friends have been very supportive."

Born in Somerville where he was a longtime resident, he graduated from St. Joseph's Grammar School in Somerville and St. Mary's High School in Cambridge. He moved to Boston in 1987.

Mr. Martin was employed with the Polaroid Corporation in Waltham for 10 years.

He was later employed with the Marriott Hotel chain in both San Diego and Florida. He also worked for the Marriott Copley Place and Marriott Long Wharf in Boston.

An accomplished athlete, Mr. Martin ran six marathons and a number of half-marathons, traveling to Hawaii and New York for some of the events. He also completed a 500-mile trek of the Appalachian Trail.

At 41, Michael MacInnis, was in banking

Michael J. MacInnis of Cambridge, formerly employed in the banking industry, died Saturday at Beth Israel Hospital following a lengthy illness. He was 41.

Born in Boston, Mr. MacInnis graduated from high school and college in the Greater Bos-

FLASHBACK: Kevin F. Martin was pictured on Page 1 of a recent Boston Herald.

He is survived by his mother, Ellen Patricia (Murphy) of Malden; two sisters, Margaret Ellen McBrine of Malden and Mary Slattery of Millis; and a brother, James V. Jr. A funeral service will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow at Sacred Hearts Church, 297 Main St., Malden.

Arrangements are by Commonwealth Funeral Chapel, Brighton.

Donations in Mr. Martin's memory may be made to the AIDS Action Committee.

ton area.

He was employed in the banking industry for several years.

He is survived by his parents, Michael F. and Margaret E. (MacDougall) MacInnis-Jonah of Peabody; his brother, John S. of Brookline; and his dear friend, Rick Malin of Cambridge.

A funeral Mass was held yesterday for Mr. MacInnis at the Jesuit Urban Center, Boston.

Interment was in Mount Hope Cemetery, Boston.

Arrangements are by McNamara Funeral Home, Brighton.

Steven Moya
1959-1993
Services
Saturday May 1
at Club Cafe
4:30 pm.

At 35, Glen Munroe, restaurant manager

Glen T. Munroe of New Orleans, a restaurant manager formerly of Salem, died Aug. 8 at his home of complications from AIDS. He was 35.

Born in Milwaukee, Mr. Munroe lived in Salem for 20 years. He was a graduate of Essex Agricultural School and Stockbridge School of Agriculture at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst.

He had been a resident of New Orleans for 11 years.

Mr. Munroe is survived by his parents, Frank and Nancy "Ann" (Broderick) of Belmont; two brothers, Paul of Gloucester and John of Stoughton; a sister, Nancy of Randolph; and a longtime companion, Keith Adam.

A memorial service will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday at First Universalist Church, 211 Bridge St., Salem.

Following the service is a gathering at St. Mary's Cemetery, Salem. 1992

David L. Mattingly

Aug. 3, 1955-Feb. 2, 1993

David L. Mattingly, son of Matt and Marge Mattingly, died on February 2, in the home of his longtime friend Glenda McDowell, in Oakland, California, after a two-year struggle with AIDS.

David was born and raised in Richmond, California. He attended Chico and San Francisco State Universities, studying education and drama. He taught dance, English, and drama in Las Vegas and Union City. He was presently employed in Hayward coordinating substance abuse prevention programs for youth. He was dedicated to working with troubled youth throughout his years in education. David loved the outdoors and walks on the beach. His wonderful sense of humor saw him and his friends through his long illness. He was clean and sober for almost four years, developing a strong sense of spirituality and honesty.

A memorial service honoring his life will be held Friday, March 19, at the First Unitarian Church of Berkeley, at 7:30 p.m. Donations may be made in David's name to Kaiser Permanente Medical Center, 280 W. MacArthur Blvd., Oakland, CA 94611, Attn: Hospice; Project Open Hand, 5720 Shattuck Ave., Oakland, CA 94609; or the scholarship fund for forensic students, New Haven Schools Foundation, 34200 Alvarado-Niles Road, Union City, CA 94587-4402. ▼

Vernon Mitchell, founder of the first clinic for treatment of gays and lesbians with sexually transmitted diseases in Los Angeles, died of complications from AIDS Dec. 21 in Los Angeles. He was 65. In 1987, Mitchell won a bias lawsuit against the Boys Market chain of grocery stores. 1991

Rick Marshall

Richard "Rick" Marshall, 44, of Philadelphia died Feb. 7, 1996, of complications due to AIDS.

Marshall was born in Hampton, Va., and educated in the public schools there. He graduated from East Carolina State University in Greenville, N.C., and taught art in the Virginia public school system.

He moved to Philadelphia where he was a self-employed artist for the past 11 years.

Marshall is survived by a stepmother, one sister, one niece and one nephew.

A memorial service will be held at 11 a.m. March 30 at the Tenth Presbyterian Church, 17th and Spruce streets.

Memorial contributions may be sent to ActionAIDS, 1216 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa. 19107-9749. ▼

Luther Miller

By Timothy Cwiek
PGN Contributing Writer

Luther Miller, a founder of Unity, a Philadelphia AIDS agency for black gays, died Jan. 22 from complications due to AIDS. 96

He was 42 and lived in West Philadelphia.

"Luther's skills were invaluable to us in forming Unity," said Unity Director Tyrone Smith. "He had great clerical skills, and he was a wonderful tailor. He made Unity's banner, and several scarves that members wore in the early days. He also was a good baker. He used to bring pineapple upside-down cakes to our meetings."

Miller worked as an unemployment-compensation claims examiner for the state Department of Labor and Industry for 20 years. He retired in May 1995, said his friend Yvette Allen of the Cobbs Creek section.

"Luther was involved in my life for 10 years," Allen said. "My whole family adored him. He was the perfect godfather for my daughter, Terri Jessica. I don't regret our friendship for one moment, despite the pain I'm in now. I wouldn't hesitate to do it again. He enriched my life in so many ways."

Allen added: "Luther was ready to pass on, he knew he wouldn't get better. He went into the hospital on Jan. 3, and never got out. He died in my arms; I had to bury him on Jan. 27, my birthday."

Smith said he never would forget Miller, and Miller's name will be placed on Unity's memorial plaque displayed in the agency's lobby.

"It was always fun to be with him," Smith said. "Luther didn't have a zillion friends, he wasn't a groupie. But the friends that he had, he was extremely loyal to. I feel honored to have my life touched by him."

Miller graduated from South Philadelphia High School and attended Drexel University. He was an active member of the Nazarene Baptist Church in the Nicetown section since November 1966, Smith said.

"He had a strong belief in the Lord," Smith said.

He is survived by his mother Mabel Miller; one sister, Priscilla; and four brothers, Edward, Cornelius, Lloyd and Alfred.

No memorial service is planned. ▼

Dal Lee Moore died Dec. 9 of complications from AIDS in Los Angeles. He was 32. A native of Oklahoma, he operated his own business, "Grease Monkeys," where he worked on vintage automobiles. An active member of The Cars of Yesteryear car club, he is survived by his mother, father, two brothers, and his beloved 1957 Thunderbird. 95

Steve Merritt

Choreographer, 48 / 1993

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Jan. 29 (AP) — Steve Merritt, a choreographer and stage director who helped to create several Las Vegas shows, died on Tuesday in Los Angeles. He was 48.

His family said he had died of AIDS. Mr. Merritt's last stage musical, "Night Dreams," had a brief run at the Dunes Hotel in 1991.

Ten years earlier, he was a co-creator of the show "Dream Street," which opened at the Dunes and later played at the Desert Inn Hotel.

Mr. Merritt began his career in the late 1960's choreographing opening acts for Sammy Davis Jr. He later worked with many stars, including Petula Clark, Tom Jones, Liza Minnelli and Pia Zadora.

In 1989, he choreographed the Academy Awards show in Los Angeles.

MIRABILE—Of Florida, formerly of Walpole, July 5, Charles E. Survived by his friend and companion of 28 years, Gary Hough. Father of David J. of Florida, Kevin J. of South Attleboro, Scott M. of North Attleboro, Gregory C. of Foxboro, and Reatha Lu-Anne (John) Murray of Florida. Son of Annie (Celli) of Florida and the late Gaspare. Brother of Richard and George both of MA and the late Vincent. Nephew of Mark (Jeannie) Mirabile of FL. Survived by eight grandchildren and many nieces and nephews. Funeral from Kraw-Kornack Funeral Home, 1248 Washington St., NORWOOD, Monday at 8 a.m. Funeral Mass at 9 a.m. Blessed Sacrament Church, Walpole. Visiting hours Sunday 2-4 and 7-9. Interment Knollwood Memorial MATTSON—Robert E. of Walpole, March 15. Beloved son of the late Robert and Florence (Giandomenico) Mattson. Father of Susan E. Levey and her husband Neil S. Levey of Wrentham. Grandfather of Steven, Justine, and Nicole Levey, also survived by his close friend Brian B. Maloney of Walpole. Services in the United Church of Walpole, Friday at 12:30. Relatives and friends invited. Visiting hours in the Ginley Funeral Home, 892 Main St., WALPOLE, Thursday 2-4, 7-9. Donations may be made in Bob's memory to the Joslin Diabetes Foundation, 1 Joslin Pl., Boston, MA 02215 or the American Cancer Society, 294 Pleasant St., Stoughton, MA 02072.

Peter B. Mumford

Stage Manager, 48

Peter B. Mumford, a production stage manager for Broadway and Off Broadway shows, died on Sunday at Tisch Hospital in Manhattan. He was 48 and lived in Manhattan.

The cause was lymphoma and AIDS, his family said.

Mr. Mumford last worked on "Lost in Yonkers." His other shows included "Buddy," "The Heidi Chronicles," "Legs Diamond," "Dreamgirls," "Dancin'," "Baby," "Little Shop of Horrors," "The Gin Game" and "Same Time Next Year."

He was born in Plainfield, N.J., and attended Emerson College in Boston.

He is survived by his mother, Jane Barbara Mumford, and a sister, Catherine M. Shea, both of Narragansett, AMA was founded in 1945 by the late Bob Mizer (1922-1992). With few exceptions, every photo, film, magazine, & video ever produced by Bob is still available.

H. David Meador

Art Director, 47

H. David Meador, an art director, at the D'Arcy Masius Benton & Bowles advertising agency in New York, died Saturday at Lenox Hill Hospital. He was 47 years old.

Mr. Meador lived in Manhattan. He tested H.I.V.-positive five years ago and died of pneumonia, said Linda Mays, his executor and friend.

A fine-arts graduate of the University of Arizona, Mr. Meador started his career with the J. Walter Thompson agency. He worked there for 19 years, becoming a vice president. After a freelance period, he joined D'Arcy Masius in 1990. He was promoted last year to senior vice president and senior art director. Over the years, his work was recognized with dozens of awards.

Mr. Meador is survived by his mother, Mary Meador, of San Bernardino, Calif., and a sister, Mary Ann Watson, of Phoenix. 8-1-92

Rene Mojena

Feb. 12, 1955-April 22, 1993

After a long battle, Rene passed away at 10 p.m. on April 22, 1993 from AIDS-related complications. Rene, who was born in Cuba, came to the US in 1980, and made his home in San Francisco in 1982. His hobby was collecting antique dolls. Rene was a very religious person. He had a good heart and never gave up while he had the disease. He leaves his father, Rene, and brother, Juandy. He will also be missed by his friends Fernando, Richard, Albert and Bob, who will always love him. ▼

MORRISSEY—Michael T. An attorney, died Thursday, at St. Luke's Roosevelt Hospital in Manhattan. He was 42. The cause of death was complications from AIDS. A graduate of the University of Rhode Island and of Brooklyn Law School, Mr. Morrissey was for many years a publication manager with Matthew Bender & Company. He also pursued doctoral studies in the French department at Rutgers University. He was active in various gay and lesbian organizations including NYACN and Act Up. He is survived by his mother, Theresa, of Lincoln, RI; two sisters, Joanne Murray also of Lincoln, and Maureen MacDowell of Juneau, AK; an aunt, Margaret Sculley of Central Falls, RI; two nieces and a nephew. He is also survived by his care partners, Joan P. Carone and Eari Maroña, Jr. Services will be in Lincoln, RI, Tuesday, April 19, 10 AM, at Bellows Funeral Home, A New York memorial service will be announced at a later date. 4-14-94

MAZER—Alan. At age 46. To a dear friend who fought a courageous battle with determination and dignity. We will miss your humor and generous spirit. God bless you. Peter, Gerry, Tony, Tony, Bart, 11-17-97 Tim, David, and Jeff

John Martin, 38, a Researcher Who Studied the Impact of AIDS

1-17-92

By BRUCE LAMBERT

John L. Martin, a Columbia University professor and an AIDS researcher who started a pioneering study on the sexual behavior of gay men and the emotional impact of the AIDS epidemic, died of the disease on Friday at his home in Los Angeles.

He was 38 years old and had his primary residence in Manhattan.

He continued working until the final days of his illness, said Laura Dean, an associate and friend, who gave the cause of death.

Mr. Martin's study, an annual follow-up survey of hundreds of New York City gay men, was developed in 1982 soon after the first few AIDS cases emerged.

The study asks hundreds of questions on topics such as age, race and income, the number of sex partners, safer sex practices, testing and anxiety. The data have produced more than 20 papers in professional journals so far. The project, a model for surveys elsewhere, will continue.

Among its findings were that AIDS made most gay men more cautious sexually, with fewer partners, fewer anonymous encounters and more use of condoms. Another finding was that there was a high degree of stress in those who were infected with the AIDS virus and those who experienced repeated bereavement, often while still in their 30's and 40's.

Professor Martin was cited for outstanding achievement by the American Psychological Association in 1990, twice was a fellow at the Center for Advanced Studies in the Behavioral Sciences at Stanford and in 1991 won a five-year research grant from the National Institute of Mental Health.

He was also a consultant to local, state and national agencies, including the National Institute of Drug Abuse, the National Academy of Sciences and the city's expert panel that reviewed disputed estimates on the number of people infected with AIDS.

Professor Martin was born in Naples, where his father was in the United States military, and grew up in Berkeley, Calif., where he graduated from the University of California. He earned a doctorate in psychology from the City University of New York and later a master's degree in public health from Columbia.

His companion is Michael Salvetta of North Hollywood, Calif.

Mr. Martin is survived by his parents, Gertrude and Henry, of Penn Valley, Calif.; three sisters, Mary, of Corte Madera, Calif., Jane, of Kensington, Calif., and Judy, of McCall, Idaho; and three brothers, James, of Winnemucca, Nev., Michael, of San Jose, Calif., and Larry, of Boise, Idaho.

Michael Miller, 46, Amateur Historian Of Theatrical Lore

3-20-93

By DAVID W. DUNLAP

Michael R. Miller, a theater historian and New York City hospital official, died on Saturday at the Roosevelt division of St. Luke's-Roosevelt Hospital Center in Manhattan. He was 46 and lived in Manhattan.

The cause was AIDS, said his sister, Carol Lynn Hellman.

Mr. Miller, a New York City native, attended Hunter College and St. John's University Law School. He worked successively for the city's Human Resources Administration, Department of Employment and, most recently, Health and Hospitals Corporation, where he was an assistant vice president at the time of his death.

Although his career was in city government, Mr. Miller's passion was the architecture and lore of theaters. He was president of the Theater Historical Society of America from 1985 to 1989 and its regional director for the New York metropolitan area from 1973 to 1989.

A Step Ahead of Wrecking Crews

He documented hundreds of auditoriums in New York and other cities, paying meticulous attention to everything from the tiniest nickelodeons to the grandest movie palaces and grandest Broadway houses.

With A. J. Buttler, another historian, he took 10,000 pictures of operating and abandoned theaters. Sometimes sneaking in hours ahead of the wrecking crews, the two would photograph by flashlight or whatever daylight filtered in through open exit doors. They braved rotting floors, hostile owners and once, in Brooklyn, gunfire.

Mr. Miller also pored over building permits, blueprints and company records to pinpoint the evolution of each building.

His collection is to be incorporated into the archives of the Theater Historical Society in the York Theater in Elmhurst, Ill., Mr. Buttler said.

In addition to his sister, of Yorktown Heights, N.Y., Mr. Miller is survived by his companion, Archie Williams Jr.

Bob May

Nov. 9, 1947-March 2, 1993

Bobby died at his apartment after a two year battle with AIDS. He is survived by his parents, Bill May and Helen Stout of Dallas, and his friends who loved him, Daniel, Jerry, Fernando, Ray, Steve and Lee.

Bobby is remembered for many things that became his trademarks. During his 12 years in San Francisco, he maintained his unmistakable Texas accent and tremendous pride in Dallas and Texas. His black Jeep that he kept spotless, his extensive wardrobe, and his beautiful apartment all demonstrated his style and creativity. His work in display for several stores allowed his creativity to be shared by many people throughout California and Texas.

He will be missed by those of us who loved him and cared for him. His loss is especially hard for his two constant companions — his cats Cinnabar and Pasha.

MITZMAN—Marni. The Board and Officers of Concerned Parents for AIDS Research mourn with profound sorrow the untimely death of Marni Mitzman, age 26, beloved daughter of our colleagues Eileen and Neil Mitzman. This loss is incalculable and totally unfathomable. May the memory of her beauty sustain her parents in their time of grief. The family requests that donations be made to CPFA, 389 Fifth Ave, Suite 500, NY 10016. Phyllis Danilow, President 7/10 1991. Lola Froman, Secretary

MATHEWSON—Joseph. Hopkins, Jr. on August 21, 1993, age 56. Much loved by his sisters, Gee Gee and Mary Lou and his companion, Nick. Funeral arrangements private. Memorial service at a later date.

MINDELL—Mark. Bernard, 34, on November 16, of melanoma. He will be missed and loved by his family and friends. 74

MERTZ—Richard. James, 55. Died peacefully on August 11, 1993 at his home in Altamonte Springs, FL. He was a long term survivor of AIDS. He leaves his mother, Esther Mertz, a sister, Susan Jo Croker, a nephew, John Quinton Croker III, two nieces, Michelle and Deborah Croker and his companion, Stephen Ziffer. Richard Mertz was a Managing Partner of Publisher's Clearing House, Director of the Joyce Mertz Gilmore Foundation and founded Karlton Films. He did exhaustive research on the arts of the 1940's and 1950's, specializing in the film and music of that era. He enjoyed sharing that vast knowledge and had wide ranging philanthropic interest. A private service will be held.

DAVID SHEM MEISLER October 31, 1989. You're constantly in our thoughts, and forever in our hearts! We miss you and we love you very much! Your Buds, Larry, Joe and John.

METZGAR—Arthur. died on December 5, at home in Manhattan. He is survived by his best and dearest friend, Dennis Donegan; brothers, Marvin and Carl Metzgar. He was the son of the late Marvin and Julia (nee Beuman) Metzgar, of Easton, PA. Services will be held on Wednesday, December 9, at Forks Church in Forks Township, PA., at 11AM. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to GMHC or the New York City Gay Men's Chorus. He was employed by Conde Nast as Layout Manager for Bride Magazine.

MACKIE—Robin. 33 year old son of designer Bob Mackie, died March 15 in Los Angeles. He had suffered from AIDS for the past four years. Private funeral services are scheduled for Thursday, March 18, and burial will be in Rose Hill Cemetery in Whittier, CA. Young Mackie was an artist and, in addition to his father, is survived by his mother, Mrs. Lulu Nicholson. In lieu of flowers, the family has requested donations to AIDS Project of L.A. or DIFFA. 75

MOONEY—Robert. We are deeply saddened by the death of our colleague and friend, Robert Mooney, a spirited advocate for housing opportunities and services for persons with AIDS. New York State Department of Social Services/Homeless Housing and Assistance Program

MOFFETT—Les. Lee passed on from this life peacefully at home Aug. 27, due to AIDS after a courageous battle against this plague. He is survived by Scott Linder, his loving companion of 13 years, parents Warren and Frances and brother Ken. Lee will always be remembered for his gentleness & quiet strength. He was a recognized architectural model maker in NY. He will be missed by many including those at Don Buchwald & Assoc. Services Sunday, Aug. 29, 1:30PM, Frank E. Campbell, Mad Avenue at 81 St, NYC. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to GMHC, Broadway Cares or Visiting Nurses of NY. Mr. Linder will receive Sun. thru Tues.

MESSORE—James A. age 42, December 4, 1992 of New York City and Easthampton, L.I. Peacefully at home with loving family and friends. Survived by his best and dearest friend, Anthony Trinchitella; his mother, Anne Messoro; brothers, Patrick and John. Son of the late Dominick Messoro. Service today, Sunday, 2 P.M., Frank E. Campbell, 1076 Madison Avenue at 81 St, NYC. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made in Jim's memory to the AIDS Resources Center Supportive Housing Program, 275 7th Ave., NYC.

WILLMAN—David B. Age 22, on February 3, 1992 from AIDS. Beloved husband of Corral Anne. Totally devoted father of sons, David James and Kerry Michael. Loving son of Leslie and Matt. Dear brother of Stacey Allison and Keith Jeffrey. Funeral Thursday, 2 PM at Gutterman's, 8000 Jericho Turnpike, Woodbury, N.Y.

MURRAY—David. died peacefully at home on March 6, following a long illness. A very special person of great style and immense creativity David passed out of this world with dignity and grace. He will be greatly missed by all who knew him. His life partner Les, his brother Richard, cousin Dorothy and close friends Nace, Clifford and Virginia. At David's request there will be no formal service but his friends will gather to celebrate his memory on Friday, March 12 at 8PM at 130 West 26 St, apt 4. Donations in his name may be made to the Gay Men's Health Crisis, 129 West 20 St, NYC, or flowers may be sent to West 26 St.

MORALES—George C. of New York City on February 7, 1994. Retired employee of the New York City Department of Mental Health, Mental Retardation, and Alcoholism Services. Loving son of the late Michael and Candida and devoted brother of Margie, Michael, Robert and Annie. Beloved uncle, in-law and friend to many. Funeral Mass Saturday, February 12, 11 AM at the Church of St. Luke in the Fields, 487 Hudson St, NYC. In lieu of flowers donations to American Cancer Society and St. Luke's AIDS Association.

MORGENSTERN—Meyer, age 40, passed peacefully at his home on Sat, Mar. 26, 1994 after a prolonged illness. Meyer was a highly talented designer who leaves a legacy of artistic creativity that lives on, brightening the lives of his clients and friends. Generosity was one of his most endearing trademarks. Meyer's extraordinary sense of humor and zeal and energy for life will be missed by all those he touched. Funeral services will be held on Tuesday, March 29th at 1:00PM at Riverside Chapel, 180 West 76th St, N.Y.C.

MACZULSKI—Bohdan A., Jr. Age 41. Of South Orange, N.J., on May 24, 1993. Companion of Christopher Uffler. Son of Louise Johnson of Cape Coral, Fla. and the late Dr. Bohdan A. Maczulski of Detroit. Brother of Margaret Maczulski of Evanston, Ill and JoAnne Maczulski of Chicago, Ill. Beloved friend of all who knew him. A Mass of Christian Burial will be celebrated in Our Lady of Sorrows Church, South Orange, N.J., on Saturday, May 29th at 10AM. Memorial donations to Good Shepard AIDS Ministry in care of Our Lady of Sorrows Church, 217 Prospect St., South Orange, N.J. 07079.

Gene Matysek, Jr.

Eugene "Gene" Edmond Matysek, Jr., of Arlington, Virginia, died of complications associated with AIDS on Wednesday, March 10, at the George Washington University Hospital, according to his partner of six years, Alfred Willis of Kent, Ohio. He was 42.

A native of Baltimore, Md., Matysek received a bachelor's degree in physics from Loyola College in that city. Upon graduation in 1972, he entered the United States Army. While enlisted, he was stationed in such places as Manhattan, Kan., and earned in 1983 a master's degree in systems management through a program with the University of Southern California, in Los Angeles.

During his 14 year career with the army, Matysek received several awards including the Army Achievement medal and the National Defense Service medal. In 1987, Matysek resigned with the rank of major from Fort Sheridan near Chicago, Ill., and received an honorable discharge.

Matysek then moved to Arlington in 1988 and registered with the University of Maryland in College Park, Md., eventually being awarded a master's degree in library and information science from the university in 1992. Also, in May 1989, Matysek began working as an operation research analyst at the Fuel Supply Center for the U.S. Department of Defense in Alexandria, Va.

According to friend and the center's Director of Resource Management John Goodworth, Willis was an acting chief official in organizing the center's Total Quality Management program, a process for determining how an organization's business processes can work more efficiently and less costly. During a five month period, Matysek trained approximately 100 people in the program. Matysek described the experience in an upcoming article in the Journal of Library Administration.

Interested in swimming, Matysek was a member of the D.C. Aquatics Club. He served for three years as the sports organization's secretary and for four years as the director of the club's annual Columbus Day Classic swim meet.

His hobbies included collecting stamps, postcards and books. Willis said another interest of Matysek was contemporary art, especially performance art and photography.

In addition to Willis, Matysek is survived by his parents of Baltimore; and many other relatives and friends.

Matysek's remains were cremated and the ashes were interred with full military honors at the National Cemetery in Arlington on Monday, March 22.

A memorial service is scheduled at 3 p.m., Saturday, April 3, at the Society of Friends' House located at 2121 Decatur Place, NW, in Washington, D.C.

Contributions in Matysek's name may be made to Whitman-Walker Clinic of Northern Virginia (NOVA), 3426 Washington Blvd., Suite 102, Arlington VA 22201 or to the Jay Fisette campaign, 4620 Lee Highway, Room 209, Arlington VA 22207.

Scott Eugene Mullins, 25, of Washington, D.C., died on Monday, February 1, 1993 at his home of complications associated with AIDS, according to his friend, Patrick Framey of D.C.

Mullins was born in Fremont, Mich. After he graduated from high school in 1985, Mullins studied health care management. He moved to D.C. in 1987, and began working at the Mount Vernon Nursing Center in Alexandria, Va.

Subsequently, Mullins worked in the emergency room at Fairfax Hospital in Falls Church, Va.; for Windsor Home Care in D.C.; and at Complete Care, Inc., now called House Call, in Alexandria. Since early 1992, Mullins was vice president of AIDS Management, Inc., an organization that educates people who are living with HIV and AIDS about therapy and treatment options. He also was a founder of Family of Friends, a group that provides companionship and care for people living with HIV, Framey said.

"Scott was a very kind and generous person who was well loved and will be missed by his many friends," said Susan Roland, Mullins's friend and roommate.

In addition to Framey and Roland,

Mullins is survived by his parents, Irene and Ronald Mullins; two brothers, all of Michigan; aunt, Inuz Mullins of Fort Belvoir, Va.; and other relatives.

By WILLIAM H. HONAN

Eugene Clarence Braun-Munk, an international publisher, died in Paris on June 2. He was 58.

The cause was AIDS, said Page Ashley, a friend.

Mr. Braun-Munk, born in New York City of mixed Hungarian and German parentage, once told an interviewer he had been raised "between Berlin and Budapest" and jovially called himself "a middle-European cocktail." He spoke fluent French, German and Hungarian, and read Spanish and Italian.

He was educated at the Bentley School in New York City and the University of Wisconsin.

In 1961, while general manager of the Paperback Gallery branch at 399 Avenue of the Americas, Mr. Braun-Munk was one of four Greenwich Village booksellers who opened their stores on a Sunday afternoon, seeking a constitutional test of the state Sabbath law and their right to sell books on Sundays. All four were arrested, but soon the charges against them were dismissed because the policeman who served the summonses could not be sure that he had witnessed a book being sold.

In 1976, the New York State Court of Appeals ruled that prohibitions against public sales on Sunday were unconstitutional.

In 1964, Mr. Braun-Munk moved to Paris as director of Hachette's Librairie Etrangère, which distributes non-French books. Later, through an arrangement with the publishers Editions Stock and Grosset & Dunlap, he became the first French publisher to employ a personal imprint: Collection Eugene Clarence Braun-Munk.

Under this imprint, he published many well-known American authors in French translation, including James Baldwin, Henry Miller and Carson McCullers.

The first book under his personal imprint was "The Merry Month of May," James Jones's novel based on the student uprising in France in 1968. The French translation came out in 1971 and was dedicated to Mr. Braun-Munk. His greatest commercial success was Norman Mailer's "Marilyn," which sold 35,000 copies.

MEYERS—Belle. Widow of Dr. Jerome Meyers, former Health Commissioner of New York City. Died peacefully in her sleep at age 94. She was a celebrated Oshibana Artist and had a quick wit which was loved by her young friends as well as her peers. She is survived by her daughter Edith and her son-in-law Max Meyer. She also leaves behind two grandchildren Elizabeth Glaser and Peter Meyer, as well as three great grandsons Jake Glaser, and Craig and Jason Meyer. There will be no service. Contributions to Pediatric AIDS Foundation, Santa Monica, CA.

MARTIN—Rodney George. On the 7th of February, 1993, Rodney Martin, age 36, of Manhattan, born in Whitchurch, Shropshire, England, died of AIDS-related illnesses. He is survived by his loving mother Pam, brothers Tom and Dennis and four nieces, one nephew and caring friends. A memorial service will be held Tuesday, February 9, 2 PM, at Friends In Deed, 594 Broadway, 7th flr, NYC. Contributions can be made to Cabrini Hospice, 227 E. 19th St., or Friends In Deed.

William E. Meneely

William (Willie, Bill) Ernest (Emerald) Meneely died Sunday, February 3, 1996, at Haven House in Atlanta. He was 43.

William is survived by a sister, Virginia Heath of Dubuque, Ia., a brother, Rev. A David Meneely of Ardmore, Pa., five nieces and nephews, and scores of friends whose lives will be far less rich without him.

Bill moved to Atlanta in 1976 to work at the GSU library and was head of its Collections Development Department when he retired three years ago. Willie was an avid gardener, the host of an annual Groundhog Day party, a lover of root vegetables, a knowledgeable traveler and an all-round gentle spirit who was easy to love. He was active with the Atlanta Men's Center and the AIDS Survival Project.

A memorial service will be held Saturday, March 23, 2-4 p.m. at the Atlanta Friends Meeting House, 701 W. Howard Ave. in Decatur. William asked that any gifts in his name be made to the AIDS Survival Project or Project Open Hand.

MORRIS—Theodore J. "Ted," age 33, passed away January 31, 1995. Beloved son of Elizabeth "Betty" Morris of Hyannis. Funeral Services and Interment are private. Donations in Ted's memory may be made to the Hospice of Mission Hill, 20 Parker Hill Ave., Boston, MA 02120. Arrangements are under the direction of the Long Funeral Home, 1979 Mass. Ave., CAMBRIDGE.

MOLLOY—Of Beverly and formerly of Gloucester, May 18, John T. Molloy, Husband of Madeline M. (Conn) Molloy. Father of Edward J., Richard A. and John P. Molloy, Elaine M. Keenan, Agnus M. MacDonald, Barbara A. Doherty and Mary M. Elliott and the late Joseph Molloy. Brother of Mary Mae Horgan and Sister Edna Molloy. Funeral Mass at St. John the Evangelist Church, North Beverly, Saturday at 11 a.m. Relatives and friends are invited to attend. Visiting hours at the Campbell Funeral Home, 525 Cabot Street, BEVERLY Friday from 2-4 and 7-9 p.m. Contributions may be made in his memory to AIDS Action Committee, 131 Clarendon St., Boston, MA

DIED: Timothy Miller, AIDS program administrator, 45, of complications from AIDS Jan. 26 in Laguna Beach, Calif. Miller was executive director of the AIDS Response Program, a Laguna Beach group.

On September 28, 1993, Paul Bickford Martin of Boston. Son of Bickford Martin and the late Dorothy (Jellison) Martin. Nephew of James and Eva Winward; cousin of Judith Boulet and family, as well as friends; Robert J. Paluzzi, Richard Poirier, Phillip Poirier, Rebecca and Ashley Leggett, Elizabeth Offinger and Richard Magnanti. Funeral service Thursday 8 PM, J.S. Waterman & Son David Howard Macey Jr., 39, died on Monday, January 11, 1993 at his home in Columbia, Maryland, of AIDS-related complications, according to his lover, Stephen King of Columbia.

Macey was born and raised in Severna Park, Md., and graduated from Severna Park High School in 1971. Soon after his graduation, Macey began a 20-year career in the telephone business. He worked first for C&P Telephone as a customer service representative and later moved to AT&T, working in Reston, Va., as a member of a technical management team, according to King.

Macey was a strong supporter of People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals and other animal rights groups, and also was interested in video production. Each year, King said, he combined the two interests and made a charity video tape of comedy sketches performed by friends. Viewers were asked to make contributions to various organizations that help animals.

In addition to King, Macey is survived by his mother, Anne Macey of Severna Park; two sisters, Lee Ann Passori of Severna Park; and Elizabeth of Salt Lake City, Utah; and one brother, Michael of Glen Burnie, Md.

A memorial service was held on Jan. 14 in Severna Park.

Contributions in Macey's name may be made to the Whitman-Walker Clinic, 1407 S St., NW, Washington, DC 20009; or People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals, P.O. Box 42516, Washington, DC 20015.

KEAN P. MURPHY 8-25-93

Kean P. Murphy, 31

Former amateur hockey player

Kean P. Murphy, a laborer and former amateur hockey player, died yesterday at the age of 31.

Mr. Murphy died at St. John of God Hospital in Brighton because of complications related to the HIV virus. He struggled with courage against the weight of the disease while in the constant company of his family.

Mr. Murphy was born in North Attleborough and attended Rockport and Gloucester public schools and Fitchburg State College. He played hockey for his high school and college hockey teams, and he later played junior A hockey in Canada and the United States.

He leaves his wife, Andrea M. (Fialkosky), and a daughter, Rachel E. of Peabody; his parents, Katherine M. (Kay) and Jeremiah V. of Rockport; two sisters, Elizabeth A. (Betsy) Blodgett of Beverly and Kathleen A. of Rockport; four brothers, Jeremiah V. 3d of Swampscott, Timothy A. of Rockport, Sean P. of Quincy and Paul F. of Rockport; and nine nieces and nephews.

John B. Manning Jr.

Executive, 43

John B. Manning Jr., an executive with Merrill Lynch & Company in New York, died on Wednesday at his home in Manhattan. He was 43. 8-25-93

Mr. Manning died of AIDS, said Gregory Manning, a brother.

John Manning, who was known as Jay, served at Merrill Lynch as first vice president general counsel-trading. Before joining Merrill Lynch in 1983, he had for nine years been a lawyer for the Securities and Exchange Commission in Washington. He graduated from Fairfield University and the University of Connecticut Law School.

He is survived by his parents, Marie and John B. Manning Sr. of Belle Air Bluffs, Fla.; three brothers, Christopher, of West Haven, Conn., Gregory, of Cypress, Calif., and Joseph, of Madison, N.J., and two sisters, Elise Marvella of Norton, Mass., and Lea Manning of Guilford, Conn.

Julian Morris

Julian Marshall Morris, 51, died Sunday, April 18, 1993, at his home in Washington, D.C., of complications associated with AIDS, according to close friend, Bryan Harrison, also of D.C.

Morris was born in Baltimore, Md., and obtained a bachelor's degree in journalism from the University of Wisconsin. He joined the National Institutes of Health (NIH) as an intern in 1963 and advanced progressively to become editor of "News from NIH," a press service for science writers, in 1967.

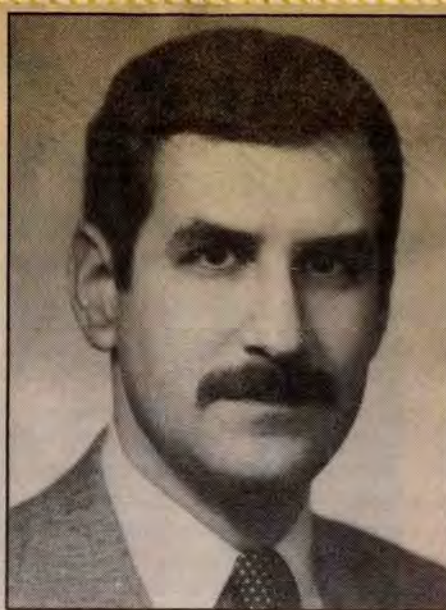

Morris in 1970 was named information officer at the National Eye Institute (NEI), where he served as the chief press and public spokesperson. In this position, he developed and directed a program to acquaint health professionals and the public with the Institute and its activities.

In 1973, he became chief of the NEI's Office of Program Planning and Scientific Reporting. One of his major accomplishments in this position was to develop the first long range strategic plan to guide the NEI's national research program. In 1979, Morris received the Public Health Superior Service award which recognizes contributions of an extraordinary nature for his work in developing the first national plan for vision research.

Since 1984, Morris served as the NEI's associate director for science policy and legislation, a position he held until his death. He directed NEI activities in legislative affairs, program planning and analysis, management information systems, evaluation, and information and education.

Morris gained wide recognition for development of subsequent vision research plans that were considered by many to be prototypes for biomedical research planning and were used as a model by other NIH institutes for their own planning efforts.

He also directed the development of a new national eye health education program and introduced a state-of-the-art computerized management information system to the NEI.

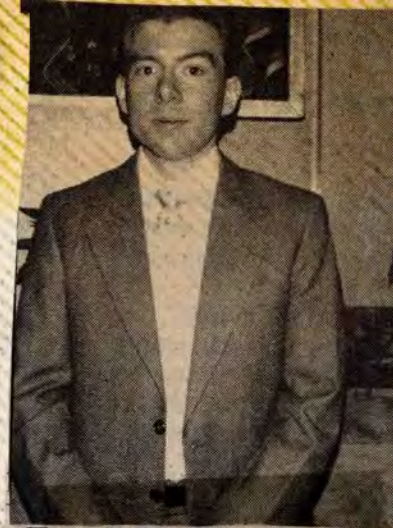

For his exceptional leadership and dedication during more than 21 years of service to the NEI, Morris received the NEI Director's Award in 1991.

"Apart from his career, Mr. Morris's interests were wide ranging," according to Harrison. "He was a musical theater enthusiast, and collected recordings of popular to obscure Broadway and off-Broadway shows. A lifelong Washington resident, he was unstinting in his support and enjoyment of local theater companies."

In addition to Harrison, Morris is survived by close friends, Monte Byers of D.C.; Charles Henderson of Louisville, Ky.; an aunt, Rona Silberg; and cousin, Martha Silberg, both of San Diego, Calif.

A memorial service will be held. Please contact Bryan Harrison for details at (202) 483-5402.

Contributions can be made in his name to Food and Friends, P.O. Box 70601, Washington, DC 20024.

Frank M. Munday, 28

AIDS activist

Frank M. Munday of Boston died Thursday of complications related to AIDS at the New England Deaconess Hospital. He was 28.

Mr. Munday spent the past several years trying to reduce the stigma attached on people with AIDS. He joined the fight against the Food and Drug Administration and the pharmaceutical industry seeking the release of experimental drugs to AIDS patients. Mr. Munday was active in the struggle against the insurance industry to promote coverage for experimental treatments of AIDS related conditions.

Mr. Munday dedicated the last year of his life to fighting for the rights of the terminally ill to die with dignity, according to his partner of nine years, Alan Brini.

Mr. Munday grew up in South Boston and attended South Boston Public Schools until 1984. In 1984, his family relocated to Lynnfield, where he graduated from Lynnfield High School in 1985.

Besides Brini, Mr. Munday leaves his sister, Deborah Sapp of Evansville, Ind.; his brother, Joseph Munday of South Boston; and several aunts, uncles, nieces, and nephews.

A funeral service will be held Thursday at 8:15 a.m. at the J.S. Waterman & Sons-Eastman-Waring Funeral Home at 495 Commonwealth Ave. followed by a blessing at the St. Leonard's Church on Hanover Street in the North End at 9:00 a.m. Burial will be in Forest Hills Cemetery.

MUNSEY—In Boston, formerly of Arlington, Oct. 5, Michael John, Loving son of the late Joseph F. & Teresa L. (Lynch) Munsey, Beloved brother of James R. Munsey of Arlington and the late Joseph F. Munsey Jr. and Florence Sullivan, also survived by several nieces and nephews. A Memorial Mass will be celebrated at St. Agnes Church, 30 Medford St., Arlington, on Saturday, Oct. 9, at 9 a.m. Relatives and friends invited. Expressions of sympathy may be made in Michael's memory to the Hospice at Mission Hill, 20 Parker Hill Ave., Boston, MA 02120. Arrangements by the Gaffey-McAvoy Funeral Home, ARLINGTON.

Thomas E. Molino

Thomas E. Molino entered into eternal rest Dec. 24 at the age of 34. Mr. Molino was the store manager for the Disney Store, Fanueil Hall, Boston.

He was the beloved son of Adam and Mae (Coleman), loving brother of Robert, Janet and James. He also leaves one nephew and two nieces.

Memorial services will be held Saturday, Jan. 16 at 2:00 p.m. at the Cathedral of St. John, 10 Concord Ave., Wilmington, Delaware.

DIED: Jack Markham, AIDS activist, 35, of complications from AIDS July 13 in Topeka, Kan. Markham was a past president of the National Association of People With AIDS.

Jacques Morali, who produced the Village People's late '70s disco hits "Macho Man," "YMCA," and "In the Navy," died of complications from AIDS Nov. 15 in Paris. He was 44.

Larry Alan Miller

Larry Alan Miller, 47, died on Monday, January 25, 1993, at his home in Arlington, Virginia, of complications associated with AIDS, according to his longtime companion, Raymond Machesney. Machesney said that Miller died "peacefully and gracefully."

Miller served from 1968 to 1971, in the U.S. Navy. Beginning as a deck officer in the Mediterranean fleet, Miller was later sent to Vietnam. There he served as fourth riverine intelligence assistant in Can Tho and as Naval intelligence liaison officer in Tan Chau. During his tour of duty, he received an early promotion to the rank of lieutenant, and was awarded the Air Medal, the Navy Commendation Medal, the Vietnam Service Medal, the Vietnam Campaign Medal, the National Defense Service Medal, a Meritorious Unit Commendation Ribbon, and — from the former government of Vietnam — the Staff Service Medal First Class.

Miller graduated from Emory College in Atlanta, Georgia in 1967 and from Emory University Law School in 1973. After law school, Miller moved to Washington, D.C. He was admitted to the bar in 1975, and practiced estate and tax law in D.C. for 17 years. With his business partner and companion, Machesney, in 1978 he founded Miller Machesney and Associates, Inc., an association management firm. In 1986, after Miller passed the CPA exam, he and Machesney shifted the focus of their firm to provide financial services to businesses and individuals. Miller provided pro bono tax advice and tax return preparation for people with AIDS. Additionally, Miller and Machesney owned a business which restored historic homes.

Miller was featured in the Blade, the Washington Post, and other local newspapers, in 1991, when he won settlements in discrimination complaints against the Crystal City Marriott Hotel health club and the AAA Potomac auto club, for being denied couples discounts for he and Machesney.

In addition to Machesney, Miller is survived by his very special friend, John F. Imber Jr. of Arlington.

Miller's remains were cremated and his ashes will be interred at the columbarium of Arlington National Cemetery, with full military honors. The family will receive friends at the Machesney and Miller residence on Sunday, Jan. 31, from 2-5 p.m.

Contributions in Miller's name may be made to Food and Friends, P.O. Box 70601, Washington, DC 20024; or to a favorite charity.

Danny Allen Miles 3)

Like the Mystics from The Dark Crystal, "... [A] dying race numbly rehearsing the ancient ways in a blur of forgetfulness, but for whom today the ritual gives no comfort," we mourn the loss of Danny Allen Miles on Feb 18 at his home in the North End of Boston, after a long struggle with AIDS.

Danny was born in Mineral Wells, Texas, on December 27, 1958, where he grew up. He also resided in New Orleans, Louisiana where he completed one of his most cherished accomplishments, the renovation of an authentic Creole cottage in the historic French Quarter.

2-18-96

Danny will be missed by the many friends whose lives he touched at Fidelity Federal where he worked after moving to Boston and by the many friends and acquaintances whose hearts he touched with his zest for life and natural wit.

Danny is survived by his grandmother, Mary Ollie Boyd; his mother and father, Lillie Hattie Morgan Ramsey and Walter Franklin Miles; siblings Wayne Frankie Miles, Susan Miles, Billy Louis Miles, Lawrence Edward Ramsey, Jr., as well as an aunt, Viola Bulsey, and several nephews and nieces. He is preceded in death by a sister, Carla.

A memorial service was held on February 21 at Long-Hurley Home for Funerals in Porter Square, Cambridge, Mass.

MYSHRALL—Stephen of Brighton, June 15, 1996. Stephen is survived by his loving extended family at Seton Manor in Brighton. Relatives and friends are respectfully invited to attend the Funeral Mass from St. Ignatius Church, Newton, at 10 a.m. Visitation will be held prior to the Mass at the Church from 9 a.m. to 9:55 a.m. Donations in Stephen's memory may be made to Seton Manor, 296 Alston St., Brighton, MA 02146. Interment Private. Arrangements are under the direction of the Long-Hurley Home for Funerals, 1979 Massachusetts Ave., CAMBRIDGE.

DIED: George Moore, 44, AIDS activist, of complications from AIDS September 26 in Fort Worth, Tex. Moore was a nursing supervisor and community health specialist in Minneapolis from 1980 to 1989. 74

MYETTE—Of Dunstable formerly of Wakefield, Jan. 19. Atty. Clarence L. Husband of the late Winifred (Dowling). Father of Loring S. of Bass River, Thomas L. of Wrentham, Peter J. of Boston, David E. of North Reading and Lois P. Mulcahy of Merritt Island, FL. Brother of Victor Myette of N.H. Also survived by 9 grandchildren and 4 great grandchildren. Funeral from The McDonald Funeral Home, 19 Yale Ave., WAKEFIELD Thursday at 9:00 AM. Funeral Mass in St. Joseph Church Wakefield at 10:00 o'clock. Relatives & friends may call at the Funeral Home Wednesday from 2-4 and 7-9. Memorial Contributions may be made to the Boston Living Center, 140 Clarendon Street, Boston, MA 02116. 92

Charles L. Mallard, 41

Owned Boston catering firm
3-29-93

Charles L. Mallard, owner of a Boston catering firm, died Monday in Beth Israel Hospital of complications from AIDS. He was 41 and lived in Boston.

The firm of Charles Mallard, Caterer, was one of Boston's first minority-owned catering companies and specialized in innovative cuisine for corporate and nonprofit functions. Mr. Mallard founded the company in 1980.

Mr. Mallard was born in Jersey City and graduated from St. Peter's College there in 1974. He was employed by the city government in Jersey City as a liaison for small business development.

In 1978 he joined the Center for Community Economic Development in Cambridge.

He leaves seven brothers, Edward, Raymond, Charles, Eugene, Ernest, David and Quilmon, and a sister, Alice, all of Jersey City.

He also leaves his companion, Dr. Paul Krueger of Boston.

A funeral Mass will be said at 11 a.m. Friday in the Church of the Advent in Boston. The remains will be cremated.

Jerry L. Martinez

July 1, 1947-July 6, 1994

Jerry graduated from the University of Arizona with a degree in music. While going to college, he taught underprivileged children to appreciate music. He loved children, had a super sense of humor, and was a compassionate, caring son and brother.

Jerry loved the city of San Francisco. He loved the ocean, the sun and the beach. He enjoyed the restaurants and good wine, as well as working with a diverse group of people, a true mix of the human race. Even when he was sick at home in Colorado, he still had time to tease and harass family members. But he always had to return to this city — his ocean ... his beach.

Jerry was preceded in death by his father, Jess Martinez. He is survived by his mother, Hope Martinez; sisters, Sophie Ruskin and BJ. Barker; brother, Harvey, all of Pueblo, Colo.; brother, Wilbert of Fremont; numerous loving nieces and nephews; and a dear friend, Ron Rod of San Francisco.

Jerry's wishes were to be cremated and his ashes scattered in the ocean by the city that he loved. ▼

MAGEE—Daniel J. 45 of Manhattan. Died on March 28, 1995 due to complications of AIDS. Dan is survived by his beloved domestic partner Joseph Incao. Son of Gloria Magee and the late Hugh Magee. Brother of Mrs. Katherine Whitehead of Texas. Dan was the former assistant personnel director of the State Insurance Fund and donated much of his time working as a volunteer to the gay and lesbian community. Dan was on the renovation committee of the gay and lesbian community services center and also served as staff photographer there. Though his proudest achievement was his efforts on the board of directors of Valinor Farms, Inc., an extended care facility for P.W.A.'s. Most recently Dan started with Housing Works in NYC, in their administrative offices. Danny requested any contributions be made to Valinor Farms, Inc., 3378 Winding Road, Kintnersville, PA 18930 or Housing Works, 594 Bowery Street, NYC, 10012. Into Your Arms I Went To Find Strength. Into Your Heart I Went To Find Love. Into Your Eyes I looked For Our Future. And into The Future I Saw Our Love Without End Joey

MONTE—Michael July 11, 1946-May 11, 1992. Son of Charles and the late Doris; beloved friend to so many. Michael was Art Director at Monticalm Publishing, N.Y. He will be missed by everyone who knew him. In lieu of flowers donations to "In God's Love" Services, 1 P.A. on Wed, May 13, 1992, at "The Riverside", 76 St and Amsterdam

Care of AIDS patient leads to memorial fund

Most people have some thoughts concerning AIDS, but a lot of people still don't have the facts. The friends and family of Eric Mischke have determined to change that.

Mischke, who received care at the Boston University Medical Center Hospital for AIDS-related complications, died at his home on June 28, 1992. Recently, devoted friends pooled $10,000 in donations to set up a memorial fund at the Hospital in his name. The money will be used by the Department of Epidemiology to provide AIDS research, training and educational materials for the Hospital.

"In my opinion, Eric got absolutely incredible care at The Hospital," says James Hansen, a South End artist and Mischke's longtime companion. The Hospital's treatment of Mischke was the sole reason the memorial fund idea came about, Hansen says.

"We wanted to do something in his name," Hansen says, "but more importantly, since his whole experience there was a good one, we wanted to do something for the Hospital."

A $10,000 minimum is needed to start a memorial fund in a person's name at the Hospital. Hansen had already raised $2,300 in donations on his own when two close friends of his and Mischke's, the Cohens, donated the difference last month.

"Eric got unbelievably great care at the Hospital," says John Cohen, M.D., a pediatrician at Newton/Wellesley Hospital who, along with his wife, Bette, donated the $7,700 needed to accelerate the process of setting up a memorial fund for Mischke.

"During his declining days, Eric spent many days on our couch in our living room, resting," Cohen remembers fondly. Knowing that Hansen planned to set up a fund at the Hospital, and being philanthropically minded, the Cohens made their hefty donation.

John Cohen and Hansen have been working closely with Mischke's physician, Elcinda McCrone, M.D., director of the outpatient disease clinic, to see that the memorial-fund money is put to use in AIDS education, training, women's studies and organized programs for those with AIDS at the Hospital.

Cohen praised McCrone for being the "epitome" of a doctor, "a giving, caring person," and credited her with being an integral part of Mischke's good Hospital care.

Hansen is planning future fund-raisers this spring for Mischke's memorial fund, acknowledging that $10,000 is a small amount when it comes to funding for AIDS programs. Anyone who would like to contribute to Mischke's memorial fund, or has any questions about memorial giving, should contact Julianne Coleman, manager of memorial giving, at 638-8990.

James M. Metros

January 21, 1993

James M. Metros, a former high school instructor and weaver, died at his home on Thursday, Jan. 21, of a pulmonary failure. He was 63.

