

HALLAREN—in Boston, of Norwell, March 9, Patrick L., age 37. Brother of William D. Jr. of Weymouth, Michael W. of Cambridge, Christopher J. of Japan, Jeremiah W. of Weymouth, John J. of Boston, Elizabeth R. Hurley of Norwell, Katherine A. of Athol, Ida-Mary Alice of Winthrop, Theresa F. of Jamaica Plain and Joan B. Hallaren of Boston. Memorial Service on Friday, March 11, at 2 p.m. in the First Parish Church, River St., Norwell. Memorial donations may be made to the Hospice of Mission Hill, 20 Parker Hill Ave., Boston, MA 02120. Arrangements by Richard Davis Funeral Home, 373 Court St., PLYMOUTH.

Timothy Holless, 33, a man with AIDS who was dragged from an American Airlines plane in November, leading the airline to issue an apology and begin training staff to improve sensitivity to people with AIDS, died Jan. 1 in San Francisco of AIDS complications. (Windy City Times).

Kent Carver Hines, 40

Built environmental sculpture

Kent Carver Hines, a member of the W.R. Whitney Landscape Architecture team in Provincetown, died of AIDS Saturday at his home in Provincetown. He was 40.

Mr. Hines, a former actor, artist and singer in New York, designed and built environmental sculpture, furniture and water vessels for numerous gardens on Cape Cod since moving to Provincetown in 1987.

Born in Palisade, Colo., Mr. Hines graduated from the University of Colorado at Boulder and went to New York in 1975 as a fellow at the Whitney Museum of American Art. He appeared in productions of the Mighty Oaks Theater in Greenwich Village and the Stonybrook Theater Festival, and he sang with the Art Mob, a vocal group specializing in early American a cappella music.

Mr. Hines exhibited his sculptures and paintings at the Berta Tucker Gallery in Provincetown.

He leaves his parents, Wendell and Dorothy of Grand Junction, Colo.; a brother, Gary of Grand Junction; and his companion, Bill Whitney of North Truro.

STEPHEN BRUCE HAWKINS (November 30, 1955 - July 25, 1994) Precious and few are the moments we together shared. Tony Ellington.

Resident of Boston and P'town

Tracy Hower, age 34, of Boston and Provincetown, died Monday, May 4, 1990 at Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston after a long illness with AIDS. Mr. Hower was very well read in the disease of AIDS.

Tracy had worked the last 13 years at Hand Crafter in Provincetown and the last six years at In Touch in Boston.

Mr. Hower is survived by his mother, Mary (Tracy) of Venice, FL; and the late Frederick Hower. He was the brother of

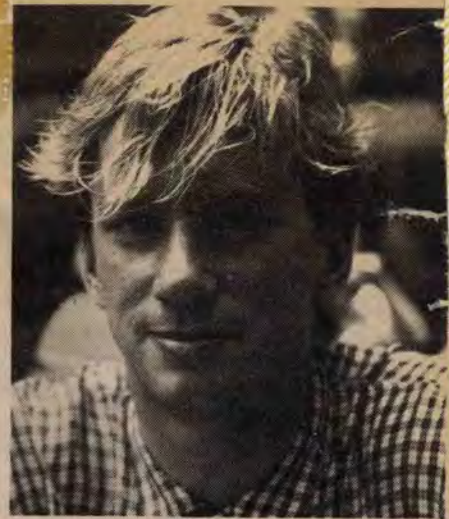

We have lost another friend, brother, lover and son to AIDS. Kirk Hegge died on February 8, 1990 at Brigham and Women's Hospital, Boston.

A talented architect, a soulful artist and extraordinary spirit, Kirk provided those close to him with a constant source of strength and insight. His sense of humor and vitality catalyzed his journey through life. Undaunted by his malaise, Kirk pushed and challenged himself until the end, thus giving inspiration to those around him.

His passing calls to remind us of his visionary ways. Kirk absorbed and studied life with a passion that few could match. He was a proponent of studying human nature, asking questions and sharing opinions. His didactic sensibility was clearly demonstrated in the many architectural projects in which he was involved.

It is with great sadness and despair that he is survived by his parents George and Gloria Hegge of Williston, North Dakota; his sister Marri, of Wyoming; sister Kimberly of Texas; his younger brother, Jonathon of Minnesota; and his uncle, Hjalmer Hegge of California. Kirk also leaves behind his lover, Christopher

Kirk Hegge Architect and artist

Kirk Hegge

Hughes of Boston, and numerous close friends.

All are invited to attend a candlelight memorial service for Kirk on the anniversary of his birth on Tuesday, February 20, 1990, at 6:00 p.m. at the Arlington Street Church, Boston.

Robert Hatcher, a hemophiliac with AIDS, at 15

11-26-92
NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Robert Hatcher, a hemophiliac teen-ager who appealed to educators to teach students about AIDS, died of complications of the illness Thursday. He was 15.

Mr. Hatcher, who contracted the disease from a blood transfusion, said last week he was worried children weren't being educated about AIDS.

Macon County school Superintendent Jimmy Wheeley and John Spencer, president of the Macon County Chamber of Commerce, visited Mr. Hatcher last week to apologize for students who had thrown rocks at his house and harassed him after learning he had AIDS.—AP

Q. AIDS has spread through all walks of life, yet I can't remember hearing about any actor or actress in X-rated movies who has caught it. Is the adult-movie industry covering up? Any facts on this?—Paula Shurman, Las Vegas, Nev.

AP/Wide World

The actor John Holmes

A. Spokesmen for the adult-video business deny that AIDS has claimed any victims in their industry. However, the death certificate for John Holmes—a bisexual porn star and intravenous drug user—tells a different story. It states that the actor died in 1988 at 43 in Sepulveda, Calif., of encephalitis as a result of AIDS. No doubt there have been other casualties in the porn trade.

Elizabeth and Barbara, both of Venice, FL.

He is also survived by his partner in life, Sam Goldfarb of Boston and Provincetown.

A memorial service was held on Thursday, May 17, 1990 at the J. S. Waterman & Sons-Eastman Chapel of Boston. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made in Tracy's memory to the AIDS Action Committee, 131 Clarendon St., Boston, MA 02116.

HARRIS 1992

On Monday, August 10, suddenly, Sidney K. of North Miami, FL, formerly of Skokie, IL. Devoted husband of Muriel (Krissman). Loving father of Evvjean Mintz and her husband Richard of Boston and Careديث Gillis and her husband Arthur of Wellesley. Cherished grandfather of James and Elaine. Master of Madison, WI, Valerie Maiter of NYC, Paul Gillis of Chicago, IL, and Mark Gillis of Claremont, CA. Dear brother of Irving Harris of No. Miami and Ruth Goldberg (Harris) of Corvallis, OR. Services at the Levine Chapel, 470 Harvard St., BROOKLINE, on Thursday, August 13 at 10:00 AM. The family will be at the home of Arthur and Careديث Gillis, Wednesday and Thursday, 2:00-5:00 and 7:00-9:00 PM. Remembrances may be made to the Neil Bogart Memorial Laboratory, 1801 Century Park West, Los Angeles, CA 90067 for Cancer and AIDS Research for Children.

Dick Howard

"I am a beautiful man inside and out, worthy of my recovery, a born-again human being, and a gay man." These are words proudly spoken at thousands of 12-step program meetings by Dick Howard, who died suddenly on February 15 of a pulmonary embolism. Dick was well-known and well-loved locally as one of the most inspiring success stories of the recovery program.

Dick, 55, came from Portland, Maine and attended Bates College. After he came to Boston about 15 years ago, he joined Alcoholics Anonymous and began to change his life through that and other 12-step programs. Since 1977, Dick worked as a guard at the faculty entrance to Widener Library at Harvard. Dick helped out on holidays at homeless shelters and old age homes. He participated in the annual From All Walks of Life fundraising walk, proclaiming "I'm a registered walker on the road to recovery." He was also a member of Dignity Boston, the organization for gay/lesbian/bisexual Catholics.

At Dignity Boston, Dick often served as a greeter. "You'd always know when Dick was at the door because everybody got a big hug and a big hello. He was truly glad to see you, glad to be there, and he made you feel glad to be there, too," said Dignity spokesperson Al Petras.

Anyone who knew Dick soon was caught up in his enthusiasm for the local professional and Harvard sports teams. A good friend who often attended games with Dick said, "At games, Dick would only yell positive things at the players. He would make friends with everyone sitting near him. Dick had no labels, he accepted everyone as they were. Sports taught him to be a team player. He played his part and didn't control others. He was definitely part of the team in many communities."

The shocking news of Dick's death spread quickly to hundreds of his friends and admirers, many of whom pitched in to locate his family and make arrangements. Said Al Petras, "Dick was brought to his final resting place by the community he so loved. It is a community act of love." Funeral services were held by Dignity at St. John the Evangelist Church in Boston on February 20.

As Dick's program buddy stated, "He gave of himself freely yet he made us feel that we were doing him a favor just by being ourselves. The Red Sox have surely lose their biggest fan and we have lost a true friend." □

Gary Heatwole

Owned landscaping business

Gary Heatwole died on Sunday, April 8, 1990, at Beth Israel Hospital, after a long battle with AIDS. Gary, originally from Elida, Ohio, leaves his parents, Irene and Raymond Heatwole of Elida; and three sisters, Linda Bland, Harrisburg, VA; Connie Westfall, Staunton, VA; and Rita Bear, Lancaster, PA. He also leaves one niece and one nephew, both of Lancaster.

After having resided in Boston for nearly ten years, Gary moved to the Florida Keys where he started his own landscaping business. He returned to Boston in the autumn of 1988 to live while being treated for his illness.

Gary's friend, John Alvino, respectfully requests your attendance at a memorial service in honor of Gary on Saturday, May 19, at 2:00 p.m., at 1st and 2nd Unitarian Universalist Church, 66 Marlboro St., Boston.

HORTON—In Boston formerly of Melrose Stephen H., former husband of Carol (Morley) Horton of Woburn and father of Lisa M. Horton of Woburn and Jeffrey T. Horton of Salem. Son of Emily (McKenzie) Horton of Melrose. Brother of Richard H. Horton of Plymouth. Also survived by two grandchildren. Funeral Service at the Morrison Funeral Home, 13 Yale Ave., WAKEFIELD, Saturday at 10:30 am. Friends may call at the funeral home Friday evening 7-9 pm. Memorial contributions may be made to the Hospice at Mission Hill, 20 Parker Hill Ave., Boston, MA, 02120. 12-11-91

DAVID A. HILLIARD 9/20/62-2/18/92. My brother, my best friend, I'll never forget you! I love you, Robyn.

Richard Horowitz, 44

Led Third World aid agency

Richard A. Horowitz, former executive director of the Panos Institute in Washington and former representative of the Ford Foundation in West Africa, died of AIDS Wednesday at his summer home in Provincetown. He was 44.

Mr. Horowitz spent the past 12 years working to improve conditions in West Africa. The institute, with headquarters in London, is devoted to development in the Third World.

On his return to New York in 1987 after four years based in Senegal and Nigeria, he helped arrange for the Ford Foundation to finance AIDS projects around the world.

Mr. Horowitz, a native Bostonian, graduated from Middlebury College in 1968 and received a doctorate in African history from Northwestern University in 1977.

He leaves his parents, James J. and Elaine (Barkin) Horowitz of Coconut Creek, Fla.; and his companion, Melvin Dixon.

A memorial service is planned.

John Howlett Is Dead; Opera Press Agent, 41

John Howlett, the director of marketing and public relations for the Los Angeles Music Center Opera and the former vice president for promotion of the Brooklyn Academy of Music, died at his home in Los Angeles on Tuesday. He was 41 years old.

He died of AIDS, said Marcia Lazar, a staff member of the marketing and public relations department at the Music Center.

Mr. Howlett, who was born in New York City, studied at Christ the King Seminary and Fairfield University in Connecticut. He wrote dance criticism for The Albany Times Union before becoming a press representative. He was director of public relations for the New York Shakespeare Festival and in 1983 was appointed to his post at the Brooklyn Academy, where he remained until he moved to Los Angeles two years.

His companion was Richard Atkins. He is survived by his parents, Frank and Cathleen Howlett, and two brothers, Frank and James, all of Stamford, Conn.

A memorial service will be held on Oct. 5 at 10:30 A.M. in St. John's Church in Stamford. 9/26/91

GUY HOCQUENGHEM, a journalist and philosopher who founded the French Gay Action Front, died in Paris Aug. 28 of complications from AIDS. He was 42. He spent his last two months editing Frère Angelo, his final novel.

Timothy Hawkins

Fashion Journalist, 44 6/14/92

Timothy Hawkins, a fashion journalist, died yesterday at his home in Manhattan. He was 44 years old.

Mr. Hawkins died of AIDS, his sister, Heather Hawkins, said.

His articles have appeared in Esquire, Men's Bazaar Italian, French Vogue Homme, Egg, Interview and The New York Times Magazine. He began his career at The Los Angeles Times and most recently he was a contributing editor to GQ.

Mr. Hawkins was a three-time winner of the Aldo Award from the Men's Fashion Association of America. On June 4, he was awarded the Woolmark Award for career achievement.

In addition to his sister, who lives in San Francisco, he is survived by a daughter, Leslie Hawkins, of Jersey City, and his parents, Howard and Edna Hawkins of Graeagle, Calif.

Kay Herd, 44

Was AIDS clinician at MGH

Kay Herd, the AIDS nurse-clinician at Massachusetts General Hospital from 1987 to 1989, died of a cerebral hemorrhage Wednesday at Holy Family Hospital, Methuen. She was 44 and lived in Haverhill.

A registered nurse and alumna of the University of Cincinnati, Ms. Herd came to Boston in 1981 to begin graduate study in public health at Boston University. After receiving a master's degree there, she joined the Massachusetts Department of Public Health, specializing in epidemiology and communicable diseases.

At MGH, she helped establish a blood transfusion center for AIDS patients and produced educational videos for the American Journal of Nursing.

Since 1989 she had been the nurse-epidemiologist at Nashua Memorial Hospital, Nashua.

She leaves three sisters, Ann Stangby of San Francisco, and Mickey Grier and Mary Stangby of Cincinnati; a brother, Larry Stangby of Cincinnati; and a close friend, J. Edwin Moore of Haverhill. 3/91

Services will be private.

HOLE—Of Reading & Hollywood, FL Sept. 24. Beulah "Bette" (Ellis). Beloved mother of Kathryn E. Hole of Hawthorne, CA, Karen L. Hudson of Natick, Beverly "Elle" Sullivan of Kingston. Daughter of Beulah E. Jacques of Wakefield. Sister of Alice Doucette of Wakefield. Beverly Wright of Reading, Thomas Ellis of Reading, Ronnie Ellis of FL. Grandmother of Melissa & Jamie Hudson, Christopher & Richard Sullivan. Also survived by her son-in-law: Richard S. Hudson & Paul R. Sullivan and many nieces & nephews. There will be a family Graveside Service Friday at 10:30 a.m. at Charles Lawn Cemetery, Reading. With a Pro-Burial Funeral Mass in St. Agnes Church, 186 Woburn St. Reading Saturday at 9 a.m. Donations may be made in her memory to the Hospice at Mission Hill, 20 Parker Hill Ave., Boston, MA 02120. Arrangements Joseph Doherty Funeral Home, READING. 4/1

RACINE — Probe began in death of AIDS patient Dennis Hill. He was found in jail cell Nov. 17 covered with feces and vomit after being jailed on traffic charge. He died Saturday. 1991

Thomas A. Henry, formerly of Boston's South End and Fenway neighborhoods, died in his home in Columbus, OH on July 28, 1990 from complications due to AIDS. Tom was 34.

Tom was raised on the family farm in Fremont, OH, and graduated from Ohio State University with a degree in Social Work. A Boston resident for eight years, he helped many people through his work as a counselor with the Massachusetts Department of Mental Health. He designed and developed a workshop program dealing with addiction which became the basis for many programs throughout the Massachusetts correctional systems.

Tom also studied Art and Design at the Boston Architectural Center and Mass. College of Art. Put his artistic abilities together with his critical eye, enthusiasm, and eccentricities, and BAM—WOW! Tom's excitement was contagious. Underwear for dinner napkins was just part of what made Tom special, unique and "Tom." But his favorite things in the world were riding the biggest, fastest, scariest roller coasters he could find, and spending time with Raggy & Andy (and Poop Baby, too!)

Tom Henry

Memorial services were held in Columbus and Fremont, OH. Tom is survived by his parents, his sister Amy and brother Gary, and nine nieces and three nephews. He is missed by all who knew him.

James C. (Jay) Hodgson

Worked at Dana-Farber, Repligen

James C. (Jay) Hodgson, 33, of Foster City, California, died of AIDS complications on February 10 in San Mateo, California. With him were his lover, Bill Anderson, and his close friend, Steven Kroll.

Jay's courageous battle with AIDS began less than one year ago. During the ensuing struggle, Jay was able to live much of the remainder of his life doing the things he enjoyed most.

Jay was born in Boothbay Harbor, Maine. After graduating from Dartmouth College in 1980, he moved to Boston where he was involved in scientific research at the Dana-Farber Cancer Institute as well as at Repligen Corporation. He and his lover, Bill Anderson, lived in Boston's South End for many years until relocating to the San Francisco area in 1987.

Soon after moving to California, Jay discovered a new love: computers. In the enthusiastic, high-spirited fashion that was so typical of him, Jay soon became a self-taught expert at software programming. In 1989, he became a Software Engineer for Apple Computer, and continued working in that position throughout his illness.

Jay was president of the Gay Macintosh Users Group (GMUG) of San Francisco, and also had his own successful company, Ignatz Software. He was the author of a widely-used software program called "Show Dialogue."

Jay will forever be in the memories of those people whose lives he touched. He will be remembered especially for his creativity, intelligence, good looks and zest for life. Survivors include his lover, Bill; his parents Sonny and Margaret; his brother Timothy; his cats Ignatz and Oops; and his many loving friends on both coasts.

A memorial service was held on March 2, and plans were made for Jay's ashes to be scattered in the dunes of Provincetown. Memorial donations may be made to The NAMES Project (San Francisco), or to the AIDS Action Committee.

Roy Hayner, founder of Friends of Huron Valley, an Ann Arbor, Mich., AIDS service group, died of complications from AIDS Nov. 7 in Ann Arbor. He was 32. 1992

HEALD—J. Michael, 37, beloved friend, died at home on Friday of AIDS. 3-15-92
David Gross and George Andrews

Edwin J. Hill

January 21, 1952-March 18, 1992

Edwin J. Hill, 40, a former resident of Boston, and recently of Fort Lauderdale, Florida, died on March 18, at the Hospice at Mission Hill after living with AIDS for more than 4 1/2 years.

Ed was born in Nashua, New Hampshire, and graduated from Milford, NH High School. He attended New York University. Ed served four years in the U.S. Coast Guard. He had been a member of the New Hampshire Choral Society and had been employed at Blue Cross/Blue Shield as a Systems Analyst for five years.

Among Ed's many interests were classical music, attending concerts of the Boston Gay Men's Chorus, the art of Thomas McKnight, decorating his apartments, and cooking gourmet meals. He was a member of Dorchester GALA (Gay and Lesbian Alliance). Ed raised over $450 in pledges for his participation in the From All Walks of Life March in 1990.

Survivors include his lover of four years, Jose Negron, of Ft. Lauderdale, formerly of Boston, as well his stepmother, Barbara Hill, of Hollis, NH. A funeral service was held in Nashua, NH on Sat., March 21, followed by burial at Woodlawn Cemetery in Nashua.

Memorial contributions may be sent to the Hospice at Mission Hill, 20 Parker Hill Ave., Boston, MA 02120.

We Met Last October in South Wellfleet 1990
David L. Hill

On May 29, David L. Hill, age 32, formerly of Boston, passed away at North Beach Hospital, Fort Lauderdale, due to complications from AIDS.

David was born July 4, 1958, in Gary, Indiana. He and his lover of 11 years, Ed Nemergut, Jr., moved to Boston in April of 1989. David did volunteer work at the AIDS ACTION Committee for a short time upon his arrival in the city. He participated in Outward Bound in October of 1989. The week-long survival course was designed with PWAs in mind. David made some lifelong friendships while participating in the Asheville, North Carolina Outward Bound program.

In January, 1990, he was diagnosed with CMV retinitis and participated in a study of the drug, GMCSF at Beth Israel Hospital. This study was instrumental along with others to get approval for the drug's use in conjunction with Gancyclovir. David and his lover moved to Pompano Beach, Florida on New Year's Eve, 1990. David enjoyed camping, dancing, singing, food, bingo, painting and his two cats, Artemis and Gus.

David's ashes will be dispersed in the White Mountains. During a memorial service celebrating his life, with friends and loved ones present. David leaves behind his lover, parents and five brothers and sisters.

6-1991

Christopher W. Hughes

April 5, 1958-April 13, 1992

Christopher W. Hughes, who worked for Trade Services at Bank of Boston, died Monday, April 13, at Beth Israel Hospital. He was 34.

Born in Fanwood, New Jersey on April 5, 1958, a son of the late Gerald E. and Evelyn (McDonough) Hughes, Mr. Hughes graduated from Scotch Plains-Fanwood High School, and attended Washington School of Ballet, Washington, D.C. and Columbia University in New York City. He also served in the U.S. Air Force prior to moving to Boston. Mr. Hughes resided in New York City where he was employed by D.F. Sanders Company.

He leaves three brothers, Gerald J., of Westfield, NJ; Stephen M., of Peoria, IL; and James M. of Fairfield, CT; and a sister, Mary Hughes Carr of East Greenwich, RI.

A prayer service was held Friday, April 17 at the J.S. Waterman & Sons and Eastman-Waring Funeral Home, Boston. Burial was in Basking Ridge, NJ on Saturday, April 18. A memorial mass will be at Saint Cecilia's Church on Saturday, April 25 at 11:00 a.m.

Expressions of sympathy may be made to the AIDS Action Committee, 131 Clarendon St., Boston, MA 02116.

"He lived and died a power of example in recovery."

Alan Haber, 34, Dies; Landmarks Panel Aide

8-16-91

Alan J. Haber, the spokesman for the New York City Landmarks Preservation Commission in the early 1980's, died yesterday at Long Island College Hospital in Brooklyn. He was 34 years old and lived in Brooklyn Heights.

He died of pneumonia resulting from AIDS, his sister, Estelle, said.

Mr. Haber, who was raised in the Bensonhurst and Gravesend neighborhoods of Brooklyn, received his bachelor's degree from Hunter College. In the late 1970's and early 1980's, he worked at Hunter as assistant director of communications and assistant to the associate provost.

In 1981, he joined the landmarks commission and was its public affairs chief until 1983, when he moved to the Municipal Art Society. He returned to the commission a year later and stayed until 1985.

After a stint with the public-relations firm of Howard J. Rubenstein Associates, Mr. Haber was hired in 1987 as the spokesman for John Burgee Architects. He left in 1988 and moved to Jerusalem, where he lived until 1989, when he returned to New York.

In addition to his sister, Estelle, of Brooklyn, he is survived by his father, Sam, also of Brooklyn, and a brother, Jack, of Madrid.

The funeral is today at 9 A.M. at the Magen David synagogue, at 67th Street and 20th Avenue, in Brooklyn.

11-6-91

Lawrence W. Hecht

Educational Tester, 40

Lawrence W. Hecht, an educational testing expert, died on Monday at New York Infirmary-Beekman Downtown Hospital. He was 40 years old and lived in Manhattan.

He died of complications from AIDS, his family said.

Since 1990, Mr. Hecht had been a senior research scientist at the College Board in Manhattan, where he oversaw revisions proposed in the Scholastic Aptitude Test. Before that he worked for 12 years at the Educational Testing Service in Princeton, N.J., the last seven as executive director of the Graduate Management Admissions Program, which administers the annual test taken by 300,000 students applying for business schools.

Mr. Hecht was born in Chicago. He earned his undergraduate degree from DePaul University and a doctorate in education from the University of Chicago.

He is survived by his parents, Walter and Margaret, of Lockport, Ill.; a brother, Kenneth, of Concord, Mass., and three sisters, Rita Kucik of Downers Grove, Ill.; Lorraine, of St. Paul, Minn., and Peggy, of Oak Park, Ill.

HARRIS

In Boston, March 7, 1991, Konkai D., age 32 years. Beloved son of David C. Harris and Annette B. Johnson, both of Liberia, West Africa. Also survived by 9 brothers and sisters and a host of other relatives and friends. Memorial Service will be held at the Twelfth Baptist Church, 160 Warren St., Roxbury on Saturday, March 16, at 2 o'clock. Relatives and friends respectfully invited. In lieu of flowers memorial donations may be sent to the Hospice at Mission Hill, 20 Parker Hill Ave., Boston, Ma. 02120. Arrangements by Commonwealth Funeral Service, Boston.

4

Keith Haring, N.Y. artist, 31

1990

NEW YORK — Keith Haring, whose distinctive, cartoon-like drawings in subway stations caught the attention of art dealers and formed the basis of a lucrative business, died yesterday of AIDS. He was 31.

Mr. Haring, who was diagnosed with AIDS more than a year ago and was active in AIDS fund-raising, fell ill with flu-like symptoms in January and died early yesterday at home, said an assistant, Margaret Slabbert.

Mr. Haring's work, characterized by cartoon-like human and animal figures in an energized setting, has appeared in murals in settings as diverse as the Berlin Wall and a Monte Carlo hospital.

He has had 42 one-man shows and his paintings and drawings sell for tens of thousands of dollars.

Mr. Haring's chalk drawings first appeared on blank advertising space in New York subways about 10 years ago. His motifs — a glowing baby, dancing figures, pyramids, creatures with TV heads, barking dogs — caught the eye of commuters and dealers alike. He was arrested on occasion for marking up the walls.

During the 1980s, he was a part of New York's highly visible art community, partying with rock star Grace Jones, Boy George and Andy Warhol, his mentor.

Mr. Haring was raised in Kutztown, Pa., and learned to draw from his father, a supervisor at Western Electric. His training consisted of two years as a handyman at the Pittsburgh Center for the Arts, and two years at New York's School of Visual Arts. —AP

John Haber, Zen Monk And Opera Coach, 46

1-29-92

John Haber, an opera director, teacher and Zen Buddhist monk, died last Wednesday at New York Hospital. He was 46 years old and lived at the Dai Bosatsu Zendo, a Zen monastery in Livingston Manor, N.Y.

He died of AIDS, said his brother, James Haber of Wayland, Mass.

Mr. Haber was the first drama coach for the Young Artists Development Program at the Metropolitan Opera, and the founder and artistic director of the Eastern Opera Theater of New York. He directed operas in regional houses across the country and, in 1982, produced and directed a version of Monteverdi's "Coronation of Poppea" using jazz and soul singers.

A native of Pittsburgh, Mr. Haber studied at Carnegie-Mellon University and the University of Michigan.

His brother is his only survivor.

Charles Frances Hannagan

Psychiatric social worker and therapist

1991

Charles Frances Hannagan, psychiatric social worker and therapist, died peacefully on Dec. 20 at the Hospice at Mission Hill from complications of AIDS. He died in the arms of a close friend following a vigil through the night attended by his mother, brother and companion. Charlie was 36 and had been employed by the New England Medical Center before his retirement in 1986 following the onset of disability. Since that time, he had continued his private practice and was active as a speaker and educator to professional groups on living with AIDS through the speaker's bureau of the AIDS Action Committee.

Born in Lawrence, MA, he received his bachelor's degree in psychology from Bowling Green University (OH) and master's degrees in psychology from Associates for Human Resources in Concord and in psychiatric social work from Simmons College in Boston.

Charlie was particularly skilled in working with a wide range of clients in mental health settings including both inpatient and outpatient. In addition to the New England Medical Center, he had worked or trained at Human Resources Institute, the V.A. Hospital in J.P. and Harvard University Health Services.

In his appearances before professional groups for the Speakers' Bureau, Charlie was an engaging and effective speaker. He contributed both a professional and personal perspective on living with AIDS, and his presentations were thought-provoking and insightful.

Friends and colleagues will remember him as a man of humor, courage and passionate loyalty.

He leaves his mother, Barbara (Smith) Bishop; brothers John and Michael of Plaistow, New Hampshire, and friend and companion of many years, Jonas Fields of Boston.

A memorial service will be held at First Parish in Brookline on Sun., March 29 at 3:00 p.m. In lieu of flowers, contributions in his memory may be made to the Hospice at Mission Hill, or to the patient fund, Lemuel Shattuck Hospital, 7-South.

Anthony Hancock, 45

1990

Was cofounder of family theater

Anthony Inslee Hancock, cofounder of the Wheelock Family Theater in Boston and the Harwich Winter Theater on Cape Cod, died of AIDS Friday at the Hospice at Mission Hill. He was 45.

A native of Harwich, Mr. Hancock lived in Boston's Mission Hill neighborhood for the past 10 years.

Mr. Hancock fulfilled many roles at the Wheelock Family Theater, including stage manager, technical di-

Stan Hadden, a senior aide to California senate president David Roberti, died of complications from AIDS Dec. 2 in Sacramento. He was 35. Hadden played a pivotal role in creating state AIDS legislation and founded the Sacramento AIDS Foundation. 1991

HOMYAK—Louis F. Died January 15. He touched many lives, and his quick wit and generous spirit will be missed by all who knew him. A memorial service will be held at St. Luke's in the Field Church, Manhattan, at 11 AM, February 8. Donations may be made to GMHC.

rector, principal designer and director.

His adaptation of "Alice's Adventures in Wonderland" was the first production at Wheelock and will be revived next month to open the theater's 10th anniversary season.

At the Harwich Winter Theater, Mr. Hancock designed the sets and costumes for 23 productions, directed 15 productions and wrote the book and lyrics for several musicals for children.

Mr. Hancock studied at the Massachusetts College of Art and was trained while working summers at the Harwich Junior Theater. Before settling in Boston, he lived in London, Paris and Cairo, where he studied history and art.

He leaves his mother, Florence Hancock of Harwich; and two sisters, Lee Baldwin of Harwich and Gail Hancock of South Dennis.

A memorial service will be held at 11 a.m. Sunday in the Wheelock Family Theater. The funeral will be private.

HANCOCK—Blair, age 27, passed away peacefully from this life on August 29th at home with his brother Blaise at his side. He died from complications of AIDS. Blair will always be remembered for his sharp mind and quick wit. He will be much missed by his brothers Blaise and Craig, by Marty, by his five brothers in Texas and by his family and friends in New York, Texas and Italy. A memorial service will be announced. Donations on Blair's behalf to AMFAR, the Helrick Martin Institute or any charity would be appreciated by the family. 93

HANKS—David E., 44, Vice President, Chase Manhattan Bank, N.A., Board Member National Community AIDS Partnership died of AIDS. Service in Cold Spring, N.Y., Monday at 11 AM, 914-265-9667 for info. Survived by mother Charlotte Hanksmeier, sister Kristy Kuehler and life companion David S. Londay.

HALLIDAY—Robert William, Age 34, of Washington, D.C. Complications from AIDS. Survived by his mother, Pat Halliday; brother, Norman; sister, Katherine; brother, John, and friend Ralph Tyhurst. Memorial Service will be scheduled for a later date. Call Saint Luke in the Field Church, 212, 924-0562 for information. 9-44

5

Halston, a celebrated fashion designer, at 57

SAN FRANCISCO — Halston, the celebrity fashion designer whose creations included gowns for Liza Minnelli and pillbox hats for Jacqueline Kennedy, died Monday night at the Pacific Medical Center from AIDS-related lung cancer. He was 57.

Halston, which was the designer's middle name, became one of the best-known labels in fashion and changed the way women dressed in the 1960s, but he sold the rights to his name in 1973 for $16 million, creating a tangle that diluted his influence.

The hospital said in a statement that Halston died Monday at 11:22 p.m. from "Kaposi's sarcoma involving the lungs."

Halston became a pre-eminent American fashion designer in the 1960s, numbering the first lady, Minnelli and Lauren Bacall among his clients. He also became a jet-set figure and regular with Minnelli, Andy Warhol, Bianca Jagger and the rest of the Studio 54 crowd in the 1970s.

"I'm very, very saddened by this loss," Minnelli said at her New York apartment. "I just lost my best friend."

Grace Mirabella, editor of Mirabella magazine and former editor of Vogue magazine said: "I think Halston's contribution to American fashion was remarkable and established the tone of the 1970s."

"In his hands simple became dashing, even ornamental, and that's not easy to do. He pared down the silhouette but it didn't become ordinary. He could do it with one good cutting with a good fabric. When we go to fashion shows today, we often remark to each other, 'Gee, the person we really miss is Halston.'"

The designer was born Roy Halston Frowick on April 23, 1932, in Des Moines, Iowa. He attended Indiana University and the Art Institute of Chicago, where he majored in fine arts.

In 1958, he joined the staff of Lily Dache in New York as a specialist in hat design. From there, Halston moved to Bergdorf Goodman and became a name to reckon with over the years as he originated the scarf hat and some fur headpieces. Halston created the pillbox hat for Kennedy and served as her milliner during her White House years.

HALSTON

In 1966, Bergdorf Goodman formed the first boutique showcasing designs by Halston, particularly those in the ready-to-wear category.

Halston's designs won him four Coty fashion awards and a niche in the Coty Hall of Fame.

Halston established his own couture salon in 1968 and in 1972 launched a boutique as well as Halston Originals, a division of ready-to-wear clothing that was made available to department stores across the United States.

In 1973, after the designer had created a new line of luggage for Hartmann, Norton Simon Inc. paid the designer $16 million to acquire his business and create a division called Halston Enterprises in a move that started Halston's slide.

APPRECIATION

Page 55

Not to be confined to wearing apparel, Halston began creating essences and carpet designs. In 1978 he opened a cosmetic line for Max Factor, another Norton Simon subsidiary.

In 1980, Halston signed a contract with a Japanese firm to manufacture and distribute Halston sportswear in Japan.

In 1982, Halston went further with the licensing of his name, signing a contract allowing the J.C. Penney Co. to market a line of budget clothing bearing a version of the famed Halston label. The agreement was lucrative — and costly. Bergdorf Goodman announced the following year it would no longer carry his clothes.

HARRIS—Of Boston, Tues., April 14, 1992. John Jay Julius, age 37. Son of Mary Louise Harris of Syracuse, NY. Brother of David Harris of Washington State. Best friend of Peter Hensler of Boston. A memorial gathering will be announced at a later date. Arrangements by J.S. Waterman & Sons and Eastman-Waring Funeral Home, BOSTON.

HAST—Randolph B. passed away March 9, 1992. Survived by his brother Jim from Dallas, TX and his longtime companion Tom Nasarre. Memorial to be announced.

Crystal Hall, at 25, worked in anti-drug program

PROVIDENCE, R.I. — Crystal Hall, a prostitute who continued to work the streets after being diagnosed with AIDS until a jail sentence convinced her to straighten out her life, has died. Rhode Island Hospital announced Tuesday.

Ms. Hall, 25, died Monday evening after a 19-day hospital stay, spokesman Rick Piester said. He declined to give the cause of death.

A drug addict with a record of 34 arrests for prostitution, Ms. Hall made headlines when District Court Judge Albert E. DeRobbio threatened to have her charged with attempted murder for continuing to ply her trade despite knowing she had acquired immune deficiency syndrome.

DeRobbio later sentenced Ms. Hall to 13 months in jail, saying that having sex with her amounted to a death sentence for her customers.

In prison, Ms. Hall got off heroin, came close to completing a high school diploma, responded well to treatment for AIDS and began talking about trying to steer youngsters away from drugs and crime after her release.

DeRobbio and public defender Lauren Wilkins agreed in February on a plan for Ms. Hall to spread her reform message, and upon her release she began working for Channel One, a Warwick drug program that planned to do a film documentary on her life.

She was charged with violating the terms of her probation after she was arrested behind the wheel of a stolen car, but Joseph A. DiNitto, the state Correction Department spokesman, said that charge was dropped shortly before Ms. Hall entered the hospital for the last time.

Joseph Hamblin of Boston, at 40

Joseph E. "Joel" Hamblin of Boston, a hair stylist at Alexander's Salon on Newbury Street, died Friday at Mission Hill Hospice in Boston after a lengthy illness. He was 40.

Born in Massachusetts, he had resided in Boston most his life.

He is survived by a daughter, Kimberly Rae of Boston; and his father, Leonard C.

A memorial service will be held for Mr. Hamblin at 1 p.m. Sunday in the Church of the Nazarene, 100 Rogers Ave., East Wareham. 11-27-91

HALL—David A. Age 47, on November 15, 1991, of Boca Raton, Florida, formerly of Manhattan. Survived by his parents Albert and Marie D. Hall, brothers Dennis M. and Roger W. all of Lancaster, PA, and companion Robert Mitchell Vaughn of Boca Raton. Mr. Hall was well known in the aviation industry as a self-employed aviation consultant, former President of several small airlines; former Vice President of Planning and Scheduling and Marketing Resources at Pan American Airlines. Private services were held in Lancaster, PA.

HALPERN—Richard L. Staff systems engineer at Charles Schwab in San Francisco, formerly of NYC, on June 28, at the age of 44. Loving and beloved son of Pauline and Bernard, adored brother of Roberta, cherished nephew and cousin, treasured friend. Richard's extraordinary courage and fortitude, his grace and humor, will provide inspiration and comfort to his family, friends and colleagues. Forever young and in our hearts forever. Services at the "River-side," 76th St. and Amsterdam Ave., Tuesday July 7, 11:15 am. Contributions in his memory may be made to AmFAR, San Francisco AIDS Foundation, GMHC, S.F. or N.Y.C. Ballet, S.F. Opera. Memorial service in San Francisco to be announced. 1992

HENNESSEY—Thomas—Scottish, 40. Died peacefully in the arms of his companion Gene Chace and his sister Elizabeth in St. Vincent's Hospital on January 6, 1993 of AIDS. Courageously he faced the most unspeakable horrors of this plague and never complained. His only concern was his adoring family and friends. Described as a "gem," Tom was a systems analyst for Bear Stearns. He was a highly valued employee. He will be sorely missed by his colleagues who faithfully supported him through his illness. Tom was the most generous, compassionate, sweetest guy on earth. His elegance and quick humor grace the heavens tonight. He is survived by his mother, Florence; his companion, Gene; his brothers John, Richard, Michael and Robert; his sisters Jean, Carol, Elizabeth, Anne and Mary; their spouses; eighteen nieces and nephews; and dear friends Norman, Robert, David and Neal. A private service and interment will be held in Chicago. Donations in Tom's memory can be sent to God's Love We Deliver, 895 Amsterdam Avenue, NYC 10025. Tom, my partner, love and best friend, I'll love you forever. We must all imagine, demand and work for a cure. Gene Chace.

HODGEN—Timothy John, 46, died January 3, 1993 at his home in Chicago due to complications from AIDS. Survivors include his mother, Alice, his sisters and brothers, Catherine, Patricia, Donald and Paul and his loving companion, Steven. Memorial to be held at 10:30 A.M., Saturday, February 27th in the Graham Taylor Chapel, 5757 South University, Chicago.

HONEY—William G. On May 18, 1993 of complications of AIDS. Son of Elizabeth Patrylo. Brother of John, Patrick, Ann and Norrie. Mass St. Ignatius of Antioch Episcopal Church, 86 Street and West End Avenue, 10 A.M. on Saturday. Loving companion of Michael Quoffini. Contributions to God's Love We Deliver or GMHC.

HORITO—Kenneth McIntyre, 29, on March 4, 1993. Ken's warm, caring spirit will be greatly missed. Born in Culver City, California, raised in Lower Manhattan by his mother, he was a graduate of the High School of Art and Design and Pratt Institute in Brooklyn; worked for Robert A.M. Stern Architects; and in 1988 joined the firm of Ike & Kligerman Architects. Survived by his mother, Connee, and his close friends, Martin Wechsler, Drew Souza, Roger Hirsch, Tony Diaz, Karl Kipfmuller and Dan Myers, who were with him throughout the last months; and his father, Gene, and four brothers, Robert, Michael, Thomas and Raphael. Ken died of complications from AIDS. A memorial service will be held at The Joyce Theater, 175 Eighth Avenue at 19th Street, Monday, March 15th, 6-7:30 P.M. Contributions can be made to God's Love We Deliver 865-4900 or Friends Indeed: 925-2009.

HOLMGREN—Jan U. Age 53. Died March 29, 1993 of AIDS-related complications at New York University Medical Center in the arms of his 13-year life partner Yves F. Lubin, also known as Assotto Sainf. Born in Aino, Sweden on April 25, 1939. Jan was pre-deceased by his parents Gunda and Walter Holmgren, and by his sister Berit Naslund. A flight attendant for 25 years with American Airlines, Jan had won many professional awards. He composed the scores for his life partner's acclaimed theater pieces on gay black life, most notably "New Love Song," "Risin' to the Love We Need" and "Black Fog". Their high energy song "Forever Gay" was released on the CD "Feeding the Flame" by Flying Fish Records in 1990. Jan is also survived by his brothers Borie, Staffan and Hakan Holmgren; his sisters-in-law Anne-Marie, Gunhild and Anne-Marie Holmgren; many nieces, nephews and cousins, all of Sweden; and his life partner's mother, Marie Lubin. Jan also leaves behind, throughout the United States and Sweden, many devoted friends, especially Leif Ahlgren, Mace Anderson, Milleana Boulton, Sheila Guerlin, Bruce Sokol, Frankie Tucker and Aaron Woodruff. Viewing at Redden's Funeral Home, 325 West 14 Street, New York, 212-242-1456, on Friday, April 2nd, 2-9 P.M. Service on Saturday, April 3rd, also at Redden's at 9:15AM. Interment to follow at Evergreens Cemetery, Brooklyn. Contributions can be sent in Jan's name to American Airlines Flight Attendants Benefit Fund, J.F.K. Wings, c/o Treasurer Sharon Torre, Post Office Box 1269, Block Island, Rhode Island 02807.

HASSLER—Kevin S. Wednesday, June 9, at home in New York City, of AIDS-related lymphoma of the brain. Born in Englewood, NJ April 26, 1953. Graduate of Columbia University. Associated with Columbia Artists Management Inc. since 1978, as artists' manager, vice president, member of the Board of Directors, and special consultant. Accomplished chef, dazzling intellect, consummate musician, and legendary friend, he gave generously of his time and resources to numerous charities and service organizations. At the end of a full life, he was surrounded by many loving family members and close friends. Survivors include his parents, Arthur and Josephine Hassler of Hilton Head Island, SC; sister, Donna Jo Hassler-Cook of Saratoga Springs; brother, Kenneth of New York City, and cherished and devoted companion, Tom Hennes of New York City. Funeral services will be private. In lieu of flowers, contributions to the Gay & Lesbian Community Services Center, 208 W 13 St, NYC 10011 will be appreciated.

HODGES—Parker. June 10, in NYC. Born in North Carolina, he translated himself to NY in 1960. Wit, poet, reader, and superb editor he didn't so much battle AIDS as play Tai Chi with it gracefully. No matter how hard it was for him, he made it easy and fun for his friends and playmates. He is survived by Elizabeth Hodges Brown of Cincinnati and George and Ruth Koch, parents of his late companion, Greg Whittington. A memorial service will be arranged.

HARRIS—Craig G. The clients, volunteers, Board of Directors and staff of Gay Men's Health Crisis share the grief of so many at the death of our colleague and friend on November 26, 1991. Craig's energy, wit, intelligence and the power of his words, written and spoken, made him a leader wherever he went. His contribution to the gay and lesbian community and for all people with AIDS is immeasurable. He was a pioneer for African American gay men. When we needed a courageous innovator, he was there, producing safer sex brochures like "Brothers Loving Brothers", producing the first national conference on AIDS in the black community, or creating poetry and essays that revealed how his passions and his struggle mirrored our own. Here are his words: "We have had to develop our own models/we have had to find our way out of deafening darkness/use the fire of our hearts to blaze new trails/we are a walking paradox/a work in process/we are the ones who can never take our pride for granted." We extend sympathy to his family and friends who loved him.

Jeff Soref, President
Timothy J. Sweeney, Exec. Dir.

Hal Hester, 63; Helped to Write A Rock Musical

1992

By BRUCE LAMBERT

Hal Hester, a co-creator of "Your Own Thing," the 1968 hit Off Broadway show that was the first rock musical and whose title became a youth-culture motto, died on Sept. 13 at the Rio Piedras Medical Center in Puerto Rico. He was 63 years and lived in Cayey, Puerto Rico.

He died of diverticulitis, an intestinal ailment, said John Britton, a friend.

Mr. Hester was a playwright, composer, nightclub owner and singer. His biggest success was "Your Own Thing," which he and Danny Apolinar conceived. They also wrote the music and lyrics.

