

Larry Josephs, 34, Writer About AIDS, Dies of the Disease

12-29-91

By ALESSANDRA STANLEY

Larry Josephs, a writer who described his harrowing, day-to-day struggle against AIDS with journalistic detachment and clarity in two articles for The New York Times Magazine, died Sunday evening at his brother's home in Freeport, L.I.

Mr. Josephs, who was 34 years old, died of complications from AIDS, his mother said.

In the second article, published in November 1990, Mr. Josephs described waking up after surgery for a collapsed lung in April 1990, the first seriously debilitating complication of the disease that he experienced. "My future, which had been receding into the shadows these many weeks, now seemed to be disappearing at high speed." He recovered, and was able to return to work for about a year.

Mr. Josephs was the public relations director of the New York State Urban Development Corporation from 1988 until last July. A graduate of Brown University, he began his journalism career as a news assistant at The New York Times in 1980. Mr. Josephs worked as a reporter at The Miami Herald in 1983 and returned to The New York Times in 1985 as a news assistant on the editorial page.

Diagnosed in 1987

Mr. Josephs first learned that he was infected with the virus that causes AIDS in 1987, when he agreed to take an H.I.V. test while participating in a psychological study by Columbia University on the reaction of healthy gay men to the AIDS epidemic.

Soon thereafter, Mr. Josephs became a voracious student of the disease, exploring medical avenues with the same spirited zeal with which he had once sought jobs and an affordable Manhattan apartment. He placed himself into what were then experimental treatments, such as the drug dideoxyinosine, or DDI. He also rediscovered his Catholic faith.

His second article in The Times Magazine ended with these words: "But if there is one lesson I have learned over the past six months, it is the lesson of powerlessness. You see, there is nothing I can do about it. Except hope, and dream, and wait."

Mr. Josephs is survived by his mother, Margaret Josephs, and his sister, Claire, both of Huntington, L.I., and his brother, Russell.

Peter Edmund Jones

September 14, 1959 - May 18, 1992

Peter was rewarded his final rest on May 18 with his lover, Barry, and family by his side at his home in Cambridge.

After moving to Boston from upstate New York in 1986, Peter spent several years working in fine restaurants throughout Boston and Cambridge.

After being diagnosed with AIDS in 1988, Peter actively involved himself in AIDS care and research. During 1989-1990, Peter was chosen to develop New England's School of Acupuncture's new program, AIDS Care Project on Clarendon Street.

Peter devoted all his time and energy in finalizing details and renovating the physical site. During May of 1990 through June, 1991, Peter served as director for the AIDS Care Project (A.C.P.). Peter was known for his great energy, resourcefulness, and determination in keeping the clinic and its services available to all who needed it. Peter was an active spokesperson for AIDS care, funding and alternative medicine for PWAs.

Peter will also be remembered for his wonderful humor, unconditional love for Barry, his family, countless friends, and for being an accomplished musician.

Expressions of sympathy may be made to the AIDS Care Project, 130 Clarendon Street, Boston, MA 02116, or to the Hospice at Mission Hill, 20 Parker Hill Ave., Boston, MA 02120. A memorial service will be announced at a later date. Arrangements by J.S. Waterman & Sons and Eastman-Waring Funeral Home.

Paul Jabara, 44, Actor, Singer And Disco Songwriter, Is Dead

By SHEILA RULE

Paul Jabara, a songwriter, singer and actor who won an Academy Award in 1979 for the disco hit "Last Dance," died on Tuesday at his home in Los Angeles. He was 44 years old.

He died after a long illness, a spokesman for Kaleidoscope Films said.

Mr. Jabara was born in Brooklyn and made his Broadway debut in the original cast of the rock musical "Hair." He created the role of King Herod in the original London production of "Jesus Christ Superstar" and wrote the book, music and lyrics for the Broadway musical "Rachael Lily Rosenberg and Don't You Ever Forget It!"

He moved to Los Angeles in the 1970's, and wrote "Last Dance," which was featured in the 1978 movie "Thank God It's Friday" and was a hit for Donna Summer. It won the Oscar for best original song, as well as a Grammy Award and went platinum and gold on the record charts.

His other songwriting credits include "The Main Event," performed by Barbra Streisand; "Enough Is Enough," sung as a duet by Ms. Streisand and Ms. Summer; "Work That Body," by Diana Ross; "It's Raining Men," by the Weathergirls, and "Two Lovers," by Julio Iglesias. Mr. Jabara was also a producer of Ms. Streisand's Grammy Award-winning "Broadway Album."

Among his own albums are "Shut Out," "Keeping Time," "Paul Jabara," "The Third Album," "Paul Jabara and Friends," which featured Whitney Houston, "De La Noche (The True Story)" and "Paul Jabara's Greatest Hits and Misses."

Mr. Jabara appeared in the films "Midnight Cowboy," "The Lords of Flatbush," "The Day of the Locust," "Honky-Tonk Freeway," "Star 80," "Legal Eagles" and the recent Paul Schrader film, "Light Sleeper." His television appearances included the series "Starsky and Hutch," "Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman," "The Equalizer" and the made-for-television movies "The Last Angry Man" and "Out of the Darkness."

He is survived by two sisters, Deiores Jabara of Westport, Conn., and Claudette Hadad of Brooklyn. 10-6-92

Andy Jarrett

March 15, 1961 - July 21, 1993

Andy's earthly life expired on the evening of July 21, 1993 in my arms and in the company of friends, with dignity, courage and much peace in his spirit.

There are no words to thank the staff and volunteers at Coming Home Hospice except to say, when you walk by 115 Diamond St., look up, it's a magical place.

I also want to thank the staff at Garden Sullivan with a special thank you to Chris Lehr.

No memorial in S.F. is planned at this time.

Marty James, 38, Dies; A Counselor on AIDS

12-25-91

WEST HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Jan. 5 (AP) — Marty James, a counselor who said on national television that he helped people with AIDS commit suicide, took his own life after battling the disease, a friend said. He was 38 years old.

Mr. James died on Dec. 25 at his West Hollywood home after taking sleeping pills, his companion, Steven Kanengiser, said over the weekend. "The pain became unmanageable," Mr. Kanengiser said.

On March 31, 1988, on ABC's "Nightline," Mr. James described how he helped a friend with AIDS-related complex end his life by mixing a lethal dose of barbiturates in a glass of grape juice.

"He had lived a very good life and he wanted a very good death," Mr. James said on the news show, noting that he, too, had the disease.

Mr. James later said he helped at least eight men with the acquired immune deficiency syndrome commit suicide over five years.

Survivors accused him of murder, but prosecutors declined to file criminal charges, saying their investigations turned up no evidence beyond Mr. James's statements.

In 1983, Mr. James helped found the Los Angeles chapter of the Shanti Foundation, which trains volunteer counselors to work with AIDS patients. Mr. James left the organization in 1985 and worked as a private counselor on terminal illness. The Shanti group disavowed his views on assisted suicide.

Clifford Jahr, 54, Dies; Entertainment Writer

8-791

Clifford Jahr, a writer who specialized in the world of entertainment, died Tuesday at New York Hospital. He was 54 years old.

He died of AIDS, said his sister, Beverly J. Murphy.

After writing a number of newspaper and magazine profiles of entertainers, Mr. Jahr collaborated with Cheryl Crane, the daughter of Lana Turner, in telling her life story in "Detour: A Hollywood Story," which became a best seller.

Mr. Jahr, who was born in St. Paul, graduated from the University of Wisconsin at Madison.

His profiles appeared in Ladies' Home Journal, Rolling Stone, People, Playboy, Cosmopolitan, The New York Times and The Village Voice.

At the time of his death he was working with Barbara Sinatra, the wife of Frank Sinatra, on a book about her life.

He is survived by his mother, Esther Jahr Kelly of Chicago; his sister, of Sycamore, Ill.; three nieces, and a nephew.

A memorial service is to be held on Friday at 11:30 A.M. at the Frank Campbell Funeral Chapel, Madison Avenue and 81st Street.

Robert E. Joyce, 38, of Boston, pharmacist

Robert E. Joyce of Boston, a pharmacist who trained people to administer home dialysis and chemotherapy, died Thursday at the Hospice at Mission Hill after a long illness. He was 38.

Born in Boston, Mr. Joyce grew up in West Roxbury, where he graduated from Holy Name School and Catholic Memorial High School.

He attended Boston College and graduated from the University of Illinois where he received a pharmaceutical degree. He became interested in the field of pharmacy during his employment at Beth Israel Hospital.

Mr. Joyce worked as a pharmacist for Travenol, a medical company based in Chicago, for 12 years until he became ill.

He is survived by his mother, Dorothy L. (Porter) of West Roxbury; two brothers, Arthur T. of Revere and Francis Porter of Sharon; five sisters, Eileen L. Lambert of Canton, Elizabeth A. Hawkes of Sandy, Utah, Frances Cardello of Londonderry, N.H., Dorothy Wilson of Franklin and Jeanne Falvey of Stoughton; and several nieces and nephews.

Burial will be private.

Bill Johnson

January 4, 1993

Billy (Bill) Johnson began his spiritual journey from this plane at 12:20 p.m., January 4, 1993. In the presence of his beloved sister Geneva. "I am at peace," is the constant assurance Bill offered to us as he made his transition to the light.

He is remembered with love by his family in Alabama, his father, brothers and sisters, by his extended family and friends in San Francisco, his co-workers and medical staff at Pacific Presbyterian hospital, and everyone else that he smiled upon in this lifetime.

Bill was a Captain in the Army and a champion African Violet grower. He dabbled in everything from knitting and body building to making furniture and writing poetry. A hunk of a man with a gentle heart, one of the things he was most proud of was supporting Rev. Carol Webber in teaching the course in miracles.

Bill was a seeker of spirit and in the full sunlight of day he ascended in quiet, in innocence, and wholly without fear, to find his peaceful home with those who have gone before him. A poem he wrote to his sister as a child when she went away on a trip was, "Roses are red, Violets are blue, While you're away, I'll love and miss you." To that I might add, he will be missed sorely by his friends Peggy, George and Gary. Bill's body was cremated and a memorial service was held in honor of his life on Friday, January 8, 1993. ▼

Baron E. Johnson

July 21, 1964 — July 17, 1993

litical organizer, died of complications from AIDS Aug. 10 in Paducah, Ky. He was 26. Jerrell was executive director of the Kentuckiana People With AIDS Coalition.

Jim Jones

Jan. 5, 1959 - May 25, 1993

Jim Jones, brother, lover, son and friend to many let go of life and passed beyond us on May 25, 1993 at 1:31 p.m. with friends and family by his side. He is loved. Jim's short, fierce battle with AIDS ended peacefully in his home in San Francisco. He was born on January 5, 1959 in San Francisco and raised in Napa. He returned to San Francisco and quickly built the highly successful FOOTE PLUMBING COMPANY which provided outstanding service to a diverse community.

Jim was an athletic individual who loved skiing, boating, working with his hands, roughing it up and flying down the highway on his motorcycle. Many enjoyed a better quality of life because of the homes he renovated.

He had a hilarious laugh and always a devilish twinkle in his eyes. Though not a man of many words, Jim had a big heart and an open hand to help his friends. In his last years, Jim turned his energies and resources to those less fortunate. He volunteered as a foster parent, tutored reading at area schools each week and participated annually in the CHRISTMAS IN APRIL PROGRAM, a project to renovate homes for the poor. He is already missed.

Jim Jones is survived by his extended family, Lafe Fowler, James Dugish, Leni Sloan, Flinn Atencio, and Marcia Thomas, his mother Lorraine, his father Bob, brothers Mike and Ken, sisters-in-law Suzzette and Jan, nephews Bobbie and Beau, niece Dessie, and many, many loving friends.

The friends and family would like to thank Ana, Sue, Tony, Anthony and Sheryl for their support and home care during Jim's final days.

Donations in his memory may be made to THE NATIONAL TASK FORCE ON AIDS PREVENTION, 631 O'Farrell Street, San Francisco, California, 94109.

A memorial is planned for Sunday, June 13, 1993 at 2 p.m. For information call 550-8166.

Praise God for sharing Jim's life with us! GOODBYE JIM! We'll see you on the other side.

J. Carey Junkin, an organizer of a mass same-sex wedding ceremony at the 1987 national gay rights march on Washington, D.C., died of complications from AIDS Jan. 11 in Los Angeles. He was 37. Junkin was also a cofounder of the advocacy group Couples Inc. 1993

JONES - Of Andover, Nov. 15, 1991. George W. Son of George and Veronica (AraKelian) Jones of IND. Brother of Miriam Passarge of OH, and Thomas Jones of IND. Partner of Domenic Cambio, Uncle of 4 nephews and 1 niece. Memorial Services will be held at a later date. Due to Mr. Jones' death with the complication of AIDS, donations may be made in his memory to Hospice of Mission Hill, 20 Parker Hill Ave., Boston, MA 01821 or The Strongest Link in Topsfield. Late President of ProP Art Inc. in Wilmington MA. Cremation in Mt. Auburn Cemetery, Cambridge. Arrangements by Bruno Funeral Chapel, 291 Revere St., REVERE.

Mark Jerome

Mark Aaron Jerome, 28, of Washington, D.C., died at his home on Thursday, March 4, 1993, of complications associated with AIDS, according to his friend, Bill Brockschmidt of D.C.

Born in Northville, Mich., Jerome graduated from Northville High School and moved to D.C. in 1983. For the following eight years, he worked as a waiter at many restaurants in the city including the now-defunct Cafe Beaux Arts.

In 1991, Jerome moved to San Francisco, Calif., where he lived briefly before returning to D.C.

Active in 12-step programs, Jerome was sober for over four years, according to Brockschmidt.

Besides shopping, other interests of his were drawing and writing poetry, especially poems to his mother, Katharine Barney of Northville. She described his writing as "truly a gift and talent."

Brockschmidt also said Jerome's life long travel dream was fulfilled in August 1992 when he toured England.

In addition to his mother and Brockschmidt, Jerome is survived by his father, Bill Jerome of Novi, Mich.; two sisters, Elizabeth Willis of South Lyon, Mich.; and Linda Gignac of Novi; two brothers-in-law, Dan Willis of South Lyon; and Peter Gignac of Novi; four nieces and nephews; many local friends; and a cat, Christina, Darling.

Jerome was predeceased by his close friend, Walter Pate of D.C.

A memorial service, where a poem written by Jerome was read, was held on March 11, at Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church in Northville. On Saturday, March 20, at noon, a memorial service will be held at St. Thomas Parish at 1772 Church St., NW.

His remains were cremated and the ashes will be interred at a later time.

Gifts in Jerome's name may be made to either Food and Friends, P.O. Box 70601, Washington DC 20024 or Whitman-Walker Clinic, Inc., 1407 S St., NW, Washington, DC 20009.