Mr. Metros retired from the San Francisco Unified School District after some 25 years of distinguished service. He taught at Mission, Woodrow Wilson, and J. Eugene McAteer High Schools in San Francisco. Also a weaver, Mr. Metros created both traditional and non-traditional loom-based textile art. He was active in Bay Area handweavers associations and exhibited his work throughout the 1980s.

Born in Michigan, Mr. Metros attended the University of Michigan, where he completed a BA in Literature and MA in Education.

He is survived by his mother, Constula Metros, of Hermosa Beach; sister Dorothy Metros, of Manhattan Beach, CA. He was preceded in death in 1987 by his companion, Bernard Guenther. Contributions in Mr. Metros name may be made to the San Francisco AIDS Foundation or Shanti. ▼

Craig Miller, Lighting Designer For Ballet and Opera, Dies at 43

By JENNIFER DUNNING

Craig Miller, a lighting designer for ballet, theater and opera, died on Tuesday at New York Hospital. He was 43 and lived in Manhattan.

The cause was cancer, his family said.

Mr. Miller was the resident lighting designer for the Santa Fe Opera since 1979. He worked with David Hockney on the 1993 design for "Die Frau Ohne Schatten" at the Royal Opera House in London. He also worked with the Houston Grand Opera, the Spoleto Festival U.S.A. and the Dallas Opera.

His theater credits included the Roundabout Theater's revival of "Black Comedy/White Liars" last season. He was nominated for a Tony Award for his lighting for "Barnum" and created lighting for other Broadway productions including "The Most Happy Fella," "Safe Sex," "On Golden Pond," "The Wind in the Willows" and "Take Me Along."

Off Broadway, Mr. Miller worked with the Manhattan Theater Club, the Circle Repertory Company and the New York Shakespeare Festival. In regional theater, he worked at the Goodspeed Opera House in East Haddam, Conn., the Long Wharf in New Haven and the Tyrone Guthrie in Minneapolis. At his death, he was creating lighting for the Williamstown Theater Festival production of "A Little Night Music," in Massachusetts.

Subtle Effects in Dance

Mr. Miller was also the resident lighting designer for the dance companies of Laura Dean, Elisa Monte and Lar Lubovitch. He also worked with Alvin Ailey American Dance Theater, the Joffrey Ballet, the Stuttgart Ballet and the Royal Danish Ballet.

A protégé of the lighting designer Tom Skelton, Mr. Miller worked in big, bold colors and effects at times, most notably in "Die Frau Ohne Schatten" and Ms. Dean's recent season at the Joyce Theater. But he was also known for the sensitive subtlety of his lighting.

His cool, gray monochromatic lighting for Mr. Lubovitch's "Cavalcade" made the dancers' waving of orange streamers a stunning final effect. And for the 1983 New York Shakespeare Festival production of Samuel Beckett's "Company," Mr. Miller helped to create the effect of what Mel Gussow, reviewing the play for The New York Times, called "a planetarium setting for an expedition into inner space."

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. R. Bruce Miller of Overland Park, Kan., and a brother, Jeffrey, of Los Angeles.

Sean P. Murphy of Chelsea, 37, was a painter

Sean P. Murphy of Chelsea, a self-employed painter, died Wednesday at home after a heart attack. He was 37.

Born in North Judson, Ind., he resided in Chelsea most his life.

He is survived by his mother, Genevieve of Providence, R.I.; two sisters, Anna Levy of Providence and Bridget Ann Balberde of Santa Ana, Calif.; one brother, Gary Murphy of Fort Myers, Fla.; his longtime companion, Bob Burke Jr. of Chelsea; and friend Dan Kavanaugh of Los Angeles.

Mr. Murphy was well known in the Boston area for his support of local musicians, especially through his radio programs on station WMFO.

Services were held Friday in Santa Ana.

A memorial celebration and concert will be held May 19 at the Middle East Cafe in Central Square, Cambridge.

Arrangements by Fairhaven Memorial Park and Mortuary, Santa Ana.

Mom tricked dying son, lover says

The state Supreme Court of Appeals building in Charleston, West Virginia, played host briefly this week to a conflict as old as the Borgias — the struggle between surviving family members over a loved one's legacy.

On Wednesday, Feb. 9, the five-member court decided unanimously not to hear an appeal from a Gay man that he, and not the mother of his deceased lover, is the rightful beneficiary of his lover's life insurance policy.

A jury in Kanawha County Circuit Court ruled on July 9, 1993, that Reva L. Hartman, the mother of Robert J. Mandeville, dead since 1991, was the legal beneficiary of Mandeville's life insurance, valued at $60,000.

Mandeville's lover of 10 years, Charleston resident Nolan R. Byars, 47, appealed the jury's decision on grounds of jury bias and hearsay evidence, said Byars's attorney, Vincent J. King.

At the center of the dispute were documents which changed the beneficiary of Mandeville's life insurance from Byars to Hartman. The papers, copies of which were obtained by the Blade, appear to bear the signatures of Mandeville, Hartman, and two witnesses. The indicate that they were filed with American General, Mandeville's insurer, in June 1991, a month before Mandeville's death from complications of AIDS on July 9.

"Our belief is that, if they are his signatures, Robert believed them to be Social Security papers," said King, adding that this allegation could not be proven.

"[The mother] volunteered to do the paperwork for the Social Security," said Mandeville's lover Byars. He said that, after Mandeville took a leave of absence from his job as supervisor of a hotel restaurant, Mandeville had no income and had decided to apply for Social Security benefits.

Hartman took her son to her house by car on June 4 with the stated purpose of preparing Social Security documents. That is also the date Mandeville allegedly signed his life insurance over to her, Byars added.

By June 1991, Byars said, the left side of Mandeville's body was nearly paralyzed, and he could neither read nor speak.

Nolan Byars and Robert Mandeville spending their last Christmas together at their home in Charleston.

"He wouldn't've been able to take anything and read over it," Byars said.

Byars said he believes that Hartman slipped a change of beneficiary form into a stack of papers containing Social Security application documents, and tricked the nearly blind Mandeville into signing it.

"She tricked him," he said. "In my mind, it's something that's so terrible — the way he was treated."

Hartman refused the Blade's offer to respond to the charge, saying she would not grant an interview over the phone. Her attorney, Stephen P. Swisher, did not return the Blade's calls.

The two witnesses listed on the change of beneficiary form, Juanita H. Wyne and James Skidmore, an agent of American General, both testified at the trial, according to transcripts.

Skidmore said he witnessed Hartman's signature on the documents, but not Mandeville's or Wyne's. Wyne testified that she had indeed seen Mandeville sign the form, according to a brief filed by Charleston attorney Arden J. Curry, II, on behalf of American General.

Byars's attorney King argued in his brief that Wyne's testimony was inadmissible in court. West Virginia law, King wrote, prohibits hearsay testimony about a dead man's statements or transactions (including his signing a form) by an interested party.

Wyne, Byars said, has been friends with Hartman for "40 or 50 years."

In his brief, Curry, attorney for American General, countered that Wyne did not and could not benefit from the policy or from Mandeville's estate. She was not a relative of Byars, Mandeville, or Hartman, Curry wrote, and, for all these reasons, had no interest prejudicing herself as a witness to the dead man's acts.

The other basis for the appeal stemmed from the jury selection process, according to King's brief on Byars's behalf.

The questionnaire given to potential jurors for the Hartman v. Byars trial asked four Gay-related questions, according to King's brief. The questions asked what was the "position" of a juror's religion on homosexuality, whether the juror agreed with his or her religion's position, if the juror had "any personal feelings" which would influence deliberations on a life insurance dispute between a blood relative and a Gay partner, and if a person's homosexuality would cause the juror to be prejudiced for or against that person.

According to transcripts, Kanawha County Circuit Court Judge John Hey, who presided over jury selection but not the trial itself, allowed people to serve on the jury who believed their churches and the Bible to be against homosexuals or homosexuality and who said they agreed with these sentiments.

MALDONADO

Of Boston, June 27, 1991, Isabel, age 32 years. Beloved daughter of Teresa Sanchez. Also survived by 8 brothers and sisters. Funeral mass at St. Mary of the Angels Church, 2056 Columbus Avenue, ROXBURY, on Friday at 8pm. Visiting hours at the church Friday 7-9pm. Memorial donations may be sent to the Hospice at Mission Hill, 20 Parker Hill Avenue, Boston, MA 02120. Arrangements by the Commonwealth Funeral Service of Boston.

On his questionnaire, one juror from the Byars case wrote that his church's position was "Homosexuals are hellbound," King wrote, although the juror himself said he did not agree with his church on the subject.

Judge Hey attracted attention last fall for making reportedly anti-Gay statements from the bench.

In his Charleston Gazette column of Oct. 18, 1993, writer Dan Radmacher wrote that Hey presided over the criminal trial of a man accused of murdering his male lover. According to Radmacher, Judge Hey, as he was sentencing the convicted murderer, said, "As a result of the lifestyle he entered into the victim [sic] is dead."

Radmacher wrote that Hey "should be ashamed for playing the old blame-the-victim game."

Claims of jury bias in Hey's court, however, did not sway the West Virginia Court of Appeals to take a closer look at the case.

"This case is over," King said, when asked if Byars could appeal the court's decision further.

"We tried and we wish it were different," he said, "but that's the end of the road, I think."

MILLER—Wayne. The Board, Staff, volunteers, and clients of The Momentum Project mourn the loss of our esteemed Board member, Wayne Miller. Wayne's tireless efforts on behalf of people living with HIV/AIDS were a role model for us all. He will be greatly missed. Our deepest condolences to his family and friends. 11-3 Maureen Homenick, Exec. Dir. 93 The Momentum Project

MATINZI—Michael Holmes. Died peacefully in his sleep of complications from AIDS at Cabrini Hospital, February 16, 1994. Michael's friends and Nicholas honor his style, his accomplishments, his humor, his vigor, his loyalty. Memorial plans will be announced in the coming weeks for those who miss him.

MADORMO—Dominic A. Jr. (NIC) Age 42. Died of AIDS at St. Luke's Roosevelt Hospital, March 9, 1992. Beloved son of Dominic and Marie Madormo, Binghamton. Also survived by two brothers and two sisters. Nic had nearly completed his Ph.D in Art History at CUNY. Professor Madormo taught at FIT, in addition to working at The Archives of American Art, Smithsonian Institution and the Richard York Gallery. A memorial service will be held Monday, June 1st, 4-5PM at The Archives of American Art, 1285 Ave of the Americas (at 51st), lobby level.

MORRISON—John C. Of Joliet, Ill, N.Y., N.Y. and Provincetown, MA. On January 18, 1994 after a long and courageous battle with AIDS at St. Vincent Hospital. John is survived by his parents Raymond and Janet Morrison, his siblings Rob, Mimi and Mark and his many wonderful friends. A Memorial Service will be held in February.

MUELLER—Kenneth S. May 12, 1946 to December 17, 1993, after a difficult year of fighting AIDS. Ken, a 25 year employee of AT&T, is survived by his loving partner, Jay Margrev, his parents and siblings. Services will be held on December 27 at Swedenborgian Church, 3200 Washington Street, San Francisco, California, at 7 P.M.

Artist Mathew Mackendrick, 33, who helped create the "Metro Open Air Wall" for the Los Angeles subway system, died Nov. 16 due to complications from AIDS; Mackendrick was one of 10 American artists chosen to exhibit artwork in the International Prize Exhibition of 1991. 74.

MONETTE—Peter J. Of New York City and Plattsburgh, NY. Died on January 2, 1995, surrounded by his loving family, of AIDS-related complications. Celebrated his 50th birthday this past year. A former U.S. Marine, Peter was a hair colorist extraordinaire by trade, and a dedicated choral singer by choice. A founding member of the New York City Gay Men's Chorus, he sang with them for 14 seasons at Carnegie Hall and concert halls around the world, including the Chorus' two European tours. Peter was fiercely proud of the chorus and was as devoted to it as he was to his family and friends. Loving son of Albert and the late Thelma. Devoted brother of loving sisters Judy Martin, Shelley Odell, and Robin Bullock. Cherished family member, friend and colleague to many. Funeral services to be held in Plattsburgh, NY. Memorial service to be held in NYC at later date. In lieu of flowers, donations to NYC Gay Men's Chorus, 55 Christopher Street, NYC 10014.

MARK—Jay, May 1, 1995. Dear brother of Jeffrey Mark of Indianapolis. Beloved friend of Alvin Goldstein. Dear uncle and friend to many. Service Thursday, May 4, 12:15 P.M. at "The Riverside", 76th St and Amsterdam Ave. Family will receive Wed, 7-9 P.M.

MORETON—Patrick D., of New York City. At Lenox Hill Hospital on Tuesday, May 23, 1995, of AIDS. A generous and talented bright light has been taken too quickly from this earth. Patrick was the hair and wig designer for more than 50 Broadway shows and is currently represented by "Grease" and the forthcoming "Stage Door Charley." He also ran a private studio where he worked with a large number of clients, including many celebrities. He is survived by his brother Peter, sister-in-law Jennifer, and hundreds of dear friends worldwide. A memorial reception will be held June 11 on Fire Island, with a tribute in NYC being planned for the fall. Donations in Patrick's name may be made to the Eight East Patient Activity Fund at Lenox Hill Hospital, c/o Ellen Altman, 100 East 77 St, NY 10021. We love you, P.—Christopher, Colleen, David, Jay, Jeff, Lili, Michael and Tim

MARK—Irving, on June 9, 1995. Devoted husband of Terry, beloved father of Adele, Dana and Darian. Loving grandfather of Giuliana. Service private. Contributions may be made to the Pediatric AIDS Foundation, 131 Colorado Avenue, Santa Monica, CA 90404.

MORRIS—Clinton E., died August 6, 1995, of AIDS. Founder and owner of A Room of Our Own Booksellers Ltd. in Brooklyn, NY. Memorial service to be held Sunday, Sept. 17, 3 P.M., at the bookstore, 444 9th St., Brooklyn. Contributions may be made to the Community Health Project, 208 W. 13 St., NY NY 10011.

Dennis Mitchell

April 6, 1993

"I've had a great life," he said. "I've loved and have been loved, adventured and succeeded, suffered and smiled. I guess I've just about done it all."

Dennis peacefully passed away on April 6, snug in the arms of his little brother Scott and his dear friend Michael, after his courageous struggle with AIDS. His spirit lives on in our hearts. The true and lasting spirit that made him such a caring son and brother, such a loyal, good friend is eternal.

Dennis was a lover. He loved being alive, and walked through his life tall and proud, compassionate and kind. There will never be another life like his. He loved his work and poured his heart, soul and boundless creative energy into it. Never again will there be stores like Old Gold, and Bucks.

He loved his family, who stood by him in loving support throughout his wonderful life and devastating illness. He loved his friends and stood by them, always there, generous, sweet and strong.

There will never be another man like Dennis. We will celebrate his life and mourn his passing on Sunday, April 18, at the Swedenborgian Church, 2107 Lyon Street, at 7:00 p.m. ▼

Joseph John Miano

June 7, 1959—April 24, 1993

After a long and very courageous battle with AIDS, Joe left this earth to go to the place all heroes go. At his side was his lover of almost three years. He leaves behind many people in SF and N.Y. who really cared and loved him.

I lived and loved with Joe, and learned many things during our too short life together. One was to be strong and courageous in the battle with AIDS, the other was to be free of alcohol and learn to face life clean and sober. For those things we did together, I will be forever grateful. I and Joe would like to thank Dr. Polce, Dr. Dynes, and Dr. Alverlo, every one at health center #1, everyone at Davies Medical Center, especially the people at O.I.S. for putting up with his stubbornness (his words).

I would finally like to thank all of the friends who visited Joe and myself and all of the wonderful nurses.

Darlin, I never gave up on you, our love, your fight, our dreams. Save me a place up there. Donations in Joe's memory may be made to the S.F. AIDS Emergency Fund, 1550 California St., #7, SF 94109.

Miss you much. Love, Gilbert. ▼

Michael Merdian, former NAPWA director, dies at 36

1993

by Aras van Hertum

Michael R. Merdian, an AIDS activist who served as executive director of the National Association of People with AIDS (NAPWA), died on Wednesday, March 17, at his home in San Diego, California. He was 36.

A close friend, Robert Theves of Washington, D.C., said Merdian died of complications associated with AIDS.

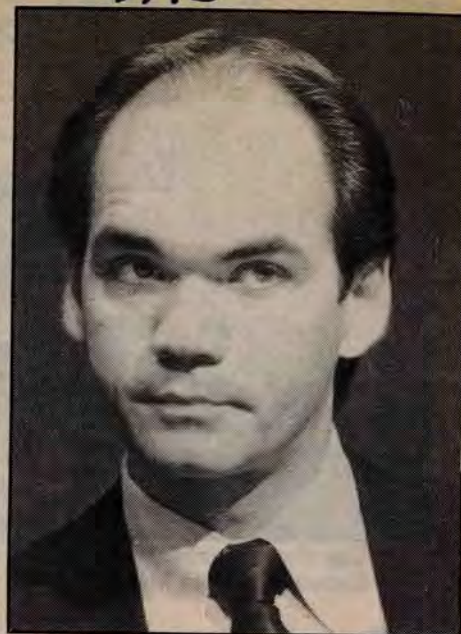

Merdian came to D.C. in 1989 to join NAPWA. As executive director, he was instrumental in lobbying President George Bush to appoint a person with AIDS to the National Commission on AIDS. He resigned in 1991 and settled in San Diego.

A native of Royal Oak, Mich., Merdian earned a bachelor's degree in business administration and worked as an accountant in Michigan and Dallas, Texas, where he moved in 1982.

In 1987, he cofounded the People with AIDS Coalition of Dallas, later renamed AIDS Services of Dallas, and served as its executive director until 1989, establishing one of the nation's first housing programs for homeless people with AIDS. Upon his resignation, the board of directors named him trustee emeritus of the organization.

The Dallas Dinner Committee, organizers of an annual fund-raising dinner for the Human Rights Campaign Fund, named him Humanitarian of the Year in 1988.

Merdian was predeceased by his father, John Merdian. Survivors include his mother, Dorothy Merdian of Birmingham, Mich.; his sister, Kathleen Ann Michael Merdian served executive director of the National Association of People with AIDS.

Meehan, and her husband, Patrick Meehan, both of Utica, Mich.; and a nephew, Sean Michael Meehan of Utica.

His remains were cremated in San Diego. A memorial service will be held Sunday, March 28, in Dallas at the Metropolitan Community Church's Cathedral of Hope. A service will also be held Wednesday, March 31, at 10 a.m., in D.C. at 931 O St., NW. For further information, call (202) 232-0829.

Contributions in his name may be made to AIDS Services of Dallas, P.O. Box 4338, Dallas, TX 75208.

Louis Mastrapa

Louis Mastrapa, age 35, died at Beth Israel Hospital on August 21 of complications from AIDS. He leaves behind his lover, Bill Nickel, parents Christina and Arnoldo, and many close friends and relatives.

Louis and Bill moved to Boston in 1985. Louis worked as a real estate agent for Betty Gibson and Century 21. Louis was a very loving person and was an inspiration to many people who knew him. He will be greatly missed.

A memorial service will be held on Sept. 25 at 2:00 p.m. in the MAIN sanctuary of the Arlington Street Church, and all are welcome. Donations in Louis' memory may be made to the AIDS ACTION Committee, 131 Clarendon Street, Boston, MA 02116. 1993

William A. Martel 1994

One of the stars of children's series 'ZOOM'

William A. Martel, an actor, died at home in New York City on June 10 of AIDS-related illnesses. Formerly of Boston's South End, Bill was 32 years old. Bill died peacefully, in the arms of Michael O'Callahan, his partner of nine years.

A 1984 graduate of Emerson College and winner of the prestigious Carol Burnett Award, Bill was seen on Boston's stages in "Scapino," "Merrily We Roll Along," "Jesus Christ Superstar," "Little Shop of Horrors" and "Disappearing Act" (also in P-Town). Bill was an original cast member of the WGBH children's show "ZOOM."

In New York, Bill was seen Off-Broadway at The Delacorte Theater, Manhattan Theater Club and The Equity Library Theater. For the past four years, Bill had collaborated with Elizabeth Swados, creator of "Runaways," "Rap Master Ronnie" and "Doonesbury" and recently originated the role of the Pauper in Ms. Swados' new American musical, "The Prince and the Pauper."

Bill was born in Central Falls, RI, and is survived by his parents, Henriete and Gilbert of Lincoln, RI; two brothers, Michael of North Providence and Raymond of Lincoln; and three sisters, Denise Sennett of Charlotte, NC, Diane Martel of Pawtucket, RI and Janet Lynch of Hyannis, Mass.

A non-religious wake was held in New York on June 13 and a funeral Mass was held in Rhode Island on June 17.

A celebration of Bill's life will be held in early August aboard a yacht circling New York harbor.

Donations in Bill's name may be made to The Actor's Fund of America, 1501 Broadway, Suite 518, New York, NY 10036.

Michael Thomas Mason

1993

Michael Thomas Mason ("Fig"), composer, singer, and humorist, has left his earthly body, which his spirit no longer needed — "Denks God!"

The beloved son of Elaine and Jay Mason, of Los Angeles, was born in Hollywood in 1950. He is survived by his parents, his brother, Richard Mason of Petaluma, Calif., his nephew Josh and niece Sarah, his dear friend and fellow artist John R. Magin, of Brookline, his dog Fritz, and many wonderful long- and short-term friends. They will sorely miss his challenging, creative mind, which touched them all. He is also survived by his art — "Everything else is just chat." (Esther Gilman)

His spirit and music will be with us always.

Keith MacKinnon

1991

Keith MacKinnon, 31, of Boston, died May 28, 1991 at New England Medical Center. Formerly of Taunton and San Diego, he was a U.S. Navy veteran.

Keith was a well-known figure on "The Block" directly across from the Greyhound Bus Terminal in Back Bay near Park Square. Kinder than the world he lived in, Keith's concern for his peers — many of them young, homeless, and troubled — made him a valued friend and ally whose presence will be sorely missed.

A memorial service was held Monday evening, June 24, on the steps of the Arlington Street Church. In attendance were friends from "The Block" and members of the Children's Hospital street outreach team.

Following cremation, his ashes were interred at the V.A. Cemetery of Massachusetts at Bourne. Besides his immediate family, including a son, Keith is survived by the many friends whose lives he touched.

Neil J. Monahan

Our ever saucy but always caring

Irish icon left us on May 1. The world will be less for the loss of his pithy humor, intelligence and sense of adventure. A New Yorker born, bred and educated, he moved on to Johns Hopkins Applied Physics Laboratory as a computer systems programmer in the early '60s, then came to Oz where he ultimately became a Bank of America Vice President whose duties involved many long assignments in the Orient and Australia.

He leaves a beloved friend, Wan Ismael, was the loving brother of Rosemary Madden and Laura Fleischer, a nurse who spent most of Neil's last week at his bedside, and the uncle of several loving nieces and nephews. Neil leaves many friends in San Francisco and Washington, DC, his two favorite places in this world.

Funeral services were held at Most Holy Redeemer Church on May 6, 1993. Remembrances are encouraged to Project Open Hand, Most Holy Redeemer Support Group, Coming Home Hospice or the AIDS Grove of Golden Gate Park.

You were one of a kind — and such a one, Dear Friend! You will be missed but not forgotten. ▼

JAMES MEDINA

Oct. 16, 1995, age 33

Actor. He appeared in the films Awakenings, Havana, and The Mambo Kings.

MICHAEL MILLER

Feb. 28, 1995, age 48

Manager of field marketing in the South for Buena Vista Pictures.

Leo Murphy III of California, 36

8-9-93

Leo Murphy III of Santa Monica, Calif., formerly of Needham, died at home last Monday of complications related to the AIDS virus. He was 36.

Born in Philadelphia, Mr. Murphy was a former resident of Needham, moving to California seven years ago.

He attended private schools in Boston and graduated from the University of Massachusetts in 1980.

He was a film prop master in Hollywood but devoted most of his time to reforming the system to protect hemophiliacs from receiving tainted blood, after his brother died of AIDS.

He is survived by his mother, Mary Lou of Needham; his father, Leo II of Ipswich; a sister, Mary Beth Hunter of Townsend; and his grandmother, Evelyn Radford of Needham.

A memorial service will be held at 10 a.m. today at Bradley Estate at Ridge Hill Reservation, Needham.

Arrangements are by Eaton Funeral Home, Needham.

KENNETH MORRIS

July 5, 1995, age 53

Former TV producer and editor in chief of Solomon International Television Newsletter, a broadcasting tip sheet.

Alexander Mendizabel

May 15, 1946-April 27, 1993

Alex succumbed to AIDS-related lymphoma of the brain at approximately 8:30 p.m. on April 27, after bravely living with AIDS for three years. He passed away peacefully at his home in Campbell, CA, surrounded by his loving life partner of 13 years, Jay Rubenstein, his mother Tita, and his business partner and former lover, Sal Accardi. Interment was in the family mausoleum in Antigua, Guatemala. He was 46 years old.

Alex was born in New York City on May 15, 1946, but was raised in Guatemala. He was the loving son of Berta (Tita) Diaz and Efrain Mendizabel.

Alex took great pride in the garden area that he created there. His green thumb and love for flowers inspired the garden oasis in the middle of San Jose.

Alex was involved with the gay community for many years. In 1979-1980, Alex reigned as Emperor III, Alex of Casa, Inc., San Jose. Although not Mexican, he still liked to put on Cinco de Mayo celebrations for the Community. Alex loved country music and enjoyed traveling with Jay all over the United States and to Guatemala, Mexico, and Israel. In September, 1989, he achieved sobriety, from which he never waived. He was a devoted parent to Snoopy, his adoring beagle.

Alex was a proud gay man, in touch with his Guatemalan heritage. Loving, generous and trusting, he set an example of moral integrity and personal commitment that can scarcely be equalled. He will be loved and fondly remembered forever by his friends and loved ones.

"Walk on Faith, Trust in Love." ▼

Richard Neal Melbourn, Jr.

Oct. 10, 1931-March 23, 1993

Born in Ft. Worth, Texas, Richard worked as an account executive for several major advertising agencies in both San Francisco and New York City. He established in San Francisco his own business, Richard N. Melbourn Flowers & Plants; and guided by his superb taste, the company grew and provided exemplary service to numerous accounts, among them many of the ranking hotels, restaurants, corporations, and offices throughout the San Francisco Bay area.

In addition to his lifelong love of flowers and green plants, Richard was a devotee of the arts. He was also a gourmand who always loved to entertain. And in keeping with a keen social awareness, he contributed generously to numerous charitable organizations. Richard is survived by his brother, William Melbourne, of Fort Worth; his cousin, Catherine Calloway, of Houston; and many friends as well as his loyal employees. Private services have been held. ▼

Bob Mills

Robert J. Mills, 40, of Washington D.C., died Sunday, April 25, 1993, at his home of complications associated with AIDS, according to his friend, Ruth Eisenberg of D.C.

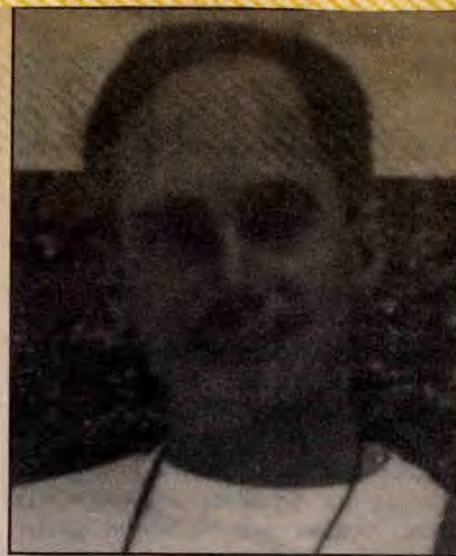

Mills was an attorney and Whitman-Walker Clinic volunteer. He began volunteering with the Clinic as a buddy in 1985. He later became a buddy team leader and part of the Clinic's buddy training team. He was a member of the Clinic's Board of Directors from 1987 to 1990, and at the time of his death worked on the Clinic's legal services operating committee. In 1988, he was recognized for his efforts and was awarded the Clinic's first Gene Frey Award for Volunteer Service.

"Bob made a substantial contribution, particularly in the earlier years of the AIDS epidemic," said the Clinic's Executive Director Jim Graham. "He provided just and compassionate legal representation for people with AIDS"

At the time of his death, Mills was an attorney at the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), where he had worked since 1979. His title was senior counsel to the commission's associate director in its office of general counsel.

"Bob was a sweet and gentle man who was loved by many friends and colleagues," Eisenberg said. "Bob was also well loved at work. When he became ill, his SEC colleagues donated hundreds of hours of annual leave so that he would not have to go on disability retirement."

Born and raised in Joplin, Mo., Mills attended Missouri Southern State College. He graduated from the University of Missouri Columbia Law School in Columbia, where he was elected to the Order of the Coif legal society.

According to Eisenberg, Mills's hobbies included traveling to exotic places, going to the theater with friends, cooking elegant and sophisticated meals, and shopping, especially for sweaters.

In addition to Eisenberg, Mills is survived by his mother, Jeann Ray of Joplin; his stepmother, Oneida Mills of San Francisco, Calif.; a sister, Jeann Ellen Artym of Carthage, Mo.; a brother, Donald W. West of Joplin; and many close friends. Mills was predeceased by his father, Jack S. Mills of San Francisco.

Funeral services will be held on Saturday, May 1, at 11 a.m., at St. Thomas Episcopal Church, 1772 Church St., NW, Washington D.C.

Contributions can be made in Mills's name to the Whitman-Walker Clinic Legal Services Department, 1407 S St., NW, Washington DC 20009.

Jim Moore

Well-known Houston youth educator

HOUSTON (AP)—A former high school science teacher who dedicated his final energies to teaching youths about AIDS has succumbed to the disease.

Jim Moore, 42, taught chemistry and biology at Spring Woods Senior High School for 10 years. His death May 20 was announced over the school's public address system just before dismissal that day.

"Some of the kids were taking it pretty hard. The teachers lost a friend as well as the kids," Spring Woods principal Perry Pope said.

Moore was diagnosed with AIDS in 1987 and immediately began creating a community-wide AIDS education program, without revealing he had the disease. He suffered intermittent periods of illness from November 1991 until November 1992, when he was too weak to continue teaching.

In late January, Moore asked for permission to address the school's faculty and 1,600 students about his disease.

In a public, emotional appeal, Moore urged students to protect themselves from high-risk behavior associated with the deadly virus.

He told the teen-agers that he used a condom when he contracted AIDS through high-risk sexual activity but would not elaborate.

After the speech, Moore received invitations from around the country to speak to young people. His own students organized several fund-raisers that last week garnered thousands of dollars to help Moore with huge medical bills and waning insurance supplements.

Moore visited the school a few times after his address and delivered a tape that was played on the public address system last week, Pope said.

Memorial services were planned for May 27 at Chapelwood United Methodist Church in Houston. 1993

Alan Milsap

Alan W. Milsap, 43, of Arlington, Virginia, died Thursday, April 15, 1993, at the George Washington University Hospital of complications associated with AIDS, according to close friend, Mike Koempel of Takoma Park, Maryland.

Milsap joined the National Science Foundation (NSF) in 1976 as part of a special fellowship program that recruited people from around the country. After the fellowship he became a permanent employee of the NSF working as a program manager for scientific projects and exchanges. He was responsible for programs with Australia, New Zealand, and Japan.

Milsap headed a committee that drafted the protocols for the U.S.-China student and scholar exchange programs, work which led to an NSF award for the committee. Recently, Milsap played the leading role in computerizing the international programs division.

Milsap was born and raised in Hickory, Pa. He graduated summa cum laude from Georgetown University's School of Languages and Linguistics, where he played the saxophone in the university concert band. He earned a master's degree in linguistics from the University of Michigan and completed coursework there towards a doctorate. Milsap was fluent in all major romance languages and spoke Chinese, German, and Russian.

In addition to Koempel, Milsap is survived by his mother, Mae Milsap of Venice, Fla.; a sister, Rebecca Milsap; and a niece, Madeleine Milsap, both of Buffalo, N.Y.; and several aunts, uncles, and cousins. Milsap will also be missed by his many friends and his support group.

Milsap's remains were interred on April 20 at Fairfax Memorial Park, in Fairfax, Va. A memorial service was held on April 19, at Dahlgren Chapel at Georgetown University.

Mitt Murray

Millard F. Murray, 42, died Thursday, August 18, 1994 in his Arlington, Virginia home due to AIDS related complications, according to his life partner of 14 years, Brian Kittle of Arlington.

Murray was born April 25, 1952 in Milford, Del. He grew up in Sussex County in Delaware, graduating from the University of Delaware's Technical Community College in 1972.

Murray moved to the D.C. area in 1973 and began working as a layout designer for Display Design and Advertising. He was a waiter at The Pier from 1973-78, when he became manager of Coolbreezes Restaurant on Capitol Hill, a position he held for ten years.

In 1987, Murray earned a degree as a licensed massage therapist from the Potomac Myotherapy Institute. He received national certification from the American Massage Therapy Association the following year. Murray worked as an on-call massage therapist for the Radisson Mark Plaza in Alexandria, Va. In 1987, he also began working as a massage therapist and café manager at the Skyline Clubs at Crystal Park in Arlington. Murray continued to serve as a massage therapist at Crystal Park until retiring in June.

"Mitt was very involved with a holistic approach to caregiving, which he expressed in his approach to massage and inner wellness," Kittle said.

Murray was also a dedicated gardener working for 11 years on a variety of gardening projects. He enjoyed preparing food and ran an impromptu catering business out of his home for many years according to Kittle. Murray and Kittle also traveled extensively in Europe, making many friends along the way.

In addition to Kittle, Murray is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Millard F. Murray III of Lewes, Del.; two sisters, Cheryl Layfield of Millsboro Del.; and Missy Kenworthy of Rehoboth Del.; a brother, W. Britt Murray of Georgetown, Del.; niece, Lacey Kenworthy of Rehoboth; three nephews, Rodney, Derrick, and Bradley Layfield, all of Millsboro; and numerous dear friends.

MANZI

Of Boston, June 7, 1993, Richard, age 31 years. Son of David R. of FL, and Rosemary A. Russell of Beverly. Brother of Peter, Kenneth, Joseph & Rose. Grandson of Alice Manzi; also survived by many devoted friends. Funeral Mass at St. Florence Church, 47 Butler Avenue, Wakefield on Wednesday, June 9, at 11 o'clock. Relatives and friends respectfully invited. Visiting hours at J.S. Waterman & Sons-Eastman-Waring Funeral Home, 495 Commonwealth Avenue, at Kenmore Square BOSTON, Tuesday 7:00-9:00 P.M. Memorial donations may be made to Hospice at Mission Hill, 20 Parker Hill

GLEN ELGIN MARGO

11/30/47 - 2/25/96

The magical community of sacred clowns and radical faeries has lost one more of its own with the passing of our beloved Glen, who died at home in the early morning sunshine surrounded by friends. As one of the long-term survivors of HIV infection, he had fought the disease valiantly both personally and professionally for nearly fifteen years.

Born in Johannesburg, South Africa, Glen's path led him on vital missions through dozens of countries throughout the world. After graduating from the University of the Witwatersrand he completed MSW degrees at Rutgers and UC Santa Barbara, where he helped found the Freedom Clinic to provide services to low-income indigent people. He completed his doctorate in public health at UC Berkeley, focusing his dissertation on "Homophobia in the Health Professions" at a time when lesbians and gay men were only beginning to demand equal health care.

He was Chief of the San Francisco Public Health Department's Health Promotion Bureau for several years, after stints teaching at San Francisco State University and working with the Northern California Cancer Society.

In 1985, he co-authored a paper on AIDS delivered at the World Conference on Health Education in Dublin, Ireland, where delegates from over one hundred countries heard of the pioneering work being done in the San Francisco Bay area. Partly as a result of that international exposure, he and his friends, Michael Helquist and John David Dupree, were recruited into an international HIV/AIDS prevention project, AIDSCOM, for which Glen provided the vision as Project Director from 1987 until 1991, when he retired on disability and returned to his beloved San Francisco home.

He worked with the Gay Buddhist Fellowship and helped form the Buddhist ADIS Project. He was also a long-time Shanti Project volunteer and a devoted Radical Faerie.

His spirit and sense of humor has helped guide HIV/AIDS prevention, treatment and compassionate care initiatives all over the world. He co-edited a special issue of the International Journal of Public Health devoted to HIV/AIDS disease and distributed to all corners of the globe.

Countless friends and family members rallied around him throughout his illness, but particularly during the last year, when his condition began deteriorating dramatically. He was grateful for the faithful advice and attention he received from his two primary care providers, Michael Brennan, David Drennan, as well as his Shanti volunteer and friend, John Borchelt.

He is survived by many close friends, including Ron Beauregard, John David Dupree, Margaret Schonfeld, Merilee Clunis, Miriam Cantor, Gail Tennen, Charlotte Cooke, Jennifer Abel, Bill Webber, Annie Esterson and members of his Buddhist sangha. He leaves his father, Lionel, and soul sister, Gisele Wulfsohn, both in Johannesburg; sister Susan Jefferson, nieces Kirsten and Hayley in Capetown; brother Robin, sister Jill, nephew Jonathan, nieces Emily and Sarah, all in Sydney, Australia; brother Ian, sister Manou and nephew Taja, all in Toulouse, France.

A celebration of Glen's life is scheduled for 11am Sunday, March 3rd at the Trocadero Clubhouse in Stern Grove, 19th Avenue at Sloat Blvd., San Francisco. For more details, please phone 415-751-806. In lieu of flowers, donations are suggested to Project Open Hand, The Buddhist AIDS Project, local AIDS or hospice organizations.

Forge on, sweet and gentle man!

Patrick Pasquale Mattioli
April 17, 1949 - May 27, 1995

A celebration of Patrick's life will take place on July 15. For Details call Bob at 252-7140

Goodbye, my dearest Patrizio.
We all loved you very much.

MEMBER—Alan-Michael, 40, of W. Hollywood, CA, formerly of New York City, departed this world on May 16 to join his many friends, from complications due to AIDS. He leaves behind parents Helene and Irving Member of Phoenix; sister Brenda of NYC, brother Tobin of Verona, NJ, grandmother Rita Weitsman of Phoenix and life partner Charles Olson of West Hollywood, CA. He made life fun for us all even to the very end. Donations in his name may be made to Project Angel Food, 7574 Sunset Boulevard, L.A., CA 90046 or PAWS/LA, 7221 Santa Monica Blvd., #B, W. Hollywood, CA 90046.

Mark Massi's (left) and Tom Joslin's video diary becomes a film.

A haunting love story in the age of AIDS

By Renee Graham
GLOBE STAFF

To Mary Joslin, "Silverlake Life: The View from Here" is a love story, an elegant, enthralling coda to two joined lives nearing an untimely end. It is the story of her son, filmmaker Tom Joslin, and his lover of 22 years, Mark Massi, as they both struggle through the final stages of AIDS.

With "Silverlake Life," Joslin and Massi created a video diary of their final year together, capturing their trips to doctors, energy healers and therapists as well as their day-to-day coping with the slow ebb of their lives. Yet among the most enduring images in this extraordinarily MILLER—David (Garry D.) 47. Died at St. Vincent's Hospital on March 13. From Minnesota to NYC in 1968, he pursued a restaurant career in the Greenwich Village area. Survived by brother, Steve of Minnesota. Memorial service Madison Avenue Baptist Church, 30 East 31 St, Saturday, March 20 at 1PM. Bring tulips.

MORALES—Raul. Age 36, on April 13, after a long and courageous battle with AIDS. Survived by his beloved parents, sisters, brothers, nieces, nephews and companion, Michael. Raul received his MBA from NYU, and was an officer with the Dresdner Bank, A.G. He was loved and admired by all who knew him, and he will be strongly missed and always remembered. Redden's Funeral Home, 325 West 14th Street, on Thursday and Friday, from 2-5, 7-9 P.M.

MORTON—Gerald Woods. Age 39, on December 15 of AIDS. A well loved organist and conductor. Gerre will be sorely missed by his family and friends. His memory is cherished by all who knew him. He was preceded in death by his partner, Richard Schuler, in January. A memorial will be held Saturday, January 9, 1993 at 12 noon at St. Philip's Episcopal Church, 204 West 134 St. Contribution in his memory may be made to The Upper Room AIDS Ministry, 207 West 133rd Street, N.Y., N.Y. 10030.

MOYLETTE—Mark. Age 35. Died on December 19 of an AIDS-related illness in New Orleans. At time of death, Mark was employed as an advertising manager at the West Point-Pepperill Co. Survived by his parents, Walter and Olivia Moylette, of New Orleans and a sister Marion Moylette Chamberlain of New Orleans. In lieu of flowers, donations can be made to GMHC, at 129 W. 20 St., NYC 10011.

stunning film are those of two men in love trying once more to taste the sweetness of life together beneath the shadow of death.

"It is a love story, very much so. That's the way I see it," said Mary Joslin of the film, which premieres tonight at 10 on Channel 2. Earlier this year, the film won the Grand Jury Prize at the Sundance Film Festival in Utah.

"They loved each other dearly," she said. "It's kind of hard to imagine if you're straight. It was hard to get used to, too."

Tom Joslin, a Massachusetts native, died in July 1990; a year later, Massi was dead. Both were 43. Left behind were 40 hours of unedited videotapes. The task of putting the film together fell to filmmaker Peter Friedman, a longtime friend of Joslin's. Friedman, 35, first met Joslin when he was a freshman at Hampshire College, and Joslin was his film teacher. Joslin, who was the first openly gay person Friedman knew, helped Friedman deal with his own homosexuality.

On his proposal for "Silverlake Life," Joslin listed Friedman as "editor, videographer & (in case of a health disaster) filmmaker." But much of the movie — named for the Silverlake section of Los Angeles where Massi and Joslin lived — was filmed by the couple. It is basic, unflashy, intimate filmmaking, dwelling on the toll AIDS takes on even the most mundane chores. When Joslin goes into a store to buy a plastic garbage can, he is too weak to pull one can from the others. Afterward, he retreats to his car to rest.

"The simplest five-minute task, and you have to go to the car, put the seat back and rest and catch a breath," Joslin says in the film. "What a way to live; what a way to die."

Friedman, who lives in France with his lover, said such statements were typical of Joslin's reaction toward AIDS. In the film, Joslin describes himself as a "doomsday AIDSer," unlike Massi, who went to energy healers and took herbal concoctions — anything to stave off the disease.

Said Friedman: "Tom was more, 'I'm going to die, but I'm going to make a movie out of it.'"

"Silverlake Life" was not Joslin's first autobiographical film. In the 1970s, he made "Blackstar: Autobiography of a Close Friend," which dealt with his coming out as a gay man. Joslin told his parents about his homosexuality shortly after graduating from the University of New Hampshire.

"Early on, it was pretty rough. Of course we're rather straight people, and I was terribly hurt when I first knew about it," Mary Joslin, 76, said recently from her home in Concord, N.H., where she lives with her husband of 55 years, Charlie. "Not so much about Tom and Mark, but the idea that he wouldn't be a family person. He always loved his family and he was wonderful with kids, so that was a disappointment."

Nor were the Joslins terribly impressed with Massi, whom Mary Joslin found "very standoffish. He seemed to resent us terribly — well, that was mutual." Her feelings toward Massi began to change after she saw her son's film "Blackstar" and a close friend told her, "If Tom loves him, there must be something awfully good about him."

"Our attitude changed gradually, and he changed toward us," Mary Joslin said. "We could understand Tommy loved him, and we should, too. He always had good judgment

... We could either love him or hate him, and there was no point in hating him the rest of his life."

But what most touched Mary Joslin was the care Massi gave her dying son. In the film, Massi says he and Tom's mother became closer during Tom's illness and death, even feeling he had been accepted as a son. At Mary Joslin's request, both Joslin and Massi are buried in a Joslin family plot in Lynnfield.

"Mark is beside Tommy, and then there's room for me beside Tommy, and then there's Charlie," Mary Joslin said. "We'll all be together."

Friedman says the nearly two-hour film deals with two topics that most of society "tries to keep out of view" — death and, especially, homosexuality. In the film, as Massi says he and Joslin were together for 22 years, Joslin's death certificate is shown. The box for marital status reads "Never Married." Friedman wanted to underline how mainstream society often negates gay and lesbian relationships.

"It's not like the film was making big hot-headed political speeches" about gay relationships, he said. "It just shows the reality of it."

With its unvarnished view of death and dying, some people might be deterred from watching the film. While some scenes are particularly wrenching, Friedman said, he could not "sugarcoat it enough, and still be honest and truthful about what's going on. If they really don't want to deal with it, they won't watch it. That's just the way it is."

Since the film began running at film festivals this year, most recently at Boston's Gay and Lesbian Film/Video Festival, reaction has been overwhelmingly positive. Mary Joslin, who first saw the film several months ago with her family, wishes the film could be shown in "schools so the kids wouldn't go out and have sex. ... I just hope they get scared and sensible and think about it."

Friedman hopes the film will "make AIDS real for those who see it as an abstraction." And for lesbians and gays, as well as people with AIDS, he said, "We all have a deep need to see images which represent our lives in some truthful way."

"One of the main points of 'Silverlake Life' is to de-trivialize what happens, what that experience is and what that's all about," he said. "But it's also about who Tom and Mark were, and the fact that they loved each other. The film is trying to say, 'We were here.'"

Baritone Morrison loses his battle with AIDS

By Richard Dyer
GLOBE STAFF 12-24-93

The baritone Richard Morrison died on Christmas Eve at the AIDS Hospice on Mission Hill. He was 33.

Apart from a season's sabbatical in the San Francisco-based vocal ensemble Chanticleer, Morrison was for a decade a prominent participant in Boston's musical life. When he arrived from Indiana University to begin graduate study with Phyllis Curtin at Boston University in 1983, he joined the Handel & Haydn Society chorus and sang with that group through the end of last season; for six years he performed throughout the Boston public school system as a founding member of the vocal quartet in H & H's educational program. H & H dedicated this year's performances of "Messiah" to him.

In addition to his work at Indiana and BU, Morrison studied at Tanglewood, Aspen and at the Central City Opera. He was a versatile artist who did exemplary work in most areas of vocal music. He was a member of the Boston Camerata and sang King Mark in the Camerata's "Tristan et Iseult." He appeared regularly with the Boston Early Music Festival and one of his last concerts was the Byrd Great Mass with the Handel & Haydn Society last June. He performed new music here with the Boston Musica Viva, Alea III and Dinosaur Annex. He was for many years a member of Emmanuel Music, appearing in the regular Sunday cantatas and in the Debussy and Brahms chamber-music series, as well as in last spring's performance of Bach's "St. John" Passion.

In 1987 Curtin went into the hospital for an operation, and before she went, she called me and asked me to stand in for her at a recital Morrison

GLOBE / BILLBOARD REPORT

TOP CLASSICAL ALBUMS

THIS WEEK	LAST WEEK	TITLE	ARTIST
1	★1	NUTCRACKER	BERLIN SYM. (WOHLERT)
2	2	TENOR CHRISTMAS FAVORITES	CARRERAS - DOMINGO - PAVAROTTI
3	3	CHRISTMAS IN VIENNA	DOMINGO/ROSS/CARRERAS
4	4	TCHAIKOVSKY: THE NUTCRACKER	NYC BALLET (ZINMAN)
5	5	IN CONCERT	CARRERAS, DOMINGO, PAVAROTTI

• indicates fast climber
© 1992 BPI Communications / Billboard magazine

was giving at the Gardner Museum. It was a remarkable occasion, and it wasn't just the presence of Sanford Sylvan in the same audience that made me think that this was a talent of the same magnitude. Morrison, who was tall and gaunt in appearance, was particularly memorable in Ibert's "Don Quichotte" songs. Yesterday Curtin said, "Richard Morrison had a talent of the first rank; he had the brains, the imagination, and the soul."

It is inevitable that Morrison's death will leave us thinking of how much Boston's musical community has lost to this disease; Morrison bore severe afflictions with great personal dignity and fortitude. But it is far more important to remember and celebrate his life and what he made it stand for; he made idealism seem realistic, and the only natural way to act. He was the kind of artist who always made you think about the meaning of music and poetry, and not about how he was singing; he was an utterly honest and fearless performer. He probably never participated in a concert that was not better because he was there.

Emmanuel Music plans a memorial service and concert in the spring.

Raymond Miller

1928 - 1995

Ray Miller passed away in his sleep on Saturday, May 6, in Eagle, Idaho. He was a longtime resident of San Francisco and a retired employee of Sears Roebuck. Ray was the owner of the Foghorn, a popular bar on Market and Franklin, from 1979 to 1984.

An easygoing and genial man, Ray will be missed by his many friends and by those to whom he was always helpful. He is survived by his sister, Evelyn Pogue, and an aunt, Violet Brewer, of Eagle, Idaho. Donations in his name may be sent to the AIDS Food Bank, 401 Duboce St., San Francisco, CA 94117. ▼

STEVEN TERMAN MENDELSON

36, an artist and children's book author, died Feb. 11 from AIDS-related meningitis. He was hired at age 21 as a full-time illustrator for the WASHINGTON POST, where his political cartoons and illustrations were syndicated throughout Europe, South America and Asia. His illustration work includes contracts with Art Buchwald, the LONDON TIMES, the 95 TRIBUNE, the NATION, and Eccentric restaurant. He is survived by his parents and three siblings. His partner, Timothy Holless, died last January.

Jack Martino

John (Jack) Joseph Martino, 48, of Landover, Maryland, died Thursday, July 8, 1993, at George Washington Hospital Center of complications associated with AIDS, according to his friend, George Blauvelt of Landover Hills, Maryland.

Martino was born April 5, 1945 in Newark, N.J., according to friend, Roy Link of D.C. He attended Bloomfield State College in Bloomfield, N.J.

Martino worked for a number of security firms including Professional Securities Inc., and actively promoted his business, especially in the Gay community, according to Blauvelt.

Martino was an excellent pool player and ran a number of local pool tournaments, most notably at Remington's and Mr. P's. He was a member of the New Day Wellness Group, a social group for HIV positive people in Landover. Martino regularly attended the group's Thursday night drop in center.

He was an excellent card player and loved to play UNO, especially at the Saturday Night Coffee House, a D.C. social group.

Martino was a very active and outgoing person with a quick mind for business. Blauvelt said that Martino was a great storyteller, whose quick wit and wonderful sense of humor will be sadly missed by all his friends.

Jan (Mac) Macalister

April 11, 1930 - June 19, 1994

In memory of a wonderfully proud person. Originally born in Ridgeway, Penn.,

Jan moved to SF in 1951 and was a longtime resident of the North Beach area. After a 2-1/2 year bout with terminal cancer, she is finally free of mortal pain and will always be remembered by her numerous friends. Jan became a substance abuse counselor, and helped and inspired many people in recovery. She did attend the Gay Day Parade in spirit! God love you, Jan.

Keith Marsh, an openly gay

Republican party organizer, died of complications from AIDS Oct. 12 in Los Angeles. He was 48. Marsh lost bids for the California senate in 1982 and 1990 and a campaign for the state assembly in 1984. 1991

Actor LARRY MAXWELL, 43, died of leukemia Dec. 7. His credits included Todd Haynes' Poison. Survivors include his companion, Janie Marr Werum. 95

Actor Marcello Mastroianni, 72, a great Italian actor who did not fear playing gay roles (he was nominated for an Academy Award for his role as a suicidal homosexual in A Special Day), died Dec. 19. 96

Postcard from Grief

MY LOVER DIED THIS YEAR ON JANUARY 5. WE were together for 11 years. He was 40. His name was Timothy Scott Melester. He was a surgeon and an AIDS educator. 96

I find my way by sticking to simple declarative sentences: handholds over the swampy, rocky terrain of my terror and grief. After the initial crush of letters and flowers, phone calls and devotional meals, I went into a mania of work—writing plays and screenplays, attending rehearsals, traveling, seeing friends, tackling projects. I went through Tim's belongings and gave many of them away. I took off my wedding ring.