With Acclaim and Influence

The Off Broadway show, a modern satire loosely based on Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night," ran three years in New York City and spawned seven simultaneous touring companies.

It won the New York Drama Critics Circle Award as the best musical of 1968, a prize traditionally won by Broadway shows. "Hair" opened soon after, and a new rock musical genre was born, leading to "Jesus Christ Superstar," "Godspell" and many others.

The show's title phrase, "your own thing," instantly became popular and expressed the uninhibited spirit of the social tumult of the 1960's and 70's youth culture, racial and sexual liberation, the antiwar movement, radicalism, protests and psychedelic drugs.

A New York Times review by Clive Barnes called the musical "cheerful, joyful and blissfully irreverent to Shakespeare and everything else." Mr. Barnes wrote: "The humor of the show is light-fingered and lighthearted, and its vitality and charm are terrific. The music is always engaging."

National General Pictures bought the movie rights for $500,000 — an exceptional sum for an Off Broadway show in those days and 11 times the musical's original cost — but the film was never produced.

Mr. Hester composed 30 published tunes. His best known was "The Sand and the Sea" for Nat King Cole, which sold a million records. He also wrote for Gloria Lynne, Kaye Stevens and Roy Hamilton. And he wrote and recorded an RCA album, "Hal Hester Does His Thing."

Mr. Hester was born in Paducah, Ky. He served in the United States Air Force and studied at the Conservatory of Music in Cincinnati.

His survivors include his longtime business partner and companion, Julio Guasp; his father, Robert Hester, and two sisters, Sue Lawrence and Bettye England, all of Daytona, Fla.

ROBERT ALLAN "LAUD" HUMPHREYS, an Episcopal priest, criminologist, psychotherapist, and author of Tearoom Trade: Impersonal Sex in Public Places, died Aug. 23 of lung cancer in Sherman Oaks, Calif. He was 57.

Award-winning director John Hirsch, at 59

TORONTO (AP) — John Hirsch, an award-winning director who staged plays on Broadway and interpreted Shakespeare at the Stratford Festival in Canada, died in Toronto. He was 59.

Mr. Hirsch, an immigrant from Hungary who lost his family in a Nazi concentration camp, died Tuesday night in a Toronto hospital of cryptococcal meningitis, a complication resulting from AIDS.

He had been teaching theater at Southern Methodist University in Dallas when he collapsed in December. He was hospitalized for several weeks, returned to Toronto and was hospitalized again three weeks ago.

"Canadian theater has suffered an irreplaceable loss," said Gary Thomas, general manager of the Stratford Festival in Stratford, Ont. "We are all deeply saddened by the passing of John Hirsch."

"He was an incredibly talented man," said John Kennedy, head of TV Arts, Music and Science at the Canadian Broadcasting Corp. Kennedy worked with Mr. Hirsch when the latter was head of drama at the network from 1974 to 1978. "He was compassionate. I celebrate his life."

When Mr. Hirsch was hired as Stratford's artistic director in 1981, he fought for lower ticket prices because he felt the festival was catering to the elite.

"Shakespeare is not high art, you know," Mr. Hirsch once said. "It's a great mistake to look at his plays as a kind of rarefied theatrical expression. If there isn't good marvelous life there, with all its dirt and vulgarity, you're not doing his plays properly."

Many in the theatre world credited him with sustaining the festival at a time when its existence was threatened.

Hirsch was born in Hungary in 1930 into a middle-class Jewish family. During World War II, his mother and younger brother died in Auschwitz; his father was shot in Nazi Germany.

At 16, Mr. Hirsch arrived in Winnipeg and eventually studied at the University of Manitoba. After graduating, he established the Muddiwater Puppets and a troupe for children.

Within a few years, Hirsch had co-founded the first professional theatre in Winnipeg, the Manitoba Theatre Centre, where he served as artistic director.

In 1965, he began directing at Stratford and became associate artistic director four years later.

From 1974 to 1978, he was head of television drama for the CBC.

"He was responsible for some of the most long-lasting innovations at CBC, including the series known as 'For the Record,'" said Kennedy.

He also guided productions for Ottawa's National Arts Centre, Toronto Arts Productions, Young Peoples Theatre and the Shaw Festival.

He won the Outer Circle Critics' Award for "Saint Joan" at the Lincoln Center in New York, an Obie Award for off-Broadway production of "AC-DC" at the Chelsea Theatre, and the Drama Critics Award for "The Dybbuk" at the Mark Taper Forum in Los Angeles.

His work has also been seen at the Tyrone Guthrie Theatre in Minneapolis, the Seattle Repertory Theatre and the Habimah Theatre in Tel Aviv.

Mr. Hirsch, who had been awarded the Order of Canada, taught theatre at Yale University and was a visiting professor at the University of California.

In Memory — Rick L. Hayes

July 4, 1992

28yrs. Companion/Friend
With Whom I Dared To Be Myself
Love, Pastor Bob

HANG

Of Boston, September 9, 1993. John Phillips, loving son of Paul J. and Elizabeth Hang of Ohio. Brother of Suelien Rizvi of Washington, D.C., Paul Hang, Jr. of Brookline and Gynady Canaris, Mark Hang and Andrew Hang, all of Ohio. John was a lecturer at the Center for Languages and Orientation Program at Boston University and taught for many years in Spain and Portugal. In lieu of flowers, contributions in John's memory may be made to Fenway Community Health Center, 7 Haviland St., Boston, MA 02215 or Hospice at Mission Hill, 20 Parker Hill Ave., Boston, MA 02120. A Funeral Service will be held in Ohio at a later date. Arrangements by J.S. Waterman & Sons and Eastman-Waring, BOSTON.

HOOVER—Christian, passed away quietly at home on June 15. Service to be held Sun, August 9th, 11A.M.-1P.M., at Redden's Funeral Home, 325 W. 14th Street, between 8th and 9th Ave. Please dress as "fabulously" as you please.

Robert Hart, 30 Appeared in 'Alive with AIDS'

Robert Hart, 30, died on Tuesday, June 6 of complications related to AIDS. An actor, songwriter, and social worker, Bob wrote and performed four songs for the musical Alive with AIDS earlier this year.

He was an active participant in the Living with Aids Theatre Project, sharing his experiences and supporting others who had been touched by the AIDS crisis. His songs spoke eloquently and sometimes biting of the range of emotions experienced by PWA's. From the vaudevillian "SRO" (in which he hopes for a standing room only crowd at his memorial service) to the sharp satirical commentaries in "You're a Research Subject" and "Mr. AIDS", to the steamy torch song of desire for another "PWA", Bob's message was that humor is a universal healer; fostering acceptance and nurturing the soul.

Bob was born and raised in Baltimore and attended George Washington University in Washington, D.C. before transferring to Boston's Emerson College. He held a B.S. degree in Communication Disorders, and was working on a Masters degree at the B.U. School of Social Work when he was diagnosed in 1987.

After his graduation from Emerson, Bob worked as a counselor at the Lindamann Mental Health Center. He then worked at the Carney Hospital as a Mental Health Counselor, and later as Director of Admissions for the Psychiatric Unit there. Combining his love for theatre and his professional life, Bob toured hospitals with a children's theatre group, interpreting performances in American Sign Language for hearing impaired children.

Robert Hart

A memorial service was held on Friday, June 9 at Emmanuel Church, attended by his parents, Gerry and Edmund Hart, his sister, relatives, and numerous friends. □

Bryan Hutchins

Bryan Ellsworth Hutchins, 35, of Georgetown, Maryland, and formerly of D.C., died on Thursday, February 25, 1993 at Kent and Queen Anne's Hospital in Chestertown, Maryland, according to his special friend of 17 years, Michael Iriarte of D.C.

Hutchins was raised in Chestertown, where he graduated in 1976 from Kent County High School. He attended Wesley College in Dover, Del., and then moved to Washington, where he began working at the YMCA on Rhode Island Avenue as an executive secretary. Subsequently, Hutchins worked at Computer Bank of Washington.

Hutchins in 1989 moved to Baltimore, Md., where he worked for the Marriott Hotel as a sales secretary and then at the Omni Hotel as an assistant catering manager. Hutchins was a member of New Psalmist Baptist Church in Baltimore.

In addition to Iriarte, Hutchins is survived by his mother, Marjorie Cooper; father, Charles Hutchins; grandmothers, Mary Cooper; and Minnie Hutchins; godmother, Ruth Brisco; and many other relatives, all of Chestertown. He also is survived by his devoted friend, Madeline Evans of Charlestown.

Contributions in Hutchins's name may be made to Health Education Resources Organization (HERO), 101 West Read St., Suite 825, Baltimore, MD 21201.

Bill Hunt, a longtime gay rights activist in Dallas, died of complications from AIDS in Dallas Jan. 7. He was 37. 1993

Bruce Hubbard Dies; Operatic Baritone, 39

Bruce Hubbard, a baritone who sang both opera and musical theater, died on Tuesday at New York University Hospital. He was 39 years old and lived in Manhattan.

He died of pneumonia, said his mother, Hannah Poindexter of Indianapolis.

Mr. Hubbard was best known in the United States for the role of Jake in "Porgy and Bess," which he sang in his Metropolitan Opera debut during the 1984-85 season and in his debut at the Glyndebourne Festival in England the following year. He also portrayed Joe in "Showboat," a role he first sang in the 1983 Broadway production, for which he was nominated for a Drama Desk Award.

Born in Indianapolis, Mr. Hubbard studied voice at Indiana University and apprenticed with the Santa Fe Opera. He had an active career in Britain, appearing at the Royal Opera House at Covent Garden and as a soloist with the London Symphony Orchestra and the Royal Philharmonic, as well as on BBC television.

In addition to his mother, he is survived by his father, Lenwood Hubbard; three sisters, Vicki Linn, Jewell Ann and Leslie Smith; and a brother, Gerald, all of Indianapolis. 11-12-91

Alan Hartwell of Chelsea, 42, a librarian 5/91

Alan C. Hartwell of Chelsea, a librarian for the Kirstein Business Library in Boston, died Friday at home following a lengthy illness. He was 42.

Born in Littleton, Mr. Hartwell was also a resident of Boston.

He served as treasurer for Leather & Lace, which is a fund-raising organization to benefit people with AIDS.

He is survived by his parents, John and Eva Rose (Moreau) of Littleton; three brothers, Peter and Vernon, both of Littleton, and Randy of Winchendon; and several nieces and nephews.

A Mass of Christian burial will be celebrated at 10 a.m. tomorrow in St. Anne's Church, Littleton.

Burial will be in Westlawn Cemetery, Littleton.

Arrangements are by J.S. Waterman & Sons and Eastman-Waring Funeral Home, Boston.

HARRISON—William Scott, 40, passed away March 29, at home with his family in Granite City, IL. He lived in New York City since 1981, and was active as a display consultant and designer in the Christmas and Gift industry. His numerous friends will miss him greatly. In lieu of flowers donations to Miracle House, PO Box 30931, NYC 10011-0109 in his memory would be appreciated. 2-5

HODGSON—Sten Eric, II, died August 1. Son of Sten and Elaine and brother to Drs. Kim and Mary Anne, Gary and Mary, Brian and Nancy; treasured nieces are Julia, Erin and Kelsey; he had a vast circle of loving friends. He was a cum laude graduate of Rutgers and doctoral candidate of NYU. A former AVP at Citibank and a self-employed management consultant teaching and traveling worldwide, he fought with great courage only to lose the battle against AIDS Memorial Sunday, Aug. 9, in NYC. Donations may be made in his name to AMFAR or GMHC.

HOWELL—Don, Composer. Died peacefully August 13, 1991 of AIDS. His music brought much joy to his friends, family, colleagues and audiences. Memorial contributions may be sent to Nicholas Roerich Museum, 319 West 107th Street, N.Y.C. 10025 and God's Love We Deliver, P.O. Box 1776, Old Chelsea Station, New York City 10011.

HOLLAR—Steven A. Fashion designer of New York City, died peacefully Jan 13, 1992 after a long illness. Beloved son of Betty Ray and Darrell Hollar, brother of Jeffrey and Richard, beloved companion of Gary and dear friend of Ned. He brought beauty into every life he touched. A memorial service will be announced at a later date.

HULL—Robert Conway, April 18, 1946-December 30, 1991. Robert was a Recovery Rm. R.N. at the Hospital for Special Surgery, his last place of employ after a lifetime of helping others. He left behind many loving friends who were with him throughout his courageous battle against AIDS. He will always be remembered by the friends he left behind to join the friends who pre-deceased him. Funeral services were held on December 30th. We wish to give our thanks to the wonderful staff at G-9 at Roosevelt Hospital. Any contributions in his memory should be sent to the Gay Men's Health Crisis Center to help fight this dreaded plague and help the ones who fight alone.

HOWARD—Michael Emerson, III, Freelance journalist died on December 4, 1991. He was 40 years old. A trail blazer, Mr. Howard was one of the few black journalists who reported, early on, about the growing epidemic of HIV/AIDS in the black community. The beloved son of Ramona Williams, Mr. Howard will be remembered in a memorial service on December 8, 1991, 4 P.M., at Saint Luke's Episcopal Church at 141st Street and Convent Avenue, New York.

HALLOCK—Peter W., on July 17, 1992 of Atlantic Ave., Sag Harbor, NY, age 45. Beloved son of Doris and the late Zack Hallock. Also survived by brothers Zack Hallock of Mississippi, David Thilberg of Hampton Bays, and sister Suzanne Hehn of Toms River, NJ, seven nephews and nieces, and long-term companion Scott D. Baker. Memorial services are Tuesday, at 2 P.M., at Whalers Presbyterian Church, Sag Harbor. Burial in Oakland Cemetery, Sag Harbor. Flowers welcome.

HUBERT—Richard H., 43, on October 14th. He is survived by his beloved mother Adele, his sister Barbara Scherer, his brother Thomas, and his longtime companion, Dale L. Newton. His warmth, charm, love and laughter will always be in our hearts. Memorial service was held on October 17 at St. Ignatius Lovola Church, NYC.

HOPKIN—Jacob Mark, on Nov. 6, 1992 of AIDS related causes of age 43. A man of great talent, great wit and extraordinary intelligence. Survived by his parents, John and Bonita and brothers, Arden, Kerry and Jeff. He will be missed by his companion, Maurice and by his friends, Randy, Alix, Deborah, Jack and Randy. Inquire, demand and work for a cure.

HAINES—Lawrence, age 47, died of AIDS on June 11, 1992. He loved Douglas Quigley, his companion of more than 21 years. Marco, his miniature schnauzer and the City. A Mass of Christian Burial will be held at 10 AM on June 17, 1992 at St. Patrick's Church, Naftick, MA. Donations can be made to the Jacob Perlow Hospice of the Beth Israel Medical Center.

Don C. Henry

April 9, 1993

Don C. Henry passed away on April 9, 1993 at the age of 46 from a massive heart attack. His life was one of steady, gentle activism for good causes, an enduring optimism and a joyful silliness that endeared him to everyone who knew him.

He was always interested in the good of the planet. He was born and raised in Lubbock, Texas, where he became an Eagle Scout. After graduating from college he moved to Washington, DC to get a law degree from George Washington University and began working for the EPA. He came to California and continued with environmentally active work by joining the National Park Service, first as an environmental protection specialist and then as an equal opportunity counselor. He was a tireless promoter of good causes. He served on the board of Theater Rhinoceros and with many human rights organizations too numerous to mention. He was instrumental in developing policies for non-discrimination based on sexual orientation for the Western Region of the National Park Service, and his impact quickly became national. He was sought out for advice, information and leadership by the Clinton administration and various newspaper reporters, and by colleagues in many federal agencies throughout the country.

Among the many awards he received for his work in non-discrimination policies in the National Park Service and elsewhere were the "Sammy" Award from FLAG, and a Cable Car Award in 1992. He received the NPS Western Region's Equal Opportunity Award in 1993 for his nationally significant work.

He is survived by his family in Lubbock: mother, Mary Catherine; brother Alan and his family, and many others who remember the straight-arrow, brown-eyed Eagle Scout. He is also deeply mourned by a huge family of friends and co-workers here in San Francisco, who mourn his passing as a friend and activist. We feel grateful and blessed to have known him and have our lives touched and changed by his grace and spirit.

There will be a memorial service and celebration of his life at Black Point Battery, Headquarters Building 201, Upper Fort Mason, San Francisco, April 29, at 3 p.m. For further information, call the Equal Opportunity Office at 415-744-3952. ▼

Mike Hippler, author of Matlovich: The Good Soldier, a biography of discharged airman Leonard Matlovich, died of complications from AIDS April 2 in San Francisco. He was 39. Hippler most recently authored a collection of essays, ... So Little Time.

STEPHEN BRUCE HAWKINS (11/30/55-7/25/94) Nothing the heart gives away is gone - it is kept in the hearts of others. Tony Ellington.

Gary Hager, 40, Dies; Was Interior Decorator

12-26-91

Gary Hager, an interior decorator with the Manhattan-based firm Parish-Hadley Associates, died yesterday at his sister's home in Williamsville in Erie County. He was 40 years old and lived in Manhattan.

He died of AIDS, his family said. Mr. Hager worked for clients including Henry and Nancy Kissinger, Connie Chung and members of the Astor and Whitney families, Irene Carter of Parish-Hadley said.

Orderliness was the most important consideration in Mr. Hager's approach to decorating. "Space is such a luxury," he once said, "Why give it up to clutter and confusion?"

He grew up in East Aurora in Erie County, went to Hobart College in Geneva, N.Y., and joined the firm in 1977. Besides his sister, Cathy Smith of Williamsville, he is survived by his parents, Glenn and Joanne Hager of Winter Springs, Fla., and three brothers, Timothy, of Venice, Fla., Michael, of Sarasota, Fla., and Patrick, of Allegheny County, N.Y.

Roy Harris Jr., 45

Assistant journalism professor

Roy O. Harris Jr., an assistant professor of journalism at Northeastern University, died of AIDS Tuesday in New England Deaconess Hospital. He was 45 and lived in Jamaica Plain.

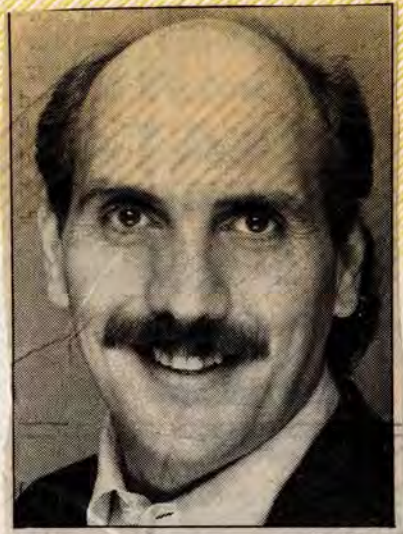

Before joining the Northeastern faculty in 1986, Mr. Harris worked in Washington for 18 years as a public relations officer and consultant for corporations, nonprofit groups and government agencies. Among his clients or employers were the US Department of Agriculture, US Information Agency, Hill & Knowlton, American Gas Association and the postmaster general.

A native of Bokchito, Okla., he received a bachelor's degree in 1967 and a master's degree in public relations and marketing in 1969 from the University of Oklahoma. He was a reporter and copy editor for the Oklahoman-Okla. City Times from 1961 to 1967 and public relations consultant to the mayor of Oklahoma City from 1967 through 1968.

He leaves his father, Roy O. Harris, and mother, Anita Marr, both of Oklahoma; a sister, Susan Marr of Jamaica Plain; two brothers, Kendall Marr and Leroy Harris of Oklahoma, and his companion, Michael Bunger.

HARRISON

Brian T. of Boston, formerly of Dorchester. Died of AIDS, May 23, 1992, age 46. Survived by many family members and loving friends. At Brian's request, no services were held. He wished to bid farewell and express his heart-felt gratitude to those who shared in his life. Donations in Brian's memory may be sent to The Fenway Community Health Center, 7 Haviland St., Boston, 02115. Arrangements by Tobin Funeral Service of Boston.

PAUL F. HEWITT

Paul F. Hewitt, 39

Stage actor and musicals director

Paul F. Hewitt, a stage actor and director of musicals, died Monday of pneumonia in Youville Hospital in Cambridge. He was 39.

Mr. Hewitt had recently returned to his native Brighton after a career on the stage in New York. He was working on a production of the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta "The Mikado," planned for the Colonial Theater in Boston, when he died.

He was educated in St. Columbkille's Grammar and High Schools in Brighton. He attended St. Paul's Choir School in Cambridge, and while a student there, he toured Europe, the United States and Mexico.

Mr. Hewitt graduated from Emerson College with degrees in communication and drama and moved to New York in the early 1970s. In New York Mr. Hewitt joined Actors Equity and launched upon a stage career, touring with road companies as an actor and singer.

In recent years Mr. Hewitt had taken up directing and won critical praise for his modern adaptation of Gilbert and Sullivan musicals.

Mr. Hewitt leaves his mother, Mary of Brighton; six brothers, Gregory of San Diego, John of Stockbridge, Ga., Christopher of West Newton, Stephen of San Francisco, Philip of Medford and Gary of Brighton; a sister, Katherine of Lanexa, Va., and several nieces and nephews. 10-12-92

HEARNS

Of Lynn, August 21, Wanda G. (Gonzales). Wife of Paul C. Hearn, Mother of Manuel Soto, Anthony Hearn, Crystal Adular. Sister of Harold Gonzales, Harvey Gonzales and Michelle Gonzales. Funeral from the Cuffe-McGinn Funeral Home, 157 Maple Street, LYNN, Friday at 8pm. Funeral mass in the St. Plus V Church at 9am. Friends may call Thursday 2-4 and 7-9pm. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the AIDS Action Committee, 131 Clarendon Street, Boston MA 1991.

Valerie Hamilton says she was trying not to sink into depression after losing her older brother to AIDS when she hit on the idea of starting an organization dedicated to spreading both information and some comfort to those affected by the deadly disease.

Six months ago, Hamilton started the Carlton Foundation of America, named for her older brother, who died after a lengthy struggle with AIDS in the late summer of 1989. Carlton Hamilton was 35 when he died. Valerie, who was close to her older brother and often looked to him for guidance and support, stayed with him through his ordeal. She said her brother's courage inspired her to help others. "I told him no matter what, I still love him. Out of our bond is where the message comes from," she said.

Soon after Carlton's death, Hamilton donated money to local hospitals and AIDS organizations. Realizing even the smallest donations helped, she decided to look into starting her own AIDS-related program.

Formative stage

Hamilton said she is working on several programs for the foundation, which she described as still in its formative stage. In August, on the anniversary of her big brother's birthday, Hamilton launched what she calls the Carlton Rose Program. At least once a week, Hamilton delivers roses donated by local florists to people with AIDS. Hamilton said she either personally brings the flowers to sick individuals or donates them to local AIDS programs. Hamilton has also designed a t-shirt bearing a rose logo and the slogan of the foundation, "For AIDS With Love."

Programs that Hamilton has donated flowers to include the Children With AIDS Program at Boston City Hospital, Project Trust, a BCH-based program that reaches out to drug users and their sex partners with help and information, and the Boston Living Center, a day program for people with AIDS.

While she met with some discouragement early on, Hamilton said she persisted and found flower shops willing to help. "If I had listened to all the negative things people told me, I would not have done this."

Hamilton feels the small gesture of delivering a rose can give a suffering individual a much-needed boost. Along with the roses, Hamilton offers her friendship, but does not force her companionship on anyone. Hamilton said suffering through the loss of her brother gives her an understanding of the AIDS experience. "I can speak about losing a loved one," she said, adding, "I can share what it was like and know how to be supportive."

"Wonderful"

While visiting the Living Center, Hamilton first met John, a man living with AIDS. When John was hospitalized with an AIDS-related illness two weeks ago, Hamilton sent him roses. Having been abandoned by some members of his family, John said the flowers meant a lot to him. "It makes you feel wonderful when you lose your friends and family members and there is still someone out there who cares," he said.

Hamilton and John have developed a special friendship and talk to each other regularly. "Valerie is a wonderful person. When you are in the hospital and nobody comes to see you, just that little touch means a lot," he said.

Brianne Fitzgerald, director of Project Trust, called the rose program "a lovely gesture." Often the nature of her work requires Fitzgerald to be the bearer of bad news. The flowers allow Project Trust to deliver a positive message, she said, adding, "there is something nice we can do in our job."

"It helps a lot"

Hamilton collects approximately 200 roses a month from flower shops around the city. Kirk Joiner is manager of Aalsmeer-Antigua, a wholesale flower shop located in the Boston Flower Exchange, on Albany St. Joiner was touched by Hamilton's idea and donates roses to her every two weeks, paying for the flowers himself. Joiner, who has lost several friends to AIDS, said, "I think it helps a lot of people to know there are people that care."

Hamilton hopes to build a network of volunteers, called Carlton Crusaders, to help AIDS victims and their families. She also wants to make information available for people who need answers to AIDS-related questions. "I hope to create a viable resource that will create opportunity, education and awareness," she said.

Hamilton, who works full-time as a physical education teacher in Boston public schools, said she pays out of her own pocket to rent office space in the old Morgan Memorial building at 95 Berkeley St.

With her roses, Hamilton carries a message of caring and compassion, and her hopes of helping combat the disease. "The message is coming from my heart," she said, "I want to be part of the solution."

Richard Harrod

Richard S. Harrod, of Virginia Beach, Virginia, formerly of Arlington, Virginia, died on Wednesday, January 6, 1993 at the Lake Taylor Hospital in Norfolk, Virginia of complications associated with AIDS, according to his yoga teacher and friend, Dharmatma Kaur Keil of Silver Spring, Maryland. He was 40 years old.

Harrod was born in Norfolk and raised in nearby Virginia Beach. He moved to Arlington about 10 years ago, and worked in the D.C. area for a wide variety of restaurants and catering firms. In 1991, Harrod moved back to Virginia Beach to live with his mother, Cecilia Harrod.

Keil said Harrod enjoyed only the best in life, including fine food, entertainment, and the arts. He liked classical ballet and opera, as well as going out dancing. One of Harrod's hobbies was painting, a skill he developed by taking classes at the Corcoran School of Art. Keil said Harrod studied yoga and meditation, and enjoyed spending time at the beach.

In addition to Keil and his mother, Harrod is survived by his sister, Annette; and brother, Bruce, both of Virginia Beach; and, in Norfolk, by his brother, Dennis; and uncle, Mitchell Harrod.

Harrod's remains were entombed in St. Mary's Cemetery in Norfolk.

HARDY

Of Dorchester, January 3, 1991, Jeffrey Daniel, age 42. Son of Willard H., Sr. and Nancy (Kingsbury) Hardy of Lincolnville, ME. Brother of Stephen G. and Willard H., Jr. of Watertown, Ma., Benjamin F. of Lincolnville, ME. and Lisa Hagin, Estanollee, GA. Also survived by his grandmother Lillie Hardy of Lakeland, FL., 3 nephews, 1 niece and sister-in-law Jane Hardy of Watertown, Ma. A Memorial Service will be held at 4pm., Saturday, January 12, 1991 at the Old West Church, 131 Cambridge St., Boston. Family and friends are respectfully invited to attend. In lieu of flowers contributions in Dany's memory may be made to AIDS Action Committee, 131 Clarendon St., Boston, Ma. 02116 or the Hospice at Mission Hill, 18 Parker Hill Ave., Boston, Ma. 02120. Arrangements by J.S. Waterman & Sons-Eastman-Waring Funeral Home, BOSTON.

2/16

Daniel A. Horne, pianist

Daniel A. Horne, a classical pianist and teacher, died in his South End home on July 27. He was 33.

A native of Great Neck, N.Y., Horne came to Boston in 1978. He received a bachelor's degree cum laude from the State University of New York at Albany, and a master's degree as a scholarship student of Russell Sherman at New England Conservatory. He later pursued a doctoral degree at Boston University as a scholarship student of Anthony di Bonaventura.

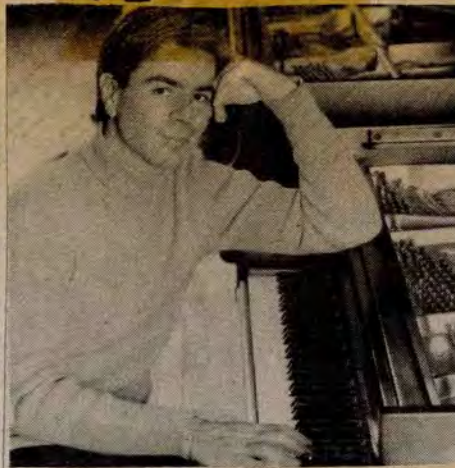

Horne performed frequently in the Boston area and in New York. He performed in the Peabody-Mason series, the Gardner Museum series, and at the First and Second Church in Boston. Shortly after being diagnosed with AIDS, Horne was presented by Charles River Concerts in his Jordan Hall debut. He also performed on WBUR-FM and WBZ-TV.

Horne made his New York debut in 1983 at Carnegie Recital Hall, in a performance that garnered very favorable reviews, including one from the New York Times. He performed again at Carnegie in 1987 as the first prize winner in the Fourth Annual East & West Artists Audition. Other competitions included the Van Cliburn, Gina Bachauer, and the American Music Scholarship Competition. Horne recently participated in making a fundraising video to benefit the establishment of an AIDS hospice here in Boston.

Over the years, Horne held teaching positions at New England Conservatory, Boston University, Northeastern University, Belmont Music School, and Phillips Exeter Academy.

In addition to teaching and playing the piano, Horne accomplished many things during his illness, including trips to Europe, California, Mexico and the Caribbean. He was interested in fine food and wine, travel, languages, and collecting art.

He maintained a positive attitude—bouncing back after illnesses, living life fully and optimistically, and caring deeply for others who were also ill, according to Mark J. Dapolito, a friend of Horne's. Dapolito said Horne's greatest achievement during this time was the formation of his own personal support group, made up of people literally "from all walks of life"—gay, straight, single, married with families, friends from childhood and college as well as newer friends. These people undertook whatever tasks were necessary while Horne was hospitalized and during his final months of illness at home. He also received care from Hospice West. "Those of us he left behind are very inspired by him and proud to have known him," Dapolito said.

In addition to other friends, Horne is survived by his brother Larry of Los Angeles and his companion Kim Wilson of Boston.

A memorial gathering is planned for Sunday, September 10, at 2 p.m. in the library at Emmanuel Church, 15 Newbury

Ron Hays, 45, Emmy-winning multimedia artist

LOS ANGELES — Ron Hays, an Emmy Award-winning multimedia artist whose creations melded computerized film, slides, synthesizers and music, has died of complications of AIDS. He was 45.

Mr. Hays, who died Tuesday at Daniel Freeman Marina Hospital in Marina del Rey, won an Emmy in 1979 for best graphic design for the "Krofft Superstar Hour" with The Bay City Rollers and was nominated for one in 1982 for "Omni" on PBS.

Mr. Hays pioneered the still-experimental field that produces often dazzling light and musical works. His creations have accompanied symphony orchestras and served as special effects at Las Vegas clubs.

His work included the "Star Wars Concerts" with Zubin Mehta and the Los Angeles Philharmonic at the Hollywood Bowl, shows for the US Festival, and assistance for David Wolper on the 1984 Olympics closing ceremonies.

Michael Hodge, 48, the owner of several Gay bars in central Florida, including the Orlando Eagle and Full Moon Saloon, died Nov. 21 of liver failure. Place of death was not reported (The Weekly News)

Steven D. Horowitz, 44

Was Pneumo Abex vice president

8-13-91
Steven D. Horowitz, a former vice president of Pneumo Abex Corp. of Boston, died of AIDS Tuesday at Stamford General Hospital. He was 44 and lived in Rowayton, Conn.

A native of Buffalo, N.Y., and a former resident of Boston, Mr. Horowitz graduated from Babson College in 1968 and also received a master's degree in business administration there. In 1972, he joined Pneumo Corp. of Boston, a conglomerate with aerospace, food and pharmaceutical interests. Pneumo was acquired in 1985 by IC Industries and merged with Abex.

Mr. Horowitz left Pneumo Abex in 1988 to become a partner in a real estate business in Connecticut.

He leaves parents, Sidney and Faye Horowitz of Buffalo; a brother, Robert of Falls Church, Va.; and his companion, T. Jay Bradsell of Rowayton.

A memorial service is planned.

Mabel Hampton (1980 photo)

MABEL HAMPTON, a founder of the Lesbian Herstory Archives, a New York City reference library, died of pneumonia Oct. 26 in New York. She was 87. Hampton, a lesbian rights activist, was the subject of several films and television programs documenting her involvement in gay life during the 1940s and in the Harlem renaissance, a flowering of black American culture in the 1920s.

Scot Holton, a film publicist who appeared on several television talk shows to discuss the film industry's treatment of HIV-positive employees, died of complications from AIDS Sept. 27 in Los Angeles. He was 52.

Ronny Horn

Ronny Lee Horn, 41, of Washington, D.C., died Sunday, April 18, 1993, at Georgetown University Hospital from complications associated with AIDS, according to his longtime companion, Richard C. Watson, of D.C.

Horn had a distinguished career with the Internal Revenue Service, winning more than a dozen citations for outstanding service by the time of his 1992 retirement. His career with the IRS began in 1974 in Dallas, Texas, as a tax examiner. During his early years, Watson said, he denied a taxpayer the right to deduct the cost of designer originals as "work uniforms," a decision that eventually was taken up by the U.S. Supreme Court. Horn's decision, supported by the IRS, was overruled by a tax court in 1980. The case was appealed and Horn's decision upheld by both the Fifth Circuit and the Supreme Court in 1981.

Horn was assigned in 1980 to the IRS's International Audit Division in D.C., and posted to the Middle East. He served in Saudia Arabia, Egypt, Kuwait, the United Arab Emirates, Bahrain, and Qatar in 1981-82. Horn was promoted in 1985 to the position of office audit group manager and posted to Bonn, Germany, and London, England. He also served in Singapore and Hong Kong.

Horn in 1988 was promoted to senior program analyst in the IRS's office of Information Systems Development where, Watson said, he helped design logistics for implementing tax procedures for the year 2000 and beyond. He was promoted again in 1991 and transferred to the IRS's Systems Design Division where he was responsible for budget formulation at the division level.

Horn was active in the D.C. area HIV/AIDS community. He helped start three different HIV support groups, participated in the Study to Help the AIDS Research Effort (SHARE) at Johns Hopkins University, and wrote and spoke publicly in support of people with HIV/AIDS.

Three days before his death, said Watson, Horn had celebrated eight years of continuous sobriety.

Horn grew up in Hubbard City, Texas and graduated valedictorian of his high school class. He graduated with honors in 1974 from Baylor University in Waco, Texas, which he attended on an academic scholarship. He was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, and two years in a row directed and choreographed the annual Baylor All-School Songfest.

In addition to Watson, Horn is survived by two brothers, J. Herbert Horn of Dallas; and James F. Horn of New York City; numerous aunts, uncles, and cousins in Texas; and Miss Peppercorn Watson-Horn, the couple's cherished Tibetan Terrier.

A memorial service was held at his brother's New York City home on April 19. His remains were cremated, and half the ashes are to be interred next to his parents in Hubbard, Texas. A funeral service will take place at the Horn Ranch in Hubbard tomorrow, May 1. The other half of the ashes will remain with Watson.

A D.C. memorial service will be held at 10:30 a.m., Saturday, May 15, at All Souls Memorial Church, at Cathedral and Connecticut avenues, NW. A reception in the undercroft of the church will follow.

Contributions in his name may be made to the Episcopal Caring response to AIDS, 733 15th St., NW, Suite 315, Washington, DC 20005; Food and Friends, PO Box 70601, Washington, DC 20024; and to the Lambda Community Center, P.O. Box 7523, Washington, DC 20044.

Charles Heim

March 31, 1993

Charles Heim died on March 31, 1993 in Tillamook, OR, of AIDS. He was 55 years old. Charles was the long-time companion of the late Billy Herzog, who was also taken by AIDS.

There will be a gathering of friends, May 8, in Emeryville. Please phone (510) 655-5057 for more information.

Confirmation of death may be made by calling The Heritage Society of Portland, (503) 243-1343. ▼

WENSLEY—Kenneth M. Jr. Colourist extraordinaire, dear and valued friend, after a long and most courageous battle on May 15th. Humorous and life loving to the end, rest now, dear boy. 5-18-92 Gerry HILL—William Parks, on September 14, 1991. A memorial will be held October 25, 6:15 PM at Jurson Church, Washington Square South. Memorial donations may be made to the Actors' Fund, GMHC, Gor's Love We Deliver.

HARMIN—Jesse Ken. Jesse died on November 18, 1992 at the age of 35 of AIDS. His parents, Merrill and Tamaji, and sister, Andrea, survive him. If you choose to honor his memory please consider a contribution to GMHC.

1991
Ken Harrison, who performed in the 1972 all-male adult film Bijou under the name Bill Harrison, died of complications from AIDS Oct. 18 in Venice, Calif. He was 43. Harrison founded Fox Studio and Sierra Pacific Productions, two adult-film companies. In 1977, Andy Warhol painted Harrison's portrait for the collection Body Parts.

Stephen Harvey, 43; A Writer On Movies And a Film Curator

1-1-93
By LEE A. DANIELS

Stephen Harvey, associate curator of film at the Museum of Modern Art, died on Friday. He was 43 and lived in Brooklyn.

Mr. Harvey died of AIDS-related complications, said Mary Lea Bandy, the director of the department of film at the museum.

A film curator at the Museum of Modern Art since 1972, Mr. Harvey had organized major retrospectives and programs on such film figures as Vincente Minnelli, Vittorio de Sica and Joseph Mankiewicz.

His book, "Directed by Vincente Minnelli," published in 1990 by Harper-Collins, is widely considered the definitive study of Mr. Minnelli and the MGM studio system of his time.

Mr. Harvey's retrospective on the film director Michael Curtiz is on exhibit at the museum, and at the time of his death he was preparing a retrospective of films based on works by Henry James to coincide with the James sesquicentennial in 1993.

Mr. Harvey also wrote essays and critical commentary for newspapers, Film Comment and other publications on films. He was a film critic for Inquiry magazine and a theater critic for The Nation.

At the museum his exhibitions included: "Get Out Your Handkerchiefs: Women's Pictures at Warner Bros., 1932-1950," which he organized last year, and "Hard, Fast, and Beautiful — Ida Lupino, Filmmaker and Actress," which he organized in 1991.

Mr. Harvey earned a bachelor's degree from Stanford University in 1971 and pursued graduate studies in the Department of Cinema Studies at New York University from 1971 to 1972. He was a member of the National Society of Film Critics. In 1985 the Government of France named him a chevalier in the Order of Arts and Letters.

He is survived by his mother, Ann Weisbart of Los Angeles; his father, Gerald Harvey of Woodmere, N.Y.; two sisters, Jennifer Crosby and Karen, both of New York City, and a brother, David, of New York City.

HARMER—Bill. Died at his home in Key West, Fla., on Mon., April 20, 1992. He was born Sept. 19, 1932 in Lynn, MA. He was a dancer and choreographer, age 59. Mr. Harmer had a long career as a Broadway Dancer and Choreographer-Director. A graduate of Bennington College, he had dance training with Martha Graham's 3 yrs in Europe and Jose Limon. He spent 3 yrs in Europe appearing in Italian films and on European Television. His first Broadway exp. came in Bye, Bye Birdie, The Music Man, and Follies. He and he partnered Liza Minelli, Imogene Coca, Jane Powell and Marlene Dietrich. His work in television included the Bell Telephone Hours, the Sammy Davis Show and the Perry Como Show. As a teacher he was on the faculty of the New York Academy of Ballet for twenty years and seven years at the International Dance School in Carnegie Hall with pupils who included Claire Bloom, Dyan Cannon, Tom Poston and Rip Torn. His many years as Director included over 100 productions in schools and colleges in the New York and New Jersey areas. Locally in Key West, he choreographed a production of The King and I at the Tennessee Williams Theater and most recently with the Dance School, Denise Plouffe Director. He designed costumes for the Linguini Sisters of NYC, Provincetown and Key West. He is survived by his mother Katherine Harmer of Pinellas Park, one sister Ruth Gove of Peabody, MA and six brothers William, George, Robert, Walter, Gerald and Kenneth. Surviving also is his companion of 28 yrs, William L. Pickett of Key West. Dean Lopez Funeral Home handled local arrangements.

1418

A Very Personal AIDS Project

Michael Hirsch

Protection Productions, a group of young New Yorkers who are producing an educational film about AIDS, has some big-name backers: Saul Steinberg, Robert Woolley, Bill Blass and Mark Hampton all showed up at Amanda Burden's apartment on June 8 for a fund-raiser for the project.

The filmmakers include, below, from left to right, Michael Swanhaus, Beatriz de la Sierra, Belle Burden (Ms. Burden's daughter), Rafael de la Sierra and Nancy Hirsch.

It is a very personal project. A close female friend of the de la Sierra twins, who are 24, was given a diagnosis of AIDS at 22. Nancy Hirsch, who at 30 is the group's senior member, lost her brother, Michael, to the disease.

Ms. Hirsch, who works as a project manager at Lifebeat, the music industry's anti-AIDS organization, co-wrote the film's script with Mr. Swanhaus, 20, a film student at New York University. Their concern is that high school and junior high students don't think they'll catch AIDS through heterosexual transmission. "They seem to feel the most invincible," Mr. Swanhaus said.

Most AIDS awareness films, said Belle Burden, 24, who is an urban fellow in the Mayor's office of operations, "seemed either to be preachy and condescending or they were melodramatic after-school specials." So far, the group has raised about half of the $75,000 it needs to make the film.

"We like to think that we're close in age to the teen-agers," Ms. de la Sierra said, "so that we can speak to them on their level."

Richard Hall, the first openly gay critic elected to the National Book Critics Circle, died of complications from AIDS Oct. 29 in New York City. He was 65. Hall wrote criticism for the San Francisco Chronicle, and for six years, he wrote a book column for The Advocate. He also wrote six gay-themed novels and a collection of gay-themed plays. 1992

Dr. Clifford John Heaphy

April 12, 1993

Dr. Clifford John Heaphy, noted San Francisco counseling psychologist, died April 12, 1993, of diabetes-related complications at the age of 38 while in London. Dr. Heaphy was widely known as a sexual therapist and was an adjunct professor at both the University of San Francisco and Golden Gate University.

As a result of his diabetes, Dr. Heaphy faced extensive health complications including partial blindness, restricted use of extremities and, in 1987, a kidney transplant. Despite all complications, Heaphy proceeded with his dissertation and in 1989 graduated as outstanding doctoral student from the University of San Francisco.

Heaphy dedicated himself to issues of human sexuality and AIDS education and to counseling diabetics on coping with complications of the disease.

A native of Albuquerque, New Mexico, Heaphy moved to San Francisco in 1980 to complete his masters degree at San Francisco State University. He wrote many diabetes related articles, the most recent one being published in the May 1993 issue of Diabetes Forecast.

Dr. Heaphy was also the inspiration for the soon to be published, "The Adventures of Sidney the Kidney," which he co-created with Russ Alley.

Dr. Heaphy was buried in Albuquerque on April 22, and is survived by his mother, Mary Lou Heaphy of Albuquerque, New Mexico; his sisters Mary Ann Heaphy of San Francisco, Kathy Heaphy, Esq. of Washington, DC; his brothers, Robert Heaphy PhD, of Albuquerque, Dr. James Heaphy of Lexington, Kentucky and Dr. Thomas Heaphy Jr. of Kansas City, Missouri.

A memorial service was held May 10 at the University of San Francisco. The school of Arts and Sciences of Golden Gate University has established a Memorial fund in Dr. Heaphy's honor. The proceeds will be donated to the American Diabetes Association. Contributions to this fund may be sent to Michael Barnes, Golden Gate University. ▼

Felipe Hernandez

AIDS Worker, 29

Felipe Hernandez, a former development officer of the Hispanic AIDS Forum in New York City; died on Sunday at Cabrini Medical Center. He was 29 years old and lived in Manhattan.

He died of AIDS-related illnesses, according to the forum.

Mr. Hernandez, a native of New Jersey, attended Fordham University, where he became assistant research director in the university's development office. Concerned about the impact of AIDS upon the Latino community, he joined the staff of the Hispanic AIDS Forum in 1989 and helped raise money for prevention, education and support services.

Mr. Hernandez is survived by his mother, Carmen Nora Symanski; his stepfather, Harold Symanski; three sisters, Maria, Bridget and Nora, and his companion, Joe Boose. 10-5-92

Leland Hickman, a poet, publisher, and editor, died of complications from AIDS May 12 in Los Angeles. He was 56. Hickman's gay-themed poetry was published in the anthologies Great Slave Lake Suite and Lee Sr Falls to the Floor. 1991

Donald Hagan, a physician who became a spokesman for people with AIDS, died of complications from AIDS March 7 in Laguna Beach, Calif. He was 46. Hagan was forced to leave his practice in 1988 when he was diagnosed as HIV-positive.