Choreographer and professional dancer and founder of the Rainbow Tribe, Carleton Jones, 37, died at his Back Bay home last Thursday, Jan. 28, of complications from AIDS. A memorial service celebrating his life was held yesterday, Feb. 1 at Impulse Studios in Boston.

Carleton, a native of Boston, was a member of the original Broadway cast of A Chorus Line for 12 years and was an acclaimed choreographer in Hollywood having worked with Paula Abdul, Madonna, and a number of other hit recording artists, creating his "street funk" dances and performing in numerous MTV videos.

His pride and joy, The Rainbow Tribe, a troupe of 27 Boston area dancers performed during this past year at Avalon and Bobby's to packed houses. Until recently, when Carleton became too weak to teach, the Tribe had been rehearsing for a planned road tour.

Carleton leaves his beloved life partner, Paul, and many friends and relatives in the Greater Boston area and throughout the country. 1993

Peter Daniel Judge, 30

Saugus native with Pacific Bell

Peter Daniel Judge, former manager of major business sales for Pacific Bell Telephone Co., died June 1 of complications from AIDS at Mt. Zion Hospital, San Francisco. He was 30 and lived in San Francisco.

A native of Saugus who graduated from Saugus High School and from Bentley College in 1982, Mr. Judge was named salesman of the year by his employer in 1984 and 1985.

He leaves his parents, Daniel and Barbara (Dupray) Judge of Naples, Fla., two sisters, Joan Judge of New York and Nancy Connolly of Weston, and his companion, Steven Munro of San Francisco.

A memorial service is planned.

Paul Jaspersen, 37, filed AIDS discrimination suit

LOS ANGELES — Paul Jaspersen, who sued a nail salon two years ago claiming he was refused a pedicure there because he suffered from AIDS, has died of the disease, his attorney said. He was 37.

Jaspersen, who died May 15, filed suit against Jessica's Nail Salon in January 1987, contending the business violated a West Hollywood ordinance that prohibited discrimination against people with AIDS.

A court found the salon did refuse the pedicure, but refused to issue an injunction barring such action.

Jaspersen's attorney, Gloria Aired, said Monday she would pursue an appeal on his behalf.

Jaspersen is survived by his parents and two brothers. A memorial service is scheduled Saturday. —AP

Gary Juran

March 15, 1955–July 8, 1993

Gary died in the presence of his loving family and friends after a long and courageous battle with AIDS. He will be remembered for his keen intelligence, refined sense of style, extravagant laughter, and high rating on the charm-o-meter. Gary had an enormous appetite for all the delights that life could offer, and a delicious sense of humor at all of the absurdities, large and small, that life could offer.

Gary had a B.S. from Haverford University, MBA from the Wharton School of Economics of the University of Pennsylvania. Most recently, he worked for Kaiser Permanente as a senior analyst.

He is survived by his husband, Tom Slatzer (a.k.a. "that bitch old man of mine"), dear friends John Chyka, Vivian Shelton, Michael Richman, Rob Fowlie, and a large group of admirers. Surviving family members include parents Gilbert and Virginia Juran; sister, Debbie Juran; brother, Jan Juran; and, if Gary has anything to say about it, his future sister-in-law Kimberly Peterson.

Contributions in his memory can be made to the Planetree Unit of California Pacific Hospital.

We remember his life with laughter, his loss with tears. Be strong like moose and save a deck chair for your boo-boo.

BRIAN DAVID JONES, 37

Michael L. Johnson

July 24, 1952–Sept. 17, 1993

In 1981 Michael arrived in San Francisco, a city he loved and enjoyed. On September 17, 1993, Michael moved to a better place, after a two-year battle with AIDS. In his own words, "I was sailing, and I lost the race."

He died peacefully at Mt. Zion UCSF, with his loving mother, Lillian, and devoted friend,

Michael is survived by his parents, Walter and Lillian Johnson; brother, Terris Johnson; other family members; devoted friends, Richard and Lee Toner; and many friends and caretakers, especially his physician Dr. Virginia Carafio, Diane and Diane at Mt. Zion Infusion Clinic, whom he loved dearly. ▼

Grai (Gary) E. Jumps

Jan. 15, 1941–March 15, 1993

Gourmet, traveller, sartorial fanatic, (Nieman's will sorely miss you, guy!) and party animal; son of Galen and Claudine Jumps; friend to Bob P., Robert, Dale, Roberto, Larry, Brad, Bob T., Sandy, John and Billy, and many others at his local hangout, the Polk Gulch, and much respected co-worker at San Francisco Unocal Corporation, Grai passed away at 3:15 a.m. He had been transferred to Coming Home Hospice a week earlier and was very happy with his new home. Every staff member and volunteer of the Coming Home Hospice is to be commended for their outstanding compassion, kindness, and patience in making Grai's last days on this Earth happy ones. As his friends knew, he was a very private person and requested that no memorial service be held.

His cremation was handled by Byrgan Cremation and Burial Services for scattering at sea this Spring. Those wishing to remember Grai are asked to make donations in his memory to the Coming Home Hospice, 115 Diamond, Billy Jefferson, 47, a Seattle AIDS activist who served on the board of the Northwest AIDS Foundation and won the titles of Mr. Seattle Leather in 1986 and Mr. Seattle National Leather Association in 1990, died April 12 in Seattle of AIDS complications (Seattle Gay News).

JOHNSON—Of Tyngsboro, Dec. 29, Royce E. Johnson, Jr., 37, a hair stylist for many years working on Newbury Street in Boston. Son of Royce E. Johnson, Sr. and Juliette (Daipe) Johnson both of Tyngsboro, brother of Mrs. David (Joyce) Everett of Georgia and Mrs. John (Virginia) Wallace of Calif. His memorial service will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 P.M. in Dracut Funeral Home, 2159 Lakeview Ave., DRACUT. Relatives & friends invited. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to: Lowell V.N.A. Hospice Program or the Merrimack Valley AIDS Project.

Thomas Lee Johnson, Jr.

Dec. 10, 1953–Feb. 11, 1993

Three-and-a-half years after his diagnosis, Tommie died peacefully from complications from AIDS. As he wished, he died at home in the arms of his lover. Tommie's bravery, courage, good humor and will to survive was an inspiration to all who came in contact with him. Right up to the end, he never lost his interest and concern for the well being and comfort of others.

Tommie was born in Louisville, KY., moved to Modesto with his family at the age of 10, and came to the city he loved 20 years ago to work his magic in cosmetology. He was truly a magician with hair, and sorely felt the loss when illness stayed his hand.

The oldest of eight children, he was predeceased by two of his brothers, Gary and Terry, who also died of AIDS. Tommy is survived by his lover, partner and best friend of 13 years, Alan Irving. He leaves his parents, Tom and Shirley Johnson, four brothers, a sister, and 11 nieces and nephews, all of Modesto. He also leaves many loving aunts, uncles and cousins in Louisville. A memorial mass and interment were held in Modesto.

A special thanks must go to the UCSF AIDS Clinic, and especially Dr. Harry Hollander and Sue Forstat, LVN, for their extraordinary care and compassion. Margie Neidorf, R.N., of Visiting Nurses and Hospice of San Francisco, contributed immeasurably to Tommie's care and comfort during his last 18 months.

These few words cannot convey the beauty and goodness-of-heart that was Tommie. To say he loved and was loved, had a truly generous spirit, a wonderful sense of humor, and an interest and curiosity in the world around him, is almost to diminish him. To say that he leaves a vast hold in the fabric of the world, and will be missed beyond mere words, is to pay him scant homage.

Rest now my sweet, and remember, there is no space between souls and we are and will be together forever. ▼

JACOBUS—Warren Ross, age 40, on December 26, in San Francisco of complications due to AIDS. He is survived by his wife, Kimberly Kroener and a son, William, of San Francisco; his parents, Evelyn and Neil Jacobus, of East Aurora, NY; a brother, John, of Reston, VA; a sister, Joan, of Kansas City; and many loving friends. His love, compassion and spirit of adventure will be forever missed by all. Donations can be made to Project Inform, San Francisco. 1992

JAMESON—Michael. A much loved and respected professor of the Theatre Arts Faculty at Marymount Manhattan College. Died at home in Massachusetts on November 11, from AIDS. He is survived by his longtime companion Phillip Sheehan. Founder of the Musical Theatre Program, Michael directed many mainstage productions including "Ah, Wilderness!", "Anything Goes!", "Side By Side By Sandheim". Professional credits include "The Doctors" and "Liberty Call" with the N.E.C. A memorial service will be held at a later date at the College. Memorial contributions can be made to Provincetown AIDS Support Group, Provincetown, Mass.

Paul David Jenkins

Feb. 18, 1955 — June 6, 1993

Paul David Jenkins died in his Silverlake home on June 6 from complications related to AIDS. He was 38 years old. Family and friends were gathered at his bedside when he died.

Jenkins was born Feb. 18, 1955 in San Juan, Puerto Rico. He graduated from Loyola Marymount with a Bachelor's degree in Accounting in 1987 and then found work in the Recreational Services industry, which allowed him to travel the world widely. He was first employed by Host International and then by Princess Cruises.

Jenkins also loved to travel for pleasure and was particularly fond of the Caribbean and the Canadian Rockies.

While he was in Los Angeles, Jenkins enjoyed splitting his time between Dignity/Los Angeles and Probe. His volunteer services included food delivery for Necessities of Life in his Saab and office work for the AIDS Healthcare Foundation.

In late 1986, he met Joel Workin and after what the two have called "a charming courtship," they were married on Dec. 30, 1989. Shortly thereafter, they bought a duplex in Silverlake. Jenkins was an avid gardener, and both he and Workin could usually be found around back on any sunny day. Jenkins was most proud of his lily pond, which he built in the backyard.

Both Jenkins and Workin were active in Dignity and Lutherans Concerned, as well as St. Matthew's Lutheran Church in North Hollywood.

His wit, humor, rigorous and retentive logic, and tasteful food preparation skills will be sorely missed by all who knew him.

Jenkins is survived by his husband Joel; his father and stepmother; and two sisters. Donations in his memory may be sent to the Dignity/Los Angeles AIDS Fund, P.O. Box 42040, Los Angeles, CA 90042.

Joseph Paul Jackson, M.D.

Oct. 13, 1944–April 6, 1993

Joseph Paul Jackson, M.D., age 48, died peacefully at home in San Francisco on April 6, 1993. Born October 13, 1944, in Houston, Texas to Kathleen Swann and Joseph Peter Jackson; his grandparents, Mae and Claude Swann, raised Paul from age six. He displayed early talents in science and music, performing on the piano and English horn.

He was granted degrees by the University of Texas at Austin in 1966 and the University of Texas Medical Center in Galveston in 1970. Upon completing his internship at John Peter Smith Hospital in Fort Worth, Texas, and additional study in orthopedic surgery in Essex Hospital, England, he was commissioned in the U.S. Navy, where he served as staff physician/surgeon from 1971 to 1976 in Corpus Christi, Houston and Treasure Island, California. He was awarded the Joint Services Commendation Medal. Honorably discharged as a Lieutenant Commander, he began private medical practice in San Francisco, where he was the first residency trained, Board Certified, Family Practitioner at California Pacific Presbyterian Hospital, becoming later a Fellow of the American Academy of Family Physicians. Here he met and shared nine years with Fred Beckmann, his loving and supportive companion until his death in 1988. From 1982 until 1987, Paul lived and practices medicine in Willits, CA at the Becket Creek Clinic and Howard Center in Santa Rosa.

In 1987 he returned to San Francisco to join the medical staff at the Community Health Clinic. Although he enjoyed and explored many interests during his life, including music, astronomy, archaeology and theology, he maintained a special devotion to the Opera. He is survived by his father and mother, J.P. and Marie Jackson of Houston; grandmother, Mae Swann of La Porte, Texas; numerous aunts, uncles and cousins; and many loving and caring friends, former patients and colleagues in California, Missouri and Texas.

A requiem Mass will be said at the Episcopal Church of the Advent, 261 Fell Street, San Francisco, at 4:30 p.m. on Thursday, April 15th.

Memorial gifts may be sent to the J. Paul Jackson Thank Offering Memorial, the Episcopal Church of the Advent, 216 Fell Street, San Francisco,

JOLIE—Mark, 41, died on September 9, 1993, after a long and valiant battle with AIDS. Mark was Financial Administrator for The New York City Opera, an organization he loved and which loved him. He celebrated life with vitality, style and infectious humor. In sickness and in health, he devoted his efforts and inexhaustible energies to helping and comforting those suffering from the disease that ultimately took his life. Through his work with such agencies as: GMHC, God's Love We Deliver, and the Community Health Project, on whose board he served, Mark wrote his legacy in the hundreds of lives he touched. Mark is survived by his parents Marjorie and George, his sisters Georgeanne and Kathleen and innumerable friends who mourn his loss and will cherish his memory forever. Memorial services in New Jersey are scheduled for 10 A.M., September 25th, at St. Patrick's Church, Chatham, New Jersey. Memorial service in Manhattan will be scheduled in early October and announced later. Please make donations to God's Love We Deliver.

David Jacks

David Preston Jacks, 46, died on Friday, April 16, 1993, at his home in Richmond, Virginia, of complications associated with AIDS, according to his close friend and companion, Jim Johnstone of Washington, D.C.

Born and raised in San Jose, Calif., Jacks was active in many organizations. He marched with his high school, the W.C. Overfelt High School, in the Rosebowl Parade in 1962. He served in the Coast Guard from 1966-1968 on active status and was stationed in Alabama and Florida. He completed his reserve duty in 1970 and was honorably discharged with a rank of sonarman third class.

Jacks moved to Richmond to attend the Virginia Commonwealth University. He graduated in 1973, when he also received the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts' Certificate of Distinction for works now in the Sovran Center and Martin Agency Collections in Richmond, Va.

Jacks co-founded and co-managed Scandinavian Interiors, a prosperous contemporary design and furnishings company in Richmond.

Jacks was also active in the Richmond AIDS Ministries for a time.

"David loved traveling, the sun and the beach, making new friends, dining, working out, film, nature, and design challenges," according to Johnstone. "He often thought of and helped those he cared for above and beyond his own needs."

Painting, drawing, photography, and sculpting were among some of Jack's other interests.

In addition to Johnstone, Jacks is survived by his partner in life, Stanley G. Rothenberg of Richmond, Va.; two brothers, Edward Jacks; and Arthur Jacks, both of Calif.; his best friend, Michael Murray of Houston, Texas; nieces and nephews in California; and many other friends in Richmond, Washington, and throughout the state of California.

A memorial service was held April 19 at the Joseph W. Bliley Funeral Home at the Staples Mill Chapel in Richmond, Va. He was buried that day at Greenwood Memorial Gardens in Goochland County, Va.

Contributions may be made in his name to the Richmond Organization for Sexual Minority Youth, P.O. Box 5542, Richmond, VA 33220.