Now, months after the fact, the layers of shock are beginning to fall away, and I am left with a feeling for which nothing in my life has prepared me: not religion, not politics, not philosophy. I have stopped running, and the waves are breaking over me in no regular pattern, each one bringing new sensations and stripping me further of my illusions: I know nothing about who I am, where I am going, what I believe, what I want. Tim was my anchor: His battle to live was my battle.

My closets and bookshelves are filled with his notes and textbooks from medical school. What happened to all that learning and effort? Where did it go? The four languages he taught himself to speak and the two dead ones he learned to read—all the facts, the growing-up, the struggle and ultimate joy of coming out to his friends and family, all the music he listened to, all the novels he devoured: Where are they now? Friends put me in touch with a medium, and she convinced me that his spirit was present. Every word she spoke on his behalf was plausible. She knew countless things she couldn't have known. So perhaps our spirits do go on. Still, I can't touch him, I can't kiss him, I can't suck, fuck, and hold him. He can't reach up and stop me from picking my nose.

Nothing makes any sense to me. I have stopped reading The New York Times: It's all gossip, fashion, and obscene cruelty I have no power to change. In the months since Tim died, the world is still obsessed with O.J. Simpson. I turn on the TV less than once a week, and I want to vomit.

I talk to Tim. Out loud. I attend my support group and continue to write and to see friends. Others who are grieving share their experiences with me—on-line, in person, even by snail mail. The depth of their despair is the air I breathe. Here are other things I enjoy: sad music; sex of almost any kind—cyber, phone, video-voyeur, even real and true, in-the-flesh sex; nature—watching the sunset, walking in a garden or on the beach, playing with my dogs. They understand my grief perfectly, it would seem, and when I cry, they grow still and pensive, put their faces on my knee, and wait for me to come out of it. Which is more than most people can do. A very few friends and colleagues are able to listen when I howl, to be present and hold my hand, or to make me laugh. But the most common response to my litany of boundless sorrow is, "So what does your shrink say?" Anyone who says that to me can expect to be deleted from my address book. Grief is not a pathology. It is the body's natural response to devastation. Anyone who can formulate a stiff upper lip is, to me, already dead. I mourn for them. Go away if you can't stand my grief. It's nowhere near over.

My rage is boundless too. I want Bill Clinton to lose in the next election, and I am going to actively campaign against him. I will consider voting for anyone who steps forward and says that Clinton has failed miserably; he is a cowardly fuck who can't even be bothered to file a brief with the Supreme Court opposing Colorado's Amendment 2 and should be dragged through the streets of every city and town, like Mussolini, weeping while we pelt him with rotten fruit to remind him of who elected him.

That's just the tip of the iceberg. Don't tell me I'm lucky to be alive, to be HIV-negative. Don't tell me life is beautiful. Don't tell me I have a lot to offer. To whom? A nation that wants to lower taxes on the rich as it abandons the poor and disenfranchised to further deprivation? A culture that accepts a filthy, reactionary piece of crap like Pulp Fiction and calls it art?

Here's what I understand: people who tear at their flesh and throw themselves in the grave. People who join monasteries and spend the rest of their days praying for peace. Terrorists.

Maybe I'll come out of this and be utterly ashamed to have confessed to the depths of what I am experiencing. Maybe someday I will marry another wonderful man and we'll adopt a child and name him Tim. Or maybe I will decide that the countless deaths I have witnessed are too much for me, that the consolations of sex and music and art and love and community are not enough in the face of this idiot culture filled with death and indifference, and I will join my loved ones "before my time." Don't ask me what my shrink says.

People who are not grieving say, "Don't get depressed—organize!" Of course, they're right. I hope to rejoin the ranks of the mentally balanced. But I do not believe I can get there without being here first. So here I am. This is my postcard from Grief. Don't write. Wish I weren't here.

Lucas is the author of several plays and screenplays, including Longtime Companion and Prelude to a Kiss.

The most common response to my litany of sorrow is, "So what does your shrink say?"

MEYER—Daniel W., of NYC, on August 4th, 1995. Beloved companion and friend of William J. Dart; devoted son of Marion W. Meyer & the late Arthur S. Meyer; loving brother of Carolyn and Leonard & brother-in-law of Janet; dear uncle of Muffie, Carlin, Erica, and Ronnie; and great-uncle of Emma and Molly. Funeral private. A memorial gathering will be held early in the fall. Contributions in his memory may be made to SAGE, the Chamber Music Society of Lincoln Center, or the Central Park Conservancy.

W.J. "Brandy" Moore, 45, a San Francisco AIDS activist, died at his home of AIDS-related complications on Oct. 14. Moore helped organize and served as the chair of the Black Coalition on AIDS. His partner was Martin Waldron, also of San Francisco. (San Francisco Examiner) 1994

MICHAEL MILLER, 53, a former provost for academic affairs at Chicago State University, died Nov. 10 from AIDS complications. As a linguist, Miller headed the school's English Department and published numerous articles on the development of the English language, and was a guest lecturer at universities in Taiwan and Poland. He received his Ph.D. from the U. of Chicago. He is survived by his partner, Donald Beck. 94

MEEGAN—Of Wilmington, June 26, 1994. Son of Alfred N. Sr. and Louise (Pinsoad) Weegan of Wilmington; brother of William, Alfred N. Jr. and Laura Meegan all of Wilmington, Steven of Dracut and David of Burlington. Also survived by several nieces and nephews. Funeral from the W.S. Cavanaugh & Son Funeral Home, 374 Main St., (Rt. 38), WILMINGTON, on Tuesday morning at 9. Funeral Mass at St. Dorothy's Church at 10 a.m. Friends may call Sunday 5-7 & Monday 2-4 & 7-9 p.m. Member Alanon in Boston area, Volunteer Aids Action Committee in Boston Living Center, Boston Friday night Supper Program. Memorials in his name may be made to the Friday Night Supper Program, c/o Jan Brassill, 351 Boylston St., Boston, Ma. 02116. 1994

Tede Matthews, a long-time member of the Modern Times Bookstore collective and a 20-year activist in the gay and lesbian movement, died of AIDS on Saturday, July 17. ♀ 3

Matthews's life was full of activism in both the left and in gay and lesbian political arenas. He was a writer, a poet, a networker, and last but not least, a dish queen.

For the past 15 years, Matthews was involved with the Modern Times Bookstore, first as a volunteer for five years, and for the past ten years as a full-time core member of the bookstore collective. Matthews helped make Modern Times a center for progressive activity. Fifteen years ago he began the bookstore's monthly open reading for gay and lesbian writers, giving new writers a place to read and be heard. The open reading continues to this day. Matthews brought international writers to the bookstore, primarily from Latin America, making these authors available to Bay Area residents and extending their readership beyond their countries of origin. He created Modern Times' Spanish language section, which is used widely by the Mission District's Latin American population.

His affinity for Latin American cultures, literature, social and political issues, and building bridges between movements brought him to Mexico and Nicaragua. If there was work to be done concerning Latin American gay and lesbian issues, he was involved.

Matthews is known to many from his appearance in Word Is Out, Peter Adair's late '70s film, one of the first that interviewed "out" gays and lesbians. In the film, he is the hippie drag queen who says, "We're all born naked — the rest is drag."

Matthews grew up working class in Florida. He dodged the draft during the Vietnam War and fled to Boston to avoid arrest in the early 1970s. There he organized against the war, and in order to hide his identity from the FBI, he changed his name and began living as a woman. He worked in Boston's Little Red Bookstore, as a street hustler (during which time he organized street prostitutes), and later in a factory. Matthews left Boston in the early 1970s and moved to San Francisco, where he was involved in the early Bay Area gay liberation movement, combining his leftist politics with flamboyant drag. Although he soon left his drag and hustler days behind him, he continued organizing for the rights of both drag queens and prostitutes.

Matthews helped found Bay Area Gay Liberation (BAGL) in the '70s and Lesbians and Gays Against Intervention (LAGAI) in the '80s. During the past few years, Matthews worked with the International Gay and Lesbian Human Rights Commission's (IGLHRC) Latin American programs and helped create the organization's international advisory board.

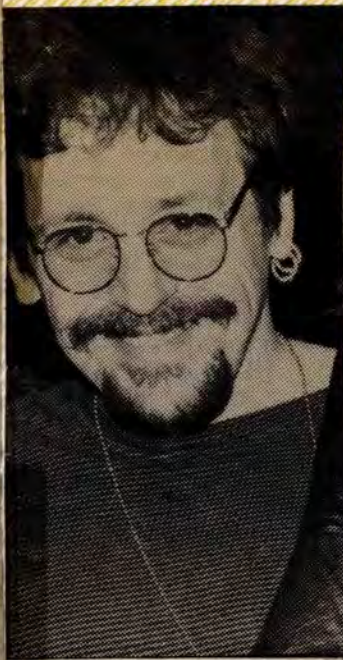

Those who knew him agree that Matthews had an ability to bring together people who might have otherwise thought they had nothing in common. One year he organized an event, "Volcanto," bringing together a mix of queers, straight leftists, feminists, and solidarity activists to celebrate July 19, the anniversary of the Nicaraguan Revolution. As the story goes, Matthews persuaded a group of apolitical drag queens from the Mission District's Latino drag bar, La India Bonita, to contribute their drag show to the celebration.

Matthews built bridges between movements, and he gave all he had to the causes he believed in. He himself was a writer, and was working on a book of poetry and two novels when he died.

Matthews is survived by his lover of nine years, Chuck Barragan; his mother, Vera Harvey; and his sister, Judy Madsen, both of Orlando, Florida; and thousands of friends throughout the U.S. and Latin America whose lives he touched. He is missed dearly.

An informal gathering of friends will share memories of Tede on his 42nd birthday — Thursday, July 29, at 7 p.m. at the Mission Cultural Center at 2868 Mission Street, between 24th and 25th streets. Please bring food or drinks.

On Sunday, August 22, at 7 p.m., a memorial celebration of Matthews's life will be held at Modern Times Bookstore at 888 Valencia between 19th and 20th streets. ▼

Michael Sean Mattor

Sept. 5, 1963–May 27, 1993

Michael Sean Mattor died of AIDS on Thursday, May 27 at the San Francisco Zen Center Hospice. He was 29 years old. Michael was born in Syosset, Long Island, New York, and moved with his family to southern California where he attended high school and college. Michael relocated in 1987 to San Francisco. In the years he lived here he struggled to find happiness and acceptance in his life, and to avoid his wife. He was able to do both.

Michael has had, and is still having, a profound effect on the people around him. His relentless humor and high spirits will haunt his friends forever. Michael's generosity and love was greatly appreciated and is greatly missed. His dying wish was that everyone would be happier, relax and enjoy life more. That's what his survivors are striving for.

Michael James Murray

July 15, 1994

Michael James Murray, 42, of Houston, died Friday, July 15, 1994. Mr. Murray was born in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. He was a member of the board of directors of Diffa/Houston, Take a Seat 1991, Diffa/Houston, and the recipient of the national award from Diffa for Unsong Hero 1994.

Mr. Murray was preceded in death by his father, James E. Murray, and is survived by his mother, Grace S. Murray, Moyock, North Carolina; sisters, Gail M. Melton, Chesapeake, Virginia, Deborah K. Webb, Suffolk, Virginia, Joan M. Williams, Casper, Wyoming; and his special friend, Tom Burtnett of Houston.

Memorial services were held at 2 p.m. Monday, July 18, 1994, in the Rothko Chapel, 1409 Sul Ross, Houston. The family requests all donations be made to the Michael James Murray Memorial

C. Wayne Milam

July 29, 1936–March 8, 1993

With a deep breath of relief and release, Wayne left this world peacefully at Kaiser Hospital in San Francisco, due to AIDS-related complications. His passing was witnessed by caring nurses who had helped him, his lover, Ken Wun, and many of his friends and family through Wayne's last two weeks here.

Born in Georgia and raised in Auburndale, Florida, Wayne served in the U.S. Navy from 1955 to 1957. Shortly afterwards, he completed courses in airline training with Northwest Schools in Portland, Oregon, and subsequently embarked upon a 30-year career in airlines reservation sales, first with National, and then with Pan Am.

A handsome, easy-going Southern gentleman, Wayne moved to Los Angeles in 1961 and transferred to San Francisco in 1981.

The son of Clarence Duerrell Milam, he is survived by his mother Ruby L. Milam; his sisters, Bobby New, Shirley Milam, and Joyce Schmidt; his brother Gerald Milam; four nieces and two nephews.

Ira Mer

Oct. 5, 1946–July 9, 1994

Ira Mer was a New York shrink turned San Francisco caterer. For many years, his van sporting "Rumer Has It" could be spotted running up and down the city's hills filled with Beggar's Pockets (crepes stuffed with caviar and cream), mul-tiered wedding cakes and pumpkin soup that was later served in hollowed-out gourds.

Born in Chicago and educated in New York (Hunter College), Ira strutted through the '70s bearded, muscled and lean with his lover, Douglas Foy, by his side. When Doug moved to San Francisco for a banking job, Ira decided to trade his couch in for a spatula and an apron. The two were married in San Francisco in a videotaped affair. Years after Doug's death from AIDS, Ira met John Kapellas, a divorced father of two. The attraction was instantaneous, love followed, along with a house in Danville so the two could be near John's kids, Cory and Bri, helping to raise them. Along with the children, the two lovers had a rabbit, a chicken, numerous birds and a hot tub.

A born hypochondriac, when Ira developed full-blown AIDS, he had decades of experience to deal with his condition. He died with a peaceful look on his face in a hospice. ▼

John MacDonald

John (Jack) MacDonald, a Fenway resident for fifteen years, and a talented musician, athlete and teacher, died Sept. 26 after a four-year battle with AIDS. He was 40. 1993

Originally from Charlestown, Jack graduated from Boston Latin School and received his undergraduate degree in music from UMass, Boston, graduating with high honors. He taught music at Harvard Kent elementary school in Boston and mathematics at Hyde Park High and Madison Park High. He also worked as a lifeguard and skate guard at MDC pools and rinks. In addition, Jack served on the client-advisory committee of the AIDS Action Committee and as a board member of the Boston Living Center.

Jack was an accomplished pianist who often performed in concerts at the Museum of Fine Arts or dropped in for an impromptu jam session at King of Records on Queensberry Street. A multi-talented individual, he also excelled at figure skating, ice dancing, basketball and swimming.

Jack was known by many in the Fenway as a warm-hearted, caring person who made friends easily. Whether he was teaching local kids to ice skate or play basketball, inviting friends over for a singalong, or stopping the mugging of an elderly man, he always expressed concern for the welfare of others. About living with AIDS, he once said, "AIDS is an albatross around your neck. I've lost everything. But, at the same time, I've learned a lot. I've learned that I have many dear friends who will do anything for me, and I've learned to value life."

MANter—Of Wellesley, May 16, 1995. Catherine June (McAdams). Mother of Andrea Lin Manter of Brandon, VT, Leigh Catherine Manter of Attleboro, Kerry Elizabeth Manter-Doucette of Taunton, Stacie June Manter of Seattle, WA. Their father Irving W. Manter of Waltham, beloved grandmother of Taylor June Manter and Amber Leigh Manter. Great niece of Gertrude E. Salloy of Orleans, sister of Russell G. McAdams II of W. Roxbury, Richard S. McAdams of Acton, Bob McAdams of Eastham, Ted McAdams of Attleboro, Roger McAdams of Brewster and Linda McAdams of Brockton. A Funeral Service will be held at the Newton Cemetery Chapel, 791 Walnut St, Newton, Friday at 9:30 a.m. Visiting hours at the Martin E. Conroy & Son Funeral Home, 439 Washington St, NEWTON, Wednesday 7-9, Thursday 2-4, 7-9. In lieu of flowers donations may be made to the AIDS Action Committee, 131 Clarendon St., Boston 02116 or a charity of your choice.

MASTERS—In Lowell, August 8, at his home Jon W. Masters. Former program director Merrimack Valley Residence in Haverhill. Long time companion of Dr. Michael L. Mavroidis of Lowell. Son of Mrs. Mary M. (Reed) (Masters) Marsh of Hamilton, OH and John H. Masters. Brother of Richard L. Masters of Hope Mills, NC. Grandson of Mrs. Aza Lee Taylor and stepson of Laird Marsh both of Hamilton, OH. Friends are invited to attend a Memorial Service Thursday morning at O'Donnell Funeral Home, 276 Pawtucket St., LOWELL at 11 o'clock. Contributions in his memory to the AIDS Action Committee, 131 Clarendon St., Boston, MA 02116. There will be no calling hours.

Greg Martell

Greg Martell, 32 years old, died of complications from AIDS on Feb. 7, at his home in Boston.

Greg was born and raised in Beverly, MA, and moved to Boston almost immediately upon graduation from high school. He soon became a star waiter and manager at several of Boston's finest restaurants, most of whose names began with the letter "C" (Cafe Calypso, Club Cafe, Cornucopia). Wherever he worked, there was no mistaking his fun-loving spirit—or his talent for making well-placed comments, usually accompanied by a raised eyebrow and a smile.

Greg's life was filled with glamour and excitement; he loved music, especially that by singer Jane Olivor, whom he adored so much that, during her last Boston-area appearance, he left his hospital bed, using a wheelchair, and attended the concert. He loved to travel, and was especially fond of visiting Seattle (where he lived for a year) and San Francisco. When his life started to become a little too glamorous and exciting, Greg took the steps necessary to ensure his own recovery; sobriety stood as one of Greg's proudest accomplishments.

When diagnosed with AIDS three years ago, Greg fought with a determination and drive characteristic of his personality. Until the end of his struggle, he was truly a person "living" with AIDS, not dying from AIDS. His bittersweet words were directed at our government and its continuing lack of sufficient response toward this devastating epidemic, but he chose to focus upon the joy in life, instead of the justifiable anger.

Greg leaves his partner, Stephen Serieka, his mother, Joan, and two siblings. He also leaves behind, both here in Boston and around the country, an army of friends who were honored and blessed to have Greg in their lives, even if the time spent together was not as long as we may have hoped. However, it's during this time that we must try to remember Greg's words of wisdom: "Old waitresses never die, they just change stations."

Remembrances may be sent to the Fenway Community Health Center.

32

11-9-93

Scott A. Morris

Scott Alan Morris, of Boston, died of AIDS-related complications on Nov. 9 at his mother's home in Parkersburg, West Virginia. He had moved back home in August and spent his last months with his immediate family.

Scott was born in Akron, Ohio, on May 27, 1961. He had lived in Ft. Lauderdale, Seattle and other cities, but spent most of the past 12 years in Boston, where he worked for various businesses in the community, including Club Cafe and Luxor.

It was at Luxor where he was working prior to moving to his mother's home, and his friends there and at Mario's Restaurant will greatly miss his sense of humor. Scott had a funny comment for any situation, and his poker-faced delivery of witty observations on society and its quirks was an endless source of amusement for his friends.

But as with many great cynics, Scott had a kind heart which fueled his distaste for anyone and anything that was phony.

Everyone at Luxor/Mario's is saddened by the loss of our colleague and friend.

Scott was cremated and a portion of his ashes were buried where a sapling was planted. He had often said that he wanted his remains to nourish a tree that would bloom very year on his birthday.

A memorial service was held on Nov. 14 in Mineral Wells, West Virginia.

Scott is survived by his parents, father Olis Morris of Frametown, West Virginia; and Janet Joann Nutter Morris of Parkersburg; three sisters, Ann Richards and Kelly Rett of Parkersburg, and Tracy Morris of Mineral Wells. He is also survived by three nieces and countless friends in Boston who will miss him dearly.

MOLIGNANO—James Phillip of Weymouth, age 39, May 13, 1995. Beloved husband of Dawn E. (Jones) Mollignano. Loving father of Dusty and Erika Mollignano. Loving son of Stanley J. Mollignano of Easton and Carole Crotty of Quincy. Loving brother of Stanley A. of Hanover, John W. of Westford, Carole A. Erickson of Rockland and Nancy A. Mollignano of Westford. Also survived by many nieces and nephews. Funeral from the McDonald Funeral Home, NORTH WEYMOUTH, 40 Sea St. (off Rte 3A at Bicknell Sq.) Tuesday at 9:00 a.m. followed by a Funeral Mass in St. Jerome's Church at 10 o'clock. Relatives and friends are invited to attend. Visiting hours Monday 2-4 and 7-9 p.m. U.S. Army Veteran. Late employee Balco, Inc., Weymouth and Rosenblatt & Son, Hingham. Memorial donations may be made to the AIDS Action Committee of MA, 131 Clarendon St., Boston, MA 02116.

Stanley A. of Hanover, John W. of Westford, Carole A. Erickson of Rockland and Nancy A. Mollignano of Westford. Also survived by many nieces and nephews. Funeral from the McDonald Funeral Home, NORTH WEYMOUTH, 40 Sea St. (off Rte 3A at Bicknell Sq.) Tuesday at 9:00 a.m. followed by a Funeral Mass in St. Jerome's Church at 10 o'clock. Relatives and friends are invited to attend. Visiting hours Monday 2-4 and 7-9 p.m. U.S. Army Veteran. Late employee Balco, Inc., Weymouth and Rosenblatt & Son, Hingham. Memorial donations may be made to the AIDS Action Committee of MA, 131 Clarendon St., Boston, MA 02116.

WALTER WAYNE MARLOWE, 48, a Key West businessman who turned the area into a prime gay resort, died Nov. 9 following complications from surgery for a stroke. He opened one of the first gay guest houses in Key West and was a founder of the Key West Business Guild. He helped to establish and underwrite a number of events for gay men and lesbians with his partner, Del Brixey. In 1993, he was named to the International Gay Travel Assoc.'s Hall of Fame. 94

Justice Thurgood Marshall, staunch ally of Gay rights movement, dies

by Aras van Hertum

Thurgood Marshall, 84, a former U.S. Supreme Court justice who was regarded as a staunch ally of the Gay civil rights movement, died on Sunday, January 24, at the National Naval Medical Center in Bethesda, Maryland, of heart failure.

Like Justice William Brennan, who retired from the court in 1990, Marshall gathered a near-perfect voting record on cases involving constitutional rights for Gay people during his 24-year high court tenure. Marshall retired in June 1991. During the 1980s, as the Supreme Court turned steadily more conservative and opposed to equal rights for Gays, Marshall provided a strong voice of dissent that championed equal rights for all minorities, including Gays.

Most notably, Marshall in 1986 joined three other justices in dissenting from the landmark 1986 Bowers v. Hardwick decision, which upheld Georgia's sodomy law. The majority decision had stated that private homosexual activity between consenting adults is not protected by the U.S. Constitution.

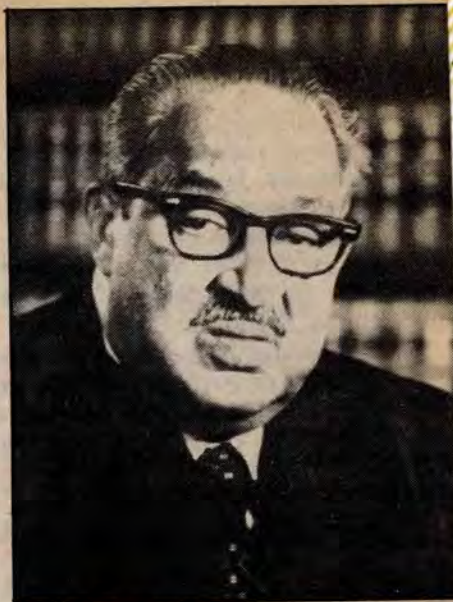

One year later, Marshall again joined the dissenting minority when the high court allowed the U.S. Olympic Committee to ban organizers of the Gay Games from referring to the event as the "Gay Olympics." The decision underscored activists' belief that taking their case to the Supreme Court was not the best way to win civil rights for Gay people.

Also that year, Marshall voted with the majority to rule unconstitutional a Houston, Texas, ordinance that police reportedly used to harass Gays.

"What he did for racial minorities is the cornerstone of what we're using in the fight for Lesbian and Gay rights," said Abby Rubinfeld, a Nashville,

GUADALAJARA—One of Mexico's leading gay and AIDS activists, Jorge Romero Mendoza, died in late April of AIDS complications in Guadalajara, his home city. Romero attended many world conferences of the International Lesbian and Gay Association as well as the International Conferences on AIDS. He co-organized the 1991 ILGA conference in Mexico. 75

MAHONEY—Of Annisquam, formerly of Boston, December 22. Maria Weld Mahoney, author and journalist, wife of the late Francis J. Mahoney, Stepmother of Charles Francis Mahoney of Gloucester and Boston, former Secretary of Human Services and former Secretary of Administration and Finance, and the late Norice Conant Smith, Ter-sister of Elizabeth Joy, Catherine Giggli, Mary Bellfroy, John, Francis and Joseph Folino, and the late Rose Leger, her life will be memorial service celebrating her life will be held in the Annisquam Village Church at a day and time to be announced. There are no visiting hours. Expressions of sympathy may be made in her memory to the Hospice of the North Shore, 10 Elm St., Danvers, MA 01923 or the North Shore AIDS Health Project, 25 Duncan St., Gloucester, MA 01930. Interment will be privately held in Mt. Adnah Cemetery, Annisquam. Arrangements are under the direction of the Pike-Grondin Funeral Home, 61 Middle St., GLOUCESTER.

Marshall gathered a near-perfect voting record on cases involving constitutional rights for Gays.

attorney and former legal director of the Lambda Legal Defense and Education Fund. "He was a leader in most of the cases that related to the Lesbian and Gay community."

Born and raised in Baltimore, Md., Marshall studied law at Howard University in Washington, D.C., after finding himself excluded from the University of Maryland's all-white law school.

He served as director of the NAACP until President John F. Kennedy appointed him U.S. Court of Appeals judge in 1961. President Lyndon B. Johnson named him Solicitor General in 1965, and in 1967 appointed him associate justice of the Supreme Court.

Scott Miller

Sept. 20, 1967 - Sept. 12, 1994

BAY Positives announces, with sadness and loss, the passing of Scott Miller, former president of the board of directors, friend and member of BAY Positives.

Scott was a motivating force behind the success of BAY Positives. Since its beginning in January 1990, he worked to realize our dream by shouldering much of the work - from the writing of our bylaws to the building of new walls in our first permanent home in January 1994. In addition, Scott helped the HIV-positive youth community to become a strong, visible force by his leadership as the first youth living with AIDS on the San Francisco Ryan White Care Council.

When BAY Positives started as a volunteer-run support group, Scott was one of the first three members. It was his vision that BAY Positives become a peer-run, emotional support program. Scott's passion, dedication and vision have now been realized.

On New Year's Eve of 1992, local painter and educator Rob Moore died of complications resulting from AIDS. That death cut short a career that was only at its mid-point, and included 26 years of teaching at the Massachusetts College of Art. Moore left a legacy of some 5,000 students, as well as a great number of friends and admirers. This year's annual South End Open Studios event has been dedicated to his memory. Organizer Liz Cahill has said that the party he and his surviving companion used to throw at the beginning of each Open Studios weekend was the "true celebration that brought the community together" and inaugurated the event.

My aim was to talk one-on-one with a few of the people affected by his untimely passing, and to honor an artist and gay man who had achieved a level of popularity and loyal admiration rare in the Boston art world.

My first stop was the home of private dealer Barbara Singer. Located off Brattle St. in Cambridge, her immaculate, ultra-modern home doubles, on the first floor, as her gallery space. Tall and red-haired, she met me at the door and guided me through her current show, a selection of Moore's works on paper. The images were vibrant, patterned squares and rectangles of color reminiscent of all the artist's mature work. We sat on low black couches, and discussed the history of their relationship.

"We met eight years ago, at a Mass. College of Art reception for [celebrated local painter] Maud Morgan. I was immediately impressed with his charm," she volunteered. It was the beginning of a business association that would lead to her placing his works in several local and national, public and private collections.

I was aware that Rob showed at several galleries, and wondered how she felt about that. "It was fine—it was the way he was. He didn't believe in exclusivity. That was very important to him, non-exclusivity. Personally and professionally."

State Senate candidate dead at 30

by WALTER WOODS

Atlanta—Philip J. Mitchell III, who hoped to boost the city's AIDS community by running for state Senate as an openly gay man with AIDS, died March 4 of complications from the disease. He was 30. 96

In January, Mitchell announced his candidacy for the District 39 state Senate seat being vacated by Ron Slotin, who is running for the U.S. House of Representatives in District 4.

"My beautiful son passed away March 4, 1996, due to complications arising from AIDS," Mitchell's mother, Martha, said in a statement. "The state of Georgia and District 39 are robbed of someone who could and would have made a difference."

Mitchell was one of two openly gay candidates running for Slotin's district, which is 60 percent black and has a large gay population. Local gay gym owner Bill Lansden has also declared he's running for the seat. A primary is scheduled for June.

Slotin's Senate term ends with the current legislative session later this month.

A friend, John Collins, said that shortly after Mitchell announced his candidacy, he started suffering from severe headaches that puzzled his doctors. Two weeks ago, Mitchell developed an upper respiratory infection and did not get better.

Mitchell said in January that he modeled himself after openly gay candidates like Mike Nelson, the mayor of Carrboro, N.C., and the late Cal Anderson, a gay man with AIDS who served in the Washington state legislature. He said he was running in part for his lover, who died in August 1994.

Collins, who met Mitchell after moving to Atlanta about a year ago, said Mitchell introduced him to most of his current friends. "At his memorial service [March 7] I saw 10 or 15 people that I knew because of Philip," Collins said. "He was such a friendly guy. I probably wouldn't have stayed in Atlanta if it hadn't been for him."

Philip J. Mitchell III

In addition to his mother and many friends, Mitchell is survived by two brothers, Tony and David Mitchell of Marietta. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the AIDS Research Consortium of Atlanta (ARCA), 131 Ponce de Leon Ave, NE, Suite 130, Atlanta, GA 30308.

Willis J. Mathews, an architect and former senior designer with Whisler-Patri Architects, died September 21 in Los Angeles at UCLA Medical Center from AIDS-related causes. He was 38.

June 5, 1955–Sept. 21, 1993

Mr. Mathews was well known in the San Francisco and Los Angeles design communities for his strong modernist design. While he would happily employ color, texture, and humor, his designs were never compromised by excess ornament.

In San Francisco, he designed the Home Savings building at Front and California streets, the renovation of Two Bryant Street, a Security Pacific branch bank near Union Square, and offices for Jardine Emmett & Chandler.

Mr. Mathews was raised in Mount Prospect, Illinois. He received his Master of Architecture degree from the University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign in 1980. He moved to San Francisco in 1980, where he worked for Gensler Associates and HOK, before joining Whisler-Patri Architects in 1985. In 1987, he moved to Whisler-Patri's Los Angeles offices, and one year later became Director of Interior Architecture at Albert C. Martin & Associates. For the Martin office he completed interiors for the Argyros Forum at Chapman University in Orange, California, and offices for Home Savings of America, Security Pacific National Bank, and Alex Brown and Sons. His designs were widely published in Interior Design, Interiors, and Designers West magazines. He retired in 1992 because of failing eyesight.

Just before his death, he wrote, "One of my goals in life was to raise the level of intelligence in taste and design."

Mr. Mathews is survived by his father, Joseph; his mother, Mary; and his brother, Gabriel; all of Mount Prospect, Illinois. A private funeral will take place in Lexington, Kentucky, this week. A memorial in Los Angeles is planned for late October.

JOHN HOWARD MEYERS

NOVEMBER 11, 1963
– AUGUST 9, 1993

Memory is the treasury and guardian of all things.

Stephen D. Martin, 35

Social worker, graduate student

Stephen D. Martin of Wakefield, a graduate student, died Wednesday at the Hospice at Mission Hill of AIDS-related complications. He was 35.

Mr. Martin was born in Winchester, raised in Wakefield and was a graduate of Wakefield High School and Boston State College, class of 1980.

As a young man he was an active member of the Boy Scouts, receiving his Eagle Scout Award in 1974. After college he spent several years in social work before working at Boston Architectural College as director of student activities until 1988.

He left Massachusetts in 1989 and was pursuing a master's degree at San Francisco State College when he became ill.

He leaves his mother, Martha A. (MacMillen) Martin of Wakefield; three sisters, Diana G. Milone of North Weymouth, Lisa A. Haley of Wakefield and Paula J. Runyon of Lubbock, Texas; his paternal grandmother, Marion Martin of Melrose; and many other family members and friends, including his companion, Randolph Young of Los Angeles.

Mobilizing Mothers

Mothers' Day is traditionally a day filled with love and support for many mothers, but for those who have lost a child to AIDS, the day is yet another reminder of the loss they have suffered.

In April, 95 mothers from Greater Boston came together at the AIDS Action Committee to turn their grief and loss into political action as part of Mothers' Voices, a national campaign to mobilize the hearts and voices of mothers across the country.

"The luncheon got these mothers together to express their anger, grief, concern and outrage because this epidemic is raging and in Washington there's nothing being done," said Pat Daoust, co-chair of the Boston chapter of Mothers' Voices. "Although many of the women I spoke to had lost their children three or four years ago, they said that this was the first time they felt that they could open up and tell the truth about their son or daughter's death."

"For so many, the AIDS crisis has remained a private torment," added Ivy Duncier, co-founder of Mothers' Voices.

Tens of thousands of mothers of people with HIV, together with family and friends, flooded the offices of President Bush and Congress with special Mother's Day cards calling for increased AIDS funding and political action to end the AIDS crisis. One hundred thousand of these cards were created and distributed.

While organizers focused on the national impact of the event, locally it had a far more dramatic result. It brought a group of mothers together to talk about and release their grief and it empowered them to work with AIDS Action and other organizations in the fight against AIDS. □

Rolando Valentin Martinez
1950-1993

Rolando was born in Camagüey, Cuba. He came to the United States in 1980 via the Mariel boat-lift. Ever since then he lived in San Francisco, the city that he always loved and where he worked and spent all his beautiful life until seven months ago when suddenly, when he was happier than ever, he was stricken with AIDS, pneumocystis and other terrible illnesses that attacked him so quickly.

Today his brother, his friends and all the other people that he knew can scarcely believe that he is gone so soon. He died at Coming Home Hospice on April 10, at 8:05 in the morning, having spent the month of March at Laguna Honda and before then at San Francisco General Hospital. A special thanks to all who cared for him in his final weeks. He was buried, per his wishes, in Skylawn Memorial Park, San Mateo, California.

Now we, his brother and friends, will remember him with all the optimism and "jegría" that he inspired in us. We have in mind that he is in heaven with the angels smiling and looking down at us. En paz decanse, Rolando. ▼

Angelo Mitchener, Jr.

March 6, 1949-Feb. 9, 1993

Angelo passed peacefully to spirit on February 9, his beloved mother at his side.

In Angelo's presence, one felt safe, nurtured and loved. As an honest seeker upon his own spiritual path, he gave generously of his love, compassion, and service to God and humankind.

His career reflected his heartfelt commitment to service as he worked diligently in management as social service agencies helping children and seniors in several states. Angelo was in administration for Lifespring, Shanti Project, and most recently with No. California grantmakers.

He found special spiritual nourishment at Hartford Memorial Baptist Church, Mi., Terry Cole-Whitaker Ministries and in religious science churches.

Angelo will be loved forever and missed by his mother, Estella; his sisters Pearl, Gertrude, and Geraldine; and an aunt and uncle; by seven nieces and nephews; by longtime friends Doug DuFrene and Raymond Sims, as well as hundreds of other friends. He joins his father who passed away on January 6, 1992. ▼

Steven Robert Massey
Feb. 28, 1960—Feb. 9, 1993

Steven Robert Massey, 33, died of AIDS complications and cardiac arrest on Feb. 9, 1993 at his Pine Valley, Calif. home. A memorial service was held in the First Presbyterian Church of San Diego, Feb. 27, the day before his 33rd birthday, at 11 a.m. Steve was a member of two choirs and was in the 1990 production of "Hello, Dolly," playing the role of Cornelius Hackl at First Presbyterian Church. The two pastors of Metropolitan Community Church of San Diego joined the pastor of the host church in officiating. A reception catered by Judy Forman of the Big Kitchen in San Diego followed at the Pine Valley home. Steve is survived by his life partner, Hal Osborn of Pine Valley; his mother, Kathy Perry of Little Elm, Tex.; father Bob of Dallas; sister Mary Kay Massey of Spring Branch, Tex.; twin brother, Art, of Ft. Worth, Tex.; two nieces and one nephew, who is named after his uncle Steve and was christened during the family's memorial service held Feb. 20, 1993 in the Ft. Worth church where Steve was christened as an infant.

Born in Ft. Worth, where he sang and acted in musicals throughout high school, Steve went on to the University of Texas at Austin where he was a drama major, and did special studies in costume design. Steve also studied voice in the Opera Department at UT. His performances ranged from the role of Nicely Nicely Johnson in "Guys and Dolls" to roles in "Diamond Studs," "The Sound of Music," "Once Upon a Mattress," "Here Comes Mr. Jordan," "Up the Down Staircase," and the second American production of Brecht and Weill's "Happy End," to name but a few. While studying drama, Steve was awarded best Director during a major theater competition. Upon leaving UT Austin, he worked at theaters in Austin, Houston, Dallas and Chicago.

Steve moved to San Francisco in 1985 where he went to work for Bull Information Systems, a computer corporation, as an administrator and Human Resources assistant. He was transferred to La Jolla 1988 and to Orange, Calif. in 1991 where he remained until retiring on disability in 1992. After retiring Steve moved with his life partner, Hal, to their Pine Valley home, where he truly enjoyed the beauty, serenity and natural setting of the mountain venue. The home was noted for being one filled with music, fun and laughter and a steady stream of dearly loved friends dropping in as guests.

Steve moved to San Francisco in 1985 where he went to work for Bull Information Systems, a computer corporation, as an administrator and Human Resources assistant. He was transferred to La Jolla 1988 and to Orange, Calif. in 1991 where he remained until retiring on disability in 1992. After retiring Steve moved with his life partner, Hal, to their Pine Valley home, where he truly enjoyed the beauty, serenity and natural setting of the mountain venue. The home was noted for being one filled with music, fun and laughter and a steady stream of dearly loved friends dropping in as guests.

MOVELLE—Daniel E., 42, of NYC, died June 28th at the home of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. John Movelle of Fair Haven, NJ from complications due to AIDS. Don was an honors graduate of Northeastern University of Boston and had operated his own printing company, First Galleys, until his retirement a few years ago. He is survived by his parents; three sisters: Elizabeth M. Flynn of Little Silver, NJ; Jeanne C. Wagner of Rumson, NJ; Margaret Movelle of Weymouth, MA; three brothers: Robert C. of Fair Haven, NJ; John Paul of Daphne, AL; Richard D. of Tinton Falls, NJ; twelve nieces and nephews; one grand nephew and numerous friends. Viewing will be at Redden's Funeral Home, 325 W. 14th St., NYC on Friday from 2-4 and 7-9. Mass of Christian Burial will be at 10AM on Saturday at St. Francis Xavier's Church, 30 W. 16 St., NYC. Donations may be made to Friends in Need, 594 Broadway #706, NYC, 10012. JS

Joe D. Maestas
April 23, 1994

Surrounded by his family in Bakersfield, California, Joe Maestas passed away on April 23, 1994, from complications due to AIDS. True to his gentle personality that so endeared Joe to all who knew him, he seldom complained during his illness, spreading joy instead with his sense of humor.

Twice the "Mayor of Stockton Strip," Joe led the Mayor's Council in their fundraising activities during the mid-1980s for a variety of charities and non-profit organizations, such as the Billy de Frank Community Center and Gay Games II. As a high school art teacher, he always went the extra mile for his students who were so dear to him, supervising extracurricular activities, such as the Art Club and yearbook, and lending a sympathetic ear for any concerns his students might have.

Joe had a sense of style and good taste that will be very much missed, but his ready wit and especially his loving and caring nature will live on in the hearts of all his friends and family.

A memorial celebration was held in San Jose on Sunday, May 15, to remember Joe and to assist him in the journey on which he is now setting forth. ▼

Mykel John Mengert

June 5, 1993

Mykel John Mengert, 32, died peacefully at his home in Oakland on June 5th, surrounded by loved ones. He followed his lover James Bridges and their cat, Tuna. He loved travelling and enjoyed several trips a year.

He served in the United States Air Force from 1979 to 1981, and was honorably discharged for being a proud homosexual.

Mykel was raised in Wisconsin. He moved to San Francisco in 1985, where he was a graphic designer for March & McLennan. He was active in the theatre, appearing in several productions in San Francisco, including Pulp and Circumstance and View From The Bay at Theatre Rhinoceros.

Mykel was the bitchiest waiter who ever spat in your glass of iced tea. He hated the queens across the way who stole his wind chimes while he was in New Orleans.

He is survived by Jim's family, Joyce Tanner, Jessica Keiser and Tim Bridges; his immediate family in Wisconsin; his mother, Pat Neuy; brothers, James, Timothy, Robert and Paul; sister, Merry Arndt; father, William; mother, Joan; sisters, Tracy Narf and Rachel Fisher; cats, Melba Toast, Bandit, and Catherine the Great.

Mykel's friends will host a memorial service on June 19 at 69 Thousand Oaks, Oakland, at 1 p.m. Please call (510) 814-2269 for directions.

Mykel, we loved your bright spirit and your twisted sense of humor. We'll miss you. ▼

THOMAS MOLINARO 6/91

Thomas Molinaro

Boston-born choreographer; at 65

Thomas Molinaro, a dancer, mime and choreographer, died of cancer Thursday in North Hollywood, Calif. He was 65.

Mr. Molinaro, also known as Marlow, was a dancer on television shows of the 1950s, including "The Martha Raye Show," "The Milton Berle Hour" and "Sid Caesar Presents."

On Broadway, he appeared in "The Boyfriend." In Boston, where he was born, Mr. Molinaro performed and directed with the American Repertory Company, Boston Conservatory, Jeanette Neil Studio and the Boston Opera Company.

In Salem, he directed, performed and choreographed with Action Dance Theater and the Thomas Molinaro Dance Theater.

After staging revues in Las Vegas, Mr. Molinaro moved to Japan and for many years directed and choreographed extravaganzas throughout the Orient.

MAGUIRE—Of South Boston, March 8, Philip A. Father of Amy E. & Philip A. Jr. of Boston. Brother of the late Mary O'Neil, Anna Murphy, Elizabeth O'Dowd, Jeanne Scribner, Dolara Rosa Davidson, Marguerite Casciano & Eileen Maguire. Also survived by several nieces and nephews. Relatives and friends are invited to attend visiting hours at the Joseph W. Casper & Sons Funeral Home, 187 Dorchester St., SOUTH BOSTON, Friday 5-8 p.m. Followed by visiting hours at the Marian Manor Chapel, Saturday from 9:15 to 9:45 a.m. with a Mass of the Resurrection at 10 a.m. Burial in Holyhood Cemetery, Brookline. In lieu of flowers donations may be made to the Ruah House, C/O Jesuit Urban Center, 775 Harrison Ave., Boston, MA 02118. RS

MOEHRING—Of Boxford, November 19, Paul A. Moehring, R.N., 34, son of Melvin and JoAnne (Traxler) Moehring of Boxford, and brother of David S. Moehring, Karen E. Smith and Jennie M. Ortler, all of California, and Rebecca S. Moehring of MD. A Memorial Service will be held Friday, December 2 at 7:30 pm in the First Lutheran Church, 299 Berkeley St. Boston. In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions in Paul's name may be made to Hospice of Mission Hill, 254 South St., Waltham, MA 02154. RS

Dear Mark,

From the day we met at Esther lingering long after the crowd & sun had gone, to last Tuesday morning when we held hands for some of our last moments on earth together, you made my laughter louder & my sun brighter and warmer.

You were my friend, confidante, partner and will be my watermark for all to come.

I promise to share your memory with all who cross my path.

Love John

Steven Mattson, 38, production manager

Steven C. Mattson of Barnstable, a production manager for Xerox Business Services, died Monday at home due to complications from AIDS. He was 38.

Born in Brooklyn, N.Y., he lived in Barnstable for six months. He previously lived in Boston.

Mr. Mattson was a 1973 graduate of Suffern High School in Suffern, N.Y. He also attended the State University of New York.

In 1985, he received the Xerox Achievement Award and the Achievement Through Teamwork Award, and in 1987 he was selected the Sales Rookie of the Year.

In 1988, Mr. Mattson received the Center Manager Quality Award, Supervisor of the Year and Champion of Customer Satisfaction Award.

For several years, he was actively involved in a 12-step program.

He is survived by his companion, Barry J. Ford of Barnstable; his mother, Theresa (Gabilaro) of Brooklyn; brother, Douglas J. of Clinton, N.Y.; and three nephews, Gabriel, Peter and Mark.

A funeral service will be held today at J.S. Waterman and Sons-Waring-Eastman Funeral Home, Boston.

Burial will be in Lothrop Cemetery, Barnstable.

Louis Marcello, who won Miss Gay America 1995 under the stage name Ramona LeGer, died May 5. According to his partner, Rick Martinez, the cause was spinal meningitis. Marcello, of Independence, La., was especially known for his Cher impersonation.

Peter Medoff, 37; urban planner, author, and community activist

5-17-94

Peter Medoff, a community activist, author and urban planner who helped build the Dudley Street Neighborhood Initiative, a nationally recognized community group, died of complications from AIDS Sunday at his home. He was 37.

Mr. Medoff was born in Boston and raised in Newton. He attended Columbia University, where he earned a degree in urban planning. He became involved in tenant organizing work in New York and later helped create the Citizens' Research Education Network in Hartford, a housing and community development group.

In 1985 he moved to Boston and became the first executive director of the Dudley Street Neighborhood Initiative, a community planning and development organization. The group gained distinction after the city awarded it the power of eminent domain over private land.

Recently the city named a street in the Dudley neighborhood "Medoff's Way." He was also recognized by Mayor Menino and Hartford Mayor Michael Peters for his contributions to community planning.

Mr. Medoff is co-author of the recent book, "Streets of Hope: The Fall and Rise of an Urban Neighborhood." He served as an adviser to community groups in Houston, Chicago, Atlanta and Denver.

PETER MEDOFF

Since 1989, Mr. Medoff volunteered as an advocate for people with AIDS, with a focus on housing issues, and was an advocate for gay and lesbian rights.

He leaves his parents, Jeanne and Ben Medoff, of Newton, and two brothers, Roger Medoff of Newton, and Gary Medoff of Cambridge. Mr. Medoff was also a foster father to an 8-year-old boy.

Jose T. Moscoso, 53, A Manhattan Lawyer

1-12-94

Jose Teodoro Moscoso, a Manhattan lawyer most recently associated with law firm of Baker & McKenzie, died last Wednesday at his family's home in San Juan, Puerto Rico. He was 53 and lived in Manhattan.

The cause of death was complications from AIDS, his family said.

Mr. Moscoso, a native of Ponce, Puerto Rico, graduated from Harvard University and received his law degree from Yale Law School in 1965. He specialized in international commercial transactions, a subject about which he wrote frequently.

He also was a visiting lecturer at Harvard Law School. He worked in the Baker firm's New York office from 1984 to 1991.

He was on the board of directors of El Museo del Barrio and of Boricua College, both in New York City.

Mr. Moscoso is survived by his mother, Gloria Moscoso, and a sister, Margarita Moscoso, both of San Juan. His father, Teodoro Moscoso, a former United States Ambassador to Venezuela and a leader of the Alliance for Progress in the 1960's, died in 1992 at the age of 81.

Lozemil Machado, 40, Afro-Brazilian Dancer

3-11-94

Lozemil Machado, a performer and teacher of Afro-Brazilian dance, died yesterday at Columbia-Presbyterian Hospital. He was 40 and lived in Manhattan.

The cause was AIDS, said Barbara Browning, a longtime friend.

Mr. Machado was known for the intensity of his dancing even in styles like the Brazilian martial arts form Capoeira, which calls as much for reckless daring as for skill and training.

He was born in Salvador, Bahia Brazil, and came to New York City in 1975. He taught at Clark Center and at Lezly Dance Studios, both in Manhattan. He performed with his own troupe, the Lozemil Machado Afro-Brazilian Dance Company, for which he also choreographed, and as a featured dancer in Jelom Vieira's DanceBrazil troupe. He and Mr. Vieira have been credited with popularizing Capoeira in New York City.

He is survived by his mother, Jose-lina Cândida de Sousa Machado, and three brothers and two sisters, all of Salvador, Bahia Brazil.

Douglas Towne MacLeod, 36, of 87 Beacon Street, Boston died of AIDS Tuesday, November 2 at his home on Beacon Street.

He was a native of Syracuse, a 1979 graduate of Cornell University, and a 1985 graduate of The Harvard University Graduate School of Design. Mr. MacLeod was the principle of DTM Associates architects and planners and a member of the BSA (Boston Society of

Architects) and the AIA (American Institute of Architects). Surviving are his parents, David Earle and

Margaret Towne MacLeod of Syracuse; two sisters, Diana Walter of Seneca, South Carolina, and Amy

Andreas Gonzales Molinas

February 6, 1950 — August 22, 1994

On Monday, August 22, 1994 San Diego lost one of the greatest artistic talents and one of the finest pool players in the San Diego Pool Association.

Born on February 6, 1950 in Tenerife, Canary Islands, Andreas moved to San Diego in 1977 and immediately acquired many friends. He became a U.S. citizen in 1992 and in 1993 moved to Washington D.C. to be near his longtime companion Chris Dryer.

He was one of the originals. He designed two first place floats for "The Club San Francisco" in 1985 and 1987. He will probably be most remembered for his strong Spanish accent, his huge parties and of course, his fan dancing.

His ashes will be flown to the Canary Islands to his family.

We will all miss him incredibly. There will be a memorial potluck held at "Wolf's" on September 11 at 4:00 p.m. In lieu of flowers, he wished all donations be made to the AIDS Foundation Food Bank, San Diego.

HOWARD JOHN MAUSER

Howard J. Mauser, 49, lost his battle to lung cancer in Frankford Hospital in Philadelphia, August 14. He is survived by his mother Doris, his father Howard, and his sister Linda. Howard was buried in the Veteran's Memorial Cemetery in Burlington County, NJ, August 17.

Howard's most recent employment was as a doorman at the Westbury Bar for the last four years. Previously he was a doorman for 11 years at the Prelude in New Hope. He also worked at HUB, Jack Lang Men's Stores, and Krass Brothers.

A memorial service will be held at St. Luke's, 330 S. 13th St. on Saturday, September 10 at 12 noon. This service will be followed by a buffet at the Westbury Bar, 13th & Spruce St. Donations to the Mauser family will be appreciated and accepted at the Westbury in care of Billy Carlin or Nancy Michel. 74

MORAN—Of Mattapoisett, April 30, 1995, Stephen H., 31, Son of Mattapoisett Police Chief James F. and Annette R. (Paquin) Moran. Brother of Patrick J. Moran and Christine A. Richards, Grandson of James and Natalie (Fontaine) Moran. Nephew of Donald J. Moran. Relatives and friends are invited to the Funeral Mass at St. Anthony's Church, Mattapoisett, Thursday at 11, followed by Burial in Cushing Cemetery. Visiting hours are omitted. In lieu of flowers donations in Stephen's memory may be made to the Victory Program Inc., Bobbie White House, 698 Mass Ave., Boston, MA 02174. Please write on the check-use for Direct Care Services for Bobbie White House.