TOFFEE—Michael, on Friday, May 20, 1994. Left behind are his mother, sister, brother, nieces and nephews, and many loving friends. To lose you was a burden we all dreaded to endure. You are at peace with Enzo. Peter, Saul, Scott

HOYT—Of Chelsea, formerly of Reading, Jan. 26. Herbert son of Beatrice L. (Ethier) Hoyt and the late Henry H. Hoyt. Brother of John L. of Newmarket, NH, David W. of Reading and Robert F. Hoyt of Lexington. Dear friend of Anna B. Slavin of Chelsea. Funeral from the McDonald Funeral Home, 19 Yale Ave., Wakefield, Friday at 8:00 am. Funeral Mass in St. Athanasius Church, 300 Haverhill St., Reading at 9:00 o'clock. Relatives and friends may call at the Funeral Home, Thursday 2-4 and 7-9. Memorial Contributions may be made to Seton Manor, 296 Allston St., Brighton, Ma. 02146.

Gary Chris Hanson

1957-1993

Gary peacefully left San Francisco and his family at the Phoenix, after a long duel with full blown AIDS. With his persistence and positive attitude, Gary continually astounded the medical community and his friends. He gave us all a new window to look through beyond the body, to include the mind and heart while living with AIDS.

Some of the things we will miss about Gary — his challenge with AIDS when his lover, Frankie Castillo, became ill with AIDS in 1986 and Gary nursed him until he passed on later that year.

Gary was born in Oregon and attended Portland State University. He moved to San Francisco in 1971. Always the entrepreneur, Gary worked a variety of jobs, including his own business, Top Drawer. He is survived by his mother, Marjorie, his Aunt Beth Murphy, several cousins, two nieces that he never met and a homophobic brother.

His family here in San Francisco: Coe, James, Fred, Cliff, Bunny, Jim, Darrell, Cliff, Franklin, Omar, Jeff, Keith, Peggy and the rest, will miss his big smile, huge bear hugs and "What have you."

A celebration of Gary's life will rather on Saturday, May 15, at 3 p.m. For details, please call Keith at (415) 863-3134. Donations can be made in Gary's memory to Coming Home Hospice, 115 Diamond, SF, CA 94114. ▼

Chris Hjort

1951-1993

He died. Goodbye! Goodbye!...

A memorial celebration will be held on Saturday, March 6, at 1 p.m. at 69A Walter Street in the city. Contributions are preferred to the AIDS Memorial Grove and should be sent to Larry Hjort at 69A Walter St., SF 94114. ▼

149

Duane Herring

Grover Duane Herring, 28, chair of the Virginia chapter of the Gay, Lesbian and Bisexual Veterans of America, died on Sunday, November 29, 1992 at the Medical College of Virginia hospital in Richmond. He died of complications associated with AIDS, according to his friend, Paige Armstrong of Washington, D.C.

As the chair of the Gay veterans organization, Herring compiled many documents related to the discharges of Gay soldiers. He also created a network of contacts in Virginia. Miriam Ben-Shalom, national president of the Gay, Lesbian and Bisexual Veterans of America (GLBVA), said Herring "was an extremely hard worker" whose loss is "deeply felt." Herring frequently came to D.C. to conduct business for GLBVA, Armstrong said.

Herring served as a security specialist in the Air Force. During his year of service, which ended in 1984, he was stationed at Malmstrom Air Force Base in Montana.

Herring also founded and was treasurer of the Teddy Bear Leather Club of Virginia, a leather/Levi club based in Richmond. Last spring he helped organize the group's homecoming celebration for the Centaurs, a D.C.-based motorcycle club that used to be headquartered in Richmond.

Herring was born and raised in Caroline County, Va., and graduated from Caroline County High School in 1982. After his military service, he settled in Richmond, where, among other jobs he held through the years, he worked at several Gay bars.

In addition to Armstrong, Herring is survived by his partner, William Southall of Richmond; mother and stepfather, Juanita and Bo Mills of Ruther Glen, Va.; three sisters, Diana Young of Richmond; Tammy Herring; and Jennifer Mills; and one brother, Danny, all of Ruther Glen; and other relatives.

Contributions in Herring's name may be made to Richmond AIDS Ministries, 2403 West Main St., Richmond, VA 23286.

CRAIG HANSEN, 35, died peacefully April 3 in Minneapolis from complications due to AIDS. Hansen was born Nov. 6, 1957 in Omaha. He moved with his family to Sioux Falls, SD in 1962. He graduated from Washington High School in 1976 and continued his education at Arizona State U. in Tempe, and graduated in 1980. He was a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity. Craig moved to Chicago and was director of personnel at Bonwit Teller for several years. He began working in real estate with Coldwell Banker and then moved to Intrenet Realty where he specialized in Gold Coast residential property. Craig is survived by his loving family who provided him amazing support and care in his last months of illness; his parents Joan and Frank of Sioux Falls, three sisters and their husbands, one niece, three nephews and three aunts. Craig also leaves behind many close friends in Chicago who will miss him dearly. Memorials to: DIFFA/Chicago, 885F Merchandise Mart, Chicago, IL 60654.

HANSEN (LEFT)

George M. How, 35, An Architect, Is Dead

2-22-93

George M. How, an architect who helped to design the new NASA headquarters in Washington, died on Monday at his home in Manhattan. He was 35.

The cause was AIDS, said his companion, Oren Makov.

Mr. How was a senior designer at the firm of Kohn Pederson Fox Associates in Manhattan, where he worked on the NASA headquarters, a 600,000-square-foot building at 300 E Street S.W. that opened last year. The project was a melange of Art Deco and post-modern styles.

He graduated from Cornell University in 1981 and then worked for Paul Segal Associates in Manhattan, where he contributed to the design for the Gotham Bar and Grill at 12 East 12th Street in Greenwich Village. He later was in private practice before he joined Kohn Pederson in 1989.

In addition to his companion, he is survived by his parents, Janet and Brian How of Ithaca, N.Y., and two sisters, Sarah How of Ithaca and Kate Conchafter of Asheville, N.C.

Richard Hunt

Puppeteer, 40 1-7-92

Richard Hunt, a puppeteer known for his work on the "Muppet Show," died on Tuesday at Cabrini Hospice in Manhattan. He was 40 years old.

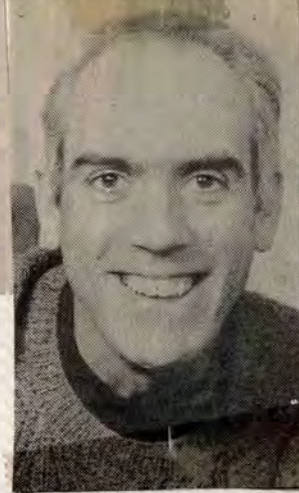

He died of H.I.V. complications, his family said.

Mr. Hunt, a native of the Bronx, was a member of Jim Henson Productions for more than 20 years, as the performer behind Scooter, Janice, Forgetful Jones, Junior Gorg and many other characters from the popular television programs "The Muppet Show," "Sesame Street" and "Fraggle Rock."

He directed several episodes of these shows, and was a puppeteer in the Henson films "The Muppet Movie," "The Great Muppet Caper," "The Muppets Take Manhattan" and "Jim Henson's Muppet Vision 3-D," a Disney-M-G-M Studios Theme Park attraction. He also acted in the movies "Trading Places" and "Oxford Blues."

He is survived by his mother, Jane Hunt of Manhattan; a brother, Adam, of Piermont, N.Y.; and three sisters, Kathleen, of Closter, N.J.; Lynn Russell of Torrance, Calif., and Rachel Watts of Salt Lake City.

A memorial service is to be held on Feb. 2 at 3:30 P.M. at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, Amsterdam Avenue at 112th Street.

HILDUM—William Cullen. In NYC of AIDS on May 7, 1992. The love and pride of his sisters and brothers, nieces and nephews, parents and all who knew him will remain forever. Notice of memorial service will be published. I'd like to go by climbing a birch tree...One could do worse than be a swinger of birches." "Birches," by Robert Frost, a favorite poem.

HARDIMAN—Morgan P. On Sunday, Oct. 3, 1993 of Washington, DC. Beloved son of John J. and Marian C. Hardiman. Brother of Marilean E. and Jerome P. Hardiman and Kathleen S. Hart. Friends may call at the Devol Funeral Home, 2222 Wisconsin Ave. N.W., Washington, D.C. on Thursday, 2-4 and 7-9PM. Mass of Christian Burial will be offered at Holy Trinity Church, 36 and O Streets N.W. on Friday, 10AM. Interment Fairfax Memorial Park. Expressions of sympathy may be made to Hospice of Washington, 3720 Upton St. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20016. Whitman-Walker Clinic, 1407 S Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20009, AmFAR, 5900 Wilshire Blvd, Los Angeles, CA. 90036 or a charity of your choice.

Bob Harrington

Cabaret Critic, 42

10-19-92

Bob Harrington, the cabaret critic of The New York Post and of the trade newspaper Back Stage, died on Monday at Central General Hospital in Plainview, L.I. He was 42 years old and lived in East Meadow, L.I.

His family said he died of AIDS-related causes. Mr. Harrington disclosed his illness in his Back Stage "Bistro Bits" column in December.

A graduate of the State University College at Oneonta, N.Y., Mr. Harrington started reporting for the Long Island magazine Night Life in 1982, became a Back Stage columnist in 1985 and a critic for The Post the next year. He was a board member of the Manhattan Association of Cabarets and of Hearts and Voices, a group of cabaret artists performing for AIDS victims in hospitals.

He is survived by his mother, Josephine, of Clearwater, Fla., and three brothers: Tom, of Babylon, L.I.; John, of Cleveland, and Steve, of Davie, Fla.

David W. Holbrook,

the first coordinator of the Colorado AIDS Project, died of complications from AIDS May 19 in Denver. He was 40. 92

Wilfred E. Herber

Oct. 1, 1936–Feb. 14, 1993

Wilfred passed away at his home in San Francisco at 6:19 p.m. on Valentine's Day (one of his favorite holidays). He is survived by his father, brother, and Aunt Mildred. He had a B.A. from the University of Texas and a Masters from

S.F. State. He was an educator for many years and spent his final 12 years of teaching at James Madison Junior High School in Oakland, CA. He was a well respected artist, having exhibitions at the Houston Museum of Fine Art, The Dallas Museum of Fine Art, L'Atelier Gallery, The Proxeniun, and the Cannery in SF. He was an avid collector of antiques and specialty art.

In his final months, he refused to see many of his friends, very special friends, but he certainly didn't forget any friend. Wilfred will be loved forever and very likely never forgotten, especially if you knew him well. Wilfred's friends — having been expressing their love and support for so long; in his memory, please take a moment to acknowledge yourself for helping Will live life his way. ▼

BILL HOLT, 34, a longtime gay and lesbian community planner, died June 28 in his North Side home of complications due to AIDS. In 1989 Bill was honored as one of the founding members of Open Hand Chicago, a meals-on-wheels program for people living with AIDS. A 1986 graduate of Northwestern's Kellogg School of Management and a 1981 graduate of Williams College, Bill volunteered his long-range planning skills to assist numerous organizations, including Howard Brown Clinic, Chicago House, IMPACT and the Metropolitan Sports Assoc. An Eagle Scout and avid long-distance runner, Bill completed marathons in Chicago and at the Gay Games in Vancouver. Bill was also a Names Project volunteer and patron of the gay choruses. In 1980 Bill completed a bicycle trip from San Diego to Jacksonville, Fla. to raise money for OxFam America, a famine relief effort. Bill is survived by his partner, Kevin Baltz, and many friends and family members.

Richard D. Hollenbaugh

Jan. 16, 1953–Jan. 24, 1993

Richard left us peacefully one week

after his 40th birthday with his father, Robert, and stepmother, Helen, from Ohio at his side.

Richard was a remarkable man, impressing all with his exceptional intelligence, inquisitiveness and determination. He graduated from Ohio State summa cum laude and had a successful career at the Bechtel Corporation both in San Francisco and Saudi Arabia.

Richard's real passion, however, was music. In Saudi Arabia he was musical director for the Jeddah Players staging Broadway shows and operettas for English speaking residents. Back home, Richard, an accomplished pianist, accompanied the Bechtel Chorale and the SF Gay Mens' Chorus, and played trombone in the Gay Freedom Day Marching Band. Richard also supported the SF Symphony and attended the opera and countless musicals and plays.

Perhaps it was hearing that next overture that gave him the strength to fight on through five bouts of Pneumocystis.

Rest now, Richard, and know that you are loved by all who knew you — relatives Robert, Helen, Shiela, Roger and friends Rickie, Steve and Ed.

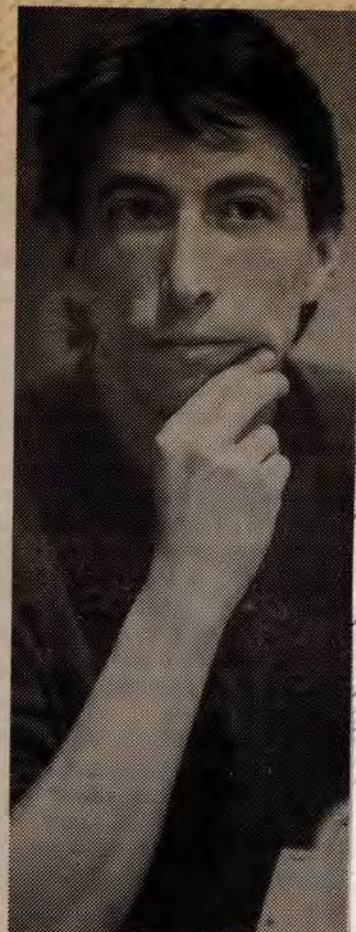

Richard's life will be celebrated by his friends (including those he trounced at Trivial Pursuit at 2 p.m. on Saturday, February 27, at 149 Buena Vista Terrace, SF). For further information, call 863-8902. Contributions may be made in Richard's name to Shanti Project, 525 Howard St., SF 94105. ▼

Clinton Hockenberry, former executive director of the AIDS Legal Referral Panel, a San Francisco group, died of complications from AIDS March 24 in San Francisco. He was 41. As a law student at Georgetown University in the '70s, Hockenberry was a plaintiff in a lawsuit that forced school officials to allow a gay group to meet on campus. 1992

Bo Huston

June 10, 1959 – May 24, 1993

34

Bo Huston (Photo: Rick Gerharter)

Born Paul Richard Huston on June 10, 1959, in Chagrin Falls, Ohio, Bo Huston died Monday, May 24, 1993, in the company of his loved ones. He is survived by his partner, Dan Carmell; his parents, James and Lucille Huston of Newport, Rhode Island; his brothers, Daniel and Joseph Huston; his much-loved sister, Meg Huston; and many friends in San Francisco, New York, Los Angeles, and elsewhere.

Bo Huston attended Hampshire College in Massachusetts, and spent the better part of the 1980s exploring the New York scene. He marched in the first March on Washington in 1979 and took great joy in the outlaw aspects of gay culture.

He moved to San Francisco as he began to find renewal in his life. His diagnosis with HIV disease in early 1988 stimulated him to work and love and fight AIDS at a ferocious pace. He tried several experimental AIDS treatments as well as conventional therapies. With great skill, he explored the phenomenon of AIDS in his writing and fought its effects in his spiritual life, achieving great serenity and acceptance, which aided him (and those near him) in his final illness.

He wrote articles and reviews for the B.A.R. and the Sentinel and was a regular columnist for the Bay Times, as well as a contributor to Outweek, the Advocate, Mother Jones, and other periodicals and anthologies. He wrote five novels (including the recent The Dream Life), a play, and many short stories, plus he exhibited photographic pieces at several galleries. His last work, The Listener, a novella, will be published by St. Martin's this fall, as will an anthology to which he contributed an essay exploring his relationship to AIDS.

Bo will be remembered with love and tender affection by all those he touched, most especially his friends in recovery. We will all hold dear to us memories and grace notes from our years with him.

Memorial services will be held at the First Unitarian Church, 1187 Franklin Street, San Francisco, on Sunday, May 30, at 3 p.m. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the Bo Huston Fund for Writers.

The word, Dearest Bo, I hold in my heart is "Forever."
— Dan

Robert F. Hawe, 33

Robert F. Hawe, of the South End, died December 1 after a long illness. He was 33.

He was the son of the late Col. Donald W. and Helen J. (Fitzgerald) Hawe, and brother of William R. of Pepperell, Patricia S. Capistrone, John F. and Patrick F., all of Harwich, and Michael F. of Needham. He is also survived by his brother-in-law, Michael Capistrone, sisters-in-law Charlene Hawe and Meg Hawe, several nieces, nephews, aunts and uncles, and a friend, Joseph F. Livsey of Boston.

A memorial mass was celebrated December 6, at the Holy Trinity Church in West Harwich. Burial was private.

In lieu of flowers, expressions of sympathy may be made in Helen J. Fitzgerald Hawe's memory to the American Cancer Society.

HARE—In Revere, formerly of NY, July 14, Michael J., at 43 years. Devoted son of Ann (DiStefano) Silva and the late Paul Hare, and beloved brother of Mrs. Jacqueline Guarino and loving uncle of David Sasso and Lawrence Guarino III all of Revere. Dear nephew of Josephine and Michael Natola, John and Rose DiStefano, and Jean and William Rich. Family and friends are invited to attend Memorial Service in the Varrucchio Home For Funerals, 773 Broadway, (Rte. 107) REVERE, on Monday at 11:30 a.m. Parking is available in the lot left of the Funeral Home. In lieu of flowers remembrances may be made to the Hospice at Mission Hill, 20 Parker Hill Ave., Boston, MA 02120.

James Hymes, former director of the Philadelphia Department of Health's AIDS office, died of complications from AIDS Nov. 6 in Philadelphia. He was 41. Hymes also served on Philadelphia mayor Wilson Goode's commission on sexual minorities. 1991

Feb. 11, 1993

HUSACK—Of Boston, William Anthony Husack, D.M.D., age 37 on Thursday, Feb. 11, son of John and Lois (Reppert) Husack of New Hope, Pa. Also survived by two aunts, two uncles & several cousins. A Memorial service will be announced in four weeks. Notice to follow at that time. Interment private. Expressions of sympathy may be made to the Hospice at Mission Hill, 20 Parker Hill Rd., Boston, MA 02120 or to Fenway Community Health Center, 7 Haviland St., Boston, MA 02115. Arrangements by J.S. Waterman & Sons and Eastman-Waring Funeral Home of Boston.

Dr. William A. Husack, at 37, a Boston dentist

Dr. William Anthony Husack of Boston, a dentist, died Thursday after a lengthy illness. He was 37.

Born in Levittown, Pa., he was a 1977 graduate of the University of Pittsburgh and a 1980 graduate of Tufts University Dental School.

Dr. Husack practiced dentistry in Boston for many years.

He was an Eagle Scout with the Boy Scouts of America and earned three palms.

He is survived by his parents, John and Lois (Reppert) of New Hope, Pa.

The funeral service and interment will be private.

A memorial service will be held at a later date.

Arrangements are by J.S. Waterman & Sons and Eastman-Waring Funeral Home, Boston.

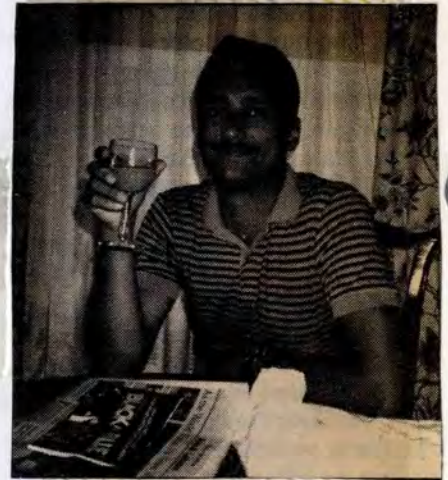

Dear Bob,
Thank you for coming to Bill's room last night after he expired.

It was so thoughtful of you to want to say Good-bye.

God Bless + keep you.

Sincerely,
John + Lois
Husack

P.S. Bill is at peace now & resting forever.

HAGEN—John David, Pharmacist, theater aficionado and lover of life, died at St. Vincent's Hospital September 10, 1993 of AIDS. Loved by his many friends and acquaintances for his gentleness, humor, warmth and spirituality, David will be deeply missed. A memorial service will be held on October 3rd at Friends In Deed in New York City. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made in David's name to Friends In Deed, 594 Broadway, Suite 706, New York, N.Y. 10012.

— None of about 550 patients of Dr. David Hobar— who died of AIDS complications in '89— has tested positive for HIV virus, officials said.

HOWARD

Daniel Chandler, age 32, of Symphony Rd., Boston and Beach Pt., Provincetown, died Jan. 29, 1993 from complications of AIDS. Son of Elizabeth Howard of So. Pacedena, Cal. and the late Philip Howard; Brother of David Allen, Christopher Bullard and Mark Howe Howard. Special Friend of Mark Enos, Karl Skinner and Martha Bernholz. A Celebration of His Life will be held Tues. Feb. 2, 1993 at 2 PM, in St. Paul's Episcopal Church, 57 Court St., Dedham. Relatives and friends invited. Please omit flowers, contributions may be made to AIDS Action Committee, 131 Clarendon St. or Boston Living Center, 140 Clarendon St., Boston, MA. 02116. An additional Celebration of His Life will be held in the Spring at a place and date to be announced. Arrangements with J.S. Waterman & Sons & Eastman-

David S. Huston, an early AIDS activist in Philadelphia and a founder of ActionAIDS, Pennsylvania's largest AIDS service group, has died of complications of the disease. He was 41.

Marc Hein, 43, a Kansas City Gay and AIDS activist who served on the Mayor's Commission on Lesbian and Gay Concerns, and helped revitalize the city's Gay Pride celebration, died March 30 of AIDS complications. Place of death was not reported (St. Louis News-

Gary Hoggard, former executive director of AIDS Project of the Ozarks, a Springfield, Mo., AIDS service group, died of complications from AIDS Oct. 9 in Springfield. He was 50.

HARRINGTON—Of Boston, May 3, 1993 Brian Paul Harrington. Devoted son of Joseph P. Harrington and the late June (Kadlec) Harrington. Loved brother of Peter Harrington of Boston, Carol Ayele of Saugus and Lois Peppe of Malden. Also survived by 1 nephew and 3 nieces. Funeral Service & interment will be private. In Brian's memory contributions may be sent to: AIDS Action Committee, 131 Clarendon St., Boston, Mass. 02116. Arrangements by J.S. Waterman & Sons-Waring.

HALL—Donald C., 52, of Flushing, N.Y., formerly of Newport News, VA, died September 19, 1994. He is survived by his sister Pam Kyle, brother Mark Waggoner and friend Herbert Berler. Graveside services will be held in Hampton, VA, on October 1, 1994.

HINCKLEY—William Billy's dedication and contributions to the FIP Arts Project and the well-being of the community will never be forgotten. Jan 28, 94
His Friends in Fire Island Pines

HEDGE—Ray, July 11. Loving father of Brook Hedge. Caring companion of Ken Scherer. An actor whose career spanned from radio soap operas to Bill Baird's marionettes. He will be deeply missed by his family and friends. 9/24

HOLT—Jonathan. Owner of "In Time" and freelance furniture and art dealer. Age 40. Died of AIDS on April 11, 1994. The beloved son of Marjorie Kurash Holt and the late Joel Martin Holt, step-son of Nadine Holt, brother of Teddy, Beth and Karin. Partner and friend of Michael Becker. Brother-in-law and friend of Dennis Frank and adored uncle of David Jeffrey and Justin Alexander. A Memorial Service will be held in his honor for his family and friends at 2PM on Saturday, April 16, 1994 at "The Chelsea Gardens" 255 West 23rd St., NYC. Donations in honor of his life may be made to Lambda Legal Defense Fund, NY, NY.

DAVID HARNISH
Jan. 4, 1993, age 38
Set designer and decorator who won a Daytime Emmy in 1990 for his work on As the World Turns.

MARK HAYDEN
Oct. 23, 1993, age 37
Actor on As the World Turns. Also appeared in stage productions of Streamers and Three Penny Opera.

SCOTT NEUMANN
May 13, 1993, age 42
Artistic administrator and dramaturge at the Houston Grand Opera and editor of Performing Arts magazine.

In Memory Of
C. PATRICK HENRY

September 13, 1954

February 5, 1990

TRULY UNFORGETTABLE

Patrick...
It's been three long years since you left us. We miss you as much today as we did when you left us. It doesn't get any easier for us. Patrick, we told you we would never let your memory die, and as long as one of us is on this earth we will keep on with your memory. We wish we could see your beautiful smile and talk to you again. Our hearts break every day. It's so hard to go on without you. We all loved you so much. Please know, Patrick, you truly are unforgettable.

Missing and loving you eternally,
Mom and Sisters

Tony Hatch

Anthony Philip Hatch, 34, of Alexandria, Virginia, died on Wednesday, February 3, 1993, at his home of complications associated with AIDS, according to his partner, Robert Vincent.

After graduating from Portland (Maine) High School in 1976, Hatch attended the Maine Maritime Academy. Upon graduation in 1982, he moved to the Washington, D.C. area. He was employed as a supervisor at the Defense Mapping Agency of the United States government from 1982 until April of 1991, when he went on disability.

Hatch was an active volunteer with the Whitman-Walker Clinic for several years and had most recently volunteered for Food and Friends until becoming a client himself.

Hatch was born in San Diego, Calif., and grew up in Portland, Maine. During different periods of his childhood, he lived throughout the world, including Iran.

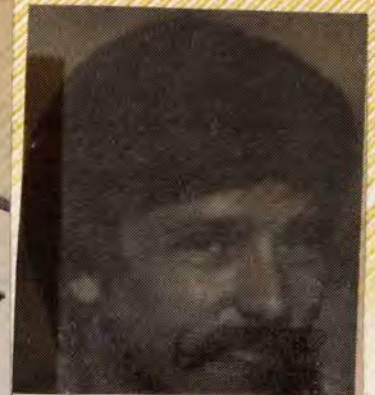

In addition to Vincent, Hatch is survived by his parents, Adeline and Philip Hatch of Portland; one sister, Margie Pallotta; one brother, Dan Hatch; two nieces and one nephew, all of Maine; grandmother, Phyllis Hatch of Falmouth, Maine; and his two cats, Max and 99, who, according to Vincent, were like his children.

Hatch's remains will be interred in Portland. A gathering of friends will be held in D.C. at a later date.

Contributions in Hatch's name may be made to Food and Friends, P.O. Box 70601, Washington, DC 20024.

CHARLES VERNON HUTCHINSON, Jr.

"Hutch" Hutchinson, 40, died of AIDS complications on Dec. 22, 1992 at the Veterans Administration Medical Center in La Jolla, Calif. A memorial service was held Dec. 24 and his ashes were scattered at sea off the coast of San Diego. He is survived by his mother and step-father Wilma & Charles Barnett and brother Eddie Hutchinson, all of Charlestown, Ind. and brother Brian Hutchinson at McCord AFB in Washington. Donations in his memory to an AIDS organization of your choice would be appropriate.

Born in New Albany, Ind., Hutchinson was raised and attended school in nearby Charlestown. At 17 he joined the U.S. Navy and "saw the world" during an eight-year tour of duty. After his discharge he settled in Southern California and, over the next decade, worked in several different fields, including jewelry sales, computer programming, training and support, and creator of cheesecakes for a gourmet bakery in Orange County. (His friends will never forget those cheesecakes!). Cooking finally won out as his primary vocation, and after returning to San Diego he worked as chef at Truax House until retiring in Jan., 1992.

Hutchinson was a keen environmentalist with a true love for nature and especially animals. Among his friends' fondest memories are those Lake Powell houseboat vacations, camping trips to Nevitt Lake and the Colorado River, and most recently a wonderful excursion to the Grand Canyon. Even after his retirement due to declining health, Hutchinson remained closely involved with the AIDS Foundation San Diego as a volunteer and buddy, was always ready and willing to offer others his help, friendship and support, and was proud to list his final occupation as "assisting and caring for AIDS patients."

He was devoted to his family, friends and took pains to always have a smile for them, right up to the end. An intense love of life and unwavering sense of humor enabled him to confront his illness with incredible optimism and determination, providing those who were close to him with courage and inspiration. In good time and bad, in health and in sickness, life was always "All the Fun Parts" to Hutch.

Alan R. Haskell

Alan R. Haskell, 30, of Washington, D.C., died on Wednesday, February 3, 1993, at his home of asphyxiation due to strangulation, according to his brother, Mark Haskell of Moultonborough, N.H.

Police are investigating his death as a homicide. See news story in this issue on page 12.

Born in Biddleford, Maine, Haskell later moved to Old Orchard Beach, Maine, where he graduated from high school in 1981. Upon graduation, he relocated to Boston and worked at the Bostonian Hotel from 1982 to 1983. In 1985 Haskell moved to D.C., finding employment at various local hotels, including the Hay-Adams, the Carlyle Embassy, and the Willard, and progressing from reservation agent to sales manager.

According to his family, Haskell enjoyed photography, dancing, and physical fitness. An avid traveler, he traveled cross-country, through the South, and overseas.

In addition to his brother Mark, Haskell is survived by his mother and stepfather, Dorothea and Roland Spencer of Old Orchard Beach; brother, David of Georgetown, Texas; brother, Brian of Old Orchard Beach; nephews, Curtis, Ian, and Nicholas Haskell of Moultonborough, N.H.; and several aunts, uncles, and cousins.

A memorial service will be held on Wednesday, Feb. 17, at 7 p.m., at the Metropolitan Community Church, 474 Ridge St., NW. Haskell's remains were interred at the family's plot in Laurel Hill Cemetery, Saco, Maine.

Michael W. Hayes

Michael W. Hayes, of Crofton, Maryland, died at his home on Wednesday, May 5, 1993, due to complications associated with AIDS, according to his friend, Leigh Hendricks, of Oxon Hill, Maryland. He was 33.

Hayes worked for C&P Telephone Company since graduating in 1978 from Eleanor Roosevelt High School in Greenbelt, Md. He was a C&P service representative for 15 years.

"Michael loved life and it showed in everything he did," said Hendricks. "He always had a positive attitude and that continued after finding out he was sick."

Hayes enjoyed swimming, roller skating, watching Redskins football games, and spending time with friends and family.

"He was a true animal lover," said Hendricks.

He is survived by his mother, Betty L. Hayes; a sister, Brenda L. Hayes, both of Crofton; and many friends.

Hayes's remains were cremated on May 7, in Bowie, Md., and are at his mother's home. A memorial service will be held Saturday, May 15, at 11:30 a.m. at Holy Trinity Episcopal Church, Annapolis Road, Bowie, Md.

Contributions for AIDS research in Hayes's name may be made to Georgetown University Medical Center, Infectious Disease Research, Kober Cogan Building, #110, 3800 Reservoir Rd., NW, Washington, DC 20007.

Katrina Haslip Dies; AIDS Worker Was 33

12-6-92

Katrina Haslip, a former New York State prison inmate who became an advocate for increased governmental and private support for women with AIDS, died yesterday at Roosevelt Hospital in Manhattan. She was 33 years old and lived in Manhattan.

Ms. Haslip died of complications from AIDS, said Theresa McGovern, director of the H.I.V. Law Project of the AIDS Service Center of Lower Manhattan.

Ms. Haslip was a native of Niagara Falls, N.Y. Her H.I.V. was diagnosed while she was in the Bedford Hills Correctional Center in the late 1980's after she was convicted of picking pockets. She founded two organizations, ACE, for AIDS Counseling and Education Program, and, after her release in 1990, its sister program, ACE-OUT, to help women with AIDS in and out of prison do more for themselves.

She also joined with other AIDS organizations, including Life Force, a Brooklyn-based program, the Brooklyn Task Force on AIDS, and the Upper Manhattan Task Force on AIDS, which worked to press the Federal Government to expand its efforts to fight AIDS among women.

Because of her efforts, the Federal Centers for Disease Control and Prevention last month announced plans to expand its definition of the disease to include more illnesses that affect women with AIDS.

Arthur C. Hensler 3d

Was editor for consulting firm

8-23-93
Arthur C. Hensler 3d, an editor for a Cambridge consulting firm, died Monday from complications of AIDS in Youville Hospital in Cambridge.

Mr. Hensler, who was known as Peter, was 39 and a resident of Boston and Nantucket, where he had spent summers since he was 6.

Mr. Hensler was an accomplished classical pianist and linguist. He loved the outdoors and travel.

He grew up in Chatham, N.J., where he attended public schools and traveled to Uganda as an American Field Service student. He attended Amherst College.

Mr. Hensler lived in San Francisco and Boston, where he worked as an editor. Most recently he was employed by Abt Associates in Cambridge, a consulting firm.

He leaves his father, Arthur C. Hensler Jr. of Chatham, N.J., and Nantucket; two sisters, Julie of Cambridge and Katharine White of New Haven; and three nephews.

A memorial service will be held 4 p.m. Sept. 12 in First Church in Belmont Unitarian Universalist.

GREGORY HUFFMAN — Former Joffrey Ballet leading dancer and teacher. May 20, age 35. 1988 of AIDS

HUTCHISON—Of West Newton, David J. Hutchison, Age 50, on July 22, 1993, from complications of AIDS. Beloved life partner of Roger F. Abdell of West Newton. Beloved brother of Jean Mackay, Helen Trombely both of Regina, Saskatchewan, Canada, Ruth Hewlin of London, Ontario, Canada, and Mary Fletcher of Hiller, Ontario, Canada. Lovingly remembered by many nieces and nephews. Service will be private. Remembrances would be appreciated to the Hospice at Mission Hill, 26 Parker Hill Ave., Boston, MA 02120. Arrangements by Watson Funeral Service, CAMBRIDGEPORT.

HUGHES, John Preston, Jr. Of Boston, Fri., March 19, 1993, in Boston. Of complications due to AIDS. Age 51. There is no immediate family. Survivors include several friends in Boston & Chicago. A Funeral Prayer Service will be held Wed. at 7:30 PM at the J.S. Watterman & Sons and Eastman-Waring Funeral Home, 495 Comm. Ave. (Kenmore Sq. at the inters. of Comm. Ave. & Beacon St. opp. Brookline Ave. & MBTA Greenline) BOSTON. Private burial at the V.A. National Cemetery, Bourne, MA. Contributions in John's memory may be made to Seton Manor, 296 Aliston St., Boston, MA 02146.

REMEMBERING DON

DONALD J. HAUCK

UPDATE FOUNDER

MAY 1, 1930 • June 15, 1992

It's been a year, boss, since you left us so suddenly. But we'll never really let you go. As long as Update exists, so will your hard-headed, open minded, strong-willed, warm-hearted spirit.

Garrison Von Hapsburg

Aug. 18, 1963–May 23, 1993

Garrison Grant Dolby Von

Hapsburg died in his Santa Fe home on Sunday, May 23. His longtime friend Larry O'Daniel was with him when he died. Garrison's face (and body), his charm and imagination, and his many moods and personas were well known, but only a few of us got to really know him, and appreciate his intelligence, caring, loyalty and love. And what a pain in the ass he could be, too!

Garrison was a character like no other we have known. He is survived by a close family of friends. His ashes will be scattered around his beloved San Francisco. A memorial will be planned for late June. ▼

AIDS WIDOW:

Alaina Reed-Hall, who played Rose the landlady on 227, talks about her husband's death from AIDS tonight at 6:30 EST/3:30 PST on BET's Live From L.A.

Kevin Peter Hall, the 7-foot-2 star of the movie Harry and the Hendersons, died April 10. He was also in Misfits of Science and portrayed the creature in The Predator.

Reed-Hall says she married him in 1988, a month after he found out he was HIV positive. "When he told me, I just knew I couldn't leave him," she tells host Tanya Hart. "I loved him. He was my friend."

As to rumors her husband was gay, Hall dismissed them, saying people will always talk. "What bothered me most was the so-called friends (who) weren't there anymore."

Your Staff

John Hackney, 34, a producer of The Lambda Report, a weekly Gay-themed television show in Denver, Colo., died June 3 of AIDS complications. Place of death was not reported.

Ken Hill, 56, a Kansas City, Mo., Gay and Democratic activist who in 1976 served as Missouri chair of Jimmy Carter's presidential campaign, died June 6 of AIDS complications. Place of death was not reported.

By Bob Riha Jr., USA TODAY
REED-HALL: 'Just couldn't leave' HIV-hit late husband

1991

V. Dwayne Harris Stoneking-Jones

April 4, 1958–May 21, 1993

Dwayne passed at 3 a.m. on a sunny spring day at his home in Wilmington, DE, after a long fight with AIDS of five years. Dwayne was born on the Oregon National Historical Train in Guernsey, WY, raised on a ranch, then served in the U.S. Air Force in Germany, moving to Denver, CO, in the early '80s.

On July 5, 1990, he met his lover, Gordon Jones, in Denver and moved to San Francisco. Thereafter, he and his lover became volunteers at Golden Gate National Recreation Area and Yosemite National Park.

Dwayne was a founding member of Pacific Bears Russian River M/C and Pacific Bears California L M/C and an Associate member of Rocky Mountaineers, Denver.

Dwayne was a man with great spiritual vision as he traveled the western National Parks including one of his favorites, Fort McHenry, N.H.S., where he got to raise the 1812 flag after moving to Wilmington, DE, with his lover.

A special thanks to Delaware Hospice and Visiting Nurses of DE in the help in caring for Dwayne. Memorial services will be held in Washington, DC, on June 8, 1993 and a portion of his ashes will be spread at the reflecting pool at the Lincoln Memorial. Please call (302) 366-1978 for details. For his friends in Denver, CA, a portion of his ashes will be spread in Rocky Mountain N.P. For his friends in San Francisco, a portion of his ashes will be spread in Yosemite.

In lieu of flowers, please make a donation to the National Parks Conservation Association, N.P.C.A., Att. DC, 1776 Massachusetts Ave., N.W., Washington, DC 20036, 1-800-628-7275.

Dwayne, I will miss your smile, your mind that thinks like mine, (and that's not easy), and the love and care you gave me. You will be missed by your friends wherever they are. Our thoughts will be with you on your new journey. ▼

Edward Warren Hoover

July 17, 1939 — April 7, 1993

Edward Warren Hoover, a California native, passed away April 7, 1993 of complications due to AIDS.

He is survived by his mother Sonya Byrnes; brothers Wayne,

Keith and Scott Hoover; and lover and long-time companion Gene Brault.

Born in Pasadena, Warren worked as a film technician, and his most recent position was as a valued employee at Deluxe Labs, working in the negative assembly department.

Warren was honorably discharged from the Marine Corps in 1960, and held numerous awards from American Savings and Loan as part of an earlier career.

Warren was a gregarious individual who loved to make others feel important and worthy, and would go out of his way to celebrate their birthdays as a special day.

"He was one of the most caring, selfless people you could ever meet. He sincerely emphasized with people, and took their concerns to heart and often made them his own," said Brault.

Services will be held April 30, 10 a.m., at Mountain View Mortuary — Chapel of the Gardens, 2300 Moreno Ave. in Alta-

IN LOVING MEMORY

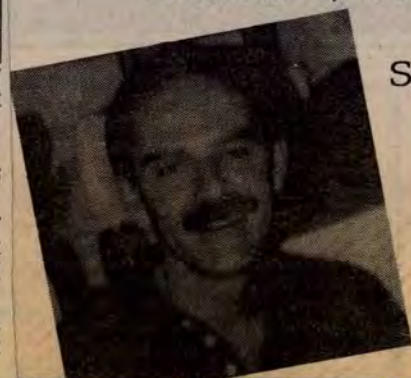

JEFFREY DEAN HUNZEKER

December 1, 1954 - March 3, 1992

Sail away...

Sail away...

Sail away...

JIM

MART Hoydie

Eugene N. Harding

June 30, 1993

Eugene N. Harding died in Santa Cruz, CA on June 30, 1993 at a local hospital. A native of Arkansas; he was 73 years old; he lived in San Francisco for 25 years and spent an equal amount of time in Santa Cruz. He was a self employed hairdresser and owned beauty salons at both the Casa Del Rey and Hillhaven in Santa Cruz; his career as a hairdresser spanned 50 years.

Eugene is survived by his two sisters, Margaret Sylvester of Florida and Alice Martin of Pinole, CA; also survived by his brother, William Harding of Napa; and his good friend Andy Hamdie of San Francisco and many friends in the San Francisco and Santa Cruz areas.

A memorial service was held on Friday, July 9, 1993 at Sunset View Memorial Park in El Cerrito, CA. Inurnment was at Sunset View Memorial Park. Remembrances may be made to your favorite charity.

Eugene N. Harding considered both himself and his lover, Andy Hamdie, active members of the San Francisco gay community as well as ardent supporters of Operation Concern. ▼

Jeffrey Herington

Jeffrey Alan Herington, 32, of Washington, D.C., died on Monday, April 26, 1993, at George Washington University Hospital from terminal cancer associated with AIDS, according to his friends, Trevor Williams and Nelson Line, both of Washington, D.C.

Born in Wichita, Kan., Herington attended North High School. He also attended Wichita State University from 1978-80. He served from 1981 to 1985 in the U.S. Navy in Fallen, Nev., and saw a tour of duty on the USS Fletcher.

After he was honorably discharged, he spent a year in San Diego before coming to Washington, D.C.

Herington worked at the Omni Georgetown Hotel from 1987-89. He also worked at the law firm of Crowell and Moring from 1989 until January 1993.

Herington volunteered for community groups, including homeless shelters.

"He cared more about the needs of others than his own," said Williams. "He was passionately dedicated to human and civil rights."

He was a member of the Gay charity Brother, Help Thyself, the Silver Spring Bowling League, and Integrity/Washington.

Among Herington's interests were bowling, nature, history, old books, and antique English china. He enjoyed traveling to England to see rose gardens, and medieval cathedrals and castles.

In addition to his friends, Herington is survived by his parents, Clarence Herington and Maxine Lunsford of Wichita; three sisters, Mary Kay Vorheis of Takoma Park, Md.; Pam Verbeck of Attica, Kan.; and Dawn Herington of Wichita; and a brother, Kenny Herington of Wichita.

At Herington's request, no formal funeral will be held. His remains were cremated and his ashes will be scattered at the Cambridge American Cemetery and Memorial in Cambridge, England.

A celebration of Herington's life will be held on Saturday, May 8, at 4 p.m., at St. Thomas Episcopal Parish Rooms, 1772 Church Street, NW. Although Herington said he loved his family, he also requested that only friends attend the service, according to Line.

Contributions in his name may be made to Integrity/Washington, Box 19561, Washington, DC 20036-0561; or to House of Ruth, 501 H St., NE, Washington, DC 20002.

ANTHONY P. HATCH, 3/4/58-2/3/92. In our hearts you'll be w/ us forever. You are truly missed. Bob, Paul, Eric & the rest of the gang.

Ronald Haver, 54; Was Film Restorer Of 'A Star Is Born'

LOS ANGELES, May 20 (AP) — Ronald Haver, the director of the film department at the Los Angeles County Museum of Art, died on Tuesday in a Culver City nursing home. He was 54. The cause was AIDS, the museum said.

Mr. Haver was noted for his reconstruction of the classic George Cukor film "A Star Is Born." Ten years ago Mr. Haver found 20 of some 27 minutes of film that were cut from Mr. Cukor's musical version of the film shortly after it opened in 1954. The scenes were in segments in 200 cans of film in the Warner Brothers storage bunkers in Burbank.

He pieced together the unused takes, and the restored film, starring Judy Garland and James Mason, was shown at Radio City Music Hall in June 1983.

"It was like putting a jigsaw puzzle together with a blindfold on," said Mr. Haver, who described the project in a 1988 book, "A Star Is Born: The Making of the 1954 Movie and Its Restoration."

After Army service, he was a publicity agent and actor in New York City in the 1960's and took film classes at the New School for Social Research and Columbia University.

With David Shepard, a film historian, he helped create a film program for the Los Angeles County Museum of Art in 1972. He subsequently was named its director and published "David O. Selznick's Hollywood," a lavishly illustrated book about the producer of "Gone With the Wind," in 1980.

He is survived by his mother, Ann Calistro; a sister, Paddy Calistro McAuley, and a nephew and a niece, all of Santa Monica.