GERALD JACOBSON

Dec. 26, 1992, age 46

Stage actor, radio deejay, and singer with San Diego's Men's Chorus.

David Johnson, teacher and gay activist 93

David Johnson, a long time gay activist and teacher in Boston Public Schools for 17 years, died Thursday, May 6, from complications due to AIDS at age 41. Johnson is survived by his parents, Joseph and Margaret Johnson of Monroe, MI, his siblings, Joanne, Robert, Lucille, Calvin, Jesse and Vienta, all of Michigan and brother Stanley of Nevada, as well as many other loving relatives and countless friends.

Johnson was active in the Greater Boston Lesbian/Gay Political Alliance for many years, serving several terms on its Board. He was also active in Men of All Colors Together and other community organizations.

Close friend Michael Cronin said that Johnson will be fondly remembered for his commitment to diversity and inspiring gay and lesbian people of color into activism in the Alliance and the gay community in general.

Johnson retired from his Board position in the Alliance shortly after coming out as HIV-positive at the December, 1991 Alliance Community Recognition Dinner.

Johnson was known as a man of great humor and an avid reader and story teller. Many will remember his loving stories about growing up in his family with a Baptist preacher father.

As a teacher, Johnson taught history and civics, most recently at Boston Latin Academy. He was widely admired for his commitment to his students' education.

A memorial service was held on Monday, May 10 at the J.S Waterman and Sons Funeral Home in Boston. Further services and burial will take place in Monroe, MI.

Brian Jones, 38, who in 1982 cofounded Minneapolis Gay paper Equal Time, becoming its first publisher, and later joined the staff of the San Francisco Gay paper Bay Area Reporter, committed suicide May 20 in San Francisco.

Kazas Jones, 42, a prominent Seattle AIDS and Gay activist who served as the first president of the People of Color Against AIDS Network and served as vice-president of AIDS Housing of Washington, died April 4. Place and cause of death were not reported.

JOHNSON—Craig T., March 30, in Chicago of AIDS. Former member International Organization of Masters, Mates and Pilots, and NMU. World traveler, writer on AIDS and Syphilis. Craig had courage, will, compassion, and loved truth. Member St. Joseph's R.C. Church, Greenwich Village. Condolences to the family: 1002 Florence Ave, Evanston, IL 60202.

Pedro Jiminez 93

Our beloved friend Pedro left this world on June 1, after an illness that saw many of his friends share their love with him by being there when he most needed them.

Pedro, for many years a popular bartender in the Mission District, continued his career as one of the community's best-liked bartenders a few years ago at the New Bell Saloon on Polk Street until it closed; he since worked at the P.S. Bar on Polk Street until his illness recently forced him to take a leave from his last "home" place of employment.

A proud, handsome young man who made friends instantly with all who came in touch with him, Pedro leaves behind his father, Pete Jiminez, loving friends Mompey, Armida, Antonio, Ookie, Chuck, and countless other friends who will never forget his always warm smile and particularly wonderful personality. We miss you already, Pedro; rest peacefully.

A celebration of Pedro's life will be held this Saturday, June 12, at the P.S. Bar on Polk Street, commencing at 2 p.m. ▼

Barbra Jenks, who gained national attention for fighting her 1990 arrest for using marijuana to alleviate AIDS-related nausea, died of complications from AIDS March 28 in Panama City Beach, Fla. She was 25. 93

Douglas James, one of the first people to be diagnosed with AIDS in the Philadelphia area, died of complications from the disease Feb. 17. He was 36. He was found to have the disease in 1982. 1992

Michael James

May 18, 1950 - July 25, 1993

Michael James, Bay Area based chef, cookbook author, teacher, restaurant and hotel consultant, died in Kensington, California on July 25, 1993 of complications from HIV/AIDS. He was 43. With him at the time of his dying was his companion of 21 years Billy Cross, family and friends.

In addition to his companion, Billy Cross, he is survived by his parents, James and Nancy Vlamis of Berkeley, and his sisters, Barbara Vlamis and Polly Chavis of Chico and Catherine Vlamis of Cardiff-by-the-Sea, and his nephews Dimitri Chavis and Colin and Jordon Smith.

Michael was born May 18, 1950 in Oakland, California and raised in Berkeley. He attended UC Berkeley where he majored in French.

In the early 1970s he apprenticed as a chef in Paris at several establishments, including Fauchon, Restaurant Jamin and the catering kitchens of Gaston Lenotre. He studied in France with Simone Beck and collaborated with her on New Menus from Simcas's Cuisine. His own book, Slow Food, Flavors and Memories of America's Hometowns, was published in 1992. His magazine pieces have appeared in Food and Wine, as well as Bay Food.

In 1974 he and Billy Cross founded The Great Chefs of France Cooking School in the Napa Valley and sold it in 1983 to the winemaker Robert Mondavi where it continues to flourish.

In the 1980s he was private chef to Lurline Matson Roth of Matson Shipping and to Steven J. Ross, CEO of Time Warner.

He was active in the food and wine industry as a writer, teacher and consultant, and lectured on living with HIV/AIDS until shortly before the time of his death. His ashes will be interred in the town of Goodyears Bar in California's Mother Lode and scattered at his mother's ancestral home in the Loire Valley of France.

A memorial to honor Michael's life will held on Sunday, August 15, at 3:00pm, at Caffe Esprit, 235 16th St. (off 3rd St.), SF. For further information contact (510) 527-8743.

JOSEPH—Peter. With the death of Peter Joseph, the members of the Board of the Manhattan Plaza Foundation and the recipients of the Foundation's work, the elderly and people with HIV/AIDS have lost a good friend. He was never too busy to work for those who needed his support. We will miss his generosity, his humor and his compassion. Our deepest sympathy to his wife, Rita and their daughters, Stephanie and Tracy. Richard Hurnings, Chairman Manhattan Plaza Foundation. 6-29-92

JONTZ—Jerry S. Died of AIDS related causes on August 25. Deepest sympathy for his parents Warren and Macey Jontz and sister Jody McCoy. He is a wonderful friend and will be missed. Friends of Jerry Jon 7-18-92

JOHNSON—Marsha P. (aka Malcolm Michaels Jr.). We deeply mourn the loss of our beloved and respected member, a survivor of the 1969 Stonewall Rebellion. As organizers of annual Lesbian/Gay Pride events, Marsha was an inspiration for all of us. Marsha was an internationally acclaimed entertainer with Hof Peaches Review, Andy Warhol model, Anvil icon, and a legendary lady of the evening on Christopher Street and the West Side Highway. The lesbian and gay community, habitues of the Village, and nightclub aficionados will all miss her dazzling smile and unflagging good cheer. Memorial service Sunday, July 26, 3pm, Metropolitan Duane Church, 13th Street and 7th Avenue. Heritage of Pride, Inc. 7-18-92

Peter Jeremko

April 27, 1950-April 15, 1993

Peter, one of the premier gay athletes in the country, began life in Minneapolis and ended it, all too soon, after an eight-year long and painful fight against death from AIDS (K.S.), from the day he arrived in SF by way of Seattle, where he had befriended many and enjoyed his loving relationship with Fred.

He became one of the first and finest players in the C.S.L. (thanks, Irene). Peter played hard, but he could party even harder. Few are left to mourn his loss, but his legend will live forever. We went to many places together — how could you take the biggest trip of all without me? "There will never be another you."

Gary Jonker, administrator of Christopher Street West, the group that organizes the annual

Gary Jonker gay pride parade in West Hollywood, Calif., died of complications from AIDS July 30 in Los Angeles. He was 37.

David Jett

David Jett, formerly of Washington, D.C., died on Thursday, January 28, at his home in Denver, Colorado of complications associated with AIDS, according to his friend, T.J. McCabe of Washington. He was 34 years old.

Jett moved to Washington in the early 1980's to attend Georgetown University School of Law. He received his law degree in 1985, and, the following year, began working as an associate attorney for Keller and Heckman, a law firm in Washington. In early 1989, he moved to Denver with his companion, John Carter, and began working as an attorney for the law firm of Eiberger, Stacy, Smith and Martin.

Jett was raised in Salina, Kan. He graduated in 1980 from the University of Kansas with a degree in business. After his graduation, Jett studied for a year at the University of Mainz in Germany.

In addition to McCabe and Carter, Jett is survived by his parents, Harry and Ann Jett of Salina; brothers, Kirk of Salina; Charles of Hawaii; Andrew of New York, N.Y.; and Thomas of Chicago, Ill.; and grandparents, of Kansas.

A celebration of Jett's life will be held in Washington on April 24. For more information, call T.J. McCabe at (202) 328-7785.

Contributions in Jett's name may be made to the Colorado AIDS Project, 1576 Sherman St., Denver, Colo. 80203 or the Whitman-Walker Clinic, 1407 S St., NW, Washington, DC 20009. 1993

Jonathan A. Jackson

Jonathan A. Jackson, local resident of Provincetown and Boston, and a businessman, passed away Mar. 10 at the New England Medical Center, Boston.

Born in Laconia, NH, 33 years ago, Mr. Jackson attended Boston College and later became an executive with Cal-Pacific Telephone in San Francisco. Returning to New England in the early '80's, Mr. Jackson took over the operation of Provincetown's Crown & Anchor Motor Inn, which he successfully ran for many years.

During that time, he also founded Fantasy's Downtown and Fantasy's Ipswich, a very successful North Shore dance club that he operated until February of this year.

Although he spent most of his time in the Boston area, he considered Provincetown his home and looked forward to spending his free time on the Cape.

His memory is survived by his many associates and by his very close group of friends that shared his company. A celebration of his life will be held at a later date to be announced.

JOHNSON—William L. The staff and Board and volunteers of the Lesbian and Gay Community Services Center mourn the death of Bill. He was among the founders of the Center and, in later years, served as pro bono tax counsel. We will miss his dedication, his good humor and his advice. Our thoughts and our love are with Bill and his family. 12-1-93

GARY E. JENKINS (9/17/55-3/30/92) In loving memory. You will always be in my heart. Rob.

Kent E. Jones

Administrator and Musician, 34

Kent E. Jones, an administrator at Mount Sinai Medical Center and an oboist who had played with the New Amsterdam Symphony Orchestra and the Colorado Philharmonic Orchestra, died at Mount Sinai on Oct. 15. He was 34.

The cause was complications from AIDS, said his companion, Peter Rossi.

Mr. Jones was trained as a musician, with a degree in performance in 1981 from the Oberlin Conservatory and another in 1983 from the Yale University School of Music.

He performed for two seasons with the Colorado Philharmonic Orchestra.

While working as a member of the nursing administrative staff at Mount Sinai, which he joined in 1989, he performed with a number of ensembles in the New York area, including the New Amsterdam Symphony Orchestra, where he was principal oboist.

In addition to his companion, he is survived by his parents, Morton and Pat, of Richardson, Tex.; a sister, Shelley Smith of West Columbia, Tex., and two brothers, Stephen of Fort Worth and Jay of Austin.

Raymond Jacobs, 45;

Ran an AIDS Program
11-30-93

Raymond Jacobs, a drama therapist and administrator of the AIDS professional program at the Young Adult Institute in Manhattan, died on Tuesday at his home in Manhattan. He was 45.

He died of causes related to AIDS nine years after he was found to be H.I.V.-positive, his family said.

A native Californian, Mr. Jacobs graduated from the University of California Los Angeles and earned a master's degree in therapeutic recreation and a certificate of advanced study in recreation therapy at New York University.

In 1983 he went to work for the Gay Men's Health Crisis, where he developed programs for AIDS education and prevention in the public schools. His association with the Young Adult Institute began five years ago and involved working with the mentally retarded and disabled.

He was vice president of the Hetrick-Martin Institute for gay and lesbian youth. He also was a member of the AIDS advisory board of the city's Department of Education.

Mr. Jacobs is survived by his companion, Michael Paley; his parents, Lloyd and Lucy, brothers Eddie and Bud, and sister, Barbara, all of Los Angeles.

Navy veteran Richard Joseph Jansen, 42, of North Hollywood, Calif., died Sept. 29 due to complications from AIDS; he is survived by his life partner, Jon Kavonius. 9-1

TRW computer scientist James G. Jensen, 35, of Glendale, Calif., died Sept. 30 of injuries sustained in a swimming accident in Hawaii; Jensen participated in several AIDS research projects at the National Institutes of Health. 9-1

JONES—Ralph Erich, The Lesbian and Gay Law Association of Greater New York (LeGal) mourns the passing of LeGal member Ralph Jones. Ralph, an associate of Sullivan and Cromwell, was instrumental in establishing the LeGal Foundation, a charitable organization serving the needs of the lesbian and gay community. LeGal extends its sympathy to Ralph's life partner Dan Dufinger and the rest of Ralph's family. 7-9-95

Derek Jarman, 52, Outspoken British Film Maker

2-19-94

LONDON, Feb. 20 (AP) — Derek Jarman, the iconoclastic British film maker whose homosexuality became central to his work, died late Saturday at St. Bartholomew's Hospital in central London. He was 52.

The cause was AIDS, a hospital spokesman said on Sunday.

Although prolific as an author and painter, Mr. Jarman was best known as the director of films that helped energize independent low-budget British cinema in the 1970's and 80's.

He was no less renowned for his outspokenness, arguing at one point that Sir Ian McKellen — an actor and gay-rights advocate — had compromised himself by accepting a knighthood from a Conservative Government responsible for anti-gay legislation.

Mr. Jarman had made gay life and issues central to his career.

"I am simply trying to demystify areas of life which are very ordinary, such as H.I.V. infection or my sexuality," he told The Sunday Telegraph in 1991.

Portrait of Homosexuality

"Sebastiane" (1975), a life of the martyred saint set during the reign of the Emperor Diocletian, elicited as much attention for its portrait of homosexuality as for its Latin dialogue. In "Caravaggio" (1986), about the 16th-century Italian painter, Mr. Jarman turned a knifing incident between friends into a lovers' quarrel. "Edward

Camera Press, 1987

Derek Jarman

II" (1991) unapologetically addressed the king's liaison with the court favorite, Gaveston.

His most recent project, a film to be shown on Sept. 19 on Britain's Channel Four television, is "Blue," a spoken account of Mr. Jarman's personal experience of AIDS filmed as a vast expanse of delphinium blue.

Mr. Jarman began his career designing sets and costumes for ballet (Frederick Ashton's "Jazz Calendar") and opera ("Don Giovanni"), moving on to films as set designer on Ken Russell's "Devils" (1971) and "Savage Messiah" (1972).

He made his directing debut with "Sebastiane," incurring the censors' wrath, as he did again with "Jubilee" (1977), a hymn to an anarchic England in which Elizabeth I finds herself in the 20th century encountering punk and the end of royalism.

Britten's 'War Requiem'

Other films include "The Tempest" (1980), "The Last of England" (1987) and "War Requiem" (1989), a rigorous adaptation of Benjamin Britten's 1962 oratorio inspired by the poetry of Wilfrid Owen.