MELNICK—On Friday, April 14, Ethyle (Orlov) of Jamaica Plain, formerly of Chestnut Hill, Beloved wife of the late Edward S. Melnick. Loving mother of Donna Moskow of Newton Centre and Laurel Kaufman of Brookline. Adored grandmother of Ann, Victor, Kenneth, Keith, Stephanie, Clifford & Carla and great grandmother of seven. Dear sister of Charlotte Bloomfield of Brookline, Dorothy Glaser of Jamaica Plain, Albert Orlov of Newton and Dr. Morton Orlov of NY. Services at The Levine Chapel, 470 Harvard St., BROOKLINE, on Thursday, April 20 at 11 a.m. The family will be at her late residence through Thursday evening. In lieu of flowers, remembrances may be made to The Pediatric AIDS Foundation, 1311 Colorado Ave., Santa Monica, CA 90404. 85

MORGAN—Douglas W. Founder and President of Willans-Merrit Consultants died on September 7 at the age of forty-eight. He is survived by his parents Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Morgan of Canton, Ohio; a brother Leland K. Morgan of New York City and a sister Sherry M. Sabol of Princeton, New Jersey. His companion is Rogério Machado. In lieu of flowers, memorials may be made in his honor to New York Studio School (Douglas Morgan Memorial Building Fund: Attention: Lauren Wisbauer). A memorial service will be held at a later date. 85

MATTHEWS—Michael, Ping Chang & Co. mourns the death of our friend and colleague, Michael Matthews, on January 11, 1996. Michael, who received the prestigious 1995 Albert van Dalsum Award in Holland for his solo work, contributed grace, humor and a savage heart to Deshima and Chinolserie, and inspired us all. Our love and sympathy to his family and his companion, Peter Sas. Services Jan. 20, 9:30 AM, St. Gabriel's Church, 98th Street and Astoria Blvd., East Elmhurst.

MALEVAL—Philippe, 51, On August 15, 1995 from complications from AIDS. Survived, in France, by his mother Simone, sisters Francoise and Marie-Paule, extended family and friends. Survived here, in his adopted home, by Matt Zachari, his best friend and caregiver, and a wealth of friends who will miss his charm, his wit and his elegance. Service to be held Friday morning, August 18 at eleven o'clock at Sacred Heart of Jesus Church, 457 West 51st Street and again later this month in France. Contributions in his memory can be made to Direct Effect AIDS Research Program at the Rockefeller University in New York City.

Michael del Monte died Aug. 19 of complications from AIDS, in Sherman Oaks, Calif. He was 53. Born in New York City, he served in the U.S. Army then became a career musician. In addition to Los Angeles, del Monte lived in San Francisco and Daytona Beach. He is survived by his loving family, including two brothers. 85

MORROW—Keith Todd, Died Saturday morning, January 20, 1996, at home in his mother's arms. His friends and family loved him very much and will miss him dearly. The burial will take place in Hamilton, OH. A memorial service will be announced. Keith died of complications from AIDS. Contributions to God's Love We Deliver, in his name, would be appreciated.

Franco Moschino, 44 Top Italian fashion designer

ASSOCIATED PRESS 9-18-94

ANNONE DI BRIANZA, Italy — Franco Moschino, the ironic "enfant terrible" of Italian fashion who once designed a ball gown made of garbage bags, died of cancer Sunday at his villa near Milan. He was 44.

The ready-to-wear designer, one of the top names in Italian fashion, was known for his outrageous ensembles and penchant for poking fun at the fashion world.

At his last show, a 10-year retrospective in the October showings, he brought back some of his favorites: a jacket embroidered at the waist with the words "Waist of Money;" a teddy bear hat; an unfinished blazer; and an evening gown made of brassieres.

After the show featuring the trash bag gown, he said the message was "fashion is trash."

During the past year, Mr. Moschino had been raising funds for a hospice for children with AIDS. He planned to decorate it with bright colors and picture-book designs, and said doctors would not be allowed to wear hospital coats.

MADISON—Todd S., age 35 of Boston formerly of N.Y. March 25, 1995. Loving son of Thomas S. and Sherry A. (McCannah) Madison of N.Y. Beloved brother of Thomas A., Terry P., Timothy J., Theodore J., Colleen S., Corée A. and Christine E. Madison all of N.Y. A Memorial Prayer Service will be held in the McDonald Funeral Home, SOUTH WEYMOUTH at 809 Main St. (Rt. 18 opp So. Shore Hospital) Mon. at 5:30 PM. Relatives and friends invited. Visiting time prior to Prayer Service 4:30 to 5:30 PM. Family prefers donations to be made in his memory to Aids Action Committee, 131 Clarendon St., Boston, Ma., 02116.

How do tap dancers say far well? With their feet, course.

Tomorrow evening, stalwarts of the tap world will gather at the Steps Studio at Broadway and 74th Street to pay tribute to Jan Mickens, who died around New Year's.

BETTINA SLUSAR, the managing director of Steps and an organizer of the tribute, said: "He died of AIDS and was not found for several weeks. There was never an official announcement, and no one knew until the news just seeped out. People were very upset that he had died alone, and they felt they had never had a chance to say goodbye."

Mr. Mickens, a teacher and dancer and member of the Copasetics, danced in the original cast of "My One and Only," the Paris production of "Black and Blue," and the film "The Cotton Club."

SAVION GLOVER and his mother, YVETTE GLOVER, and MERCEDES ELINGTON are some of the dancers who plan to perform at the event, which will benefit Broadway Cares/Equity Fights AIDS.

"This will not be mournful," Ms. Slusar said. "It will be like a jam session where people contribute what is in their heart. This is how tap dancers express their love, sadness, hopes and fears."

Scott Albert Muench

Jan. 15, 1962-July 1, 1993

Scott gently slipped away while being rocked in his partner Socrates' arms as the sun was rising on a lovely Russian River morning. His friends David and Carolyn were also present to see him off on his journey to freedom.

For nearly nine months he suffered the debilitating effects of HIV encephalopathy, which made his life near its end much as it was in its beginning — like a sweet dependent child's. His courage to live and his gratefulness to all who helped him in his final battle will be remembered by all those fortunate enough to have been able to give of themselves to him. "Those big beautiful eyes," they used to say. When his words left him, he used them to communicate all that was in his heart.

Scott was born in Tampa, FL, but after serving in the Air Force near Monterey, he was smitten by California and stayed to make it his home.

Scott was a consummate chef and enjoyed San Francisco's innumerable restaurants. He worked with computers for awhile and had his own business. He loved and danced a lot. He received and gave joy.

Scott wished to thank Drs. Virginia Cafaro and Margaret Poscher and the staff at Mt. Zion's AIDS unit. Face to Face, Food for Thought and Home Hospice of Sonoma cannot be thanked enough. Also, Cheri, his home physical therapist; Carolyn Lee, his attendant and care-giver; and the family and friends that were there to the end with him.

Mitch L. Markham

Jan. 25, 1959-March 29, 1994

Mitch died on March 29, at the home of his parents in Lexington, North Carolina, of AIDS-related causes. Prior to returning to North Carolina, he spent almost three years in Bangkok, Thailand, where he established one of Thailand's first retail dog grooming operations and was a handler on the international dog show circuit. In San Francisco, he worked as a floral designer, animal grooming shop owner and the director of the Grooming School at the San Francisco Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (SF/SPCA).

Mitch's accomplishments included several national and regional honors for his floral design work. His artistry extended into the field of animal grooming, and he enjoyed many wins in the show ring as well. He had an inimitable style and talent for creating beauty out of simple things. He enjoyed life to its fullest and enriched all those who knew him.

Mitch is survived by his parents, Libbey and Lea; grandmother, Ora Varner; former partners, Darrell Yarborough and Paul Causey; and family and friends in North Carolina, San Francisco and Bangkok. A memorial service will be held on Sunday, May 22, just prior to the Candlelight Memorial March. For details, please call Paul Causey at 863-0642. Family requests donations to Hospice of Davidson County, P.O. Box 1941, Lexington, NC

Carl Matchett Jr.

Aug. 31, 1951-May 12, 1994

One of the most caring, masculine men to have lived in S.F. has passed away. After a year-long battle with AIDS, Carl was able to spend his last days with his family and his dearest, oldest, travel companion, Billy Moore.

Carl's pleasant manner and warm smile gathered him quite a following of friends and fans at the Edge where he bartended. His biggest fan was his friend, Charlie, who will miss his sexy, deep, sweet trucker voice and will never forget the love and respect that he showed me for life and friendships. Many of his friends will miss him, including Mikl, David, Noel and the Edge bar staff.

Carl's greatest passion was travel. He is survived by his family: father, Frank Matchett Sr.; mother, Velda Sue Matchett; brother, David Thomas; and two sisters.

Carl's last wishes are for his ashes to be scattered off the Pacific and the Atlantic coast, both of which he called home.

Carl, rest well; travel far; and know that love will never be forgotten —

William Bill Moore (a.k.a. Tammy Lynn)

June 23, 1994

Tammy left us on June 23 at 5:30 a.m. in Marietta, Ohio. She had been very ill. God bless you, girl. Tammy will be missed by all her friends. She was a very good, hard-working person in our community. Tammy came to SF in 1972 and found employment as a waiter. She and I (Ronnie Lynn) worked together at a country and western bar on Ninth Street, then Tammy went on to Kimo's, where she remained for 16-1/2 years.

Tammy became Miss Gay San Francisco in 1975. She also ran for Ms. Cowgirl in 1974-75 and Ms. Gay California in 1977-78.

Tammy may be gone, but she will always be here in spirit and in our memories. She was my best friend and my best sister. Thanks for all the good times, girl. May God grant you peace always.

There will be a celebration of Tammy Lynn's life at Kimo's (1351 Polk) July 24 at 4 p.m. Tammy's wishes were that there be lots of red dresses and tons of blond hair. For more information call Kimo's at 885-4535. I love you and miss you. — Ronnie Lynn and friends. ▼

Cal Moore

April 6, 1940-June 13, 1994

Not to be outdone by Jackie O, Cal checked out due to complications from lymphoma, Monday, June 13. Cal was educated in the Berkeley schools, as was his father before him. He graduated from UC Berkeley and earned a degree in journalism from SF State. He spent eight years in special education in Brentwood. There he owned an almond ranch with a unique farm house, including a menagerie of farm animals.

Guests at his SF home were greeted by barking dogs, squawking parrots, snapping turtles and singing canaries. He had a passion for collecting; his home overflowed with treasures from travels and shopping adventures. He was the ultimate host: drinks were bottomless; he was famous for his notorious casseroles.

Cal's warm, charismatic personality endeared him to all whose lives he touched. He will forever remain in the hearts of his dear friends Amy, Mary and Mary Ann, Norman and Christie, Sausage, Lindsay, Rick and Dick, Dan, John, Alf, Uncle Peter, Cousin Ron, Pancho and the many, many others who loved him as family. Farewell, good friend. Until we meet again. Memorial contributions: Bay Area Physicians for Human Rights Foundation. ▼

John Mojjis

John F. Mojjis III, 31, of Washington, D.C., died Wednesday, October 28, 1992 in Fort Lauderdale, Florida, at the home of his mother, Sandy Mojjis. He died of complications associated with AIDS, according to a friend, Matthew Murphy of D.C.

Mojjis founded and owned Mojjis Communications, a D.C. public relations firm. Prior to that, he worked as managing editor for Health Insurance Underwriters, also in D.C.

He graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia and moved to D.C. around 1983, according to his brother, Mark Mojjis of Ft. Lauderdale.

In addition to his brother and mother, he is survived by his father John Mojjis II; and a nephew, Joshua Mojjis, all of Ft. Lauderdale.

Mojjis's remains were cremated and his mother will decide where they will be interred. Services took place in Ft. Lauderdale on Nov. 4; and a memorial service will take place in D.C. at a date to be announced.

MACDONALD-James, of Boston, September 7, 1995, following a brief illness, at home. Beloved son of H.M. MacDonald of Boston & the late James H. MacDonald. Brother of Kathleen (MacDonald) Bussell of Ipswich & the late Michael MacDonald. Uncle of Jennifer A., Michael B., Eric J. & Renee E. Russell. Relatives and friends are respectfully invited to attend a Memorial Mass from the Jesuit Urban Center, 775 Harrison Ave., Boston, Monday, September 11, 1995 at 11 a.m. Donations in Jim's memory may be made to the Jesuit Urban Center, 775 Harrison Ave., Boston, MA 02118. Arrangements are under the direction of the Long Home for Funerals, 1979 Massachusetts Ave., CAMBRIDGE.

LAHONEY-Of Gloucester, May 21, Charles Francis, 66, partner of many years of John W. Brewer of Gloucester, Uncle of Clarke Conant-Wulff, Suzanne Smith, Daniel Conant all of San Francisco, CA, and Constance Conant of Pittsburgh, PA. Recently pre-deceased by his stepmother Maria W. Mahoney. Memorial Service on Sat. June 10, at 1 p.m. in Annisquam Village Church, 838 Washington St., Gloucester. Private Burial in Mt. Adnah Cemetery. Memorial gifts may be made to North Shore Aids Health Project, 25 Duncan St., Gloucester, MA 01930 or Hospice of North Shore, 10 Elm St., Danvers, MA 01923. Arrangements by Burgess & Mackey Funeral Home, 177 Main St., ROCKPORT, MA.

Carole Chenitz-Manley, 45, AIDS Educator

2-11-92

Dr. Carole Chenitz-Manley, a nursing administrator, educator and researcher who became an advocate for women with AIDS, died Tuesday at Marin General Hospital in Greenbrae, Calif. She was 45 years old and lived in Greenbrae.

The cause of death was AIDS-related pneumonia, her family said.

When Dr. Chenitz-Manley learned she had AIDS in 1988, she quit her job at the Veterans Administration Medical Center in San Francisco and began speaking around the country for the National Association of People with AIDS. Her focus was on women. She did not disclose how she was infected except to say it was not by exposure to an AIDS patient in medical work.

Dr. Chenitz-Manley was born in Brooklyn. She graduated from Kings County Hospital Center School of Nursing and Boston College and earned a master's degree and a doctorate at Columbia University.

At her retirement she was the associate chief for research in the nursing service at the hospital and an assistant professor at the University of California at San Francisco. She also worked in family therapy at the Mental Research Institute in Palo Alto.

Her first marriage, to William Chenitz, ended in divorce. Surviving are her husband, Ray Manley; two daughters, Rebecca Chenitz of Santa Cruz, Calif., and Kim Manley of Greenbrae; a sister, Lucille Allison of Greenbrae, and her mother, Yvette Allison of Summerfield, Fla.

Jim Maher

James Howard Maher, 41, of Sterling, Virginia, died Friday, January 21, 1994, of AIDS related complications at his sister's home in Sterling, according to his friend, Jan Wade of Sterling.

Maher was born Aug. 7, 1952 in Bronxville, N.Y., and graduated from Cardinal Hayes High School in the Bronx in 1970. After high school, Maher attended Fordham University in New York City where he received a bachelor's degree in English during the early 1970s and a law degree in the mid-1970s. As an undergraduate, Maher was president of the student government, chair of the American Age lecture series, and a member of the Fordham Club.

In 1977 Maher was hired by Prentice Hall as a legal writer for the legal journal, Corporate Tax Reporter. In 1979, Maher left Prentice Hall to work for the Citibank Controller's Office also in New York City. While at Citibank, Maher was promoted to vice president in the Office of the Corporate Secretary.

Maher retired and left New York in 1991 to move to Sterling, Va. to be with his sister, Elizabeth Maher.

"Jim was active in the recovery community in New York," said Wade. "He enjoyed spending time with friends, reading, watching and discussing movies and theater productions, dancing to '60s girl groups and [gossiping] with the family pug, Humphrey Pennyworth."

David Vincent Mikula died Aug. 26 of complications from AIDS in Los Angeles. He was 38. A native of Binghamton, N.Y., he moved to West Hollywood in 1986 and became the top sales associate of Giorgio Armani. He is survived by his mother, a brother, and a sister. 95

Bruce Mailman, 55; Owner of Businesses In the East Village

6-9-94

Bruce Mailman, an East Village entrepreneur who developed a discothèque and a bathhouse catering to a homosexual clientele, as well as two Off Broadway theaters, died on Thursday at his home in Manhattan. He was 55.

The cause was AIDS, said John Sugg, his companion of 29 years.

In 1965 Mr. Mailman bought two buildings on Astor Place and developed them into the Astor Place Theater. He also designed and built the Truck and Warehouse Theater on East Fourth Street, which houses the New York Theater Workshop.

Mr. Mailman produced several Off Broadway shows in the 1970's, including "The Dirtiest Show in Town" and "The Neon Woman," both by Tom Egan, and "The Faggot," by Al Carmine.

Legal Challenges

Mr. Mailman also acquired other buildings in the East Village, including the Fillmore East Theater on Second Avenue. There he designed and created a dance hall with a planetarium dome, called the Saint. Catering mainly to homosexuals, the Saint operated from 1980 to 1987.

Mr. Mailman also owned the New St. Marks Baths, a gay bathhouse and meeting place that was closed in 1985 by New York City Health Department as a public health hazard. He sued to have it, reopened but the courts upheld the city's decision.

In 1992 Mr. Mailman filed a complaint before a Federal judge in Manhattan charging that homosexuals were being illegally singled out by an Internal Revenue Service agent and targeted for prosecution solely because they were gay. The tax-delinquency charges that had been filed against Mr. Mailman were later dropped.

Mr. Mailman was a graduate of Temple University and received a master's degree in dramatic literature from New York University.

GEORGE MORELLI 8-10-93

George Morelli, 36

Was sales manager for the BSO

George Morelli, former sales manager of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, died Monday at Southwood Hospital in Norfolk of complications from AIDS. He was 36.

Mr. Morelli was born and raised in New York City and studied literature at the University of Hawaii. He served in the Navy and returned to New York, where he was a lighting and set designer on Broadway.

From 1985 to 1987, he toured with the Big Apple Circus as box office manager. Beginning in 1987, he was sales manager of the Boston Symphony.

He was an animal lover and a volunteer for several community service groups, including the Hospice at Mission Hill.

He leaves his parents, Frank and Daisy of Lakeworth, Fla.; three brothers, Frank of Long Island, N.Y., Michael of Queens, N.Y., and Vincent of Lake Worth, Fla.; and his companion, Mark Bedell of Quincy.

Robert Massa

Writer and Editor, 36

4-9-94

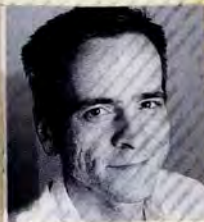

Robert Massa, a writer about AIDS and an editor with The Village Voice, died yesterday at St. Vincent's Hospital. Mr. Massa, who lived in Manhattan, was 36.

The cause was AIDS, said a friend, Eileen Blumenthal.

In 1987, Mr. Massa founded a newsletter, The Body Positive, a publication about AIDS, and continued with it until 1989.

Mr. Massa joined The Village Voice in 1982 as a writer and became that publication's associate editor in charge of AIDS coverage in 1989. In 1992 he was a senior editor for news and features.

He was a 1979 graduate of the University of Notre Dame and received a master's degree in English from Columbia University.

Allen Martin

April 24, 1954 - Feb. 11, 1993

Though his good friends hated to see him leave, and through the efforts of those who loved him, especially one who came through in the end to make his trip much more comfortable, Allen made it to Fort Myers, Fla., to see his much loved younger brother before his passing days later. "Gary Allen was one helluva brother," Rusty says.

An Ohio cracker claiming Iroquois ancestry, Allen served as a Med Tech in both the Navy and Airforce.

The friends he made in San Francisco, especially Richard and his drinking and pool shooting companions at the Detour and the Bear, will miss him for being the unique and fun person he was. Never known to be offensive to anyone except his close friends, Allen's robust cackled laugh and self-humor are greatly missed.

He provided many entertaining moments as the DeCountessa and Morticia (well, at least the gown was right — but he shouldn't have forgotten to put in his teeth). And those hair extensions! Figuring he didn't have enough time to grow it, he spent a considerable sum to have it — NOW! (His raven black hair? We'll never know, but suspect he used as much Grecian Formula as Ronald Reagan.)

Allen liked to do elegant things. With a white pool glove to go with his white pool stick (the only one of many he didn't leave in a cab), occasionally he'd show phenomenal prowess in bar-room pool, usually running the table quickly and then scratching on the eight. Although he never shined as a pool player on Tuesday nights, he made up for it with rhinestones. Black and red were his favorite colors, cowboy hat, and of course, rhinestones everywhere tastefully positioned.

He couldn't carry a note but could be frequently found warbling at the Galleon. Allergic to chocolate, it was his favorite.

A lot of us can't figure out why we should have adopted such a friend — perhaps it was that anybody could cry on Allen's shoulder. But he could also be a bitch at times. He was always there to listen to his couple friends gripe about each other.

Richard Paul Marshall

Feb. 9, 1954 - March 13, 1996

To remember our enchanting Richard, who brought us delight beyond imagining. Sweet RPM, you went too fast; but oh the joy you spun for those who ventured into your light and had the courage to stay there. Peace, at last, beautiful man. You are in our hearts forever. — Kenneth Edwin Wiltse and Rollin Jensen.

Brian Mestach

Brian P. Mestach, 38, died Thursday, July 7, 1994, of AIDS-related complications at the George Washington University Hospital in D.C., according to his friend and former partner, Jeffrey Ryan of D.C.

A resident of D.C. since 1988, Mestach was born April 11, 1956, in Warren, Mich. He earned a bachelor's degree in ancient history from the University of Michigan in 1979. After graduation, Mestach held a variety of jobs in hotels and retail stores throughout Michigan.

From 1988-89, Mestach was the assistant manager of the Georgetown Dutch Inn in D.C. In 1989, he founded his own travel agency, Capital Excursions, from which he retired in 1993.

"Brian loved to tell long stories," Ryan said. "He was always entertaining people in the hospital." Mestach especially loved his cat, Xerxes, said Ryan, noting that special thanks is owed to PETS-DC and the Whitman-Walker Clinic for their support during Mestach's illness. Mestach was also a member of the Triangle Club for several years.

Mestach is survived by his mother, Vi Mestach; father, Richard Mestach; and brother, Craig Mestach, all of Whitmore Lake, Mich.

His remains were cremated and the ashes were scattered in Ann Arbor, Mich.

Jon Mensinger

Dancer, 37

Jon Mensinger, a principal dancer with the Mark Morris Dance Group, died on Tuesday at St. Vincent's Hospital in Manhattan. Mr. Mensinger was 37 and lived in Manhattan.

The cause was AIDS, said Esther Rosenberg, a friend.

Mr. Mensinger was a dancer of special delicacy with a heightened sense of the fine details of choreography. He was born in Euclid, Ohio. He trained in dance at Ohio State University and New York University and with teachers including Lee Theodore, Maggie Black and Jocelyn Lorenz. He performed with the Morris group from 1982 to 1991, and with American Dance Machine and Douglas Dunn and Dancers.

Mr. Mensinger is survived by his mother, Bess Brock of London, Tenn.; his father, Johnny Singer of Cleveland; a sister, Monique O'Neil, also of Cleveland, and two brothers, Eric, of Los Angeles, and Kurt, of Austin, Tex.

Samuel O. Miller, 63, Social Work Teacher

Samuel O. Miller, a professor at Columbia University's School of Social Work and an author of recent studies on AIDS, died Feb. 5 at St. Luke's-Roosevelt Hospital Center in Manhattan. He was 63.

The cause was liver disease, the university said.

Mr. Miller, who had a private social service practice for many years, studied the delivery of social services to minority groups and was a leader in efforts to recruit students from minority groups into the profession.

He was the co-author, with Barbara Dane, of the 1993 study "AIDS: Intervening with Hidden Grievors," which examined counseling family members and other survivors of AIDS victims. In recent years he also published articles on the disease in journals.

He graduated from Dakota Wesleyan University and in 1959 earned a master's degree in social work from Boston University. He received his doctorate from the University of Chicago School of Social Service Administration in 1970. He joined the Columbia faculty three years later and was appointed a full professor in 1992.

Mr. Miller, director of education services at the Council on Social Work from 1979 to 1980, was a board member of the National Association of Social Workers and in 1980 received the National Institutes of Mental Health National Research Service Award.

He is survived by a daughter, Larisa, of Austin, Tex.; a son, Mark, and a brother, Egerton, both of Brooklyn; two sisters, Ruth Springer, also of Brooklyn, and Mildred White of Balboa, Panama.

Allan Morrow, 53, Real-Estate Developer

Allan Morrow, a New York real-estate developer, died on Sunday at his home in Manhattan. He was 53 and also kept a home in Bridgehampton, L.I.

The cause was complications arising from AIDS, according to a spokesman for the Gay Men's Health Crisis, where he was a member of the board of directors.

At his death, Mr. Morrow was executive vice president of Kenilworth Equities Ltd., a developer of commercial and residential properties in New York City and Baltimore. He held the position for 20 years and was active in restoring landmark buildings in Maryland and New York.

He was a supporter of many causes, among them the fight against anti-Semitism and efforts favoring AIDS research and opposing homophobia. He also supported charities aiding early-childhood education and was a benefactor of the Long Island Jewish Medical Center.

Mr. Morrow was born in Brooklyn. He attended the University of Pennsylvania and New York University.

Al Martino

Aug. 16, 1951 - July 15, 1994

Al Martino, one of the most popular members of the various fraternal organizations in San Francisco, passed away from AIDS complications at a private nursing home in the Brooklyn, NY, at 11 a.m. on Friday, July 15, just one month short of his 43rd birthday. He will be cremated, and his ashes will be scattered at an as yet undetermined place in the San Francisco Bay Area at an upcoming memorial service.

Al is survived by his mother, Anne Zulferino; father, Louis Martino; sister, Diane; numerous aunts, uncles and cousins; and a host of friends in San Francisco.

Al attended Xaverian High School and Pace University, both in Brooklyn. A product of parochial schools, he served as an altar boy at St. Mary's Mother of Jesus Church in Brooklyn.

Al lived most of his life in NY, but in the mid-1970s, his Visa job brought him to SF, where he soon became a member of the Constantines Motorcycle Club and was twice their man of the year. Though Al lived mostly in the East Bay, he was extremely active in the SF motorcycle club community and even served as the president of his club in 1992. He was also a member of the Contra Costa County AIDS Task Force and the Jon Sims Marching Group.

The handsome, smiling countenance of Al Martino was uniquely refreshing; he was always calm, cool and collected. He had a great sense of humor and was very popular in biking circles, a popularity that extended beyond the confines of the fraternal organizations.

Al's fondness for the open road and his motorcycle prompted his alliance with a club noted for its motorcycling prowess. A photograph of Al at his bike's christening at the SF-Eagle, which first appeared in the B.A.R., was later printed in other U.S. papers and in Sweden, Germany, and The Netherlands, and became a source of great pride for him as well as his club.

His easygoing attitude was much admired in the South of Market community. He was a team player as well as a leader; he explored all aspects of the community he loved, worked behind the scenes, and was politically active. Never the subject of controversy, Al embraced all aspects of his community with a diligence and loyalty that impressed all he came in contact with.

A memorial service to celebrate the life of one of our community's most respected members is being planned. ▼

Gene W. Morand

Gene W. Morand, 40, of Beacon Hill, died Oct. 23 at the University of Massachusetts Medical Center following a courageous struggle with AIDS. 94

Born in Leominster on Dec. 11, 1953. Son of Eugene L. and Joan (Harris) Morand.

Gene had been a china and glass buyer for Jordan Marsh Co. in Boston for many years. In addition to his parents of Brewster, he leaves his brother, John D. Morand of Leominster; two sisters, Suzanne Y. Grayson of Natick, and Diane

J. Lauer of Leominster; a niece and two nephews, and many devoted friends in Boston.

A funeral service was held Oct. 25 at the Watson Funeral Home in Cambridgeport followed by a Liturgy of Christian Burial at the Bigelow Chapel of Mt. Auburn Cemetery Cambridge. The Mass was officiated by Rev. John R. Carroll, Chaplin of The Beth Israel Hospital Boston. Burial followed at Willow Pond Mt. Auburn Cemetery.

Philip H. Monfette

Jan. 21, 1945 - June 25, 1993

Phil died comfortably in the arms of his special friend Tony Hebert on the afternoon of June 25, after a three-week confrontation with PCP and an eight-year battle with HIV and AIDS. Phil has joined our all too many friends, lovers, brothers, and sisters who have already departed.

Phil was born and raised in Chicopee, Massachusetts, and lived in nearby Springfield, Massachusetts, until 1975. He studied nursing in MA and an interest in forensic medicine led him to further his studies in Kansas and Missouri. There he became increasingly unhappy with a "closeted" lifestyle and on the prompting of a friend, visited San Francisco on memorial Weekend of 1978. Phil soon realized that he was very much at home in San Francisco and has made it his home ever since.

He continued to work as a nurse in a variety of capacities and most recently held a position as a Medic at the SF County Jail until some time after his diagnosis in 1986.

As his illness progressed and he retired from nursing, his passion for collecting everything from fine furniture, stained glass, jewelry, cars and exotic birds became increasingly more important. He took great pride in creating a beautiful and comfortable home for himself and his friends.

It's true that Phil was at times opinionated and stubborn beyond belief and it is also true that he was a kind, loving and generous man who was a very loyal friend to those able to allow the mix.

Phil has returned to Massachusetts for burial as he wished. He leaves his mother, DeVelina; sister, Annette; brothers, Roland and Roger; friend, Tony Hebert; and other family members and friends.

Our deepest appreciation to the many Shanti workers who brought comfort, companionship and joy into Phil's life.

Keith Ray Mulske

1957 - 1994

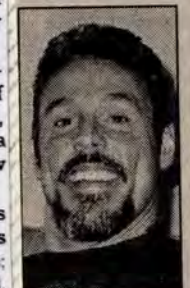

On Saturday, February 12, Keith passed away in his hometown of Mandan, North Dakota, after several years of living with AIDS. He lived in San Francisco for many years, and spent the last year and a half renewing his family ties in North Dakota. His family cared for him in his final year of illness.

Keith worked at American Chow, The Folsom Diner, Taste Catering, Ackerman Volvo and the Stud Bar, where he was well-known to many "studettes" as Loretta. Keith's travels took him around the world to Thailand, India, Jamaica, and much of California. He had a passion for cooking and organizing large gatherings of his extended San Francisco family. Keith loved being with children and enjoyed attending Giants baseball games. Keith loved the music of Ella, the blues and the B-52s, and he especially liked dancing. Loretta possessed a clever wit and sharp tongue that always made the most of life, often in extravagant or humorous ways.

Peter Shaun Morrison

March 24, 1951 - Sept. 4, 1994

Tired of the struggle, Peter expired bravely and peacefully in the Lion's Posture in the home he loved, in the embrace of friends, with incredible support from family, neighbors, physician and caregivers. Ashes were interred the following Saturday morning in a beautiful country cemetery near Rochester, N.Y., where Peter was born and raised.

At some point, Pete discovered the joys of leather, uniforms and the Harley-Davidson. He headed west, first to Arizona where he met and studied with Antonio Solari, then on to California to tattooing and piercing. He worked for years as a jeweler for Gauntlet, Inc. He acted and modeled, as Joe Falco for Colt Studios and as himself in a number of mainstream productions. He was proud of his work with exceptional children and the mentally ill. Finally, however, we'll remember him as among the very best of the kind and good.

He is survived by his friend and partner, many other loving friends and family, and Chuck, his cat of 14 years. An open-house memorial has been scheduled for Saturday afternoon, Sept. 24, 2-6 p.m. Please call (415) 826-3693. ▼

Pierre Menard, 53, Violinist, Is Dead

8-3-94

Pierre Menard, a violinist and founding member of the Vermeer Quartet, died on Wednesday at his home in Warren, Me. He was 53.

The cause was AIDS, said his companion, John Ladley.

Mr. Menard was born in Quebec and began studying the violin there when he was 6. Later, he studied with Ivan Galamian and Dorothy Delay at the Juilliard School. After graduating, he became concertmaster of the Nashville Symphony Orchestra and the Aspen Summer Festival Orchestra in Colorado.

In 1969, Mr. Menard became the second violinist in the newly formed Vermeer Quartet, the resident quartet at Northern Illinois University, where he was also a full professor of music. Over the years, he toured extensively with the group throughout North and South America, Europe and Australia, and made many recordings.

The ensemble also became the resident quartet in the Bay Chamber Concerts summer series in Rockport, Me. Mr. Menard retired from the quartet in 1992.

In addition to Mr. Ladley, he is survived by two sisters, Denise Tailfer and Georgette LeClerc, and three brothers, Gilbert, Yves and Jean-Paul.

Wayne Moran, retired computer programmer, 34

Wayne C. Moran of Watertown, a retired computer programmer, died Monday at home after a long illness. He was 34.

Born in Boston, he grew up in Watertown and was a 1978 graduate of Watertown High School.

Mr. Moran was a graduate of GTE Institute in Waltham and was a computer programmer for Harvard University.

He is survived by his parents, Paul S. and Lillian M. of Watertown; four brothers, Paul S. and John F. of Watertown, Peter J. of Belmont and Timothy M. of Brighton; a sister, Mary M. Medoff of Framingham; and several nieces and nephews.

A funeral Mass will be celebrated today at 9 a.m. at St. Jude's Church, Waltham.

Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

Arrangements by Donald J. MacDonald & Sons Funeral Home, Watertown.

Memorial contributions made to AMFAR, 733 3rd Ave., 12th Floor, New York, NY, 10017, would be sincerely appreciated.

Jeffrey "Miles" Meyers

March 29, 1960-Sept. 3, 1992

My Darling Miles,

It's been three years since that dreadful day that I held you in my arms. We were lying together in your hospital bed. I was sobbing uncontrollably, begging God not to take you from me. Suddenly I felt your spirit lift and you were transformed into my "Guardian Angel," much like the transformation of a Monarch butterfly, exquisitely beautiful and radiant in your new aura. My mother once told me that contrary to all religious beliefs, heaven and hell are here on earth, and then we go on to something better. Since mothers are infinitely loving and wise, I truly believed her. There has to be a better place than a world filled with pain and suffering; a place where babies do not die from hunger, malnutrition, AIDS or drug addiction; a place where wars do not take innocent lives; a place where beautiful young people like you, my love, do not die of AIDS; a place where we are not judged or oppressed because of the color of our skin; a place where we are not persecuted because we are born gay, lesbian, bisexual or transgender; a place where Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s words ring clear: "We are free. We are free at last..."

My darling Miles, you have kept your promise to love me forever. You comfort me in my loneliness and sorrow. I know when the time is right, you will take me by the hand and lead me to the light. "We shall be one again."

I remain yours always,

Jon Roy

Carmine Marino

Carmine Mario "Rita" Marino, 58, of Springfield, Virginia, died of lung cancer on Monday, November 21, 1994, at the Hospice of Northern Virginia, according to his closest friend, Jerry Burks of Springfield.

Marino was a longtime member of the Academy Awards of Washington, a club for female illusionists, having joined the group in 1970. He performed under the name of "Rita Moreno" and served as co-chair of the club's junior advisory board. He won the title of Miss Gay Universe in 1971 and had entered the Miss Gay Universe Ball contest five additional times.

MITCHNER—Robert Maurice, beloved English teacher at the David Boody Jr. High School, Brooklyn, died October 21st at the Cabrini Medical Center. The cause of death was AIDS. A memorial service will be held Friday evening November 3rd at 7:30pm, Saint Michael's Church, 99th Street and Amsterdam Avenue, NYC. Robert is survived by his companion, Dr. Maurice Danielson; his mother Juanita and brother Gregory, both of Detroit; and a sister, Mrs. Cheryl Kelley of Brooklyn. 75

During his 24 years of membership, Marino won many of the club's honors and awards, including Queen of Hearts (1990), Miss Zodiac (1985), Best Actress (1986), Miss Showbusiness (1988), and Empress of the Silver Screen (1992). In October, Marino won the Marlow Thomas Talent Award at the 1994 Miss Gaye America - D.C. Pageant. In addition, Marino received a total of 18 of the club's "Oscar" awards, including Oscars for Fashion Design, Woman of the Year, and Comedy Role Series.

"The diversity of his Oscar awards showed his diversity as a major personality," according to Burks.

Marino was born Sept. 26, 1936 in Newark, N.J. where he graduated from Central High School in 1954. He enlisted in the Army in 1956 and served most of his tour of duty in Germany. He was honorably discharged in 1964. After the Army, Marino became an Arthur Murray Dance Instructor.

Beginning in 1969, Marino went to work for the Defense Department. His last job in the Defense Department was as a receptionist at the department of mental health for family counseling at Fort Meyer, an Army base in Arlington, Va.

His other interests included bowling through the D.C. Sports Association's bowling leagues, and spending time with his dogs, Tabitha and Abigail. Marino was also fond of collecting reproductions of villages from the time period of Charles Dickens that had Christmastime decorations.

In addition to Burks, Marino is survived by his cousin-goddaughter, Patty Lardieri of Newark, N.J.; many other relatives; friends, Richard Farrow of Stephen City, Va.; Andy Ward of Alexandria, Va.; James Young of Manassas, Va.; Michael Herring of Manassas, Va.; Nancy Sterling, Pat Saxon, Michael Dyene, and Jeff Bridges of Virginia; and Delbert Delabo of Springfield, Va. Marino was predeceased by his mother, Rose Visco Marino.

A memorial service will be held Saturday, Dec. 3, at noon, at the Westminster Presbyterian Church, 400 I St., SW.

Albert Mulett

Albert Mulett, 31, of the South End, died Nov. 10 after a long courageous battle with AIDS.

He is survived by: his mother, Gladys Bonilla; his sisters, Judy, Kathy, Rosita and Gladys; and his brother John. He is also survived by two children, Kiesha and Nathaniel.

A memorial mass in his memory will be held on Feb. 6 at 9 a.m. in the chapel of the Cathedral of the Holy Cross on Washington St. in the South End. All are welcome to attend the service.

Donations in his memory may be made to the AIDS Action Committee of Boston. 94

Terry Miller, 47, Photographer And Chronicler of the Village

8-15-95

By ROBERT McG. THOMAS Jr.

Terry Miller, who turned his love of the theater, his devotion to Greenwich Village and his fondness for obscure facts into an eclectic, if hand-to-mouth, career as a writer, photographer, collector, archivist, researcher and historian, died on Tuesday at the Rivington House Nursing Home in Manhattan. He was 47.

His family said the cause was complications from AIDS.

For all his wide-ranging activities, Mr. Miller, who shunned 9-to-5 employment and was always struggling to make a living, was essentially a hobbyist of such intensity that his passions became his profession.

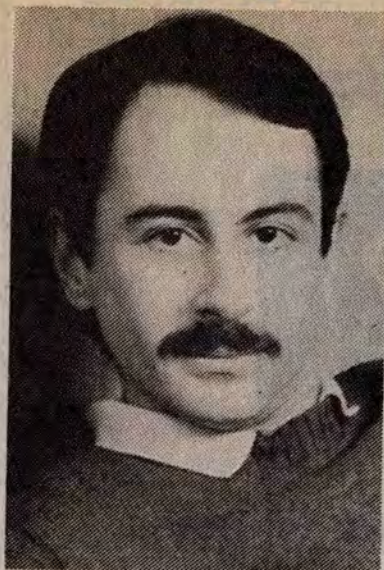

Many people live in Greenwich Village, for example, and fall in love and wonder about its enchanting warren of crooked streets. Mr. Miller, who moved to the Village in 1969, turned his curiosity into an industry.

Known to his friends as a walking encyclopedia of Village lore, he wrote and contributed 150 of his own photographs to "Greenwich Village and How It Got That Way," a 1990 Crown history that is still in print and is also a historical relic. A copy was sealed into a time capsule at the rededication of the Washington Square arch in 1990.

Mr. Miller also conducted walking tours of the Village and was a leader of the campaign to preserve the Greenwich Village waterfront blocks, an effort to which he contributed more than 100 photographs now on display at the Westbeth Gallery.

Many people also become musical comedy buffs, but Mr. Miller, who dated his own interest to the time his stage-struck mother, Sally, took him to see a Long Island production of "Pajama Game," when he was 9, took his fondness to extremes.

Among other things, he majored in theater at Boston University; collated the 400,000 pictures taken by Joseph Abeles, the theater photographer; contributed articles on the theater to newspapers, magazines and encyclopedias, and collected so many records, tapes, programs, books and other theater ephemera, his mother said yesterday, that they filled 98 cartons when they were shipped to the Musical Theater Library of the University of Miami.

According to his mother, her son's special intensity surfaced early. Of the dozens of Huntington, L.I., residents who watched a barn burn up the street from the Miller residence in 1954, her 7-year-old son is the only one known to have rushed home and translated the experience into a novel, "The Burning Barn." "It's still a family favorite," she said.

In addition to his mother, he is survived by his father, Morie, and three sisters, Laurie Farr of London, Deborah Burke of Newton, Mass., and Wendy Miller of North Kansas City, Mo.

Kim Myers

Kim Jones Myers, 36, a resident of Washington, D.C., died of AIDS-related complications on Friday, March 1, 1996 at the Washington Hospital Center, according to his partner, Mitchell Wood, also of D.C.

Myers was born Aug. 6, 1959 in Philadelphia. He was a member of Gates of Heaven Pentecostal Church in Philadelphia, where he sang in four church choirs.

After he moved to Washington in 1981, Myers worked in the advertising department of Woodward & Lothrop department store. At the time of his death, he worked in the operations center for the law firm of Wilmer, Cutler & Pickering and worked as a partner for real estate agents at Prudential Preferred Properties, both in D.C.

Myers participated in the 1994 D.C. AIDS Walk and served as a volunteer for the 1994 Dancing for Life benefit for the National Minority AIDS Council. He was an active member of an HIV support group sponsored by the District's Metropolitan Community Church. According to Wood, Myers enjoyed listening to gospel music and walking his cocker spaniel, Chachi.

In addition to Wood, Myers is survived by his mother, Martina Gray; stepfather, Marshall Gray; wife and son Veronica and Marcus Myers; brother, Frank Jones; sisters, Michelle and Constance Jones; and grandmother, Elaine Myers, along with many other relatives, all of Philadelphia; and many other friends of the D.C. area.

A funeral was held in Philadelphia on March 9 at the Open Door True Light Church. Myers was buried in Greenmont Cemetery, Philadelphia.

Monroe memorial

A memorial service for Donald C. Monroe will be held Saturday, May 18, at 2 p.m. at the Holy Trinity Episcopal Church, 13106 Annapolis Road, Bowie, Maryland.

Monroe, of Riverdale, Md., died of AIDS related complications at his parents' home in Cornish, N.H., on Wednesday, May 8, 1996, according to his longtime friend Warren Potas of Washington, D.C. His obituary will be published in an upcoming issue of the Blade.

TIMOTHY KEVIN MARTIN

Timothy Kevin Martin, 33, native Atlantan and actor, made his final exit from this life on the afternoon of Jan. 23, 1993.

As an actor, Tim appeared in productions at Seven Stages, SAME, Georgia State University, Academy Theatre, Funny That Way... and was one of the founders of ACME Theatre and ACME Children's Theatre, where he performed frequently.

Tim died at his home with his mother, father, brother and sister around him. He had lost his vision and attended the school for the visually impaired. He consistently pursued life in his struggle with AIDS.

John Edward Marks

June 14, 1958 - Sept. 2, 1994

The son of Sal and Jennie Marks of Newark, Calif., John was born in San Jose, Calif., and graduated from Newark High School in 1976. He attended Ohlone College and was later employed in computer operations at Durango Computer, Wang Labs and, lastly, at the Jewish Community Federation in San Francisco.

Loved by many, many friends and co-workers, John actively played tennis, enjoyed music and the arts, and was an avid reader of science fiction. He is survived by his parents; his companion, Richard Morehead; sisters, Jean Faria of Newark and Jeannette Guthrie of Pleasanton; sister and brother-in-law, Betty and Larry Hofstetter of Fremont; and many nieces, nephews, grandnieces and grandnephews.

A gathering of John's family, friends and co-workers will be held in San Francisco. Loving donations can be made to Project Open Hand or the Gazebo at Davies Medical Center. ▼

John Meroney

John W. Meroney, 44, of Arlington, Virginia, died Monday, September 12, 1994, of respiratory failure, at Sibley Hospital, according to his life partner of 18 years, Jon Larimore of Arlington.

In 1982, Meroney founded Meroney and Associates, an office-systems consulting firm, in Washington, D.C. As a certified office automation professional, designing computer systems for companies, he wrote a popular secondary school textbook, Word Processing Applications in Practice, said Larimore.

Meroney's firm also designed computer systems for the U.S. Postal Service and the Internal Revenue Service. The firm also planned and managed conventions for major trade organizations.

Meroney went to work for Systems Coordinators, Inc. of Reston, Va. as a computer scientist during the mid-1980s. He was working there at the time of his death.

In 1994, Meroney became a Computer Novell Engineer (CNE) and Computer Novell Administrator (CNA), which qualified him to be a licensed networking integrator. As an integrator, Meroney could represent Novell and design Novell's Local Area Networks (LANs), linking multiple computers to the same system.

During the late 1970s to early 1980s Meroney worked for the companies Bracewell and Patterson, Wordpro, Inc. and the accounting firm of Price Waterhouse.

Meroney's interests included community service work. In 1984, he was involved with the Arlington County Board in enacting Virginia's first Gay employment practices regulation to cover county employees, said Larimore. Meroney also served as a Gay community liaison to the Arlington County Police.

In 1986, Meroney and Larimore founded the Community Educational Service Foundation, a nonprofit organization. The Foundation operates the Gay and Lesbian Information Bureau (GLIB). This past August, Meroney and Larimore won recognition as the third best on-line information and communications service from Boardwatch Magazine, a national publication, Larimore said.

Meroney actively supported several Gay organizations including the Award Club of Washington, a group of female impersonators, and the Arlington Gay and Lesbian Alliance (AGLA). In 1982, Meroney was a founding president of AGLA, Larimore said.

Meroney also loved good food and had a "reputation for fine country cooking and his GLIB parties and dinners were legendary," said Larimore. Meroney also enjoyed playing GLIB's "Wicked Stepmother" and "Mrs. Sysop," said Larimore.

Meroney was born June 21, 1950, Wolf Lake, Ind. He enlisted in the U.S. Navy in the late 1960s, serving as medical corpsman. He moved to D.C. in the early 1970s when he was a waiter at The Pier, a super disco.

WILLIAM MULLIGAN, 52, a Houston garden writer who emphasized the use of lattices and trellises, died May 3 from AIDS complications. He published several gardening books with his companion, Elvin McDonald. 95

Darryl F. Minnefield

Dec. 15, 1957 - Nov. 23, 1994

Darryl passed into the next world in the early hours before

Thanksgiving Day due to heart failure, after a long eight-year battle with HIV.

Born in Detroit, Mich., he spent his early years in Manchester, Conn., and later became a San Francisco resident of over 10 years. He spent his last month at home with his family in Connecticut.

A generous, giving and easygoing person, Darryl is survived by both his parents, three brothers, two sisters, numerous nephews and nieces, as well as many friends and co-workers. He will be dearly missed by them all.

Blessings and thanks to the caregivers and all who gave support in his time of need. Memorial contributions to AIDS Emergency Fund or Project Open Hand would be greatly appreciated. ▼

Greg Mathews

Dec. 23, 1945 - Aug. 31, 1995

Greg passed away quietly in his home on the evening of August 31. He was a longtime resident of San Francisco and for the past 14 years worked for Wells Fargo Bank, first as a programmer and then as a systems analyst.

Greg had a zest for life. Among the many things that he loved to do were walking, cooking, shopping and traveling. We all know how much he loved his dog Peaches as well.

Greg is survived by his parents, Keith and Jean Mathews of Boise, Idaho; a sister, Marilyn; and three nephews, also of Idaho. One of Greg's wishes was to have his ashes spread over the bay which he loved so much.

A celebration of life service will be held in early fall. For more information, please call (415) 621-3946. Contributions can be made in Greg's name to the SF SPCA, where he adopted Peaches. ▼

Dennis S. Machado

Aug. 4, 1947 - July 25, 1994

Dennis died at peace with his family, friends and his lover Jay

Gordon at his side. A loving uncle, he and Jay took into their Sonoma County home three teenage nephews - Joe, Carl and Rick - and gave them the fortitude, wisdom and guidance to become outstanding men.

A native San Franciscan, Dennis graduated from Polytech High School in the city, then enlisted in the U.S. Navy, where he served in Vietnam. He earned his AA degree at San Francisco State University and worked for 17 years at Pacific Bell. Dennis and Jay shared 23 years together and traveled extensively.

He and Jay made their Petaluma abode a gracious oasis for their surrogate sons and their many friends. Dennis is survived by his mother, Aurelia; brothers, Donald and Daniel; and legions of relatives, co-workers and friends. Gone, yet so missed. ▼

Russell Moyer

Aug. 23, 1954 - Oct. 28, 1994

Our marvelous friend Russell died from AIDS-related complications in Los Angeles.

His gregarious personality and generous spirit, handsome looks and razor-sharp wit endeared Russell to many in his native New York and subsequent homes in San Francisco and Los Angeles. Russell embraced life to its fullest. Travel, theatre, film and country-western dancing were a few of his passions. Despite a demanding career in marketing for apparel manufacturers, Russell always found time to comfort his troubled friends and discuss the meaning of life, truth and beauty.

Russell and Jim Turner (whose death is acknowledged here this week as well) were best friends for over 20 years. They died within six days of each other. Their love conquered all. ▼

Howard Mallard

Howard Bryan Mallard, 58, longtime resident of Virginia, died Friday, February 9, 1996, of sudden heart failure at his home in Carolina Beach, North Carolina, according to his life partner Jay Bradley, of Manassas, Virginia.

A high school teacher for 30 years, Mallard was born Jan. 22, 1938 in Smithfield, N.C., and graduated in 1961 from East Carolina University in Greenville, N.C. Shortly after earning a degree in art education, Mallard began teaching in the Prince William County (Va.) School System, where he remained until his retirement in 1991. His love for the arts led him to produce several school stage productions, including his favorite Broadway musical, Oklahoma!

An apartment dweller all his life, Mallard settled into his first "home" in 1984; a log cabin along Virginia's Lake Jackson that he shared with Bradley. Over the years, both men transformed the surrounding landscape into what they called their "Garden for Days," Bradley said. He added that Mallard will be remembered for his "fabulous" Queen's Birthday Hat parties, and his elaborate, hand-stitched Halloween costumes.

Following his retirement from teaching in 1991, Mallard relocated with Bradley to Carolina Beach, N.C., where Mallard had spent his childhood summers.

His love for the ocean and the state's natural resources led Mallard to a second career as an education specialist with the North Carolina Aquarium at Ft. Fisher, where he trained volunteers and carried out programs. Mallard was known to offer VIP treatment, and special "behind-the-scenes" tours to sightseers who mentioned they were from the D.C. area, Bradley said.

"He had the gift of gab," he said. The couple would have celebrated their 14th anniversary on Valentine's Day, Bradley said.

In addition to Bradley, Mallard is survived by his sister, Anne M. Anthony and her son, Whit Anthony, both of Raleigh, N.C.; sister, Kathryn M. Callan and her daughters, Erin and Jennifer Callan, all of Tallahassee, Fla.; and several close friends in the Manassas, Va., community.