IAN HORVATH — Founder of Cleveland Ballet and former Joffrey Ballet soloist. Jan. 5, age 46. 1986 of Aids

20

Walter Hayes

Walter W. Hayes, 39, died Friday, July 30, 1993, of complications associated with AIDS at his home in Alexandria, Virginia, according to his partner of nine years, Chris Robinson.

Born in Norfolk, Va., Hayes graduated from Andrew Jackson High School in Cambridge Heights, N.Y., and completed his education at Hostos College in the Bronx, N.Y., in 1974.

He joined the Navy in 1975 and was stationed on the USS Puget Sound in Norfolk until 1979. He then moved to D.C. and has been a resident ever since.

Hayes joined BTG, Inc., in 1988 as a systems administrator and became a junior configuration management analyst at a naval facility in White Oaks, Md. He went on disability leave in October of 1992.

Hayes's hobbies included camping, fishing, and stamp collecting.

In addition to Robinson, Hayes is survived by his cat Jasmine; and his parents, Thelma and Charles Hayes; a brother, Keith Hayes; a sister, Joye Hayes, and numerous nieces and cousins, all of Long Island, N.Y. He is also survived by special friends, Tim Wallin and Olin Thomas of Alexandria.

His remains were cremated, and will be distributed at a later date. A memorial service has not been planned yet.

Contributions in his name may be made to the Whitman-Walker Clinic, 1407 S St., NW, Washington, DC 20009.

Michael Harvey

Theatrical Producer, 49

Michael Harvey, a theatrical producer and real estate investor, died on Thursday at his home in Manhattan. He was 49.

The cause of death was AIDS, his companion, Theodore Dell, said.

Among his Broadway and Off Broadway productions and co-productions were "The Grass Harp" (1971); "Why Hannah's Skirt Won't Stay Down" (1974); "Four Friends" (1975); "Kennedy's Children" (1975); "Sweet Bird of Youth" (1976), starring Christopher Walken; "Happy Ending" (1977), starring Meryl Streep, and "The First" (1981), with Lonette McKee.

In 1992, he became co-owner of Pride Institute, a gay and lesbian drug and rehabilitation treatment center in Eden Prairie, Minn.

Mr. Harvey is survived by his stepmother, V. Jay Harvey; a brother, David, and a sister, Ann, all of Boca Raton, Fla.; his step sisters, Edna Haber and Ann Insler, of Mount Vernon, N. Y.; and Mr. Dell, of Manhattan.

William E. Hiatt

William E. Hiatt, 46, died from AIDS-related complications on June 22, at his residence in Quincy, MA.

Bill was born in Fairfield, Iowa, on March 1, 1947. Bill graduated from Fairfield High School in 1965, and attended Northeast Missouri State Teachers College from 1965 through 1968. In 1968, Bill joined the U.S. Army and received an honorable discharge in 1970. Upon his discharge, Bill moved to Boston where he began his distinguished career with the Bank of Boston. Bill began his career as a teller, and advanced to be the Assistant Vice President and manager of the bank's Uphams Corner branch — the first community bank at the Bank of Boston. Bill was instrumental in educating the bank and its employees on AIDS awareness and understanding. In May of 1992, Bill addressed the bank's "From All Walks of Life" employee rally. This brought AIDS awareness to many bank officials and employees, and increased participation in the walk.

Bill was an active participant in the Monday Night Bowling League. Bill bowled for many years and always performed in the league's lip-sync shows which helped to raise money for the Mission Hill Hospice and the AIDS Action Committee. Bill's numerous performances and talent always helped to make the shows a great success. Bill continued to bowl until the neuropathy made it impossible for him to continue.

In addition to Bill's love for bowling, he was an avid sports fan. He followed basketball and football from season to season. While home fighting his disease, Bill would go from channel to channel so that he could watch more than one game at a time. (In addition to a few soap operas.)

When Bill wasn't gardening, watching the Sports Channel, bowling, listening to country music, taking care of his cats, or working, then he was exercising at the gym. Bill began to work out over 20 years ago. Aerobics and general exercise kept him in good spirits until just before his death.

Bill's love for life and his terrific sense of humor will be memories held by his family and friends forever. Throughout Bill's long battle with AIDS, he always maintained his humor, kept his spirits high, and never lost his love for others. Bill's place in the lives of his family and friends will never be replaced; fond memories of Bill will keep him alive forever.

Bill is survived by his father, Robert L. Hiatt, step-mother Jean Fidler Hiatt, sister Constance S. Hiatt Inman, brother-in-law Gerald L. Inman, and his brother, Roger L. Hiatt. Survivors also include three step-brothers, one niece, three nephews, and one great nephew. Bill is preceded in death by his mother, the late Helen Koontz Hiatt.

Burial services were held in Fairfield, Iowa on June 28. Contributions in Bill's memory may be made to the Boston Living Center or the AIDS Action Committee.

Christopher Robert Thomas Hart

Sometimes we come in contact with another soul that seems warm and comforting, a bond is created and friendship is born.

As time passes, we come to know each other. We share our happiness and our sadness, our hopes and disappointments and sometimes our anger.

When we part, we grieve our physical loss, but our other selves thrive on our experiences together and we go forward until we meet again, in another sometime.

Christopher Robert Thomas Hart left our time on June 15, 1993 because of complications due to AIDS. His family in Atlanta will celebrate their time with him by creating a panel for the AIDS Memorial Quilt on a date to be announced. Donations in his memory can be made to AID Atlanta.

TONY HARDING, clown of God, February 7, 1991. Your joy still makes us laugh, Larry.

Gregory Peter Haley

Gregory Peter Haley, age 26, of Roslindale, peacefully surrendered to AIDS, July 28, with his family at his side in the Hospice at Mission Hill.

Born in Boston on St. Patrick's Day 1967, Greg was educated in Boston schools, and had been employed for several years in the culinary department at Harvard University.

A collector of vintage comic books, and unicorns, Greg was very fond of "The Simpsons," Bart, Little Lisa, Homer and Marge.

He was the beloved son of Francis T. Agnone and the late Carolyn Haley, and stepson of Florence Agnone. Lovingly survived by his devoted companion Alan Crisafulli, and eight brothers: William, Kevin, Thomas, Richard, John, Steven, Eddie and Daniel; a sister, Julie; two half-brothers, Michael and John; three half-sisters, Kathy, Barbara, and Donna; and his devoted sister-in-law, Diana Haley; and Uncle Joe Haley.

Funeral services were held on Friday, July 30, at the Watson Funeral Home in Cambridgeport, followed by a concelebrated Liturgy of Christian Burial Mass in Saint Ambrose Church in Dorchester. Father John R. Carroll, Chaplain at Mass. General Hospital, principal celebrant, remembered Greg for his inner beauty, and his ability to give to others, despite his battle with AIDS.

Greg's brothers carried his casket to its final resting place, beside his mother Carolyn, in Cedar Grove Cemetery, Dorchester. Remembrances in Greg's memory to the Hospice at Mission Hill, 20 Parker Hill Ave., Boston, MA 02120, would be deeply appreciated.

Gregory Vernon Howe

1993

On April 30, Gregory Vernon Howe died without prolonged suffering at Mt Zion Hospital in San Francisco, where he had worked in Patient Account Services for the past ten years. Gregg leaves behind to carry on in his unflagging and unflappable spirit his partner-in-life, Scott Stalnaker, several very close friends, the members of his two bowling teams, and his supporters in the two HIV-positive groups he participated in.

Raised in Jackson, Ohio, Gregg graduated in 1974 from nearby Ohio University with a BFA in Theater. As a student, he was active in the Gay Alliance. After graduation, eager to be outrageous and committed to his gay identity, he worked in Provincetown for two summers. Known to the imported summer work force as Trixie (Delight, as in Paper Moon), Gregg thrived in the freedom of one of the East Coast's gay meccas. He then settled in Boston, where he added a political dimension to his gay life by joining the then recently established Fort Hill Fagots for Freedom, the world's first urban gay collective. Gay Community News shortly thereafter tapped Gregg's persuasive skills by hiring him as Advertising Manager and writer.

After moving to San Francisco in 1979, Gregg contributed humor pieces to GCN and The Alternate. He also wrote a play, "America, Live!"

Adapting his imagination to a new form, he next tackled the mystery novel and wrote three of them, the last having been accepted for publication by Knights Press before it bowed out of the publishing world.

Family members joined with friends in Jackson, Ohio, for an interment service on May 11. A gloriously sunny day—"Speedo weather," Gregg would have called it—reigned over a memorial service in San Francisco on May 8.

HORNBAKER—In South Boston, October 30, Charles M. Beloved son of Patricia A. (Purcell) Hornbaker-McCarthy and the late Clarence M. Hornbaker. Beloved brother of Mary, Joan and Michael Hornbaker, Lisa, Claire, Tina, Michael, and Billy McCarthy and Pamela Raymond. Grandson of Josephine Purcell. Nephew of Florence Selter, Joan Purcell, Jean Shea, and Donald Purcell. Also survived by 50 cousins and good friends of Judy Clark and Frank Battista. Funeral from the O'Brien Funeral Home, 146 Dorchester St., SOUTH BOSTON, Wednesday at 9 a.m. Funeral Mass at St. Vincent's Church, at 10 a.m. Relatives and friends invited. Visiting hours Tuesday 2-4 and 7-9 p.m. In lieu of flowers donations may be made in his memory to the Aids Action Committee, 131 Clarendon St., Boston, MA 02116.

HAMILTON—Originally of Stoneham, in Glendale, CA, Thanksgiving Day, 1993. John Richard, age 37 of complications from AIDS. He leaves his mother and father, Gertrude and John Hamilton of Stoneham; sisters Theresa Hamilton-Casalegno of Fallmouth; Ann Zampell of Stoneham; Eileen Bondanza of New York; Mary Ronco of North Reading; Joanne Todesco of Buzzards Bay; Lynne Chahwan of Attleboro; and brothers Thomas Hamilton of Somerville; and William Hamilton of Hampshire; and nieces and nephews; and long-time companion Tim Carlson of Glendale, CA. Memorial Mass at St. Patrick's Church, Stoneham on December 2nd at 10:30 a.m. Donations may be made to the American Foundation for AIDS Research, AMFAR, 733 Third Ave., NY, NY 10017.

ROBERT HESS, 29, died Jan 6 12 from complications of pneumonia. He was a member of Digital Queers.

Michael Hamilton

Michael S. Hamilton, 37, of Washington, D.C., died Monday, July 12, 1993, at the Hyattsville Manor hospice in Hyattsville, Maryland, of complications associated with AIDS, according to his friend, Leonard Scales of Washington, D.C.

Born and raised in Poolesville, Md., Hamilton graduated from Poolesville High School in 1974. Shortly after graduation, he moved to the metropolitan D.C. area where he served as an administrative assistant to the Waterways Freight Association and Vitrol Corporation.

According to Scales, Hamilton loved the District of Columbia, often passionately debating district and national politics. In addition to his interest in politics, Hamilton enjoyed traveling and conversing. He was a member of Faith Temple in the 1980s.

In addition to Scales, Hamilton is survived by his mother, Fannie M. Hamilton of Poolesville, Md.; six sisters, Anne Whisonant; Dotti Hackett; Elaine Snow; Diane Williams; Patricia Washington; and Deborah Gray; seven brothers, James, William, Benjamin, George, Eugene; Robert; and Theodore; aunts, Clarence Davis; and Viola Larry; 28 nieces and nephews; many other relatives; special friends, Robert Philipson; Richard Sharpe; Leonard Fulbright; and Manny Pizarro; and Gloria Davis, who, Scales reported, was like a sister to Hamilton. Hamilton was preceded in death by his father, Joshua Hamilton.

A memorial service for Hamilton was held July 16 at the Jerusalem Baptist Church in Poolesville. His remains were cremated and scattered over the Potomac River.

DIED: James Leo Herlihy, 66, openly gay author of the novel Midnight Cowboy, from which the film of the same name was adapted, of an apparent suicide Oct. 21 in Los Angeles. Herlihy, who also wrote the gay-themed novel Season of the Witch, was reportedly ill with AIDS. 1993

HALLAREN—Dec. 27, age 42 Paul Francis of Provincetown formerly of Norwell. Brother of William D. Hallaren Jr., of Everett, Michael W. Hallaren of Cambridge, Jeremiah W. Hallaren of Weymouth, Patrick L. Hallaren of Norwell, Christopher J. Hallaren of Japan, John J. Hallaren of Boston, Elizabeth H. Hurley of Norwell, Katherine A. Hallaren of Idaho, Mary Alice Hallaren of Winthrop, Theresa F. Hallaren of Jamaica Plain, Joan B. Hallaren of Boston. Also survived by his nieces and nephew Emily and Meghan Hurley of Norwell, Abigail, Christopher, and Elissa Hallaren of Japan and many aunts, uncles, and cousins. A Memorial Service will be held on Thursday evening at 7:00 PM at the McNamee-Sparrell Funeral Home, 30 Central St. (off Rte 123) Norwell, Mass. Relatives and friends invited. Visiting hours omitted. Memorial Contributions may be made to the Hospice at Mission Hill, 20 Parker Hill Ave., Jamaica Plain, Mass., 02120. 73

HEALEY—In Harvard formerly of Beverly and San Francisco, Dec. 31. Brian P. Son of Thomas and Agnes (Comier) Healey of Beverly. Partner of Paul Wrobel of Harvard. Also survived by a sister, 5 brothers and several nieces and nephews. A Funeral Mass will be Celebrated Mon at 11 am at St. Theresa's Church, Rte. 110, Harvard. Visiting Hours are Sun. 7-9 pm at the Acton Funeral Home, 470 Mass Ave. (Rte 111) ACTON. In lieu of flowers, Brian wanted donations made to the AIDS Action Committee, 131 Clarendon St., Boston, MA 02116. 93

Carter B. Hall, 43

Artistic director for opera

Carter B. (Toby) Hall of Hartford, a cabaret performer and artistic director of the Connecticut Concert Opera, died Sunday of complications from AIDS in Hartford Hospital. He was 43.

Mr. Hall, born in Yonkers, N.Y., was a pianist and arranger who, in addition to being artistic director of the Connecticut Concert Opera, was composer in residence at Asylum Hill Congregational Church in Hartford, played piano with the Hartford Symphony and the Boston Pops, and performed his cabaret act throughout the Northeast.

In recent years he produced and directed a number of benefits for AIDS groups in Hartford and Boston.

He leaves his father, Warren L. Hall of New Harbor, Maine; and two sisters, Candace Hall of Newington, Conn., and Cindy Hall Brackett of New Harbor, Maine.

A memorial service will be held at 4 p.m. Sunday in Asylum Hill Congregational Church in Hartford. Burial will be private.

Kenneth Lee Herbert

July 13, 1993

Funeral services have been set for Kenneth Lee Herbert, a well-known Silicon Valley public relations executive, who died yesterday at the age of 33 from AIDS-related complications.

Herbert, who was born in Woodlyn, Pennsylvania, was senior vice president of Mathews & Clark Communications in Sunnyvale at the time of his death. He joined the agency in 1984 as an account executive. In 1986, he moved to London to establish the agency's European operations, and returned here two years later, at which time he was named to his most recent position.

Following his graduation in 1981

HAEPKA—Ronald J. On October 17, 1993, at age 33. Beloved partner of Leonard Cadiente, loving son of Pearl and Delbert, brother of Randy and uncle of Justin, and treasured friend. Donations may be made to The Manhattan Center for Living, God's Love We Deliver, or the AIDS Center Program of Lenox Hill Hospital, Nursing Education Fund. A memorial in New York City is planned Nov 19. Ron's lov endures.

Andrew Hartzell

July 28, 1956—May 9, 1993

Andy Hartzell, 36, passed away due to complications of AIDS on Sunday morning, May 9, at San Francisco General Hospital. The evening before his passing he was surrounded by family and friends; he sang a little song and said good-bye to each of us, then died in his sleep the following morning.

Born in San Francisco, Andy grew up in Hayward and attended Cal State, Chico. He returned to make his permanent home here in the city.

A health professional, Andy had the emergency room at St. Mary's Hospital running like a tight ship with his able hands at the helm for seven years. He went on to apply his talents and experience as office manager at the dental practice of Drs. Joe Dill and Jim Gregory.

Andy's friends and family will remember and miss his broad, sparkling smile and his quick wit.

Andy is survived by his parents, Bill and Barbara Hartzell of Paradise, CA; his brother Richard, of Ohio; and his sister Sheila, also of Paradise; as well as several nieces and nephews including Brittany, with whom Andy shared a special friendship.

His family and friends will host a memorial and celebration of Andy's life at the Swedenborgian Church at 2107 Lyon Street at 10:00 a.m. on Saturday, June 5.

Donations may be made in Andy's name to Ward 5A, S.F. General Hospital.

from Drexel University in Philadelphia, Herbert moved to Chicago and joined the marketing staff of Wells Fargo Security Systems, which transferred him to Northern California the following year. In 1983, he left Wells Fargo to join EKC Technology, Inc., in Hayward, where he was a product marketing manager.

Survivors include his parents, Edward and Florence Herbert of San Jose; a sister, Catherine Herbert, who moved only last week from Philadelphia to San Jose, where she works for Powell Electronics; two brothers, Edward Herbert of West Chester, PA; and David Herbert of St. Croix, U.S. Virgin Islands; and his beloved friend, Lance Hile of San Jose.

Services took place Thursday, July 15 at 11:00 a.m. at St. Jude's Episcopal Church in Cupertino. Internment will take place in Philadelphia.

The family has requested that in lieu of flowers, donations may be made in the name of Kenneth Herbert to the ARIS Projects, 595 Millich Drive, Suite 104, Campbell, CA 95008. ▼

WASKELL—Of Norwood, June 11, Darren L., beloved son of Donald L. and Carol (Goff) Haskell both of Norwood. Loving brother of Daniel L. of Norwood. Also survived by several aunts, uncles and cousins. Funeral from the Gillooly Funeral Home, 128 Walpole St. (Rte. 1A) NORWOOD, on Saturday, June 15 at 8 a.m. Funeral Mass in St. Catherine's Church at 9 a.m. Relatives and friends invited. Visiting hours Friday, 2-4 and 7-9. In lieu of flowers, donations in Darren's memory may be made to the AIDS Action Committee, 131 Clarendon St., Boston, MA. 02116. 93

John Lee Hoover

Nov. 1, 1952—June 4, 1993

John Hoover died quietly in his sleep on June 4 with his partner of five years, Doug Clevenger at his side. Although he had been sick for quite some time, his death came as a surprise to all of us who knew and loved him. John was the kind of friend that constantly offered an outstretched hand, a shoulder to cry on, or just a good story to make us laugh. We will miss his friendship.

He enjoyed a successful career as an Art Director at high profile agencies throughout Denver and San Francisco since 1979, including Foot, Cone & Belding, Ketchum Advertising and Hill & Knowlton. He also worked as an independent consultant, loaning his expertise to organizations such as the Names Project and the Gay Games.

We will miss his talent.

John leaves behind two loving families. His immediate family includes his parents, Robert and Rhea Hoover; brothers, Scott and Charles of Colorado; and sister, Vicky of Dallas. In addition to Doug Clevenger, John's extended family includes Leslie Morrison, Cathi Kamm, Paul Williams, Gail Kimmel, Robin Hidgkins, Kevin Burke, and Bill Ryan.

We will all miss John, but he will stay alive in our hearts forever. If you have anything to contribute to a memory book or would like to attend a celebration of John's life on July 18, contact Leslie at 984-6374.

The family requests that memorial contributions in John's name be made to the Names Project, 2367 Market St.,

Joseph Holloway

May 10, 1944—July 22, 1993

Early in the morning of July 22, 1993,

Joseph Holloway's life was stolen from him. An insidious plague of homophobia and government inaction stripped him of his dreams and forever ended his tomorrows.

A virus only destroys if it is left unchecked. A decade of presidents not only left the virus unchecked, but fanned a conflagration of ignorance, hate and ineptitude. In 1993, Joseph Holloway did not die from AIDS, he was murdered by it.

Now, Joseph, all we are left with are some ashes. We know they are not you. You were a good teacher and a gentle world traveler. We have learned our lessons. You would like that.

The kitchen's filled with fresh fruits and vegetables and rich, dark chocolates. You would like that, too. Here's to you, Joseph. We will remember. ▼

David Edward Hall

Sept. 15, 1955—April 11, 1993

David left us Easter Sunday. He grew up in Sioux City, Iowa, and graduated from Morningside College with a BS in physics, served as a U.S. Naval officer here and overseas, and went on to complete major work toward an MS in electronics. His aptitude for business and scientific software led to work in PC support analysis and LAN administration from 1981 to 1993. He sang in Civic Light Opera and in his church choir. He was also active on the BB's and at Trek conventions. He traveled widely around the U.S., Asia and Europe, never losing his unspoiled childlike delight in this world and its people. He is survived by his sister Lynne in Sioux City and his brother Gary in Alexandria, VA. Allen, Steven, Amy, Ruth, Dale, Richard, Frank, the Reeses, Jerome, Phyllis, Jerry, Julieann and many others miss him, but he is missed most by his companion and partner, Rigg. Correspondence should be sent to P.O. Box 5484, Walnut Creek CA 94596. Sweetest dreams, David, 'til we meet again somewhere in time. ▼

Rodolfo Hernandez

March 22, 1966

Jan. 10, 1993

Rodolfo Hernandez, a native of Bayamon Puerto Rico, passed away peacefully on Jan. 10 at 5 a.m. at San Francisco General Hospital Ward 5A from complications from AIDS.

Hernandez, who lived in San Francisco with his lover, fought an eight-month battle with high-grade, non-Hodgkins lymphoma.

He is survived by his lover, Terry; his parents, Lucy and Rodolfo R. Hernandez; his brother Edwin and sister Lucile; his "favorite aunt" Lus Maria; his paternal grandmother, Marjorie; aunts, uncles, cousins, familial neighbors and friends in San Francisco, Los Angeles, San Diego, Sacramento and England.

Hernandez was buried on Jan. 15 outside of San Juan, Puerto Rico.

He was an avid music and comedy fan and loved to repair all kinds of electronic equipment, according to his lover Terry.

Hernandez was a gay porn star and exotic performer under the name of Jose Armando and headlined in 1991 at the Campus Theatre. He also performed at the Tea Room Theatre from September 1991 through May 1992.

He was featured in more than 20 films including For Sale by Owner, Man Talk, M-Skins and Steel, Overseas Trade and Un-Gems.

"His sweet, gentle nature, gorgeous soft lips and erotic abilities will be missed all," said Terry.

HALL—Michael P. Died Saturday, November 23rd, at St Vincent's from complications due to AIDS. Age 35 years old. He was a ballet dancer with various companies including Harkness and ABT and also danced overseas. He is survived by his mother, Patty Hunter and step-father, Don, three brothers, Tommy, Billy, and Danny, and two sisters, Kathy McCurry and Christy Keohane. Services will be held in Springfield, MD. Donations may be made to GMHC. 1991

The Rev. Virgil Hall

1942-1993

Virgil's parents met, married and conceived him on Folsom Street in San Francisco. He always maintained that he had been searching for his roots ever since.

Preceded in death by his wife Susan Hall, former spouse of 12 years, the Rev. Richard Cutler, and survived by his wife Susan Hall, Virgil died of AIDS in London on March 14, 1993. In his own words, Virgil is now "dancing with the angels." Sue says, "He died as he had lived, in charge of God's destiny for him here on earth, clean and sober, and peacefully."

On June 25, 1972, he was ordained into the ministry of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) at the Rockefeller Memorial Chapel of Chicago Theological Seminary from which he was a graduate. He also attended Culver-Stockton College which is affiliated with the Disciples of Christ and served churches of that denomination in Quincy, IL; Blandinville, IL; Chicago; Grass Valley, CA; and San Francisco. In 1972 he served as dean of the American Community School in London, England. He also served as co-pastor of the Chinese Congregational Church in San Francisco. In 1980, Virgil was clergy counsellor for the alcoholism recovery program at St. Mary's Hospital.

A memorial service will be held in August at the Metropolitan Community Church of San Francisco. For further information, contact Paul Steindal at 567-9080. 50 yrs old

Richard Ray Hageman

June 13, 1953-Aug. 14, 1993

Richard passed at home in Occidental in the embrace of his best friend, Ed Earl McEnaney, after a long debilitating battle with AIDS.

Richard moved to San Francisco in the early '80s from Denver, then to Marin, and finally to the Russian River and Occidental area in 1987. He brought much joy and pleasure to those who knew him and understood his twisted sense of humor. He had a love for raising parrots and a great skill for carpentry and restoring antique furniture.

Richard will be buried in Ithaca, Nebraska, where he is survived by his parents, Ray and Vera, and his sister Linda. Special thanks to Face to Face, Marin AIDS Specialty Clinic, and ITHSS staff (especially Carl, Kathleen, Bruce, and Faith, who became part of our extended family) for their loving care and support. Please make any donations to Face to Face.

We will miss you little buddy. ▼

Don Hall, Songwriter And Singer, Dies at 44

8-26-93

Don Hall, a singer and songwriter who helped found People Taking Action Against AIDS, died on Thursday at St. Luke's-Roosevelt Hospital in Manhattan. He was 44 and had homes in Manhattan and Bellport Village, L.I.

The cause was AIDS, said his companion, Robert Starr.

In 1986, Mr. Hall and a group of friends in Bellport banded together to raise money for AIDS research. Their organization, which became known as People Taking Action Against AIDS, has raised $10 million. In 1990, as part of the group's work, Mr. Hall organized Ads Against Aids, signing up advertising agencies to create print and broadcasting campaigns about AIDS.

Mr. Hall was born in Jefferson, Tex. He graduated from Austin College in Sherman, Tex., in 1969. After a year of study at the Salzburg Conservatory in Salzburg, Austria, he began a career as a songwriter, singer and arranger in New York.

In addition to Mr. Starr, he is survived by a sister, Ronnie Davis of Jackson, Miss., and a brother, John, of Linden, Tex.

HARDWICK—Mark, 39, died November 17, 1993, at Saint Vincent's Hospital in Manhattan, after an extended illness, said his longtime companion, Mike Craver. A native of Texas, he attended Southern Methodist University in Dallas. A piano player and actor, Mr. Hardwick was a co-creator and original cast member of the Tony nominated Broadway musical "Pump Boys and Dinettes", and the Off-Broadway musical "Oil City Symphony", for which he received the Drama Desk and Outer Critics Circle Awards. He was also the musical director and arranger of the Off-Broadway musical "Smoke on the Mountain". Film credits include "Broadway Danny Rose", and "Men Don't Leave". He is survived by his mother, Virginia Hardwick, of Houston, TX, and three brothers, Herbert Hardwick of Hallsville, TX, and David Hardwick, and Alfred Hardwick of Houston, TX. Memorials may be made to The Mark Hardwick Music Scholarship Fund, c/o The First National Bank, Hughes Springs, TX, 75656.

Michael E. Hamilton

August 1, 1949—April 23, 1993

In honor of the passing of our beloved friend, Michael, a memorial observance will be held at Piedmont Park on Saturday, May 8th at 12:00 Noon.

Please call Kevin Connell at (404) 875-6029 for details.

Paul Hoffman

Paul Louis Hoffman, 56, of Lanham, Maryland, died Monday, September 20, 1993 at his home, of complications associated with AIDS, according to his longtime friend, Alex Quintana of Lanham.

Hoffman was born in Washington, D.C. He attended Randolph Macon Military School in Front Royal, Va., and graduated from Garfield High School in the 1950s. He received a bachelor's degree in the 1960s from George Washington University, and served in the U.S.

Army from 1963 till 1965.

Hoffman was chief engineer at radio station WGMS in D.C. from the mid 1960s until 1970. During that period he worked as an engineer at the Pier Nine restaurant in D.C. Hoffman then worked at the Lost and Found Restaurant in D.C. as an engineer from 1970 until 1990. As an engineer for the restaurants, he designed lighting systems and did repair work.

Hoffman's hobbies included working on computer programs and understanding how computers worked. Hoffman was also fond of his dog, Kaiser.

In addition to Quintana, Hoffman is survived by longtime friend, Carl "C.B." Arend of Lanham.

Hoffman's remains were interred at Congressional Cemetery in D.C. Friends and close relatives attended a private graveside service Sept. 23.

HALE—of Boston, Jesse J., on January 9, 1994. Memorial gathering for friends and family will be held at 1:00pm, Sunday January 23, at 9 Knight St., Sanford, Maine. In lieu of flowers donations may be sent in Jesse's name to Boston Living Center, 140 Clarendon St., Boston 02116. Arrangements by J.S. Waterman & Sons-Eastman-Waring Funeral Home of Boston.

HEARTZAN—Heather, Born March 1, 1981, passed away September 11, after a very long and courageous battle against AIDS contracted through blood transfusions at birth. Heather, in spite of her illness and medical difficulties was always cheerful, uncomplaining, considerate, loving and respectful of everyone she met. She touched us deeply and was wise beyond her years. She only saw goodness in people, ignoring their flaws. In turn people's lives were enriched by her ability to appreciate human nature and the world around her. She filled people's lives with joy. During her lifetime many individuals, too numerous to mention, contributed significantly to the quality of her life. Heather and her mother, Lori, express their deepest gratitude to Dr. Robert Lawrence for the most extraordinary medical attention, commitment, devotion, love and sensitivity that any patient could ask for. Dr. Lawrence sacrificed days off, evenings and early mornings to help Heather with her many questions, concerns and many medical needs. His patience and ability to comfort Heather will never be forgotten. Dr. Donald Kotler, his wife, Barbara, and son, Aron, and daughter, Dana have been a great source of support, joy and compassion to the entire family. We would also like to express our thanks to Sister Kathleen Fagen for her awareness, respect and understanding of Heather's situation. She committed herself to creating a healthy school environment which permitted Heather to pursue a normal childhood. The result was a child with a daily smile. Her brother, Morgan, while deeply saddened by the loss of his cherished sister, has committed himself to fight for AIDS awareness and to promote the sensitivity required to deal with the challenges faced by those who must deal with this overwhelming and devastating disease. No words can express the depth and breadth of the loss of Heather. She will be remembered daily by her mother, Lori. Heather gave her some of the happiest moments of her life. Services Tuesday, 10 AM, "Plaza Memorial Chapel," 91st St and Amsterdam Ave. In lieu of flowers, contributions to Heather Hertzanz Memorial Fund at the Marymount School, 1026 Fifth Ave, NYC, Attn: Sister Kathleen Fagen, would be appreciated. 73

HADLEY—Trevor, aka Daniel Pearl, age 43 on November 9, 1993. A librarian at the Museum of Modern Art and the Metropolitan Museum of Art. Survived by his mother Stephanie Pearl and many dear and loving friends. A Memorial Service will be held Friday, 7PM, Nov 19th at Frank E. Campbell, 1076 Madison Ave. at 61 St. Contributions in his memory may be made to AmFAR, 733 3rd Ave, 12th Flr, NY, NY 10017.

Paul C. Hearn, 38

Health outreach worker
8-18-93

Paul C. Hearn of Lynn, a health outreach worker, died of complications from AIDS Wednesday in the Hospice at Mission Hill. He was 38.

Mr. Hearn was born in Everett and was graduated in 1972 from Lynn Classical High School.

He was employed as an outreach worker for the Lynn Visiting Nurse Association for two years and previously had been a peer educator for the Institute for Family Living and Learning.

He was a member of Narcotics Anonymous and an HIV-AIDS educator for the American Red Cross and was on the speakers bureau of the AIDS Action Committee.

Mr. Hearn was also co-founder of Health Street, a program to help homeless and drug addicted people, and a volunteer at the My Brothers Table.

He leaves three sons, Paul C. 2d, Pierre and Anthony C., all of Lynn; a daughter, LaShiara Can'cel of Boston; his mother, Vera (Harris) Hearn of Lynn; and four brothers, Charles and Gerald, both of Lynn, John of Wrentham and Barry of Lawrence; and four sisters, Gayle Hearn of Chelsea, Lila Davis of Manchester, N.H., Francine Armstead of Middleton and Rosalyn Close of Lynn.

HOLMES—Of Boston, March 3rd, due to complications from AIDS, James B. Beloved son of Bradford Holmes of Wareham and the late Muriel (Edwards) Holmes. Dear brother of Richard Holmes of Taunton, Linda Crump of Alstead, N.H., Pamela Bond of Keane, N.H., Sally Anderson of Oklahoma City. Dear step-brother of Kathy McKenna of Somerville and Brad Holmes of Wareham. Funeral Services will be private. Donations may be made in Jim's memory to Hospice at Mission Hill, 20 Parker Hill Ave., Boston, MA 02120. Arrangements by Brady & Fallon Funeral Home, BOSTON. 75

John Richard (Rick) Hunter

Aug. 3, 1955-Jan. 24, 1993

Rick passed on in Winter Park, Florida, on January 24 in his sleep — the best way to go in my book. At his side was his family, making sure he was comfortable and loved right up to the very end of his year-long struggle with AIDS.

Rick loved his home in San Francisco, but remained very close to all of his family in Florida. Being well-traveled, he lived for a number of years in both Los Angeles and San Luis Obispo, and even lived for a time in Alaska near one of his brothers, working as part of a conservation corp. His eventual choice of career, however, was in the field of dental hygiene, which he practiced for several years at A People Oriented Dental Practice in San Francisco. He certainly taught me how to improve my smile.

Dearest Rick — you left behind so many people who love you. For as long as I live, you will always be a part of me and in my heart. Be at peace, until we meet again. I love you. ▼

Bruce Heath

March 8, 1953-May 23, 1993

Several months have passed since Bruce left his family here on earth. As time goes by, Bruce continues to look over us in his caring way. He took with him his warmth, his dry sense of humor, and a love of life that sustained him through many months of pain. We will miss this man who loved car racing, football, mechanics, as well as his talking "baby dinosaur" doll and his toy animals.

Bruce left behind special gifts of love to all he considered his family.

His loving mother, Fern Heath, was by his side throughout his final days and won the hearts of all of us there with her. Also by his side were his companion Larry Krammer, whom did more than any one person, could to give Bruce the love and peace he so wanted, his old friend Victor Hoosac, and his roommate Wayne Menger, whom Bruce had brought together, and a new friend, Wes Wallace, whom Bruce brought new strength and meaning. A very special man has left us; goodbye my friend, we miss you. ▼

Marc A. Hoskins, 34, died Aug. 12 from non-Hodgkin's lymphoma. He was a former legislative aide to former state Rep. Judy Kohler and had worked as a convention planner. He is survived by his partner, Michael Phillips, his parents, four brothers and his grandmother. 24

Tim Hagerman

Oct. 21, 1946-March 29, 1993

Tim passed away on the evening of March 29, at UC Medical Center. His sister Ann, and his dad Fred supported him at the end. Tim did not have to suffer very long; he had been diagnosed with PCP just four weeks ago. One of Tim's greatest passions was his record collection. He must have had over 20,000 45s, all organized, categorized and catalogued. He was the "music officianado" of the UCSF School of Dentistry's Office of Student Affairs, where he worked for the past 12 years. Tim's years in San Francisco were filled with visits to the Marin headlands, Golden Gate Park, and the Marina Green, where he enjoyed watching the sailboats, as he was an avid sailor himself. He truly loved and respected the outdoors. His love of country music drew him to the Rawhide, where he would kick up his heels and try his damndest to perfect those line dances! If not at the Rawhide, you could find him at Japantown Bowl, burning up the alleys.

Those of us who were acquainted with Tim could find him exasperating at times (and he was!), yet those of us who knew him more intimately saw a heart of gold and good intentions. Tim leaves behind his family in Los Angeles, and his "adopted" family at the Dental Office of Student Affairs. Although he was taken much too early in life, we are thankful that his suffering was short, and we hope that he has found peace. We will not forget you.

Tim's friends from the UCSF Office of Student Affairs-Dentistry. ▼

Gerald Hearn of Lynn, at 41, was a painter

Gerald W. Hearn of Lynn, a self-employed painter, died Tuesday at home of AIDS-related complications. He was 41.

Born in Everett, Mr. Hearn was a graduate of Lynn Classical High School. He lived in Lynn many years.

He was a volunteer for My Brother's Table and was a speaker for the AIDS Action Committee. Mr. Hearn was a member of HIV-AIDS Education for the American Red Cross and Healthy Streets.

He leaves his wife, Kathy (Finnigan); a son, Gerald W. Jr. of Lynn; his mother, Vera (Harris) of Lynn; three brothers, John of Wrentham, Charles of Lynn and Barry of Lawrence; four sisters, Lila Davis of Manchester, N.H., Francine Armstead of Middleton, Rosalyn Close of Lynn and Gayle of Chelsea.

Jack Wayne Hamm

Aug. 20, 1948-April 2, 1993

Jack died at Mt. Zion Hospital following a long battle with AIDS. He had been in reasonably good health until developing a B-Cell lymphoma five months ago.

Jack was from Colorado. He completed a college degree at Boulder and then moved to SF in 1971. He worked as a grocery clerk for Cala foods in the Haight. In 1977, he met his closest friend and companion, Mike. They began restoring Victorian flats in SF. Jack soon changed his occupation to that of a professional electrician and worked primarily for the gay community.

Jack will be remembered most of all for her generosity. Throughout the years, especially the AIDS epidemic, Jack would always help out friends and acquaintances both emotionally and financially. He offered many of his friends with advanced AIDS a comfortable and loving home environment in which to spend their last days. Jack was affectionately known as "mother."

Jack is survived by his mother, Reba; and father, Franklin; of Denver. Brothers Don and Rodney, and a sister, Dian Mathias; all of Colorado. Also his closest friend, Mike Casso of Guerneville, as well as numerous friends in SF, NY City, New Orleans, San Antonio, Galveston, and Berthoud.

Special appreciation has been expressed by the family for Daniel Hyland, who provided faithful care for Jack right up to the end.

As per Jack's will, there will be no services.

HART—Simon Markel, on February 11th, 1994, after complications due to AIDS. Devoted life partner of Wallace Colvard. Beloved son of Stanley and Barbara nee Markel. Dear brother of Charles and his wife, Dina. Loving uncle of Michael. Services Tuesday, 12 Noon, at the Plaza Funeral Home, 630 Amsterdam Avenue at 91st St. Interment Union Field Cemetery. The family will receive friends and relatives at their residence on Wednesday and Thursday.

HAMILTON—Richard (Dick), Of Manhattan, died Sunday, April 10, 1994 at his home from complications of AIDS. Cremation was at a New York Cremation Service. No services were held. He is survived by his brother Arnold Hamilton of Wauchula, Florida, and his sister Betty Stafford of Willoughby, Ohio and numerous nieces, nephews, cousins and close friends. Please direct contributions to the Lesbian and Gay Community Services Center, New York, New York, Gay Men's Health Crisis, New York, N.Y., or any organization that is dedicated to the welfare and health of gay men and lesbian women.

HOCH—James F., On May 8, of complications due to AIDS, Age 40. Dedicated partner of Shearman & Sterling. Loving son, brother, life partner, and friend to many. His achievements and contributions in life will survive his departure, and his love for and the joy he brought to his family, life partner, and friends will never be forgotten. Jim is survived by his mother Ann, his sister Catherine, his brother Thomas, and his life partner Michael E. Zega. Memorial service to be announced. Contributions may be made in his memory to Community Health Project, 208 West 13th Street, N.Y., N.Y. 10011

John Daniel Hanson

April 27, 1945-July 31, 1993

Dan passed away Saturday, July 31, from AIDS-related illness. Dan is survived by his mother, Myrna Sutton; brothers Mike and David, and many, many friends. Born in Santa Paula, California, ("lemon capitol of the world"), Dan moved to San Francisco early on in his life to study literature at San Francisco State and remained in the city until his last day. Reading was an integral part of Dan's life as he was never without an interesting quote or historical anecdote to share with others in his rich, resonant voice. Never mind that he was always the first to phone you with the latest from Liz Smith ("It's not that I'm a gossip, I just have the best information").

Dan loved the arts, flowers, travel, and his favorite feline, Daisy. He spent many springtimes and autumns visiting Paris, no doubt singing an old standard as he strolled down the street on his way to a museum. Stories from his travels were famous at the Pacific Cafe, where he worked as a waiter since its opening in 1974. At the cafe he was well known for his sharp wit, infectious laughter, and his rainbow collection of solid color shirts. It's difficult to say goodbye to Dan because he loved living so much. He will be greatly missed by his family, his friends, and his many loyal customers.

A special thanks to the wonderful people working at Davies Medical Center who took great care of Dan and who were so kind and helpful to his many visitors. Contributions in Dan's name may be made to any AIDS organization. A memorial honoring Dan will be held on Sunday, August 15, 1993. Please call 387-7091 after 4 p.m. for more information.

HOUGHTALING—In Dorchester, formerly of South Boston, January 8, Anna T. (Keady), beloved mother of Carol of Dorchester, Peter of So. Boston, Mrs. Mary Courtney of Stoughton, Joan Mullane/Pratt of Milton, N.H., Beloved daughter of the late Peter J. & Annie M. Keady, loving sister of Mrs. Agnes Rexroad of Somersworth, N.H., Mrs. Rosemarie Devine of Brockton, Mrs. Barbara McDonough of Quincy and the late John J. Keady. Devoted grandmother of Melissa and Katie Houghtaling, Sara, Megan, Kaitlyne Courtney, Jennifer Mullane, Danielle & Michael Pratt and the late Amy Courtney. Mother-in-law of Brian & Courtney of Stoughton and George Pratt of Milton, N.H. Funeral from the O'Brien Funeral Home, 146 Dorchester St. SOUTH BOSTON Thursday at 9 a.m. Funeral Mass at Gate of Heaven Church at 10 a.m. Relatives and friends invited. Visiting hours Wednesday, 2-4 and 7-9 pm. Interment New Calvary Cemetery, Mattapan. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made in Anna's memory to the V.N.A., Boston, 647 Summer St. Boston, MA 02210 or the Hospice of Mission Hill, 20 Parker Hill Ave., Boston, MA 02108.

HORAN—Of Quincy, March 22, William Timothy Horan. Beloved son of William T. Horan of Needham & the late Anna R. (Sullivan) Horan. Step-son of Elizabeth (Varley) Horan. Brother of Joan E. Leary of St. Louis, MO., Michael D. Horan of South Boston & Ellen Tsickritsis of Dedham, friend of Lawrence Cotton. Also survived by several nieces and nephews. Funeral from the George F. Doherty & Sons, Wilson-Cannon Funeral Home, 456 High St., DEBHAM, Saturday at 9 a.m. Funeral Mass in St. Ignatius Church, Chestnut Hill at 9 a.m. Relatives and friends kindly invited. Visiting hours Thursday 7-9, Friday 2-4 & 7-9. Interment St. Josephs Cemetery, West Roxbury. Expressions of sympathy may be made in Tim's memory to Positive Directions, Suite 805, 140 Clarendon St., Boston, MA. 02116

Scott Heiser, Leader And Innovator, 44, In Fashion Pictures 10-21-93

By RANDY KENNEDY

Scott Heiser, a photographer for Interview magazine and Paper magazine who was known for his surrealistic runway fashion shots in the late 1970's, died on Thursday at St. Luke's Medical Center in Manhattan. He was 44.

The cause was pneumonia, said his mother, Mary G. Heiser.

Mr. Heiser graduated in 1971 from the Rhode Island School of Design. At the school he met Marc Balet, who later became creative director of Interview magazine. In 1976 Mr. Heiser was hired to be a fashion photographer for the magazine.

His runway photos were minimalistic, often blurry and wildly cropped, sometimes showing very little of the clothing on display. "The moment wasn't captured by Scott Heiser so much as fashioned by him," Mr. Balet said.

Images of Staged Spectacles

In 1984 he began working for Paper magazine, a new monthly, taking photographs for articles and starting his own photo page, called "Another Clue," which he continued until his death. The photographs were usually grainy, abstract images of such staged spectacles as circuses, parades, beauty pageants or military drill teams. He often photographed dogs and horses.

His work was most recently in an exhibition at the Helander Gallery in SoHo called "Pet Show" and at the New York Public Library in a show called "New Acquisitions." From 1985 to 1988, he had exhibits sponsored by French Cultural Services.

His photographs are included in the permanent collections at the Smithsonian Institution, the National Museum of Fashion, the Museum of the City of New York, the Fashion Institute of Technology, the Brooklyn Museum and the New York Public Library.

HALLION—Of Franklin, accidentally, April 3, 1994. David M., 19. Beloved son of Michael J. and Josephine C. (Domenici) Hallion. Brother of Mark A. and Jacob R. Hallion both of Franklin. Grandson of Mary F. (Cornell) Hallion of Swampscott, Americo Domenici of Lake Worth, FL and Catherine (Bottiglieri) Domenici of Somerville. Late residence 472 Chestnut St. Relatives and friends are invited to attend his funeral Wednesday at 8:15 A.M. from the Charles F. Otter Franklin Funeral Home, 33 Cottage St., FRANKLIN, with a Funeral Mass in St. Mary's Church at 9 A.M. Interment St. Mary's Cemetery. Calling hours Tuesday 2-4 & 7-9 P.M. If desired, donations in his memory sent to the Museum of Fine Arts, 230 The Fenway, Boston, MA 02115 would be appreciated.