This year saw his acclaimed film "Wittgenstein" about the provocative philosopher. Its stylistic sparseness — the film was shot in front of black draperies, without sets — typified his later work.

Away from movies, Mr. Jarman exhibited often as a painter at London galleries. His books include "Dancing Ledge" and "The Last of England," as well as two memoirs: "Modern Nature," in which he spoke publicly for the first time of his H.I.V. status, and "At Your Own Risk," in 1992, intended — he wrote — to rectify "the terrible dearth of information" about himself and about gay life.

J. Lynn Johnson

J. Lynn Johnson, 46, died after a long illness at his home in Wolf Creek, Oregon. Mr. Johnson attended Southport High School and graduated summa cum laude from the University of Illinois where he was president of Phi Kappa Psi.

He lived in San Francisco then retired to Wolf Creek five years ago after a successful career as an entrepreneur. He was an author, speaker and counselor. He had been a writer for the North Mission News in San Francisco and the King Mountain Advocate in southern Oregon. He was deeply concerned with raising society's consciousness about the AIDS crisis and helping people it has afflicted. He was also involved with environmental issues and was active in many organizations working to improve and save the world for future generations.

Lynn is survived by his partner, Ivan St. John of Wolf Creek; his brother, Lee; and nephews, Janusz and Jeremiah Johnson of Indianapolis, as well as a multitude of people whose lives were bettered by his presence. ▼ 2/22/94

Michael James Johnson

June 6, 1962–Feb. 12, 1994

As peaceful as the ebbing of calm ocean waves, Michael Johnson departed this life on February 12, 1994. In passing, he was surrounded by the love of his family and friends.

Born June 6, 1962, in Indianapolis, Indiana, Michael made San Francisco his home for the past 10 years. He was an employee of the San Francisco Department of Social Services and an active member of St. Francis Lutheran Church. Michael will be remembered for his long, valiant, and courageous struggle with AIDS; for his stubborn refusal to let go of life; and for his blunt and irreverent sense of humor. As well as being a voracious reader and lover of the English language, Michael was a patron of the arts and relished his travels.

He is survived by his lover and partner, Robert Crumb of San Francisco; his parents, Susan and Bill Johnson; his sister, Terri; a niece; and three nephews, all of Indianapolis, as well as many friends.

A service of celebration and thanksgiving will be held at St. Francis Lutheran Church, 152 Church Street, San Francisco, on Sunday, February 27, at 4 p.m. A reception will follow in the church hall.

Donations in Michael's memory may be made to the AIDS charity of your choice or the St. Francis Lutheran Church Foundation.

Michael, we shall miss you, but look forward to a blessed reunion at the East Gate. "Requiem aeternam dona eis, Domine, et lux perpetua luceat eis." ▼

James F. Jacobs

Dancer and Designer, 42 <sup>9-3-94</sup>

James F. Jacobs, a dancer and interior designer, died on Saturday at Cabrini Medical Center. He was 42 and lived in Manhattan.

The cause was AIDS, said Annabella Gonzalez, a friend and choreographer with whom Mr. Jacobs danced.

Mr. Jacobs, a native of Chambersburg, Pa., attended Shippensburg State University in Pennsylvania and the Fashion Institute of Technology and the Parsons School of Design in New York. He appeared with several modern-dance groups and was a featured soloist with the Annabella Gonzalez Dance Theater from 1977 to 1982.

He is survived by his father, Edgar N. Jacobs of Chambersburg; two brothers, John C. Jacobs, also of Chambersburg, and Hugh M. Jacobs of Baltimore, and a sister, Suzanne Packard of Cincinnati.

Paul Johanson of Cambridge, an attorney, 46

Paul R. Johanson of Cambridge, an attorney, died Thursday at home after a long illness. He was 46.

Born in Weymouth, he attended Weymouth schools and graduated magna cum laude from the University of Massachusetts in Boston. He received his juris doctor degree from Northeastern University School of Law.

Mr. Johanson was an Eagle Scout in Troop II, Weymouth Heights. He was an ardent spokesperson for the Zinberg Clinic at Cambridge Hospital.

His presentation to a panel of on-site reviewers for the prestigious Foster McGaw Award competition played an important role in the award given to Cambridge Hospital.

He is survived by his mother, Louise (Callahan) Johnson of Quincy; three brothers, David E. Johnson of Guilford, Conn., Stephen M. Johnson of Granada Hills, Calif., and Robert N. Johnson of San Francisco; and several nieces, nephews, aunts and uncles.

A memorial service will be held Saturday at 10:30 a.m. at the Bigelow Chapel of Mount Auburn Cemetery, Cambridge.

Burial will be private. Arrangements are by Commonwealth Funeral Service Inc., Boston.

JOHNSON—Jerrie D., 41, of Gainesville, GA. Died March 10, 1995, at his home in Manhattan of complications from AIDS. ## Lee Jordan

Jan. 24, 1948–Feb. 9, 1994

With a smile always on his face, Lee will be remembered as a fun-loving friend. An accomplished singer and pianist, Lee was always ready to entertain. He truly enjoyed life. Originally from Houston/New Orleans, Lee made San Francisco his home since 1983. His wit was evident to all his friends. His presence at the Lone Star Saloon is sorely missed. Always ready to get involved, Lee offered his time and talents in fundraising efforts for the AIDS Emergency Fund on many occasions.

Lee was a party waiting to happen. But he had a serious side a few of us were privileged to get to know. Having served in Vietnam, Lee knew how to see through the bull and get to the heart of matters. He added his own special touch to everything.

He leaves his family in Houston and his many friends here with good memories. He left us quickly as was his wish. He was brave and at peace.

An AEF fundraising beer bust/remembrance will be held Saturday, April 9, 3-7 p.m. at the Lone Star Saloon, 1354 Harrison. Potluck contributions welcomed. He liked to party. Join his friends. For info: 821-6955. ▼

JOHNSON—Kevin Jan. "For a human character to reveal truly exceptional qualities, one must have the good fortune to be able to observe its performance over many years. If this performance is devoid of all egoism, if its guiding motive is unparalleled generosity, if it is absolutely certain that there is no thought of recompense and that, in addition, it has left its visible mark upon the earth, then there can be no mistake." ("The Man Who Planted Trees," a story by Jean Giono). Builder, chef, sage, designer, good conversationalist, teacher, and friend. You taught us a lot: about living, about dying and about caring. In the midst of the greatest adversity, you have stood tall and retained both your dignity and humanity. You have a grace that we have never seen in any young person and seldom seen at all. We sit in awe of the way you have dealt with your illness. You must, as the Hindus say, be an old soul. Your smile and style, both so endearing, were manifestations of something deeper. A grace and beauty of spirit that could only be experienced and can never be described. You fill our lives with challenges, many hard to live up to but the rewards are endless. We cherish you and will hold you dear and near as long as our spirits live. We love you, we thank you, and we will miss you. Kevin Jan Johnson, beloved son of Jens and Elaine Johnson, life partner of David Bamber, passed away December 27, 1994.

JONES—Don, died January 14, 1995 at the age of 45 at home in New York City. The cause was complications from AIDS. Composer and musical director on Broadway and numerous national theatres, he also served on staff at Fordham University. He will be greatly missed by his companion Jim Flacche, father, brothers and their families, and many friends. Memorial service to be announced.

Calif. man sues lover's estate

Paul M. Mason, though HIV negative, says trauma of ex-lover's undisclosed infection warrants $2.1 million

by Samuel Maul

NEW YORK (AP) — A gay man who is suing his wealthy dead lover's estate for $21 million because the lover allegedly lied when he said he was HIV-free will be allowed to take his case to trial, a Manhattan judge has ruled.

Justice Charles Ramos said he will let a jury decide whether Paul S. Mason, 38, was defrauded and then injured when he developed "AIDS-phobia" after learning his lover falsely claimed a clean bill of health.

Mason is suing the estate of Lawrence Ronald Jacobs, an architect who died of AIDS at age 49 on March 21, 1991. Mason claims Jacobs fraudulently induced him into unsafe sex acts by promising him he was HIV negative, and Mason says he was physically and psychologically damaged as a result.

Ramos said Mason's case is unique in that it is the first in which an openly gay man sues the estate of another on AIDS-phobia grounds.

Mason said in papers filed in

A memorial celebration of the life of Jay Jenkins will be held Wednesday, Aug. 10 from 6 to 9 p.m. at Annie's Paramount Steak House, 1609 17th St. NW.

Jenkins, 51, died Saturday, July 23 at his Dupont Circle home in D.C. due to complications associated with AIDS, according to his niece, Susan Jenkins of Culpepper, Va. A full obituary will be published in an upcoming issue. 94

Charles M. Jordan, 44, gay rights pioneer, died of complications from AIDS July 2 in San Antonio, Tex. 96

Manhattan's State Supreme Court that he tests HIV negative but has AIDS symptoms including lowered white cell count, weight loss, diarrhea, swollen lymph nodes, bleeding gums, night sweats and nausea.

Mason said Jacobs admitted at a party in Jacobs' office that he knew he was HIV positive when they met in June 1988 at the Boots and Saddles bar and was aware he might have exposed Mason to HIV.

Moreover, Mason said, Jacobs said he knew who had given him the virus, and he was reasonably sure he had given it to his roommate, Herbert M. Green, an ad agency executive who died of AIDS-related lymphoma Jan. 5, 1991.

Mason said that because Jacobs had lied that he was virus-free, and because "I was in love" and "I wanted to make him happy and fulfilled," he engaged in unsafe sex acts that he had avoided all of his adult life.

Mason said in his court papers his mental and physical states worsened after Jacobs' death and his once successful interior design business suffered. He said he has audio tapes to support his claims that Jacobs lied.

"Additionally," he said, "although I have always planned on fathering a child, I have resigned myself to the fact that given my present physical state, I cannot father children due to the chance I may transmit AIDS [sic] to them."

Ramos said lawyers for Jacobs' estate asked him to dismiss Mason's suit on grounds that Mason assumed risk by his sexual behavior, that the statute of limitations for this kind of suit has run out, that Mason can't show any loss even if Jacobs lied, and no law supports Mason's position. ▼

John Janovich

John M. Janovich, 33, a former Washington, D.C. resident, died Wednesday, July 13, 1994, at his Palo Alto, California home.

Janovich died of AIDS related complications, according to a friend who wishes to remain anonymous because he is a member of Janovich's HIV support group.

Janovich moved to D.C. in 1989 where he worked as an executive at Bloomingdale's in White Flint, Md. He retired in 1992 and moved back to Palo Alto in May 1994.

Janovich was born March 24, 1961 in Palo Alto where he graduated from Gunn High School. He received a bachelor's degree from the San Francisco State University in San Francisco, Calif. He then moved to Chicago, Ill. where he worked as a bank executive for Citicorp from 1985 to 1989.

Janovich is survived by his mother, Phyllis J. Janovich; sister, Suzan Dasing; brothers, Stephen, Timothy, and Daniel Janovich; all of Palo Alto and friends in Chicago, D.C., and San Francisco.

A memorial service was held July 18 in Palo Alto. A private service will be held Tuesday, July 26, in D.C. His remains were interred in Palo Alto.

Gregory Johnson

Gregory Johnson, a former Boston resident who moved to New York in 1978, died June 16 at Columbia Presbyterian Hospital in Manhattan, due to complications from AIDS. 94

Raised in Cincinnati, he moved to Boston in 1972 where he worked at Mass General Hospital before entering nursing school in New York. He earned his degree in nursing and worked at Elmhurst Hospital in Queens until shortly before his death. He is survived by a brother in Michigan and his grandmother in Alabama, plus a core of friends both here in Boston and in New York.

He was an avid reader, a slave to fashion and loved his summer getaway on Fire Island, where his ashes were scattered along with his lover's.

JAFFE—Entered Eternal Rest December 12, Lawrence D. of Boston. Loving son of Saul and Betty Jaffe. Dear brother of Frederick Jaffe and Keith Jaffe. Visiting hours Sunday 2-4 p.m. only. Donations in his memory to the Hospice at Mission Hill, 20 Parker Hill Ave., Boston, MA 02120 would be appreciated.

John E. Janeczko

Nov. 30, 1946 - Aug. 18, 1994

John died peacefully Thursday evening of AIDS-related lymphoma in San Francisco.

He was a very intense person, a strong leader who undertook everything with passion, integrity, energy, and a meticulous attention to detail.

As a devoted member of the California Eagles Motorcycle Club,

John provided many ideas that shaped the club over the past eight years. He worked to develop a sense of family in the CEMC by taking on the role of "Club Daddy." In this capacity he worked to recognize and develop the potential of others, enhance camaraderie within the club, and promote its relationship with the community.

The CEMC was a springboard for John's service to the leather community at large as he reached out to inspire people in other clubs. John was his club's representative to the ICF, and he served as recording secretary for five years. He leaves a void that will be hard to fill.

John will be remembered, especially by his life partner, David R. Speer; father, Stanley F. Janeczko; aunt, Josephine Janeczko; and sister, Patricia Ann Kaiser. Hundreds of friends will miss his presence in the community.

John's life will be celebrated at a gathering at the San Francisco Eagle, 398 12th Street, on Saturday, September 10, at 6 p.m. ▼

Bill Jessup

Nov. 6, 1961 - Aug. 22, 1994

Bill wore a tiara to his home-town parade. Although he wasn't prom queen, he was the queen. He loved pomp. He loved queer circumstance.

Bill was awesome. He wasn't about all the bullshit you see all too often in Castro faggots. Bill was Bill, nothing more or less. He ACTed

UP.

He had more dyke friends than any other fag in town. Bill was a lot of fun, despite the pain he seemed to live in. I wish Bill's story didn't have this ending. That's not the way Bill's friends will remember him. Bill was incredible, bright and funny.

Bill was my pal; he loved "Mr. Big Stuff." "Who do you think you are, Mr. Big Stuff," he'd shout. "You're never gonna get my love." I took him literally. Bill will forever be in my heart; I loved him. He was smart, sexy and 7718. A sensitive, sweet man of men. The dykes' favorite boy, and we will miss him sorely. Bill is at Heaven's party now.

Bill died of AIDS and all the sorrows associated with it. A memorial will be held in the AIDS Memorial Grove at Golden Gate Park on September 10 at noon. ▼

Ed Jorgensen

Edwin H. Jorgensen, 48, of Washington, D.C., died at his home on Monday, September 12, 1994 of complications associated with AIDS, according to his lover, Scott A. Johnson, also of D.C.

Jorgensen was born Dec. 15, 1945 in Clinton, Iowa. He moved to the District in 1965, graduated from George Washington University in 1968, and from George Washington Law School in 1972. A member of the D.C. Bar, Jorgensen was hired as a staff attorney with the Federal Communications Commission in 1974. He worked there until June 1994, when he retired on medical disability from his position as assistant branch chief of the FM branch.