Mark "Scott"

Morton

August 24, 1960 —
November 11, 1994

Mark "Scott" Morton, a local journalist and talented singer, died on November 11, 1994 from complications of AIDS at his Tierrasanta home. He was 34.

Scott was born in Hamilton, Ohio on August 24, 1960. He was raised, and later graduated high school, in Indian Lake, Ohio. Scott began his studies in journalism at the University of Kentucky in 1978. After moving to San Diego in the early 1980s, he continued his studies at San Diego City College and then at San Diego State University.

While attending SDSU, Scott worked long hours to support himself while putting himself through college, which he regarded as one of his proudest achievements. Some of his jobs included working as an instructional aide for the Association of Retarded Citizens, as an editor of F-14 and C-130 pilot manuals for the Allen Corporation and as a tour guide for the San Diego Old Town Trolley. Scott was also a familiar face at Bourbon Street bar, where he worked as a bartender for several years.

He received his bachelor's degree in journalism from SDSU in 1991. As a dedicated and skilled journalist, Scott focused on writing for community-based publications. He was a general assignment reporter for SDSU's The Daily Aztec from 1988-1990, and served as editor for Uptown Newsmagazine during the summer of 1990. Scott went on to work as a political and general assignment reporter for Bravo! Newsmagazine.

In 1992, he took the position of interim editor for Bravo!. Later that same year, Scott helped launch Voice Magazine, a smaller format Gay and Lesbian tabloid, and wrote for the publication as a contributing editor through 1993.

Singing was one of Scott's greatest passions. Scott was blessed with a phenomenal singing voice. His rich, baritone voice was familiar to patrons at several piano bars in town. He sang a repertoire of contemporary songs and Broadway show tunes, and his specialty was singing duets, always in perfect harmony.

Scott is survived by his longtime companion, Scott Karatsanos, of San Diego; his mother, AnnLee Scott, of Russells Point, Ohio; his father, Mark Morton, of Fairfield, Ohio; two sisters, LeeAnn Slagle, of Huntsville, Ohio and Christy Morton, of Erlanger, Kentucky; two brothers, James Scott, of Columbus, Ohio and Tim Morton, of Wapakoneta, Ohio; and his beloved basset hound, Remington.

A memorial service was held Saturday, November 19 at the Pacific Church of Religious Science. Memorial contributions may be made to: Mama's Kitchen, 1875 Second Ave., San Diego, CA 92101.

Howard Wade Maurer

November 19, 1994

Howard will be remembered for his great passion for living life to the fullest. His favorite pastimes included fishing, riding his motorcycle and playing the stock market.

Howard acquired many friends living and working in San Francisco, Key West and Sacramento. Through his 14-year involvement in AA, he taught us all discipline and commitment.

Howard is survived by his best friend, Jan, and "family." A celebration of his life will be held at mile marker 16 in early February 1995. We will always remember Howard for his favorite saying, "Presentation is everything." ▼

George Fredrick Malinczak

April 12, 1954 - May 3, 1995

George passed away peacefully and without pain on Wednesday morning, May 3. With him at the time was his friend and partner of 21 years, Tom Cline.

George leaves behind his loving brother Joe in San Francisco and his Aunt Theresa in Michigan. He also leaves behind three brothers and two sisters in Michigan.

George had many interests: his cocker spaniels and gardening were among his favorites. He had owned a gardening business for 12 years. In the last few years, he also worked as a distribution driver for the Bay Area Reporter.

George was a contestant in the 1982 International Mr. Leather Contest in Chicago. He represented the Hot House.

No services are planned according to his wishes. Donations in lieu of flowers may be made to the San Francisco AIDS Foundation. ▼

LUC MARTIN

Our friend, Luc Martin of Laval, Quebec, lost his battle against AIDS on January 25, 1995. Born on June 22, 1956 he filled his short life with meaning and caring. Luc loved music, photography, art, film and had a huge soft spot for animals and chocolate, Luc was a quiet and gentle spirit and he will always be remembered by his partner Alwyn, his family and friends.

In Memory Of: Robert Mills

Rick Maricich

May 17, 1959 - Oct. 27, 1994

Rick, 35, died at high noon after an amazing struggle against AIDS.

Those who knew him will remember a wonderful person who was so sweet and kind.

Rick was born in Concord and moved to the city to be with me in 1993. We spent 11 wonderful years together, years that I will cherish till the end of time.

Living on past Rick's death are his parents, Pat and Marianne; sister, Jeannie; grandma, Edith; her husband, Pete; sister-in-law, Lulu; her husband, Paul; numerous other relatives and friends; lover, Bob; and Tanya and Kitty.

Rick would like to thank Dr. Marge Poscher, who did so much to help him weather the storms and enjoy the sunlight. Also his nurses, Nancy and John; all the wonderful staff at Quest (thank you, Laura); Dr. Marc Conant and Mark Illeman; all his friends at the Conant Medical Group; the absolutely wonderful staff at Mt. Zion Hospital; and all the others who helped him live life to the fullest up until the very end.

As was his wish, Rick died quickly and at home. Good-by, Honey Poo-Poo; I love you very much. ▼

My beloved Bob,

*Almost a year ago you died,
And I will never be the same again.
I am not worse. I am different.
I have lost a kind of carefree sense that life will always be okay.
I have gained a sense of personal strength,
a sense of solidness.
I like myself and respect myself more than I ever have before.
I have gained a sense of optimism about my capacity truly to enjoy life on my own.
I believe I am creating a satisfying life being with myself.
I have come to know sadness, and sadness has taken a permanent place inside my soul
But I am not a sad person.
I feel sure of myself most of the time.
I feel that I am going to have more losses and I believe that I am going to find new happiness.
Bob, I am at peace and in harmony with myself and my world
You did not know this me when you were alive.
I like to believe that you know now, and that you always feel my love and deep, deep gratitude.*

Cal Moore

April 6, 1940 - June 13, 1994

In the hearts of your family and family of friends

*I could sail the waters of all the world
Bitter and wild and blue.
And never I'd find a friend to love
Like the friend I've found in you.
I could walk down all the roads of the world
And knock on the doors forever
And never I'd find a friend like you never -- never -- never.*

Judy Abrahams

Eugene Thomas Mohrman (Eubie)

January 14, 1995

Eubie passed on peacefully January 14, surrounded by loving family and friends, following a long struggle with AIDS.

Eubie was born and raised in Brooklyn, and moved to San Francisco in 1982. He joined the San Francisco Police Department in September 1983, and served as a respected and decorated officer until his passing. A founding member of the Golden State Peace Officers Association and vice president of that organization at the time of his death, Eubie was a driving force behind the founding of other gay peace officers' associations in the United States and abroad.

Eubie was also a longtime member of the Gay Softball League and an avid pool player at the Lone Star. He was preceded in death by his lover, Jim Rohrs, and will be missed by both of his families and all of his friends. ▼

WALTER EUGENE MORRIS-

SETTE, 26, peacefully departed to his eternal home Sept. 22, of complications due to AIDS. He was born Jan. 6, 1968 in Chicago and attended Chicago public schools. He was baptized and actively attended Olivet Baptist Church on the South Side. As an adult in the gay community, he participated very actively in MACT, Thresholds, Good Shepherd and Gentle Spirit/Espiritu Gentil Metropolitan Community Churches; and became endeared by many of their members who will never forget his gentle, loving care and concern for others.

Shortly after his diagnosis with HIV, he became active in many support groups, particularly BE-HIV in Evanston. At the same time, he met his life partner, Donald Eugene Davis, and they were soon joined in Holy Union at Ann Sather's, honeymooned at Walt Disney World and formed a loving, nurturing relationship at their home in Evanston. He and his spouse became members of the North American Association of Ventriloquists, bringing unbridled joy, educating about bigotry toward people who are different. They were featured in pictorial articles in THE SMITHSONIAN and LIFE magazines.

Even at the height of his illness, Walter was more concerned with the welfare of others, especially his cousin, Tony Hasson. He will be best remembered for his overflowing compassion, unconditional love for everyone, his extensive collection of rare Barbie dolls, and his foxy puppet, Maxine, whose voice bore an uncanny resemblance to that of his favorite performer, Marilyn Monroe.

He was preceded in death by his mother, Melvora Morrisette; and his loving cousin, Tony Hasson. He is survived by his spouse, Donald Eugene Davis, and many family and friends.

Steve Lyle Martin R.N.

January 25, 1995

Steve, 40, died January 25 of AIDS complications. He insisted that we not mention his zany sense of humor because "everyone knows that's just another way of saying, 'Steve Martin was a bitch.'"

And Steve was so much more. He was a member of the National Association of AIDS Nurses, a former member of the San Francisco Gay Men's Chorus, an opera enthusiast, a dancer, a friend and a lifelong member of the Dark Shadows Fan Club.

Steve said caring for those with AIDS gave his professional life a heightened purpose, but the scope of his generosity went beyond the disease. His loving, wicked ways will be missed.

Steve's friends wish to thank Steve Becker M.D. and Caitlin, and Mark Donnell R.N. of Visiting Nurses and Hospice of San Francisco, for their attention and courtesy.

Steve was a bon vivant. Although we, his family and friends, survive him, we know we can't outlive him. ▼

JAMES LAYTON MURRAY

APRIL 4, 1937—DECEMBER 9, 1994

MEMORIAL CONTRIBUTIONS MAY BE MADE TO AID ATLANTA, 1438 W. PEACHTREE ST.,

Joseph Allyn Monico
Nov. 7, 1943–June 16, 1993
Carl Gene Gonzales
Feb. 7, 1955–June 30, 1990

Joseph Monico was born in Omaha, Nebraska, Carl Gonzales in Fayetteville, Arkansas. They met while living in Houston and fell in love.

In 1982, they left for San Francisco, Joe returning after a 2½ year stay, Carl moving there for the first time. In the mid '80s, they were both diagnosed with HIV, resolving to continue their lives to the fullest. They never allowed the disease to interfere with their relationship. Carl was the first to pass on, saved from the horrible effects of PML by pneumonia. The PML had progressed to the point where he could no longer communicate, and was only able to barely control the movements of one of his arms. Feebly striking at his IV and oxygen tubes, Carl managed to remove them on several occasions, that is, until the hand was tied to the bed frame by a nurse in the AIDS ward. The thin strip of gauze that tied his hand to the bed frame was removed by one of his friends, who then told Carl that the IV and oxygen were only there to keep him comfortable, Carl never again tried to remove his IV and oxygen tubes. Carl's passing was attended by his lover, Joe; Joe's mother, Tilly; his friends Danny, Dan, & Norma.

Joe followed after a two-year bout with MAC, wasting disease & severe neuropathy pain. Joe was bedridden most of the time, never having enough energy to enjoy life. Joey bravely suffered through the disease, rarely complaining, even though the morphine didn't always control the pain. Joey passed away at home, his mother Tilly, friends, Vince, Dan and Norma at his bedside.

Both men will be missed by their family and friends. Joe's family and friends would like to thank Susan, Beverly and Ann of the Kaiser Hospice Unit for the wonderful care and compassion that they extended to Joey. Goodbye Joey, and Carl Gene, we will always love and remember you. ▼

BRYAN MEDERAK

January 4, 1963 – May 31, 1996

"Lovers Forever"

Hal xoxo

Jose Manuel Martinez

Jose Manuel Martinez, 31, a risk reduction and early intervention specialist for the GALAEI Project, died suddenly Jan. 9, 1996, after a brief illness.

Born in the Dominican Republic, Martinez moved to the United States 17 years ago, residing in New York City and New Jersey before settling in Philadelphia.

As remembered by his surviving partner, Charles Bailey, family, friends and co-workers, Martinez always made an impact wherever he was and with whomever he met. Friendly and outgoing, Martinez made many friends. He was a dedicated worker, husband, brother and uncle. Many say he had a passion for life, for taking care of others, for dancing and for fashion.

He volunteered many hours to the GALAEI Project prior to taking a staff position there. His many services to the community included working with the Safeguards Gatekeepers Project and other organizations.

In addition to his partner, Martinez is survived by his parents; nieces and nephews.

A memorial service will be held at noon Jan. 20 at the Church of St. Luke and the Epiphany, 330 S. 13th St.

Memorial contributions may be made to the GALAEI Project, 1233 Locust St., Philadelphia, Pa. 19107. ▼

Stanley E. Murzenski

Stanley Edward "Stan" Murzenski, 47, died Dec. 24 at home in Powelton Village. JK

A 1966 graduate of Scranton Preparatory School, Murzenski studied electrical engineering at Drexel University, completing a degree in engineering at Wilkes College. Murzenski did additional graduate work at Wilkes College and at the University of Southern California, and completed a master's degree in metallurgy at the University of Pennsylvania.

The owner of an electrical contracting firm and personnel business in Philadelphia in the 1970s, he was most recently employed as an engineer at the Defense Personnel Support Center.

Murzenski is survived by his companion, Joseph Kuna; parents Edward and Helen Murzenski, sister Carol Petres, niece Susan Petres and nephews Charles and Michael Petres.

A Mass will be held at 9 a.m. Jan. 6 at St. Clement's Anglo Catholic Church, 20th and Appletree streets, in Philadelphia.

Lester Merkley

July 17, 1957 – May 1, 1995

Les was born and raised in Duluth, Minnesota, and came to San Francisco in 1981. A personable and well-liked bartender at the Peter Pan Lounge, he loved good music, good times and shopping, especially in Chinatown. He had many friends and will be missed by all.

He is survived by his loving wife, Daisy, and close friend of many years, Jim. A farewell party will be held at the P.S. Lounge on Sunday, May 28, 4-6 p.m. ▼

Jim Mustard

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

BALTIMORE — Jim Mustard, who spent 23 years reporting on government and transportation for WBAL-TV, died Jan. 2 of complications from AIDS. He was 51.

"He was a real professional who took his job seriously and loved this business," said Vince Bagli, a retired WBAL sportscaster.

Mustard retired in 1993 due to illness. In 1984, he was diagnosed with bone cancer, and in 1992 he was diagnosed with AIDS.

Born and raised in Philadelphia, he joined radio station WNJH in Hammonton, N.J., after graduating from high school in 1962. After stints at several radio and television stations in Pennsylvania, he joined WBAL in 1970.

Mustard devoted much of his spare time to women's and gay rights. At the time of his death, he was trying to establish a Baltimore chapter of the National Lesbian and Gay Journalists Association, which awarded him its distinguished service award in October.

Services will not be held at his request.

He is survived by a brother, Bruce Mustard of Torrance, Calif.; his stepmother, Charlotte Mustard of Roanoke, Va.; a stepbrother, Richard Petterman of Chantilly, Va.; a stepsister, Virginia Dubas of Bargaintown, N.J.; a niece and a nephew. ▼ JK

David C. Michaelson

August 20, 1956 —
September 4, 1994

David C. Michaelson was born August 20, 1956 in Valejo, California. He died of AIDS complications at Continental Rehabilitation Hospital on September 4, 1994. Services were held at Community Church in Pacific Beach, and he was buried in Virginia. His father, his current lover and his first lover were at his side the last hours of his life. His doctor was vacationing at the time.

Dave attended Patrick Henry High School, and Grossmont college. He was a commercial traffic officer at XETV Fox TV.

Dave was warm, handsome, and resembled the happy Bob's Big Boy logo. He was also the love of three men's lives.

He is survived by his father Mike; his partner/lover of nine years, Geoffrey; his friend of 20 years and first lover of five years, Gary; and his dog Columbo.

In Memory Of: Thomas M. MacWhinnie

"TO TOM"

*He passed in his youth - on this tidal wave of Disease
Which results from the apathy and Indifference of The world in which we Live.
And though his own life was filled by Service to others - to those he loved,
We must accept that he found his adversary Too overwhelming.
Yet let us not mourn too long the Dying of his body,
Though we shall all so deeply miss his presence.
Rather let us celebrate the freedom of his spirit,
For Tom is not gone, nor will he Ever be so.
Tom loves us too much to Simply disappear.
Death does not exist.
We love you, Tom
And we know that you are always with us.
We love you, Tom
And we know that you are happy.
We love you, Tom
We know that you are free.*

- Sent in by James P. Hararove

Raymond "Rick" Murchek

Rick Murchek of Brookline died Dec. 10 at the Deaconess Hospital. He was 42. 95

On Dec. 9, Rick had a long awaited reunion with his brother Andy of Wetzlar, Germany.

Rick will be remembered for his love of beauty, a sharp wit and determined, independent spirit that was refined during his years at West Point Military College. He graduated from West Point in 1980. He was a first lieutenant in the U.S. Army stationed in Germany. He moved to Brookline in the late 1980s where he resided until his death.

Rick was an avid and accomplished gardener. He transformed the barren quadrangle in the back of his Brookline apartment into a beautiful landscape of roses and exotic flowers.

He faced his illness with dignity and forbearance. He spent much of this past summer at his house in Plymouth, Mass. working on renovations and enjoying the peace and quiet that the area offered him. He attended his 15th West Point class reunion in October. He was still the best dancer in the room.

Rick is survived by his mother, Catherine; four brothers and two sisters, all of the East Chicago area; his dear brother Andy and many friends. Rick's final resting place will be at Arlington National Cemetery, Washington, D.C. A time for remembering Rick will take place on January 24. Those wishing to attend should contact Paul Gartland at (617) 623-8922. Donations in his memory may be made to the Mass. General Hospital Pediatric AIDS Fund, Fruit Street, Boston, MA 02114.

Joel David Morgan

Artist Manager, 35 7-11-95

Joel David Morgan, an artist manager and concert presenter, died on Tuesday at St. Vincent's Hospital in Manhattan. He was 35 and lived in Manhattan.

The cause was AIDS, said Candace Flores, a friend.

Mr. Morgan was born in Fort Walton Beach, Fla., and studied piano at the Manhattan School of Music and with Adele Marcus. After graduation from the Manhattan School in 1986, he became a publicity agent at Jay K. Hoffman & Associates.

He started his own management firm, Joel Morgan & Associates, in 1989, and specialized in young singers and conductors. He was also the director of the Center for Chamber Music, a concert-presenting organization in Greenwich, Conn.

He is survived by his companion, Michael Gamberdell; his mother, Louise Morgan of Fort Walton Beach; a sister, Martha Harwin of Perdido Key, Fla., and two brothers, Robert, of Fort Walton Beach, and Timothy, of Pensacola, Fla.

LEO MAZA

Leopoldo E. Maza, 47, died of AIDS on Dec. 5, 1994 in Los Angeles. He was visiting friends and was attended at his death by his partner, Brad Gregory of Boston, and his friend, Andrew Carrollman of Los Angeles.

Born Oct. 23, 1947 in Vera Cruz, Mexico, Leo spent his youth in Havana, Cuba. He came to the USA to attend high school in New Bedford, Mass. In 1971, he graduated magna cum laude from Providence College and obtained his Master's degree in Spanish Literature from the University of Kansas. For the past 20 years, he had been a much-liked and respected teacher of Spanish at Milton Academy. His illness forced him to give up administrative duties in the Modern Language Department and then, in January 1994, even his beloved teaching.

Leo loved Spanish, traveling, biking, painting, arty movies, reading, eating and conversing. His Roxbury home grew to reflect these energies. He will be sorely missed by his many friends and colleagues.

Leo was preceded in death by his father and his lover, Boyd Gervais. He is survived by his mother and by his partner, Brad Gregory.

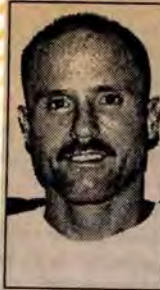

A Memorial Mass will be held at the Immaculate Conception Church at the Jesuit Urban Center, 775 Harrison Ave., Boston on Sunday afternoon, Jan. 8, 1995 at 3:00 p.m. Friends are invited. A scholarship fund in Leo's name is being set up at Providence College.

Kevin Miner

April 18, 1957 - Nov. 13, 1995

Kevin died at Davies Medical Center in my arms. He and I had an inseparable bond for ten years. He was a real fighter up to the very end, but passed in a peaceful way.

Kevin was the most nurturing companion a guy could ever hope for and always put the needs of others before his own. He was a carpenter and loved to cook. His love and the strength he gave me have been a real solace since he died and will remain with me for the rest of my life. I truly thank you for that gift, Kevin. I hope we can be together again someday.

Kevin was surrounded by his family and all our friends up to the end. Originally from Des Plaines, Ill., he migrated briefly to San Diego then to the Bay Area, where he earned a degree in industrial design at San Jose State. He and I lived in San Francisco for the last five years. Prior to that, we lived together in Guam while I finished my commitment to the Navy.

Thank you and farewell, my little buddy. Until we meet again. You will always be in my heart. ▼

I will remember your Angelic smile, and those soft blue eyes which captured my heart.

I will remember the endless nights of dancing around the living room, the laughter, Our Holy Union, the cuddling, and I will remember the way you rolled those beautiful eyes when I was too stubborn to listen.

I will remember the warmth within you, the love around you, and your silent hidden pain.

I will always remember that you were the Best any lover could ever hope for... You touched my soul in a very special way.

I will always be thankful you came into my life.

I will always Miss you.

And

I will always remember. 12-8-95

Follow the Angels Sweetheart, Go to the light.

Love Always,

Bill, Bud, and your many friends.

Mark David Monteleone

May 14, 1957 - Oct. 23, 1995

Mark Monteleone passed away at his home in Laguna Beach on Oct. 23. His parents and friends were at his side.

Mark moved to San Francisco in the late '70s and managed Marcello's on Castro. Later he successfully created his own business, Tile Concepts, and established a reputation as quite a tile craftsman both in Northern and Southern California.

Mark loved the gym, dancing, cooking, Yosemite, Laguna and his big truck. Most of all he loved people and life.

Mark will be grievously missed by his parents, Gwen and Chuck; siblings, Kim, Terry, and Chas; close friends, Darryl, Gary, Mark, Jim, Greg and Lee; and so many others whose lives he enriched or kitchens and baths he made more beautiful. A kinder, happier, more handsome man I've never known. Bye, Babe.

Contributions in Mark's name would be greatly appreciated by the AIDS Services Foundation of Orange County, 17982 Sky Park Circle, Irvine, CA 92714-6303. ▼

Clay Franklin Miller

Clay Franklin Miller, 32, of Chelsea, died Dec. 7 at the Hospice at Mission Hill Boston, following a courageous struggle with AIDS.

Born July 2, 1962, in Bangor, Maine, the son of Albert L. Miller and Joyce Blackmer Miller, he graduated from Old Town High School and moved to Boston in 1980 to attend Emerson College. He graduated in 1984. Clay had been employed for several years as program director of the Waltham Committee, retiring in June 1994 due to his illness. 94

He leaves his beloved life partner, Dennis Kuipers; his parents, of Maine; four brothers Craig, Keith, Brian and Scott, all of Maine; and three sisters, Karen, Stacey, both of Maine, and Holly of Virginia. A funeral service was held Dec. 7. Cremation followed at Mt. Auburn Cemetery, Cambridge, with interment of Clay's remains in Maine. Remembrances to the Hospice at Mission Hill, 20 Parker Hill St., Boston

DENNIS MOREAU

Dennis Moreau, former co-owner of Buddies on Stuart Street and (earlier) Boylston Street, Boston, died June 26 of complications from AIDS at his home in Ft. Lauderdale, FL. He was 43.

With his partner Kevin Lyons, Dennis operated the popular gay club for many years, until its closing in 1991. He and Lyons moved to Ft. Lauderdale at that time.

Dennis is survived by his mother Mabel Moreau Nicholson, brother William, both of Connecticut, plus several uncles, aunts, nephews, nieces and cousins.

Memorial services were held Saturday July 1 in Springfield, MA. Contributions in his memory may be made to the AIDS Action Committee.

David A. Martin died March 5 of complications from AIDS in San Diego. He was 44. A native of Worland, Wyo., he was a successful illustrator whose clients included Bloomingdales, Barney's, Bergdorf Goodman, Disney, Gentlemen's Quarterly, New Yorker, Playboy and the Advocate. His paintings were exhibited in the galleries and museums of New York City, Los Angeles, San Francisco and San Diego. He is predeceased by his father, Ben, and brother, Ernie. Survivors include his mother, Ruth J. Martin; aunt, Eldan Polers; and numerous friends, including Lauren, Brad, Vincent, Tom and Linda. 96

MILLER 95

Of Watertown, December 14, Frank James. Loving father of Kenneth and Anastasia Diane Miller. Loving son of Raymond and Evangeline Miller. Loving brother of Anne Marie Allison, Raymond A. Jr., George M. and Christine Miller. Loving brother-in-law of John R. Allison and Mary A. Miller. Loving great nephew of Eugenia Pahas. Long time companion of James Pieretti and Demetrios Mimosinos. Funeral from the Brown and Sons Funeral Home, 36 Tropic Road, BELMONT, Monday, December 18 at 10:00 A.M. Funeral Service in the Greek Orthodox Church (Taxiarchoe), 25 Bigelow Ave., Watertown at 11:00 A.M. Visiting hours Sunday 5:00-9:00 P.M. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the American Cancer Society or the Fenway Community Health Center, Seven Haviland St., Boston, MA 02115. Late Member of Fraternity Sigma Phi Epsilon. U.S. Army Veteran. Served two tours in Vietnam. Was DMV Police-Korea, B Company First Battalion. Member of Disabled American Veterans. Graduated George Washington University. Life long resident of Watertown.

52

Do you remember...?

by Loren King

Twenty years ago this week, on September 8, 1975, United States Air Force Technical Sergeant Leonard Matlovich was introduced to the world when he appeared in his Air Force uniform on the cover of Time magazine with the words, "I Am a Homosexual" emblazoned across his chest.

Long before the present debate about gays in the military, Sgt. Matlovich, a decorated Vietnam veteran, challenged the military policy excluding gays from military service. He was dismissed from the Air Force one month after he publicly disclosed his sexual orientation to his superiors in March, 1975. After a lengthy court battle, he accepted a $160,000 settlement from the U.S. government in 1980 and agreed not to return to the U.S. Air Force. Sgt. Matlovich died of AIDS in 1988.

In many ways, Sgt. Matlovich was the perfect candidate to challenge the military ban. He was a 12-year veteran, a decorated officer with an unblemished record, the son of a soldier. At 32 years old, Sgt. Matlovich was just coming out of the closet, although this was a decision to which he had given much agonizing thought.

The book, "Profiles in Gay and Lesbian Courage" (St. Martin's Press, 1991), which is dedicated to Sgt. Matlovich, includes an interview in which Sgt. Matlovich recounts his decision to become the first military officer to publicly acknowledge his homosexuality: "Years later, after my picture was on the cover of Time, when people said to me, 'I wouldn't have the courage to come out like you did,' I replied, 'Yes, you would. Believe me, if you'd been through the self-inflicted agony I suffered, coming out would not be the hardest thing to do. I didn't just get up one morning and say, 'I'm going to fight the Air Force.' It was a four-year process. It was a long, hard, four years of building my courage up to the point where I had to do it, where I could no longer resist exclaiming, 'No more, Air Force—it's wrong what you're doing!'"

When the story of Sgt. Matlovich's challenge to the military policy broke—first in a New York Times article on August 28, 1975—it was followed by a media frenzy, since this marked the first time any member of the U.S. military had taken such a dramatic step. Sgt. Matlovich soon found himself besieged with requests for interviews from the gay and the mainstream press and for appearances at fundraisers and political events. An above average made-for-TV movie, "Sergeant Matlovich vs. the United States Air Force," starring Brad Dourif, Frank Converse and Rue McClanahan, made news when it was broadcast in 1978.

But it was the Time magazine cover story on September 8, 1975, carrying the face of an open homosexual into grocery stores, newsstands and homes across America, that had an impact far beyond what Sgt. Matlovich could ever imagine.

"I was 15 and in high school in a small town in Kansas. I remember buying a copy of the magazine in a supermarket and then destroying it," recalls Paul Rehme, owner of We Think the World of You bookstore in Boston, who would later become a friend of Sgt. Matlovich. "But I got another copy which I still have. It helped me to come out. It was an important magazine cover. It is hard to believe it was 20 years ago."

In the years during and shortly after his court battle, Matlovich was a fixture on the lecture circuit and was widely regarded as a "gay hero." Later, there were reports that his sudden celebrity status, fueled in part by the hunger for a gay media icon, had left him feeling that he had been used by gay activists. But at the end of his interview in "Profiles in Gay and Lesbian Courage," Sgt. Matlovich sounds not bitter, but resigned and reflective.

"I have always been basically old-fashioned," Sgt. Matlovich said. "What I wanted was a yard with a picket fence, a dog, a cat, and a lover, not necessarily in that order. I never had a lover, and now it's unlikely that I ever will. Having AIDS is a curse as well as a blessing. The curse is that I am not well. The blessing is that I can leave with a feeling that the world's a better place. There are people who are better off because I existed." ▼

Louis Earl Mayo

Sept. 18, 1954 - Oct. 16, 1995

Louis packed a lot of living into his 41 years. Those of us who shared in his life and came to be with him as he began his journey into eternity are grateful for our experiences with Louis; we will miss him.

Born and raised in Anchorage, Alaska, Louis was a member of the National Honor Society in high school. He received his BS degree in marketing from San Francisco State in 1982. He worked in human resources, editing, computer systems and as a legal secretary.

Louis traveled extensively in Europe and enjoyed living in Seattle, Boston, North Carolina, Atlanta, Minneapolis and Los Angeles. He returned regularly to his home bases in Alaska and San Francisco. An avid reader, Louis had special gifts in art, writing and music. His quick wit, sense of humor and whimsical smile endeared him to many. Always generous to his friends, Louis also did volunteer work, especially for AIDS organizations.

Among the survivors are his mother, Barbara; sisters, Sue and Sheri; nephew, Christopher; niece, Dawn; friends, Judy, Barry, Fred, Tom, Carl and Gladys; and his beloved cat, Noodle.

Memorial services will be held in Anchorage on Nov. 11 and at the Russian River. ▼

Alvin J. Maria

April 27, 1956 - Jan. 1, 1996

As the sun rose on the first day of the new year, another angel was born.

Alvin finished life's dance on New Year's Day, surrounded by his family and friends. The room was bathed with love, and the sounds of dance music by his favorite DJ filled the air...it was Alvin's last morning party.

Alvin's trademark was his gentle spirit, his calling card a kind heart, his goal a good time. He was one of life's rarest treasures, an unaffected man with a true and genuine soul. His sweet and caring disposition endeared him to all he met.

Alvin valued all beautiful things. He especially loved the beauty that is inherent in dance and music, particularly those moments when the mastery of the music would become his guide and pilot him across a dance floor sprinkled with good friends. He delighted in their smiling faces and in his knowledge of their good times.

Alvin leaves behind a loving family and a collection of friends whose lives he kindly touched. His spirit will live on in our memories and in the music that made him dance.

Let the music play! ▼

MORDETSKY—Harvey, Remembering on your birthday that you are, you were and you always will be my best friend. 10/15/96 Russell

Wellington Green needs donations

When longtime Wellington Street resident and ferocious community gardener Doug MacElroy died in 1994 after a battle with AIDS, more than a few area residents missed his nurturing green thumb at the Wellington Green.

Now, the neighborhood is on the cusp of completing its effort to honor MacElroy with a six-foot, vine-wrapped iron trellis in the garden.

The eight-foot high, 21-foot long memorial for MacElroy — a founding member of the South End/Lower Roxbury Open Space Land Trust — will be flanked by granite columns, with the right column inscribed with the words "Wellington Green: A Living Memory of Doug MacElroy, 1945-1994."

"Every day he was out there cleaning and weeding," recalls friend and Claremont Neighborhood Association member Roy Krantz. "He almost adopted it."

With the project already approved by the Landmark's Commission, the Claremont Neighborhood Association is aiming to have the structure — designed by South Ender Roger Stearns — in place before the South End Garden Tour on June 22.

While memories of MacElroy and his work on the green are already in place, all the needed cash for the memorial isn't. Yet.

Joey Monteleone

June 6, 1951 - May 28, 1995

Joey died graciously and peacefully at 7:49 p.m. on Sunday, May 28, after spending his last week with the loving care of his mother, Mary. At the last moment, he was surrounded by his lover and best friend, Bruce, and their very good friends, Ann, Gil and JD.

Joey was born in Lakewood, near Long Beach. He graduated from Paramount High School in 1969 and Compton College in 1971 with an associate degree in journalism. He moved to San Francisco in 1975 and made many friends at the Trocadero in the '70s and the Balcony in the early '80s. He most recently worked at Wells Fargo Bank.

He is remembered for his endless capacity to love, his romantic ideals, his wit, his sense of humor, his homemaking and his ability to accessorize.

He is survived by his lover, Bruce Rutan; their cat, Eliot; mother, Mary Monteleone; and brothers, Anthony, Michael and John Albert. A memorial gathering was held at the Tulip Garden in Golden Gate Park on June 3. Contributions should be made to the Library Foundation of San Francisco, 220 Montgomery St., Ste. 406, San Francisco CA, 94114, attention: Bill Hayes. For further details, call 552-7185. ▼

Robert Metzger, 55, Decorator Known for His Flamboyant Style

By SUZANNE SLESIN

Robert Howard Metzger, one of the contemporary interior decorators who epitomized an opulent, elegant style, died on Thursday at New York Hospital. He was 55 and lived on the Upper West Side and in Water Mill, L.I.

The cause of death was pneumonia, said Michael Christiano, his business partner since 1976.

Born in the Bronx, Mr. Metzger graduated from New York University in 1961 and began working as an investment analyst on Wall Street. But after traveling extensively in Europe, he returned to New York to study at the New York School of Interior design, from which he received a certificate in 1971. After working as a freelance interior designer for a few years, he established Robert H. Metzger Inc. in 1973.

Mr. Metzger was widely known for his flamboyantly decorated and dramatically lighted rooms, with their eclectic mix of antique furnishings, extravagant flower arrangements and well-appointed table tops. In his rooms, whether dotted with Roman urns or filled with Art Deco pieces, drama was the order of the day. Mr. Metzger was invited to take part in the second Kips Bay Decorator Show House in 1974, and the room he designed put him on the map.

His own homes were filled with his numerous collections. Shagreen, the granulated skin of sharks that has been used since the 17th century to cover boxes and furniture, was a particular passion.

His wealthy clients, many of whom became close friends, included Carolina Herrera, the fashion designer, and her husband, Reinaldo; Clive Davis, the record executive; James Robinson 3d, the former American Express chairman, and his wife, Linda, and Blaine Trump and her husband, Robert, the real estate developer.

The apartments and houses he designed for them in New York, Palm Beach and Monte Carlo were often seen in the pages of magazines like Architectural Digest, Town and Country and Maison et Jardin in France. In 1991, Mr. Metzger was inducted into the Interior Design Hall of Fame, and he was the recipient of many other interior design awards.

Mr. Metzger is survived by a sister, Elinor Sherman, of Tucson, Ariz.; a brother, James, of Chester, N.Y., and three nieces and a nephew.

12-15-94

54

James Merchant

October 31, 1946 —
August 18, 1994

West Hollywood Resident Jim Merchant succumbed to AIDS related progressive Encephalopathy August 18, 1994 at the Carl Bean Center in Los Angeles. He was 47 years old.

Mr. Merchant was born on October 31, 1946 in Sacramento, California but grew up in Minnesota. He attended the University of Minnesota and Southwest State University where he majored in theater. He spent two years in the U.S. Army Band at Fort Monmouth, New Jersey.

In 1977, while Mr. Merchant was the editor for the Walnut Grove Minnesota Tribune, the community commissioned him to write a play for their first Laura Ingalls Wilder Pageant and Festival. Based on the history of the area and the Little House on the Prairie books, Mr. Merchant penned Fragments of a Dream. The play has completed its 17th season as the hub of Walnut Grove's annual celebration.

Mr. Merchant moved to Los Angeles in 1978. He worked in the art department of Norman Lear's Tandem Productions until 1981. He was subsequently employed by Security Pacific Bank and the administrative offices of the City of West Hollywood. Health concerns forced Mr. Merchant into semiretirement in 1989.

While in Los Angeles, Mr. Merchant performed and was on technical crews for productions at the Globe Theatre, the Park Plaza Theatre and Theatre Theatre among others. He designed the cover for the program at the opening of the famous "Trolley House" in Los Angeles. His original artwork hangs in the state capitol building in Sacramento. In 1991 Mr. Merchant helped found and name "Apocrypha", a limited edition international art magazine. He regularly submitted artwork and writings. A talented miniaturist, Mr. Merchant had begun plans to market a line of Architectural Reproductions when ill health forced him to shelve those plans. A few years before his death, he completed an, as yet, unproduced screenplay. Its current whereabouts are unknown and his family would appreciate any information concerning it.

Mr. Merchant is survived by his parents, Ralph and Gladys Merchant, a brother, Tom Merchant and family, sister Suzanne Senst and family, all of Minnesota.

Memorials for Mr. Merchant were held in August and September in both Los Angeles and Minnesota. Donations may be made in his name to: AIDS Healthcare Foundation, 6255 Sunset Boulevard, 16th Floor, Los Angeles, CA 90028 and Southwest State University Theatre Department, c/o Ralph Merchant, P.O. Box 86, Westbrook, Minnesota 56183

A showing of Mr. Merchant's artwork is tentatively scheduled for mid-January 1995 at "Fleurish" in West Hollywood.

Jack Eugene Moore

May 4, 1955 - June 5, 1995

Jack passed away on Monday, June 5, from AIDS after a brief but comfortable struggle with pneumonia. He was surrounded at hospital bedside by a small army of friends and family who held him as he took his last breath.

Jack grew up in Bedford, Iowa, and Phoenix, Ariz., then moved to San Francisco in 1977. He was last employed at Bank of America, resigning in 1990.

Jack loved sketching and watching classic films. He will certainly be remembered for his diverse taste in music, often to the chagrin of his friends, and his real talent in photography. His photographs of flowers, which he made into cards, will be treasured by all. His most significant interest, however, was his health.

With daily help from his spouse, his doctor and many known and experimental drugs, Jack lived a record four years with CMV. We all feel lucky to have had him so healthy so long.

Jack is survived by five siblings, many close friends and his loving spouse, Bill.

Donations can be made in Jack's name to Project Open Hand. ▼

Lenard Mears Jr.

Lenard Mears Jr., 50, died Thursday, February 2, 1995 at his home in Falls Church, Virginia, of AIDS related complications, according to longtime friend, Duane Howard of Alexandria, Virginia.

Mears was born in Bainbridge, Ga. on Aug. 23, 1944, but grew up in Sneads, Fla., near Tallahassee. Mears graduated with honors from Florida State University in 1966 with a bachelor's degree in mathematics, after attending Chipola Junior College for two years. In 1971, he received a master's degree from Florida State in mathematics.

Mears moved to Arlington, Va., in 1971 and lived in Northern Virginia until his death. He worked for 22 years as a math teacher for the District of Columbia public schools. According to Howard, "He was devoted to his profession and his students. Though sick during the final three months of the previous school year, Lenard managed to finish teaching classes in 1994."

A member of Arlington-Fairfax Jewish Congregation in Arlington and Bet Mishpachah in Washington, Mears's interests included collecting original operatic recordings, biblical history, travel, and reading.

In addition to Howard, Mears is survived by his mother, Maizie Mears of Sneads, Fla.; a sister, Linda Hill of Tallahassee, Fla.; an aunt, Anne Cole of Sneads; and a niece, Lisa Michelle Montgomery of Tallahassee.

A memorial service was held at the Arlington-Fairfax Jewish Congregation on Feb. 3. Mears's remains were buried at Pope Cemetery in Sneads on Feb. 4. A memorial service was also held in Tallahassee at Bevis Funeral Home. Bet Mishpachah will hold a local service on Sunday, Feb. 12, at 5 p.m. at the National City Christian Church, 5 Thomas Circle, NW.

MORRISON—Stephanie J. (Barchard), of Atlanta, GA, Operations Manager for the First American Infusion Services. Services will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 11, at St. Thomas More Church, Decatur, GA. Mrs. Morrison, 33 died Tuesday at Emory University Hospital, after a valiant struggle against cancer. Surviving are her husband Chris, her parents Arnold Barchard and Ellen Scriven, Siblings Kenneth Barchard and Linda Batcheller and nieces Carrie and Colleen Batcheller. Stephanie grew up outside of Melrose. She received her R.N. from Mercy Hospital in ME and her B.S.N. from the University of ME in Orono. She was an active Board member for the AIDS Survival Project of Atlanta as well as a number of nursing associations. The family will receive friends at H.M. Patterson & Son Spring Hill Funeral Home, Friday evening 7 until 9 p.m. In lieu of flowers contributions may be made to one of the following organizations all close to Stephanie's heart, The Atlanta Humane Society, The AIDS Survival Project and/or the Good News Animal Foundation. H.M. Patterson & Son Spring Hill, 1020 Spring St. ATLANTA, GA, has charge of the funeral arrangements for Mrs. Stephanie J. Morrison. 95

Robert Marquis, 67, Architect With a Social Focus, Is Dead

By PAUL GOLDBERGER

Robert Marquis, an architect widely known for his efforts to inject a social consciousness into a profession he frequently criticized as indifferent to human needs, died on Tuesday in San Francisco. He was 67.

The cause was complications following pancreatic surgery, said his partner, Gita Dev.

Mr. Marquis's most famous project was the 1985 transformation of a troubled low-income housing complex in San Francisco, a crime-ridden slab nicknamed the "pink palace," into usable and safe housing for the elderly. Called the Rosa Parks Apartments, the project attracted national attention as a prototype for the reconstruction of failed low-income housing projects.

With his former partner, Claude Stoller, and the landscape architect Lawrence Halprin, he also designed the St. Francis Square housing complex of 1963 in San Francisco, a low-rise grouping of moderate-income cooperative apartments that was nationally recognized as a model for sensitive urban design.

"We believe that architecture is a social art that serves people and their society," Mr. Marquis said in a 1992 lecture explaining his firm's approach. "I am not just referring to functional needs, but also to the users' spiritual and psychological needs, their aspirations."

Mr. Marquis, who maintained offices in San Francisco and New York City, also designed numerous academic buildings, suburban houses and public projects, including the school of music at Stanford University and the modernization of the south terminal of the San Francisco International Airport.

His major work in New York was the Aaron Copland School of Music at Queens College. Completed in 1992, it is a large brick building with

James Dale Mimms

Jan. 1, 1928 - Oct. 27, 1995

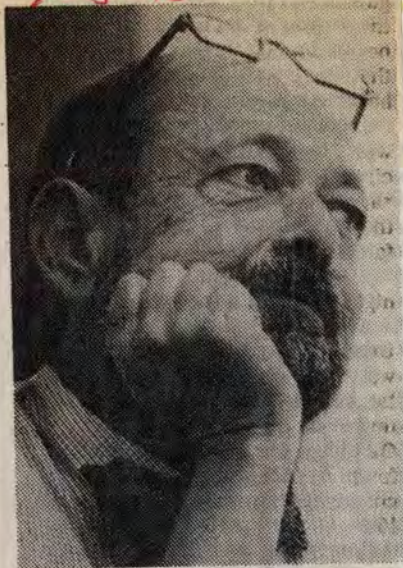

Jim Mimms died after a long illness at Laguna Honda Hospice, nine years after his longtime companion, John Conway.

Jim was born in Texas but had lived in San Francisco many years, at least 22 years in his dream home at 158-160 Eureka Street. He loved his backyard, and it shows still. He was a retired hairdresser, a wonderful painter, great cook and a very gentle man.

Jim will be missed by his sister-in-law, Mary Ann Mimms, and her son, both of Modesto, Calif., and Congo Moore, a longtime friend and tenant. A celebration of Jim's life will be held in his backyard on Saturday, Nov. 11, after 2 p.m. ▼ a glass-roofed, pyramidal atrium and an octagonal hall for chamber music, which Edward Rothstein of The New York Times described as "a handsome and impressive addition to the city's musical life," with sound that had "a sort of aura that can give the music both potency and charm."

Robert Marquis

Early last year Mr. Marquis, distressed at what he believed was an increasing tendency of architects to limit themselves to being "elite object makers," formed an organization intended to re-emphasize the social role of architecture. Made up of sociologists, public officials and housing developers as well as architects, the group has produced books and papers on affordable housing.

Robert Marquis was born in Stuttgart, Germany, in 1927. When he was 10 his family fled Nazi Germany and settled in Los Angeles. He studied architecture at the University of Southern California, and after working for several architects opened his first office in San Francisco in 1953. An active teacher, he served as Thomas Jefferson Professor of Architecture at the University of Virginia in 1980, and in 1991 was chancellor of the College of Fellows of the American Institute of Architects.

His present firm, Marquis Associates, was formed in 1974, and its practice will be continued by his partners, Ms. Dev and Hal Brandes.

He is survived by his wife, Ellen; two daughters, Lisa Marquis Lee of Boulder, Colo., and Tessa, of Milford, Conn.; a son, David, of New York City, and five grandchildren.

John Megna, 42, 'Mockingbird' Star

9-4-95

John Megna, who as a boy starred in Broadway plays and in the movie "To Kill a Mockingbird," died on Monday at Midway Hospital in Los Angeles. He was 42 and lived in Los Angeles.

The cause was AIDS, his family said.

Mr. Megna was born in New York City and graduated from Cornell University in Ithaca, N.Y., where he majored in performing arts.

He also appeared in the Broadway production of "All the Way Home," based on the novel by James Agee about the impact of a father's death on his family.

In the 1962 movie "To Kill a Mockingbird," based on Harper Lee's Pulitzer Prize-winning novel about race relations and justice in the South, he played Dill, a neighbor and friend of Scout, the little girl patterned after the author.

Mr. Megna appeared in many other movies and television shows. He last acted about 10 years ago in "Go Tell the Spartans," a movie starring Burt Lancaster.

He is survived by two sisters, the actress Connie Stevens of Los Angeles and Ava Megna Bonamy of Pasadena, Calif., and a brother, Charles Ingolia of Las Vegas.

One of the photographers, Mark Morrisroe, died of complications of AIDS in 1989, at age 30. A large selection of his powerful and powerfully self-absorbed work forms the centerpiece of the show, taking up the ICA's entire second floor.

Youthful narcissism: a portrait by Tabboo!, on exhibit at the ICA.

"Mark was an outlaw on every front - sexually, socially and artistically," Goldin has said. "He was marked by his dramatic and violent adolescence as a teen-age prostitute with a deep distrust and fierce sense of his uniqueness." He flaunts himself in these photos, displaying his skinny, naked body over and over. In this post-Mapplethorpe age the images aren't instead they're

Kevin Mossier died April 30 of complications from hepatitis B in San Diego. He was 47. A native of Minnesota, Mossier in 1985 founded RSVP Travel Productions Inc., one of the first providers of vacations tailor-made for gay people. He went on to create Sea Spirit Cruise, the first gay-owned and operated cruise line. Mossier is survived by his companion, Jim Hines. 96

Kenny Morgan

Kenneth Michael Morgan, 40, of Laurel, Maryland, died at home of AIDS-related complications on Wednesday, March 1, 1995, according to close friend, Greg Pease of Washington, D.C.

Growing up, Morgan spent many summers in Port of Spain, Trinidad with his paternal grandmother. Morgan was born July 15, 1954 in New York City and attended St. Anthony of Padua High School in Glen Falls, N.Y.

After obtaining his General Equivalency Degree, Morgan enlisted from 1971 to 1975 in the Navy, and served in the Vietnam War. He was also stationed in ports throughout the Mediterranean on the Franklin Delano Roosevelt aircraft carrier.

After serving in the Navy, Morgan attended Jacksonville Community College in Florida. In the late 1970s, Morgan moved back to New York City, where he worked as a disc jockey at several Gay bars. He was a regular DJ for the Nickel Bar and also had frequent guest spots at The Garage.

Morgan moved to Washington, D.C. in 1983 and worked for the Department of the Navy as an administrative assistant. He also worked for several D.C. law firms including Finnegan Henderson Farabow Garrett & Dunner. Morgan retired in 1993.

Morgan's interests, outside of work, included collecting records, entertaining friends, cooking, and frequent trips to Italy.

In addition to Pease, Morgan is survived by his partner of five years, Joseph A. McCarthy of Laurel, Md.; maternal grandmother, Cynthia Haynes of New York City; and close friend, James Ransom of Arlington.

There will be a celebration of Morgan's life at his partner's home in Laurel on March 11 at 2 p.m. Morgan's remains were cremated.

MACALLISTER—In Revere, Dec. 2, Eugene Russell MacAllister, at 32 yrs, after a lengthy illness. Beloved son of Ralph R. and Denise E. (Botticelli) of Revere. Dear brother of Gerald Spears of Revere, Muriel Spears of Provincetown, Mrs. Beverly Dares of Tewksbury, Ralph R. MacAllister Jr., Anthony Paul MacAllister, Ms. Denise E. MacAllister and Samuel MacAllister, all of Revere, Billy Joe MacAllister of Somerville and the late Steven Spears, also lovingly survived by many aunts, uncles, cousins, nieces & nephews. Russell is also survived by his devoted best friend Michael A. Cafferty of Revere, with whom he made his home. Family & friends are invited to attend the Funeral from the Vertuccio Home For Funerals, 773 Broadway, (Rt. 107) REVERE on Wed. at 9 am, followed by a Funeral Mass in the Immaculate Conception Church at 10 o'clock. Visiting hours are Tues. only, 2-4 & 7-9 p.m. Parking is available in the lot left of the Funeral Home. In lieu of flowers remembrances may be made to the J.R.I.-Health Homecare Project, 120 Boylston St., Boston, MA. 02116.

Paul Monette

2-10-95

WEST HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Paul Monette, a Lawrence, Mass., native who wrote of the stigma of being a gay man, has died of complications from AIDS at age 49.

He died at his home Feb. 10, five years after he was first diagnosed as being HIV-positive, said Elisabeth Nonas, a close friend. A private memorial service was held Feb. 11 at Forest Lawn Memorial Park in Hollywood Hills.

In addition to his 1992 memoir, "Becoming a Man: Half a Life Story," which won him a National Book Award, Monette wrote about the agonizing death from AIDS of his lover Roger Horwitz in the 1988 volume "Borrowed Time: An AIDS Memoir."

He also wrote a collection of poems, "Love Alone: Eighteen Elegies for Rog."

Monette described in "Becoming a Man" his early suppression of his homosexuality. He wrote of his struggle for identity in the 1950s and '60s, and survival in a homophobic society.

He studied at Andover and Yale, then publicly acknowledged his homosexuality in 1974, when he met Horwitz.

Monette was strongly influenced by the Stonewall rebellion, which occurred when a crowd of angry gay men and a few lesbians resisted a 1969 police raid on a Greenwich Village gay bar. Then he watched as an interested observer as the gay pride movement began to develop across the country.

Monette received his first critical attention in 1975 with a collection of poetry, "The Carpenter at the Asylum," described as a dead serious comedy of manners. In 1978 he turned to prose fiction with "Taking Care of Mrs. Carroll," a comic tale of two gay men who conspire with an aging actress to inherit considerable riches.

"The Gold Diggers" is about homosexual lovers who let a female friend intrude upon their lives, while "No Witnesses" is a series of poems about the imagined adventures of such famous characters as Isadora Duncan, Noel Coward and Henry David Thoreau.

But it was the torment of AIDS that preoccupied his later writings.

In "Borrowed Time" he offered a poignant examination of Horwitz's struggle and death. The New York Times Book Review said it had "the leanness and urgency of war reporting."