HOPE—Of Brockton, formerly of Medford, Carolyn Bobbie (Johnson). Beloved daughter of Helen Johnson and the late Chauncey S. Johnson. Devoted mother of Yvone Shaw, Ashanti Munir, Leslie, Darren, and Michael Hope. Sister of Dolores Harris and Pamela Burnette. Also survived by 11 grandchildren. Service at the Shish Baptist Church Holton & Bower St., Medford, Tuesday July 12, at 7:30 p.m. Friends may visit at the church from 6-7:30 p.m. In lieu of flowers memorial donations may be made to the Mission Hill Hospice, 20 Parker Hill Ave., Boston, MA. Arrangements by Beaks-Geake Golden Rule Funeral Home, MEDFORD.

SCOTT HALE—Harold of Boston Nov. 13. Beloved son of Cheryl C. Hale. Brother of Steven Hale & Don Clifton, Jr. Grandson of Harold & Doris Hale & a host of other relatives & friends. Services will be held on Thursday, Nov. 17 at the St. Luke Christian AME Zion Church, 1099 Blue Hill Ave., Dorchester. A viewing will be held at 6 p.m. Funeral service at 7 p.m. In lieu of flowers, donations can be sent in memory of Harold Scott Hale to the Joseph McAllester House c/o the AIDS Action Committee, 526 Mass. Av., Boston 02118 or to the Harold Scott Hale Scholarship Fund at St. Luke Christian Church in Dorchester, MA 02124.

George Hall

George Hall died in Honolulu on Wednesday, Oct. 13 of complications due to AIDS. George had been living in Hawaii for the past year with his lover Si Christian. Prior to moving to Hawaii, George lived in Boston for many years. Here he was known for his fine craftsmanship as a carpenter, and for his dedication to environmental issues.

George will be missed by a myriad of friends who, in their diversity, attest to his great humanity and his inexhaustible capacity to love. His easy manner, gentle demeanor, and unshakable loyalty endeared George to so many of us. George had an intuitive gift for 'rubbing souls.' His levity, vitality, and compassion are but a part of what we his friends will miss most.

George is survived by his lover Si Christian, his mother Joan Hall of North Reading, his father George Hall Jr. of Kingston, his sister Pam Peacock of California, and his brother David Hall of New Jersey.

Friends and family will gather for a memo-

44 Charles (Chuck) Hummer III, executive director of the Hope and Help Center of Central Florida, a resource center for people living with HIV, died Sept. 19 at age 32 of AIDS-related complications. His partner was Mark Steffy, also of Davenport.

HUTTE

Of Cambridge, July 22, Paul J. son of Virginia (Mello) Hutte and the late Charles Hutte. Brother of Richard Hutte of Londonderry NH, Virginia Payson of Cambridge, Lenora Rodrigues of Cambridge and Joan Higgins of Maynard. Uncle of Lyndsey Payson and Rory Payson. Funeral from the John J. Donahue & Son Funeral Home 66 Magazine St. CAMBRIDGE Monday July 25, at 8:15 A.M. Followed by a Funeral Mass in the Church of the Blessed Sacrament, Pearl St. Cambridge at 9:00 A.M. Relatives and friends invited. Visiting hours Sunday 7:00-9:00 P.M. In lieu of flowers contributions in his memory may be made to: The Hospice at Mission Hill 20 Parker Hill Ave Boston, MA 02120.

rial service to be held October 31st in the Friends Meeting House, 6 Chestnut Street (on Beacon Hill), at 3:00 PM.

JOHN HIGHTOWER, 38, an education supervisor with the Appraisal Institute, died Jan. 19 from AIDS complications. He worked in theatre in Champaign and Chicago. He is survived by his parents and two sisters.

HENDRICKSON—Peter Andrew

Died on Sunday, January 21. He was 44. A psychologist in independent practice in New York City and Woodstock, N.Y., he was the author of "Alive and Well: A Path for Living in a Time of HIV," a lecturer at New York University, and a consulting psychologist at Kennedy Child Study Center. He graduated from Princeton University in 1974 and received his Ph.D. from Boston College. He taught at the Integral Yoga Institutes and at education centers for many years. He was a frequent guest on the "Alive and Wellness" show on America's Talking cable TV network. He leaves behind his beloved parents John and Betty Hendrickson, his brother Robert Hendrickson, his sisters Mary Virtue and Nancy Hendrickson and their families; his porter Tim Allen and his family; his daughter Sarah McFarlane; & many friends & students who will miss him dearly. Memorial services in New York City and Woodstock, NY, will be announced.

LARRY HANSEN

March 4, 1995, age 42
Singer and actor who appeared on Broadway in Show Boat and Me and My Girl.

From the Book "Voices That Care"
Ida Hoffman Tested H.I.V. Positive in 2/87.
At the same time, her husband ARTHUR
Also tested positive. Ida took care of ARTHUR UNTIL his death on 11-7-89.

HOLDORF—Thomas, Davis, 38.

Died July 15 in New York City of AIDS complications following a long and courageous battle. He was an acclaimed professional photographer in New York City. Tom is survived by his lifetime companion, Tom Thomas, his parents Lois and Ted Holdorf, his brother Chris, sister-in-law Julie, niece Elizabeth, and nephew Christopher. The family requests in lieu of flowers donations to Friends In Deed, Gentle friend, creative visionary, and passionate lover of life, Tom is deeply missed by all whose lives he so generously touched. A September memorial service will be announced.

STEPHEN HUSA

May 3, 1994, age 36

Vice president of rental marketing for Buena Vista Home Video.

BENN HOWARD

Aug. 7, 1994, age 55

Administrator, dancer, and choreographer of the Elle Johnson Dance Co. in Los Angeles.

VICTOR LEO HEINEMAN

Feb. 27, 1994, age 40

Dancer appearing in television, movies, and nightclubs. Credits include the films Annie and Grease.

Brian Hoover

Brian D. Hoover, 43, died in his Washington, D.C. home on Thursday, February 3, 1994 of complications associated with AIDS, according to his friend, Bruce Wentworth of D.C.

Hoover was a commissioner on Advisory Neighborhood Commission 1-D, serving the Sheridan-Kalorama areas of Northwest D.C.

Hoover was born Oct. 6, 1950, in suburban Chicago. He attended Lyons-town High School in La Grange, Ill., and graduated in 1968. In 1973, Hoover graduated from Iowa State University at Ames. In 1981, he earned a master's degree in general administration from University of Maryland-College Park.

Hoover moved to D.C. in 1973 to work as an interior designer for W.J. Sloane. He was active with the American Society of Interior Designers (ASID) in the 1970s and '80s and was elected for two terms on its board of directors and served as its treasurer. At ASID, Hoover was involved in renovating the homes of low-income home owners for the organization's "Christmas in April" program. Hoover was also a corporate member of Interior Designers Educators Council.

In 1985, Hoover received an appointment to the interior design department of University of Maryland. He taught as a professor at the university until retiring on disability in 1991.

Also in 1991, Hoover was elected ANC commissioner. Among local political issues, Hoover was interested in city beautification. He personally restored the Spanish Steps and Fountain Park at 22nd and S streets, NW.

"He was personally responsible for planting 30 trees in our neighborhood" with the Trees for the City program, ANC 1D chair Marie Drissel said.

Before retiring, Hoover often visited his beach house in Rehoboth Beach, Del. He traveled extensively in Europe, especially England. His pet golden retriever, Ruff, is now in Wentworth's care.

Hoover's companion, Richard F. Robertson, died in 1987.

Earle Raymond Hopkins, 42, of Cambridge and Brewster, died May 26 in his Cambridge home following a courageous struggle with AIDS.

Born in Arlington, he was a 1970 graduate of Arlington High School, and later received his degree in architectural engineering from Wentworth Institute of Technology in Boston. He was employed for 17 years at Teradyne in Boston as a supervisor retiring last year due to illness.

Ray co-authored the book "Talk Back," a book about media advocacy. He was a founding member of the Cape Cod Lesbian, Gay and Bisexual Speakers Bureau, and the Gay Media Advocates in Boston. He joined the staff of the Gay Community News in Boston during its first year and later served on its board of directors. He remained active with the paper in all capacities until its last issue.

Ray was also a member of GLAD and the First Parish Church in Brewster. He was pre-deceased by his life partner Kent Haneline who died in 1993.

He leaves his mother Marion (Baldwin) Hopkins of Arlington; a sister Jean Lietz of Ada, Ohio; a niece Arlene Lietz of Arizona and his devoted friend David

Raymond Earle Hopkins

Peterson of Cambridge.

Funeral Services were held May 31 in Watson Funeral Home in Cambridgeport, with burial following in Swan Point Cemetery, Providence, R.I.

Remembrances in Ray's memory may be made to GLAD, P.O. Box 218, Boston, MA 02112, or First Parish Church, 1969 Main St., Brewster, MA 02631.

Stephen Edwin Hill

On Jan. 24, 1994 at 5:30 a.m., Stephen Edwin Hill passed from this earth after a courageous battle with AIDS. At his side, and left behind, were his soul mate and best friend, Brett Landry of Boston, Patti Maccini of Boston, mother and father, Helen and Ted Hill, and sister Christine of Lake Camel, NY, and sister and brother-in-law, Patricia and Ken Wemm of Guilford, CT. He will always be remembered and adored by the abundant love of many friends.

Stephen lived every day to its fullest, proud of who and what he was, regardless of what anyone thought, always carrying with him a wonderful sense of humor. Stephen's strong commitment to the gay and lesbian community started with BAGLY in 1983, the Pride Committee, ACT UP, Queer Nation in San Francisco, the March on Washington, where his proudest accomplishment was being arrested on the Supreme Court steps, and ending with his volunteer work with the AIDS Action Committee's Speaker's Bureau.

Memorial services will be held on Sun., Feb. 13 at 12 noon at 888 Great Plain Ave., Needham, MA. (Joey Quinan's house). In lieu of flowers, all contributions can be made to the National Archives of Gay & Lesbian History or to the Boston Alliance of Gay & Lesbian Youth — "So that we may honor our past and secure our future."

HOFFMAN—Karl R., M.D., a doctor of internal medicine at St. Luke's-Roosevelt Hospital died November 11 of AIDS-related illness. He was 50 and lived in Manhattan and Goshen, N.Y. Dr. Hoffman graduated from the University of Dayton and UCLA Medical School. He is survived by his life partner, Basil Fattell of Manhattan. A memorial service will be held on Dec. 1 at 4 PM St. Michael's Church, Amsterdam Ave bet 99th and 100th Sts in Manhattan. Contributions are accepted in his name at God's Love We Deliver, a charitable organization providing meals to people with AIDS.

HOM—Of Boston, Jan. 6. Mrs. Ha Chee Hom, beloved wife of You Dung Hom, loving mother of Cathy Lee of Quincy, Doris Chin of Boston and Eddie Hom of Boston. Dear grandmother of Christopher and Brian Lee. Both of Quincy. Beloved daughter of Mrs. Kam Yet Moy of Boston and the late Chuan Moy. Funeral from the Brady & Fallon Funeral Home, 10 Tower St., (Opposite Forest Hills MBTA Sta.), FOREST HILLS, on Tuesday, Jan. 10 at 11 A.M. Relatives and friends are invited. Visiting hours Monday 6-9 P.M. Interment Forest Hills Cemetery, in lieu of flowers, donations in Mrs. Hom's memory may be made to the Hospice at Mission Hill, 20 Parker Hill Ave., Boston, MA 02120.

HOFFMAN—John Reed, on December 26, 1994. Beloved of Simon O'Hanlon, Adored son of Irene (nee Fishman) and the late Newman Hoffman. Brother of Melissa Purzyki. Cousin of Nancy Mandel and Sanford Drexler. Nephew of Shelley Drexler. Memorial services on Wednesday, December 28, 1994 at 1:30 PM at Frank E. Campbell, 1076 Madison Avenue at 81 Street, NYC. In lieu of flowers, contributions in his memory may be made to the Hoffman Fund, People With AIDS Health Group, 150 West 26th Street, NYC 10001.

HALL—Remy, Writer, translator, businessman, died peacefully at home in Brooklyn, N.Y. Dec 26, 1994. He is survived by his mother Jeannine of Lewes, England; brothers Peter of Breaky Bottom Vineyard and Patrick of Heathfield, England, and their families; his life-partner Ronald Nojman; and many friends. Requiem Mass Thursday, Dec 29th, 10:30AM, St. Boniface Church, Duffield and Wiltoughby Sts., east of Bklyn Borough Hall. A Memorial Service will also be held, to be announced. Call (718) 260-9683. In lieu of flowers, donations in Remy's name may be made to The Hetrick-Martin Institute, 2 Astor Pl, NY, NY 10003.

Cornelius "Con" Hamel died in his home in St. Cloud, Minn., on July 11 from AIDS complications. He was 35 and a professor of Spanish literature at the College of St. Benedict's in St. Joseph, Minn. Con lived in Chicago for several years while pursuing his Ph.D at the University of Chicago.

Blade photographer Doug Hinckle dies

by Lisa Keen

Washington Blade staff photographer Doug Hinckle succumbed to AIDS at his Capitol Hill home on Thursday, February 3, at the age of 55. Through his seven years of photographing people and events for the newspaper, Hinckle became one of the most familiar figures in the local Gay community. When he wasn't consumed with the demands of visually documenting a growing and increasingly busy community, he concentrated on his first love, art photography, winning a number of awards.

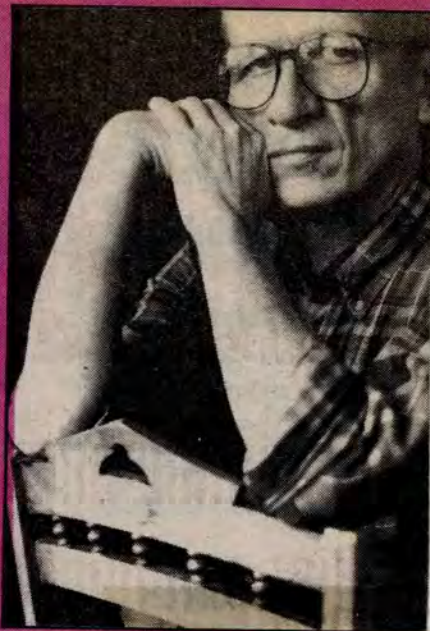

Douglas Shannon Hinckle Sr. was born July 14, 1938, in Hagerstown, Md. He was raised in the small rural community of Hancock, Md., the son of a grocer.

He earned a bachelor of arts degree from Shepherd College in Shepherdstown, West Va., in 1960, then studied music education at Catholic University. He taught music in Prince George's County public schools from 1960 until 1979.

In an interview with the Blade in July 1992, Hinckle said he did not realize he was Gay until he was in his 30s. After graduation from college, he married a college girlfriend, Delores Colick, and had two children, Doug and Allison. The marriage ended in divorce in 1970.

Hinckle continued teaching music until 1979, when he moved to California to start a new life and a new career in photography. It quickly became his passion. He studied art and photography at the Laguna Beach School of Art and the Otis/Parsons School of Design in Los Angeles. The following year, his work was on display in five different exhibits, in California, New York, and Arizona. He won a first-place award for photography from the Laguna Beach Museum of Art's annual membership show and an honorable mention at

Photographers' Forum magazine chose one of these portraits — of Gay activist Stephen Smith — for its award-winning Best of Photography 1991 edition.

Although diagnosed with AIDS in 1988, Hinckle kept up with the rigorous pace and physical demands of being a news photographer. Even when he had the option of delegating assignments to freelancers, he more often than not did the work himself.

"He had a kind of tireless devotion to raising the standards of Gay photojournalism to that of the mainstream press," said Smith. "He worked, and worked, and worked — it showed a commitment not only to himself and his job but to the Gay community as a whole."

When Hinckle "retired" in January 1992, he cited a desire to spend more time on his creative photography and his failing health, but he continued doing freelance assignments for the Blade, as his health permitted.

In the July 1992 interview in the Blade, he acknowledged having pushed himself to exhaustion as a news photographer while feeling more and more compelled to do art photography.

One longtime friend, Nancy Loyd, said Hinckle "lived his life on his own terms."

"If he saw something that didn't suit him," she said, "he changed it and spoke his mind about it." In his retirement years, he spent time with friends, going to the beach and "junking," said Loyd. She said Hinckle had acquired a considerable collection of black panther and chalk figures, and saucer pots from the 1940s and 1950s.

Continued from page 1

American Vision 1980, a national juried photography exhibition at New York University's 80 Washington Square East Galleries. In 1981, his work was up in four more exhibits, in California and New Jersey, winning first place for photo essays from the Los Angeles Gallery of Creative Arts annual photographers competition and exhibition.

In December 1982, tragedy struck. Hinckle's 20-year-old daughter Allison was killed in an automobile accident.

"It's one of the worst experiences," Hinckle told an interviewer. He had been open about his sexuality and enjoyed a warm relationship with both his children.

Hinckle soon moved back to the east coast, settling in D.C. and working as a freelance photographer. He began work for the Blade fulltime in 1984 through a vocational program for artists sponsored by the D.C. Arts Commission. He quickly established his reputation with readers through a series of riveting photographs in 1985 of a local attorney dying from AIDS. The attorney, Ray Engebretsen, had agreed to interviews about his experience with AIDS — he was one of the first 50 cases in the D.C. area at the time — but he was initially reluctant to be photographed, since his body had already been devastated by his illness. Hinckle, who was always careful to demonstrate his respect for the subject of his photos, worked patiently with Engebretsen throughout the six-month series and produced a dramatic depiction of the disease's effect.

"It was such a pivotal moment in our local community when those photographs appeared," said Jim Graham, executive director of the Whitman-Walker Clinic. "To see Doug's picture of Ray in an advanced stage of the disease ... spoke volumes. That whole image was very powerful and pivotal in how our community began to see this disease."

"Doug was such a gentle man, and such a gentle photographer," said Graham. "Watching him work over the years, just the soft ways in which he would capture an image — that's the thought that comes to mind about Doug."

In his news work over the years, he photographed the famous, the infamous, and the ordinary — from Elizabeth Taylor and Audre Lorde to the 1987 and 1993 national marches on Washington for Gay civil rights and the mammoth protests outside the U.S. Supreme Court and the Food and Drug Administration.

"Doug had the ability to capture not only some of our greatest political moments but to do it in an artistic way," said Peri Jude Radevic, executive director of the National Gay and Lesbian Task Force.

"[Doug] met even the most challenging photo assignments with determination and always came away successful," said Blade publisher Don Michaels. "I've met few other people in life who pursued their craft with such zeal and perfection, yet with such humility."

In addition to his news work, he initiated his own weekly photographic feature, "In Focus," in which he created portraits of people in the Gay community, both famous and unknown. In 1991,

David V. Huntley

Music Executive, 47

David V. Huntley, a vice president of the music publishing firm Boosey & Hawkes, died yesterday at Cabrini Medical Center in Manhattan. He was 47 and lived in Manhattan.

He died after a long illness, a spokesman for the company said.

Mr. Huntley joined Boosey & Hawkes in 1976, becoming promotion manager in 1980 and a vice president in 1986. He was influential in signing many well-known composers, including Steve Reich, Christopher Rouse and John Adams, who dedicated his Violin Concerto to him.

Since 1980, Mr. Huntley had been a member of the Performance Committee of the Music Publishers Association of the United States, and was chairman of the committee for several years. He was also an artistic adviser to the New York City Ballet's 1988 American Music Festival.

He is survived by his parents, Frances and Roy Huntley, of Phoenix, N.Y., and a sister, Helen, of Oswego, N.Y.

TED HOOK

July 19, 1995, age 65

Dancer who appeared in hundreds of films, including Some Like It Hot, and later became a restaurateur.

William D. Hinz Jr.

Feb. 12, 1957-June 21, 1994

Bill died peacefully at his home in Fremont at 4 a.m. Tuesday morning. By his side was his lover, friend and confidant of nine years. Bill is also survived by his mother, sister, father and many loving friends and family.

Born in Ann Arbor, Mich., he majored in flute and minored in restaurant management. His senior year in H.S. he toured in Europe for the summer as a flautist. Later he played with the Honolulu Symphony for a year. Afterwards he moved to Phoenix, Ariz., and became assistant food and beverage manager for Ramada Inns. In 1984 he was transferred with Ramada to S.F. From 1985-86 we were both involved with the G.S.L., but then moved in 1987 to the South Bay. In 1989 Bill left the restaurant business and went into selling and programming computers. In mid-1990 we moved to Fremont.

These last two years, Bill was unable to work, but he became involved with Tri-City Health Centers to speak and educate about AIDS awareness. He spoke at Hayward CSU, Ohlong College, local high schools, Washington Hospital and to future/present home care workers. He wanted to contribute and educate in whatever way possible.

A gathering was held June 25. Any donations may be made to Tri-City Health Centers of Fremont, the VNA and Hospice, AmFAR or any AIDS organization.

He is no longer in pain and he will be dearly missed, especially by me his lover — lifelong companion, Neil. ▼

Steven M. Hagen

Steve Hagen, 37, a long-time resident of Boston's South End, died Friday, April 15 at the Hospice at Mission Hill of complications from AIDS.

Born in Newton Sept. 25, 1955, he grew up in Cumberland, Rhode Island, moving to Boston in his mid-twenties. He became a bartender at the Boston Eagle. For the past nine years, he has been a popular bartender at Chaps. According to Chaps' Bobby Costello, "Steve will be missed by all of us. His quick wit with an edge will be long remembered."

Steve was a familiar figure in Boston as he often walked his pet Vietnamese pot-bellied pig, "Bacon," through the streets of Back Bay.

He leaves his two sisters, Betsy and Karen, and his brother Jack and many friends in the Boston area.

HARRIS

Kenneth A. departed this life on Monday September 5, 1994. He is survived by his loving mother Mrs. Lessie Harris; his devoted fiancée Ms. Rebecca Pemberton and her son Earl; his daughter Danielle and son Larry; his brothers Ronnie, Roosevelt, Stacey & Anthony of Boston and Brett of Pittsburg PA; his sisters Loretta, Anita, Patricia, and Latasha of Boston, Vivian of Dallas TX, and Pamela of Cincinnati OH; nine two sister-in-laws Georgia and Paula; nine nieces and nephews and a host of relatives and friends. Visiting hour 10:00-11:00 A.M. Funeral Service 11:00 A.M. Saturday September 10th, at Morning Star Baptist Church. In lieu of flowers please make donations to: The Hospice at Mission Hill 20 Parker Hill Ave., Boston MA 02115. Interment Oak Lawn Cemetery. Arrangements by the Bullock Funeral Home, MATTAPAN.

Ray Hamilton Jr.

Jan. 15, 1958-July 17, 1994

Ray died peacefully with his mother, Angie Wansaw; brother, Bret Hamilton; and partner, Ron Masker, near him. He came to San Francisco to be with his partner in April 1991 from Westfield, N.J. He was known for his wonderful sense of humor, kindness, joy for life, and fabulous cooking.

He will be greatly missed by all who knew him. Donations in Ray's memory can be made to Project Open Hand or AIDS Benefits Counselors.

A memorial service is to be held at MCC, 150 Eureka (between 18th and 19th), on Saturday, July 23, at 5 p.m. A potluck gathering will follow the service at 121 Dolores St. #6. For more information call 252-1522. ▼

John Edward Head, 41, died July 5 from AIDS complications. He was active in the National Association of People with AIDS, the South Side HIV Caucus, BROTHERRS and the Leadership Forum, and helped form the North-eastern Illinois HIV/AIDS Case Management Cooperative. Born in Mississippi, he came to Chicago following the death of his parents. He received an Associate degree from Truman College, and a Bachelor of Science in Accounting from Roosevelt U. Active in Faith Tabernacle Baptist Church, he was a social worker at Cook County Hospital. 94

Larry A. Healy

July 16, 1994

I'm sorry to announce the passing of a wonderfully sweet man. Larry Healy died July 16 after a valiant fight with AIDS. Larry, Rose and I, your family, friends and students miss you so much. May all the languages of the universe be yours. Adieu, sweet one. Until we meet again. I love you -

Laverte aka Mac.

Please feel free to send a card to Larry's mom, Rose Healy, c/o L.S. McDonald, 173 Haight St., No. 102, SF, CA 94102. ▼

Eugene Hurd, 42

Co-owner of Oasis Guest House

Eugene Carol Hurd, 42, died December 17 suddenly after a brief hospitalization. He lived with his life partner, Joseph Haley, at 22 Ederly Rd., where they owned and operated the Oasis Guest House.

The Oasis is widely known for its hospitality to gay men, though it also serves the general public. Gene added charm and character to the Oasis, where he decorated lavishly, bringing color and art to every view. His decorations include the statuettes of camels and other animals that he made and collected.

Gene was a graphic designer, and had owned a Christmas decorations store, Yuletides, with locations in Provincetown and Copley Place. He designed decorations that were sold across the country.

Friends remember the Madison, Maine, native for his quick wit and wry sense of humor. He is survived by his parents Duane and Carol Hurd, of Florida, formerly of Rockland, Massachusetts, his brothers Stephen and James Hurd, and a sister, Dana Holt, as well as many nieces and nephews.

A funeral was held Dec. 21 at J.S. Waterman & Sons Funeral Home, with burial at St. Peter's Cemetery in Provincetown. Memorial donations may be made to the Fenway Community Health Center.

Joseph Haley will continue to operate the Oasis, where a large holiday wreath, one of Gene's creations, is a reminder to Gene's neighbors of his ability to beautify the neighborhood. —Galen Gilbert

B. W. Honeycutt

1-13-94 Art Director, 40

B. W. Honeycutt, art director for Details magazine, died on Thursday at his home in Manhattan. He was 40.

His family said he had been ill for a long time.

Mr. Honeycutt began his magazine design career at GQ. He then worked for Vanity Fair and later became art director of Spy magazine. He taught editorial design at the School of Visual Arts in New York City.

He received many awards for his art design, including recognition from the Society of Publication Designers, the American Institute of Graphic Arts and the Art Directors Club.

He also wrote articles for How and Baseball magazines.

Mr. Honeycutt was born in Franklinton, N.C. He attended the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

He is survived by his mother, Miriam Gonella Honeycutt of Franklinton; a brother, John Thomas, of Wake Forest, N.C., and two nieces.

Russell Joseph Hesse

Nov. 7, 1954 - Feb. 2, 1994

On February 2, Russell died after a brief acute illness.

Russell lived at Peter Claver Community, a residential community for people with AIDS who want to live the last part of life to the fullest.

Russell dedicated the last year of his life to doing his part to ensure that his home was a nice experience for all. He always took new residents under his wing. He was always available to listen, and we heard his loud, rich laughter booming throughout the building daily. He was always careful not to hurt the feelings of others.

Russell's death came suddenly and with little warning. He was with us going full steam ahead; a few days later he was gone.

His 31 adopted brothers and sisters at Peter Claver are in shock, as is his very special longtime friend, Lewis Willoughby.

He is survived by his family: his nephew, Joshua, whom he especially loved; his mother and stepfather, Catherine and George Hesse; his sister and brother-in-law, Georgetta and Steve; and brothers, Allan and George. He will be interred at Riverside National Cemetery, Riverside, California.

His San Francisco friends, Helen Goldstein and Lewis Willoughby, held a memorial service at Peter Claver Community on February 9. Contributions may be made in Russell's name to Peter Claver Community, 1340 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco, CA 94115, or Project Open Hand, 2720 17th Street, San Francisco, CA 94110. ▼

Bruce Patrick Higgins

Sept. 9, 1953 - June 27, 1994

Bruce Patrick Higgins died peacefully on June 27, 1994, in the arms of his lifetime partner, Tony Maalea Umpad. Bruce was comforted in his long battle with AIDS by his parents, Earl and Pat; his brother, David; sisters, Debbie and Pam; and friends, Paul and Oz.

Bruce attended USF and graduated summa cum laude with a degree in philosophy. He was a talented artist and writer. Bruce worked for the judicial courts in Hawaii and later served as an operations manager for Chevron in San Francisco. He also served as a eucharistic minister in Honolulu and at St. Mary's Cathedral in San Francisco.

Bruce will be missed and remembered by his family and friends as a loving, giving and caring human being with a quick wit and a great sense of humor.

A gathering of his loved ones was held Sunday, July 3. Donations in Bruce's name may be made to Kaiser Hospice in San Francisco. ▼

HOERMANN—Richard Francis was born in Newark, New Jersey on October 1, 1954 and died of AIDS complications on February 27, 1994. The middle of three sons, he moved to Brooklyn for college and then lived the rest of his life in New York City. Richard's unusual talents were evident early on, with his first watercolor show at the tender age of three. Educated at George Washington University and with a BFA in painting from the Pratt Institute in Brooklyn, Richard was also a recipient of a Pollock-Krasner Foundation Grant in 1989. A familiar figure in the East Village art scene for many years, Richard's savage style of Neo-Expressionist figurative painting earned him a place among the "New Inscrubles" showcased in Arts Magazine in 1985. In his art Richard tackled the larger questions like Heaven and Hell, Sin and Redemption, Suffering and Euphoria. His works have been exhibited and collected internationally. His spirit was too pure to be sullied by the world of contemporary art dealers, and although he did work constantly throughout his career, he will be most remembered by his friends at Piezo Electric and Limbo Galleries. Incapable of the duplicity required for corporate advancement, his encyclopedic knowledge of Art later earned him the weak title of Assistant Curator. Aside from his formal oil works, Richard was able to find beauty in what the world generally discards as the ugly and homely object, and in many of his recent non-figurative works he rearranged the detritus of American culture in his own style and in the process reinvented his take on the American dream. He worked in media such as film, sculpture, photo lithography, watercolors, collage, charcoal and even clothing. His murals decorated such clubs over the years as Club 57, The Pyramid Lounge, Danceteria and most recently the Rox. As an AIDS activist he contributed his artistic talents to ACT UP, most notably to the "Buy Your Lies Here" campaign against the New York Times. He was shocked by what he considered to be the stifling and archaic laws of American society which would prevent him from acknowledging his life-mate in a legitimate and legal relationship. In his will he wrote "I renounce the Roman Catholic Faith which has to my mind impeded deliberately the cure of HIV disease and the essential education of Americans and people worldwide to prevent infection. I saw thirteen close friends die before the Government had the courage to utter the word AIDS. It has been stated that President Reagan and Pope John Paul II joined in partnership to Break the Eastern Block. I wonder if "family values" and Denial towards AIDS issues in America were seeded in the same meeting. I will not be passed into the hands of those I consider responsible for my death. I will allow my soul to find God and Heaven for itself." Richard himself was a rare gem who brought delight to those whose lives he touched. As a male and companion who was much loved and cherished for five wonderful years by his unconventional family of one "Hortense" and Eddie Pooper the dog (and of course "Grandpa"). A memorial gathering will be held at St. Marks Church in Manhattan on 2nd and 10th St. at 1:00 P.M. next Sunday, March 13th. Harry Kaplan

HABERLIN—John Mark. In San Francisco, February 5, 1995, of complications related to AIDS. Beloved life partner of Charles Kevin Worth, RN. Devoted son of Betty Haberlin (Young) of Longmeadow, MA, and the late James Haberlin. Cherished brother of Thomas Haberlin and brother-in-law of Kathy. Fond uncle of Kerry and Kimberly. Aged 42. Also survived by loving and supportive friends Elaine Ercolini and Sean Conley, Richard Merritt and Kurt Steinwascher, Steven Matthews, Aileen Stirling, Elizabeth Pierce and David Helbraun. An attorney, John was a 1987 graduate of Hastings College of the Law of the University of California, and a 1977 summa cum laude graduate of the University of Massachusetts at Amherst. "To live in hearts we leave behind is never to die."

Michael Don Harris

Aug. 31, 1948 - Feb. 4, 1994

Michaelangelo, the King of Drag, passed from this world on Friday, February 4, joining the ranks of great artists taken by AIDS.

In the '70s, Michael studied at the Otis Parsons School of Design and worked as an illustrator for Disney Studios. He appeared in several motion pictures, including Xanadu, Thank God It's Friday, and Never Too Young To Die. Michael became one of LA's leading disc jockeys, spinning records at Gino's and The Sugar Shack. He also worked as a dancer and choreographer with some of the biggest stars of the time.

Michaelangelo was best known for outrageous costumes, flawless makeup, and his incredible stage presence. He created two drag groups. The first was the Cosmetics in LA, who performed at Circus Disco and at Peanuts between 1977 and 1988. The second group was Shock Treatment in San Francisco, who performed at Just Rewards in Walnut Creek, Colossus, the End Up and El Rio in San Francisco.

Michaelangelo was a Club Goddess; many a young boy (or girl) worshipped at the feet of the fluorescent, Mohawked "Miss Universal Radio." She will be missed by the many friends she has made and influenced over the years.

He is survived by his mother, Wanda Rumford in Washington, and by his many drag daughters whose lives and careers he has helped shape.

A celebration of his life will be held at JR's in Walnut Creek on February 24 at 8 p.m. Memorial gifts may be sent to Zen Hospice Project at 273 Page Street, SF, CA 94102. ▼

Thomas Hinckley, 50

Self-employed photographer

Thomas Morse Hinckley, a photographer, died of complications from AIDS last Friday in St. Vincent's Hospital in New York City. He was 50.

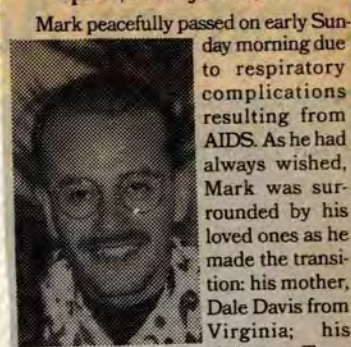

Mr. Hinckley was born in Boston and raised in Acton. He graduated from the University of Vermont and taught English at Thompson Academy on Thompson Island in Boston for a year before moving to New York City in 1968.

A self-employed photographer, he did work in print and television, advertising in New York.

He leaves his mother Sarah (Morse) Hinckley of Southwest Harbor, Maine; a sister, Sarah of Seattle; two brothers, Dan of Switzerland and John of Burlington, Vt.; and his longtime companion Vincent Pomilio of New York City.

Mark Anthony Herrera

April 5, 1961 - Jan. 30, 1994

Mark peacefully passed on early Sunday morning due to respiratory complications resulting from AIDS. As he had always wished, Mark was surrounded by his loved ones as he made the transition: his mother, Dale Davis from Virginia; his lover and companion of 10 years, Terry Herold; his caregiver, devoted friend and soulmate, Michael Ross; and his very special friend; Armel Crocker. Mark's father, Ralph Herrera, came in from Texas the next day. Mark was bright, handsome, brave, and only 32 years old. He joins his lover, John Schmuck, who passed on last March. Mark's journey through life was intense, fast, courageous and tragic, but always full of fun and excitement. He truly lived life with love and to its fullest. Mark was born in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, and spent his early years in Wisconsin. After high school and college, Mark moved to Texas, where he met the three men in his life. Mark met Terry in Austin in 1984, and they were off on a wonderful journey together: first to Dallas, then to Houston, then back to Dallas, then, of course, to California. Mark knew he would live in San Francisco and moved to the Castro in 1989, close to the shops and the men.

Mark was deeply saddened and angered by the suffering and loss of John and others to AIDS. He was very strong in his own fight and came to terms with many issues in his life. He said our lives would never be the same once we met. How right he was. He will be deeply missed and never forgotten by many people whose lives he touched. ▼

Former Chicago resident, Frank Hill, 60, a designer and former antique shop owner, died of liver cancer May 14 in Los Angeles. He is survived by Bruce Irwin, his companion of 14 years. 74

HOETZNER—Gjovind J. Age 63, on May 27, 1994, in Key West, FL, after a long battle with AIDS. Born in Castlewood, SD, August 25, 1930. Graduate of George Washington University, Washington, D.C.; Lieutenant U.S.M.C. Following Foreign Service/USIS postings in East Pakistan (Bangladesh), worked in public relations for CIBA/GEIGY, and design firm of Massimo Vignelli. He founded his own design studio, Incentra International Inc. in N.Y. in 1969. Produced publications and maps for Barnard College, Cushman and Wakefield and many other corporate and non-profit clients. June 1980 established Incentra Village House in N.Y.; April 1992 established Incentra Carriage House Inn in Key West, Florida. Survived by his sister Margery O'Brien and brother-in-law Joseph of Portland, OR; companion Lelah F. Hlick of N.Y.C.; goddaughter Anna and godson Michael; dear friends Barry, Skip, Homer, Steve, Barbara, Bobby, Joshua, Sally; and many devoted relatives, friends and business associates in S.D., N.Y., N.J., Key West, Portland, etc. Memorial will be announced. Donations to Village Nursing Home, Housing Works, or other AIDS or homeless related institutions.

Rosie's Place marks 20th, cites 6 women

By Gloria Negri
GLOBE STAFF

Rosie's Place, the country's first shelter for homeless women, celebrated its 20th anniversary last night by citing five women as "unsung heroines" for the examples they have set, and naming an attorney for the elderly as recipient of its Lifetime Community Achievement Award.

Laura Monroe is chief lawyer at Greater Boston Elderly Legal Affairs, where, as a specialist in housing law, she fights the displacement of elderly tenants.

In giving her its Lifetime Award, Rosie's Place noted that "Laura frequently testifies before legislative bodies in behalf of her clients, in support of anti-displacement laws such as condominium conversion protection and rent control."

One recipient of the "unsung heroines" awards was the late Christyne Howard, 31, who was the first resident of Rosie's Place housing for women with the virus that causes AIDS. Before she died in November,

Howard spoke publicly for three years "against the stigma felt by women of color infected with the HIV virus."

The four other award recipients are Dr. Joan Lebow, a primary-care physician for homeless people in Boston; Meizhu Lui, coordinator for the Boston Health Access project of Health Care for All; Paula Santio, a nurse at the South End Community Health Center; and Mercedes Tompkins, who founded Casa Myrna, a shelter for battered women in the South End.

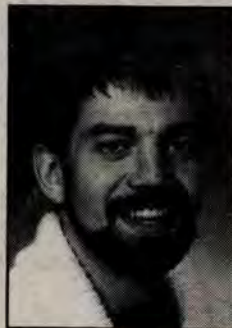

BROCKTON H. HOLM

June 30, 1959 - August 10, 1995. As your loving partner I will always love you. Your gentle passing to the spirit world has been the greatest honour and a precious gift I will treasure 'til we meet again and forever. Your family, friends, colleagues and I are all missing you deeply. Love for infinity. Richard Jenkins.

Robert Haynes

Robert E. Haynes, 33, succumbed to complications from AIDS on Wednesday, June 29, 1994, at the Hospice of Washington, according to his friend and roommate, Jim Homanich.

Haynes was an avid gardener, Homanich said, and worked as a floral designer at several Washington, D.C., florists, the most recent being Amaryllis — A Flower Shop on Calvert Street.

"He was very well known in the flower business," Homanich said. "He was considered very creative."

Originally of Binghamton, N.Y., Haynes began working as a floral designer in Ohio at the invitation of Ken Merrill, an owner of Wilson's Florist in Columbus. Haynes moved to D.C. in the early 1980s.

Aside from Amaryllis, some florists Haynes worked with in Washington include Blackstone Florist and Angelo Bonita, owner of the former Washington Harbor Flowers.

Bonita, who now owns Floral Events Unlimited, said he remembers Haynes, whom he worked with for about four years, as "a most talented and energetic floral activist."

Haynes is survived by his mother, Gloria Dayton of Greene, N.Y.; a sister, Cheryl Marsh of Bloomingburg, N.Y.; a brother, Steve Haynes of Newburgh, N.Y.; Merrill of Columbus, Ohio;

PAUL HARDMAN,

72, who founded the only gay American Legion post in the U.S., died Jan. 5 during surgery in San Francisco. He founded the Alexander Hamilton Post #448 of the American Legion. ... Sculptor and photographer

Wendell Harvey

Wendell Jerome Harvey, 36, of Washington D.C. died Sunday, April 24, 1994 of AIDS related complications at the Whitman-Walker Clinic Curtis White House, according to longtime friend, Lafonn Knight of D.C.

When Harvey moved to D.C. in 1989, he became a volunteer at Whitman-Walker Clinic.

"Wendell was an unassuming and lovable young man who worked for his fellow people with AIDS," said the Clinic's Executive Director Jim Graham.

Harvey volunteered for the Clinic's Sunye Sherman AIDS Education Services and Bill Austin Day Treatment and Care Center. He also volunteered for the

Randolph Y. Hart

August 19, 1994

I regret to inform all of Randolph Hart's friends that he passed away in his sleep at 7:10 p.m. on Friday, August 19, due to AIDS.

Randy was a longtime resident of San Francisco and leaves behind many friends; his mother, Dorothy Wright of Thousand Oaks, Calif.; relatives throughout the state; and his friend and partner, Michael O. Burkholder.

A memorial service will be held at Martin de Porres House at 3:45 p.m. on September 14. All those who wish to attend are more than welcome. We will all miss Randy very much. ▼

JEFF HAGEDORN

Sept. 8, 1995, age 38

Playwright and a founder of Chicago's Lionheart Gay Theatre. His One was among the first plays about AIDS.

HOGAN - In Nantucket, formerly of Boston, April 28, Brian J. Beloved son of Virginia (Cox) Hogan-Shruman and the late Thomas Hogan. Step-son of Richard Shruman. Beloved brother of Thomas, Kevin, John, Mark, Timothy, Kathleen Brown, Patricia Collins, Michelle Tankerley & Donna Arteaga and many nieces & nephews. Memorial services will be held at a later date. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to Nantucket AIDS Network, South Prospect St., Nantucket.

Inner City AIDS Network (ICAN).

Harvey served as a mentor to Howard University students by giving speeches about his experiences with substance abuse and AIDS. This past fall, Harvey received recognition for his outstanding service to the Howard University community from Dr. Jean White, a professor at Howard.

Born in Richmond, Va., on March 27, 1958, Harvey attended his local high school. He went on to join the U.S. Army in 1976.

In addition to Knight, Harvey is survived by his mother, Martha Garrison; two brothers, Roosevelt "Sam" Harvey; and Tyrone Harvey; and sister, Brenda Castorena, all of Richmond, Va.

A viewing will be held Saturday, April 30, at 10 a.m., at the Metropolitan Community Church. A funeral service will immediately follow.

Contributions can be sent to Metropolitan Community Church, 474 Ridge St. NW, Washington DC 20001; or to Lifelink, Inc., of Washington D.C., 811 L St., SE, Washington DC 20003.

Craig

Hostetter

July 16, 1994

Craig Hostetter passed away July 16, 1994 after surgery for AIDS complications. He is from San Luis Obispo. He will be missed greatly by all of his friends who loved him. He was cremated; his ashes were spread in San Luis Obispo by his parents.

HANNON - Mark W., 35, of Boston, MA died January 28. Beloved son of Frederick D. and Meredith (Arzi) Hannon of Hanwickport, MA. Brother of David C. Hannon of Pottstown, PA. Also survived by a sister-in-law Jane B. Hannon of Pottstown, PA and nieces Eliza J. and Molly B. Hannon of Pottstown, PA and his beloved cat, Cathy. A memorial service to celebrate Mark's life will take place on Saturday, February 4, at 11 a.m. at Bank Street Church, Hanwickport, MA. Friends are cordially invited. Memorial donations may be made to The Living Center, 140 Clarendon St., Boston, MA 02117, att.: Meals Program or Hospice at Mission Hill, c/o Hospice West, 254 South St., Waltham, MA 02154. There are no calling hours.

Terry Helbing, a longtime contributor to these pages and an activist who played a major role in the development of overtly gay and lesbian theater in the United States, died in the early morning hours of March 28 at St. Vincent's Hospital, after a long struggle with AIDS. 94

Born on May 21, 1951, in East Dubuque, Illinois, where his father was a banking executive, Helbing attended and graduated from Emerson College in Boston, then moved to New York to pursue a career in theater. He joined the staff of New York University as assistant editor of The Drama Review in December 1975 and was managing editor from September 1977 until mid-1981. Later he appeared at La Mama with NYU's Structuralist Workshop in Michael Kirby's Prisoners Of the Invisible Kingdom in 1982.