Diagnosed with AIDS in 1988, Jorgensen was considered a longtime survivor of the virus.

One of the highlights in Jorgensen's life, according to Johnson, was being at the Stonewall Inn when it was raided by police in 1969. In 1970, Jorgensen survived a serious illness called Guillain-Barré which left him paralyzed from head to toe. After his full recovery, he spent considerable time educating others about the disease.

Jorgensen was one of the founding members of the HIV-positive Coffeehouse held Saturdays at the Friends Meeting House. He met his lover, Johnson, there in 1992. Jorgensen also served as president of the Albemarle Condominium Association.

"Ed had a special love for animals, and he was a very kind and gentle person," said Johnson.

In addition to Johnson, Jorgensen is survived by his mother, Winifred Jorgensen of Clinton, Iowa; three brothers, Terry Jorgensen of Glendale, Calif.; Gordon Jorgensen of Las Vegas, Nev.; Rick Jorgensen of Clinton; and two cats, Minky and Sable.

JOHNSTON—Of Boston August 10, 1996, Michael James Johnston. The son of James C. Johnston and Hope J. (Walsh) Johnston both of Nashua, NH. Brother of Jamie A. Cambray of Brookline, NH. Uncle of Samantha and Danielle Cambray. He was the companion and caregiver to Michael O'Hanley of Boston. Services will be held at the Immaculate Conception (Jesuit Urban Center), 775 Harrison Ave., Boston, MA on Sunday, August 18 at 2 p.m. In lieu of flowers send contributions in his memory to Joy St. Residence Roof Deck Fund, 56 Joy St., Boston 02114. Arrangements by Commonwealth Cremation Service.

Richard "Garry" Johnson

Richard "Garry" Johnson died September 15, 1994, from complications related to AIDS. Garry is survived by his lover, Adam Jones; his sister, Lynne Connelly; and his niece, Michelle Connelly. Garry was born in 1957 in Rochester, N.Y., and raised in Millville, N.J. Garry's ambition in life was to be a famous chef. He was highly regarded at the many national establishments where he was employed, and was also regarded as a great chef by his family and friends. His interests included Teddy bears, dragons and leather. Services were private for the family, and remembrances may be sent to Philly PAWS or MANNA.

Stanley Lane Jasper

May 26, 1995

Stanley passed away May 26. He is survived by his parents, Chet and Velda Jasper of Florida; his brothers, Jim and Ken; sisters-in-law, Mary and Chris; aunt, Lacey; and his life partner of four years, Gregg D. Wion of Guerneville. He also leaves behind numerous nieces and nephews, and his dogs Junior and Lakota.

Stanley was a graduate of the University of Illinois. He enjoyed home restoration. He had worked for Glidden Paints for six years and 19 years for the Upjohn Corporation. He enjoyed raising dogs, and after retiring to Kansas City, Mo., he dabbled in real estate. He moved to the Russian River area in 1989.

Donations may be made to Food for Thought or Face to Face in his memory. Arrangements were under the direction of Pleasant Hill-Guerneville Chapel. ▼

WILLIAM B. JOHNSON

Friends and family of Bill Johnson are saddened by his passing away on October 10, 1994 of complications of AIDS at age 47. A few friends were able to visit him at Graduate Hospital before he died, and a family member and a close friend were there to comfort him in his last moments.

Born August 2, 1947, Bill was proudest of being a Vietnam veteran, a founding member of the Philadelphia Gay Men's Chorus in 1982, and a tireless volunteer and part-time employee of PCHA.

In the Philadelphia Gay Men's Chorus, his love of singing and his limitless energy could always be counted on. His loyalty and dedication were a driving force behind all Chorus activities, and were an inspiration to all. Besides being a founding member, an officer, and office manager, he was an invaluable resource for historical precedents and for vision to the future.

At PCHA, when he was not there as a part-time employee, he would be answering the volunteer hotline. He started as a volunteer, but with his great organizational skills was soon a paid colleague in client services, the statistical department and billing. He will be missed terribly.

Services were held at King's Funeral Home on October 14. He is survived by his brother and his sister-in-law, Steve and Cecelia Johnson.

His family requests that donations be sent in his name to PCHA, 1612 Pine Street, PHILADELPHIA, PA 19102.

Erik Jaeger

May 15, 1939 - June 2, 1995

Sweet Erik quietly passed on the morning of June 2 with his friend and caregiver, Judy Melgar, at his side. Many thanks to all of Erik's friends and family who supported him in his illness, and much gratitude to everyone at Coming Home Hospice and the Peter Claver Community.

Erik enjoyed life to the fullest, and his memory will live on in the hearts of all his friends and family. Donations may be made to Coming Home Hospice or the Peter Claver Community. ▼

William Douglas Johnson

April 15, 1949 — October 10, 1994

Douglas passed away peacefully after a lengthy illness, with his partner of 13 years, George, by his side.

Born in Sudbury, Ontario. He moved to Toronto to attend York University where he received his Bachelor of Arts Degree in Human Resources and Psychology. Douglas joined the employment of the Ontario Provincial Government with Management Board of Cabinet which he served for 22 years.

In 1980, Douglas was the proprietor of two greeting card stores in the City of Toronto - SWAK (Sealed With A Kiss) and RETURN TO SENDER. He was the first greeting card store in Toronto to carry Gay/Lesbian material.

Love: Fran, Greg, Michelle, Gregory, Leo, George, Ganya, Jamie, Robert, Lyle, Duncan, Jane, Pam, Morag, Sheree, Arnold, Joice, June, Sandy, Lynn, Anne and our puppy Camilla.

Special thanks to the staff of the Intensive Care Unit at the Toronto Hospital and to Dr. David Fletcher, Dr. J. Heathcote and Dr. Lisa Friedland.

"Good Night, Sweet Prince, and Flights of Angels Sing Thee To Thy Rest!"

Your one and only. Love, George

David Jacobson

Dec. 20, 1955 - Aug. 27, 1995

David, my friend and a gentle soul, left this world after his struggle with AIDS. David was an artist, a painter and a chef. He was born in Chicago, Illinois, and made his home in San Francisco for the last 10 years.

David was the head chef at Diamond Street Restaurant for many years. He was a giver; he loved to feed people and create great art, and he made a great chocolate mousse.

David is survived by his parents, Lee and Judy Jacobson; his sister, Marla; aunt, Sonya; and best friends, Tanya Cheriminskin and Steven Gaynes. Donations in his memory may be made to any AIDS charity. ▼

IF YOU COULD SEE ME NOW
Words & Music by Kim Noblitt

*Our prayers have all been answered
I have finally arrived
The healing that had been delayed
Has now been realized
No one's in a hurry
There's no schedule to keep
We're all enjoying Jesus
Just sitting at His feet*

CHORUS

*If you could see me now
I'm walking streets of gold
If you could see me now
I'm standing tall and whole
If you could see me now
You'd know I've seen His face
If you could see me now
You'd know the pain is erased*

*You wouldn't want me
To ever leave this place
If you could only see me now*

*My light and temporary trails
Have worked out for my good
To know it brought Him glory
When I misunderstood
Though we've had our sorrows
They can never compare
What Jesus has in store for us
No language can share*

*You wouldn't want me
To ever leave this perfect place
If you could only see me now
If you could see me now
If you could only see me know*

David Storm Johnson

April 3, 1955 —
October 27, 1994

Dave Johnson, appointed the first AIDS coordinator for the city of Los Angeles, died of complications from AIDS Thursday, October 27 at Chris Brownlie Hospice. He was surrounded by family and friends. He is survived by his father Russell Johnson; step-mother Connie Johnson; sister Kimberly Johnson; and brother Courtney Dane.

A native of Los Angeles, Dave Johnson's activism began in the emerging Gay liberation movement of the early-'70s. He was a member of the youth group of the original Metropolitan Community Church congregation in downtown Los Angeles in 1971, and served as youth group coordinator at the newly formed Gay Community Services Center downtown the following year. In 1973 he began two years in the leadership of the UCLA Gay Students Union, spearheading the recognition and funding of that group (now GALA, the Gay and Lesbian Alliance) by the university, and creating such programs as the speakers bureau, on-campus office, hotline and counseling program, and the annual Gay and Lesbian Awareness Week — programs which are still serving UCLA's Gay and Lesbian students today.

During those years, he spoke at many of the early Gay and Lesbian pride rallies, and organized a number of demonstrations, primarily against bar discrimination based on race and gender, and against anti-Gay police harassment. He spoke at the candlelight march against Anita Bryant's attack on Gay rights legislation in 1977. He also worked as a reporter and essayist for the Los Angeles Free Press.

He returned to political involvement when the AIDS crisis began to decimate his community, and his own life. In 1986, his lover Lonnie Richards died of complications from AIDS. The next year, one of his closest friends, Gary Clark, followed. Shortly after that, he himself was diagnosed with AIDS-Related Complex (ARC).

In 1987, he became the first executive director of Being Alive/People with AIDS Action Coalition, building the organization from a small volunteer group into one of the major AIDS service agencies in Los Angeles, and a powerful voice for people living with AIDS. Under his leadership, Being Alive became the first organization of people living with AIDS in the nation to encourage people to seek voluntary, anonymous HIV testing so that those testing positive might take advantage of early medical intervention.

Johnson was also the key organizer at this time of the United AIDS Coalition, an umbrella organization for many AIDS groups serving the diverse communities of Los Angeles County. This began the process of multicultural coalition building that recently culminated in the establishment of the Los Angeles County AIDS Regional Board, a consortium of over 80 public and private agencies committed to working together to provide optimum education, treatment and care for persons with HIV.

In 1989, he was named the first AIDS coordinator for the City of Los Angeles by Mayor Tom Bradley. While serving in that post, he funneled $2 million in city funds to provide housing and hospice care for people with AIDS; pioneered a city-funded program to distribute bleach kits and condoms to injection drug users; established the first government funded early treatment information programs for the communities of color; and wrote the first comprehensive City AIDS Policy in the nation. He was also arrested several times in AIDS protest actions, some of which he organized.

He left the city position in 1990 to become a full-time writer and activist. He continued to be active in not only the AIDS fight but also in Lesbian and Gay liberation. In 1991 he became one of the editors of Vanguard, a Lesbian and Gay newspaper in L.A.

His political essays have been published in the Los Angeles Times, the Los Angeles Free Press, the Being Alive Newsletter, the LA Weekly, Frontiers and Vanguard. He was also published last year in the anthology, Amazing Grace: Stories of Lesbian and Gay Faith, edited by Malcolm Boyd and Nancy Wilson. His major work in progress was a book of political essays entitled Queer Values.

He was named "Man of the Year" for the 1991 Christopher Street West Lesbian/Gay Pride Celebration, and was honored that same year by the Liberty Hill Foundation with one of its Founder's Awards.

He was diagnosed with full-blown AIDS in July of 1992.

Daniel Lee James

July 9, 1958 - April 19, 1995

Daniel went gently into that sweet night. He left this world quietly in the early morning hours of April 19.

The "Bink" fought hard in his ceaseless battle against this formidable disease. Stoic in his approach, he never seemed to complain even in his most painful moments. His courage and dignity were an example to many of us.

Daniel was loved by countless friends for his gentleness, sweet disposition and as someone who loved a good time. Surely, his dancing days at the Trocadero Transfer can be looked on as memorable. It was there he danced with his friends Frank, Tony, Robert, Audrey and Pat, Teddy and John, Nick, Carter, Ramon and many more.

Daniel started his life in Oregon but lived most of his life in California. He migrated to San Francisco at 20. It was here that he returned to school to become a computer technician. He lived at various times in Los Angeles, Dallas and Fort Lauderdale, but eventually returned to his home, the City by the Bay.

A memorial gathering for Daniel will be held at the Metropolitan Community Church, 150 Eureka Street, on Saturday, May 13, at 9 a.m. ▼

IN MEMORY OF "J"

In only three short years, "J" was baptized, married and memorialized in our small, conservative suburban Atlanta Southern Baptist church. Though we knew he was frequently sick, it was always passed off as "one of those flu bugs that's going around." His greatest wish was that no one would know that he had AIDS.

"J"'s illness brought our church family together. He put a smiling face and gentle, shy personality on a disease that was just an abstract, ongoing news story to our mostly-elderly congregation. He died never knowing that we knew his secret.

Thanks, "J," for the gift of your presence in our lives. We're all more compassionate and understanding for having known you. See you in heaven, my friend.

Bob Johnson

Robert Alan Johnson, 43, died Saturday, January 28, 1995 of a heart attack at his home in Washington, D.C., according to his close friend, Doug McKenney of Arlington, Virginia.

Johnson was born Sept. 1, 1951 in Washington, D.C., and grew up in Oxon Hill, Md. He was a 1969 graduate of Bishop McNamara High School in Forestville, Md. Johnson attended Mount St. Mary's College in Emmitsburg, Md., in the early 1970s.

Johnson lived all of his adult life in Washington, D.C. Since 1975, he worked for the American Public Health Association, rising to the position of director of conventions in 1984. He was a member of the Professional Convention Management Association and the National Association of Exposition Managers and was also a Certified Meeting Professional.

Johnson loved to travel and was a hotel aficionado thanks to his career in convention directing, McKenney said. He also loved road trips, driving, antique cars, and Star Trek.

In addition to McKenney, Johnson is survived by his parents, Lee and Theresa Johnson of Fort Washington, Md.; two sisters, Margaret Lienhart of Cincinnati, Ohio and Mary Ann Lawrence of Cheltenham, Md.; a brother, Donald Johnson of Oxon Hill; and numerous friends in D.C. and around the country.

A memorial service was held for Johnson at Kalas Funeral Home in Oxon Hill on Feb. 2. The following day, a funeral Mass was held at St. Columba Church in Oxon Hill. Johnson's remains were cremated and his ashes scattered at The Greenbrier in White Sulphur Springs, W.Va.

Contributions in Johnson's name may be made to the American Heart Association, 5335 Wisconsin Ave., NW, Suite 940, Washington, DC 20015.

Edward T. Jaquette

Edward, Beloved Life Mate of O.L. Budd Swiss for 37 years, died on June 28. He served 13 years as a Staff Sergeant in the U.S. Air Force and was active in King of Peace MCC. Edward was also a member of The Line and served on the board, was co-president of Prime Timers and a member of the Pharaohs. 96

Ed and Budd moved from Denver to Hawaii where they ran a bed & breakfast for five years before retiring to St. Petersburg in 1993. He is also survived by brothers Rex and James Jaquette and their families, and sister Betty Poplar.

*Is it Possible to Look at Your Friends' Feet and Forget
You are a Shoemaker?*

When Jeff died of aids
I was full of remembering he was my friend.
There wasn't any room left to remember he had a friend who was a funeral director.

I should have stepped in there and taken care of everything because...that's what I do.
There are things that need to be spoken to; even when the moment leaves them blurry.