Monette also wrote about AIDS in "Afterlife" in 1990 and "Halfway Home" in 1991.

Shortly before his death, Monette told the Los Angeles Times that he didn't feel he had given up on life because he decided to refuse medication.

"I owe it to all the people I buried to keep fighting. We all have suffering in our lives. The best we can do is help each other and take the world seriously," he said.

Survivors include his father, Paul; a brother, Robert; and his companion, Winston Wilde.

GREG MADDING

On November 8, 1989, one of my closest, dearest and best friends in the world left me. I was 12 years old. He was there the day I was born, and I was there the day he died of AIDS. This wonderful man, I am proud to say, was my daddy, Greg Madding.

Daddy was one of the most caring, most gentle people I've ever met. He had dark hair, glasses, dark brown/hazel eyes, medium height and build. Daddy was also a very funny person, he could make even the most depressing situations uplifting, and always had a special way of making people smile and laugh.

Some of my most fondest memories of my daddy include going to the park, just the two of us; or the time he picked me up after my overnight trip in fifth grade. I always knew without a shadow of a doubt that when Daddy was around, I was safe and secure. He was always there for me. I knew he'd never leave me, or let me get hurt.

As time goes by, all I have left is pictures and memories, and my church which Daddy took me to when I was three years old. I may not remember some things about him well, but I'll never forget him.

Sarah Madding

John Marlier, Emerson College communications professor; at 46

John T. Marlier, a communications professor and former faculty chairman at Emerson College, died Thursday at his home in Dorchester from complications due to AIDS, which he contracted during treatment for hemophilia. He was 46.

JOHN T. MARLIER

and Cecil Rose Ethics in Communications Award.

An active member of the Dorchester community, he was a founder of the Codman Square Community Development Corp., a director of the Dorchester YMCA and a consultant to the Codman Square Health Center. Mr. Marlier also had been a trustee of the Advent School and a director of the New England Hemophilia Association.

MOORADIAN of New York City formerly of Wakefield, June 7, age 44 yrs. Robert A. Beloved son of John & Mary (Chakurmanian) Mooradian of Wakefield. Loving brother of Charlotte Mosto and her husband, John of Salem, NH. Devoted uncle of Robert Mosto and Alison Mosto. Also survived by his dear friends Dr. Patrick Hennessey of NYC and Marcia Spink of Philadelphia, PA. Those wishing to accompany the family in the funeral procession may gather at the funeral services to be conducted in Interment services will be conducted in Bellevue Cemetery, 170 May St., Lawrence at appr. 11 a.m. Please omit flowers and respect the families request to have donations made in Robert's memory to God's Love We Deliver, 166 Avenue of the Americas, NY NY 10013. Visiting hours Thursday 2-4 & 6-9 1969 Grad. Wakefield High School, 1973 Grad. Salem State College with a BS in Business Admin, Summa Cum Laude. Mr. Mooradian was an employee of the Internal Revenue Service since 1973 serving in a distinguished manner. 96

Mark E. Munson died of complications from AIDS at the Chris Brownlie hospice in Los Angeles. He was 40. Known as a "Hoosier/Youper," he was a native of Indiana and Michigan. The horn player and singer performed in the Houston Grand Opera, the Great American Yankee Freedom Band, the Gay Men's Chorus of Los Angeles, and the Brazen Overtures. He is survived by his life partner, R. E. "Brad" Bradbury; brother, James; sister, Sandra Ford; grandmother, Minnie Herman; and cats, Samantha and Buck. 8-5-96

Mr. Marlier was born in Pittsburgh. He was awarded a bachelor's degree from Bucknell University in 1970, a master's degree from West Virginia University in 1973 and a doctorate from Michigan State University in 1976. He taught at Curry College and Northeastern University before joining the faculty of Emerson in 1984.

Mr. Marlier was one of the first to undertake home treatment for hemophilia beginning in the 1950s. He remained vigorously athletic, riding 20 miles a day on his bicycle on arthritic knees, until he became too ill. In 1978, he bicycled solo from Boston to Montreal with clotting factor in his saddlebag. An experienced sailor, he built a 17-foot kayak in his basement last summer.

At Emerson, Mr. Marlier was an associate professor and graduate coordinator of the communications studies division. He served as chairman of the faculty assembly from 1989 to 1991, receiving Emerson's Faculty Service Award in 1992. In 1994, he received Emerson's Helen

William D. Miller

April 29, 1956 - Oct. 22, 1995

Bill Miller passed away October 22 at Shadyside Hospital in Pittsburgh, Penn., of complications from AIDS. He was a resident of San Francisco for nine years until 1994 when he returned to New Bethlehem, Penn., where his family provided love and care throughout the final stages of his illness.

While living in San Francisco, Bill was a popular barback and bartender for over seven years at the Rawhide and for over a year at the Eagle. He had many friends here, and will be remembered for his friendliness and dependability.

In accordance with his wishes, Bill's body was cremated after services in New Bethlehem. Donations may be made to the New Bethlehem Public Library, New Bethlehem, Penn. 16242, or to the Clarion-Forest Visiting Nurses Association Inc., P.O. Box 668, Knox, Penn. 16232. ▼

Timothy P. Meehan

Oct. 28, 1948 - Feb. 10, 1995

Tim, 46, died peacefully at his home in Berkeley of AIDS-related complications.

In his last months, he was cared for by his lover, Joel Wechsler; his good friends, Michael Job, Glenda Rubin, Larry A. b r a h a m s o n , Richard Jukes and Marie Delloue; and others who made up his family of friends.

Tim would "light up a room" with his smile, his wonderful laugh, his energy and Southern charm. He was a sweet, generous man who loved to spend time with his dog Chaucer, putter around his home, travel, and party.

Tim was a licensed clinical social worker with the Department of Mental Health for Alameda County. Previously, he worked in forensics for the state of California. His co-workers and clients will remember a warm, dynamic man who loved to tell stories. He approached his work with gusto, whether chairing a state conference, working on an AIDS committee or advocating for his clients.

A memorial service will be held on Sunday, March 12, at Eden Day Treatment Center in San Leandro. For instructions call Joel at (510) 845-8374.

Good-bye, sweetie. You gave me the strength to be who I am. I love you. - Joel ▼

John Magdaleno

April 10, 1933 - March 7, 1995

John was born on a ranch in Southern California when it was still country and died with dignity after a heroic battle with AIDS at his home in San Francisco, where he had lived since 1968.

John was a handsome and kind man, always willing to help a friend. He was a fine craftsman and antique furniture restorer.

John loved a good party and will join many friends with whom he shared wonderful times. He is survived by his two best friends and caregivers, Pablo Isnard and Richard Allen; his loving family, Dancy, Mary, Dorothy, Margaret, Ruth, Linda, Zeff, Charles, Gilbert and Ray Jr.; friends, Tom, Marian, Kenny, Gabriel, Mora and Ron; and others who will miss him profoundly.

Many thanks to Dr. Jane Bailowitz, Nidia Rosales, the staff at Health Center 1, Visiting Nurses Margaret Walter and Amy Casey, and Dr. Neil Kudler. And special thanks to John's nurse, Alfonso Walker, who gave such tender loving care.

Donations may be made in John's name to: Doris Day Animal League, 227 Massachusetts Ave., Suite 100, P.O. Box 96829, Washington, D.C. 20090-6829. A tribute to John will be held in April. For information call 647-9417.

Jeffrey L. Muzio

March 23, 1962 - March 20, 1995

Jeffrey passed away on March 20 at the University of California San Francisco Medical Center. He was surrounded by his family and friends. Jeffrey touched many people with his charm, humor, wit, compassion and generosity.

A native of San Francisco, Jeffrey attended the University of California

Berkeley and graduated from San Francisco State University in 1984.

Jeffrey was employed at Scott's Seafood Restaurant and the Champagne Exchange at Nordstrom, where he was manager for two years. Jeffrey retired from men's furnishings at Nordstrom in 1994.

Jeffrey is survived by his loving father, Dave Muzio, and stepmother, Peggy Muzio; his mother, Sheila Baldrige; sisters, Shelly, Gina, Jennifer and Julie; and two brothers, Michael and David. Jeffrey will be missed greatly by his dog, Cody. ▼

Richard Mena (aka Eva Davis)

Aug. 18, 1954 - April 11, 1995

Somewhere... After leaving his home early that spring morning,

Richard was beginning his new life at 40 years of age. Left behind was Daniel, his loving friend, companion and lover of 15 inseparable years. He is missed but not missing; gone from our sight but living in the hearts and minds of all his friends and colleagues at UCSF, Kaiser and Presbyterian hospitals. Smiles and joy.

Eva. Ah, Eva! Beauty. Elegance. Style. An easy grace to which many aspire, but few attain. Once seen, the illusion created by Eva was not forgotten. How sad no more Eva. How much sadder - no more performances by Eva. She loved you, Tatiana, beloved mother; Ito and Bijan, adored friends. One day, an encore awaits. Somewhere...

Gone from our sight. That is all. She is just as beautiful and elegant as when the stage light shone upon her, as if emanating from within. Aha! The secret of her illusion revealed! Yes!

The absence is in us, not her. And just when you think she is gone, there are other eyes watching her coming, other voices raising the shout, "Here she comes!" Somewhere... ▼

Timothy Mooney

Timothy Mooney, 43, a former resident of Washington, D.C., died in an auto accident in Chapel Hill, North Carolina on Monday, January 30, 1995, according to his friend, Michael Bucci of Washington, D.C.

Mooney was born Jan. 31, 1951 in Rockville Center, N.Y., near Mitchell Air Force Base on Long Island. He spent some of his childhood in the Washington area, but lived through his teens in Tucson, Ariz.

Mooney graduated from the University of Arizona with a bachelor's degree in history; he served in the Navy for four years and was stationed in Washington, D.C. After his discharge, he continued to live in the area for four more years.

He returned to Arizona and attended the University of Arizona Law School where he graduated and passed the bar examination. During law school, Mooney worked as an aide for former U.S. Sen. Dennis DeConcini (D-Ariz.), according to his father, Joe Mooney Sr. of Tucson.

After he completed law school, Mooney began a nine year career with the U.S. Department of Justice as an attorney.

Mooney left the Department of Justice to pursue a degree in archaeology at the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill. He completed a master's degree and was preparing for his doctorate.

Bucci said that Mooney "will be sadly missed by his friends in the Washington area."

In addition to Bucci, Mooney is survived by his parents, Phyllis and Joe Mooney of Tucson; sisters, Stephanie Paton of Pittsburgh, Pa.; and Meg Mooney of Hanover, N.H.; and brother, Joe Mooney Jr. of Tucson.

A memorial service will be held at St. Matthew's Cathedral at 1725 Rhode Island Ave., NW, on May 7 at 5:30 p.m. His remains were cremated, with a portion buried in the East Lawn Cemetery in Tucson and the rest scattered at an archaeological excavation site in Mississippi where Mooney had been working.

Contributions in Mooney's name may be made to the Whitman-Walker Clinic, 1407 S St., NW, Washington, DC 20009.

John M. Miles

May 22, 1951 - May 13, 1995

John departed peacefully at his home on Saturday evening, May 13, ending a very lengthy and courageous battle with AIDS. Those present included his closest friend of 15 years and roommate, David Stoll, and his longtime friends, Butch Freeman and Ron Henies.

A native of Jessup, Georgia,

John enjoyed a lifelong career in the hospitality industry. He arrived in San Francisco in 1977, and worked at the very popular and now defunct Balcony bar on Upper Market until 1982.

He then joined the staff of the San Francisco Eagle bar. For more than 10 years, he was the main bartender at the center bar, serving customers both inside and outside and becoming a legendary "fixture" in the process.

John's greatest efforts were for the AIDS Emergency Fund, Project Open Hand and the Shanti Project. He also supported World Vision Inc., an organization committed to assisting underprivileged children in Third World countries.

John is survived by his parents, Nelda and Rufus ("R.P.") Miles; sisters, Susan and Jean; aunts, Geneva and Dot; and several nieces and nephews. Funeral and memorial services had not been scheduled as of this writing.

Anyone wishing to remember John may do so by making a contribution in his name to the charity of their choice. Also, his friends and family want to express their heartfelt gratitude to Harriet Hayes and Ann Shay for their kindly care over many months. ▼

Marc Anthony Madary

June 3, 1956 - March 31, 1995

Marc passed away peacefully on Friday, March 31, in the hospice wing at Kaiser. He fought a courageous struggle for five years against an AIDS brain disease of PML.

Twenty-one years ago, Marc hitchhiked from Colorado to San Francisco in search of a new and guilt-free life. A high school dropout, this handsome youth with sunny blond hair and dancing blue eyes met Les Balmain, a waiter, at the Mint. It was an instant match and the beginning of a lasting, ever-growing union of love.

In 1980, Marc found his vocation by going to work for the Bank of America. With 10 years of loyal and determined service, Marc advanced to operations manager, where he endeared himself to many employees.

Marc is survived by his companion of 21 years, Les Balmain; best friend, Michael Polansky; and brother and sister-in-law, Monty and Debbie Madary from Grand Junction, Colorado.

A gathering to celebrate Marc's life will take place on Sunday, April 23, 2-5 p.m., at 70 Beaver Street, SF. For info please call Les at 282-9126 or Michael at 252-0333.

Donations in memory of Marc may be made to the AIDS Memorial Grove. ▼

Tom Mapp

Aug. 28, 1947 - Feb. 18, 1995

Tom loved life, and people loved being around Tom. He had a way of making his friends feel seen and appreciated. His was a large and playful spirit. He could be found joyfully hiking through the Marin Headlands or bicycling all over the city. He loved colorful clothes. Said one of his friends,

"Tom was one of the few people who could convincingly wear rainbow tie-dye in the '90s." Those who knew him called him "Shine."

Tom transformed an unloving childhood into a life overflowing with friends, community and love. Together with Charlie, his life partner, Tom built a warm and nurturing home.

Tom was a deeply spiritual man. He could experience the divine in other people, in dreams and in nature. To those who long to see Tom again, look to a flower or to your dreams or to the eyes of your friends, for Tom is truly everywhere now. He will shine forever in the hearts of all who knew him.

A memorial celebration will be held April 1 at 12:15 p.m., with a reception at 2:15 p.m., at the Unitarian Center, 1187 Franklin Blvd. (at Geary), in San Francisco. ▼

Alton Meister, 72, a Biochemist Who Advanced AIDS Research

By ROBERT McG. THOMAS Jr.

Alton Meister, a biochemist whose research became part of the battle against AIDS and other diseases, died on Thursday at the Mediplex rehabilitation center in Stamford, Conn. He was 72.

His wife said the cause was the combined complications of a stroke he suffered last year in New Zealand and infections he picked up during interim treatment at New York Hospital, where her husband had been chief biochemist for many years.

Dr. Meister graduated from Harvard and received his medical degree from Cornell Medical College in New York, and served as chairman of the college's biochemistry department for 35 years.

By the time he joined Cornell in 1957, Dr. Meister, who began his research at the National Institutes of Health in 1945 and later spent a year at Tufts University, had already established a lasting reputation. His "Biochemistry of Amino Acids," a two-volume work published in 1957, is still considered the standard in its field.

In the arcane world of science, Dr. Meister was something of an anomaly, a specialist in pure science with a flair for the practical applications of his work.

Like a quarryman who designs cathedrals in his head, Dr. Meister had a feel for implications, most notably his suspicion that glutathione, an amino acid compound whose underlying chemistry he had studied thoroughly, could play an important role in the body's immune system.

"He had an instinct," is the way Dr. Herbert Tabor, a laboratory chief at the National Institutes for Health, put it yesterday.

Dr. Meister's instinct was partly confirmed when it was discovered that people infected with the AIDS virus have reduced levels of glutathione, a ubiquitous compound of three amino acids that Dr. Meister found protects cells from oxidation by absorbing oxygen.

Dr. Alton Meister

As a result, Dr. Meister helped transform glutathione into a drug that has shown some initial promise of reducing the growth of the AIDS virus in laboratory tests. Clinical trials are continuing, but not even Dr. Meister believed that the key to AIDS would be as simple as replacing depleted supplies of glutathione.

"AIDS is simply not the result of glutathione deficiency," he said when the laboratory findings were reported in 1991.

Whatever the results of that particular line of attack, Dr. Meister's research into glutathione has already broadened science's understanding of the immune system.

He is survived by his wife, Leonora, of Woodbury, Conn.; two sons, Jonathan, of Philadelphia, and Kenneth, of Wilton, Conn., five grandchildren and a sister, Dr. Anna Burton of Fort Lee, N.J.

Donald March, 53, Television Producer

5-3-95
Donald March, a television producer and former senior vice president at HBO, died on Wednesday at his home in Los Angeles. He was 53.

His family said the cause of death was complications from AIDS.

Mr. March, a native of the Bronx, graduated from Fordham University in 1962. He had worked for the Robert Stigwood production organization and ABC before joining CBS as vice president for movies for television in 1977. He had also served as president of CBS theatrical films. He oversaw such pictures as "Backroad," starring Sally Field and Tommy Lee Jones, and "Table for Five," with Jon Voight.

In 1984, he became senior vice president of HBO Premiere Films. His production credits for HBO include "Clint and Nadine" with Andy Garcia, Ellen Barkin and Morgan Freeman

As an independent producer, Mr. March received two Emmy nominations for the NBC mini-series "Billionaire Boys Club" and the ABC movie "David," starring Bernadette Peters.

He is survived by his brother, Dr. Charles March of Los Angeles.

William Mulligan, Garden Writer, 52

5-3-95
William C. Mulligan, a gardening writer who was an expert on the use of lattices to enhance outdoor spaces, died on Wednesday at Twelve Oaks Hospital in Houston. He was 52 and had moved to Houston from Manhattan in 1992.

The cause was complications from AIDS, said his companion and frequent writing collaborator, Elvin McDonald of Houston.

Mr. Mulligan put the spotlight on a long-neglected building block of the outdoor garden. For centuries, gardeners had used lattices and trellises to frame a distant view or give the illusion of space beyond an unsightly wall or obstruction. But Mr. Mulligan was the first American to concentrate exclusively on these elements of ornamentation.

Mr. Mulligan recently completed his eighth gardening book, "The Lattice Gardener." It is to be released by Macmillan in October.

Other recent garden books he wrote include "The Adventurous Gardener's Sourcebook of Rare and Unusual Plants" (Simon & Schuster, 1993) and two volumes of "The Complete Guide to North American Gardens" (Little, Brown, 1991).

Besides Mr. McDonald, Mr. Mulligan is survived by his mother, Eleanor, and a brother, Thomas F., both of Ringwood, N.J.

Christian Mueller

September 8, 1995

On September 8, 24-year-old Christian Mueller of Berlin, Germany,

International Mr. Deaf Leather 1993-1994, passed away peacefully, surrounded by his family and friends. With the help of his three close friends, Gunter, Rachid and Sebastian, he had started a deaf leather community network throughout Europe, which led to the first Mr. Deaf Leather Europe competition, which was held in Berlin last June. He will be missed by his friends in America as well as all over the world. ▼

MALLEY - Of Brookline, William C. Jr., Nov. 5, 1995, after a long and courageous battle with AIDS. Employee of Nyrnex. William is survived by his father William C. Malley and his dear friend Diane Camody of Wellesley, 2 brothers Robert L. of Franklin, MA, Laurence E. of Lowell, MA and a sister Cynthia M. Probert of Glen Rock, NJ. He was also the son of the late Dorothy (Gallagher) Malley. A Funeral Mass of Christian Burial will be celebrated on Thursday, Nov. 9, 1995 at 10 a.m. in the Jesuit Urban Center, 775 Harrison Ave., Boston. Relatives and friends are invited to attend. Visiting hours Wednesday, Nov. 8, from 5 to 8 p.m. in the Celestial Chapel of J.S. Waterman and Sons-Eastman-Waring, 495 Commonwealth Ave., BOSTON (Across from the MBTA Kenmore Station) MA. In lieu of flowers donations in William's memory may be made to the Justice Resource Institute Home Health Care Project, 120 Boylston St., Boston, MA 02116. Burial in St. Marys Cemetery, Randolph, MA

Jean-Louis Morin, Dancer, Dies at 42

25
Jean-Louis Morin, a former principal dancer with the Martha Graham Dance Company and a choreographer, died on May 24 at Montreal General Hospital in Montreal. He was 42 and lived in Montreal.

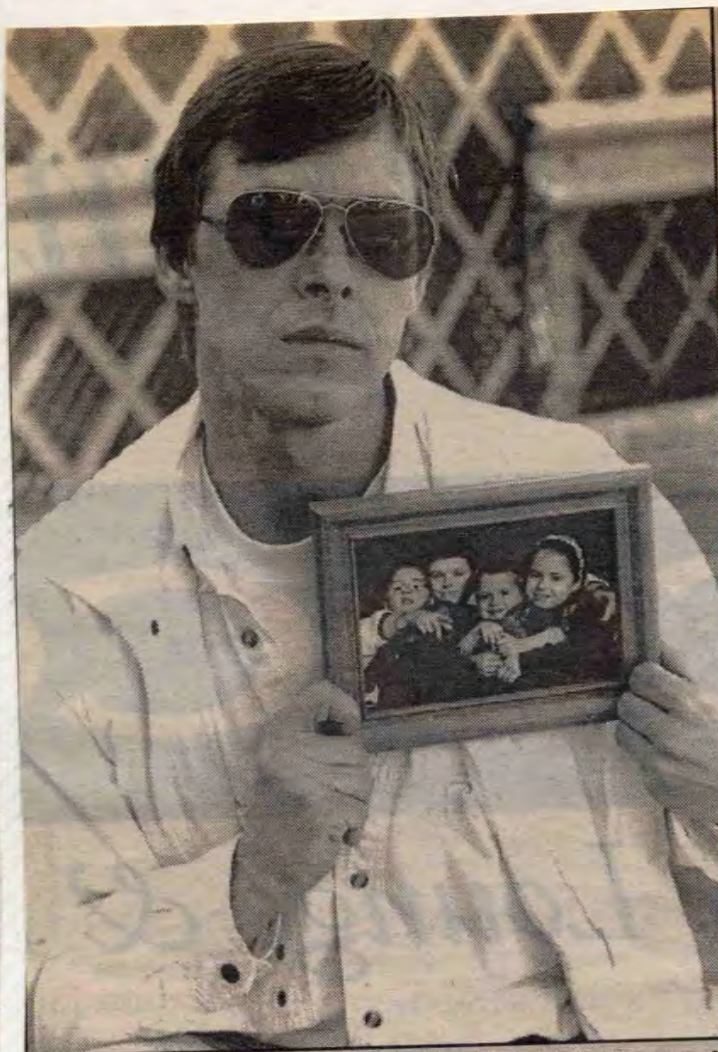

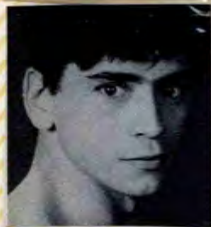

The cause was AIDS, said Doney Meris, a friend.

Mr. Morin trained at the Groupe de la Place Royale and with the National Ballet of Canada and joined the London Contemporary Dance Theater in 1974. He was a soloist with the Toronto Dance Theater in 1977 and with the Louis Falco Dance Company in New York City in 1978 and 1979. He choreographed his first dances in the late 1970's.

Mr. Morin performed with the Graham company from 1979 to 1986, in dances that included "Frescos," "Embattled Garden" and "Deaths and Entrances." He also starred in "Narcissus," a film directed by Norman McLaren and choreographed by Fernand Nault. In New York City, he appeared with the Martha Clarke Theater Group and Elisa Monte. He performed solo concerts in Montreal, and also taught at several studios there through 1993.

Mr. Morin was also a painter and sculptor, whose works were shown in galleries in New York City, Montreal and Toronto.

He is survived by his mother, Rachele Coté-Dalzell, of Montreal.

James Mason holds in his hand a picture of the nieces and nephews for whom he is battling the state Department of Social Services for custody.

Richard Moreno died Aug. 26 of complications from AIDS in Los Angeles. He was 44. After graduation from Boalt School of Law in 1977, Moreno moved to Washington, D.C., to work for the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. He moved to Los Angeles in 1982 to work in the Labor Relations department of ABC. In 1986, he moved to the Human Resources department of Paramount Pictures, where he served as vice president for legal services. Moreno is survived by his father, Marcos; brother, Mark; and sister, Maria.

Kids caught in the middle

DSS refuses gay man custody of dead sister's children

by Loren King

James Mason of Taunton lost his sister, Carol Mason, 35, to AIDS on December 10, 1993. From that day on, he has been embroiled in a bureaucratic battle with the Department of Social Services (DSS) for custody of two of his sister's four children that is so filled with contradictions, confusion and roundabout logic that it reads like a page from "Catch-22" or "Alice in Wonderland."

Mason, 34, claims one of the

continued on page 4

reasons DSS is denying him not just custody of the two young boys but even the right to know where the children are, is because he is gay. Stuart, 6, and Shamus, 4, remain in a foster home somewhere in the state as Mason struggles through a morass of red tape in an effort to be named their legal guardian by DSS.

"I can't write, I can't call. This has been a nightmare," James Mason, a counselor for mentally ill adults at a group residence in Boston, says. "But I'm not giving up." He says he has so far spent $8,000 for lawyers, grieving and parenting classes to satisfy DSS requirements, psychological testing and on numerous telephone calls and certified letters over the past 18 months.

Carol Mason's daughter Stacey, 10, last week was finally placed with her grandmother, James Mason's mother, who lives in New Bedford, 20 minutes away from Mason's home in Taunton. Stevie, 13, the eldest child, is also expected to be placed in the custody of his grandmother, although Stevie right now remains in a residential facility in Rutland, said Mason. By having two of Carol's children living with their grandmother and two with their uncle, Mason said the plan was for the children to remain close to and visit one another.

Despite Chapter 119 of the state's general laws, which states that children who need care shall be placed with family members first, Mason, an uncle who has been close to the children since their birth, is being treated with such arbitrary judgment by DSS that one cannot help but question the agency's motives, says Margo Nash, Mason's lawyer.

Ken J. Morrison

Ken J. Morrison, 30, of Boston, died peacefully at Mt. Auburn Hospital on March 24, surrounded by close friends and family. The cause of death was AIDS-related pneumonia. 95

Born in Lewiston, Maine, May 6, 1964, Ken was the first in his family to graduate from high school. He managed restaurants for the McDonalds Corporation, attended the University of Michigan, and eventually settled in Boston. Ken attended Mansfield Beauty School, became a colorist and hair designer, and started a career that brought him to several department store salons in the Boston area, as well as travel all over the world as an artistic director for MEI Salons. He last worked at the Lord & Taylor Salon in Boston for Premier Salons.

Ken was diagnosed with AIDS in 1991. He was living with CMV retinitis and its gradual theft of vision, other HIV related illnesses, and the daily routines of IV medication for over four years. All the while, Ken kept up an active life. He worked. He continued to build his record collection and mix his dance music. He made friends in cyberspace. He traveled to Cancun, London, DC, San Francisco, Australia, Montreal, Panama. He was out in the sun at Ogunquit, Hawaii, Provincetown, even the RamRod Pride Day float, working on his all-over tan. Ken did not want to go softly into the night; he was going to go kicking, and that's what he did. He and his partner, Todd Williams of Boston, traveled to Disney World two months ago. Though he was mostly confined to a wheelchair, Ken loved it and still managed to hit the dance floors.

Ken was bold and impatient, yet tender and fiercely loyal to those that mattered to him. He had an intelligence that would startle his friends and he was quickly adopted by those who knew him. He was a wonderful example of what it means to be gay and to be proud. Ken touched many lives, even if briefly, indelibly. For his love of life, not his tragedy, may we remember him.

He is survived by his partner, Todd Williams and his family, David and Margery Williams of Dunstable and Jennifer Davis of Lowell; his parents, Gilbert and Patricia Morrison of Lewiston, Maine; three siblings, James Morrison of Ayer, Kelley Morrison of Lewiston, ME, and Sean Morrison of Biddeford, ME.

Memorial services were held March 31 in Boston and April 1 in Lewiston, ME.

STEVEN JEFFREY MYERS

10-18-95
This is a picture of Steve with his Daddy among the pumpkins, and now it is another Halloween without him. He loved this season more than any other, and spent the prior two months designing and hand-making a new and more spectacular costume. His home was always donned with pumpkins, ghosts, witches and black cats. If he wasn't hosting the most fabulous party, he was winning the contests at someone else's. I know if there really is a Great Pumpkin, he has found Steve. And if a black cat crosses your path on Halloween night with a sparkle in his eye and an ear-to-ear grin, his name is probably

Steven J. Myers and his father

Steven. His family and his cat really miss him, and we hope they have a lot of sequins in heaven.

Paige Norwood

Douglas Forrest Morris

June 13, 1953 - May 26, 1995

Born in Wilmington, Delaware, Douglas Forrest Morris is survived by his lover of 15 years, Michael Ritz, his father James H. Morris, mother Eleanor, and in order, Pamela, James II, Steven, Jeffrey, and Jennifer.

Douglas always had a beautiful smile, strength, love of life, and great pride instilled from a great loving family. He had a courage that went through his soul to mine. His loss will be felt by his many friends, from California to Denver to Florida.

Special thanks to Hospice by the Bay, Lisa Capaldini, Naomi, and the great people who work with her - Robert and Tom, you helped us through it all.

A celebration of Douglas' life will be held at Planter

Nursery, 3817 24th St., on June 4 from noon until 2 p.m. Phone (415) 648-4214 for more information. Donations may be made in Douglas' name to Hospice by the Bay.

I will miss you my handsome prince./ I know we will meet again./ My heart is broken but your spirit and love will keep me going./ Fear not that ye have died for naught./ the torch ye threw to us we caught./ ten million hands will hold it high./ and freedom's light shall never die! ▼

Mark A. Montoya

July 17, 1954 - June 15, 1995

Mark was born in Chino, Calif., and lived voluptuously and happily in the greater Los Angeles area for most of his life. In 1991, he moved to the San Francisco Bay Area with his close friend, Wayne Heath, eventually making their home in Redwood City.

Mark had a varied career, but his best job was as a flight attendant for Continental Airlines. His favorite destination was Tahiti.

Mark is survived by family in the Chino area; his goddaughter, Ashley Montoya Fischer; dear friend, brother and companion, Wayne Heath; his spouse, Chris; loving pets, Lucky, Katie and Beaumont; and a myriad of friends.

A special "thank you" to everyone who helped Mark recently. He truly appreciated everything anyone did for him.

A memorial was held at his home June 24. Those interested in working on a quilt panel for the NAMES Project in Mark's memory, please call Mark Standard at (415) 621-2282.

Russell F. Mulligan

Russell F. Mulligan, a chief ultrasound technician at University Hospital, died Oct. 19 from AIDS-related complications. He was 34. <sup>95</sup>

Born in Attleboro, Mulligan graduated from King Phillip High School. He earned a bachelor's degree from Northeastern University in 1982.

For the past decade, Mulligan had worked as chief ultrasound technician at University Hospital. Before that, he spent several years as a radiology technician at Boston City Hospital.

He had lived in Roslindale for the past five years with his partner, Dr. Thomas Bennett. He also leaves his mother, Jean A. Sawyer, and stepfather, Douglas Sawyer, a sister Kelly Farren, and his grandparents, Everett and Ruth Skinner, all of Plainville.

A memorial service was held in the Sperry & McHoul Funeral Home in North Attleboro.

Bradley Allen Michael

Bradley Allen Michael of Somerville died Oct. 27. He was 42. Born in Red Lion, PA, and formerly of Berkeley, Calif., Brad graduated from York College with a Bachelor of Science degree in psychology.

Brad taught Russian ballet at the Ana Roje School of Ballet in Boston, where he was both loved and respected by faculty and students. He graduated from and later worked at the Massage Institute of New England, in Cambridge. He was a gifted, intuitive massage therapist and a member of the American Massage Therapy Association.

Brad was a knowledgeable, avid and talented gardener, and a sensitive and intense man. His dance, poetry, humor and art enriched and touched many lives, and he is survived by many who loved him dearly. After a brief final illness, Brad died of AIDS-related complications at his home.

A memorial service will be held Saturday, Nov. 4, from 5-7 p.m. at the Long Home for Funerals, 1979 Mass. Ave. (at Beech Street), one block from the Porter Square Red Line MBTA stop. Parking is available at the Beech Street parking lot entrance. Donations in his memory may be made to the Copley Square Ballet, 667 Boylston Street, Boston, MA 02116.

D'Wayne Gilmore-Monge

March 4, 1960 - Oct. 14, 1995

After celebrating his partner's birthday, D'Wayne passed away Saturday morning, Oct. 14, at his home in Pacifica. We are all saddened by his death as well as relieved to know D'Wayne is no longer in pain.

D'Wayne leaves behind his lover, Brian; two children, Duke and T.J.; his parents, Beverly and Bill Smith; a brother and sister-in-law, Bret and Mary Smith; two cousins and their spouses, Melody and Morris Holland and Susan and Alan Schweter; not to mention all those people D'Wayne has touched the hearts of.

May he always be remembered for his contributions to gay society. Those include Castro Computers and CCBA, among others.

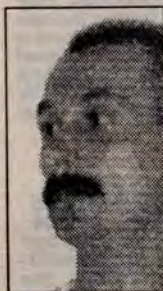

Funeral arrangements have been set for Thursday, Oct. 19, at St. Aidan's, 101 Gold Mine Dr. (at Diamond Heights Blvd.), 5 p.m. All are welcome.

To my love D'Wayne/Know that you are missed by many/You will always be in our hearts and our thoughts/I love you and I miss you - Brian ▼

Dick W. Mostert

June 3, 1948 - May 23, 1995

On May 23 of this year, my dear friend, Dick Mostert of Amsterdam, passed away very suddenly after a short illness. His untimely death has had a great effect on his family and many friends.

Dick was a very caring, loving man, who enjoyed life (and his motorcycle, too). He was loved by many friends, who were family to him.

He was at home, surrounded by his friends, at the time of his death and did not suffer.

Dick is survived by his family in Rotterdam and friends, especially Jaap Van Der Wal of Amsterdam, The Netherlands.

A private Buddhist memorial, in the tradition of Nichiren Shoshu, will be held in the near future for Dick. Sleep in peace, my Dutch angel. - Marc ▼

Rick Mosher

Frederick G. Mosher, 42, media coordinator for the Whitman-Walker Clinic, died Monday, October 9, 1995 at the Washington Hospital Center from complications associated with AIDS, according to his partner of four years, Michael Brendan Smith of D.C.

A native of Queens, N.Y., he was born Feb. 16, 1953; graduated from Islip (N.Y.) High School in 1971; and attended West Virginia University in Morgantown, earning a bachelor's degree in English.

Mosher then began a 17 year career in broadcasting, working as a disc jockey and later a news announcer at radio stations in Morgantown and Laconia, N.H. Mosher served as news director at WROV radio in Roanoke, Va. He was the 1982 recipient of the Virginia United Press International award for the best radio documentary, a program on Vietnam veterans.

Mosher switched to television news in 1982, working at WDBJ-TV, a CBS affiliate in Roanoke. In 1990, Mosher won the Virginia Association of Broadcasters' Award for the television documentary of the year, a program on substance abuse. For eight years, Mosher anchored the 11 p.m. news at WDBJ, consistently garnering the highest viewership among local stations, according to Smith.

In 1992, Mosher moved to D.C. to be closer to Smith. He joined the Whitman-Walker Clinic as media coordinator in 1993, serving as primary press contact, coordinating press conferences and interviews as well as writing press materials, according to his coworker James Millner.

"Rick was a consummate professional and one of my best friends," said Marcia Levy, the Clinic's director of communications. "He had extraordinary intelligence, creativity, expertise, and a sense of humor...He's one of the irreplaceables."

Mosher had an encyclopedic knowledge of rock and roll music. He enjoyed playing the piano, traveling, cooking, and belonged to the Potomac Motorcycle Club.

Mosher is also survived by his parents, Frederick T. and Eileen A. Mosher of Murrells Inlet, S.C.; two brothers, Robert W. of San Francisco, and William C. of Shirley, N.Y.; and a sister, Jean Madonia of Patchogue, N.Y.

MARK V. MOON

6-19-95

Mark V. Moon, 41

Newspaper advertising executive

Mark V. Moon, former advertising sales director of the Boston Business Journal, died of complications from AIDS Monday in Hermann Hospital in Houston. He was 41.

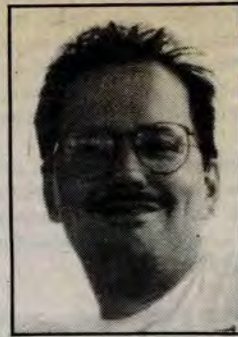

Mr. Moon was born in Houston and graduated from the University of Texas. He was employed by the Boston Business Journal from 1981 to 1989. More recently, he was travel advertising coordinator at the Houston Chronicle.

He leaves his parents, Jack and Josephine (Viviano) of Pasadena, Texas; two brothers, Merle and Gregory, both of Pasadena, Texas; and three sisters, Marsha Wilson of Pasadena, Texas, Nancy Owens of Humble, Texas, and Joan Vauthrin of Katy, Tex.

MARTIN—Of Boston, Dec. 8, 1995. Joseph, 36 years. Lovingly survived by his parents, Joseph and Rose (Veiga) Martin of Lowell, 1 Joseph and Rose of New Hampshire, many brother Kenneth and several dear aunts, uncles and cousins and several dear friends. A Service of Thanksgiving and Tribute will be held Wednesday Dec. 13 at 11 a.m. in the Chapel of J.S. Waterman and Sons-Eastman-Waring, 495 Commonwealth Avenue, BOSTON (at intersection of Beacon St. across from Kenmore MBTA Station) St. Relatives and friends are invited. Visiting hours will be Tuesday from 2-4 and 7-9 p.m. at the funeral home. Donations in Joseph's memory may be made to the AIDS Action Committee, 131 Clarendon St. Boston 02116 or the Boston Living Center, 29 Stanhope St. Boston 02116. Late employee of Harvard Community Health Plan, Boston.

Jimmy Mosley

James L. Mosley, 32, formerly of Washington, D.C., died Wednesday, June 28, 1995 at his home in Sarasota, Florida of AIDS related complications, according to his partner of five years, Ray Kempksi also of Sarasota.

Mosley was born Oct. 20, 1962 in Covington, Ky., where he grew up and graduated from high school. Mosley also attended several colleges.

Mosley served in the U.S. Army for four years and was a decorated medic for his work in Grenada. In 1986, Mosley moved to the Washington area where he worked for two travel agencies.

In 1991, Mosley moved to Sarasota and opened up his own travel agency, Haina Group, Inc., with Kempksi.

Kempksi and Mosley's friend, Roger Bentley, said Mosley was a musical talent who received college scholarships for his voice.

"His voice had an angelic quality," said Bentley.

In addition to Kempski, Mosley is survived by his parents, Irene and James Mosley of Florence, Ky; four sisters, Melinda Hubbard; Marsha Irwin; Cindy Anderson; all of Burlington, Ky.; and Linda Christman of Florence, Ky.; four brothers, John Mosley of Claryville, Ky.; David Mosley of St. Bernard, Ohio; Gerald Mosley of Seymour, Ind.; Joseph Mosley of Mill, Ky.; and friend, Roger Bentley of Silver Spring, Md.

A requiem mass was held at St. Boniface Episcopal Church in Sarasota on July 1, and his remains were interred in the church's columbarium.

ROY MARCHAND

January 4, 1954 — September 4, 1995

Good-bye my friends, my life has passed.
I loved you all to the very last.
Cry not for me, but courage take.
Love each other, for my sake.
For those you love don't go away.
They walk beside you
Every day.

Still walking with you Roy ...

Pablo Martinez

September 15, 1995

On September 15, Pablo Martinez died from AIDS-related illness just after his 41st birthday. It is difficult to imagine life without him.

Pablo was a gentle and loving person, but also strong and forthright in the causes he espoused. He was particularly proud of his role in pressing without letup the establishing of a union at St. Luke's Hospital, where he worked in the Medical Records Department. All of his co-workers were not only fond of him but also respected him for the stands he took on their behalf.

Pablo's gentleness belied the strength of his ethical and moral beliefs. There was always the handshake of camaraderie after the battles were over.

Pablo Martinez was a gentleman in every sense of that word. There was never a coarse or vulgar word simply because he never maintained such thoughts. Under the strongest pressure, he was and remained the gentleman.

Pablo was a loving person, both in his work situations as well as in his private life. He leaves behind a legacy of caring and love. None of us will see his likes again. Without exaggeration he leaves behind a void that never can be filled.

Rest in peace, our lover, companion and friend. ▼

David Mazer

May 6, 1948 - Oct. 3, 1995

A native of Connecticut, David relocated to San Francisco after a stay in Europe and a brief stint as a mail carrier in Hollywood. At the first Castro Street Fair, he sold cupcakes to benefit Bay Area Gay Liberation (BAGL), a precursor of the Harvey Milk Democratic Club. He also served in the collective that organized and published the catalog for Lavender U., the Harvey Milk Institute of its day.

In the '80s David moved south to assist his parents in the management of an optical frame distributorship. Since 1990 David divided his time between San Clemente and London to be with his companion, an English solicitor.

Diagnosed HIV positive in 1988, he lived successfully with AIDS and managed to battle his KS into remission last spring. Another recent fight involved his refuting the charges of an anti-gay right-wing demonstrator who alleged that David spit HIV virus into his eye at an Orange County Clinton rally in 1992.

David died peacefully in a Laurel Canyon residence last week. He was interred beside his parents in Newport Beach after his funeral. David leaves behind his companion, David Holben; a younger sister and brother, Natalie and Neil; several nieces and nephews; and friends both in the city and Southern California. ▼

Kenn Mancuso

Dec. 31, 1945 - Sept. 20, 1995

Kenneth P. Mancuso died peacefully at his home in San Francisco of AIDS-related complications. He was surrounded by his lover, Rick; close friends, Ken and Linda; brother, Russ; sister-in-law, Cathy; and his cat, Ethel.

Kenn was born and raised in Dunkirk, N.Y., and moved to Arizona to attend Arizona State University.

He spent 1970 in San Francisco doing community service as a conscientious objector against the Vietnam War, and bartended at The Lion. In 1971 he returned to Phoenix to complete his BS in political science.

Kenn moved to D.C. in 1989, where he was affiliated with Tracks nightclub. He settled in San Francisco in 1992. He worked briefly at Project Open Hand, then joined the American Society on Aging as their conference program manager.

Kenn is survived by his lover of nine years, Rick Vaughan; his sisters, Audrey and Louise; brothers, Russ and Ron; and many nieces, nephews and friends. Contributions in his memory can be made to Project Open Hand. A memorial service will be held October 22, 11 a.m., in the Fuchsia Dell, AIDS Memorial Grove, Golden Gate Park. An open house will follow. For details call 863-7827. ▼

Robert F. Mocata, Jr.

February 16, 1958 - May 13, 1995

Robert F. Mocata Jr. of Spokane, Washington, formerly of San Francisco, passed away May 13. He was born on February 16, 1958, in Shreveport, Louisiana. Employed by the State Bar of California for seven years, Robert lived on Henry Street for many years and considered the Castro his home.

He once said, "Some of the best memories I've had in life were the street fairs in the Castro, where your friends are out, everyone is having fun, the sun is setting, and there is that special feeling in the air - it doesn't get much better than that." As his illness progressed, he moved to Spokane to be near family.

Robert is survived by his father Robert F. Mocata Sr. of Spokane, a brother Kevin (Amy) Mocata, grandmothers Lucy Mocata of Spokane and Grace Storti of Shreveport, and extended family in San Francisco, Spokane, and Shreveport.

A memorial service was held May 16 at St. Patrick's Catholic Church in Spokane. Memorials may be made to Hospice of Spokane, Box 2215, Spokane, WA 99210-2215, or Spokane AIDS Network, W. 1613 Gardner, Spokane, WA 99201. ▼

Charles Miller, 44, Editor

95

Charles Miller, editor at large and former managing editor of Artforum magazine in New York City, died on July 12 at Beth Israel Medical Center in Manhattan. He was 44, and lived in Greenwich Village and East Hampton, L.I.

The cause was AIDS, said his companion, Gregory M. Griffin.

Mr. Miller was born in 1951 in Pottsville, Pa. He received a bachelor of arts degree from Elizabethtown College in 1972, a master of arts from Middlebury College in 1973 and, in 1979, a Ph.D. in German studies from Indiana University. In the early 1980's he taught German and German literature at Ohio State University in Columbus and pursued post-doctoral work in Berlin.

In 1983, after failing to receive tenure at Ohio State, Mr. Miller decided to go into art criticism. He took a job as the editor of Dialogue, a nonprofit arts journal in Columbus, and left in 1986 to become managing editor of Artforum, the journal of contemporary art, in New York City.

He also published reviews and articles, in Artforum, The New Art Examiner and Art Criticism, and taught art history at the School of Visual Arts. He became editor at large of Artforum in 1992.

In addition to Mr. Griffin, Mr. Miller is survived by his mother, Rhuba H. Thissen of Pine Grove, Pa.; his father and stepmother, Vincent and Rene Miller of Friedensburg, Pa., and his sister, Christine Miller Onderdonk of Saugerties, N.Y.

Thomas Martin Mischke, Ph.D.

July 25, 1995

Thomas (Tom) Martin Mischke, age 45, died peacefully in his Foster City home on Tuesday, July 25, 1995, of AIDS-related complications. A California resident since 1973, Tom had been a Foster City resident since 1987. He lived temporarily in the Washington, D.C. area between 1994 and 1995.

Tom was born in Albuquerque, New Mexico, and grew up in Denver, Colorado. He received his Ph.D. in analytical chemistry from the University of California at Riverside in 1979. From 1979 to 1990, Tom was employed by the California Department of Food and Agriculture in Sacramento. From 1990 until his retirement in 1993, he was employed by the California Department of Health Services in Berkeley.

Tom is survived by his partner, Gerald N. McGirl, Foster City; a brother, Dr. Charles F. Mischke, Beltsville, MD; two nephews, Jim and John Mischke. Survivors also include many loving friends and relatives. All who knew Tom will miss his smiling face, his sense of humor, his genius, and his constant caring for others.

A funeral mass will be held Saturday, August 12, at St. Luke's Catholic Church, 1111 Beach Park Blvd. (at Foster City Blvd.), Foster City, California. There will also be a Celebration of Life gathering at Gerry and Tom's home on Saturday, August 19, 1995. Memorial contributions may be made to the San Mateo County AIDS Program, 66 Bovet Road, #270, San Mateo, CA 94402. ▼

Timothy Mawson, A Bookseller, 54

2-31-95

Timothy Mawson, who combined passions for literature and horticulture in an influential gardening bookstore in New Preston, Conn., died on Monday at his home in near-by Washington Depot. He was 54.

The cause was AIDS, said his companion, Gael Hammer.

Timothy Mawson Books and Prints opened in 1984 in a converted 19th-century cider mill. Studiedly cluttered with potpourri, sachets, a harvest table and a wheelbarrow, the store specialized in out-of-print and antique books, particularly those about English gardens. It closed in March.

Mr. Mawson was also the author of "The Garden Room" (Clarkson N. Potter, 1994), a book devoted to porches, greenhouses and gazebos.

"He did a lot to popularize and promote the connection between literature and gardening," said Gregory Long, president of the New York Botanical Garden in the Bronx. "Now, rare books about horticulture are very fashionable, trendy and sought-after."

Mr. Mawson was born in Nelson, a town in Lancashire, England. He arrived in New York City in 1969 and worked at the Regency and Algonquin Hotels. In 1975, he joined Carlos R. Goetz as a partner in the Pomander Bookshop, at 252 West 95th Street in Manhattan, which sold secondhand books to a distinctly literary clientele.

Besides his companion, Mr. Mawson is survived by Mr. Hammer's daughters, whom he helped rear, Katherine, of Austin, Tex., and Evelyn, of Washington Depot.

Frank Maya, 45, Performance Artist And Solo Comic

By STEPHEN HOLDEN

Frank Maya, a comedian and performance artist who was one of the first openly gay male comics to gain a foothold in mainstream stand-up comedy, died on Monday at his parents' home in Manhattan. He was 45.

The cause was heart failure related to AIDS, said his sister Janet.

Mr. Maya, a high-energy, hyperanimated performer who affected a sardonically hysterical tone on the stage, was born in Queens and reared in Babylon, L.I. After graduating from Hofstra University in 1972, he began his career as a singer, songwriter and poet, appearing extensively in clubs around Manhattan. He also appeared in John Jesurun's avant-garde theater serial, "Chang in a Void Moon."

By the 1980's, he had redefined himself as a performance artist delivering musically inflected solo monologues that he called "rants." Three shows — "Frank Maya Talks," "Get Out of the House" and "Unauthorized Autobiography: An Outing for the Whole Family" — were presented in New York spaces that included LaMama, Performance Space 122, the Kitchen and Alice Tully Hall (as part of the Serious Fun series at Lincoln Center).

In the early 90's, Mr. Maya redefined himself again as an openly gay stand-up comedian, and he became the first such comedian to appear on MTV's "Half-Hour Comedy Hour." He also starred in his own half-hour special on the Comedy Central network.

He appeared regularly at Caroline's Comedy Club in New York City, and his one-man show, "Paying for the Pool," ran at the Atlantic Theater Company for eight weeks in the fall of 1993. A portion of that show is included in the recent anthology "Out Loud and Laughing" (Anchor Books).

In addition to his sister Janet, he is survived by his companion, Blake West; his parents, Frank and Janet Maya of Manhattan; two other sisters, Lizzie Maya and Debbie Mayamelito, and two brothers, Christopher and Gregory.

KEVIN MAYE, 36, standup comic and costar of The Gay Comedy Jam, died of AIDS July 25. The Jam, started in 1994 by Maye and his partner Scott Kennedy, was described by fan James Lehman as "guys you would like to know as friends, even though they're standing up in front of a roomful of strangers." By 1996, Maye had incorporated his HIV status into his performances using his signature humor—he named his last two CD4 cells Thelma and Louise.

Paula Court, 1989

Frank Maya 8-7-95

Elmer Miles

June 14, 1945 – Aug. 25, 1995

Elmer passed away in Palm Springs just before 5 p.m. on Friday, August 25.

He was admitted to Desert Hospital on July 26, where he received excellent care from the staff and stayed till his departure from us. At his hospital bedside were his very close friends, Paula, Christopher, and Rex and Rod. The AIDS virus which attacked his brain came and ended his life quickly.

Elmer lived in San Francisco in the '70s and '80s before moving to Cathedral City down in the desert. While living here, he worked for Penzoil in Alameda, then left to work for the SF Department of Social Services. He had many friends in SF and was a 49er season ticket holder.

After moving to the desert, Elmer became a real estate agent, first working for Merrel/Harris, then when the ownership changed, for Paula Harris & Associates. He worked up till his attack this summer.

Elmer was involved in various civic organizations and community development for the City of the Desert Hot Springs. Those who knew Elmer have lost someone special. Good-bye,

Steven Earl Morris

Feb. 19, 1953 – Sept. 7, 1995

Born and raised in the Bay Area, Steven spent about 13 years in Hollywood working in bookstores and building a vast collection of books on his favorite subjects: gay literature, photography, art, American Indians, Marilyn and Lucy. Steven will be remembered by many for his great sense of humor and his love/obsession for books and music. Tears filled his eyes when he found some books in his collection that he would not have time to read before he died.