In 1981, under the auspices of The Glines, Helbing and Terry Miller became co-producers of Miller's Pines '79, a celebration of gay life at the Fire Island summer colony. The play was an off-off-Broadway success, running for 5 months, and in late 1982 Helbing and Miller took over the tiny Shandol Theater on West 22nd Street, where they established Meridian Gay Theater and, over the next two and a half years, produced a succession of lesbian and gay plays, many of which have become classics. Among these were Jane Chambers's A Late Snow, Philip Blackwell's *The Lovers'
Play*, and Robert Chesley's Stray Dog Story and Night Sweat. The latter was the first full-length play to address the AIDS crisis.

At Meridian, Helbing appeared as an actor in John Preston's Franny, the Queen of Provincetown, Sidney Morris's
The Demolition of Harry Fay, and Doric Wilson's Street Theater, a dramatic comedy about the 1969 Stonewall Rebellion that was presented in a site-specific production at The Mine Shaft.

As a publisher, in 1979 Helbing founded JH Press (the name derived from his father's initials) to publish the works of lesbian and gay playwrights, among them Doric Wilson, Robert Chesley, C. D.
Arnold, and Jane Chambers. With Felice
Picano and Larry Mitchell in 1982, Helbing organized Gay Presses of New York, which was inaugurated by publishing the first edition of Harvey Fierstein's Torch Song Trilogy, a Glines play that had graduated to become a Tony-winning Broadway hit. Gay Presses also published The Best Plays of Albert Innaurato in 1987.

As a critic, Helbing contributed to many theatrical and gay and lesbian publications, including The Advocate and TheaterWeek. He was theater editor at New York Native from 1981 until his death, and at Stonewall News he contributed a weekly theater news column until the onset of his last illness, in December.

Playwright Doric Wilson gleefully recalls that, at the height of his activity in the early 1980s, it was not impossible for Helbing to publish a play, produce it, act in it, assign reviewers to cover it, and,
as actually happened once or twice, review it himself, using a nom de plume.

In recent years, Helbing edited two anthologies of plays by gay people published by William Heinemann and Son, Ltd.

A member of The Drama Desk, the American Theater Critics' Association, and The Outer Circle, Helbing was a lifelong vegetarian, a fan and connoisseur of pop and soul vocal music, and a champion bowler in gay leagues. He is survived by a sister, Doris O'Neill of Tuc-son, and many friends and colleagues. A memorial celebration of his life is planned for April 18, at a location to be announced.

Vincent William Herrera

Feb. 26, 1963 —
March 25, 1994

Loving friend, son, brother and uncle, you shall be missed.

Longtime San Diego resident and enduring member of the San Diego Men's Chorus, his music was a gift to us all. he sang from the soul and used his gift for many a cause.

His love of people was reflected in his work at Horn-blower Invader Cruises. He was loved by crew and guest alike.

He made many of us feel and look beautiful with his great talent as a hair designer at Ultimate One hair Salon.

Vincent's bright smile and sweet voice shall be missed forever by all who knew him.
Vincent was a wise soul who had the great ability to listen and heal the hurt in us all.
His witty personality and selflessness towards others was a trait many admired. In his 31 years of life, Vincent gave what would take most a lifetime to give. His honest and direct approach to life made many of us more aware of ourselves and he helped many see life more clearly.

In a world full of distractions, Vincent saw the truth.

Vincent, you are love and will always be loved. Watch over us and keep singing
Miss Celie's Blues.

-Submitted by Jim Velberg

Rights. He was the 1993 Volunteer of the Year for the Horizons Anti-Violence Project. He is survived by his partner, Jeremy Lisitz; his parents, John and Barbara; his grandmother, Emma Brown; and two brothers. A memorial will be held at noon, Jan.
7, Grein Funeral Home, 2114 W. Irving Park. 74

ANTHONY HAMILTON
March 29, 1995, age 42
Actor who replaced
Jon-Erik Hexum on the CBS series Cover Up after Hexum was accidentally killed by a prop gun.

DARRELL LEE HALEY
Dec. 18, 1994, age 46
Executive at the Saenger Performing Arts Center in New Orleans, and a member of the New Orleans Opera Chorus.

BRIAN HALL,
38, a social worker and director of professional services for the Epilepsy Foundation of Greater Chicago, died Dec. 21 from AIDS complications. He had a Masters in Social Work from the University of Missouri at Columbia, and was vice chairman of the Council on Disability

Roger Harlow

Roger Wade Harlow, 37, a Springfield, Virginia, resident, died Tuesday, June 21, 1994, in Washington, D.C., of AIDS-related complications, according to his longtime companion and friend, Michael William Logan of Springfield.

Harlow was born May 12, 1957, in Glasgow, Ky. He graduated from Hart County High School in Munfordville, Ky., in 1976 and attended the University of Kentucky in Lexington and Northern Arizona University in Flagstaff. Harlow was included in Who's Who Among Students in American Universities & Colleges and he received the Danforth "Those Who Dare Award" twice. He was also selected as a member of the National Collegiate Honors Council while attending the University of Kentucky.

Harlow moved to the D.C. area in 1980 and began to work as a sales manager for Applied Data Research, Inc. In 1987, Harlow transferred to Oracle, Inc., and in 1989, he began working for Microsoft, Inc. His most recent position was sales manager at Soft-Switch, Inc., a business specializing in computer software.

"Roger will be remembered for his goodness and his compassion," said Logan. "One of his colleagues said to me that he couldn't remember Roger ever saying 'No' to anybody who needed help."

Harlow enjoyed working with computers, traveling, and spending time with his partner.

In addition to Logan, Harlow is survived by his father, Hue Wallace Harlow; his mother, Janice Wade Harlow; a brother, Lanny Wallace Harlow, all of Hardyville, Ky.; nieces, Lorraine Harlow Bright of Wilmington, N.C.; Lynette Harlow and Larissa Harlow; and a nephew, Leslee Harlow, all of Horse Cave, Ky; and numerous other family members and friends.

Hildebrand memorial

A celebration of the life of Michael Hildebrand will be held Saturday, November 5, at 3 p.m. at the Metropolitan Community Church of Washington, located at 474 Ridge St., NW, between M and N streets on the corner of 5th and Ridge.

Hildebrand, 53, of Hyattsville, Md. died Wednesday, Oct. 19, 1994 of lung cancer at the Washington Hospice. His obituary appeared in last week's Blade.

Mark Andrew Haskins 94

Mark Haskins of Los Angeles died Feb. 5 due to complications from AIDS. He was 41. Recipient of the Texas Association of Broadcasters' Award for his television work, Haskins moved to Los Angeles to serve as art director and production designer on such films as "Hero and the Terror," "Salsa," "Nightbreed" and "My Boyfriend's Back." Haskins was also the manager of cult-film star Edith Massey, and a member of the Los Angeles Gay and Lesbian Police Advisory Task Force. Haskins created and produced the first "Out in the Park" concert for National Coming Out Day and "Coming Out in Faith" interfaith service. He is survived by life partner Eric Scott, and his parents, brothers, sister-in-law and nephews.

HURA—Dennis H. (Daniel). Of New York City. Passed away from complications of AIDS on April 4, 1995. Beloved son of the late Bernice and Stanley Hura. Brother of Ann Maria Weronksi, Stanley, Jr., Mary Roszak, Edward and the late Eileen LaRocco, Dean, Elaine and John. Uncle, great uncle, nephew and cousin. Dear Dennis, you traveled the world and searched your entire life for the perfect garden. I know now you have found it and that you now know that in God's garden, all His flowers are perfect and beautiful. Have a glorious trip. Thank you for helping me to always remember to tell someone "I love you". I'll remember to say "thank you" to all the wonderful friends, doctors, nurses and aids who loved and supported you during this unsettled time of your life. We will all miss you and your wonderful smile. More than yesterday, less than tomorrow, with love, your brother Stanley. A memorial service will be announced at a later date. Donations in his memory may be made to GMHC and God's Love We Deliver.

HUGHES—Walter Coleman, age 34, died of AIDS, April 16 at home in New York. Assistant Professor of English at Princeton University, esteemed colleague and teacher, generous friend. Survived by Anne Weller Hughes and Robert P. Hughes, parents, Laura Hughes and Emily Hughes, sisters; and Adrienne Donald, Mark Gurley and Jess Taylor, friends and care-partners. Memorial service April 22, Princeton Club of New York City, 4 P.M. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the Walter C. Hughes Fund, c/o Stonewall Community Foundation, 250 West 89th Street, #5F, NY, NY 10024. q5

Michael W. Hardy

May 19, 1952—Feb. 14, 1994

Exercising his well-known, often used and typical stubbornness, Michael chose to not share, with any friend or family, the fact he was HIV-positive, symptomatic, and very seriously ill. Instead, he chose to party hearty while the music still played, refusing to consider, much less discuss, treatment of any sort. Master DJ Get On Down, at the Soulsville Transfer, played Michael's last song — "Get On Up" — this morning.

Michael, originally from Pensacola where his parents and family reside, lived (and lived in) New York City for the past decade, for most of this period with his partner, Jim Kotrulya (76 Horatio Street, No. 3B, NYC 10014), and worked as a banquet waiter at the Royal Luscan Hotel. Prior to the Big Apple, Michael lived in Hollywood and San Francisco. While in the city during the late 1970s, Michael was a member of the original Trinity Place crew, later working at Moby Dick and other popular hot spots of the '70s. He and Kevin Wadsworth moved to the city from Tallahassee near the end of their five-year relationship. Michael will be returning to Pensacola to be interred with the ashes of his adored Tallahassee kitycat, Piawacket.

"So ... one final time, Michael: Yes, you have a great body. Yes, your blond hair is simply perfect. Yes, I still love you. No, you don't need a mirror. No, I still don't know why I love you. And yes, you're now where you are truly loved ... by everyone ... just because you're you ... unconditionally. Bye bye for now. And — by the way — I can and do forgive you for all else, but I promise you ... I'll get even for this last trick of yours. I love you. Now, start watching over Jim, Paul, and me. No, your hair is fine." — Love, Kevin. ▼

Robert William Huebner

March 23, 1953—June 20, 1994

After a long and courageous battle against AIDS and its related symptoms,

Robert died in the arms of his lifelong friends and family. Even though Bob's life was cut short, the life he had was a full one. He was an accomplished artist and a member of several sailing teams which took him around the world. He loved to play tennis and participated in the Gay Games in Vancouver, Canada. I considered him to be a master chef in the kitchen, taking whatever he could find and creating a masterpiece ... curious as they sometimes were, but yes, definitely masterpieces!

Robert was cremated and his ashes spread out beyond the Golden Gate, into his beloved Pacific. My dearest friend, you are missed and life will not be the same without you. We will never forget you for you are forever in our hearts and in our minds. We love you, Bob. Have a safe journey. See you there. ▼

EARLE R. HOPKINS 5-26-94

Earle R. Hopkins, 42

Active in struggle against AIDS

Earle Raymond Hopkins, who was active in the struggle against AIDS and co-authored the book "Talk Back," died Thursday at his Cambridge home from complications of AIDS. He was 42.

Born in Arlington, he was a 1970 graduate of Arlington High School, and later received his degree in architectural engineering from Wentworth Institute of Technology in Boston. For the past 17 years he was employed at Teradyne in Boston, retiring as a supervisor last year because of his illness.

Mr. Hopkins was a founding member of the Cape Cod Lesbian and Gay Bi-Sexual Speakers Bureau, the Gay and Lesbian Advocates and Defenders in Boston, and founding member of The Lesbian and Gay Media Advocates in Boston. The book "Talk Back" was about media advocacy. He joined the staff of Gay Community News in Boston during its first year, and served on the board of directors, participating until shortly before his death.

Mr. Hopkins leaves his mother, Marion (Baldwin) of Arlington; a sister, Jean Lietz, of Ada, Ohio; his devoted friend, David Peterson of Cambridge; and a niece, Arlene Lietz of Arizona.

HAUPERT—On February 18, 1995, Fredrick L. Hupert, M.D. of Dedham, Son of Carol (Brown) Hupert of Medford, OR and the late Garner T. Hupert. Brother of Garner T. Hupert, Jr. M.D. of Littleton, MA and Uncle of Sibylle and Mallory Hupert. Also survived by his partner of twelve years, Hugh D. Jones of Dedham. Funeral Services will be held Wednesday, February 22 at 11 a.m. at the Church of the Advent, 30 Brimmer St., Boston. Interment will take place in Oregon. In lieu of flowers, contributions may be sent to AIDS Action Committee, 131 Clarendon St., Boston, MA 02116, or Hospice at Mission Hill, 20 Parker Hill Ave., Boston, MA 02120. Arrangements under the direction of J.S. Waterman & Sons, Eastman-Waring Funeral Home, of BOSTON.

Robert Franklin Harrison
April 15, 1948 - June 29, 1994

Bob's gentle and courageous spirit left us on June 29th, quietly, softly, and peacefully. He was at home surrounded by the love and comfort of his friends and caregivers, Barbara, Gerry, Sheila, Neil and Michael Browne. His longtime companion, Todd Brumaghin, closest to his heart, was the last word on his breath, "Todd."

There are so many who will miss the dear and beautiful man. He is survived by parents Pete and Gladys, his brothers David, Jeff and Tom, and spiritual community brothers, James and Michael. In addition to his many professional friendships made in a 21-year career at Bank of America, his loss will also be felt by many who enjoyed his warmth and compassion in volunteer efforts and community service. His endearing smile and sparkling eyes can never be replaced.

We love you, we miss you Bob. Remember us in that perfect place of eternal joy that is now yours.

A Vigil Prayer service will be held Friday, July 8th at 7:30pm, followed by a Requiem Mass on Saturday, July 9th at 11:00am, at Most Holy Redeemer Church, 100 Diamond Street. In memory of Bob, donations/gifts are to be submitted to Kairos House, 114 Douglass Street, San Francisco, CA 94114.

The victims of secrets are also adroitly explored in Susan Bergman's powerful memoirs, "Anonymity." The central character is the author's father, Don Heche, who died of AIDS complications. The concealed homosexual life of one of the early casualties of the dreaded disease is examined and re-examined in a piercing and sensitive manner. Over and above the loss of a father, the author brings to excruciating light the damage exacted by a life of lies and deceit. Her early memories are resurrected and juxtaposed to her contemporary life in a symphony of brutal honesty.

From early childhood, Bergman's memories are focused on images of goodness and wholesomeness. Yet, the pervasive subtleties of shielded truth become confrontational as life progresses in the Heche family. The grip of religiosity and doing "all the right things" for appearance's sake drive the members of the family into disillusionment, and the lies and cover-up of her father's "other life" are unearthed and repeatedly examined.

The eventual breakup of the Heche family leaves a host of victims. Each member of the family must face their personal predicament and devise a sanctuary. Bergman's decision to go back and pursue friends and companions of her father furnishes the therapeutic remedy for reconciliation.

"Anonymity" draws into passionate focus the destructive nature of the human being. Don Heche's secret homosexual life extracted unintentional victims. Ultimately, the writings of Susan Bergman provides the author a cathartic search for truth that could have come by no other means.

G-5-94

Albert Hunt

May 29, 1959 - June 25, 1994
Albert Hunt was known to many as one of San Francisco's best DJs. A gardener, the legacy he left behind is cherished. Albert loved animals, children, indeed, all of life. He was a generous man and frequently gave to the homeless. Albert was able to heal wounds from his early life with God's help and with the nurture and support of those who loved him. He enjoyed 11 good years with his partner, George. Albert was a brave man who lived courageously with AIDS for several years and who, to the very end, never complained.

After a bout with meningitis two years ago, subsequent soul searching and counsel from Tim Hart-Andersen, pastor, he decided to become a member of Old First Church. His Old First Presbyterian Church family, a few close friends and George Becker, his partner, kept loving vigil during his journey through the valley of the shadow of death. Albert fell asleep in the evening and died serenely only a few hours later on June 25. He was 35 years old. Albert received the finest of compassionate care from Robert Bolan, M.D., and from the staff at Garden-Sullivan Hospital. A memorial service was held at Old First Church on July 2.

George Martin Hunt

Aug. 18, 1941 - June 18, 1994
On June 18, George passed away peacefully at home, with his mother, Agnes; sister, Ellen; and partner, George, at his bedside. George was raised in Lafayette, Calif. He graduated from UC Berkeley, receiving a BA in sociology and an MPH in medical care administration and health planning. George served for many years as an administrator for Pacific Medical Center, where he quickly gained the respect of and established lifelong friendships with many people.

George left PMC to start and operate Culver's Country Inn in Calistoga, Calif. He returned to SF to serve as a long-term care administrator for Northern California Presbyterian Homes.

During this time George met his former partner, Matt. After much extended traveling in Europe and the U.S., Matt became ill. George provided much love and selfless care for Matt until his death.

George was a gentle, loving man. He always reached out to help anyone in need. His values were rooted in faith, heart, family and friends - and he put his values into action every day.

Terrance Christian Hanson

Aug. 4, 1957 - July 4, 1994
Encircled by his loved ones, Terry died peacefully on Independence Day at Coming Home Hospice. At 36, Terry was an accomplished artist, psychotherapist and social worker. He had a master's in educational psychology from S.I.U. and a bachelor's in theology from the college of St. Thomas.

Terry's art provided expression for his deeply spiritual nature. His beautiful artwork inspired us to think, feel and participate in our own creative process. He believed that out of this process questions rise, answers come, dreams are born, and we learn to fly.

A lover of laughter, people and life, Terry appreciated the moments in life that are so easily taken for granted: brunch with good friends, a latte or a macaroon at a sidewalk cafe, the lights of his Emerald City, or even the sight of a handlebar moustache.

Terry is survived by an extensive family of friends and relatives. Any donations in his memory may be made to Visual Aid (785 Market Street, No. 720, San Francisco, CA 94103), who generously supported him in realizing his dream of working full-time as an artist.

Rusty Hawes

Russell L. Hawes, 45, of Alexandria, Virginia, died Monday, June 6, 1994, of a heart attack at home, according to his close friend, Ken Landis of Clinton, Maryland.

Hawes was born Oct. 29, 1948 in Northern Virginia. He grew up in the D.C. area.

Hawes was a waiter at the Slades bar and at the Old Ebbitt Grill, both in D.C., during the 1980s.

Hawes enjoyed spending time with his dog, Sadie; restoring classic cars; going horseback riding; and going to the bars Remington's and 808 King Street.

"In the summer, Rusty could be found sunning by the pool. He was also a great country and western two stepper," said Landis.

In addition to Landis, Hawes was survived by his friends and neighbors.

A memorial service will be held Monday, July 25, at 7:30 p.m., at the First Baptist Church, 2932 King St. in Alexandria. Hawes's remains were interred at the National Memorial Gardens in Falls Church, Va.

DAVID HANSEN
June 30, 1995, age 48
Former talent agent who worked at ICM and Agency for the Performing Arts. Clients included Rosemary Clooney.

JAMES ALLEN HENDRICKS JR. (Jimmy) October 16, 1992. Remembered with love on the third anniversary of your passing. Your courage continues to inspire me. Michaëlle.

Gregory Hinson

Even though he had been running out of energy for some time, Gregory's giant step into the wider circle of life came as a surprise to his friends and family. He remained interested and involved until the day of his moving on.

Having lived in the Bay Area for a decade, Gregory is well-known on both sides of the water. His gentle but persistent manner opened many doors for him — some into joy and others into hurt. One thing is for sure: he experienced a full load of living during his short walk across Mother Earth.

Gregory's family in Durham, North Carolina, where he was born and raised, and his friends here in Northern California will miss his happy face. He was predeceased by his two brothers, Tommy and Dwayne, both of whom also died of AIDS-related causes.

A memorial gathering to honor Gregory will be held Sunday, September 11, at 2 p.m. Call 826-5670 for more information. ▼

TIMOTHY MARK HUTCHINGS, 30, died of complications due to AIDS Oct. 13 in his home, surrounded by his partner in life Ron Lake, his family and friends. Tim graduated from the U. of Kansas with a degree in Theatre. He began his acting career in Kansas City. After moving to Chicago in 1990, he worked with Eternity's Well, Rudely Elegant, The Splinter Group, Footsteps and various independently produced projects. Tim's work was his great passion, and he eagerly participated in training, as well as student and independent films. Many will miss his energetic and enthusiastic approach to his work, as well as his way of relentlessly teasing his peers. A celebration of his life will be held in Chicago Tuesday, Nov. 8, 7 p.m.; 728-5678 for details. Donations: Horizon Hospice or Open Hand. 1774

HARTLEY—Timothy Alan of Boston June 16 Life partner of Ronald Benedict of Boston. Loving son of Sylvia (Harian) Hartley Button and the late David C. Hartley. Brother of Peter M. and Douglas C. Hartley. Uncle of David, Stuart and Amelia Hartley all of Washington. Funeral services will be held in the Chapel of the Joseph A. Langone Jr. Funeral Home, 58 Merrimack and New Chardon Sts. (at Govt' Center) BOSTON, on Monday at 11 a.m. Relatives and friends are respectfully invited to attend and may call at the funeral home on Sunday 6-9 p.m. In lieu of flowers memorial donations in Timothy's memory may be made to the Massachusetts General Hospital Pediatric AIDS Unit, Blossom St., Boston, MA 02114. Interment will follow in Indiana. 45

David M. Hammers

March 20, 1947 - August 18, 1994

Dear David,

Thank you so much baby for 15 wonderful years together and for a lifetime of memories. You were so incredibly special and brightened everyone's life you touched, especially mine. I felt special just knowing you loved me. You made my life so full, and everything seems so empty since you left. You will never be gone from my heart though, and that will help me through the great emptiness I feel now.

You are in God's loving care now with so many of our friends and family, and I know that heaven is even more glorious with your presence.

Living is temporary, but loving is forever, and we will be together again. You will be sadly missed until that grand day.

I will always love you baby.

Jeff

HIMMELFARB—Of Watertown, April 15, Howard J. Himmelfarb, Dear companion of Augustus L. DeBella of Watertown. Loving son of Bessie Himmelfarb of Canada. Brother of David Himmelfarb of Canada. Dear friend of Concetta M. DeBella and family of Derry, NH. Funeral Services in the Short, Williamson & Diamond Funeral Home, 52 Trapelo Rd., BELMONT, Wednesday, April 19, at 5 o'clock. Relatives and friends may call at the Funeral Home one hour prior to service. Memorial week has been respectfully omitted. Interment private. Contributions in his memory to AMFAR American Foundation for Aids Research, 733 3rd Avenue, NY, NY 10017 or to Amnesty International, 58 Day St., Somerville, MA 02144, would be sincerely appreciated. 45

HALEY—David of Dorchester, formerly of Quincy, May 23, 1995 from complications of AIDS. Beloved son of Donald F. and Eleanor B. (Doherty) Haley of Quincy. Loving brother of Dennis of Medfield, Richard of N.H., Joanne Mullaney of Falmouth, Eileen Haley of Pompano Beach Fla., Barbara Pyne, Laura and Peter Haley, all of Quincy. Also survived by several nieces and nephews. Relatives and friends are respectfully invited to attend the funeral from The Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., WOLLASTON, Friday at 10:15. Funeral Mass in St. Ann's Church, Wollaston at 11 a.m. Visiting hours Thursday 2-4 and 7-9. Burial in Pine Hill Cemetery, Quincy. Donations may be made to the AIDS Action Committee, 131 Clarendon St., Boston, MA 02116.

Eric M. Hacker

Aug. 30, 1932 - Aug. 5, 1994

Eric could not stand unstuffed refrigerators or a surface without a tchotchke. One can only hope that in the next world there are lots of frozen hors d'oeuvres, tourist cruises, handsome young men and souvenir ashtrays.

Eric's qualities were the old-fashioned ones born of being the beloved and dutiful only son of European refugees displaced by Hitler, then traumatized by flight to Shanghai and post-war Philadelphia. He was a dutiful son, a philanthropist and a committed Zionist. One would be tempted to think he had invented the words "mensch" and "kvetch." His financial success was undoubted; his personal life was marred by his failure to integrate his sexual preferences with his social life; consequently, he remained socially isolated after the loss of his parents. The exception to this lay in his profoundly fond relationship with Howard and Janet Goldstein and their family, his longtime acquaintance with Eddie Jay, and his visits with his estranged companion, Jay Johnson.

Sincere thanks go to Dr. Chan and Coming Home Hospice for their compassion and assistance. Interment was at Salem Cemetery, near his parents. ▼

Charles Horne, 48; Wrote About AIDS

SYRACUSE, Sept. 4 (AP) — Charles Horne, a playwright who detailed his battle against AIDS for a Syracuse newspaper, died here on Friday at Community-General Hospital. He was 48.

The cause was AIDS, after he suffered a stroke several weeks ago that left him paralyzed, the hospital said.

In the last year, Mr. Horne had written occasional columns for The Herald-Journal addressing issues from the perspective of someone infected with the AIDS virus.

Mr. Horne's plays included "The Smoking Room," a drama set in a hospital AIDS ward. He also wrote and produced "Our Sisters Are Dying," a 30-minute documentary about women and AIDS, and he was working on a documentary about AIDS in prisons when he became ill.

Mr. Horne came to Syracuse in 1985 to direct an acting company at the Landmark Theater. He had also done graduate work in Germany and at the University of Massachusetts. Mr. Horne lived in New York City for about eight years, writing and directing plays.

He is survived by his parents, Clyde and Hilda Horne of Acton, Mass.; three brothers, Mark, of Rochester, N.H.; David, of Westford, Mass., and Barry, of Acton, Mass.; and his companion, Tony Williams of Syracuse.

GREGORY HUGHES

May 10, 1962 —
October 25, 1994

I remember the laughter and the joy he gave us. Greg was a private but genuine person with a heart of gold. If he let you into his life, you were there forever. We will miss you, but we will see you again.

Love from Jeff and all his friends & family

Larry J. Holmes

Nov. 20, 1946 - Aug. 2, 1994

Larry Holmes passed away Tuesday evening, August 2, of AIDS complications. He was 47 years old. A sweet-natured man, Larry knew how to enjoy a diverse life. He filled his life with much music, travel, playing the piano, and entertaining friends with gourmet dinners.

For 13 years, Larry worked for the Levi Strauss Company, retiring as manager of the Office Services-Purchasing Department in February '93. Larry took pride in being physically fit and in being sober. At one time or another, he had competed in dancing and figure skating, taught ballroom dancing, been a proud member of the 101st Army Airborne Division, and spent three years on the performance team of the Foggy City Square Dancers.

Among those who selflessly assisted Larry during his last difficult months were his love of the last 4 1/2 years, Gordon R. Wright; Larry's sisters, Deborah and Pamela Holmes; Tricia Kelly; and Marilyn Johnson. They and other dear friends said their farewells at sunset on August 6 at the Fort Point anchorage of the Golden Gate Bridge. As they scattered his ashes, a flock of birds took off in formation. This was surely a sign that Larry's loving spirit was set free. ▼

Ben Hawkins Jr.

William Benjamin Hawkins Jr., 54, a former D.C. resident, died Monday, August 22, 1994, of AIDS related complications at his aunt and uncle's home in Cary, North Carolina, according to his good friend, John A. Hill of Washington, D.C.

Hawkins was born Dec. 27, 1939. He grew up in Arlington, Va., where he graduated from Washington and Lee High School in 1959. Hawkins received a bachelor's degree in business and marketing from the American University in the early 1960s.

Following college, Hawkins enlisted in the U.S. Navy where he was stationed in Asia. He left the Navy in the mid-1960s and moved back to the D.C. area.

Hawkins worked in marketing and sales positions for The Washington Post, the Marriott Corporation, and John Sexton foods.

In the late 1970s, Hawkins sold real estate on Capitol Hill for Houses on the Hill, Beau Bogon real estate, and Merrill Lynch real estate, Hill said.

In the late 1980s, Hawkins moved to Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where he worked for Florida Prudential real estate, said Hill.

Hawkins retired in 1993 and relocated to Cary, N.C. to live with his aunt and uncle Nancy Lee and Sidney Foltz.

In addition to Hill and the Foltzes, Hawkins is survived by his father, David Register of D.C.; two aunts, Nancy Lee of Cary, N.C. and Frances Rosser of Norfolk, Va.; uncle, Sidney Foltz of Cary, N.C.; two cousins, Joy Pierce of Odenton, Md.; and Trip Foltz of Cary, N.C.; and many friends in the D.C. area.

His remains were cremated and interred in Clinton, N.C. A memorial service was held Aug. 25 at Hawkins's grave site in Clinton.

David R. Holland

David R. Holland, 41, of Laconia, NH, died Dec. 16 as a result of an accident in Natick. 74

David was born in Boston on Feb. 11, 1953. He was employed as a computer consultant.

Survivors include his parents, Cecil "Tex" R. and Elizabeth L. (Beetle) Holland of Laconia, and one brother, Stephen D. Holland of Pennsylvania.

Eric Hellman

June 25, 1954 - Sept. 3, 1994

Eric, 40, died peacefully in his sleep on Saturday, September 3, of AIDS-related complications. A longtime resident of San Francisco, he was at the time of his death the resident dance critic for the Bay Area Reporter, a position he had held for the past four years.

In addition to his work for the B.A.R., Eric was the arts editor for the San Francisco Sentinel from 1986 to 1988. Under his tenure the paper won two consecutive awards for excellence in cultural reporting from the Gay/Lesbian Press Association. Eric also wrote for Dance Magazine, Ballet Review, the San Francisco Chronicle, San Francisco Magazine, Christopher Street, SF Weekly and the New York Native. After his departure from the Sentinel, Eric was an editor/administrator in UCSF's Pediatric Pulmonary Division/Cystic Fibrosis Center, Department of Pediatrics.

Eric Hellman

Eric was preceded in death by his lover of many years, Peter Childers. Besides a whole host of treasured friends and colleagues too numerous to list here, he is survived by his loving and supportive parents, Harold and Carolyn Hellman; his sister and brother-in-law, Kristine and Andrew Kingson; his niece and nephew, Michelle and Adam; the Childers family; his aunt, Elaine Williams; and his uncles, Dick Hellman and Dr. Gerald Marxman.

Eric's friends and family will remember his rueful sense of humor, warm heart, and high, often exacting standards, which are perhaps best exemplified by his oft-quoted line: "I'm sorry, but this is simply unacceptable." A memorial service will be held at All Saints' Episcopal Church, 1350 Waller Street in San Francisco, on Sunday, September 11, at 3 p.m. In lieu of flowers all donations should go to the All Saints' Episcopal Church's AIDS Memorial Project.

Toward the end of his life, Eric summed up his feelings about his dance writing thusly: "All in all, the acts of seeing, talking and writing about dance have given me a world of extraordinary pleasure - and a depth of insight into human expressiveness and moral possibility. I feel especially privileged - and grateful - for my work as a critic." ▼

John R. Hammell, a Gay legal activist, died Feb. 3 of complications related to AIDS at a Chicago hospital, according to an American Civil Liberties Union of Illinois press release. Hammell, 37, served as director of the AIDS and Civil Liberties and Gay and Lesbian Rights Projects of the ACLU of Illinois.

He is credited with winning the first ruling to extend the protections of the federal Fair Housing Act to HIV-infected persons. 95

—Sheila Walsh

HIGGINS—on August 5, 1995, Paul Bowen Higgins of East Haddam, CT. Beloved son of Mary Bowen Higgins of Boston and the late Thomas L. Higgins. Beloved brother of the late Thomas L. Higgins, Jr. Uncle of Andrea M. Higgins and Elizabeth Higgins Merriman. Services and Burial will be private. In lieu of flowers, contributions in Paul's memory may be sent to the Jesuit Urban Center, 775 Harrison Ave., Boston, MA 02118-2311. Arrangements under direction of J.S. Waterman & Sons, Eastman-Waring Funeral Home of Boston.

JOHN DAVID CHARLES THOMAS HOOPER

July 23, 1963 —
September 29, 1994

John,
You were my north,
my south, my east and my west
You always gave me
all of your best
I will miss you dearly now that you're at rest
I'll see you again,

Love, Peter

HENRY—Dr. M.L. Jr. (Hank), of Manhattan and Cherry Grove, on March 25th, 1995 in his 50th year after a ten year battle with AIDS. Born in Washington, D.C., Hank graduated from Wake Forest College in NC and received a Ph.D. from Louisiana State University. He was a professor at LSU, Hofstra University, Columbia University and Franklin and Marshall College. In 1977, he joined the Fund for Modern Courts and served as Executive Director from 1982 to 1992. He was the author of six studies on judicial selection in New York State and was the leading spokesperson for court reform in New York. He was predeceased by his longtime companion, William B. Cullen. Hank was the son of the late M.L. Henry, Sr. and is survived by his loving mother, Alice Manning Henry of Silver Spring, MD, a sister and niece, Helen H. McPherson and Marianne Lynn McPherson of Silver Spring, MD, and a sister and brother-in-law, Janice and Richard Carlson of Richmond, VA. He is also survived by his cousins, the Hedlers and the Tankersleys, and by his devoted in-laws, James T. and Donna Cullen of Bol Harbour, FL, and adopted grandmother, Teresa C.V.K. Cullen of Ft. Lauderdale, FL. In lieu of flowers, contributions in his memory to the Fund for Modern Courts, 19 West 44th Street, Suite 1200, NY 10036 vould be appreciated. A joint memorial service for Hank and Bill of their summer home on Fire Island will be announced later in the spring.

HEWSON—Of Billerica, formerly of Cambridge, March 11, Steven P. Hewson, age 38. Beloved son of June (Beranger) Waters of South Yarmouth and the late Arthur W. Hewson. Step-son of Paul A. Waters of So. Yarmouth. Brother of Ronald J. Hewson of Billerica, Gale R. Norway of Lowell and Cheryl A. Hewson of Lowell. Dear friend of Bertha Moscillo of Cambridge. Also survived by 3 nephews and 1 niece. His funeral is Thursday at 9 a.m. from the Tewksbury Funeral Home, cor. of Dewey and Main Sts. (Rte. 38), TEWKSBURY CENTER, (508 851-2061 or in MA 800-851-7750). Followed by a Funeral Mass Thursday at 10 a.m. in St. William's Church, 1351 Main St. (Rte. 38), Tewksbury. Calling hours Wednesday 2 to 4 and 7 to 9. Private burial at the V.A. Nat'l Cemetery, Cape Cod. Former employee of Ann and Hope Stores. Memorial contributions to A.I.D.S. Research, C.R.I. of New England, 320 Washington St., 3rd., Brookline, MA 02146, will be appreciated. 95

In Loving Memory

Bob Harrison

April 15, 1948 - June 29, 1994

My Partner, My Friend,
My Love for You is Forever
Todd

Frank Hoogland

Dec. 30, 1940 - June 16, 1995

Frank died June 16. He is survived by a loving brother and sister, nieces and nephews, and his friend of 25 years, Michael. For information regarding services, please call 681-2160. ▼

HOLDER—Darrall E. On Tuesday, July 18, 1995. Beloved son of Cynthia and Alvin. Loving brother of Kim and Ronald. Dear friend Orlando Gines, Jr. Nephew of Edna Warden, Clarise James, Stanley and Edmund McCollin. Devoted uncle of Kristen Jefferson, Dennis and Ronald. He is also survived by great-nephews, other relatives and friends. A memorial service will be held Saturday, July 22, 11AM, at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, 112th St. and Amsterdam Avenue, New York, NY, where a reception will immediately follow at the Cathedral House of St. John the Divine. Flowers may be sent to St. Ansgars Chapel (for Holder). Donations may be made in his memory to the Diocesan Episcopal AIDS Committee of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine. For information Woody "Home for Services." Orange, NJ.

HART—Neil L. March 31, 1946-August 14, 1995. Neil died peacefully in his home with his sister Jean Pickens, his close friend and companion Charles Sawyer and his beloved cat "Panther." As head of Neil Hart Creative Services, Neil was a man of quick wit, exceptional creativity and strong character. Besides Charles and Jean, Neil is survived by his parents Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hart of Meadville, PA, another sister Gloria McKinney of Lexington, NC and several nieces and nephews. Neil was the brightest light in many lives. He will be greatly missed. Memorial contributions may be made to Cabrini Hospice, 227 E. 19th St., NY, NY 10003. Special thanks to Georgine, Denise, Patrick, Karl, Roger, Leonard and Ted

Richard A. Heyman Dies at 59; One of First Openly Gay Mayors

9-16-94

Richard A. Heyman, a former Mayor of Key West, Fla., who was among the first openly gay Americans to be elected to public office, died on Friday. He was 59 and lived in Key West.

He died of pneumonia that was brought on by AIDS, said his former assistant, June Keith.

Mr. Heyman was elected to the Key West City Commission in 1979 and elected Mayor in 1983. He stepped down after serving a two-year term, then ran again and won in 1987.

According to organizations that track the political involvement of homosexuals, Mr. Heyman was one of a small group of openly gay politicians who in the early 1980's were the first to be elected to local offices around the country.

"When he was elected to the city commission there were very few if any openly gay and lesbians who had been elected to any public office in this country," said Michael Dively of Key West, who in the 1960's and 1970's served six years in the Michigan Legislature without disclosing he is homosexual.

"It was still relatively unusual up until he late '80s," said Mr. Dively, who now serves as a local fundraiser for the Gay and Lesbian Victory Fund, a national group that supports political campaigns by openly gay candidates.

Although Mr. Heyman ran as a gay candidate, he focused much of his work on the difficulties of finding environmentally sound ways to dispose of human waste on a 2-mile-by-4-mile island. The Key West City Commission next week plans to rename the sewage plant he helped build, dubbing it the Richard A. Heyman Memorial Waste Treatment Plant.

In his second term as Mayor, before he learned he had the virus that causes AIDS, the Key West City Commission passed a resolution barring the city government from dismissing an employee with AIDS.

Mrs. Keith, who was Mr. Heyman's assistant in office, said, "If there was a gay issue, he was there."

Mr. Heyman was reared in Grand Rapids, Ohio, where he was an Eagle Scout. He graduated from Ohio State University in 1957 and then served in the Army. He later taught school in his home town, after which he moved to Toledo, Ohio, where he founded several employment agencies.

In the mid-1960's he moved to Florida and eventually settled in Key West, where he was a founder in 1972 of the Gingerbread Square Gallery. The gallery showed paintings by the playwright Tennessee Williams, who lived in Key West, as well as other artists, including Mr. Heyman's partner of many years, John Kiraly.

In addition to Mr. Kiraly, Mr. Heyman is survived by a sister, Glenda Heyman of Grand Rapids, Ohio, and several nieces and nephews.

Richard A. Heyman

Muneer Hassan

July 30, 1943 - Dec. 14, 1994

Muneer passed Wednesday, December 14. He is survived by his mother, Evelyn Short; stepfather, Hiram Short; children, Shakir, Naeemah, Ahmad, Muneer Jr., Evangela, Malika and Melissa; stepsister, Christina Short; many loving relatives and friends; and his special friend, Chris Higuera.

Muneer's commitment to the fight against HIV/AIDS will be dearly missed. Services were held Tuesday December 20. ▼

Bank ordered to pay settlement

94

by Lou Chibbaro Jr.

A D.C. Superior Court judge last week ordered the Adams National Bank to pay a monetary settlement to the estate of AIDS activist James Hall, bringing to a near close Hall's three-year-old employment discrimination case against the bank.

Hall died Aug. 4, nearly three years after he sued the bank for allegedly firing him in an effort to lower its health insurance costs.

Two weeks before Hall's death, the bank petitioned the court to cancel a monetary settlement that the parties reached in June, saying Hall and his attorney leaked details of the settlement to the press. The settlement contains a confidentiality clause that bars the two sides from disclosing any details of its terms.

In a Sept. 23 ruling, Judge Rufus King III ruled that Hall's post-settlement discussion with a Washington Blade reporter violated the confidentiality clause and a court order making the clause binding. But King also ruled that Hall's breach of the clause did not cause any damage to the bank. In light of Hall's death, King stated, no sanction against Hall's estate is appropriate.

The Blade reported the settlement amount as being $267,000, which it obtained from an open court file. Hall and his attorney at the time, Dale Edwin Sanders, denied they leaked the information. Sanders said one of his assistants checked the court files and confirmed the Blade's finding that a clerk inadvertently placed papers about the settlement in a public file.

Hall's fiends, meanwhile, accused Adams Bank of seeking cancellation of the settlement as a means of delaying its payment until after Hall's death, with the hope of extracting a more favorable settlement from Hall's estate. The bank denied the allegation.

Although Hall and other AIDS activists accused the bank of firing Hall because he had AIDS, attorneys for the bank say Hall never disclosed the nature of his illness. The bank has said it dismissed Hall as part of a cost-cutting action that was unrelated to his health.

David J. Shaffer, one of the bank's attorneys, said the bank has yet to decide whether to appeal Judge King's ruling. ▼

HASTINGS—Christopher, died March 1st. Husband of Sing (Murphy) of San Francisco; son of Wendell and Anne Hastings, formerly of Cambridge, Mass., now of Washington D.C. Brother of Deborah Hastings-Black of Washington and of Margot Osborne of New York City, uncle of two nephews and two nieces. Also grandson of the late Mr & Mrs Russell Hastings of Brookline. He was born in Boston and died of AIDS at the age of 47 in San Francisco.

Michael R. Hoffman

Mike Hoffman, 41, of Washington, D.C., died Friday, September 2, 1994 of AIDS-related complications at the George Washington University Hospital, according to his friend of ten years, David Blumenthal of Arlington, Va.

Hoffman was born Oct. 9, 1952 in Fremont, Ohio. He graduated in 1974 from Ohio University, summa cum laude and a Phi Beta Kappa brother. He graduated from Ohio State University in 1975 with a master's degree in political science. Hoffman then worked as a high school teacher and a jewelry store manager in Toledo, Ohio.

Hoffman moved to D.C. in 1982 and started working for Banks and Biddle Jewelry store at the Fair Oaks Mall. He started working at the National Council of Senior Citizens on employment programs in 1983. Hoffman started as a regional program representative, was promoted in 1992 to national director of the Senior Environmental Employment Program, and promoted again in 1993 to deputy director of the National Senior Citizens Education and Research Center.

"He was always an advocate for seniors ... and as a result of his efforts he was able to double their programs [with a] multimillion dollar grant through the EPA," said Ivan Gubern, Hoffman's co-worker of nine years, and interim replacement. "Mike was working the day he died," added Gubern.

"Outgoing [and]regarious, [Hoffman] had fun with his friends ..." said Blumenthal, "[but] on Saturday afternoon he'd always be glued to the TV set for college football." Another of Hoffman's interests included traveling to eastern European countries.

In addition to Blumenthal and Gubern, Hoffman is survived by his father, Richard L. Hoffman; and two sisters, Cynthia Hirt and Susan Kusmer; all of Fremont, Ohio.

A memorial and burial service, attended mainly by relatives, was held on Sept. 5 at St. Joseph's Church in Fremont. Hoffman's remains were buried next to his mother, Mary Hoffman, who predeceased him.

HUNT—Of Melrose, June 30, Thomas A. Life partner of Robert Harrington. Son of Dorothy (Smith) and Albert Hunt of Melrose. Brother of Beverly Rawson of Wakefield, Patricia Kent of Exeter, N.H., Nancy Spencer of Brentwood, N.H., and Linda Blair of Byfield, MA. Also survived by several nieces and nephews. Funeral service will be held in the Anderson-Bryant Funeral Home, 4 Common St. STONEHAM, Wednesday at 10 a.m. Relatives and friends invited. Visitation Tuesday 2-4 and 7-9. In lieu of flowers, please make donations to the Aids Action Committee of Mass., 131 Clarendon St., Boston, MA 02116.

A Texas reporter recalls how editor with AIDS changed his newsroom

by Steve Brewer
Beaumont (Tx.) Enterprise

BEAUMONT, Texas — I have written stories about bravery. I have interviewed those who have found courage inside themselves and shown enough guts to do things most of us could never do.

But in the Beaumont Enterprise newsroom, we didn't have to look far to find what Ernest Hemingway described as grace under pressure. We had a shining example in our midst.

Tim Halley, staff writer and assistant city editor for this paper, died Sept. 12 after a long struggle with AIDS. 97

His spirit never died — even as the disease ravaged his body.

He even went public with his illness in an effort to educate Southeast Texans, and he never lost his sense of humor.

When I came here almost three years ago, Tim was the first reporter to show me around. At the time, I was slated to cover Port Arthur, and we didn't like each other very much.

Tim was precise, and I was somewhat arrogant and loud. Tim wanted to talk about issues, and I was busy sizing up the people I'd have to cover for the paper.

Eventually, I grew out of some of my faults and went on to cover police news. Tim and I worked a lot of weekends and night shifts together. By this time, he was getting sicker, and one could guess about the kind of battle scars he was carrying.