Tenderness. Simplicity.
To not be a burden to the living.
That's what he wanted. Maybe everyone does.
I wish someone had called me. - 1/20/95

Arthur H. (Jay) Jebens

Sept. 26, 1954 - May 2, 1995

Jay passed away the morning of May 2 from AIDS-related illnesses. He is survived by his parents, sisters, niece and nephews, partner and many, many friends.

Born in Bethesda, Maryland, Jay moved to California after high school and studied at Sonoma State University, UC Santa Barbara, and finished his B.A. in business at San Francisco State University. He soon found his way to Cliff's Variety and became attached to the hardware department, helping keep the neighborhood together with all shapes and sizes of screws, nails, and nuts and bolts. His fanciful window displays were a neighborhood attraction.

Jay's flair for fun was reflected in everything he did, and his ability to find something entertaining to do no matter what situation he was in brightened the world around him and enabled him to accept his fate with grace and good humor. He was among the kindest and sweetest of men.

Contributions in Jay's name may be made to AIDS Benefits Counselors, 470 Castro Street, San Francisco, CA 94114 or to Bat Conservation International, P.O. Box 162603, Austin, TX 78716-2603. A memorial gathering will be held Saturday, June 10, 1-5 p.m., in his apartment at 608 22nd Avenue. ▼

Jeffrey Glenn Jones

Oct. 3, 1953 - April 19, 1995

Born in Alaska to the late Col. (USAF) Dorrie and Marion Mears Jones, Jeffrey grew up primarily in Honolulu, where he attended Punaho High School. After the University of Texas, he became manager of the Tropic World Nursery in San Diego. He was also a sales representative for Sigma Giftware and was a salesman at the Obelisk on Castro Street. His final employment was with Accent on Flowers.

Jeffrey died of complications from a seven-year bout with Kohn's disease, at home, attended by his partner of 12 years, Neil Housewright, and their dear friend, Terri Springer. He is survived by his sisters, Christi of Sitka, Alaska; Patti of Deerfield Beach, Fla.; and Susan of New Orleans; brother, Todd of Sitka; and stepmother, Evelyn Jones of Seaside, Calif.

A service will be held May 5 at 4 p.m. at the 7th Avenue Presbyterian Church. Memorial gifts may be sent to Network Ministries, 559 Ellis, San Francisco, CA 94102. For further information call 923-0753. ▼

JONES—Brian K., 34, on September 27, 1996, of complications from AIDS. Vice President of Solomon Brothers in NYC. Loving partner and companion of Andrew Karas. Son of Novella M. and Eldon L. Helverson and Martha A. and R. Dean Jones. Brother of Bradley G. Jones, Glenn M. Helverson and Robin L. Russell. Uncle of Brandon C. Jones, Ian S. Jones, Connor D. Jones, Nicholas B. Helverson, Christopher M.A. Helverson, Kyle W. Russell. Grandson of Dorah Mae Woner. Friend to many. Memorial service will be held at Church of the Holy Apostles, 296 9th Ave at 28th St, NYC on Saturday, October 19th at 1PM. In lieu of flowers or other gifts, donations in his memory are requested to be made to the Brian K. Jones Memorial HIV/AIDS Educational Fund, P.O. Box 20101, West Village Station, New York City 10014.

H. Ward Jandl

Henry Ward Jandl, 49, of Washington, D.C., died suddenly Saturday, March 18, 1995 of heart disease at George Washington University Medical Center, according to his sister, Margaret Jandl of Cambridge, Massachusetts.

Jandl was born Mar. 17, 1946 in Princeton, N.J., where he also grew up. He attended the Hotchkiss School, a preparatory school, and graduated in 1964. He received a degree in art history from Yale University in New Haven, Conn., in 1968.

After college, Erker taught English in Ankara, Turkey while in the U.S. Peace Corps.

In 1971, Jandl completed a master's degree in historic preservation at Columbia University in New York City. While living in New York, he worked for the New York Public Library.

Jandl moved to Washington in 1974 and began working for the National Park Service. He moved up the ranks quickly, and in 1984, a park service program he designed was honored by President Ronald Reagan with the Presidential Design Award, according to his sister.

Before his death, Jandl served as the chief appeals officer of cultural affairs and as the deputy chief of preservation assistance for the National Park Service. He developed policies for the park service for national and state level preservation projects.

Jandl was predeceased by his partner of 11 years, David I. Given, who died of AIDS related complications on Aug. 31, 1994.

In addition to his sister, Jandl is survived by his father, Henry A. Jandl of Richmond, Va.; friends, Rob Bertram and Tom Tesoriero; and Lila Wolff, all of Washington, D.C.; Laurie Richardson of Silver Spring, Md.; and Bill Macrostie of Tacoma Park, Md.

A memorial service was held March 22 at St. Paul's Parish in D.C. His remains were cremated and will be scattered on the beach at Drakes Island, Maine where Jandl and his partner vacationed.

Dan Jones

"Miss Kitty Litter Green"

1962 - 1995

Danny passed on to greener pastures Sunday at Maitri Hospice, surrounded by friends and family. Kitty was known to a wide circle of people in San Francisco and Japan as a performer, model and artist.

Kitty performed at San Francisco clubs solo and with her band, the Clipped Out Recipes. Her paintings were shown at the Art Lick Gallery, Product, and Eichelberger's, and were featured in Japanese and American periodicals. She appeared in Hollywood films, including Tokyo Pop and Buffy the Vampire Slayer, and had many roles in campy Japanese movies.

He/she (one pronoun simply wasn't enough) grew up in Berkeley, often attending peace rallies and alternative events with his parents, J.B. and Cleo. He became a vegetarian at age 7, and at 9 staged a protest at Safeway against the killing of animals. At age 10 he dyed his hair green.

At Berkeley High, Kitty was active in theater. After graduating in 1980, he joined the San Francisco Shakespeare Company, touring nationally. After two years, he left the company and began a decade of international travel.

In Tokyo, Kitty became and exotic dancer at the Club Banana Power, an actor, and a model for fashion magazines. His image - in blackface, in drag - loomed over Tokyo on an advertising billboard. His periods in Japan usually were followed by quiet times in the countryside of Thailand.

In Germany, he performed in a circus and appeared in discos as a performance artist. His huge paintings of glamorous drag queens graced the Berlin Wall. Kitty's graffiti art also appeared on walls in New York and Venice Beach.

In recent years, as AIDS reduced his energy, he stayed near the Bay Area. Active in the Faerie movement, he often visited their Wolf Creek gathering place. Though he continued to perform, he became increasingly well known for his paintings. While Dan's style showed the influence of both Modigliani and the Expressionists, its seriocomic, surreal, outrageous tenderness was all his own.

His modeling for Japanese and American photographers yielded many striking, beautiful photographs - largely because of Kitty's artistry and hard work. "She came to our first shoot with eight suitcases of costumes and twelve developed concepts," recalls photographer Dan Nicoletta. "She became my muse."

A selection of photographs of Kitty, and paintings by Kitty, has been acquired by the Wallach Collection of Fine Prints at the New York City Library. In addition to his work, Danny is survived by his parents, Cleo and J.B.; his brothers Sean and Bill; and a diverse circle of loving friends.

A ceremony and celebration honoring Kitty, including a potluck, will take place at 2 p.m. Saturday, March 18, at 320 Fell St. between Gough and Octavia. ▼

STEPHEN DOMINIC

ROBERTS JEFFRIES, 29, died from AIDS complications Feb. 3. His short life was multifaceted in his constant pursuit of education, in his HIV/AIDS educational efforts, and his advocacy for acceptance of gays. He's remembered for his love of Star Trek, dancing at Roscoe's, late-nights at Coffee Chicago, playing Backgammon, and his hospitality. He was pursuing a master's in liberal studies at Loyola (with an emphasis on Croatian culture). In 1994, he visited Croatia, and also Hercegovina. Stephen was also an HIV/AIDS peer education at Loyola, participated in every AIDS Walk, and helped organize a gay-pride march at Loyola, where he was founder of the Gay, Lesbian and Bisexual Union. He is remembered by many relatives and friends.

1995 was a difficult year as we experienced many deaths in our community. December turned out to be a very painful month for us at the Jesuit Urban Center/Last Tuesday, as we lost four members of our community: Brian Patterson, Tom Acquario, Ruth McFadden and Audree Addison. In addition, we lost Mark DeStephano in early January. We have traveled this road too many times, and yet we continue to journey as a community of faith and hope. Let us be mindful of the many friends we have lost and pray to our loving God for their peace, for joyful reunions, and for continued healing; we are never alone in this journey. Remember that pastoral care is available through the Jesuit Urban Center if you need it.

Randy S. Johnson

Jan. 23, 1957 - Aug. 30, 1995

Randy passed away peacefully in San Francisco on August 30 at 6:55 p.m. He was surrounded by dear friends Patti, Debbi and Jim, and Keith, his partner of seven years. Randy was born in Pottstown, Penn., and grew up in Boyertown, Penn. He was the son of Alfred Johnson and the late Pauline Johnson.

Randy served in the Air Force, where he gained his knowledge of audio-visual, which led him to his career with PROJECTION Video Services, Inc. Randy worked for PROJECTION for 14 years. His last position in the company was that of general manager for San Francisco Operations, moving here in 1989.

Besides his many friends, Randy is survived by his partner, Keith Lambert; father, Alfred Johnson; brother, Brian; sister, Brenda Marion; twin sister, Lori Ludy; three nieces; and four nephews.

A service and burial were held on September 6 in Boyertown. A celebration of Randy's life will be held here in San Francisco on Tuesday, October 24, at 6 p.m. at the San Francisco Hilton & Towers. In lieu of flowers donations in Randy's name may be made to Continuum or to Project Open Hand. ▼

Daniel F. Joslyn

June 17, 1995

Daniel was the kind of guy who loved cowboy boots and Birkenstocks equally. He loved tie-dyed T-shirts of his own creation and Armani jackets. He loved Elsa Klensch and Barbra Streisand and PeeWee Herman. He loved men and picked a lot of the wrong ones. He loved creating beauty and whimsy in a store window or with a sewing machine. He loved being clean and sober for the last six years of his life, and gave new meaning to the word "sober." He loved the beautiful, bizarre and richly complex tapestry of the San Francisco life he created for himself.

And Daniel loved his friends. We were his family, and he was a thoughtful, generous and caring relative. He is survived by family members in New York and Florida, and by his family of choice in California: Mona, Molly, Lee, Lauren, Jerry, Melinda and Mort, Caryl, Stephen, Beth and Stephanie, and the wonderful guys at the Village Deli. He was preceded in death by his cat Bandit and is survived by Kitty Kinski and his beloved Princess Lena.

Rest well, my dear friend. You are at peace. You are loved. You are not forgotten. ▼

Jeffrey Burt Johnson

March 16, 1945 - June 9, 1995

Jeffrey, son of Jenny (Ferguson) and Maitland Johnson, left the world a duller place when he passed away; he will be missed by many. He was born in Worcester, Mass., where he spent his school years. He served several years in the U.S. Air Force, including 13 months in Vietnam as a meteorologist. Jeffrey moved to San Francisco in 1978, where he lived until October 1994. He worked for the SF Municipal Transportation Department and was one of the most popular bus drivers in the city. He volunteered for several years at the San Francisco Zoo, building close relationships with great apes and little kids. He also volunteered for the AIDS Emergency Fund and the Shanti Project.

Jeffrey died of AIDS at home under the close and loving care of his family and friends. He leaves behind his brother and sister-in-law, Barry and Anne Marie Johnson; sister, Cynthia Carlo; nephew, Dale Shadbegian; half-brother, George Hammond; Heather and Heidi Johnson and several other nieces and nephews; Annette Austen-Meek; Patrick Yen; all the members of the Windy Hill community; and many friends in the San Francisco, Western Massachusetts and Worcester areas. A memorial service is pending. ▼

James Frederick Jones

Oct. 15, 1963 - June 12, 1995

James died in Copperas Cove, Texas, on June 12 of HIV disease. He was the beloved son of Elisabeth Jones and Clyde Jones, and the brother of Steven Ar buckle. A requiem with military honors was held on June 15 at Holy Family Catholic Church in Copperas Cove.

James graduated from North Carolina State with a degree in political science. After moving to San Francisco in 1992, he volunteered with the San Francisco YMCA as a fitness and CPR instructor and in fundraising. James was a health and fitness trainer who was very proud of his certification by the American College of Sports Medicine, the American Council on Exercise and the Aerobics and Fitness Association of America. He was making plans for a new career in teaching when he became ill.

James is greatly missed by his friends: Bob Gordon, Ron Johnson, Ed Waite, David Bidwell, Tom Leffler, Dale Newland, Tony Marden, Michael Solameda, Monica Grant, Thomas Fisher and Peter Hayn. Special thanks go to the staff of the VA Hospital and his social worker, Brandy Gensler.

A celebration/picnic in thanksgiving for James' life will be held in July. Call Bob Gordon at 864-8812 for further information. ▼

Leland P. Jarnagin

April 12, 1995

There's an old Irish saying: "Death is the middle of a long life." If that's true, then Lee departed this plane early Wednesday morning, April 12, to continue his existence elsewhere. He definitely lives on in our memory. He leaves behind his mother, Marion Jeffers; his half-brother, Kirk Braun; and many friends who harbor their loving memory of him.

A genuine soul, an expert for the experts, Lee had a strong, well-tempered mind coupled with a compassionate heart, and he sought to develop the character of young men who passed through his life, often testing their limits and ushering them toward manhood. He was something of a mentor and an owl in this respect and one of those rare exemplars in our subculture of an older man who blesses the younger.

Fond of foreign languages, swimming and an avid fan of the great outdoors, Lee regularly hiked the coastline of Pt. Reyes and enjoyed many sojourns to Europe. He discovered deity in nature and in relationships and sought to revere that informing energy throughout his life.

A memorial will be held for Lee on Saturday, May 27, at 1 p.m. in his former home: 225 Castro, Apt. 2, San Francisco. ▼

John Jordan

1934 - 1995

Our friend John passed away on May 8. John had been a school teacher for many years with the Santa Clara School District. He was a teacher by nature and a very good one. He taught his friends many things. He was always diplomatic and patient, and never embarrassed anyone when calling them down for being over the top.

He had a quick and precise way of moving through life, and if you could keep up with his pace, he would take you on some wondrous adventures.

John moved to the Bay Area in 1968 just in time to see the Summer of Love fade and the Gay Revolution begin. His contributions to the gay movement were intelligence and class. Knowing John helped me to look at other gays and myself with pride. He was the first professional gay man I ever met who did not make his living burning hair, clipping poodles or working in show biz.

John's friendship was a life-altering experience that allowed us to evolve a little further with less pain and more joy. He lived his life with great success and always within his means.

I will miss your lessons in life, dear friend.