Steven had an astounding "photographic mind." His ability was put to the test in the successful appeal of a wrongfully imprisoned Korean man, convicted for a Chinatown murder witnessed by Steven while on an afternoon stroll in the early '70s. Steven was interviewed on 20/20 for his role in identifying the real killer.

Steven was surrounded by his family in his final moments, ending his long struggle against the ravages of HIV and ITP, a rare blood disease he had for over 14 years. He will be deeply missed by his family and friends, especially John M. Carr, who will always cherish their 20 years of friendship. ▼

Troy Noel Moran

Dec. 25, 1942 – Jan. 23, 1995

On January 23, Troy Noel Moran, my lover, my life companion and my best friend of 17 years, left me on his final voyage. He was known by his admirers as Troy, the cheerful vampire who drew blood at the clinic lab at Kaiser San Francisco. He stopped doing that because he could no longer see so many strong people become weak and die.

Troy had to fight his own battle with AIDS, and he did it bravely for five years. In November he was told that he had terminal cancer, and he felt that he had lost the battle. After a trip to see friends in Europe in December and to celebrate his birthday, he came home where he died two weeks later. He got his last wish fulfilled, which was to die in our home that he loved so much. This was only possible because of the presence of his sister to help us through it.

Troy said that if he had to do it all over, he wouldn't change a thing. He rests in peace at the Neptune Columbarium, where we will someday again be together. One in life one for eternity.

From your Punkin – Joe Beaupre.

Gary Malobisky

March 21, 1947 - April 7, 1995

John (Jack) Meeks

May 16, 1964 - Aug. 10, 1996

Jack, a well-known Castro area gay man, went to the Lord on Saturday, August 10. Born a Taurus, he was typically stubborn and an honest-to-god sun worshiper. Always one to speak his mind and say it like it was - no phony queen here.

Jack moved to San Francisco at age 17 and loved the ocean and mountains. He lived to party and for men. Prior to his death, he had been a volunteer at the NAMES Project.

In 1985, Jack tested HIV positive, and in 1994, he was diagnosed with CMV of the left eye. God saved his right eye. He dealt with the mental anguish of possible blindness like a true champ and only let a few people close. He was preceded in death by his only brother, who died in 1993.

Jack would like to thank his dear friends, Charlie and Tim; Visiting Nurses and Hospice; his primary doctor, Jason, at U.C.; and Dr. Fallonsby at Davis. Special thanks go to his mom ("There all the way") and his dad ("Who did his best").

We know where you are, Angel, and as Stevie Nicks' song says, "And to the Gypsies that remain, peace."

You are missed and loved

Joachim Paul Mau

July 24, 1946 - May 19, 1995

Born in Berlin, Germany, Paul found his second home and many friends in the United States. A resident of San Francisco for 18 years, Paul enjoyed the outdoors, collecting 19th and 20th century curios and objets d'art, and the mayhem of local flea markets. First traveling to the United States in 1977 as a sales/marketing apprentice for Daimler-Benz, Paul later enrolled and graduated from the University of Iowa, where he polished his English skills and discovered the delicacy of sweet corn-on-the-cob. He returned to his "Iowa" family in 1990 to bury his lover, Ed Richards.

In September 1994 Paul returned to Germany to bury his father (a veteran of both World Wars). He died of AIDS in der Berlin Berlin Krankenhaus (in a Berlin hospital), with his mother, Maria Mau, at his side.

Paul will remain in the hearts of Jacques-Pierre, Michael, Marty, Douglas, Don and Tom, Anna and his many friends. God rest his soul. ▼

Louis Philip Martin

Dec 2, 1947 - Aug. 13, 1995

Louis Philip Martin died in San Francisco, Sunday 13 August 1995. Born in La Havana, Cuba in 1947 to a French father and a Cuban mother, he was sent at 14 to Miami to escape the Castro regime. He learned draughting at Miami-Dade Community College and became one of the finest designer-draughtsmen for the commercial foodservice industry in the U. S. From 1976 to 1978, he had his own design firm. He came to San Francisco in 1981 where he remained in the foodservice industry until one and a half months before his death.

He had a profound interest in all of the arts and was himself an artist and watercolorist. He particularly loved classical music. He was president of the S. F. Choral Soc. for several years and worked unflinchingly on the organising of the concerts for that group. From 1990 through 1994, he was also president of the Old First Choir and singlehandedly recruited many extra singers for the concerts of the Old First Choir and Orchestra concerts.

He was fluent in English, French, and Spanish. He had a particular command of the English language and had no tolerance for fakery of any kind from anyone and could deflate the balloon of charlatanism with a few well-chosen, withering barbs.

He not only designed kitchens but was himself a wonderful chef, adept at preparing French, Cuban, Chinese, and American cuisine.

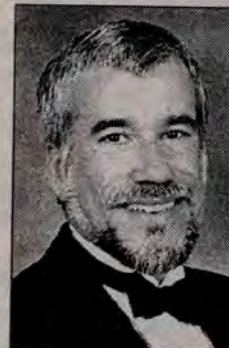

He loved parties and was an unsurpassed party giver. And he had that Dale Carnegie smile that could light up the dullest room. There was no guile in him.

The proudest moment of his life was the act of becoming an American citizen on 14 May 1991 at a ceremony commemorating the centennial of the U. S. Naturalization Service at the North Garrison on Angel Island. That event was followed four days later by a large Naturalization party in his apartment, catered, naturally, by himself.

He is survived by his mother, sister, and brother and a large number of relatives in Florida, and by his best friend Mark of San Francisco.

If there be such diaphanes as angels, Louis is one of them and is now in their company circling the vast void.

There will be a party to celebrate Louis' life. Call 673.5368 for location and time.

Dennis Meyer

Dennis A. Meyer, 59, of Bowie, Maryland, died Thursday, March 28, 1996, of AIDS-related complications at his home, according to his friend, Christopher Bazemore, also of Bowie.

Meyer was born in Cincinnati, Ohio, on Dec. 1, 1936. He graduated from Boston University with a degree in divinity. Meyer was a resident of the D.C. area since 1968. While in the area, he worked for 27 different publishers as a representative of religious books.

He enjoyed singing and horseback riding and, since 1985, was a member of the Washington Society of Mind, a Gay male and Lesbian group of people who worship together. He was also a co-minister at the Center for Holistic Living, a group he belonged to since its inception in 1986.

He also enjoyed spending time with his dog, Daisy, a golden retriever, and his cat, Trust, a stray that Meyer took in from the street.

In addition to Bazemore, Meyer is survived by his mother, Marion Meyer of Cincinnati, Ohio, and a brother and sister.

A memorial service will be held Saturday, April 6, at 3 p.m. at Bristol House, Suite 115, 1400 20th St. NW.

Contributions in Meyer's name can be made to Food and Friends, 400 I St., NW, Washington, DC 20001.

Bill Medlock

It was the Spring of 1989, and everything was in full bloom: the azaleas, the cause, and this slender, blue-eyed, red-headed man in front of me.

He had just moved down from South Carolina and wanted to get active in the gay community so we hired him at Southern Voice. He sold advertising, which at the time required the passion and daring of an activist.

Billy-Bob-Joe-Ray was what we called him, and he was part of the family that created those early issues of the newspaper. His taste for pleasure along with his easy going Southern boy drama-queen charm made working with Billy like being in a Tennessee Williams play, the drama high, but endurable.

On his path of getting active, Billy came upon ACT UP Atlanta, and he took up a picket and waved it in front of the Centers for Disease Control, Grady Hospital and the First Baptist Church, to name a few. Billy was a good hollerer, loud, articulate and persistent, and his face would turn crimson with the cause.

By this time his hair had gotten long and it fell in beautiful spirals, and he took to wearing hippie beads and T-shirts with pictures of men kissing. It was about then that he tested positive for HIV.

He shuffled his feet a bit, but then continued to dance and went on to work at Etc. magazine, then the Bread Garden in Virginia Highland, where he learned to bake. This quiet occupation afforded him the pleasure of a craft, and Billy moved into a more spiritual way of life, more compassionate and involved in living with and loving people.

Like so many young queers in the big city, Billy had left his family of origin behind, but his virus delivered him a challenge/opportunity to renew his relationships with his family. He did this with unwavering courage and candor. In turn, they got to know the new Billy, the true Billy, and they grew and gave back their unconditional love.

Billy's body went into revolt in February 1993, first with PCP, then with attacks by TB and Kaposi's Sarcoma. But Billy managed these skirmishes, never once admitting doubt in his ability to defeat the HIV in his body. His doctor compares living with AIDS to climbing a mountain, the further along one gets, the better the view and the more support one needs.

Billy climbed high, sometimes tethered, sometimes not. And he always stood where he could keep hope in sight. In the end, he rested at home and was surrounded by his family, his friends and his doctor, all there to say good-bye when his blue eyes opened for the last time.

5-24-96

—Jessie McVay

John Mascetti

John Joseph Mascetti, 41, died Tuesday, April 23, 1996 at his home in Washington, D.C., due to AIDS-related complications, according to his partner Ricardo Figueiras, also of D.C.

A D.C. native, Mascetti was born in Washington on Sept., 23, 1954, and grew up in Landover Hills, Md. His interest in people led Mascetti to a 21-year career as a bartender in several area establishments, including Mr. P's and the Tibor Creek Pub, both in Northwest D.C. Mascetti also was a skilled carpenter, and often teamed up with his brothers in renovating old homes, which they re-sold at a profit.

Mascetti also enjoyed helping others, Figueiras said, and often used his carpentry skills to help friends renovate their homes. But far more important to Mascetti was his 15 year-old nephew, Kenneth W. Mascetti Jr., whom Mascetti loved and raised as his own son, Figueiras said. Mascetti often recalled the period of time he lived with Kenneth on a friend's farm in Marshall, Va.

"John loved animals almost as much as he liked doing construction and bartending," Figueiras said.

Mascetti is predeceased by his father, Leo Mascetti.

In addition to Figueiras and Kenneth Mascetti Jr., he is survived by his mother, Barbara Mascetti, sister, Theresa Scarpelli, brothers Richard, Joseph, and Kenneth Mascetti, all of Polly's Island, S.C.; and Donald of Chesapeake Beach, Md., Bobby of Bowie, Md., and Brian Mascetti of Arnold, Md.; as well as 20 nieces, nephews, and one great nephew.

A memorial service will take place Sunday, May 19, at the Bellevue Hotel, 15 E St., NW; time to be announced. Call Ricardo Figueiras at (202) 393-3133 for more information.

Gary Lewis Miles

Gary Lewis Miles of Provincetown, born April 30, 1947 in Enid, Oklahoma, died at Youville Hospital in Cambridge on April 19 after a nine-year struggle to live with AIDS. 96

He was a noted Church musician and until October of 1995 served as organist and music director at the Church of Saint Mary of the Harbor in Provincetown. He leaves scores of devoted friends there as well as in the greater community.

He received his Master of Music Degree in Organ Performance at the University of Houston in 1987. Prior to that he had studied at Guildhall School of Music and Drama in London, England; Pretoria, South Africa (advanced vocal study with Eric Mueller); and at the Royal School of Church Music at Addington Palace in England.

For many years Gary was a member of the Community of Celebration with duties as a singer, dancer, organist, pianist and actor for a traveling liturgical arts renewal team. Gary summed up his personal philosophy in these words, drawing from Matthew Fox's "Original Blessing": "I believe all things were ultimately created by and for God's greater glory, and that all art is usable in the process of restoring creation to its place of 'original blessing.'"

Prior to his work in Provincetown,

Gary found a wonderful community of friends in his work as organist and director of music at the Roman Catholic Church of Our Lady of Sorrows in Sharon. Other work places were at St. Paul's Episcopal in Brockton; St. Paul Presbyterian Church in Houston, Texas; St. Alban's Cathedral in Pretoria, South Africa where he came to know the now-Archbishop Desmond Tutu; Trinity Church in Baytown, Texas; St. Paul's Church in Flint, Michigan; and the Episcopal Church of the Redeemer in Houston, Texas.

Gary leaves his beloved step-mother, Pauline Miles of Houston, Texas and an uncle and nieces and nephews as well as a host of loving friends including his "buddy" of many years, Rev. Marjorie Lain Marsh of Newton Center and Rev. Ellsworth Koonz of Eastham, Mass.

Gifts in his memory may be made to Foley House, 214 Bradford Street, Provincetown, MA 02657.

Dear Gary, "May choirs of angels lead you to Paradise on high, where dwell the white-robed martyrs who now no more can die. And at your coming thither may you be brought by them into the holy city, God's true Jerusalem. As angels gave poor Lazarus from all his ills release, so may they give you welcome to everlasting peace."

Peter Masciarotte

Peter Anthony Masciarotte, 42, died April 23 due to complications from the AIDS virus.

Born on June 11, 1953, Peter was an artist and an art educator working in school and community programs for the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston. He graduated from the Massachusetts College of Art in 1992, achieving his long sought after degree in art education.

Peter leaves behind his life partner, Kevin J. Doherty, family and many friends and acquaintances who were touched by Peter's love, intellect, sense of humor, honesty, generosity, compassion and most of all his beauty.

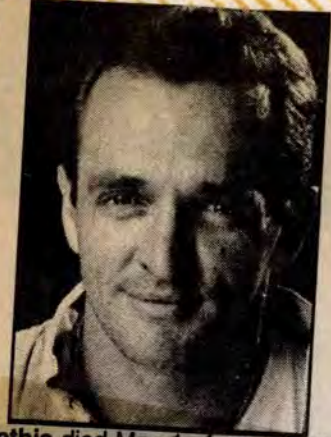

A memorial service will be held on June 30 at 2 p.m. at the Unitarian Universalist Meeting House, Commercial Street, Provincetown. All are welcome to share in the celebration of Peter's life.

96

Lee Mathis died May 1 of complications from AIDS in New York City. He was 44. The openly gay, HIV-positive actor drew national attention in 1993 when he placed an ad in Variety looking for work to sustain his union health insurance. He portrayed the character of attorney Jon Hanley on ABC's "General Hospital." His last appearance on the program was Dec. 1, 1995, World AIDS Day. Broadway appearances included "Pippin," "Dancin'" and "Zorba, The Greek." Feature film roles included "All That Jazz," "Bugsy" and "Red Ribbon Bandits." Mathis is predeceased by his lover, Tom Cahill. He is survived by his parents, Virginia and Lee; brother, Jim; and sister, Heidi. 96

Bill Morong

June 7, 1996

On June 7, Bill, 35, left his loved ones much too soon after a long and courageous battle with AIDS. He was a talented artist known for the whimsical and playful characters in his work. He incorporated his spiritual and metaphysical beliefs into his art with a goal to cheer and comfort his audience. His work included etchings, paper cutouts and oil paintings.

A ten-year resident of San Francisco, Bill moved here to complete his spiritual journey in metaphysics. He had previously studied art at the University of Utah. He later studied, became licensed, and provided services in acupressure and massage therapy.

Bill is survived by his twin, Barbara Ohrstrom; his sisters, Sue Morong, Karen Carr, Camille Ramirez and Amanda Ohrstrom; his brother, Kevin Carr; best friend, Cory Flinders; and many other close friends. Bill's grace, charm and dignity, especially in his last months, touched the hearts of many. We love and miss you, Bill.

Friends are invited to a celebration of Bill's life on Saturday, June 22, at noon at the MCC Church, followed by a showing of his art work at a private residence. Donations in Bill's memory can be made to The Dolores Street Community Center.

Allen Mallory

Raymond Allen Mallory, 41, of Arlington, Virginia, died of sudden kidney failure at National Orthopedic Hospital in Arlington on Friday, May 31, 1996, according to his nephew, Clarence Mallory of Alexandria, Virginia.

Mallory was born in Germany on May 24, 1955, and grew up in the Newport News area of Virginia. He graduated from Denbigh High School in Newport News in 1973. He indulged his lifetime fascination with airplanes by obtaining a private pilot's license, and as a longtime employee for USAir. Mallory worked in a variety of capacities since joining the airline in 1979, including as reservation agent in Indianapolis, Ind., and Reston, Va. Most recently, he worked as a USAir customer service representative at National Airport.

Mallory enjoyed attending annual D.C. Gay Pride celebrations, and particularly watching the Dykes on Bikes motor by during the parade. His adventurous spirit also led Mallory to purchase a 28-foot Bayliner boat in 1993, which he christened "Island Sun" and sailed often in the Chesapeake Bay, said Clarence Mallory.

Mallory will be remembered for his warmth, generous personality, and his wit, said Clarence.

He was predeceased by his parents, Henry and Kunegunda Mallory.

He is survived by his sister, Audrey Mallory of Dale City, Va.; brothers and sisters-in-law, Walter Mallory Sr. and Clara Mallory, and Clarence Mallory Sr. and Jean Mallory, all of Montpelier, Va.; niece Meochi Mallory of Hampton, Va.,

Before he died of AIDS March 13 in New York City, CHARLES MILHAUPT, 48, led a varied life as a corporate businessman, fine-arts supporter and Hollywood film producer. A board member of the Howard Gilman Foundation, he helped launch Mikhail Baryshnikov's experimental White Oak Dance Project and encouraged the foundation to finance the arts as well as AIDS medical research. A collector of midcentury art and furniture, Milhaupt modeled his Greenwich Village apartment on the '30s classic screwball comedy The Awful Truth. 98

Don Monroe

Donald Calvin Monroe, 44, of Riverdale, Maryland, died at his parents home in Cornish, New Hampshire on Wednesday, May 8, 1996, due to AIDS related complications, according to longtime friend Warren Potas of Washington, D.C.

Monroe was born in Windsor, Vt., on June 12, 1951, where he was raised and educated. He graduated from Oral Roberts University in Tulsa, Okla., and "remained intensely proud of his association with the University," said Potas.

Monroe from 1975 to 1988 taught third grade students at Holy Trinity Episcopal School in Bowie, Md. More recently, Monroe compiled crime statistics for the Prince Georges's County State's Attorney's office, where colleagues contributed their vacation hours to Monroe during his illness in an effort to help him remain employed with health benefits, said Potas.

"Don was immensely appreciative of the support of his colleagues," Potas said.

At home, Monroe's specialty was baking plain and fruit breads. He also collected hats and stuffed bears. He was also a member and officer of several fraternal leather groups, and could often be seen chatting with friends on the second floor stairwell landing of the D.C. Eagle, said Potas.

Monroe was also active in Libertarian Party politics, and in 1988 ran unsuccessfully on the Libertarian ticket for the office of lieutenant governor in Maryland. Monroe's political leanings, including his opposition to abortion, remained closely aligned with his religious convictions, and were often at odds with the "mainstream" Gay community, said Potas.

Monroe is also survived by his parents, Calvin E. and Freda Monroe of Cornish, N.H.; two sisters, Calveda "Kita" Heslinga of Wheaton, Ill., and Kathleen Rivers of Vergennes, Vt.; a niece and nephew, and several other relatives. His surviving friends include Carey Conn, Jack Johnson, John and Julie Lewis, and Danae Morakis, all of the D.C. metropolitan area.

Marshall, 43 years old

I was tested in 1989. I had assumed that I would be positive, given my lifestyle in the early 80s. I was asymptomatic (except for a T-cell count of 350). I had a partner at that point who was positive—he passed away in 1991—and we went through 3½ years of his illnesses. I took care of him, and he died at home. It wasn't until after he passed away that I started to focus on my own health. Through taking AZT my counts stayed between 350 and 450 for about 5 years.

After I found I had HIV I drastically reduced recreational drug use. I had always been aware of the benefits of nutrition and exercise, but I became aware of the effects of stress on my health. I let myself become consumed by my corporate job after my partner died. At first my focus was all medical: what are the drug options and what are the side effects? Then I developed clinical depression, fatigue, vomiting, and diarrhea. I felt trapped in my job, and my T-cells took a dive. I realized that stress was undoing the good that the medication might have done. I went out on disability and got on Prozac. I started to think more holistically. I started cooking my vegetables to get more nutrition out of them. I got rid of the fat, cut desserts and caffeine. Because I had been overweight earlier in my life I worked out, and I would talk to people who are nutrition-conscious. I developed a support system.

My doctor did not think of me as a partner in my own illness. He seemed to ignore me, my symptoms, and even my test results—the “AMA only” approach. My feeling is: we're not cookie-cutter disease victims; everybody should be approached as a unique individual. So I told him I didn't have faith that he would keep me involved in my own care. I got a younger guy with a smaller caseload who was willing to be there for me. I told him what I'd been through and that I needed to be included as part of the team

I wouldn't have confronted a doctor like that before I had AIDS, although I was never one to hand off responsibility. But I decided that I wasn't going to be a victim. If you have a hand in the decision-making process then you can't say “the doctor made a mistake.” Emotionally I feel empowered and in control. I took a mind-body course, which teaches relaxation response, yoga, and cognitive restructuring. Relaxation teaches how stress brings on the fight or flight response, which is detrimental to the immune system. Meditation undoes that response and gives the body a chance to heal.

So many of us don't do the things we love to do, but put them off. If you put yourself first, meaning exercise, nutrition, and spirituality, your stress level is lower and you're happier plus you have unlimited time to give to the things you love. It's a priority to learn more about what will make you feel more rested and restored and to do those all the time.

To PWAs: your life shouldn't be miserable. Try to leave this life with as few regrets as possible. In terms of disease, it's not just about medication but about your body and your mind. Granted there's no scientific proof that faith healing and prayer do help. The trick is to find a balance. The first wave have died, but we in the second wave are living with the disease and doing pretty well at it. My vision for the future is that HIV will become like diabetes: you pick your meds, you watch your health, and you live your life. ✨

Death in the family 98

While en route to UNAIDS headquarters in Geneva, Dr. Jonathan Mann, the founding father of the global AIDS movement, and his wife, Dr. Mary Lou Clements-Mann, a distinguished HIV vaccine researcher, were killed in the crash of Swissair Flight 111.

Billy Mozingo

William “Billy” A. Mozingo, 44, a native and lifelong resident of Washington, D.C., died of lung cancer at his home on Tuesday, June 11, 1996, according to his friend Tom Decker of Arlington, Virginia.

Mozingo worked in the area for a number of years installing heating and air conditioning systems. Later, he worked in local printing shops and, for a short time, at the Dupont Circle Friend's Bar, now defunct. After working for a year as an office assistant at the D.C. branch of the national law firm, Baker & McKenzie, Mozingo retired on disability.

An amateur photographer, he was frequently accompanied by his camera. He was a nature lover, who enjoyed taking long walks with his golden retriever Jake. He also enjoyed the company of his cat Katie. Mozingo was an avid pool player, who could often be found engaged in a game at Dupont Circle's Mr. P's. He also enjoyed crocheting and wood working.

“Whether crocheting a scarf or quilt or working with wood, Mozingo enjoyed working with his hands,” Decker said.

In addition to Decker, Mozingo is survived by his father, James Mozingo of Washington, D.C.; two sisters, Joyce of D.C.; and Janet of Temple Hills, Md.; two brothers, Jimmy of La Plata, Md.; and Ronnie of Owings Mills, Md.; and niece, Tina Mariano of D.C., who was devoted to his care. Mozingo is survived by other relatives as well as close friends, Jean Kirk of Temple Hills, Md.; and Tom Purdy of Wheeling, W.Va.

His remains were buried June 14 at Fort Lincoln Cemetery in Hyattsville, Md. Donations may be made to the American Cancer Society, 1599 Clifton Rd., NE, Atlanta, GA 30329-4251.

Roy Mason

Roy Emery Mason, 57, a futuristic architect who designed the master plan and many exhibits for the Capital Children's Museum in Washington, D.C., was pronounced dead of blunt trauma to the head on Sunday, May 26, 1996 after he was found by police in his D.C. home.

Mason's death is being investigated as a homicide, and police have issued a warrant for the arrest of Christopher Robin Hatton, 19, for murder.

"Roy was a genius," said Ann Lewin, founder of the Children's Museum, who worked with Mason for 20 years. "He had a spark of creativity like few people I've ever known. I'm just devastated."

Mason worked as an architectural editor at Futurist magazine, part of the World Future Society, since the 1970s. He was known for designing free-form structures made from polyurethane foam, such as the "Mushroom House" in Bethesda, Md., according to longtime colleague Robert Evans. More recently, Evans said, Mason was a pioneer in the field of "smart home" design, which uses telecommunications and computer systems to create homes in which occupants can switch on appliances by speaking and enjoy other high-tech conveniences.

Mason was the coauthor of a 1983 book on futuristic living in a computerized home, Xanadu. The "home of the future" described in the book was later built just south of Orlando in Kissimmee, Fla., where it became a tourist attraction. Mason also designed some props for the first Star Trek movie, according to M.J. Vilardi, a friend and colleague who considered Mason his mentor.

"He was an amazing man," said Vilardi.

Mason was born June 29, 1938 in Houston, Texas. He earned a bachelor's degree in architecture at Texas Technological College in 1961 and a master's degree in architecture from Yale University in 1963. He lived for many years in the D.C. area, and he also shared a Wilmington, Del. home with his late partner, Brian Carneal, in the early 1990s.

Mason is survived by a sister, Beverly Parker; a brother, Jack Mason, both of Houston; and nieces and nephews. He was predeceased by his parents, and, in 1995, by Carneal.

An exhibit of Mason's works will be on display during the World Future Society's annual conference, to be held July 15-18 at the Washington Hilton, according to Vilardi.

Bill Martin

William Samuel Martin, 37, a resident of Arlington, Virginia, died Sunday, May 19, 1996 of AIDS-related complications at George Washington University Hospital in D.C., according to his partner-in-life, Herrmann Hardy, also of Arlington.

Born Feb. 3, 1959, Martin was raised in Aylett, Va. In the early 1980s, he graduated from Virginia Polytechnic Institute in Blacksburg. In 1983, he took a position as a stockbroker with Fleet Brokerage Securities in D.C., where he worked until his death.

A member of Washington's Lambda Bridge Club and the Northern Virginia Bridge League, Martin was an award-winning bridge player. He was also a gourmet cook, a laser disc videophile, an avid collector of Mexican handicrafts and semiprecious stones, and a cat lover who had two cats Lucy and Linus, Hardy said.

"Bill brought excitement and enthusiasm into many people's lives with his vivacious wit, winning smile, positive outlook, and ready optimism toward life's challenges and possibilities," Hardy said.

In addition to Hardy, Martin is survived by family members in Aylett, Va.; a best friend; and a mentor, Dr. John Hunter of Blacksburg.

A memorial service was held May 22 at Joseph Bliley Funeral Homes Staples Mill Chapel in Richmond, Va.

John J. Maus

Nov. 3, 1945 - June 15, 1996

John passed away quietly on June 15 at home from lymphoma. His sister was at his side, and he had the love and support of his friends and other family members.

John moved to San Francisco over 30 years ago, and worked as a driver, dispatcher and supervisor for Veteran Cab Company for over 20 years. During his time in San Francisco, he was a charter member of the Alexander Hamilton Post of the American Legion. He did extensive volunteer work with the Infectious Disease Clinic at the Veterans Hospital and Project Open Hand. He also had a great love for and supported the San Francisco Opera and the San Francisco Symphony.

In April, John became a confirmed member at the Episcopal Church of St. John the Evangelist, which was an important event in his life.

John is survived by one brother, three sisters, and ten nieces and nephews. A memorial service will be held Saturday, June 29, at 11 a.m. at the Episcopal Church of St. John the Evangelist at 1661 15th St., San Francisco. His ashes will be interred at the Neptune Society in San Francisco.

Donations may be made in his memory to the AIDS Emergency Fund.

David Moya

June 25, 1996

David Moya, 32, died June 25 at the home of his mother, Dorothy Moya, in Kent, Wash. After arriving in San Francisco in 1992, David made a significant contribution to the AIDS community as a benefits counselor for the internationally recognized agency, AIDS Benefit Counselors, and also through a joint program ABC had with AIDS Indigent Direct Services, he assisted a particularly needy population in the Tenderloin.

David was born in Phoenix, Arizona, and graduated from Arizona State University. His interests included his four-year-old son Jordon, music and dancing.

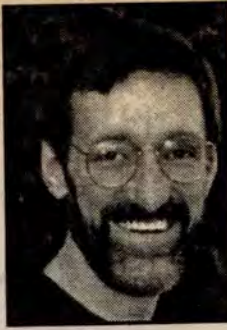

Other survivors include his partner, Kathleen Kazynski; father, Moses Moya; sisters, Vera Mesquita, Christina Kimbrow and Jennifer and Jessica Moya; brothers, Anthony and Jason Moya; numerous nieces and nephews; and many friends.

Those wishing to honor David may do so by helping to plant a tree for him in the AIDS Memorial Grove in Golden Gate Park on Saturday, August 17, 11 a.m.-1 p.m., with a reception following, 3:30-5:30 p.m. Call 642-7999 for directions. Donations may be made to the Jordon Moya Memorial Fund, PCCU, 303 Twin Dolphin Drive, Redwood City, CA 94065-1409, Account No. 1859200.

James Meany

James H. Meany, 49, of Silver Spring, Md., a 30-year veteran with Bell Atlantic, died Wednesday, July 17, 1996, due to complications associated with AIDS, according to his partner, Jerry Carpenter, also of Silver Spring.

Meany was born March 31, 1947, in New York City and attended St. Peter's College in Jersey City, N.J.

Meany served in the U.S. Army from 1966-72 and was stationed in Germany during the Vietnam War. He was awarded the National Defense Service Medal.

Meany worked for Bell Atlantic and lived in Elizabeth and then Chester, N.J., moving to Silver Spring in 1986. He continued with Bell Atlantic as manager of the Information View/SIW project and was recognized as Distinguished Member Technical Staff in 1995.

Meany sang for the Gay Men's Chorus of Washington and served as a member of its board of directors. He was involved in Bell Atlantic's Gay, Lesbian or Bisexual Employees group, and enjoyed gardening, his dogs Gonzo and Zeos, raising rare fish, and working on computers.

In addition to Carpenter, Meany is survived by his brother, the Rev. Stephen J. Meany of New York City; and three sisters, Patricia Rand of New Haven, Conn., Joanne Hardy of San Francisco, Calif., and Mary Ann Meany of Marina, Calif.

A memorial service and burial is planned for September at Arlington National Cemetery.

Kevin Molloy, "Newfie"

Sept. 23, 1965 - June 28, 1996

Newfie came to us from New Foundland in 1990. San Francisco, and the Castro in particular, became his new home. He shortly thereafter became involved with the Cheaters Motorcycle Club, volunteered with the SPCA, and worked as a home health aide. Most importantly, he loved to entertain and had most every weekend filled with dinner parties, barbecues or casual get-togethers. Newfie loved to cook and ensured that his guests always had enough!

His love of animals was unsurpassed. It seemed like each week brought a new addition to his menagerie. He got such pleasure from dressing them up and taking photos. He even arranged to have a photo of Shelly included in an I. Magnin catalog. His love will always be with his dog, Shelly, and cat, Tory.

Newfie will be missed by his friends, especially Dennis, his partner for the last five years. We will always carry Newfie in our hearts.

Thanks to the staff at Laguna Honda Ward 04 for showing such patience and love in their care. A celebration of Newfie's life will be held July 21. Call Michelle at 252-5729 for further details.

Jeff Maddox

The loved ones and friends of Jeff Maddox are mourning his unexpected death by heart attack on May 17. He was a youthful 49.

Born and raised in Brunswick, Georgia where he attended Glynn Academy, Jeff earned a degree in political science from Emory University and was employed as a journalist for the Atlanta Constitution and the Brunswick News. He also worked as a waiter for the Peasant restaurants, the Fish Market, Carbo's Cafe, and most recently the Colonnade.

A loving, unselfish, relationship-oriented man, Jeff lived with his companion of 17 years, Bill Sanders, until Bill's death in 1989. That same year, Jeff met Porter Draughon, with whom he shared a loving relationship for the past seven years. Jeff also leaves behind his mother, Mary Oates Maddox, to whom he was devoted; and the countless friends he made during his many years in Atlanta.

Jon Alan Morris

Sept. 15, 1957 - Oct. 18, 1996

Jon's long and brave struggle with AIDS ended at 9:22 p.m. on Friday, October 18. He died at home in the arms of his partner, Robert Pyburn, and his friend, Ron Kimmel, with his dog, Maggie, at his side.

John was born in Riverside, Calif., the son of James and Peggy Morris. He was the brother of Jan Morris and Jill Sommers.

John had an extensive education in Thailand, Japan, the University of Southern California and San Diego State, where he graduated magna cum laude. He worked as a flight attendant for 13 years with PSA and later USAir.

Jon loved languages, travel, people, music, books and movies. He especially loved making a home with his partner of eight years, Robert, and their dog, Maggie. He is remembered for his enduring sweetness, warm laughter, passion for life and sense of humor. He touched so many lives and is sorely missed.

Special thanks to Lisa

Jeff was a fitness enthusiast; when he wasn't working out at the Y, he enjoyed traveling, reading, taking care of his beloved dog Peaches, and maintaining an active membership in St. Luke's Episcopal Church.

Everyone who loved Jeff—and who enjoyed his good humor, his loyalty, and his energetic appreciation of life—is deeply saddened by his loss. He will never be forgotten.

Memorial gifts may be made to the Center for Positive Aging, P.O. Box 55079, Atlanta, GA 30308.

Missing Person

One day you wake up and the whole world is different

BY TOD ROULETTE

8-19-96

My hospital roommate died this morning. The nurse didn't tell me when she woke me up to give me my meds. But I immediately noticed how quiet the room was. There was no hum from the respirator Tom was hooked up to and no labored breathing coming from the other side of the curtain. It was mysteriously calm, and the large, bright light glared overhead. The morning sound of respirator and Tom's coughing had been a constant these past eight days.

Four years ago, when I was diagnosed HIV positive, I would look away whenever I saw someone obviously struggling with AIDS. You know, the ones limping on canes, covered with KS blotches, staring out with glazed eyes. In such situations I could be laughing in a restaurant with friends one moment and the next be stopped in midsentence: What would I do when my time came?

To date, I've only personally known two people to die of AIDS; three if you count my aunt's neighbor in suburban Chicago. A good track record for a black, gay 28-year-old, I think. My friends Craig and Tim, who attended college with me in my native Kansas, both silently went away like elderly

Native Americans waiting for the ominous gong. I never saw them sick or thin or trying to fight for more time. Tim never even told us. He just went home to Missouri. His parents called about two months later to give me the news.

Still, I've grown accustomed to seeing seriously ill people. But nothing could have prepared me for sharing a room for more than a week with someone so close to death. We were never formally introduced, but on the second night, Tom forced out a whispered "Excuse me." There was a full minute before the next phrase as he strained to keep down the mucus filling his lungs. I was listening to Jessye Norman and Kathleen Battle sing spirituals on my stereo, desperately trying to forget how much I resented hospitals. I didn't know if he was speaking to me or if he didn't realize his lover had left the room.

I took off my headphones and asked, "Do you need something, Tom?" He gasped for air as I leaned closer toward the half-closed curtain between us. He tried again: "I need..." Then the volume and his ability to form intelligible words dissolved. Incomprehensible sounds followed. I was frustrated with myself for not being able to figure out what he wanted. I didn't want him to think I was unkind or unconcerned. I felt sadly helpless. His lover came back in the room and said, "I'm sorry. Was he bothering you?" I said he wasn't and that I was just trying to figure out what he wanted. Then we both returned to our respective spaces. He never looked at me or spoke to me again.

Despite turning my headset on full blast, I heard every word on his side of the curtain. I heard Tom's lover offer him water: "That's good, that's going to help you get better." I heard the doctor say it was useless to continue suctioning the fluid from Tom's lungs: "It simply makes him weaker." I couldn't not hear. It was too real. Death, that is. There was nothing secret or hidden about it. Last night I heard Tom's lover say in a hushed tone, "I love you, Tom. I love you so much, and I'm sorry you have to go through this." I could hear him crying as he lay close to Tom on the bed. Tears flowed onto the pillow as I buried my face deep into the cotton case to muffle my pathetic, howling cry. At some point I guess I stopped pretending not to listen.

After the nurse left the room this morning, I lay there and looked up at the ceiling. The room was so still. It was over. No more gasping. No more machine-humming.

The room was so still. It was over.

This is what death is like. It is so close, but I'm not scared or even sad. I quietly get up and walk over to the other side of the curtain—the same curtain I would often ask the nurse to close completely so I wouldn't have to see how very sick Tom was or how sick I someday might become.

Now I walk over to look at his dead body. He is so pale. And still. I breathe deeply and think about me lying there. Standing so close to Tom's body and watching his lover take care of him these past eight days has changed me. I don't know exactly how, but it has. ■

Out of Body: There was nothing secret or hidden.

When the artist Howard Meyer died of AIDS in 1989, he left behind work that was small in size yet anything but small in impact—tiny woven baskets that he had made of horse hair, human hair, rope, thread and other curious materials.

Often no bigger than a grape, many of the baskets were designed with an understated but distinctive feature, like an interior lined with bristle or a surface adorned with beaded bird pictures. The objects have the potency of ritual, as if they contained something incredibly concentrated. In fact, they are the products of a meticulous attention that was bent on conjuring otherworldly intensity in the museumlike home in New York's West Village Meyer shared with his companion of 30 years, Barton Benes. Benes, himself a respected artist (and rather a media sensation at the moment, since some of his HIV positive blood pieces have caused an uproar in England, where they are on exhibit), continues to reside among power-charged African and Egyptian artworks and artifacts he and Meyer collected.

Meyer worked in a small corner of the Larry Hagman: No, just selfish. One day a week it's good to shut up [laughs].

SG: I take it as a sign of respect for Howard Meyer that you chose to make an exception today. How did you first discover his work?

LH: I'd been collecting Barton's stuff for years, and I didn't know Howard did these things. Then he showed me a couple of little tiny baskets made of human hair, and I bought them. Barton at one time got 500 pounds of shredded money from the treasury department for his art—he did a lot of work with shredded money, which I have. And so Howard selected pieces of this stuff and wove back a dollar bill [see art on page 47]. I thought that was great. God, it took him, like, six months!

I got two of those and gave one to Ronald Reagan, who promptly lost the fucking thing or sent it to the archives. I'm sure there's a law against reweaving money—but Howard did esoteric, funny little things like that.

Woven dollars on lair, 1983

Howard Meyer

Wayne H. Mason

Wayne H. Mason, 44, of Philadelphia, formerly of Atlantic City, N.J., died Aug. 7, 1996, after an extended illness.

Mason was born in Atlantic City, and was a graduate of Atlantic City High School and Atlantic Community College. He also attended Montclair State College. He formerly was employed as a dealer at Harrah's Casino.

Mason is survived by his mother, Lendy Mason, of Alexandria, La.; a daughter, Danielle; and a son, Marc, both of Millville, N.J.; a brother, William; two nieces; and four nephews.

A memorial service will be held at 7:30 p.m. Aug. 16 at Calcutta House, 1601 W. Girard Ave., Philadelphia, Pa., 19130.

Memorial contributions may be sent to Calcutta House.

DOUG MORRISON

August 19, 1991. Often I think of you but know that you are in a better place and one day I will be joining you. Your thoughts and love are always with me- Jim.

Gabriel Martínez

31 de Marzo 1967
4 de Julio 1996

El 4 de Julio de 1996, nuestro querido
Gabriel Martínez
falleció por complicaciones relacionadas del SIDA.

Gabriel inició su
retorno a la Jícara
Celeste con una muerte bella y tranquila,
rodeado de sus seres
queridos.
Todos extrañamos su alegría, apoyo y sabiduría.

Siempre estará con
nosotros.

Queer Nation SF co-founder dies at 37

by Dennis Conkin

Longtime queer activist Steve Mehall died of HIV-related complications on Monday, August 12. He was 37. 76

Mehall was co-founder with Mark Duran of the widely celebrated San Francisco chapter of Queer Nation. The group formed at the Cafe Flore the day after the June 1991 lesbian and gay pride festivities. Afterwards, the two men placed ads in local community newspapers and distributed flyers advertising a July 18 meeting of the local chapter to be held at the Women's Building.

Although Mehall and Duran had expected only a few dozen activists, more than 300 people attending the historic inaugural meeting.

Mehall, an ardent fan of The Grateful Dead, worked for many years for A.C. Neilson company and was previously employed by the San Francisco Newspaper Agency.

Mehall is survived by his parents Georgia and Bernard Mehall of Bonita Springs, Florida; his brother John; his sister Michelle; and numerous relatives and friends.

A memorial service was held in Sutro Park on August 17th. A private burial in Dayton, Ohio is planned.

Mehall's survivors suggest memorial donations may be made in his name to Family Link, the non-profit service group that provided housing and support to his family during his last hospitalization. ▼

The late Steve Mehall.

Michael Sean Mahoney

Dec. 7, 1964 - Nov. 1, 1996

Mike died of AIDS at Davies Medical Center after a long and brave struggle.

Mike was well-known and well-loved in the community. Many will remember his lively participation in countless fundraising and just plain fun events.

Two years ago, Mike conceived and organized Trick or Treat for AIDS, an annual event designed to bring a little cheer to PWAs in local hospitals. It looked like the event would not happen this year since Mike had been in the hospital for more than a month. But Mike was grateful when Davies Medical Center staff decided to make the event happen in his honor, with help from KMEL and students from the Athenian School.

He is survived by his mother, Phyllis LaRose; father, Jim Mahoney; brother, Tommy; sisters, Colleen, Kathy and Terri; special aunt, Marylynne; cousins, Darren and Randy; and best friends, Steve Williams and Kevin Bradfield.

Mike wanted to express his appreciation to his many friends at Davies. He received excellent and compassionate care from many doctors, nurses, staff and volunteers.

Mike's friends will gather at 1 p.m. on Saturday, November 16, in the Gazebo Room at Davies Medical Center to share their memories.

Jeffery Layton Miles

May 6, 1950 - August 23, 1991

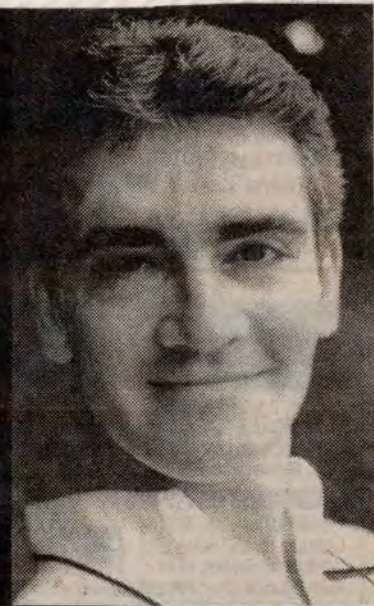

With what gifts shall I come into God's presence?

This is what God asks of you:

only this, to act justly,

to love tenderly, and to walk humbly with your God.

Micah 6:8

Michael,

Thank you, for your Love,
Generosity, & Companionship.
The World Needs More Like
You.

There is No Good Thing in you leaving This Earth, but
That you will be a

Guardian Angel, for All of Those You Loved.

AND You Thought You were Busy Here!

Love, Keith

1-31-97

Kirby Matson

R. Kirby Matson, 56, died Thursday, September 5, 1996, of liver cancer at his Takoma Park, Maryland, home, according to his partner, Tom Ingold of Takoma Park.

Matson was born Oct. 23, 1939, in D.C. He grew up in Silver Spring, Md., where he graduated from Blair High School. He received a bachelor's degree in sociology from American University in 1963.

Shortly before his college graduation, Kirby founded a construction company, R. Kirby Matson Inc. He served as the company's president until the late 1970s, when he began working for other metropolitan D.C. construction companies. He was a general manager for Cornett Excavation; project superintendent for Driggs and Company; and sight superintendent for both Regent Construction, now defunct, and Grade A Excavation.

He spent nearly 30 years in the construction business.

"It's something he set out to do early in life, and he loved it," Ingold said.

Matson, an avid pianist, also entertained at the Fox Lounge, Johnny's, and The Townhouse — all former D.C. Gay establishments. He owned and operated the now-defunct 1832 Club, a popular Gay bar in the late 1960s.

In the late 1980s, Matson served as the pianist for "The Elderados," a revival rock 'n' roll band composed of mostly straight men in their 40s who enjoyed playing oldies for parties and other events, Ingold said.

His hobby was reading about the nation's vanishing railways, and he was a member of Hot Box, a group of local Gay railroad enthusiasts.

"He was a complex man who enjoyed life's simpler offerings, including good friends. People knew where they stood with him. What you saw was what you got," Ingold said.

In addition to Ingold, Matson is survived by his mother, Cornelia Matson of Silver Spring; two brothers, Bill of Sarasota, Fla.; John of Virginia Beach, Va.; and his aunt, Marion of D.C.

Jerry Moore

Jerry Lee Moore, 46, of Arlington, Virginia, died Sunday, May 14, 1996, in Columbus, Ohio, due to AIDS-related complications, according to his longtime friend John Downing of Miami, Florida.

Moore was born Dec. 15, 1949, in Columbus, Ohio, where he was raised and educated. He graduated from Columbus Business University in 1972, and moved to Arlington in 1974.

In 1977, Moore began working for the National Association of Social Workers (NASW). His positions there included working as a research and control assistant, preparing and verifying membership applications, and, most recently, working in NASW's information center.

On weekends, Moore became a flea market and yard sale "fanatic," said Downing, and over the years amassed an extensive antiques collection, especially antique jewelry and postcards of the Washington area, said Downing.

"Jerry must have had 4,000 or 5,000 postcards," Downing said. Moore donated many of his collectibles to the Northern Virginia AIDS Ministry, Downing said.

Moore also enjoyed participating in area Gay pride celebrations, and was an "outspoken" Gay civil rights advocate, said Downing.

"He was really an activist for Gay rights," he said.

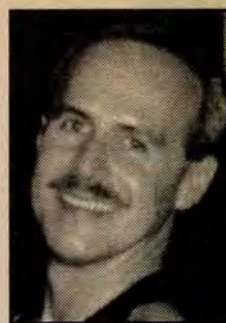

Moore was predeceased by his partner of 13 years, Maurillio Bravo, and by his father, Jasper Jack Moore.

In addition to Downing, Moore is survived by his mother Violet L. Moore; brothers, Mike Moore, Jack Moore, and Eddie Moore; and sisters, Virginia Yates and Betty Fenton, all of Ohio; and many other relatives and friends, including his friend Connie Spoon of suburban Maryland.

Francois-Auguste de Montequin

Francois-Auguste de Montequin, 47, of Washington, D.C., died at George Washington University Medical Center on Tuesday, August 20, 1996, due to AIDS-related complications, according to his partner, Dave Vetal, also of D.C.

De Montequin was born in Santa Clara, Cuba, on Jan. 27, 1949, and came to Miami, Fla., as a political refugee in 1960, said Vetal. He reunited with his family five years later in Albuquerque, N.M., and earned a doctorate in architectural history from the University of New Mexico in Albuquerque.

An expert on Hispano-Islamic architecture and Spanish colonial urban planning, de Montequin held a variety of academic positions, including chairperson of the art history department at Virginia Commonwealth University in Richmond and tenured professor and chairperson of the art history department at the University of Georgia in Athens, said Vetal. He also received several grants and fellowships, including a Fulbright Senior Scholar Research Grant, Vetal said.

In addition to academics, he was active in the D.C. leather/Levi community, and was a member of Sigma and the Atlantic States Gay Rodeo Association, said Vetal.

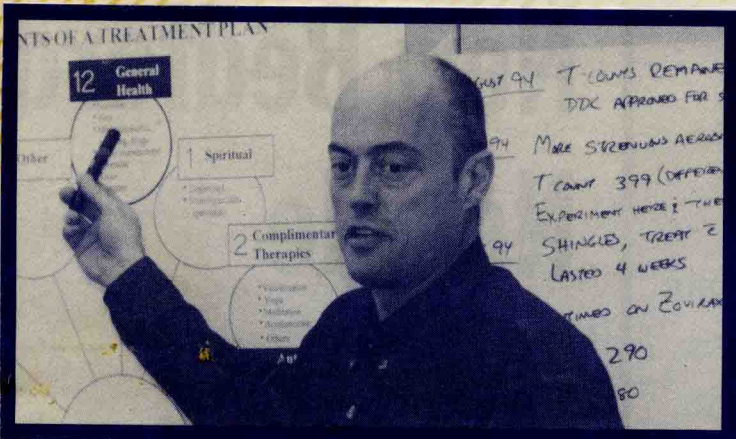

"His passion for life and quick smile will be sadly missed," Vetal said.

He was predeceased in 1994 by his partner Hal Sandin.

In addition to Vetal, he is survived by his grandmother, Mercedes de Montequin; aunt and uncle Fredas and Isauro Gonzalez, all of of Albuquerque; sister, Lourdes Barros of Beverly Hills, Calif.; brother, Jorge Barros of Miami, Fla.; cousin, Alfredo Carnot of Los Angeles, Calif.; his best friend, Judy Ball of Bethesda, Md.; and many other relatives and friends.

A celebration of de Montequin's life was held in D.C. on Aug. 24. A funeral mass and burial took place in Los Angeles on Aug. 28.

Paul Mitchell,
1949-1996

Paul Mitchell, the coordinator of AIDS Action's HIV Information Center, died on July 11, 1996 of complications related to AIDS. Paul started at AIDS Action as a Hotline volunteer in 1993, answering callers' questions about HIV and AIDS. In 1994, he began to volunteer for the Speakers Bureau, talking about his HIV infection and providing life-prolonging information to clients and those at risk for HIV. His personal experience with HIV led him to the Resource Library where he was hired full time in 1994.

He will be remembered for his sense of humor, his strong sense of dedication and his desire to continue to work at AIDS Action as long as possible. Among his accomplishments was the creation of an on-line database of AIDS treatment information so that treatment information could be accessed quickly and simply.

Paul was especially skilled at helping other people with AIDS understand their treatment options and was a passionate believer that treatments could sustain life and that people with AIDS have reason to hope.

He leaves many friends and will be greatly missed by his family at AIDS Action.

New Treatment continued from page 1

some anxiety and uncertainty. Client Services is working to support those who are unable to take the new drugs, as well as those who are doing well on them.

"At this time, we expect demand for our services to increase as people with AIDS look for resources to help them utilize the new treatments," said Kessler.

In addition Client Services is closing monitoring demand for services.

"While we don't know exactly what to expect, it is clear that this new treatment information will challenge many of our expectations around this epidemic," said Kessler. "As people are living longer and healthier lives, we expect an increase in demand for some services, a decrease in demand for others and a change in the way we offer others.

"There's a lot of change going on, however AIDS Action's commitment to advocacy, prevention and service for people with HIV and AIDS will remain critical," he continued. "AIDS Action will continue to be a strong and continuing player in the battle against AIDS and the prevention of HIV."

Gay prison AIDS doctor German Maisonet dies

by Cynthia Laird

96

Memorial services are being arranged in San Francisco and Los Angeles during the week of September 10 for Dr. German V. Maisonet, Jr., an openly gay prison AIDS physician who died quietly in his sleep Thursday, August 22 at the Washington Home in Washington D.C. of complications from AIDS. He was 48.

In 1991, Maisonet was head of the state Department of Corrections primary HIV treatment facility at the California Medical Facility (CMF) in Vacaville, and was a founding member of the Bay Area Physicians for Human Rights. He had also been a board member of the Gay and Lesbian Medical Association (GLMA).

Ben Schatz, GLMA executive director, told the B.A.R. that Maisonet's death is "a real loss."

"He was a pioneer in a lot of ways and not afraid to speak his mind," Schatz said in an interview. "He truly brought a lot of heart to medicine. It's not necessarily easy being an out African-American physician."