He'd been promoted to assistant city editor, and we developed a kind of friendship. It was an uneasy alliance at first, but then I discovered that Tim looked for the good in people and appreciated the talents they had. He tried hard to do that. And in a business where positive reinforcement is not very common, Tim always tried to get me moving with a good word.

We'd crack jokes, and I began to admire his skills. You really gotta have one thing to do this newspaper bit day-in and day-out. You have to love it — deep down in your gut — to put up with the obstacles that people throw in front of you from time to time. You've got to be half-crazy, highly skilled and energetic.

Beaumont Enterprise reporter Steve Brewer.

A memorial service for Kevin Hopkins has been rescheduled. It will take place at 11 a.m., Saturday, Jan. 27, at Shepherd Park Christian Church, 7900 Eastern Ave., NW, Washington, D.C.

Hopkins died Dec. 27, 1995, AIDS related complications. His obituary was published Jan. 5.

Tim loved this work. Tim loved the people, and he loved the pace. He stood it as long as he could.

Tim faced his illness and owned up to what caused it during a time when people made those suffering from AIDS outcasts. They still do. I have lost friends to this disease before, and I expect I will again. How many people have to die? How many people have to get sick?

Right now, grand and broad statements about AIDS seem out of place because Tim's death strikes me more personally.

Tim handled his fight with such class and such poise that people were forced to admire him. The last time I saw him was about two weeks ago, and I cringed at how the disease had destroyed his body. He seemed weak, and the friend I used to talk to about books, politics and movies couldn't muster the energy to say more than four or five words at a time. What a frustrating experience that must have been for a writer.

Scott David Holmberg

Jan. 26, 1957 - Jan. 23, 1995

Scott was born in Pikes Bay, Leech Lakes Chippewa Indian Reservation, Minnesota, and crossed over Jan. 23 in San Francisco. Scott graduated from Crown Point High School (Class of '76) in Indiana and attended Haskell College in Lawrence, Kansas. He served four years in the U.S. Army in West Germany.

He was a gentle and loving man with a compassion for all living creatures — a man with heightened visual senses and humor. His interests and hobbies included handicrafts and beadwork.

Scott is survived by his beloved companion of six years, Carlos Ricardo. His family includes his parents, John and Martha Holmberg of Sun City, Ariz.; brother, Paul; sisters, Jane and Lisa; and several nieces and nephews, all of Minneapolis/St. Paul, Minnesota. Scott was a member of the MCC and active with the Native American AIDS Project in San Francisco.

Scott was loved by many friends and family members, and will be profoundly missed. May he forever walk in peace with the Great Spirit. ▼

HICKEY—July 12, of AIDS, Patrick Hickey, 41, of Dracut an accountant, and member of AIDS Action Committee of Boston and Positive Directions of Boston, companion of Neal Allard of Dracut. Son of Barbara (Wry) Hickey of Goffstown N.H. Brother of Michael Hickey of CT, Mrs. Michael (Maureen) Kirby of Malone NY and Colleen Hickey of S. Hero VT. Uncle of Kyle and Melissa Kirby of NY. Friends may call at Dracut Funeral Home, 2159 Lakeview Ave, DRACUT on Thursday 2-4 and 7-9 p.m. A Memorial Mass will be celebrated at 9:30 a.m. in St. Jeanne D'Arc Church in Lowell. Donations may be made in his memory to AIDS Action Committee, Clarendon St., Boston or Fenway Community Health Ctr., Haviland St., Boston. 95

Umar Hasan

Umar Hasan, 32, of Washington, D.C., died Monday, October 24, 1994, at George Washington University Medical Center, of complications associated with AIDS, according to his friend, Christopher Stewart of D.C.

Hasan was born Dec. 24, 1961 in Indianapolis, Ind. In the mid-1980s he attended Indiana University and transferred to Howard University in D.C.

Hasan's participation in Howard's Forensic (debating) Program won him over 100 trophies. He also qualified for the National Individual Events Tournament of the American Forensics Association. Hasan graduated from Howard in 1989.

Upon graduation, Hasan became coach for the Howard forensics team until the fall of 1990. At that time, he became director of forensics and assistant director of student development for programming at St. Mary's College of Maryland in St. Mary's City.

Hasan loved listening to music and writing poetry. He was preparing a volume of his poems for publication shortly before his death.

"Hasan loved forensics," said Stewart, "and his commitment and devotion to teaching that discipline to his students, earned him the respect of his students and of the entire St. Mary's College Community."

In addition to Stewart, he is survived by his mother, Ella Hackett; 13 siblings; several nieces and nephews, all of Indianapolis; and close friends, Kenneth Holmes of Kentucky; Derek Rogers of D.C.; and Sharon Cosby of Atlanta.

A memorial service was held Oct. 26 at Fort Lincoln Cemetery Chapel in Brentwood, Md. Afterwards, his remains were interred at Fort Lincoln Cemetery.

Contributions in Hasan's name may be made to the St. Mary's College Forensic Society, St. Mary's City, MD 20686.

DONALD HAMMOND, 41, died Feb. 4 in Ft. Lauderdale of AIDS complications. He was born in New York, and moved to Chicago in 1979. He worked at Body Shop, Davis Street Fishmarket, and Pleasure Travel. He is survived by his companion Lucas, and many friends and family members. 96 HASTINGS—In Dorchester, formerly of Cambridge, August 10 1995. Joan W. (McCarthy) Hastings, age 45. Wife of Michael G. Hastings. Mother of Michael, Lisa, William, Julie & Steven Hastings. Daughter of Agnes W. (Fay) and the late James D. McCarthy. Sister of Eleanor, James & Edward McCarthy all of Cambridge and the late Maureen Theodore and Dennis McCarthy. Grandmother of Mark Anthony. Funeral from the John C. Burns & Sons Funeral Home, 305 Broadway, Cambridge, Monday, August 14 at 8:00 a.m., followed by a Funeral Mass in St. Mary's Church, Cambridge at 9:00 a.m. Relatives and friends invited. Visiting hours Sunday 7-9 p.m., only. In lieu of flowers memorial contributions may be made in Joan's name to the Hospice at Mission Hill, 20 Parker Hill Ave., Boston, MA 02121. Interment Mt. Auburn Crematory.

George Howlett

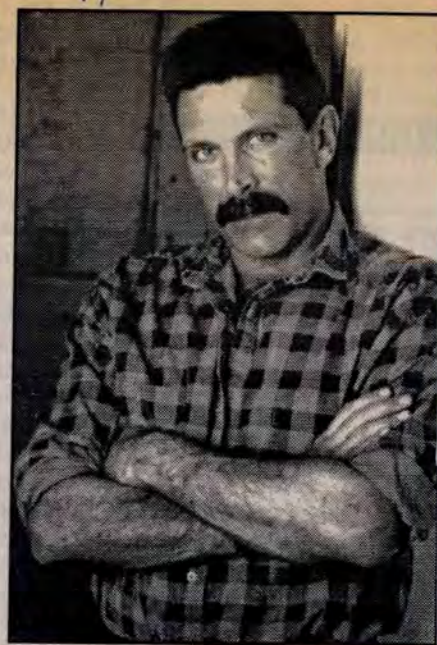

George Howlett passed quietly in his sleep on the morning of Aug. 17 at the Deaconess Hospital in Boston.

George was a lifetime resident of New England, born in Brockton, raised in Avon. He left in 1974 to join the United States Navy.

Although he loved to travel the world, George always returned to his favorite place and home, the greater Boston area. For the past ten years, he had been working for NYNEX and residing in town. He will be most remembered as a Trusted Servant to the fellowship of NA, where he shared his experience, strength and hope to many throughout the community.

Survived by a large family on the South Shore, and his special friends, Geoffrey, D.C., "Betty F.," and Michelle. A memorial service will be held on Oct. 15 at 11:00 a.m., at the Arlington Street Church.

Memorial contributions may be made in George's name to Victory Programs, P. O. Box 945, Boston, MA, 02117.

Spencer Henderson 3d, Dancer, Is Dead at 44

11-14-93

Spencer Henderson 3d, a dancer and choreographer, died on Sunday at his family's home in Fort Worth. He was 44.

The cause was AIDS, said Harold Fairbanks, a friend.

Mr. Henderson danced on Broadway in "Promises, Promises" and "Jesus Christ, Superstar" and in the national company of "Zorba." He performed in "Liza" at the Winter Garden and in nightclub acts with Shirley MacLaine, Liza Minnelli and Chita Rivera. He also danced on many television programs, including the "Tonight" Show and "The Merv Griffin Show" as well as a number of awards specials.

He choreographed the stage show "David Copperfield IV" and the film "Steel Magnolias," and was the assistant choreographer for "Footloose," "The Best Little Whorehouse in Texas" and the television series "The Love Boat."

Mr. Henderson, who was born in Fort Worth, trained in Washington with the National Ballet and in New York at the schools of the Joffrey and Harkness ballet companies. He performed with the Theater Dance Collection in 1971.

James Leo Hogan, 47

James L. Hogan, 47, a former resident of the Belmont Chambers coop on Symphony Road, died suddenly October 25. 94

Hogan, a Jamaica Plain native and a graduate of Mission High School on Mission Hill, had taught in the Framingham Public Schools for 21 years. He had taken a leave of absence for the 1993-1994 academic year, and had sublet his coop unit, spending his time at a family residence in New Hampshire, and indulging in his lifelong love of traveling.

A Navy veteran, Hogan was a graduate of Framingham State College, and earned a masters degree from Suffolk University.

Among the highlights of his nonpareil commitment to teaching was his experience spending several summers teaching English to Polish high school students at "summer camp" at various locations in Poland. Last June he proudly attended the graduation from England's Cambridge University of Stefan Zemke, one of his former Polish students, whom Hogan had sponsored to spend a summer in Boston five years ago.

His many close friends knew him by his quick, acerbic wit (he was capable of being as caustically, hilariously deprecating to himself as he could be to others). He was loved, too, for a host of idiosyncracies, including what are no doubt among the world's largest collections of used wine corks (especially champagnes), self-made macrame snowflakes, and plastic baby Jesuses.

Hogan is survived by his sister, Kathleen Hogan Gibbons of Milton, his brother, John Hogan of Bellingham, nephews Andrew and Adam, and niece Christine.

His family suggests that donations (no corks, please) may be made in his memory to the nonprofit Fenway Community Health Center, 7 Haviland Street, Boston, MA 02115.

—JJK

39
9321

Robert Brian Hardman

November 19, 1954 —
November 9, 1994

Bob Hardman died unexpectedly at his Mission Hills home Wednesday, November 9. A memorial service was held at Pacific Church of Religious Science on Sunday, November 13. Bob is survived by his parents, Charles and Mary Hardman of San Antonio, TX; his brothers, John, Keith and Bruce; his sisters, Kathy and Lynn Hardman, and Jeanette Davis; and many adoring friends including his cat, "Kitters."

Bob was born in Middletown, Pennsylvania to a military family which moved often, but lived mostly in Texas and Virginia. He attended Virginia Polytechnical Institute in Blacksburg, Virginia, where he received his bachelor of arts degree in horticulture. He moved to the San Diego area in 1981. Bob owned and operated Woodbine Design, a landscape design and maintenance business.

Bob is remembered for his friendly, gregarious, fun-loving spirit with a contagious laugh. He was a familiar and welcome face in the San Diego social scene as well as the frequent host of cocktail and dinner parties. Bob loved to travel and found the time to see and enjoy many cities in the U.S.

He had a great reverence for nature apart from the business of landscaping. His own gardens reflect his talent and artistry.

Greg Hixon

Gregory James Hixon, one of the co-owners of the Blue Penguin, a Gay restaurant and bar on Capitol Hill, died Tuesday, November 29, 1994. Hixon, 29, of McLean, Virginia, died of AIDS related complications at the Hospice of Washington in D.C., according to his parents, James and Lois Hixon of Denver, Colorado.

Hixon, the head chef at the Blue Penguin at the time of his death, began his cooking career at the L'Academie de Cuisine, Inc. in Baltimore, Md. where he graduated in 1989. Upon leaving L'Academie, Hixon worked for the Catering Company of Washington, D.C. During the summer of 1990 he worked at Potpourri, a Delaware restaurant, and in 1991 he worked for Stella's, a D.C. restaurant. Following Stella's, Hixon worked for the D.C.-based catering company, Eric and Friends, from 1992 to 1993. He became a co-owner of the Blue Penguin in August 1993.

Prior to L'Academie, Hixon studied political science and journalism at the University of Colorado in Denver. He left the University of Colorado his junior year to study cooking.

Hixon was born May 26, 1965 in Denver. He graduated from Douglas County High School in Castle Rock, Colo. in 1983.

He was predeceased by his brother, Gary Hixon and sister, Debbie Hixon.

There will be a memorial service on Thursday, Dec. 8, at 9 p.m., at the Blue Penguin, 801 Pennsylvania Ave., SE. There will be another service in Denver at a later date. Hixon's remains will be cremated and interred with his siblings' remains in Littleton, Colo.

In lieu of flowers, contributions may be made in Hixon's name to Hospice of Washington, 3720 Upton St., NW, Washington, DC 20016.

HORGAN of Boston, on Friday, Sept. 6th Jeffrey A. Long-time companion of Darryl Murphy of Boston. Devoted son of L. Gail (Cousens) Horgan of Auburn, MA. Loving brother of Wayne Horgan of Hartford, CT and brother-in-law of Eileen Albrizio of Hartford, CT. Loving brother of Kimberly Herron of Auburn, MA. Also survived by his grandparents Verna and Edward Cousens, Jr. of MA, an uncle Edward Cousens III of MA, a great aunt Rena Wanamaker of MA, and many loving friends. Relatives and friends are respectfully invited to attend a Service of Tribute & Reflection on Wednesday, September 11 at 4 p.m. in the Celestial Chapel of J.S. Waterman & Sons Eastman-Waring Funeral Home, 495 Commonwealth Ave. (opposite the Green Line M.B.T.A. station), BOSTON, MA. Visiting hours will be held on Monday, Sept. 9 at 5-8 p.m. and Tuesday, Sept. 10 at 5-8 p.m. Parking attendants at front entrance. If family & friends desired, they may make contributions in Jeffrey's name to the Aids Action Committee, 131 Clarendon St., Boston, MA. 96

Jerry Harler

Jerry Lee Harler, 38, of Washington, D.C., died Saturday, January 14, 1995, of HIV-related complications at the Hospice of Washington in D.C., according to his Whitman-Walker Clinic buddy, Aubrey Mitten of Bethesda, Maryland.

Harler was a drag performer for several D.C. Gay bars including Ziegfeld's during the early 1980s. He had moved to D.C. from his native Staunton, Va., in the late 1970s, and worked in health care administration for several health care agencies. From 1990 until 1991, he worked at the Hospice of Washington. Harler returned to Staunton to work for the Valley Community Service Board from 1992-1993.

He moved back to D.C. in early 1993 to resume his work at the Hospice of Washington. He retired in November 1993 due to his health.

Harler was born Dec. 8, 1956, in Staunton, where he grew up.

In addition to Mitten, Harler is survived by his mother, Nannette Dedrick of Crimora, Va.; three sisters, Rosemary Harler of Williamsburg, Va., Marsha Harler of Richmond, Va., and Sharon Mikkleson of Gloucester Point, Va.; and many friends.

"Jerry had a real respect and honor for the personhood of each individual and many times was placed in the role of spiritual guide to his friends," said Mitten.

There will be a private memorial service. Harler's remains were cremated and will be scattered in Staunton.

Allison G. Heisterman

Aug. 24, 1946 - April 29, 1995

Allison is now at peace after having suffered and endured a long-term AIDS illness.

He died at 11:26 a.m. on Saturday, April 29, at Davies Hospital. At his bedside were his longtime friend, Horace Edwards, as well as two other friends, Charlie and Celina Gordon.

Allison is survived by his loving mother, Bessie Hudieck, a resident of Fortescue, New Jersey. He will be greatly missed and long remembered by his family and friends. We will all long recall his caring and sharing self, and his talents as both a carpenter and a chef.

There will be no services. Allison's ashes will be scattered at the Russian River. ▼

JERRY HUFFMAN

Jerry was a friend of Nick's Café and a personal friend of mine. Through the years, while he's been away in Portsmouth, NH, our friendship was still there, and he always kept in touch. He touched a lot of people and will be deeply missed. As he always said, "Let's party again!" Keep watching over us, Jerry.

Jerry Huffman was employed at Members Club in Portsmouth, NH from 1993 to 1994. He worked at the front door and bartended on weekends. He was so well-liked and, of course, exhibited the macho and butch image, especially when he dressed in his leather attire.

Whenever Members had a party or theme party, Jerry was always right there to pitch in. He loved to decorate, and he had a great flair for it. His favorite time of year was Christmas. Last year, he put in so much time of his own, just to make all the lights at the club look so perfect, and Santa so jolly.

Then, when it came time for the New Year's party, it was all out for Jerry, from decorating to looking so handsome behind the bar in his suit. He would help out any way he could, from putting his time in fund-raisers to helping a friend. He was a giver, not a taker.

When Jerry wasn't feeling good he had people around him to help. At times, he felt like he was putting people out, but, of course, he wasn't, because he was so well-loved.

Jerry, we will miss you, and you will always be in our hearts.

We love you, 2-5-95
Joe-Est, Dick Lisbman and the staff at Members

Kevin J. Hynes

Kevin J. Hynes, 31, of Jamaica Plain died peacefully of AIDS on Jan. 16. He was surrounded by his lover Jonathan Scott, and his many friends including Susan Burbidge, Joey Capone, Jayne Recchia, "Marty" Lewis, Jeanne Holm and Jon Goode. He is survived by his parents Paul and Marie, and two brothers, Steven and Michael of Hyde Park, and his dog, Toby.

Kevin's professional career began in the Air Force in 1983. He returned to Boston and was a software technician. He then pursued his life-long dream of traveling to far away and exotic places with his best friend Susan Burbidge. He most recently worked at Olives of Charlestown where he will be sadly missed by Olivia, Todd, the Olives family and his many loyal customers.

Kevin was perhaps best known in Boston for his commitment to health and fitness. As a personal trainer he brought his special inspirational quality to both new comers and to seasoned gym veterans. He will be missed by many of his friends at Mike's gym.

But most of all it was Kevin himself who we will always cherish and love.

God has a beautiful angel tonight.

A memorial service is planned for Sunday, Jan. 22, at 3 p.m. at the Jesuit Urban Center, 775 Harrison Ave., Boston. No flowers. Donations may be sent to: The Mind Body Scholarship Program, Behavioral Medicine, 110 Francis St., N.E. Deaconess Hospital, Boston, MA 02215. 9-5

Jack B. Hepworth

Oct. 3, 1929 - Feb. 15, 1995

Jack died peacefully at home, surrounded by family and friends, on Wednesday, February 15, from AIDS complications.

Father, lover and dear friend, Jack was a man of great warmth, engaging playfulness and abundant charm. Whether mixing margaritas for friends on Fire Island, cooking a gourmet meal for his lover, giving fatherly advice to his children or playing his grand piano in a room by himself, Jack did it with a passion and love of life that endeared him to many and that few could forget.

A graduate of Cornell University, Jack had a long and varied career as a farmer, businessman, stockbroker and hotelier. He managed his family farm in upstate New York, owned a produce-packaging company in Florida, worked for Merrill-Lynch and then his own securities firm in New York City, and most recently owned and managed The Mark St. Thomas (an inn and restaurant) in the Virgin Islands.

He is survived by his companions, Andreas and Yiannis; his children, Jeri, Linda, Mark, Jodie and Tracy; his ten grandchildren; his dear friends, Robert, Mary, David, Jon, Angus and Bill; his brother, Gary; his former wife, Lynn; and the ever faithful Eloise. ▼

Richard Denton Hunter

Oct. 14, 1963 - Jan. 17, 1995

"Rick the Magician" showed the true meaning of courage and tenacity, fighting against AIDS for nearly five years with a determination to live life to the fullest.

He died peacefully in the warm and loving company of his friends at home in Berkeley, after his illness took a turn for the worse in December.

Rick was a professional magician. His close-up illusions were mind-boggling, especially when the "tricks" were literally played on you. He was happiest pulling a quarter from your ear or putting out a cigarette in your shirt "with no damage."

Rick's sweetness and charm will be missed by all who loved him. He is survived by his sisters, Angie and Sharon; aunts, Angie and Bernie; close friends, David, Francis and Hope; and his soul mate, K.C.

Rick was very brave. He brought magic to everyone around him.

A memorial service will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday, February 4, at St. Jerome Church, 308 Carmel Ave., El Cerrito. In lieu of flowers, donations in Rick's name to the East Bay AIDS Center or to the Ryan White Fund would be appreciated. ▼

Robert Hershman, 41; producer of TV news shows, AIDS activist

3-11-95

Robert Alan Hershman, a producer of news documentaries for CBS television and recipient of broadcasting's prestigious Peabody Award, died in Santa Monica, Calif., Saturday of complications from AIDS. He was 41.

Born in Cleveland, he attended Shaker Heights public schools and graduated magna cum laude, Phi Beta Kappa from Harvard College in 1975. He was a resident of New York City and Santa Monica.

Mr. Hershman began a career in broadcasting in 1976 after leaving the State Department, where he was in training for the foreign diplomatic service, to work for PBS's "McNeil-Lehrer Report." He later moved to New York City as a recipient of a Carnegie Fellowship. In New York, he was instrumental in the founding of the Museum of Broadcasting and Television, serving as the first vice president before going on to work at CBS News. He was twice nominated for an Emmy.

Highlights of his career as a producer at "West 57th" and "48 Hours" include interviews with political figures ranging from Abolhassan Bani-Sadr, the president of Iran after the overthrow of the Shah, to Prince Charles of England in his first direct American TV interview in a decade, to shows on Germany's WWII anti-Nazi group, the White Rose, and on AIDS in Orange County, Calif.

Mr. Hershman was responsible for changing hospital policies for AIDS patients in New York when he sued New York University Hospital in 1990.

In 1992, he and his life partner, Gary Barton, received the Leadership Award from the AIDS Action Council of Washington, D.C.

Fluent in many languages, Mr. Hershman taught English at various times in Mexico and Japan. As a member of the Metivta Center for Jewish Wisdom in Los Angeles, he was recently confirmed a "maggid," a scholar and teacher in the community of Israel. For the past two years he studied Judaism, particularly the Jewish mystical tradition, with Rabbi Jonathan Omer-Man.

Mr. Hershman also leaves his parents, Phyllis and Eugene Hershman of Beachwood, Ohio, and Palm Beach Gardens, Fla.; a sister, Marcie Hershman of Boston; two brothers, Clifford and Daniel, both of Cleveland; two nephews and two nieces.

Services will be held in Cleveland.

HARDY—In Boston, Sept. 10, Jon Anthony Hardy, 31, of 35 Worcester Sq., Boston, formerly of Nashua & Hudson, NH. Beloved son of David S. Hardy of Hudson, NH, and the late Jane A. (Wilkins) Hardy Plummer. Stepson of Lorraine Hardy of Hudson and Robert A. Plummer of Derry, NH. Brother of Douglas & Dean of Nashua, James of Loudon, NH, Joseph of Amherst, NH, Daniel of Londonderry, NH, Diane Latimer of Keene, NH, Deborah Capozzoli of Framingham, MA, Denise Patellis of Rocky Point, NY and Bobbi-Jane Sullivan of Nashua, NH. Services in the Farwell Funeral Home, 18 Lock St. NASHUA, NH, Saturday at 1 pm. Friends are invited. Donations to Aids Action Committee, 131 Clarendon St. Boston, MA 02116

Bruce William Haller

June 17, 1951 - Feb. 4, 1995

On February 4, Bruce joined his beloved Brian Bigney. Bruce was born in Brooklyn to Rose and Phil Haller, where he grew up with his best friend and sister, Shelley. He attended Brooklyn College and taught English at Flatbush Yeshiva.

In 1977, after many months of traveling westward, he arrived in Northern California, where he lived as a self-proclaimed "country bumpkin." Eventually his journey brought him to San Francisco, which became his home.

Often found on the telephone, Bruce lived his life to the fullest. He loved the company of his many good friends and will be remembered for his love of people, music and laughter. He is a part of our hearts, and he will never be truly gone from our lives.

In addition to Bruce's parents and sister, he is survived by his brother-in-law, Gary Lindner; his nieces, Heidi and Melanie; and nephew, Douglas.

A celebration of his life will be held on Sunday, April 2. Please call (510) 832-5411 or (415) 552-9098. Donations may be made to the Bay Area Jewish Healing Center, the Godfather Service Fund or the San Francisco AIDS Foundation. ▼

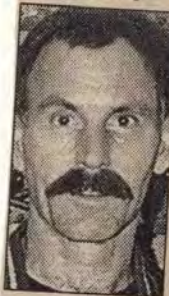

HELLIWELL—John Charles. Died peacefully at home in Toronto on Oct. 11, 1996 from complications linked to AIDS. John was born near Geraldton, Ontario on Jan. 12, 1950, the only child of John and Renee (nee Denise) Helliwell, both deceased. He will be missed by his goddaughter, Tamara Whalen, by the family of his late companion, Jim Clarkson, and by many other friends. John was an information systems consultant. He was the author of two books and an award-winning newspaper column on personal computing. He was executive editor of "PC Week" magazine, then executive director of information systems for Ziff-Davis Publishing Company. He was a founding member of the Grindstone Group in Canada and of Digital Queers/NYCQ in New York. An avid traveller, urbanist, historian, theatre-goer and collector of contemporary art, John excelled as a communicator, a teacher, and a mentor. Cremation; ashes to be scattered on Lake Superior, near his birthplace. Contributions appreciated in John's name to Body Positive (19 Fulton St. Ste. 308B, NYC 10038), and Direct AIDS Alternative Information Resources (DAAIR Inc. 31 East 30th Street, #2A, NYC 10016). A celebration and remembrance of John's life will take place at Toddmorden Mills (Pottery Road at Bayview Extension, Toronto) on Sunday, November 3, 1996, 2 PM.

Chuck Haynes

March 23, 1939 - April 14, 1995

Chuck died peacefully on the evening of April 14 at the Zen Hospice, where he moved three weeks before. Prior to that he was cared for lovingly at home for over six months by his longtime partner, Greg Patterson.

Chuck made San Francisco his home when he moved here from Riverside, California, in 1973. He was a gentle man and a gentleman, a man of many talents, and many friends. He was kind to everyone and generous to a fault. To know him was to love him. He will be greatly missed by a host of friends from coast to coast, but especially by his partner of 11 years, Greg.

Although there was no memorial service, a celebration of Chuck's life will be held on Saturday evening, May 27, at his home. Please call Greg at 221-5830 for details. ▼

HIGGINS—Of Hopkinton and Nantucket. Nov. 8, 1992. Hazel Lucille (Macy) Higgins. The beloved wife of the late James O'Brien Higgins. Devoted mother of Brian T. M. Higgins of Arlington, Robert W. Higgins of Montreal, Quebec, Canada, Katherine E. Higgins of Santa Fe, NM, and Gail Curran of Ketchikan, Alaska. Grandmother of Peter and John Higgins, James and Catherine Higgins and Lisa and Jeffe Curran. Sister of the Rev. Clinton Macy of Salem, MA and Doris Kenyon of Nantucket. A Private Service will be held at a later date. Donations may be made to the Nantucket Historical Assoc. or the Nantucket Conservation Foundation, Nantucket, MA 02554 or NOBSKA, c/o Robert Cleasby, P.O. Box 3034, Providence, RI. Arrangements by Commonwealth Funeral Service of Boston.

42

Edward Allen Hart

Dec. 6, 1950 - April 20, 1995

Edward's spirit ascended peacefully at mid-morning on Thursday, April 20.

With him was his longtime companion, Michael Hilty. A resident of San Francisco for 23 years, Edward was a recognized local photographer in the 1970s. He loved nature and enjoyed hiking at favorite spots in the High Sierras and along the California coast.

Edward was active in the AA movement since 1980 and looked forward to celebrating his 15th year of sobriety on June 1. At the time of his death, he was actively pursuing Alcohol & Drug Rehabilitation Studies at UC Berkeley, while serving as a volunteer counselor for 18th Street Services and Haight-Ashbury Alcohol Treatment Services.

A longtime member of the Trinity Episcopal Church, Edward served two terms as vestryman and was senior warden in 1989. Edward will be forever missed by his family of loving friends in San Francisco, his many relatives in Illinois, by Michael and their beloved dog, Duffy.

All who knew Edward are encouraged to attend a memorial service and reception at Trinity Episcopal on Sunday, May 7, at 4 p.m. Contributions may be made to either 18th Street Services or Haight-Ashbury Alcohol Treatment Services. ▼

Andrew Arlin Hall

Nov. 26, 1954 - March 1, 1995

Andrew Hall passed away peacefully March 1 at his Carl Street home, after a courageous struggle with AIDS. He was 40.

Andrew graduated from the University of Michigan with a liberal arts degree and a master's in urban planning. Interested in politics since junior high school, he was active in many local and national political campaigns. He was employed by the U.S. Department of Interior in Washington, D.C., before coming to San Francisco more than a decade ago.

Andrew's longtime partner, journalist Chris Adams, died of AIDS in June 1994. Andrew was also preceded in death by his father, Arlin. He is survived by his mother, Maxine Hall, of Hendersonville, N.C.; sisters, Diane, Nancy and Karen; and a brother, Bradley.

His family expresses deep gratitude to his doctor, Jay Lalezari, and his devoted nurse, Rob Basley.

Survivors ask that donations be given to Family Link, 317 Castro Street, San Francisco, CA 94114 or Service Through Touch, 41 Carl Street, San Francisco, CA 94117 or any other local AIDS organization. Andrew's life will be celebrated on March 24. For details, call (415) 929-7577. ▼

John Hass

John Henry Hass, 46, of Washington, D.C., died Tuesday, March 14, 1995 at George Washington University Medical Center of AIDS related complications, according to his partner, Joseph Paul Davis of Washington.

Hass worked for the Library of Congress for 21 years, where at his retirement he was the Director of Constituent Services. Prior to that, he served in the United States Navy as a civilian employee at the Pentagon.

Hass was a devout Episcopalian and an active philanthropist. He was a 15 year board member of the International Student House, an organization that brings foreign exchange students to the U.S. and helps them find housing.

Hass was born on Dec. 30, 1948 in Bethesda, Md. and graduated from William and Mary College in Virginia.

Hass is also survived by his father, Dr. Albert Pershing Hass; sister, Catherine Hatfield, both of Chesapeake, Va.; and two brothers, William Hass of Franklin, Mass., and Robert Hass of Tampa, Fla.

A memorial will be held at Old Trinity Episcopal Church in Church Creek, Md., on Saturday, April 22 at 11 a.m.

Contributions in Hass's name may be made to Food and Friends, PO Box

Robert F. Hathaway

Robert F. Hathaway of Boston passed away at his home on March 13 after a long illness. With family beside him, Bob bid a peaceful farewell.

In 1988, he received his master's degree in education from the University of Massachusetts at Boston. Employed as a special education teacher at the Leuenberg Middle School in Mattapan, he will be fondly remembered for his love of people, gift of teaching and compassion for his students.

Throughout his life, Bob enjoyed traveling the country and in turn, cultivated life-long friendships he treasured forever. Bob's ability to courageously battle his illness led others to help him through it to the end.

He was a significant inspiration to all and always encouraged you to be happy and remember all the good times shared together.

Survivors include his two sisters, Janice Hathaway and Rula Miller of New Bedford; a brother, Leonard Hathaway of Plympton; and two nieces and a nephew.

Bob, we will miss the warmth of your smile, the twinkle in your eyes, and love from your heart.

Forever remembered, forever loved, forever missed.

A memorial service will be held at the Jesuit Urban Center, 775 Harrison Ave., Boston, on Friday, May 12th at 7 p.m. We hope you will attend.

Donald M. Heggstad

May 6, 1995

Donald M. Heggstad, 48, died peacefully May 6. A resident of San Francisco for over 20 years, he will be missed by many, as he was a source of inspiration and support to those in recovery from substance abuse.

Prior to his illness, Don was a longtime employee of the St. Anthony Foundation, where he used his strength, both physical and spiritual, in the service of the poor and elderly. He lived by his principles and sense of justice, and was a true friend.

Don was born and raised on a farm in Starbuck, Minnesota. He leaves his mother and father, Celia and Melvin; sisters and brother, Jean, Ruth Ann and Mark; and many friends, all of whom are grateful for his presence in the world.

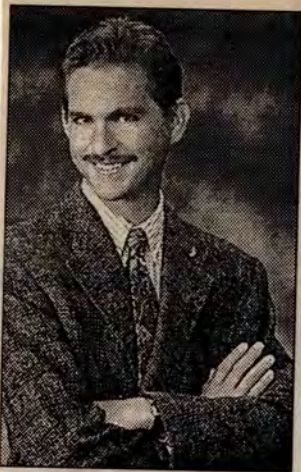

Donations in Don's memory may be made to the Zen Hospice Project, 273 Page Street, San Francisco, CA 94102. ▼

3822
43

Bud Hinkle 95

Earl "Bud" Hinkle, 39, died with family in attendance at the family home on Monday, May 8 in Anderson, California after a long battle with AIDS.

"Bud," as he was known to family and friends, was instrumental in restructuring and developing programs to care for people with HIV/AIDS in Shasta County. He developed and coordinated the Volunteer Program for the Shasta-Trinity AIDS Consortium, founded and facilitated the Support Group for People with HIV/AIDS, organized the support group for Family, Friends and Caregivers of People with AIDS, and co-founded the Shasta-Trinity HIV Food Bank. With the help from the Health Department and local clergy, he organized Shasta County's first AIDS Vigil and Candlelight Memorial Service for World AIDS Day. He was an active AIDS educator, speaking to numerous local organizations, schools, and media.

A life-long resident of Shasta County, he left only briefly to complete his Master's Degree in Psychology at Chico State University and to work with AIDS patients in San Francisco. During his six years in San Francisco, he earned his Marriage, Family and Child Counselor State License. His spare time in San Francisco was spent at an AIDS volunteer for the Shanti Project and the UCSF AIDS Health Project Volunteer Therapist Program. He also worked for KAIROS House, facilitating support groups for Caregivers of People with AIDS, and with Caremark, facilitating a support group for infusion patients who had AIDS.

In 1990 he developed his private practice as a Psychotherapist. Though he worked with a variety of clients, his work in private practice mostly centered around individuals, couples, and groups of people with AIDS.

Bud is remembered for his caustic wit, organizational abilities, perfectionism, leadership, and his compassion and caring for people with AIDS and their families.

Those who continue to love him are his parents, J. Lee and Myrtle Hinkle of Anderson, California; his sisters Sherry Perry of Omaha, Nebraska, Judy Cardenas of Yuba City, California, Marcia Hinkle of Palo Cedro, California; his brothers Jay Hinkle and John Hinkle, both of San Diego, California; his nephews Jon, Jay) Christopher, Christian, and Daniel; and his long-time companions Frank Anderson and Rafael Lucatero of San Francisco.

A memorial service will be held in Redding at the Seventh Day Adventist Church, 2828 Eureka Way, on May 20 at 4 p.m.

A fund has been established by the Shasta-Trinity HIV Food Bank in Bud's memory. Contributions may be made to: Shasta-Trinity HIV Food Bank, Bud Hinkle Memorial Fund, P.O. Box 493283, Redding CA 96049-3283. Persons desiring further information may call (916) 223-

William "Billy" Hanson

Dec. 14, 1928 - June 20, 1995

Billy was born in Wisconsin 66 years ago. He and his companion, Russ LeClair, were residents of San Francisco for over 45 years. He was in the Navy during W.W.II and in the Army during the Korean conflict.

Besides being San Francisco's premier Norwegian, Billy had a great love of anything electronic. Billy, like Russ, loved cats and Nate Shermans.

Billy died of natural causes and was cremated; his ashes were scattered on the ocean. He is survived by his sister, Betty Tickner; several nephews; and many friends. ▼

Steven Arthur Haines

Feb. 6, 1954 - April 21, 1995

Steven died peacefully Friday morning after a long battle with AIDS.

He was surrounded by family and friends. He was born in Grand Rapids, Michigan. We will remember his unique sense of humor, his love of plants, perpetual smile, his love of travel, and his devotion to everyone he met.

Steve served in the U.S. Army from 1971 to 1974 as a medical corpsman; two of these years were in the Panama Canal Zone. He graced the city of San Francisco in December 1977. He continued in the medical field at Children's Hospital from 1982 to 1988. Steven joined the St. Francis Memorial Hospital family in 1990. He loved the SFMH community and participated in many staff committees and functions.

Steven is survived by his beloved partner, Ken Shigematsu. He was the son of Reginald and Shirley Lockridge Haines. He leaves behind his stepmother, Sarah Haines; sisters, Dorcelle Haines and Debra Stone; and brothers, Thomas, Leonard and Kenneth Haines.

Donations can be made in Steven's memory to the St. Francis Foundation, 900 Hyde St., SF, CA 94109. These donations will help the hospital and help erect a memorial plaque in Steven's honor. ▼

David W. Herrin

Jan. 16, 1960 - April 8, 1995

On Saturday, April 8, David left this life for his place in the next. His presence will be greatly missed by all who knew him.

After six weeks of battling courageously and with great humor and determination, he succumbed to overpowering hepatitis.

No one who knew him will forget his great love of life and willingness to give all of himself to any cause that he felt close to. That glint of mischief in his eye and that contagious smile were his trademarks while tending bar at the SF-Eagle.

David hailed from Houston and came to San Francisco via Los Angeles and Guerneville. He met his partner, Scott Butcher, in 1992, and they were together for David's last breath, along with his close friend, Star Kirkeide. David is also survived by his mother, Francis; stepfather, Bill; and four brothers, Ricky, Chuck, Larry and James - all of Houston.

Many thanks to Barbara and all the fine VNH staff, as well as the Ward 5A staff at SFGH, for making David's last days both comfortable and spiritual. Contributions to Project Open Hand are appreciated in lieu of flowers.

David - Save a spot next to you. I love you. S ▼

Bill Henderson (aka Bill Bummer)

1938-1995

Bill Bummer died of AIDS in Fresno April 19. Anyone hanging out on Polk Street in the '60s would remember him - the one with the bluebirds tattooed on his tits! He worked at the Grubstake, Busby's and the Barracks, and drove a Model A pickup until a wealthy matron replaced it with a 1946 Rolls Royce.

In 1969, Bill's face appeared on the cover of Life Magazine for an article called "Homosexuality in America" - a demeaning look at the new gay liberation movement. Bill and his best friend, Don Collins, were definitely liberated cover girls. In 1971 they "streaked" the Stud, running naked the full length of the bar, until Don hit his head on a rafter and passed out.

In 1980, Bill returned to his home town, bought a home, and got a job in a hospital pharmacy dispensing drugs - an occupation for which he was well-qualified. Bill was buried in Fresno and given a military funeral befitting his rank. Unfortunately, the Rolls was unable to serve as the family car, as Bill had misplaced the engine! If you have stories to share or wish to send condolences to his supportive family, give Bill Trumbo a call at 648-7312. ▼

Jayson Wortham Hudgins

March 15, 1953 - April 29, 1995

My bright and shining star, my sweet, beautiful, loving man left me early in the morning. He fought diligently and dauntlessly in my presence to be with me, but finally, he chose to go out gracefully, choosing quality of life over becoming an extension of life-support machinery.

Jayson pursued many paths in his life, including performing as a dancer/singer around the U.S. and Japan. His artworks are still enjoyed by many.

Living in the Mecca of Men-Loving-Men 21 years, he shared his beautiful smile, furry body and intense passion freely. His charm and warmth were felt at The Powerhouse, My Place, The Hothouse, Animals, The End Up, and several other SF establishments he worked at.

Jayson leaves behind a legacy of love and passion for all living things, including his gift to Mother Earth, The Church of the Trees, a center for sowing the seeds of respect and information about trees and plant life to be set in motion this fall.

I want to thank all the beautiful loving angels involved in Jayson's care at SFGH 5-A. And to Tommy, Dana, K.T. & the kids, Rob and Bear, my heartfelt gratitude and love. ▼

44

'No one knew what it meant'

Bill Walker of the AIDS History Project later recalled that the community's reaction was perfectly illustrated in the beginning scene of Longtime Companion. In that film, gay men were shown reading these early news reports wondering what impact it would have. "That's what it was like," he said.

"It was a topic of conversation. No one knew what it meant. To put it in perspective at that point I doubt that there were very many people who paid much attention to it at all. It's only in historical hindsight that that was the particular moment that we got the first flash warning of what was yet to come. No one had any idea what it would mean."

Early death was the impact, at first and to this day. One of the first men to die was 42-year-old Advocate associate editor Brent Harris, who became the first staff person there to die from complications due to AIDS.

Even Dr. Anthony Fauci — who, for better or worse, was made the government's AIDS czar at the National Institutes of Health — was stumped by the initial reports. Last month, Fauci compared those first few reports to the day when JFK was shot: everyone remembers exactly where they were.

By July 1981, 26 gay men were dead from the new illness. ▼

HAAS—Of 53 Lawn St., Roxbury, Gregory J. Haas, 31 died peacefully at his parents' home in Bowling Green OH on Wednesday, June 14th with his good friend Corinthe Mätera at his side. His death was the result of complications from liver disease and AIDS. Greg was infected with HIV and hepatitis through the medical use of tainted blood products to treat his hemophilia. Since 1991, Haas worked full-time as an AIDS educator and activist. In Boston, he founded and edited The Common Factor, the quarterly journal of the Committee of Ten Thousand (COTT), an advocacy organization for persons with HIV disease and hemophilia. And in 1992, he was named to the Community Constituency Group, an advisory board of the AIDS Clinical Trials Group, which coordinates drug trials nationally. Greg was a founding member of the National Community Advisory Board for the HIV Cost and Services Utilization Study (HCSUS), the first research effort to study the use of care and unmet needs for care in a nationally representative sample of people living with HIV. He was also elected by the Community Advisory Board as one of the three community reps to the HCSUS Scientific Advisory Committee. His involvement in AIDS activism took him to meetings with Dr. Jonas Salk and with President Clinton's chief AIDS advisor and to conferences all over the United States and in Amsterdam, Berlin, Yokohama, and Mexico City. Haas worked to challenge the injustice of the public policies, legislation, and corporate practices that have fueled the AIDS crisis. Haas was committed to making connections among the gay community, those with hemophilia, women, people of color, and impoverished communities affected by AIDS. He was dedicated to the belief that, through information and action, people with HIV can have long, productive and meaningful lives. In addition to the time and energy he devoted to fighting AIDS, Greg was a teacher and a scholar. He received an M.A. degree in mathematics from Boston College in 1986, and taught undergraduate courses there for six years. He was an avid reader of history and an adventurous traveler. In 1989, he spent eight weeks travelling in Mexico and Guatemala, studying Spanish and Central American history. He was also a collector of classic bluegrass, blues and folk music. And he was a lifelong Red Sox fan. Greg is survived by his parents, Paul and Rosie Haas; his sisters, Christine Haas, of Pittsburgh, and Karen Haas-Misseldine, of Pocatello, Idaho; his brothers-in-law, Dan Kovalik of Pittsburgh and Tom Misseldine, of Pocatello; his sister-in-law, Katrina Vandenberg, of Fayetteville, Arkansas; his niece, Cassandra Misseldine; his grandmother, Mabel Haas of Niles, Ohio; and his cat, Pinkie Slim. Greg's younger brother Tim, who worked alongside Greg as an AIDS educator, died of similar causes in November of last year. There will be visitations on Friday, June 23, 6-8 p.m. and on Saturday, June 24, 2-4 p.m. at the Deck-Hanneman Funeral Home, 218 East Wooster Street, Bowling Green, Ohio. A celebration in Greg's honor will be held on July 22, 1995, beginning at 4 p.m. at the home of Paul and Rosie Haas, 873 Ferradale Ct., Bowling Green, OH. Memorials can be made in Greg's name to WORLD—Women Organized to Respond to Life-Threatening Diseases, P.O. Box 11595, Oakland, CA 94611, or OHAC—Ohio Hemophilia Action Coalition (4155 Pleasant Valley Lane, Canfield, Ohio 44406). 75

Fifth family member lost to early death

By Zachary R. Dowdy
GLOBE STAFF

When she says her final goodbye to her murdered grandson next week, Susie Sullivan will have buried five of her family in the past 10 years, all of whom died tragically early in their lives.

The latest is Zandera Sullivan, her 21-year-old grandson, stabbed to death in a building on Seaver Street in Roxbury Monday night. Two weeks before that, the young man's father, Zandera Bigby, was shot and killed in Roxbury.

A granddaughter, Candice Sullivan, 12, was killed in a fire in 1990, and a nephew, Christopher Holmes, fell victim to AIDS in his mid 20s in 1992.