Disney sued for allegedly taking advantage of AIDS-stricken former executive

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The estate of a Disney executive who died of AIDS is suing the company for allegedly coercing the man into giving back nearly $3 million in benefits while he was blind and near death.

The lawsuit filed in federal court April 13 contends Disney discriminated against Robert Jahn by forcing him to return accrued life insurance, stock options and deferred compensation in order to receive medical benefits. The company is accused of violating the federal Americans With Disabilities Act.

Jahn, a senior vice president of creative services in Disney's movie unit, died last May. At the time of his death, he was entitled to $1 million in life insurance, $1.2 million in stock options, $250,000 in deferred compensation and thousands more in bonus and vacation pay, according to the suit.

Jahn was hospitalized in January 1994 for AIDS-related illnesses, with four years left on his Disney employment contract. A month before he died, Jahn was asked to sign an agreement that disqualified him from his benefits, the lawsuit said.

If he did not sign the new contract, he would be denied medical benefits, according to the suit. The suit contends Jahn was near death and lacked the mental capacity to approve the new contract.

Efforts after his death to collect money owed have been unsuccessful.

Disney spokesman John Dreyer said the company had no comment. ▼

ROBERT "BEEJ" JOSEPH, 36, a member of the Open Road Riders of Chicagoland, died Nov. 3. He moved to Chicago in 1981, and later moved to a farm in Galena with his partner, Dwane. He is survived by Dwane, five sisters and a brother. Memorial services will be held June 17. ▼

William B. Jaques

William Bruce Jaques of Boston's South End died July 10 of AIDS-related complications at Youville Hospital. He was 36.

Born November 21, 1958, in Long Beach, CA, he graduated from Boston State and from the Chamberlyne School with a degree in Interior Design. Although his career was tragically short, Bill's designs left their mark on many small companies and larger corporations in the greater Boston area. He also donated a great deal of his time, effort and personal funds designing and furnishing a room at the new Fenway Community Health Center. Bill also designed and furnished many rooms in the CAP (Children's AIDS Project) House in Mattapan. During the 1991 Gay Games in Vancouver, B.C., he won the bronze medal for men's wrestling.

Bill will be greatly missed by his partner of 19 years, Skip Carter, along with many dear and close friends. Bill also leaves his mother, Helen; his sister, Donna; and two brothers, Michael and James.

A memorial service was held in the Bigelow Chapel at Mt. Auburn Cemetery on July 12, with cremation following. A memorial brunch will be scheduled in Bill's memory at a later date. Bill requested that contributions be made to the AIDS Action Committee, 131 Clarendon St., Boston, MA 02116.

John P. James died July 20 of complications from AIDS in Chicago. He was 33. A graduate of Northwestern University and the American Film Institute of Los Angeles, he produced the award-winning short film, "The Disco Years." Previously, James was the production coordinator of the television show, "Personalities," and various commercials, as well as having produced and hosted his own cable show, "City Scapes." In 1992, he moved to Paris, where he worked in television production for Euro Disney. James is survived by his mother, Mary Ellen James; his longtime friend and companion, Anne Allen; and friends, Steve Schmiedl, Doug Steppes, Brian Larsen and Richard Hoffman. 95

Michael David Jones

May 29, 1946 - Feb. 8, 1996

Dear Michael,

Although you have only been gone a short time, I find it hard to imagine life without you.

I think back to the day we met. Who would have ever thought a simple "psst" would change our lives forever. We never went a day without being together or talking on the phone. The best decision we ever made was when I moved to SF. You taught me so much about life and to "be myself."

We both had a love for Hawaii. It seemed so natural when we moved to Kona. It was so relaxing sitting on the lanai, watching the sunset each night with you by my side. I loved life with you!

Today, I'm here at "The Royal." I ordered a mai tai and our puu puu platter. I'm watching as the sun is about to set, and hoping you are out there swimming with the dolphins. - Thom

P.S. Thank you for keeping me safe from this terrible disease!

Special thanks to Dr. Liskey, Jim, Paul, Bob and everyone at Davies. A memorial service will be held at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, 415 El Camino, Burlingame, on Wednesday, March 13, 5:30 p.m. ▼

JOHN JOHNSTON

10-17-95
The way I see it, John Johnston had no business hailing from Selma, Alabama. He didn't fit the stereotype and he was far too cosmopolitan in his perspective to call Alabama home. While Selma was the point of origin, home was clearly Candler Park and the Atomic Cafe.

John's way of being in your life was pretty intense. Some days it revolved around articles in The New York Times and the television talk shows. Jeopardy was always an issue as was the latest in khaki pants, starched, button-down shirts and Ivy league white socks. He was a Brooks Brothers' advertisement. John Johnston was a mess. His viewpoints never ceased and his witticisms never waned. He was a pretty boy with a keen sense of a good party.

I didn't mean to love John, but he got right up in my heart and just stayed there. He was interesting, entertaining, difficult and fascinating. He had a sweet and sensitive side that surfaced occasionally and really knocked me off my feet...like the time when my trusted companion, my dog of 10 years, died and I arrived home days later to find a headstone on my dog's grave with his name and birth/death dates inscribed.

John was stoic and non-complaining throughout his battle with AIDS. He was strong and committed. He did things his way, in his time. I learned a lot, laughed a lot and wouldn't take anything for the cherished moments that will go through life with me.

Craig Logan Jackson

Interior Designer, 45

3-23-96

Craig Logan Jackson, an interior designer best known for the innovative D. F. Sanders & Company housewares stores in the 1980's, died on Thursday at Tisch Hospital of New York University Medical Center. He was 45 and lived in Manhattan.

The cause was complications from AIDS, a friend, William Hibsher, said.

Mr. Jackson and David F. Sanders, who were companions, opened the first Sanders store on West Broadway in 1980. A showcase of high-style furniture and objects, the store drew crowds and spawned branches on Madison Avenue and East 57th Street. Mr. Sanders died of complications from AIDS in 1989.

Mr. Jackson was a board member of the Hetrick-Martin Institute, a social-service agency for lesbian and gay youths, and helped furnish its quarters at 2 Astor Place.

He is survived by his companion, Manuel Casteleiro Fernandez; his mother, Win Locke, a brother, Keith, and a sister, Susan Miller, all of Chicago.

Brian Keith Jones

June 25, 1959 - March 2, 1996

Shortly after noon on March 2, Brian was received into Heaven as God's newest angel. His passing was peaceful, surrounded by friends and family in his own bedroom.

Brian was born in Southern California and moved to San Francisco shortly after graduation from high school. He worked as a florist at Rossi and Rovetti during that time.

When Brian learned of his HIV status, he didn't give up; he went to work. He moved to San Andreas to be with his mother and became one of the founders of the Sierra AIDS Council.

Brian moved back to San Francisco in order to better pursue treatment. Again, he rolled up his sleeves and went to work. He was a client volunteer for Most Holy Redeemer Support Group; he assisted with meals at Coming Home Hospice; worked for Project Open Hand; and assisted at the MHR Rectory.

He is survived by his partner, Billy Blasingame; mother, Esther; brother, Robert; and sister, Christie; as well as numerous aunts and uncles and loyal friends.

A memorial Mass for Brian will be held at Most Holy Redeemer on April 13 at 11 a.m. Those who knew Brian are most welcome to attend. ▼ the river, he let me see it wasn't all black, cold and frightening. His friends at Kashi Ashram's River House in Sebastian, Fla. had built his boat for him with their loving hearts, willing hands, sense of humor and compassionate souls. I do so miss you Bruce, but my heart is also sweet from having had you as my friend. I'll unfold the fabric often to look at the tracks our footprints made, and smile each time I do. And I'll believe you're up there fixing up your room in the mansion just the way you like it, and with room for anyone who might come along needing a place to stay!

BRUCE L. JOHNSON

Bruce L. Johnson was the fabric upon which 27 years of my life was written. When he died last Tuesday, he left me with a well-worn fold of memories to hold against my heart for as long as I live.

As he moved gently between this world and the other, he managed to care for me still. He whispered to me that I wasn't to worry, that his "heart was sweet" and that his wish for me was "peace of mind." The way he left was his last and greatest gift to me. He showed me that death is not always ripping and jolting and out of control. As he crossed

I cannot write how a certain hug feels, how a voice vibrating in your ear can make you so aware of your heart, how the phrase, "Don't forget the Half & Half" reminds you that you are home. How Gertrude Stein can transform a trick into a lover, how quickly love can turn to rage, how damaging the closet can be no matter what Judith Butler says. And no matter how well you can operate the ins and outs of it, how it feels to be a self-made man, how much a Mother's hug really means, how it feels to make a garden to watch things grow and learn how to die, how fast the intellect can work, how it feels to be an overweight kid with a silver cap on your front tooth, how wit and humor can create loving connections, how it feels to not "roll over and show your stomach" and then finally do it. How sweet and gentle men can be, how sex is with a man who makes you feel so safe, how hard it is to say, "Goodbye", how giving really works, how it makes you feel so safe, how hard it is to say "Goodbye", how giving really works, how it feels to have your face caressed one last time as you watch him go away....

Don Johnson Dies at 46

by Dennis Conkin

Don Johnson, whose extraordinary talent as a producer raised millions of dollars for Bay Area AIDS and gay organizations, died peacefully of AIDS at his home the night of Friday, November 3. He was 46.

Born in Alhambra, California in 1949, Johnson was a versatile and talented performer. He moved to San Francisco in 1978 and attended the American Conservatory Theatre, but soon discovered that he loved producing more than performing.

In the early 1980s Johnson founded Sterling Productions and began a legacy of assistance to scores of community groups and agencies including the AIDS Emergency Fund; the Center For AIDS Services; AIDS Project of Contra Costa County; Maitri AIDS Hospice; Shanti Project; the San Francisco AIDS Foundation; the Women's Cancer Resource Center; Horizons Foundation; Gay Games; the Lesbian and Gay Chorus; and other groups.

Johnson also served on the Board of Directors of the AIDS Emergency Fund and on the honorary board of the Cable Car Awards.

"Don was such an inspiration," said former AEF president Rick Salinas. "He was a hard worker who had an instinct about people that was amazing. And he had such great creativity and compassion."

Like all artists, Johnson could be temperamental and did not suffer fools gladly, Salinas said, but "he had a great heart and if he was your friend, you had no better friend."

Johnson's productions included "You and The Night and the Music," a memorable evening of cabaret at the Fairmont; "Twenty-two on the Red," an evening of casino gaming, dancing and entertainment; the Bay Area Reporter's 1989 benefit San Francisco Opera production of the Kirov Ballet in Sleeping Beauty; the 1991 American Ballet Theatre AIDS benefit for the Bay Area Reporter's 20th anniversary; and numerous other events.

'Put the pieces together'

In acknowledgment of his outstanding community service Johnson was named co-grand marshal of the 1992 Lesbian and Gay Freedom Day Parade, an honor he said left him embarrassed.

"I'm really quite embarrassed about this grand marshal business," he said in an interview with Examiner columnist Stephanie Salter.

"I mean as clichéd as this may be, I've done absolutely nothing but put the pieces together."

In the last few months of his life, Johnson knew great peace, according to his close friend John Gutierrez.

"Don suffered no pain and went peacefully on to new endeavors. In the last months, Don knew great peace by embracing the spirituality he expressed through his life," Gutierrez said.

75

Johnson was preceded in death by an older brother who died of AIDS in 1985.

Memorial services will be private, but contributions to Kairos Support For Caregivers are requested. ▼

Ken Johnson

Kenneth Lee Johnson, 50, a lifelong resident of Washington, D.C., died of AIDS related complications at George Washington University Hospital on Friday, February 2, 1996, according to his partner, David Shamer, also of D.C.

Johnson was born in Washington, D.C. on Dec. 19, 1945, and attended D.C. public schools. He graduated from high school in the early 1960s, and earned an undergraduate degree from the D.C. Teacher's College, now part of the University of the District of Columbia, in 1978.

Johnson taught at the John Phillip Sousa Middle School in Southeast Washington from April 1987 until December, 1995. He also facilitated weekly ski trips for D.C. area students through the D.C. Interscholastic Athletic Association.

Johnson enjoyed animals and spending time outdoors, especially at his country estate in Amherst, Va., where he kept several species of birds in an aviary. He also kept animals in the classroom, including a mink and ferrets, Shamer said. In addition, Johnson enjoyed water-skiing in Annapolis, Md., and vacationing in Florida and Provincetown, Mass., Shamer said.

Johnson is also survived by his mother, Francis Taylor of D.C.; sister, Brenda Johnson, and two nieces, all of Silver Spring, Md.; longtime friend, Chris Lund of D.C.; and many other friends throughout the D.C. area.

Celebration of Life services are planned for May, and will take place in both Annapolis, Md., and Amherst, Va. Further details will be announced.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Whitman-Walker Clinic, 1407 S St., NW, Washington, DC 20009.

Daniel Johann

Another friend is gone. Another fellow has been lost to AIDS. And one whose path crossed that of Daniel Johann will remember him as a warm and energetic being. He was easy to like, comfortable to be with. He had a way of making you feel as if he had been your friend forever. He was able to manifest a genuine presence in life and helped to show his friends that the healing process begins with the heart. His smile, his German accent, his humor, his radiance will be remembered and missed. Daniel passed from this life April 7, 1996, in his home town of Seattle, Washington. He was 35.

Robert K. Jarvis

Robert Keith Jarvis died at home in Brighton from complications of AIDS on Jan. 13.

Rob graduated in 1976 from Malden High School. He was a graduate of UMass Boston and attended Newbury College.

He was a devoted activist in the battle against AIDS. For many years, he served as vice president of Northern Lights Alternatives of New England. He was the recipient of the President's Award in 1995.

Rob was a former president and committee member of the Monday Night Bowling League. He also served as the chairman for the annual fundraisers for Hospice on Mission Hill.

Rob was a tireless volunteer at the AIDS Action Committee for the past seven years. In 1991, Rob oversaw the creation of the Credit Card Donation Program. As volunteer coordinator of charge processing, he brought his expertise from industry and developed reports and procedures that continue to be used today. In addition, his experience in telemarketing helped create yet another new facet of fundraising for AIDS Action.

At AIDS Action's Volunteer Kick-Off for the 1995 From All Walks Of Life, the Boston AIDS pledge walk, he served as a speaker helping to inspire many people to get involved in the event — AIDS Action's largest fundraiser.

Rob was the son of John F. Jarvis, Sr.

of Malden and the late Marie (Lawlor) Jarvis. He leaves his beloved life companion, Manny Speare; two brothers, John F. Jarvis, Jr. of Fort Lauderdale, FL, and Kevin W. Jarvis of Georgetown, MA; a niece, Jodi-Lynn Jarvis of Franklin, NH; brother-in-law & sister-in-law Jim & Rose Curran of Franklin, NH; adopted aunt Patricia Moquin of Malden and adopted sister-in-law Reta Owens of Malden; and many devoted friends.