Born in San Juan, Puerto Rico, Maisonet moved with some of his family to New York, where he graduated from Columbia University with honors. He went to Yeshiva University and Albert Einstein College of Medicine, both in New York. Following his graduation and internship, Maisonet began his residency in pediatrics at Jacoby Hospital in the Bronx, New York. He also became a board certified infectious disease specialist.

Maisonet is considered by many to have been one of the most important HIV/AIDS physicians in the country.

He had been to San Francisco in late June to attend a summer meeting of the board of directors of the Correctional HIV Consortium (CHC), where he served as president. He had been a member of that organization since 1992 and continued to be very active in the consortium until shortly before his death.

In 1993 he became director of infectious disease control for the U.S. Department of Justice, U.S. Bureau of Prisons. He served in that capacity until last February, when he went on extended medical leave. He retired from the prisons board in June and received the Outstanding Service Award from the government.

Once he moved to California, Maisonet began to work with the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department and was then hired to run Unit IV, the state Department of Corrections' primary HIV treatment facility at the CMF in Vacaville.

Challenge the status quo

While at Vacaville, Maisonet was responsible for turning the HIV program into the nation's top-rated correctional infectious disease program. He also became chief inspector of prisons for the California Medical Association.

Study teams came to the CMF from as far away as Scotland, Italy, and Greece to observe and learn the various program elements that included the Pastoral Care Services (PCS) program. The PCS is a hospice care services program that Maisonet and Catholic Chaplain Father Patrick Leslie were instrumental in starting.

Other programs that were studied at the CMF included the peer education and prevention programs, as well as other landmark accomplishments such as the first display of the Names Project AIDS Memorial Quilt in a prison, and the first use of inmates as peer educators on the mainline of a prison.

It was while working with the East Los Angeles Health Task Force and the Minority AIDS Project that Maisonet became aware of the tragic situation that passed for medical care for people with HIV in the minority community and correctional system.

"I saw the same people time after time. They'd be in clinic and we'd follow them and get their OIs [opportunistic infections] under control and positively affect their wasting syndrome," Maisonet once said. "Then suddenly they'd disappear for a while. In several months they'd be back, and they'd look horrible. They'd been in jail or prison, and all our time, effort, and work had gone down the toilet."

It was then, he said, that he knew he had to devote himself to the needs of that constituency.

"I became aware of the horrible state of medical services that were generally available to members of various minority communities in southern California," Maisonet once said. "For the lack of access to adequate treatment and well-trained physicians, many people were simply hung out to dry. ... I could not let the status quo go unchallenged."

At the time he became a founding member of the Bay Area Physicians for Human Rights, Maisonet had an extensive practice in the Bay Area and was also involved with many nonprofit organizations.

Maisonet is survived by his mother, a sister, and nephews in New York, as well as by members of his extended family in Puerto Rico. Services were held Saturday, August 24 at Arlington National Cemetery in Washington D.C. Maisonet requested that memorial contributions be sent to the CHC. ▼

Kirsten Elstner for The New York Times

A Mile of Memories, and Heartache, on the Mall

10-11-96

The 9-year-old AIDS Memorial Quilt, with 37,000 panels made by relatives, lovers and friends of those who died from the disease — stretching nearly a mile on the Washington Mall — is the centerpiece of dozens of weekend events intended to focus attention on the epidemic.

John C. C. Mayo III

96

John Caldwell Calhoun Mayo, III, died November 12, on Nantucket Island from cardiac arrest caused by complications of AIDS. He was 52.

Mayo co-owned retail stores in Boston and on Nantucket, including the former Communications, a retail store on Charles Street in Boston. The store won several "Best Of..." awards from regional publications and was a pioneer in sophisticated, nontraditional styles in clothing, cards and gifts. On Nantucket, Mayo owned similar retail stores including McClure & Mayo and Modern Arts, a modern-style furniture and design store.

In July of this year, Mayo and his long-time companion Bill Ferrall became the first couple to register as domestic partners in Nantucket. Ferrall and Mayo had been leading advocates for the measure, which was narrowly approved by Nantucket town meeting this year. Mayo was a well-known volunteer and contributor to Nantucket AIDS Network.

Mayo was born into a prominent Ashland, Kentucky, family and graduated Phillips Exeter Academy at Andover, Massachusetts, Yale University, and the University of Pennsylvania School of Architecture. He is survived by Ferrall; his mother, Mary McClure Mayo of Sarasota, Florida; his children, Shawn, Megan and Richard of Middlebury, Vermont; his brother, Andrew of Ketchum, Idaho; and his sisters, Alice of Sarasota and Nancy of Ashland, Kentucky.

A memorial tribute to Mayo will be held Sunday, December 1, 1996, at 3:00 PM in the Unitarian Church on Nantucket at 11 Orange Street.

John Martins

92

John Martins passed away at his home at Church Park, Boston, on May 16, 1997, after a long and courageous fight to live with HIV/AIDS. One of John's last wishes was granted on his 42nd birthday this year. A Mass was held at the Jesuit Urban Center in the South End where John celebrated in thanksgiving for his life with those who had journeyed with him. It was a day of happiness and love, with John surrounded by his family and many friends. After spending most of the previous five months in hospitals, John went home after the celebration to live his last days lovingly cared for by the VNA, family and friends.

John had lived fully for many years with HIV/AIDS. He offered his talents and knowledge of the virus educating people about HIV/AIDS in the Portuguese community in and around Boston, volunteering at the Multicultural AIDS Coalition and For The Love Of Life Foundation. Another of John's wishes was realized a year ago when For The Love Of Life granted his wish to visit the Azores, Portugal, where he was born.

John worshipped at the Jesuit Urban Center regularly and attended the Last Tuesday Dinners for people living with HIV/AIDS at the Center. He was a member of the Boston Living Center where he enjoyed the Monday Night Dinners and lunches. He also participated in the Wednesday Dinners and worship service at Our Lady Of Victories. A client of the AIDS Action Committee, John enjoyed taking friends to events with the tickets he received through their ticket program. He walked every year in the AIDS Walk Boston and though he was in pain from neuropathy, John completed the walk last year with his daughter, Sandy. John's friends walked in his memory this year.

John will be missed by his many loyal friends. He will remain forever in the hearts of those who were inspired by his love of life and his strong constitution in fighting AIDS, especially Father John Carroll, Chaplain at Beth Israel; friends Joe Williams, Paul Timmins, Jean Marino, Janine Shahbaz, Barbara and Bob Humphries, John Piantesi, Bob Mason and Chet Smith; Roland, Annie, David and his nurses from the VNA; and those who spiritually supported him at the Jesuit Urban Center. We love and miss you, John.

CHESTER MYERS

1945-1999

My first memory of Chester is from a Toronto community center in 1989: This tall, handsome man was speaking passionately about the important role nutrition could play in maintaining a healthy immune system in the face of HIV. It was not your usual "take a multivitamin" lecture—Chester's talk focused on protein, micronutrients, antioxidants and apoptosis long before the terms became trendy. He considered most dietitians' recommendations for people with HIV to be, at best, primitive. It was amazing to hear state-of-the-art research discussed in such a practical way. Chester's speech influenced me to increase coverage of complementary therapies in the Community AIDS Treatment Information Exchange's (CATIE) newsletter.

Chester was a tireless man with a wicked sense of humor and a love for fresh lobster. A self-educated advocate—he had a PhD in biochemistry but was not a medical doctor—he considered his work since 1992 as scientific adviser to CATIE to be a political act. At a time when the Canadian government and trained dietitians were largely ignoring people with HIV, he produced brochures and traveled to outlying communities at his own expense to discuss nutrition.

In early August, Chester called to tell me that he was in the hospital. His death a few months later, from complications due to non-Hodgkin's lymphoma, came as a shock; that he lived with HIV for nearly 20 years is perhaps testimony to his aggressive use of nutritional supplements.

I've lost another mentor to this plague. I'll miss our monthly lobster dinners and his sophisticated insight. —Sean R. Hosein

WILLIAM N. MIETZNER

A memorial service will be held at Arlington Street Church, 351 Boylston Street, Boston on Saturday, January 31 at 4:00 pm.

A memorial service will be held for William N. Mietzner who died on December 23, 1997 of complications due to AIDS. He was 60 years old.

A former resident of the Bedford, Mr. Mietzner was an art teacher at Bedford High School for fourteen years. He graduated from Massachusetts College of Art where he received the Rachel Whittier Award for Outstanding Student in the Art Education Department. He received his degree for Master of the Fine Arts in Art Education from Boston University. For many years he also taught art-related courses through the Bedford Adult Education Program. While teaching he opened Arts and Flowers, a successful flower shop in Bedford. In 1981 he retired from teaching to devote his efforts to the flower shop. He was very active in the Massachusetts Telaflora Organization, serving as president. In 1986 he moved to Boston's South End. Two years later he opened Florette on Dartmouth Street where he established a reputation as a true neighborhood florist. Many will remember his wonderful papier maché decorations in front of his store.

He was the loving father of two daughters, Heidi Drake of Bedford, and Lori Pilla of Westford; and grandfather to Holly Drake, Scott William Drake and Stacey Pilla. He is also survived by his brother Walter Mietzner of Billerica, his sister Doris Giberson of Greensboro, North Carolina, and his life partner David Schumann of Boston.

Steve Michael

Steve Michael, age 42, founder of ACT UP/Washington, DC (the AIDS Coalition To Unleash Power), died on May 25 of AIDS. Michael's partner of seven years, Wayne Turner, gave the order to disconnect Michael from life support after his condition severely worsened that morning. Michael had spent almost four weeks in the Intensive Care Unit at Washington Hospital Center for treatment of AIDS related pneumonia.

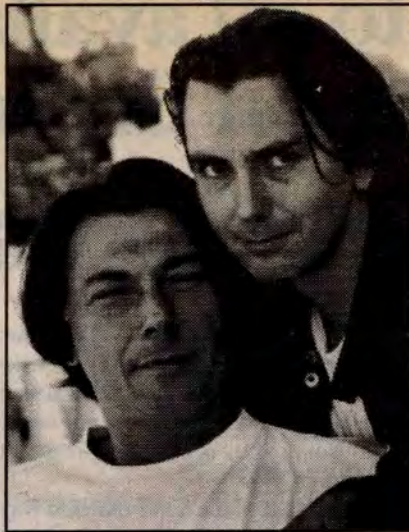

AIDS activists from across the country, and hundreds of local supporters including top District of Columbia elected officials, will meet in Washington June 4 to march Michael's body through city streets to the White House.

"If I die, take my body to the White House," Steve instructed Wayne Turner of ACT UP/Washington, Michaels' activist colleague and partner/lover of 7 years, as he entered the Intensive Care Unit of Washington Hospital Center. "Show the world that Bill Clinton has lied to and betrayed people with AIDS."

ACT UP chapters from New York and Philadelphia will transport busloads of activists to join hundreds of Washington activists to mourn one of their most dedicated fighters. They will march with drums, loudspeakers, signs and banners cataloging Clinton's unkept campaign promises as well as a 30-foot puppet depicting Clinton as the grim reaper.

"The fury against Bill Clinton's lies and inaction in the face of a growing epidemic is rising day by day," said Turner. "His own AIDS Advisory Council is prepared to walk out after his cowardly decision to deny funding for syringe exchange. The Congressional Black Caucus is calling for a declaration of a health emergency on the AIDS epidemic in communities of color. Steve lived and died calling for Clinton to address this crisis, and his fight will carry on through the work of thousands of other people with HIV and activists. Clinton is not off the hook."

"Steve Michael spent the last years of his life holding President Clinton accountable for his broken promises on

Steve Michael, left,
and partner Wayne Turner

AIDS," said Julie Davids of ACT UP/Philadelphia. "And now he has died an untimely death in a country where there is still no national health care, no funding for syringe exchange, and no coordinated effort to find a cure for AIDS."

Clinton, who has been the primary focus of Michael's activism for more than five years, promised in the 1992 election campaign that he would "make AIDS a top priority" of his administration by launching an all-out coordinated research effort to find a cure for the disease (the Manhattan Project). Clinton further committed to appointing a top-level AIDS czar with significant powers to lead the nation's efforts against the deadly disease, make federal funding available for needle exchange programs, fully implement the recommendations of the National Commission on AIDS, and make health care universally accessible, regardless of ability to pay.

Steve's mother, Barbara Michael, who is traveling from California to participate in her son's last White House protest, stated, "If this had happened to Clinton's kid, he'd be doing something."

— from ACT UP/Washington

Patrick F. Murphy, 38

Patrick Francis Murphy, a political activist and founder of For the Love of Life, an organization that grants wishes to those battling the AIDS virus, died October 9 at Beth Israel Hospital due to complications from AIDS. He was 38.

Mr. Murphy, a former resident of the South End, Beacon Hill, Provincetown and Worcester, was a political activist on the national, state and local level for most of his life. An Electoral College member and former member of the Massachusetts Democratic State Committee, he was on the steering committee of the 1988 AIDS Memorial Quilt when it was displayed in Boston during a national tour.

Mr. Murphy was also a delegate at the 1992 Democratic National Convention and leading spokesperson on behalf of AIDS.

Born in Worcester, Mr. Murphy was gradu-

<sup>98</sup>ated from St. John's High School before attending Nasson College in Springvale, Maine.

Although politics was his first passion, he spent many years in the hospitality and public relations industries and eventually started his own special events/fund-raising business.

He also founded For the Love of Life a landmark organization that grants emotional and spiritual wishes to those meeting the challenges of living with the AIDS virus.

Mr. Murphy is survived by a sister, Mary Alanna Murphy of Leominster; three aunts, Margaret Broderick of Sterling, Mary Brennan of Harwichport and Eva B. Hester of Clinton; one uncle, Bart Murphy of Clinton; and several cousins.

In lieu of flowers, memorial donations may be sent to For the Love of Life, 29 Stanhope St., Boston, 02116.

IN MEMORIAM

BY BARTON LIDICE BENEŠ

COPY BERG, JOHN BOSWELL, MICHAEL BOTKIN, HARRIET BROWNE, GAYLYNN BRUNETT, MICHAEL CALLEN, MARK CARSON, AUXILIA CHIMUSORO, KEITH CHRISTOPHER, DAVID FEINBERG, MORRIS FREED, ELIZABETH AND ARIEL GLASER, TONYA HALL, FRANK ISRAEL, DENISE KAHN, TEDDY KALIDAS, JONATHAN MANN AND MARY LOU CLEMENTS-MANN, KIKI MASON, NILES MERTON, STEVE MICHAEL, PAUL MONETTE, CONNIE NORMAN, SCOTT O'HARA, ILKA TANYA PAYAN, DAVID PETERSON, RAND SNYDER, ROD SORGE, TOM STODDARD, ROXY VENTOLA, STEVEN VISSCHER, CARL VOGEL, ROBERT WOOLLEY, NEVILLE YING, PEDRO ZAMORA, FRIENDS OF POZ WHO DIED OF AIDS IN THE FIVE YEARS SINCE THE MAGAZINE'S BIRTH.

Irwin Michelfelder

He gave ANSWERS + QUESTIONS ABOUT PEOPLE w/ AIDS in the Bay WINDOWS

I popped into Mike's Gym in Boston on Monday, the day after our "Ask Irwin" HIV issues columnist Irwin Michelfelder died, and the people I knew who knew him were shaken — and, in one instance, even shaking.

Irwin was a big teddy bear of a man. And what came with that big man's body was a heart as big as the proverbial "all outdoors" and the soul of an angel. When people discovered they both knew Irwin, they would invariably trade opinions about what a great guy he was and how lucky they were to know him. As one friend at Mike's said to me on Monday, "He was one of the good guys."

If you didn't know him, you only had to read his column to see evidence of his understanding heart, his relish for life, and his mind, which was sharp as a tack — a mind often exercised in the interest of cutting through the sometimes foggy thinking of his correspondents.

Irwin's therapeutic language included phrases like "cutting through denial," "reality check," and "I hear you saying," and once he got through redrafting the options that people's fantasies were really putting in their way, making choices was easier for them — and they had a better chance of saving their own lives.

I have no hesitation in saying that Irwin's columns in Bay Windows, which I edited, saved my life — one week he addressed a risky behavior I was hankering for and I was in danger of making a poor decision in regard to. If he could do it for me, he could do it for others. Other columnists may be interesting, far-ranging and/or funny, I don't know how many could actually, like Irwin, save lives.

In Irwin Michelfelder's passing, the GLBT community in Boston is a more vulnerable one. I hope people remember some of the positions he argued for, and, more than that, I hope they remember the man, so his healing influence can go on.

He died Oct. 3 following a prolonged bout of pancreatitis and related complications. He was born May 14, 1955 in Dayton, Ohio.

Irwin came to New England with his family in 1957. He was a graduate of Contoocook Valley High School in Peterborough, N.H. He obtained his bachelor's degree from Kenyon College in Gambier, Ohio; and more recently obtained graduate degrees in advertising and counseling psychology at Northwestern and Antioch College, respectively.

Long active in HIV counseling, Irwin interned with Victory Programs and was later employed by Postive Directions and Dimock Community Health Center as a mental health counselor. He also maintained a private mental health practice, in addition to authoring his column for Bay Windows.

He is survived by his mother, Martha Scott of Temple, N.H.; his father, Kenneth Scott of Delray Beach, Fla.; and by his brother, Mark Scott of Boyertown, Pa.

A memorial service will be held on Sunday, Oct. 17 at 2 p.m. at the Unitarian Church, Peterborough, N.H.

99

— Rudy Kikel

OF PEOPLE	PAGE	AGE	NAME	DATE OF DEATH
1	5-90		Gerald M.	3-9-94
2	32	64	JAN (MAC) MAC ALLISTER	6-19-94
3	57	32	Eugene Russell MacAllister	12-2-95
4	5	43	John R MacAuley	12-23-92
5	3	39	Robert MacAuley	1-1-92
6	9		GAIL MacDONALD	3-31-94
7	41		JAMES MacDONALD	9-7-95
8	P-43		Joe MacDONALD	4-1993
9	35	40	John MacDONALD	9-26-93
10	42	40	Kenneth MacDONALD	4-20-95
11	5-90		Michael MacDONALD	3-9-94
12	8	41	Michael D. MacDONALD	2-24-91
13	12	29	SCOTT A. MacDONALD	9-15-92
14	54	49	Doug MacELROY	5-16-89
15	22	39	DAVID H. MACEY JR.	1-11-93
16	47	47	Dennis S. Machado	7-25-94
17	39	40	LOREMIL Machado	3-11-94
18	15	48	Raymond MACIAS	1-18-96
19	18	41	Michael J. MacINNIS	10-26-91
20	6		John C. MacINTYRE	5-12-94
21	27	33	MATHEW Mackendrick	11-16-94
22	10	48	THOMAS D. Mackey III	7-29-92
23	20	33	Robin Mackie	3-15-93
24	28	31	Keith MacKINNON	5-28-91
25	2		CHRISTOPHER MACKLIN	3-31-93
26	7		Edmund B. MacLEAN	3-29-96
27	41	36	DOUGLASS TOWN MacLeod	11-2-93
28	15	37	DANIEL Frederick MacONE	10-30-94
29	51		THOMAS A. MacWhinnie	11-6-94
30	20	41	Bohdan A. MacZULSKI	5-24-93
31	59	39	MARC ANTHONY MADARY	3-31-95
32	57		Greg Madding	11-8-89
33	13	42	John Maddix	12-15-92
34	14	43	Ben Jeffrey Maddox	2-8-92
35	72	49	Jeff Maddox	5-17-96

OF PEOPLE	PAGE	AGE	NAME	DATE OF DEATH
36	14		Steve Maddox	10-9-92
37	A-35	37	Naomi MADERA	12-1-94
38	2		Thomas Madigan	4-17-94
39	40	35	Todd S. Madison	3-25-95
40	26	42	Dominic A. Madormo	3-9-92
41	5	43	Leonald Madrid	10-28-94
42	43		Joe D. MAESTAS	4-23-94
43	58	62	John Mag da LENO	3-7-95
44	24	45	DANIEL J. Magee	3-28-95
45	S-89		James WALLACE MAGNER	10-10-95
46	6		Donald Maguire	8-31-93
47	5	36	John Maguire	6-21-94
48	S-90		Michael Maguire	3-9-94
49	38		Philip A. MAGUIRE	3-8-95
50	S-90		TERENCE MAGUIRE	3-9-94
51	42	41	Jim Maher	1-21-94
52	41	66	CHARLES FRANCIS Mahoney	5-21-95
53	36		MARIA WELD Mahoney	12-22-94
54	75	32	MICHAEL SEAN Mahoney	11-1-96
55	2		Kevin F. Mahony	4-6-92
56	14	39	Jeffrey J. MAIENZA	3-29-93
57	A-34	37	MALCOLM MAILLOU	12-1-91
58	42	55	Bruce MAILMAN	6-9-94
59	78	48	DR. GERMAN V. MAISONET	8-22-96
60	7		ROBERT MALCHODI	5-29-90
61	26	32	ISABEL MARDONADO	6-27-91
62	40	51	Philippe MALEVAL	8-15-95
63	48	41	George Fredrick MALINCZAK	5-3-95
64	48	58	HOWARD BRYAN MALLAD	2-9-96
65	24	41	Charles L MALLARD	3-29-93
66	60		William C. Malley JR.	11-5-95
67	1	39	Gerald MALLON	12-5-91
68	69	41	Raymond ALLEN Mallory	5-31-96
69	6		LARS MALMQUIST	8-1993
70	67	48	GARY MALOBISKY	4-7-95

OF PEOPLE	PAGE	AGE	NAME	DATE OF DEATH
71	9	37	STEPHEN MALONEY	NO DATE
72	16	39	MALCOLM MALOOF	1-19-91
73	30	40	ALAN MICHAEL MAMBER	5-16-95
74	2	36	GEORGE MAMO	12-14-93
75	14		GREGORY A. MANCINI	12-17-93
76	60	50	KENN MANCUSO	7-20-95
77	17	42	ATTY FREDERICK MANDEL	NO DATE
78	8		KENNETH M. MANDEL	9-15-94
79	26		ROBERT MAUDEVILLE	7-9-91
80	14	41	MARTY MANFORD	5-15-92
81	8	29	DANIEL C. MANGAN	1-2-92
82	4	35	JOHN MANGANO	8-2-91
83	12	32	DAVID MANKABA	1991
84	42	45	CAROLE C. MANLEY	2-18-91
85	S-89		SCOTT MANLEY	10-10-95
86	70		DR. JONATHAN MAND	1998
87	70		DR. MARY LOU CLEMENTS MANN	1998
88	2	67	ROBERT A. MANN	5-12-94
89	22	43	JOHN B. MANNING JR.	8-25-93
90	4		SPYRES MANOLATES	8-5-91
91	1		GARY MANSIR	NO DATE
92	35		CATHERINE JUNE MANTER	5-16-95
93	S-89		RICHARD MARVIN MANWILLER	10-10-95
94	30	31	DAVID R. MANZIL	6-7-93
95	59	48	TAM MAPP	2-18-95
96	2	43	ROBERT MAPPLETHORPE	3-9-98
97	8	28	DR. ROBERT MARASCO	5-1992
98	39		LOUIS MARCELLO	5-5-95
99	60	53	DONALD MARCH	5-3-95
100	64	41	ROY MARCHLAND	9-4-95
101	2	40	CHARLES BERNELL MARCHBANK	6-26-94
102	C	40	JAMES MARCHBANKS	7-29-92
103	A-35	43	GABRIEL FRANK MARCHIOUCI	12-1-87
104	11	37	ROW JEAN PAUL MARCIL	1-6-95
105	2		CHARLES EDWARD MARCUS	3-29-94

OF PEOPLE	PAGE	AGE	NAME	DATE OF DEATH
106	14	68	FRANK MARCUS	8-5-96
107	30	49	GLEN ELGIN MARGO	2-25-96
108	54	40	ALVIN J. MARIA	1-1-96
109	A-34	35	GINA MARIE	12-1-93
110	49	35	RICK MARICICH	10-27-94
111	17	70	MICHAEL LOUIS MARIN	4-22-93
112	S-90		RENNY MARINACCIO	3-9-94
113	45	58	CARMINE MARIO MARINO	11-21-94
114	39		MARK	1992
115	27		IRVING MARK	6-9-95
116	27		JAY MARK	5-1-95
117	23	35	JACK MARKHAM	7-13-93
118	41	35	MITCH L. MARKHAM	3-29-94
119	A-36	64	GREGORY J. MARKOPOULOS	1992
120	16	28	THOMAS MARKOWSKI	1987
121	47	36	JOHN EDWARD MARKS	7-2-94
122	14		ROYAL S. MARKS	1982
123	7	58	DOUGLAS MARLAND	3-6-93
124	58	46	JOHN MARLIER	2-1995
125	35	48	WAITER WAYNE MARLOWE	11-9-94
126	3	43	PETER MAROOM	7-19-91
127	13	35	ANTHONY J. MARGOAROT	6-1-93
128	S-90		GERALD MARGUIS	3-9-94
129	56	67	ROBERT MARGUIS	1-3-95
130	1	43	MICHAEL A. MARSEGLIA	1-3-91
131	32	48	KEITH MARSH	9-12-91
132	70	43	MARSHALL	1991
133	16	32	JACK MARSHALL	10-26-89
134	4	28	JOSEPH MARSHALL	4-14-94
135	36	84	JUSTICE T. MARSHALL	1-24-93
136	S-89		KENNETH L. MARSHALL	10-10-95
137	43	42	RICHARD PAUL MARSHALL	3-13-96
138	18	44	RICHARD (RICK) MARSHALL	2-7-96
139	28	32	WILLIAM H. MARTEL	6-10-94
140	35	32	GREGORY E. MARTELL	2-7-93

OF PEOPLE	PAGE	AGE	NAME	DATE OF DEATH
141	43	39	ALLEN MARTIN	2-11-93
142	8	57	DAMIEN A. MARTIN	8-16-91
143	52	44	DAVID A. MARTIN	3-5-96
144	3	30	DAVID E. MARTIN	6-21-92
145	17	37	ERNEST MARTIN	7-2-93
146	20	38	JOHN L. MARTIN	1-17-91
147	64	36	JOSEPH MARTIN	12-8-95
148	14		KEN MARTIN	7-1988
149	2	25	KEVIN MARTIN	12-6-91
150	18	33	KEVIN MARTIN	NO DATE
151	67	47	LOUIS PHILIP MARTIN	8-13-95
152	48	39	LUC MARTIN	1-25-95
153	5-90		MICKEY MARTIN	3-9-94
154	22		PAUL BICKFORD MARTIN	9-28-93
155	21	36	RODNEY G. MARTIN	2-7-93
156	37	35	STEPHEN D MARTIN	9-8-93
157	49	40	STEVE LYLE MARTIN R.N.	1-25-95
158	46	33	TIMOTHY KEVIN MARTIN	1-23-93
159	71	37	WILLIAM SAMUEL MARTIN	5-19-96
160	80	42	JOHN MARTINS	5-16-97
161	A-34	31	JERRY MARTINE	12-1-93
162	6	8	ELIANA MARTINEZ	NO DATE
163	74	29	GABRIEL MARTINEZ	7-4-96
164	24	47	JERRY L. MARTINEZ	7-6-94
165	50	31	JOSE MANUEL MARTINEZ	1-9-96
166	69	41	PABLO MARTINEZ	9-15-95
167	2	49	ROBERT A. MARTINEZ	4-3-92
168	38	43	ROLANDO MARTINEZ	4-10-93
169	44	43	AL MARTINO	7-15-94
170	32	48	JACK MARTINO	7-8-93
171	5		DR. PAUL MARX	3-11-89
172	8	46	JEAN A. MARZONE	1-31-91
173	6	43	GARY MASCARO	12-2-92
174	68	41	JOHN JOSEPH MASCETTI	4-23-96
175	68	42	PETER ANTHONY MASCIARETTE	4-23-96

OF PEOPLE	PAGE	AGE	NAME	DATE OF DEATH
176	F-33		William Maskell	9-1-91
177	G	33	Joseph Masny	1-18-94
178	8	33	Bekinda Mason	9-14-91
179	61	35	CAROL MASON	12-10-93
180	A-34	46	Jim MASON	12-1-91
181	6	35	Jimmy MASON	12-18-95
182	6	36	Kiki MASON	8-5-96
183	28	43	Michael Thomas MASON	9-10-93
184	71	57	Roy Emery MASON	5-26-96
185	74	44	Wayne H. MASON	8-7-96
186	42	36	ROBERT MASSA	4-9-94
187	38	33	STEVEN ROBERT MASSEY	2-9-93
188	31	43	MARK MASSIE	1990
189	8		Edward Andrew MASSONI	1-8-95
190	85		JON W. MASTERS	8-8-94
191	27	35	Louis MASTRAPA	8-21-93
192	32	72	MARCELLO MASTROIANNI	12-19-96
193	7	47	BARRY MATA LON	8-18-95
194	41	43	CARL MATCHETT JR	5-12-94
195	12	37	ALAN D. MATHEWS	9-7-95
196	47	50	Greg Mathews	8-31-95
197	37	38	Willis J. Mathews	9-21-93
198	20	56	Joseph Hopkins MATHEWSON JR.	8-21-95
199	69	44	Lee Mathis	5-1-96
200	A-35	33	JAMES Jim 2. MATHISON	12-1-94
201	26		Michael Holmes MATINZI	2-16-94
202	53	45	LEONARD MATLOUICH	6-22-88
203	0-13	39	Matthew	7-1990
204	40		Michael Matthews	1-11-96
205	34	42	Tede Matthews	7-17-93
206	18	38	DAVID 2. MATTINGLY	2-2-93
207	30	46	PATRICK MATTIOLA	5-27-95
208	11		William Wayne MATTOCK	11-2-94
209	34	30	Michael Sean MATTOR	5-27-93
210	76	56	R. Kirby MATSON	9-5-96

OF PEOPLE	PAGE	AGE	NAME	DATE OF DEATH
211	19		Robert F. MATTSON	3-15-94
212	39	38	STEVEN MATTSON	4-11-94
213	2	44	John D. MATTUS	1-31-96
214	21	42	Gene MATYSEK JR	3-10-93
215	67	49	JOACHIM PAUL MAU	5-19-95
216	48		HOWARD WADE MAUER	11-19-94
217	15	43	Richard R. MAURICE	9-9-90
218	71	51	John J. MAUS	NO DATE
219	11	34	Richard W. MAUS	4-1-92
220	40	49	Howard John MAUSER	8-14-94
221	65	54	Timothy MAWSON	7-31-95
222	20	46	Bob MAY	3-2-93
223	16	57	WINSTON MAY	4-29-94
224	66	45	FRANK MAYA	8-7-95
225	66	36	Kevin MAYE	7-25-98
226	6	40	JAMES C. MAYER	12-8-95
227	A-35	33	Greg MAYES	12-1-92
228	80	52	John C.C. MAYO III	11-12-96
229	54	41	Louis EARL MAYO	10-16-95
230	A-34	39	Joseph MAYO Lette	12-1-91
231	16	45	Joe MAYS	1-27-94
232	32	43	LARRY MAXWELL	12-7-95
233	A-35	36	THOMAS ALEXANDER MAXWELL	12-1-92
234	52	47	Leopoldo E. MAZA	12-5-94
235	19	46	ALAN MAZER	11-19-94
236	64	47	DAVID MAZER	10-3-95
237	19	47	DAVID H. Meador	8-1-92
238	72	49	JAMES H. MEANY	7-17-96
239	55	50	LEONARD MEARS JR.	2-2-95
240	50	33	Bryon Mederak	5-31-96
241	2		Edna Ruth Medina	10-29-93
242	4	57	ALFREDO MEDINA	12-23-95
243	28	33	JAMES MEDINA	10-16-95
244	13		LARRY Medley	1990
245	67		BILL Medlock	5-24-96

OF PEOPLE	PAGE	AGE	NAME	DATE OF DEATH
246	39	37	Peter Medoff	4-17-94
247	33		Kenny L. Meegan	6-26-92
248	58	46	Timothy P. Meehan	2-10-95
249	10		Winifred Meeks	11-20-91
250	11		John L. Meeker	2-17-91
251	67	32	John Jack Meeks	8-10-96
252	A-34	33	Randy Meeks	12-1-91
253	56	42	John Magna	9-4-95
254	75	37	Steve McHALL	8-12-96
255	8		Lee Mehlig	11-22-94
256	8		HAN Gerd MEHRTENS	11-15-94
257	20		David Shem Meistler	10-31-89
258	30	72	ALTON Meisler	4-6-95
259	29	62	Richard N. Melbourn	3-23-93
260	33	40	Dr. Timothy McLESTER	1-8-95
261	A-34	49	Tim MeLevier	12-1-86
262	1	66	Jimmy Mellen	10-18-72
263	40		Ethyle Melnick	4-14-95
264	2		BRIAN Melnick	4-18-92
265	9	31	STEPHEN L. MELVARD	3-20-91
266	84		Memoriam (IN)	1999
267	79		Memorial Quilt in Washington	10-11-96
268	59	41	Richard MENA (EVA DAVIS)	4-11-95
269	2	63	John David Menaker	5-19-92
270	45	53	Pierre Menard	8-3-94
271	4		Andrew Mendelson	9-9-92
272	32	36	STEVEN TERMAN Mendelson	2-11-95
273	7	42	B. Edward Mendez	1-15-96
274	22	43	William Ernest Meneely	2-3-96
275	8		ABE Lardo D.S. Menendez	10-16-91
276	11	64	George F. Mendenhall	2-21-94
277	36		Jorge Romero Mendoza	4-1995
278	38	32	Mykel J. Mengert	6-5-93
279	29	47	Alexander Menizabek	4-27-93
280	43	37	Jon Mensinger	9-13-94

OF PEOPLE	PAGE	AGE	NAME	DATE OF DEATH
281	34	46	Ira Mer	7-9-94
282	S-89		RUSTICO MERCADO	10-10-95
283	55	47	JAMES MERCHANT	8-18-94
284	2	45	FREDDIE MERCURY	11-24-91
285	27	36	Michael Merdin	3-17-93
286	50	38	LESTER MERKLEY	5-1-95
287	46	44	John W. Meroney	9-12-94
288	A-39	68	JAMES MERRILL	1995
289	6	40	PETER J. MERRITT	3-1996
290	19	48	STEVE MERRITT	12-29-92
291	12	40	NILES MERTON	3-4-96
292	20	55	Richard J. Mertz	8-11-93
293	2		Eduardo G. Mesina	6-19-94
294	16	34	Daniel James Messeri	12-18-93
295	B-74		David Messier	1992
296	20	42	JAMES A. MESSORE	12-4-92
297	43	38	BRIAN MESTACH	6-7-94
298	20		ARTHUR METEZGAR	12-5-92
299	B-74		Rod Meth	1993
300	G		JACK METHEREL	8-1988
301	25	63	JAMES M. METROS	1-21-93
302	3	36	William D. Metz	7-8-94
303	54	55	ROBERT HOWARD METZGER	12-15-94
304	8	41	DONALD S MEUSE	6-24-92
305	33		DANIEL W. MEYER	8-4-95
306	67	59	DENNIS A. MEYER	3-28-96
307	74		HOWARD MEYER	1989
308	21	94	Belle Meyers	NO DATE
309	45	32	Jeffrey (Niles) Meyers	9-3-92
310	6	46	DR. JOEL D. MEYERS	10-27-91
311	37	30	John Howard Meyers	8-9-93
312	8		Michael S. Meyers	2-22-92
313	7	32	Michael S. Meyerson	2-4-92
314	11	21	Anthony Mexias JR.	6-9-90
315	27	34	Joseph J. Minno	4-24-93

OF PEOPLE	PAGE	AGE	NAME	DATE OF DEATH
316	75		Michael	1-31-97
317	63	42	Bradley Michael	10-27-95
318	82	42	Steve Michael	5-25-98
319	A-36		Malcome Michaels	1992
320	51	38	David C. Michaelson	9-4-94
321	A-34	50	David A. Michel	12-1-92
322	85	44	Irwin Michelfelder	10-3-99
323	A-35	36	Kim Michelides	12-1-91
324	A-35	34	Michael Dean Michitsch	12-1-95
325	41		Jan Mickens	1-1-94
326	A-4	31	Janelle Middleton	12-1-94
327	81	60	William N. Mietzner	12-23-97
328	A-34	40	Denwis Mike	12-1-94
329	52		Mikey	12-8-95
330	42	38	David Vincent Mikola	8-26-95
331	34	57	Wayne C. Milam	3-8-93
332	24	37	Danny ALAN Miles	2-18-96
333	66	50	Elmer Miles	8-25-95
334	68	49	GARY Lewis Miles	4-19-96
335	75	41	Jeffrey Layton Miles	8-23-91
336	59	44	John M. Miles	5-13-95
337	69	48	Charles Milhaupt	3-13-98
338	7	51	William J. Milheiser	11-21-91
339	12	34	Douglass P. Milinazzo	10-2-92
340	A-35	38	DAN MILLAN	12-1-94
341	4	48	William M. Millard	8-28-94
342	A-34	45	Aubrey Olin Miller JR	12-1-92
343	65	44	Charles Miller	7-12-95
344	52	32	CLAY FRANKLIN Miller	12-7-94
345	25	43	CRAIG Miller	6-7-94
346	11	47	David Miller	3-13-93
347	52		Frank James Miller	12-14-95
348	S-90		Glen Miller	8-9-94
349	17		Jeffrey Miller	11-1991
350	1	44	John Miller	11-11-92

OF PEOPLE	PAGE	AGE	NAME	DATE OF DEATH
351	A34	36	Kelli Miller	12-1-95
352	S-90		KEVAN Miller	3-9-94
353	24	47	LARRY A. Miller	1-25-93
354	19	42	LUTHER Miller	1-22-96
355	20	46	MICHAEL Miller	3-20-93
360	33	53	MICHAEL Miller	11-10-94
361	32	67	RAYMOND Miller	5-6-95
362	1	36	RON Miller	7-9-92
363	43	63	SAMUEL O. MILLER	2-5-94
364	36	27	SCOTT MILLER	9-12-94
365	46	47	TERRY MILLER	8-15-95
366	22	45	TIMOTHY MILLER	1-26-94
367	26		WAYNE MILLER	11-3-93
368	58	39	WILLIAM D. MILLER	10-22-95
369	20	22	DAVID B. MILLMAN	2-3-93
370	29	40	BOB MILLS	4-25-93
371	9	41	JERRY MILLS	1-28-93
372	49		ROBERT MILLS	11-6-94
373	6	47	ROBERT E. MILLS III	12-9-93
374	30	43	ALAN MILSAP	4-15-93
375	56	67	JAMES DALE MIMMS	10-27-95
376	17	31	MIMO	3-3-96
377	20	34	MARK BERNARD MINDELL	11-16-94
378	52	38	KEVIN MINER	11-13-95
379	8	87	MONETTE E. MINER	6-13-92
380	8	39	PHILIP MINGES III	8-30-91
381	47	37	DARRYL F. MINNEFIELD	11-23-94
382	19	28	CHARLES E. MIRABILE	7-5-94
383	65	45	THOMAS MARTIN MISCHKE	7-25-95
384	25		ERIC C. MISCHKE	6-28-92
385	27		DENNIS MITCHELL	4-6-93
386	34	39	MICHAEL MITCHELL	4-28-94
387	77		PAUL MITCHELL	7-11-96
388	37	30	PHILLIP J. MITCHELL III	3-4-96
389	18	65	VERNON MITCHELL	12-21-91

OF PEOPLE	PAGE	AGE	NAME	DATE OF DEATH
390	7		William P. Mitchell	9-27-91
391	38	44	Angelo MITCHEVER JR.	2-9-93
392	2		Thomas P. Mitcheson	10-23-91
393	45		ROBERT MAURILE MITCHNER	10-21-95
394	A-34	36	HELEN MITT	12-1-92
395	15	36	Robert MITTLE	3-1-93
396	20	26	MARNI S. MITEMAN	7-10-91
397	19	70	BOB MIZER	1992
398	65	37	ROBERT F. MOCATA JR.	5-13-95
399	38	34	PAUL A. MOEHRING R.N.	11-19-94
400	5		Randy Moffat	1992
401	20		Lee Moffert	8-27-93
402	49		Eugene Thomas Mohrman	1-14-95
403	19	38	Rene Mojena	4-22-93
404	41	31	John F. Mojzis	10-28-92
405	35	39	JAMES Philip MOLIGANA	5-13-95
406	4	25	MARY Beth MOLIGNANO	3-3-96
407	4		CARRILLO MOLINA	7-4-92
408	40	44	ANDREAS GONZALES MOLINAS	8-22-94
409	38	65	THOMAS MOLINARO	5-1991
410	23	34	THOMAS E. MOLINO	12-24-92
411	A-35	39	SAH MOLLOLA	12-1-93
412	B-34		Joe Molloy	1993
413	22		John T. Molloy	5-18-94
414	72	31	Kevin (Newfile) Molloy	6-28-96
415	A35	37	MARLIN MOMAN	12-1-94
416	28		Neil J. Monahan	5-1-93
417	8		FRANCISCO MONCION	4-4-95
418	57	49	PAUL MONETTE	2-10-95
419	27	50	PETER J. MONETTE	1-2-95
420	44	48	PHILIP H. MONFETTE	6-25-93
421	63	35	DWAYNE GILMORE MONGE	10-14-95
422	1	42	FREDRICK MONGUE	4-24-91
423	50	50	Joseph ALLYN MONICO	6-16-93
424	15	41	HANK F. MAIR	11-6-91

OF PEOPLE	PAGE	AGE	NAME	DATE OF DEATH
425	46		DONALD C. MONROE	5-8-96
426	69	44	DONALD CALVIN MONROE	5-18-96
427	24	42	MICHAEL MONTE	5-11-92
428	10	53	MICHAEL DEL MONTE	8-19-95
429	54	44	JOEY MONTELEONE	5-88-95
430	52	38	MARK DAVID MONTELEONE	10-23-95
431	76	47	FRANCIS A. de MONTEGUIN	8-20-96
432	5	45	CHARLES H. MONTGOMERY	8-21-94
433	A-34	44	LEVI J. MONTGOMERY	12-1-94
434	62	41	MARK A. MONTOYA	6-15-95
435	64	41	MARK V. MOON	6-19-95
436	4	42	KENNETH MOONEY	6-1-95
437	20		ROBERT MOONEY	5-1993
438	59	43	TIMOTHY MOONEY	1-30-95
439	58	44	ROBERT A. MOORADIAN	6-7-96
440	A-34	36	BRADLEY R. MOORE	12-1-94
441	11	35	BRIAN A. MOORE	7-21-94
442	44	54	CAL MOORE	6-13-94
443	15	27	DARYL MOORE	8-10-88
444	24	44	GEORGE MOORE	9-26-94
445	55	40	JACK EUGENE MOORE	6-5-95
446	76	46	JERRY LEE MOORE	5-14-96
447	29	42	JIM MOORE	5-20-93
448	7	28	JOHN E. MOORE	12-9-91
449	A-35	32	PAUL DALE MOORE	12-1-92
450	36	55	ROBERT P. MOORE JR.	12-31-92
451	A35	26	VICTOR E. MOORE	12-1-94
452	46		WILLIAM (BILL) MOORE	6-23-94
453	33	45	W.J. BRANDY MOORE	10-14-94
454	14	45	NED MORAGHAN	1-31-94
455	20		GEORGE C. MORALES	2-7-94
456	11	36	RALF MORALES	4-13-93
457	23	44	JACQUES MORALI	11-15-91
458	16	45	JACK MORAN	3-5-94
459	5	49	JERRY MORAN	12-22-95

OF PEOPLE	PAGE	AGE	NAME	DATE OF DEATH
460	40	31	STEPHEN H. MORAN	4-30-95
461	66	53	TROY NOEL MORAN	1-23-95
462	45	34	WAYNE MORAN	8-5-94
463	44	40	GENE W. MORAND	10-23-94
464	54		HARVEY MORDETSKY	10-24-96
465	52	43	DENNIS R. MOREAU	6-26-95
466	2		JIM MOREHOWE	5-6-92
467	12	27	STEVEN M. MORELAND	7-15-91
468	42	36	GEORGE MORELLI	8-10-93
469	61	44	RICHARD MORENO	8-26-95
470	27	53	PATRICK D. MORETON	5-23-95
471	10	49	CALVIN MORGAN	6-6-62
472	S-89		CHARLES MORGAN	10-10-95
473	A-35	35	DAVID MORGAN	12-1-94
474	40	48	DOUGLAS W. MORGAN	9-7-95
475	51	35	JOEL DAVID MORGAN	7-11-95
476	57	40	KENNY MORGAN	3-1-95
477	6		PETER MORGAN	3-15-92
478	20	40	MEYER MORGONSTERN	3-26-94
479	3	32	JOSEPH J. MORICONI	5-14-94
480	8	38	DAVID F. MORIN	7-10-91
481	61	42	JEAN LOUIS MORIN	5-24-95
482	69	35	BILL MORONG	6-7-96
483	4	33	TONY MORREALE	7-12-90
484	A-35	46	ALLEN D. MORRIS	12-1-93
485	27		CLINTON F. MORRIS	8-6-95
486	19	32	PAL LEE MORRIS	12-9-95
487	62	42	DOUGLAS FORREST MORRIS	5-26-95
488	23	51	JULIAN MORRIS	4-18-93
489	72	39	JON ALAN MORRIS	10-18-96
490	28	53	KENNETH MORRIS	7-5-95
491	35	32	SCOTT A. MORRIS	11-9-93
492	66	42	STEVEN EARL MORRIS	9-7-95
493	22	33	THEODORE J. TED MORRIS	1-31-95
494	S-89		WINSTON H. MORRIS	10-10-95

OF PEOPLE	PAGE	AGE	NAME	DATE OF DEATH
495	74		Doug Morrison	8-19-91
496	26		John C. Morrison	1-18-94
497	62	30	Ken J. Morrison	3-24-95
498	44	33	Peter Shaun Morrison	9-4-94
499	32	33	Richard Morrison	12-24-93
500	55	33	Stephanie J. Morrison	11-11-95
501	56	30	Mark Morrisroe	1989
502	49	26	Walter Eugene Moraisette	9-22-94
503	19	42	Michael T. Morrissey	4-14-94
504	43	53	Allen Morrow	1-2-94
505	J-89		Chris B. Morrow	10-10-95
506	40		Keith Todd Morrow	1-20-96
507	1	45	Paul Morse	8-7-92
508	11	39	Gerald W. Morton	12-15-92
509	48	34	Mark Scott Morton	11-11-94
510	A34	31	Jo Robin Mosberg	12-1-93
511	40	44	Franco Moschino	9-18-94
512	39	53	Jose T. Moscoso	1-12-94
513	A34	46	Woody Moseley	12-1-93
514	7		Michael Warren Moses	5-1-94
515	63	42	Frederick G. Mosher	10-9-95
516	64	32	James L. Mosley	6-28-95
517	8		Richard Charles Moss	1-9-95
518	56	47	Kevin Mossier	4-30-96
519	63	47	Dick W. Mastert	5-23-95
520	37		Mobilizing Mothers	4-19-92
521	11	46	Gustavo A. Motta	2-6-93
522	S-90		Mark Mousseau	3-9-94
523	A35	40	Bernard Moutarello	12-1-90
524	38	42	Daniel E. Mouelle	6-28-95
525	71	32	David Moya	6-25-96
526	18	34	Steven Moya	4-1993
527	3	43	Robert L. Moyer	7-1991
528	47	40	Russell Moyer	10-28-94
529	15		John Moylan	4-21-90

OF PEOPLE	PAGE	AGE	NAME	DATE OF DEATH
S30	11	35	MARK MOYLETTE	12-19-91
S31	70	44	WILLIAM (BILLY) A. MOZINGO	6-11-96
S32	4		TODD R. MUCARO	8-21-91
S33	6	55	RONALD MUCHNICK	1-4-94
S34	7	30	DOMINIC MUDD	5-7-92
S35	60	24	CHRISTAIN MUELLER	9-8-95
S36	6	40	COOKIE MUELLER	NO DATE
S37	26	47	KENNETH S. MUELLER	12-17-93
S38	41	31	SCOTT ALBERT MUEENCH	7-1-93
S39	4	42	CHARLES MULBERGER	1-5-92
S40	7	59	JOHN MULDER	10-18-91
S41	45	31	ALBERT MULETT	11-10-94
S42	28	46	MICHAEL MULLER	2-28-95
S43	63	34	RUSSELL F. MOLLIGAN	10-17-95
S44	47	52	WILLIAM MOLLIGAN	5-3-95
S46	4		KARL MOLLINGS	6-8-94
S47	A35	37	MICHAEL EUGENE MULLINS	12-1-93
S48	21	25	SCOTT EUGENE MULLINS	2-1-93
S49	40	37	KEITH RAY MULSEKE	2-12-94
S50	19	48	PETER B. MUMFORD	3-29-93
S51	23	28	FRANK M. MUNDAY	3-24-94
S52	10	45	BOB MUNDSTOCK	10-11-92
S53	21	58	EUGENE C. BRAUN MUNK	6-2-93
S54	18	35	GLEN MUNROE	8-8-92
S55	58	40	MARK E. MUNSEN	8-5-96
S56	23		MICHAEL J. MUNSEY	10-5-93
S57	14	41	BOB JEFFREY MUNZER	3-12-96
S58	51	42	RAYMOND J. MURCHEK	12-10-95
S59	S-90		JIM MURNAN	3-9-94
S60	5	41	DOUGLAS JAMES J. MURPHEY	10-4-95
S61	13	54	FREDRICK D. MURPHY	11-7-93
S62	2		JOHN DIEHI MURPHY JR	4-15-91
S63	22	31	KEAN P. MURPHY	8-25-93
S64	28	36	LEO MURPHY	8-9-93
S65	A-35	43	MICHAEL O'DEA MURPHY	12-1-94

OF PEOPLE	PAGE	AGE	NAME	DATE OF DEATH
566	W-37		OLIVER MURPHY	12-1-94
567	83	38	PATRICK F. MURPHY	10-9-98
568	25	37	SEAN P. MURPHY	4-27-94
569	5	29	TIMOTHY P. MURPHY	NO DATE
570	20		DAVID MURRAY	3-6-93
571	7		JAMES K. MURRAY JR.	8-23-92
572	49	57	JAMES LAYTON MURRAY	12-9-94
573	6	34	JOHN MURRAY	10-29-89
574	34	42	MICHAEL JAMES MURRAY	5-15-94
575	30	42	MITT MURRAY	8-18-94
576	F-33		MOORE MURRAY	9-1-91
577	50	47	STANLEY E. MURZENOKI	12-24-95
578	4	28	PAUL C. MUSCATO	4-3-92
579	1	38	DAVID MUSSELMAN	9-23-92
580	50	51	JIM MUSTARD	1-2-96
581	59	33	JEFFREY L. MUZIO	3-20-95
582	80	54	CHESTER MYERS	1999
583	4	42	EDWARD MYERS	2-5-93
584	17		JEFF MYERS	9-17-94
585	46	36	KIM JAMES MYERS	3-1-96
586	4	53	RICHARD GENE MYERS	1-3-96
587	62		STEVEN JEFFREY MYERS	10-18-95
588	10	30	TEARY T.J. MYERS	8-28-90
589	24		PTTY. CLARENCE MYETTE	1-19-92
590	A-35	30	VINCE EDWARD MYLES	12-1-92
591	24		STEPHEN MYSHRAHL	6-15-96
592	8		JAY L. STANA'S	12-30-94
593	I-6		MICHAEL MISCOVE	NO DATE
594	73		MISSING PERSONS	8-19-96
595
596
597
598
599
600				