Remembrances in Rob's memory may be made to Northern Lights Alternatives, P.O. Box 91, Boston, MA 02117.

WILLIAM JACKSON, 49, a registered nurse who helped organize healthcare institutions for gay men in Chicago, died of AIDS complications June 4 at home. He organized and staffed a free sexually transmitted disease clinic for gay men in the 1970s, and through the Lincoln Park Lagooners, which he helped found, he raised money for what is now Howard Brown Health Center. He was a decorated Vietnam veteran; after his military service, he worked as a nurse at Cook County Hospital, the Westside and Lakeside veterans hospitals and psychiatric hospitals. He assisted in starting mental health services at Cook County Correctional Center. Survivors include his partner, Jordan Dauby; his mother; a sister; and a brother. A memorial service is set for 2 p.m. July 13 in the chapel of St. Joseph Hospital, 2900 N. Lake Shore Drive. 9C

Robert Jones 1967 - 1996

We will all miss Robert, especially those of us at Hamburger Mary's. He always came to work with a smile and a new hat to wear on the line. He wasn't a chef; he was a cook.

Robert was the best - clean, folded apron on, ready to go with spatula in hand. He performed easily over a hot grill, always smiling that smile. He loved it when it got busy and the music got louder over the crowd of people that would come to eat his cooking.

Robert found his way to his beloved home of San Francisco from Houston, Texas. It must have been too slow a pace for him back in Texas because Robert liked to go fast! Whether it be on the cook's line or on his motorcycle, Robert could keep up with any speed given to him.

Even up to his untimely death, Robert lived his life to the fullest. He was loved by all, from the janitor to the customer to the postman, but especially by his friends here at Mary's.

Arthur Johnson

Arthur Julian Johnson, 40, a resident of Washington, D.C., died in D.C. on Sunday, December 31, 1995 of AIDS-related complications, according to his friend, Louise Gant of D.C.

Johnson was born in Baltimore, Md., on March 11, 1955, and attended Baltimore City Schools until ninth grade when he accepted a scholarship to Loyola High School in Blakefield, Md. In 1973, he won a scholarship to Trinity College in Hartford, Conn., where, in 1977, he earned a bachelor's in English. After college, Johnson taught English for five years at Baltimore's Carver Vocational Technical High School, and one year at Baltimore Polytechnical Institute.

After years of freelance writing, Johnson became a full-time reporter for the Baltimore Afro-American newspaper in 1983. In 1984, he was a reporter for the Prince George's County Journal. In 1987, he became the assistant editor for Point of View, a publication of the Congressional Black Caucus Foundation, Inc., based in D.C. He later worked as associate editor for the Association of Performing Arts Presenters, and he was associate editor and film reviewer for Black Film Review magazine, both in D.C.

A prolific author, Johnson was profiled in a Blade 1992 article about black writers who publish their own stories.

"It is especially difficult for African American Gay writers [to get published]. I think some editors don't think there's an audience for it," Johnson said. "I got tired of my stories getting rejected, so I decided to publish my stories myself."

Johnson's writing also appeared in Catalyst, Obsidian, BGM, The Fire This Time, SPC, Reve, Raven Chronicles, PeerPoint, Naked City News, Spade, The Alternative, and The Guide. His award-winning fiction was included in Nommo II and Not the Only One. He was also a produced playwright (Shades of Grey) and novelist (Just Being Guys Together).

Johnson is survived by his partner, Tony Tapia of D.C.; brother, Phillip Johnson Jr. of Cambridge, Mass.; sister, Phyllis J. Purnell; niece, Julie K., both of Baltimore; nephew, Mark Purnell, of Columbia, S.C.; aunt, Katherine Littles, of Baltimore; and many relatives and friends.

ARGENTINIAN GAY LEADER DIES

Argentinean gay leader Carlos Jauregui, 38, died of AIDS complications Aug. 20.

He was president of the group Comunidad Homosexual Argentina in the mid-80s and one of the nation's first gay spokespeople. In 1991 he co-founded the group Gays for Civil Rights.

Jauregui authored the book "Homosexuality in Argentina" in 1987 and contributed frequent articles to mainstream newspapers and magazines. Since 1992, he also organized the annual gay-pride parade.

He was recently selected by journalists as one of the nation's "10 Most Credible Political Personalities." 96

Zako Joannides

June 30, 1961 — April 29, 1996

Zako was born in his father's hometown of Famagusta on the island of Cyprus. At the age of 3, the family moved to London, where Zako grew up, was educated, and graduated with honors with a degree in English law.

He emigrated to the U.S. in '87 and worked successfully as a realtor at Zephyr Real Estate. He made the transition to administration at Zephyr several years later.

Zako returned to London a month before his death, allowing him to say farewell to his beloved family, college friends, and former work associates. He then died with dignity and grace in his childhood home with his lover and mother beside him.

He is survived by his lover Daniel, mother Anne, father Akis, sister Alex, brother-in-law Glenn, and their two children Yasmine and Saffy Pats.

Zako leaves behind a large family of friends in the U.S. He is remembered most for his joy of living, loyalty to work, youthful and devilish charm, intoxicating good looks and irreverent sense of humor. Zako viewed life as a bowl of cherries, and he ate every single one. He will be missed.

Jonathon (John) Wayne Johnston

Dec. 29, 1946 — Aug. 13, 1996

John died peacefully in his home after a long, courageous battle with AIDS. He moved to San Francisco in the 1970s, and was employed by the city and county, first with the Department of Social Services and most recently with the City Attorney's Office.

John loved to travel, especially to Europe, where he felt most free. He adored his kitties: Debbie, Michael, Betsey and Monique. All who knew him could not fail to be touched by his integrity, his graciousness, his intelligence, his sharp wit and, most definitely, his decency.

John will be greatly missed by William Zimmerman, his partner for the last 16 years.

Many thanks to Zella and William E. Zimmerman, Theresa McGinley, Barbara Baroff, Rabih Alameddine and Patricia Klein for their friendship, compassion and loving support throughout John's illness.

Special thanks to Dr. Allen Levine, whose extraordinary care gave John the strength to live and the courage to die. Thanks to the staff at the Visiting Nurses and Hospice of San Francisco, to which donations may be made in John's name.

A gathering will be held on Saturday, August 24, at 2 p.m. For information, call 673-8160.

Philip C. R. Jerry, 41, choreographer and former leading dancer with the Joffery Ballet, died Friday at Albany Medical Center Hospital of AIDS.

Mr. Jerry was born in Elmira, Chemung County, NY, and studied with Gertrude Hallenbeck of Albany and Bagha Follet of Delmar. On Friday nights between the ages of 9 and 16, he would travel to New York City for Saturday morning classes with Jacques d'Amboise, a principal dancer with the New York City Ballet.

After graduating at 16 from Bethlehem High School (Delmar, NY) in 1972, he was offered a position with the Joffery training company, Joffery II. Three years later, he was accepted into the Joffery Ballet where he danced principal and solo roles for 13 years. His role of Death in "The Green Table," was named by The New York Times as one of the Ten Best Performances of 1983. Other major roles include Petruchio in "The Taming of the Shrew," and Romeo and Tybalt in "Romeo and Juliet." Mr. Jerry appeared on four "PBS Great Performances" and on Broadway in "The Most Happy Fella" and "Dangerous Games." His critically acclaimed ballet "Our Town" was appaused by The New York Times and The Washington Post when it made its Washington premiere at Kennedy Center this year.

Mr. Jerry was a 1995 honors graduate of Princeton University. During his years at Princeton, he was also an instructor at the Princeton Ballet Academy and was ballet-master of the American Repertory Ballet. In January of this year he began working as a special assistant to Harvey Lichtenstien, president of the Brooklyn Academy of Music.

Survivors include his parents, abrother and two sisters.

He was the nine year companion of Patrick B. Corbin of Manhattan.

Donnie Jones

9C

Donnie Page Jones of Virginia died after a long illness in his Cambridge, Mass. home on October 13. He had moved to Boston's South End in 1990 and resided in South Boston for many years before settling to Cambridge.

Mr. Jones served in the Navy and was honorably discharged in 1976. He also served as a caregiver by forming and working on an AIDS ministry at the Fourth Presbyterian Church which was his home away from home. His beloved friends Larry Poor, Barbara Hennelly and Robert Brunelli tended to his home care until his death.

Mr. Jones is survived by his brother, Lonnie; his sister, Linda; his mother, Katherine; his twin, Danny; and his extended family in Virginia. A vigil was held November 14. Donations may be made in his name to the Fourth Presbyterian Church's Sunday school or memorial fund.

Andrew Johnston

Donald Andrew Johnston, 30, of Washington, D.C., died suddenly at his home on Sunday, March 31, 1996, according to his partner, Michael Hoge, also of D.C. The cause of death is still unknown, according to Hoge.

On Sept. 15, 1965, Johnston was born Michael Anthony Baker in Scarborough, Ontario, Canada. He was raised by an adoptive family in Potomac, Md., where, coincidentally, he lived less than a mile from Hoge. The two attended the same elementary school, but they did not meet until 1992 in D.C., Hoge said.

In 1976, Johnston and his family moved to Chapel Hill, N.C. There, Johnston briefly attended Glade Valley Presbyterian School in Sparta, N.C. and Chapel Hill High School in Chapel Hill, N.C. Later, he received his General Equivalency Degree and studied the arts at North Carolina State University, Raleigh.

Johnston also lived in Los Angeles, where he worked as an actor. According to Hoge, Johnston appeared in the films Bull Durham, Running Man, The Nieces, and nephews. He is survived by close friends, Lou Test of Dale City, Va.; Brenda Luton of Lorton, Va.; and Allen Stone of D.C.; and by his beloved cat Leo.

DR. CHARLES L. JONES, 58, a podiatrist who founded programs to provide free foot care and collect donations of shoes for the homeless, died Aug. 21 at his Lincoln Park home. He was past president of the American Podiatric Medical Association and had been vice president and dean of the Scholl College of Podiatric Medicine. Last year, he received the college's highest award, the President's Honor, as well as its Alumni Association's Alumnus of the Year award.

The CHICAGO TRIBUNE reports: "In the late 1980s, [Jones] read a paper that had been written by a Scholl student on the foot care needs of the homeless in Chicago. His response was to organize volunteer students and faculty to visit homeless shelters to discover and respond to the foot problems. He also quickly discovered that the foot conditions of the homeless were often caused by their footwear. He then instituted the 'Let Someone Fill Your Shoes' campaign to collect shoes for the homeless. Last year, it distributed 10,000 pairs in Chicago."

Survivors include his companion, Martin Gigele, and his sister Viola. 9C

JOSEPH LESLIE JURKAN

1962-1996

Joe's spirit and soul left us Saturday Morning August 3. Somewhere within that great white light I know that he has just made another Hole in One on the course he is playing.

Joe is survived by his mother Mary Jane, his dad and stepmother Vic and Jan, his two sisters Lori and Jennifer and his lover of almost 15 years Mark.

Joe and Mark were owners of a popular Polk area bar called The Motherlode. Those of you that know the bar know that Joe worked tirelessly for the past several years to try and end the discrimination that was so prevalent against the primary clientele of The Motherlode. Joe your fight to end this discrimination by A.B.C. and some very homophobic people will not be in vain and your efforts will always be remembered.

To Marin County Specialty Clinic a special thanks for giving me Joe for a little bit longer than anyone would have thought. Tara and specially Brian, thanks. To the staff, current and former, and the patrons of The Motherlode, thanks for all your thoughts. Ron and Betsy, thanks for giving Joe one last cook-out. And to Bobby, I don't know if you ever really knew how much you meant to Joe, but he knew that you would take care of Mark. Bobby, all I can say is that you are truly a miracle. Mary Jane, how really lucky he was to have you not only as his mother but as his friend because you were always there, ALWAYS. Vic, thanks for the twinkle you put in his eyes his last birthday.

There will be a Celebration of Joe's Life Sunday August 11 at 7:00 pm. at The Motherlode 1002 Post Street. If you have a story about Joe, and I am sure that some of you do come by and share it with his friends and family.

Joe, Ithaca gave you the marvelous Journey, without her you wouldn't have set out, She has nothing left to give you now. Good-bye and thanks for loving me unconditionally.

ARNOLD JACKSON, 40, writer and leader in the African-American gay community of Philadelphia, died of AIDS May 3. He worked at We the People, a local PWA coalition, and served as an intake advocate at Philadelphia's AIDS Law Project. In 1992, Jackson and his partner, David Fair, started Positive Health, a TV show about public health and AIDS. Fair said he will remember Jackson for "his anger, sick sense of humor and stubbornness in advocating for his beliefs even while his body rebelled against him." Jackson was completing a novel about the black gay experience in Philadelphia when he died. 98

DEREK ANSON JONES, director of the Pulitzer Prize-winning play Wit, died January 17 of AIDS. Jones, 39, was born and raised in Washington, DC, where he attended Sidwell Friends School with Wit playwright Margaret Edson. "Our friendship began decades before Wit, and I trusted it would continue for decades beyond," she said. The New York City off-Broadway production of the play won the 1999 Lucille Lortel Award and received a Drama Desk nomination. "Derek was a sweet man with immense creative energy and an unstoppable hunger for doing more projects," said Judith Light, who is in the national tour. Jones, survived by his partner, Denis O'Hare, directed productions of Much Ado About Nothing and An American Daughter at Long Wharf Theater in New Haven, Connecticut. 2920

AARON HUNTER JONES

Musician 1966-1996

Aaron (Sean) was born at sunrise on May 18, 1966 with heroin in his veins, and Aaron Hunter Jones died at sunset on August 2, 1996 with heroin in his veins.

On February 13, 1969, he made history (at the age of 2) by being the first child in the United States to be adopted by a single man. His first month of life was spent in San Francisco General Hospital withdrawing from drugs in his mother's womb, and the next two years compounded his troubles in a negligent, abusive foster home. Until he was 18, He was loved and cared for by his father, his family, his teachers, his therapists, and a very large loving array of adopted gay aunts and uncles. They all found that love and care can make a difference, but sometimes it just isn't enough.

He was an outstanding child, brilliant and adorable with Paul Newman blue-gray eyes; reading books by the time he was 3 1/2, playing the piano at 5, and creating music by the time he was 7. Everyone fell in love with him.

But his mother's heroin habit had done irreparable damage, and as an adult his demon "voices" screamed for more drugs. My bright, funny, handsome, warm and loving son was victimized as a fetus and given an early death penalty for something he did not cause or choose.

Many of us are suffering the loss of this charming, polite, enthusiastic, wonderful man. We will share this deep pool of grief at the Swedenborg Church, Lyon at Washington Street, San Francisco, on Sunday, August 25, 1996, at 4:00 p.m. Reception to follow.

If you knew Aaron, please join us. If you loved Aaron - we need you there.

Donations in his name to "Sunny Hills" - 300 Sunny Hill Drive, San Anselmo, CA 94960 appreciated.