Ten years ago, her son, James Sullivan Jr., a Boston firefighter, was murdered.

Susie Sullivan said yesterday that her pain only worsens as she prepared to bury yet another one of her own.

"I buried four kids in 10 years," she said, sitting by her kitchen window yesterday, gazing out onto the streets and playgrounds where many of her children walk and play off Centre Street in Jamaica Plain.

Sullivan's house always has been filled with children. Some she gave birth to; some were born to other people.

As she spoke yesterday, a toddler she just adopted walked through the living room and bedrooms of the large apartment where several grandchildren ran in and out.

Zandera Sullivan, her dead grandson, was known as Peter to distinguish him from his father. Zandera had a 2-year-old girl named Terraja.

Joyce Alston, Zandera Sullivan's aunt, said Peter was so distraught over his father's death that he went to the funeral but could not bear to attend the burial.

"He took it very hard because he was close to his father," Alston said. Even though they didn't live together, father and son saw each other at least once a week.

Homicide detectives have not yet found the younger Zandera's killer but his relatives say he was stabbed while visiting his girlfriend, who lives on Seaver Street.

Susie Sullivan said yesterday that police were seeking a warrant for at least one suspect's arrest. She said she wants to see the face of the person who overpowered her 230-pound grandson.

Susie Sullivan has found no closure in the two other murders that have caused her pain. No one was convicted in the death of her son, and police have made no arrests in the slaying of Zandera Bigby. She hopes police will have better luck with her grandson's case.

"Sometimes I feel like throwing up my hands and giving up," she said. "But what would that do?"

"I haven't had a happy day in 10 years," she said. "If James was still here and if Chris was still here and if I had Candice and if I hadn't lost Peter, I'd be happy."

The funeral for Zandera Sullivan will be held Monday at Morning Star Baptist Church in Mattapan. The wake begins at 11 a.m., with the service at noon.

HARRIS—John Charles, 33, of 240 Beacon St., Framingham, passed away Sunday, December 3, at the Health Care Dimensions in Boston. He is survived by his parents, Willard C. and Joan (Houdlette) Harris. He is also survived by two sisters, Kimberly and Melanie Harris, both of Framingham, his grandmother Annie L. Harris of Waltham, 5 aunts, Leah Awrey of Framingham, Avis Fecanin of NJ, Roberta Crowell of Everett, Norma Huff of Everett and Jessie Lambise of Winchester. He is also survived by many uncles and cousins and he was also the nephew of the late Marjorie Hoey. Funeral services will be held Tuesday, December 5 at 9 a.m. in St. Bridget's Church, Rte. 9 (Framingham Center), and burial will follow in Edgell Grove Cemetery, Framingham. Visiting hours will be held on Monday evening, from 7-9 p.m. in the Wadsworth Funeral Home of J.S. Waterman & Sons, 318 Union Ave., FRAMINGHAM. Funeral arrangements are under the direction of the Philip J. Chiappini Funeral Home in FRAMINGHAM. 75

In Loving Memory of
Thomas John Harlin
March 3, 1964
November 3, 1994

Richard Dennis Hedrick

Jan. 25, 1950 - May 18, 1995

Memorial services were held for Rich Hedrick at Grace Episcopal Church in Hutchinson, Kansas, after his ashes were buried next to his beloved grandmother in Fairlawn Burial Park, Hutchinson. He will also be remembered at St. Aidan's Episcopal Church, 101 Gold Mine Drive at Diamond Heights (across the street from Safeway), at the 8 p.m. service on Sunday, June 25.

Rich was born in Corpus Christi, Texas, the son of Richard and Bette Hedrick, and graduated from Hutchinson High School in 1968. He later graduated from Hutchinson Community College and Pittsburg State. After being the assistant football coach at Onaga, he moved to San Francisco, where he was offensive line coach for five years at San Francisco State University. He was a car salesman until he retired in 1993.

Rich is survived by his father and stepmother, Richard and Mollie Hedrick of Hutchinson; four brothers, Steve and Tom (also of Hutchinson), Cliff of Wichita and Bill of Fairbanks, Alaska; two sisters, Carla Wilbourn of Oklahoma City and Mary Douglas of Plano, Texas; two stepsisters, Nancy Soldner of Hutchinson and Sally Cöberly of Gaithersburg, Maryland; and numerous other family members and friends here and at home. ▼

R. Bruce Hutchison

June 11, 1945 - May 17, 1995

On May 17 Bruce Hutchison died at his home in San Francisco after a year-long battle with cancer. He was born in Hollywood, California, and completed his B.A. in art (textiles) at SF State in 1973. He then worked with Anna and Ralph Bennett to establish a textile conservation facility at the M.H. de Young Museum.

In 1975 Bruce spent a year studying textile conservation in Europe, returning to San Francisco to become textile conservator for the Fine Arts Museums from 1976 to 1978. From 1982 to 1992 Bruce was textile conservator for the Textile Conservation Laboratory of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York City. In 1992 he came home to the City to establish a free-lance conservation practice.

Bruce leaves many friends who loved him and will miss him terribly. A memorial will be held on Sunday, June 25, at 7:30 p.m. at Holy Innocents Episcopal Church, 455 Fair Oaks St., San Francisco. Contributions may be made in honor of R. Bruce Hutchison to the Foundation for the American Institute of Conservation, Professional Education Fund, 1717 K St. NW, Ste. 301, Washington, D.C. 20006. ▼

Peter Harding

Oct. 6, 1955 - May 11, 1995

Peter was "our tree... deep-rooted, both strong and fragile." The tall, blue-eyed New Yorker shielded others from storms, cooled overheated psyches, and uplifted the weak even when he himself was "bored to tears" in recent years by his own AIDS drama.

Peter was the founder of F.A.N., Feed America

Now. The organization is devoted to publicizing the plight of the nation's homeless and hungry. The former chef took his mission on the road in August 1988, walking 3900 miles from New York to Los Angeles. During this six-month walk, he begged for food and lodging from strangers to dramatize the realities of being homeless. He would speak in the communities he passed through in an attempt to motivate action.

In the Bay Area, Peter gave talks to kids in schools about "living with AIDS." He believed that he had to live life, even if he was dying. When he was in extreme pain, he would pray and ask what he was supposed to be learning from it.

Peter died of AIDS in his Santa Rosa home, but he left an inspirational gift to everyone in his powerful example and his indomitable spirit. ▼

Joseph M. Harris Jr.

Aug. 19, 1962 - June 10, 1995

Joseph made his transition after a battle with AIDS/KS at SF General 5A, surrounded by his father, Joe, and friends, Jim, Kathleen, Diane, David and Eugene.

Joseph was born in Martinsville, Va., and attended Virginia Commonwealth University, Richmond. He traveled here in 1981, then returned to the Pratt Institute School of Architecture in Brooklyn and Italy in 1983 to finish his architecture degree. From 1987 to 1988, he lived at and served on the design committee of Sea Ranch in Northern California.

From 1989 on, he made San Francisco his home. His friends here and those who went before him were touched by him.

Joseph is survived by his sister, Diane Saint and her family in Winston-Salem; mother, Ann Chapman; father, Joseph M. Harris Sr.; and grandparents, Louis and Maral Boggs of Roanoke, as well as his extended family here.

A celebration of Joseph's life will take place at Park Hill, 351 Buena Vista East, July 7, 7 p.m. For information call David at (415) 255-1722. Donations can be made to SF General's AIDS Ward 5A and Ward 86 Clinic at 1001 Potrero Ave., SF, CA 94110. Attention: Diane Jones. ▼

Bruce Hlibok, Actor And Playwright, 34

Bruce Hlibok, a deaf actor who played on Broadway, died on June 23 at his home in Jersey City. He was 34.

He died of pneumonia, his family said.

Mr. Hlibok (pronounced LEE-bock), who grew up in Jamaica, Queens, and graduated from the Horace Mann School in Manhattan, earned a bachelor's degree in playwriting from New York University in 1985. He wrote several plays that ran Off Broadway, including "Going Home" in 1980, "WomanTalk" in 1984 and "The Deaf Mute Howls" in 1988.

But Mr. Hlibok first gained notice in 1978 when he portrayed one of the children from broken homes in the Joseph Papp production of the Elizabeth Swados play "Runaways." After an Off Broadway run, the musical went to the stage of the Plymouth Theater on Broadway. In a review in The New York Times, Richard Eder wrote, "Mr. Hlibok's mute gestures remain one of the haunting visual underpinnings to many of the songs."

Mr. Hlibok made several appearances on television, including a role as a student in the series "The Equalizer," and as a guest performer on the 1978 Tony Awards ceremony. He also wrote a book, "Silent Dancer" (Simon & Schuster, 1981), about how his sister, who is also deaf, learned ballet with the Joffrey Ballet School.

He is survived by his parents, Peggy and Albert, of Flushing, Queens; his companion, William Fry of Jersey City; two brothers, Stephen, of Columbia, Md., and Gregory, of Flushing, and a sister, Nancy Amann of Phoenix.

Robert (Bob) Paul Henderson

Dec. 27, 1951 - Sept. 1, 1995

Beloved son, brother, uncle and friend, Robert Paul Henderson passed away September 1 after a long and courageous battle with AIDS. The Dallas native, who was a graduate of Bryan Adams H.S. and SFASU, worked for 15 years for Coates Kenney Inc. in Berkeley, Calif.

Bob leaves behind his parents, Donald and Ruth Henderson; four brothers; four sisters; 12 nieces and nephews; one great-nephew; one great-niece; and many friends. The great joys of his life were family, friends and fishing. His witty sense of humor was one of his best qualities. He brought happiness and laughter to those in his life. He was a kind and generous heart, and he will be greatly missed. Private services were held September 8 in Dallas. ▼

HESLIN—Peter Michael Duffy. December 8, 1958—February 14, 1996. He was an angel among us. He gave his heart, his soul, his life, to all those he touched. His legacy is one of dignity and compassion. His life will forever be celebrated by his partner Raul, his mother Marie, his brothers Joe, Bob, John and Martin, his sisters Geri and Rose, and his family of friends. A more graceful soul there will never be. A greater loss the world will never know. A health care professional and activist, Peter was a pioneer in the fight against AIDS. He worked amongst the founding members of GMHC in the early 1980's, providing training to crisis intervention volunteers. He later became the agency's Assistant Coordinator of Volunteers, recruiting, processing, training and supervising over 2,000 volunteers. From 1988 to 1989, Peter served as Director of Client Services for Damien Ministries in Washington, DC, overseeing the management of two residences for women and recovering substance abusers with AIDS. Returning to New York in 1989, Peter joined the staff of Beth Israel as a Field Supervisor in their Helping Hands program, training patients from Methadone Maintenance Treatment Programs to care for their peers with AIDS. Incorporating nearly a decade's worth of hands-on experience, Peter went on to become a Project Coordinator with the Medical & Health Research Association. There he provided technical assistance and guidance to programs funded under the Ryan White Care Act. Then in 1992, with more determination than ever, Peter took on the job of Senior Associate Director, Administrator of AIDS Programs for Bellevue Hospital, the largest provider of HIV medical services in New York State. Borrowing a title from one of his publications, Surviving and Thriving with AIDS: Collected Wisdom, Peter not only collected such wisdom, he inspired it and shared it with others. As was his way, Peter's accomplishments included not only his own, but his contributions to the personal and professional achievements of others. He participated in the health care debate at every level, including the White House, and was instrumental in the appointment of the first openly gay man as a White House fellow. Throughout his life, Peter nurtured a sense of pride within the gay and lesbian community, one person at a time, which will continue and grow beyond his dreams. A Mass will be held on Saturday, Feb. 24, 1996, at 1:00, at St. Francis Xavier Church, 46 West 16th St, New York, NY. It is requested that any donations be made to God's Love We Deliver or GMHC in Peter's memory.

Former Mississippi Congressman JON HINSON died of AIDS in Silver Spring, Maryland, on July 21. A conservative Republican, 96 Hinson's political career was quickly derailed in 1981, early in his second term, when he and a male employee of the Library of Congress were arrested in a men's room of a Capitol Hill federal building on a charge of oral sodomy. Hinson resigned from the House shortly thereafter. Later Hinson came out as gay and became vocal in gay politics. In 1993 he helped oppose the U.S. military's ban on lesbian and gay servicemembers. 46

Bonnie Hamann, was cattle dealer, substance abuse counselor; at 47

By Tom Long
GLOBE STAFF

Bonnie E. Hamann, a "North Dakota farm girl" who was one of the first women to become a registered cattle dealer in her home state and went on to become an urban substance abuse counselor after contracting the AIDS virus, died of complications of the disease Thursday in her home in Winthrop. She was 47.

Ms. Hamann was born in Dickinson, N.D. After graduating from Colorado State University, she taught English in Bogota, Colombia, and worked as a technical editor for Haight Publishing Co. in Madison, Wis. In 1976, she became one of the first women to become a registered cattle broker in North Dakota.

"Her father was a cattleman, and he didn't want her to go into the family business," her husband, Michael J. Twomey, said yesterday. "But she was a natural at it."

Twomey, a carpenter originally from Melrose, met his wife, whom he called "a diamond in the rough," on New Year's Eve in 1977, when he was working on oil rigs in North Dakota.

He described her as a "North Dakota farm girl" who "loved the western life and loved cattle." He said he thought she was "a bit of a tomboy, growing up riding cattle around the family spread."

As a cattle dealer, Ms. Hamann was constantly traveling, crisscross-ing the state from cattle auction to cattle auction. Her husband said she had a knack for the business because it involved "looking at what you see and knowing what you're seeing."

The couple moved to the Boston area in 1981.

Ms. Hamann was diagnosed with AIDS in 1986.

Ms. Hamann, who was a "proud member of Alcoholics Anonymous" according to her husband, became a substance abuse counselor at Mt. Pleasant Hospital in Lynn and Heritage Hospital in Somerville. She also was a lecturer for the AIDS Action Committee and was honored for her efforts earlier this year with a commendation from Judge Peter W. Agnes Jr. of Charlestown District Court.

Beside her husband, she leaves her mother, Viola Hamann of North Dakota; four sisters, Joan O'Keefe, Lynn Melena and Charlotte, all of California, and Noell Reinhiller of Colorado; and five brothers, Wayne of Michigan, Gary of Arizona, William Jr. of Colorado, Louis of North Dakota and Dan of Texas.

A memorial service will be held at 10:30 a.m. Aug. 5 in Union Congregational Church in Winthrop. Burial will be in North Dakota.

Richard "Rick" Hansen

August 8, 1995

Rick died at the SF VA Hospital after a long illness caused by an infection to the remaining portion of a leg that had been amputated several years ago. He was 63 years old.

Rick had a colorful career, which included being a travel agent and a club owner in Alaska.

In 1970 Rick was one of the founders of the San Franciscans, a popular SF motorcycle club. He was also an active member of S.I.R. (Society for Individual Rights) when that organization was the largest gay rights group in the country.

For the past ten years, Rick was the treasurer of the Gay Rescue Mission. He was also an active member of the Alexander Hamilton Post 448 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars (V.F.W.) He was a member of the SF Girth & Mirth Club.

Rick is survived by a sister-in-law and a niece. There will be a gathering of friends to remember Rick on Friday, August 25, at 8 p.m. at Old Rick's Bar, 939 Geary. ▼

Gregory Hettmansperger

Aug. 2, 1957 - June 17, 1995

Gregory passed quietly away in the early morning at Davies Medical Center after a five-year struggle against AIDS. He is survived by his mother, Berta; his father, Hank; his brother, Jeff; his lover, Don Johnle; and close friend, Carol Hull, who were at his side.

Born in Sacramento, many of his growing up years were spent in Ethiopia and Greece. He was a "natural" in track and field. As a high school student, he held the Greek national championship record in the 100-meter sprint.

After attending Seattle Pacific University as a sports medicine major, he moved to San Francisco, where he exhibition square danced with Winchester, fan danced at the Troc, bowled, attended track and field competitions, and loved long conversations. As a high jumper, he won numerous gold, silver and bronze medals in the Gay Games.

Greg was a loyal companion and loving friend whose affectionate and humane qualities make his loss a heavy sadness for those of us left behind. His presence is longingly missed. Somewhere he is running and jumping where no one tires. A memorial gathering for his friends will be held at 47 Stanford Heights, San Francisco, on June 24 at 2 p.m. Call (415) 469-5453 for more details. ▼

Ronald James Honeycutt

June 2, 1944 - Aug. 3, 1995

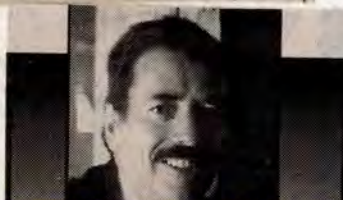

Ron died peacefully in his sleep one month after his 46th birthday. A longtime resident of Bernal Heights, Ron made friends wherever he went. He is survived by his parents, Barbara and Edwin, brothers Bob and Jim, sister Kathy Burcar, his longtime friend and companion Michael Waggener, and his devoted friend

Aron Corey.

Born and raised in Michigan, Ron moved to Hawaii and then navigated to the Bay Area. He worked for Blue Cross as a claims examiner, drove a cab, and worked for many years at McKesson Corporation.

Those of us who knew Ronnie, knew his playful nature, his deep side, and his loving respect for all living things. He was many things: a die-hard "Trekkie"; a computer buff extraordinaire; a gadget freak; a bicyclist; a gardener. Ron always tried to stay busy. In the end, AIDS-related dementia snuffed all that out. He will be sorely missed by the members of his support group, his co-workers, family and friends.

Donations can be made to Project Open Hand, which brought Ronnie so many wonderful meals when he was unable to cook for himself. A memorial party (he wanted no "service") will be held in his honor on Sunday, August 20, 1995. For more information, call Michael Waggener at 415-8246729. ▼

WILFRED (Winnie) HEYWOOD

April 16, 1937 - August 29, 1995

A rose once grew where all could see, sheltered by a garden wall,
And, as the days passed swiftly by,
it spread its branches, staight and tall...

One day, a beam of light shone through a crevice that had opened wide -
The rose bent gently toward its warmth then passed beyond to the other side...

New, you who deeply feel its loss, be comforted - the rose blooms there
-Its beauty even greater there-

Its beauty even greater now, nutured by God's own loving care.

Many thanks to doctors Lisa Friedland & Anita Rachliss and the nursing staff of Sunnybrook!

Loved and missed by his extended family.

David Hortemiller

David V. Hortemiller Jr., 35, of Washington, D.C., died Monday, July 3, 1995 at George Washington University Hospital of AIDS related complications, according to his companion, Dwight Sterling also of Washington.

Hortemiller was born Jan. 8, 1960 in Kissimmee, Fla., and grew up in Charleston, S.C. He graduated from Summerville High School in 1978 and received a bachelor's degree in hospitality management in 1993 from Johnson and Wales University in Providence, R.I.

Hortemiller held various hotel and restaurant industry related jobs in both Charleston and Providence, before moving to D.C. in 1993 to take a job with the Washington Renaissance Hotel.

An active member of the Triangle Club and other 12-step programs, Hortemiller volunteered his time at the Whitman-Walker Clinic. He also founded the Low Country AIDS Services organization in Charleston, according to Sterling.

In addition to Sterling, Hortemiller is survived by his parents, Joyce and David Hortemiller of Charleston; two sisters, Sherrie Percy of Royal Palm Beach, Fla.; Stephanie King of Charleston; grandmother, Thelma Wiley of Michigan; three nieces; one nephew; and several aunts, uncles, and cousins.

A memorial service will be held Sunday, July 23, at 3 p.m., at the Metropolitan Community Church of Washington, 474 Ridge St., NW. Contributions in Hortemiller's name may be made to the Whitman-Walker Clinic, 1407 S St., NW, Washington, DC 20009.

Robin Hardy

Writer, 43

Robin Hardy, a writer who founded the Publishing Triangle, an association of lesbians and gay men in publishing, died on Saturday in Arizona. He was 43 and lived in Tucson.

He died in a mountaineering accident in Tonto National Forest, according to Houghton Mifflin, for which he was working on his latest book, "The Landscape of Death: Gay Men, AIDS and the Crisis of Desire."

He was also the author of about 20 paperback novels.

He is survived by his parents, Bill and Jean Hardy of Ottawa; two sisters, Eloise Hardy of Toronto and Michele Hardy of Ottawa, and a brother, Charles, also of Ottawa.

John D. Herdan

John D. Herdan died of complications of AIDS on July 22, 1995. He was 38.

John was born and raised in California, moving to Boston in 1987. He was employed as the Administrator for the Greater Boston Business Council. He had been a volunteer at AIDS Action Committee for the last five years. He was also on their Speaker's Bureau and spoke to students in high schools and colleges about living with HIV/AIDS. He was a member of the Arlington Street Church. His love for the church and its members gave him great support.

John is survived by his parents, Fred and Paula of Woodland Hills CA and his two cats, Annie and Woojies. His sister, Robyn, died in 1981. John will be missed by his family and friends. His loving heart, courage and tenacity were an inspiration to us all.

Friends are invited to attend a memorial service in celebration of his life on Sunday, September 10, 1995 at 1:30 p.m. at the Arlington Street Church 351 Boylston St. (corner of Boylston and Arlington St.) Boston.

Donations in his memory may be made to AIDS Action Committee 131 Clarendon St. Boston, MA 02116 or Project Inform 1965 Market Street Suite 220 San Francisco CA 94103.

Dirk Bryan Henderson

June 3, 1954 - Aug. 21, 1995

Dirk fought a long eight-year battle with HIV/AIDS. He is survived by his partner of 11 years, Robert Ruane; mother, Remelle Ballenger; mother-in-law, Phyliss; brother, Michael; sisters, Susan and Joann; nephew, Bryan; and Sushi, his pet Shitzu.

Dirk was a Navy veteran. He worked most of his life in the medical profession, the last five years in cancer research. He graduated from USC's Tumor Registry Program.

Dirk was a talented entertainer. He composed several dozen songs, poems and a novel. He worked at Universal Studios as a tour guide and special effects stage host.

Dirk was an MCC member since the 1970s. He was a deacon at the LA, San Francisco and Sacramento churches. He was the choir director at the Golden Gate MCC.

Dirk is loved and will be missed by many, especially by Robert. Dirk's family has agreed to allow Dirk and Robert to be buried next to each other in the family cemetery.

Memorial services were held August 27 at the 50 Belcher Street church in San Francisco and September 2 at the Salem Baptist Cemetery, Sneads Ferry, N.C. Dirk's ashes will be buried in the family cemetery. ▼

HEWITT-Of Waltham, Dec. 27. Robert Hewitt Jr. Beloved son of Ruth (Hodgkins) Hewitt and the late Robert W. Hewitt, Sr. of Ithaca, NY. Dear brother of Susan Hewitt of Needham, Margo Yntema of Ithaca, NY and Roxanne Hewitt of Waltham. Uncle of Lisa Slavid, Alison Slavid & Sylvie Yntema. Loyal companion of Donald. Visiting hours will be held Friday, 3-5 & 7-9 PM at the Eaton Funeral Home, 1351 Highland Ave., NEEDHAM (Exit 19B off Rt. 128). Memorial Service will be held at Saturday, Dec. 30, 2 pm at the small Chapel of the Old South Methodist Church, 6 Salem St., Reading. In lieu of flowers, memorials may be made to the Hospice of Mission Hill, Health Care Dimensions, 20 Parker Hill Ave., Boston, MA 02120. RS

Guy Harrison

June 3, 1957 - Aug. 17, 1995

Our beloved Guy left us for the spiritual world at 6:45 p.m., August 17. He came to San Francisco from London in 1981.

Guy held a master's in English from the University of London, a bachelor's in psychology from Antioch University and a culinary arts degree from the City and Guilds of London Institute.

He had many interests: opera, symphony, gardening, photography and international travel. His photographic collection includes his love for cows and carousels. An accomplished chef, friends loved his decadent creations at the annual Gemini Dessert Party.

Guy was committed to helping those in need, volunteering with Shanti as an emotional support counselor and tutoring youth-at-risk through San Francisco Educational Services.

After a long fight with AIDS, Guy died peacefully in the presence of his loving partner, Dennis Guido, and dear friend, Carol Badran. Guy is also survived by his sister Gail, family members in England, numerous friends and his "girls," Tosca and Arabella.

A celebration of Guy's life will be held Sunday, September 10, at 3 p.m. in his beautiful garden at his home. Donations can be made in his name to the San Mateo County AIDS Program or San Francisco Educational Services. ▼

HOWLETT-Elizabeth B. (Keene) a resident of South Boston for many years, Oct. 18, 1996 after a brief illness. Beloved wife of the late Gordon T. Howlett. Devoted and loving mother of Helene L. Howlett, Kathleen R. MacKay and her husband Herbert. Dearly loved grandmother of Herbert Gordon MacKay of VA. Dear sister of Mary Williams and Paul A. Keene both of FL and Eleanor Shudham of England. Funeral Services and interment will be private. Late member of South Boston C.I.A. and Mattapanic Womens Club. Remembrances may be made in Elizabeth's memory to Rosie's Place, 889 Harrison Ave, Boston, MA 02118 or to the Pediatric AIDS Unit, c/o Boston Medical Ctr, 1 Boston Medical Ctr Pl, Boston 02118.

Bill Hoppe

95

William C.A. Hoppe III, 46, died at his home in Washington, D.C. on August 30 of AIDS-related complications, according to his long-time friend, Dale Mitchell of Boston.

Hoppe was born in Rockville Centre, New York in 1948 and grew up in nearby New Hyde Park. He received a B.A. from Indiana University in 1970 and a M.Ed. from Antioch College in 1973.

Hoppe was a Boston resident from 1973 to 1981. During that time he was a special needs teacher in the Boston public schools. He was an activist within the Boston Teachers Union and co-founded the Education Caucus, a progressive teachers organization which promoted desegregation and increased minority hiring within Boston's school system. He was also a founding member of Boston Area Gay and Lesbian Schoolworkers (BAGALS) and served as a mentor for Boston Area Gay and Lesbian Youth (BAGLY), the first New England organizations for gay teachers and students, respectively. In 1978, he was the first open gay teacher to address a national convention of the American Federation of Teachers.

Active in the early gay liberation movement, he helped to found Gay Liberation Front organizations at both Indiana University/ Bloomington and Antioch College. He also attended the first Gay Liberation Front national convention in Austin, Texas in 1971.

Hoppe was devoted to a large circle of friends, including many in Boston, the D.C. area, San Francisco, New York, Miami, London and Ireland. He enjoyed a good party, for which he was an essential element for all of his friends. Hoppe is survived by his mother, Evelyn Hoppe, and sister, Kathryn Hoppe, both of Odessa, Texas, as well as many beloved and loving friends. He was predeceased in 1992 by his life partner of 12 years, Dan Roberts, also of Boston and Washington.

His remains have been cremated. A memorial service will be held on Saturday, September 30th in Washington, D.C. For more information, call 617-522-0605.

Contributions in Hoppe's name may be made to the Whitman-Walker Clinic, 1407 S. St., NW, Washington, D.C. 20009.

Robert Denslow Hoopes

Aug. 30, 1945 - Aug. 19, 1995

Berkeley native Robert Denslow Hoopes, 49, died in San Francisco August 19. A professional landscape artist and chef, this longtime AIDS survivor helped others with AIDS through his participation in AIDS Walk, Project Open Hand, Maitri Hospice, Tranquillium and volunteer work at Fort Miley Veterans Hospital. He also supported the Nature Conservancy and other environmental organizations.

Rob's spirituality and enjoyment of life, nature and art enriched the lives of those around him. He is survived by many loved ones and his cherished pets. He will be greatly missed.

A private memorial will be held at Rob's home. Remembrances may be made to Project Open Hand, Maitri Hospice or Tranquillium. ▼

Brian Hancock

Brian K. Hancock, 34, of Alexandria, Virginia, died from AIDS complications on Wednesday, October 4, 1995, according to his partner, David W. Byers of Alexandria.

A native of Buffalo, N.Y., Hancock was born Sept. 2, 1961. A graduate of Perth Central high School, Hancock served four years in the U.S. Air Force, primarily at Hanscom Air Force Base just outside Boston, where he was honorably discharged in 1983. In the same year, Hancock graduated from Northeastern University in Boston with a bachelor's degree in computer science, and worked as a computer specialist in Boston. In 1987, Hancock made his way to Los Angeles, where he owned and operated a successful floral business, while still working part time with computers. In 1993, Hancock returned to the D.C. area where he worked for several firms including Bell Atlantic, Graham Associates, and Cable News Network. His illness forced him to retire in January 1995.

According to Byers, Hancock enjoyed gourmet cooking, nature, music, floral arrangements, and his loved ones.

Robert I. Hubbard

Robert I. Hubbard of Boston and formerly of South Weymouth, died Thursday, August 10, 1995 at Brigham and Women's Hospital, Boston, after a long illness. He was 42.

Robert was born in Cortland, New York, a son of Barbara (Owen) Mariano of South Weymouth and the late Robert I. Hubbard. He was a graduate of Weymouth High School and received his Bachelor of Arts in Business Administration from Boston University. He had also studied at Bridgewater State College.

Richard Hornung died Jan. 3 of complications from AIDS in Los Angeles. He was 45. A costume designer for stage and screen, he earned an Academy Award nomination for his work on the film "Barton Fink." Broadway credits include "Sunday in the Park With George," "Brighton Beach Memoirs" and "Candida." Motion picture credits include: "Raising Arizona," "Miller's Crossing," "The Grifters," "Dave," "Natural Born Killers," "Nixon" and "City Hall." ✍

Mr. Hubbard was employed by the Putnam Companies, a financial group in Boston. In addition to his mother, he is survived by a brother, James Mariano of S. Weymouth; two sisters, Cathy Cobb of Pembroke and Christine Mariano of S. Weymouth; several nieces and nephews as well as one great nephew. A memorial service to celebrate Robert's life was held at JS Waterman and Sons, 495 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston. Donations in his memory may be made to the AIDS Action Committee, 131 Clarendon Street, Boston, MA 02116.

Eric Hook

In the mid afternoon of August 23, 1995, Eric Hook died peacefully at his home in Boston of complications from AIDS. He was 34.

Eric is survived by his partner, Randal Mrazik, with whom he shared the last two years of his life.

Eric was born Lenardtown, Maryland and grew up in Culpeper, Virginia. He attended Culpeper High School where he was an avid tennis player. In 1983 he earned his Bachelor of Arts Degree from The College of William and Mary in Williamsburg, VA.

Eric's chosen vocation was graphic design. He worked at the Mariners Museum in Newport News, VA directly following college. He moved to Boston in 1984 and worked for The New England for five years. Eric went out on his own in 1990 and created Eric Hook Graphic Design.

Eric was known for his quirky personality and acerbic wit. He had a strongly understated style and a passion for color. He was a talented photographer in his own right. The place he went for spiritual rejuvenation was Martha's Vineyard. There, he spent many special lazy summer days with friends and those he loved.

Along with many friends and other family members, Eric leaves his parents, Gwenn and Harold E. Hook II of Culpeper VA; his two sisters, Mindy Hook of Seattle, WA and Amanda Hook of Scrabble, VA. He also leaves his maternal grandparents, Madge and Lee Hendrix of Greeneville TN and his paternal grandmother, Eleanor Stuart of Towson, MD.

A memorial service was held on August 31 at the Jesuit Urban Center. Donations in Eric's memory may be made to The Mind Body Scholarship Fund co Dr. Ann Webster, Department of Behavioral Medicine, Deaconess Hospital, Boston MA 02215 or The Children with AIDS Program, 253 River Street, Mattapan MA.

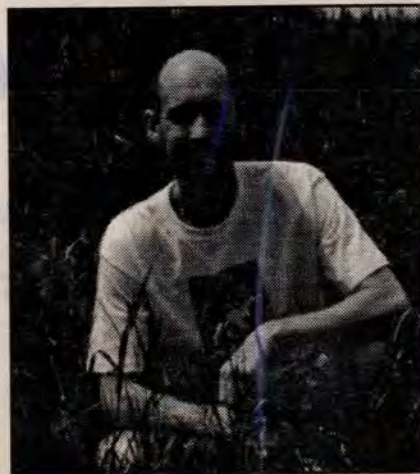

Brian C. Hewitt

Brian C. Hewitt died Nov. 21 at age 42. ⁹⁵

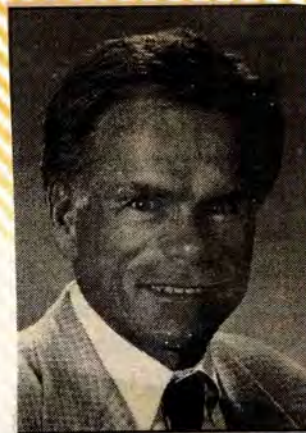

Son of the late Bernard S. and Mary F. Hewitt of Attleboro, MA, Brian attended Bishop Feehan High School and Cape Cod Community College, from which he graduated in 1973. He worked in the travel industry, most recently for Carlson Aquarius Travel of Boston and Overseas Adventure Travel of Cambridge.

Brian was an avid runner before his illness and competed in many races and marathons. Most recently he enjoyed golf, cross-country skiing and hiking. Brian's passion was traveling; he enjoyed exploring new destinations, having new adventures, meeting new people and, most importantly, making new friends wherever his travels took him.

He leaves his brother, Bernard W. Hewitt and sister Brenda M. Demers, both of Attleboro; cousin Pam Werner of Norton; aunts and uncles, two nieces and several cousins.

At Brian's request, a memorial celebration of his life will be held at the Urban Jesuit Center, 775 Harrison Ave., Boston, on January 21 at 1 p.m. Donations in his memory may be made to the Boston Living Center, 29 Stanhope St., Boston, MA 02116.

Jerry Hartman died Aug. 20 of complications from AIDS in Los Angeles. He was 43. An executive for the home video and pay television divisions of MCA/Universal, Hartman joined the MCA Home Entertainment Group in 1981 as vice president of marketing; in 1985, he was named vice president of marketing for Universal Pay Television Inc. and in 1992, was named senior vice president of sales and marketing. Before joining MCA, he worked for several advertising agencies, including Saatchi and Saatchi. An active supporter of AIDS Project Los Angeles, Hartman is survived by his parents, Herman and Sheila; brothers, Monsignor Thomas Hartman and John Hartman; and sisters, Sheila Mohrman and Joanne Peluso. ⁹⁵

Frank M. Harper

March 30, 1958 - Oct. 13, 1995

Frank Harper died peacefully at home in the early morning hours of Oct.

13, surrounded by his loving family. Born in Fond du Lac, Wis., he attended the University of Wisconsin-Madison and subsequently earned a degree in library science after moving to San Francisco. Until his disability retirement several years ago, he worked at Macy's/San Francisco.

Frank was a kind, fun-loving, outgoing, and thoughtful man, who loved to read, play board games, travel and socialize with his many friends at the local watering holes. He was proud of his beautifully muscled body, his friends and his loved ones.

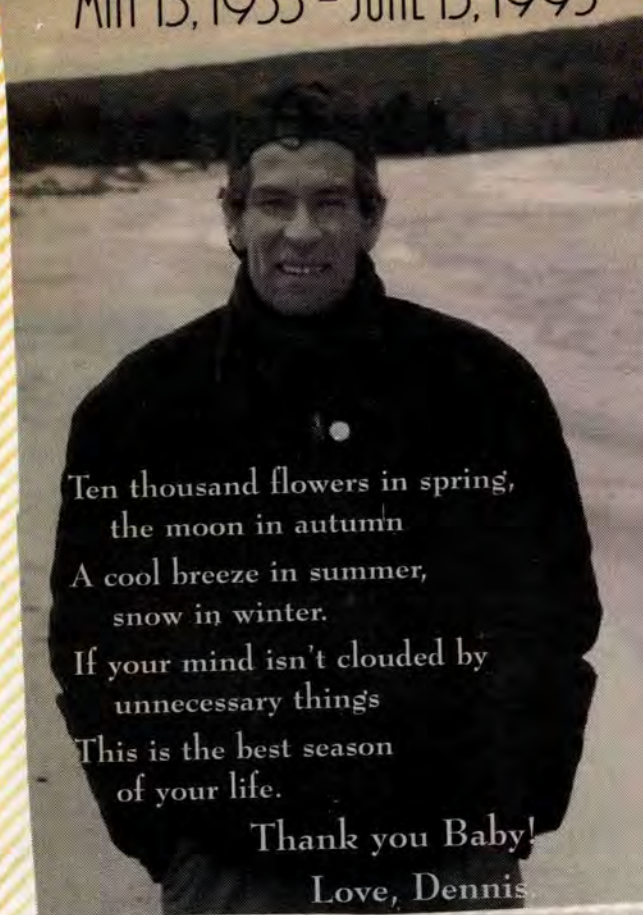

Frank was preceded in death by his partner, Ken Rothert. He is survived by his parents, Fran and Pete Stotzheim; as well as his sisters, Michele and Teenya; and his brothers, Mike and Craig. Frank's remains will be interred in Wisconsin.

Frank's family requests that any donations be directed to the AIDS Emergency Fund, 1540 Market St., Ste. 320, SF, CA 94102.

A reception in celebration of Frank's life will be held on Saturday, Nov. 11, 3-5 p.m., at the home of Mick Sheppard and John West. Please call Mick and John at 753-3800 for specific information and directions. ▼

DALE FRANCIS HODGINS

MAY 13, 1953 - JUNE 15, 1995

Ten thousand flowers in spring, the moon in autumn
A cool breeze in summer,
snow in winter.
If your mind isn't clouded by unnecessary things
This is the best season of your life.

Thank you Baby!
Love, Dennis

Gordon Stuart Hamilton

Aug. 3, 1933 - Nov. 15, 1995

Our friend Gordon died in peace at home of cancer of the brain and lungs.

Until the last months of his life, he cared for his mother, now three weeks shy of her 100th birthday.

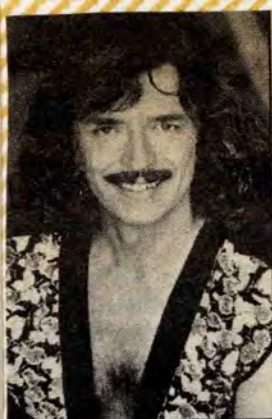

Gordon worked for the California Labor Federation for 30 years and personally helped several groups of employees gain the security of a union-backed labor contract. He credited fellow Alcoholics Anonymous members for his 22 years of sobriety. In turn, many others recall Gordon's help and example in maintaining their own sobriety. He founded AA circles in Santa Rosa and San Francisco.

Gordon enjoyed visiting Scotland and admired Edinburgh's annual display of bagpipe playing and marching. He is predeceased by a companion of many years, and is remembered with affection and respect by a vast number of friends.

A memorial service will be held Friday, December 1, at 5:30 p.m. at the 7th Avenue Presbyterian Church (between Judah and Irving sts.) in San Francisco.

In lieu of flowers, donations to Alcoholics Anonymous. ▼

Doug Harrison

Doug Harrison died Aug. 26 of complications from AIDS in West Hollywood. He was 51. A native of Missouri, in 1968, he moved to Las Vegas, where he worked with the cast of the long-running hit, "Bottom's Up." He later managed art galleries in such landmarks as the Flamingo, Hilton and Sahara. In 1976, Harrison and his longtime companion, J.T. Anderson, moved to Los Angeles where he managed Paintings of the World and later, the Art and Antique Emporium in Anaheim. In 1983, he began Doug Harrison's ManMaid, a cleaning, bartending and catering service. A member of ACT Up/Los Angeles, he attended the historic 1987 March on Washington for Lesbian and Gay Rights, the 1988 March on Sacramento and the 1988 action at the FDA to demand quick approval of AIDS drugs. Harrison is survived by Anderson, his lover of 26 years; his mother, Lois; brother, Howard; nieces, Karen Harrison, Linda Van Trump and Janeil Harrison; great nephews, John and Jess Overbay; and great niece, Tracy Hartzler. 95

GARY KONRAD HESSLER

January 28, 1966 — November 11, 1995

I'll Remember. We said we'd last forever but I guess we were wrong. We made our mistakes, now it's time to move on. You know I miss you and I love you still. But if you won't come back, I'll remember you well.

Love,
Lee Sam Ken

Roger Alan Hart

Nov. 12, 1957 - Dec. 20, 1995

Roger fought valiantly against AIDS for four years until his loving heart simply couldn't go any longer. He is survived by his partner of 3-1/2 years, Kevin Speitel of Windsor, Calif., who wishes to thank his wonderful parents, Harry and Marilyn, and especially his sister, Trish, for their stalwart support and love during this difficult time.

And Roger, your loving K-Bear thanks you for giving him a home, family and, most of all, unconditional love! I'll miss you always! Have fun in that bass section with the angels! ▼

Architect and urban planner Kenneth Halpern died Jan. 13 of complications from AIDS in New York City. He was 51. A native of Chicago, he held a master's from Harvard University's Graduate School of Design. As Manhattan's chief urban planner, he enhanced the Theatre District and won praise from former Mayor Ed Koch. His book, "Downtown USA: Urban Design in American Cities" (1978), is widely recognized as an industry text. In 1993, he transformed the former ABC studios in Hollywood into AIDS Project Los Angeles' Geffen Center. Halpern was predeceased by his lover, Larry Fein. He is survived by his father, Fred; sister, Sandra Stein; brothers Fred, Richard and Charles; and sisters-in-law Donna and Judy. 96

Irwin B. Hux

Irwin B. Hux, 43, died December 18, 1995. Born in Louisiana, he moved to Atlanta 20 years ago and worked for Equifax. He is survived by his sister, Evelyn Hux Smith; brothers Charles Simon, Bradley Guilbeau and Eugene Guilbeau; and three nephews, one niece, and two great-nephews. He is also survived by his longtime friends Gary Purtyunun and Tony Beane and many other dear friends.

A memorial service was held on December 20. Memorial donations may be made to Positive Impact or Project Open Hand.

GARY HEFFINGTON

10-17-91

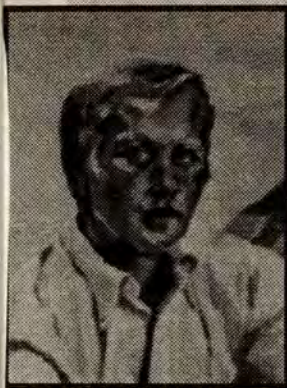

I became Gary's buddy via the AID Atlanta Buddy Program in June of 1987. He was a sweet, shy man with a very unique sense of humor. He could send a whole room of people into waves of laughter; and you could tell by looking at him that he had no intention of that result. He was just naturally funny. He was a hairdresser by trade and a drag queen by passion. And, he was good at both.

I remember at his memorial service a very large woman stood up to speak. She brought attention to her size and her lack of "good looks." But she said that when she sat in Gary's chair to have her hair done, she felt like the most beautiful woman in the world. I felt special in that chair, too. And when he donned that platinum blond wig and one of many fabulous dresses in his closet, he became Vena DeMilo...and was just as good at that. For many years, Vena was the closing act of the AA Halloween Party. They always saved the best for last, and Gary/Vena didn't let them down.

Gary and I struck a fast and firm friendship from the beginning. We both enjoyed disco music, drag, Wendy's hamburgers, walks in Piedmont Park and just sitting around the house talking about whomever. He was always quick with his comments and sometimes the jabs were not very kind. Gary was regarded as cheap and penny-pinching, but one could always count on Gary to be there in times of need. I saw on more than one occasion when he gave time, money or services to someone who had been the subject of one of those jabs not minutes before. It was this demonstration of good will that proved to me he was truly a generous person.

Gary died in 1991 after a brave battle with this awful disease. He had managed to keep his job until just a few short months before his death, and only when he became too weak to walk did he finally move in with friends and out of his own apartment. A fighter to the end he was...and I miss him dearly. Say hello to Marilyn for me, Gary! I know you're up there with her right now!

Mark du Pont

JOHN RUSHING HOWELL

10-17-88

The new John Howell Park has been the site for various AIDS-related events and community celebrations. Many do not know that John Howell was a past president of the Virginia-Highland Neighborhood Association who helped to stop a proposed highway that would have cut a Sherman-like swath through the heart of that neighborhood as well as through Morningside. John was a social worker specializing in addiction recovery at the Veterans Administration Hospital at the time of his death from AIDS in 1988.

John was in the forefront of Atlanta's early gay/lesbian political and social history. He served as president of the Lesbian/Gay Rights Chapter of the Georgia American Civil Liberties Union. He helped foster the Atlanta Gay Center, First Metropolitan Community Church, First Tuesday (predecessor to GAPAC/Georgia Equality Project) and SAME.

John Howell was born in rural Durand, Mississippi, the son of local gentry. He spent his entire adult life working for social justice. One of John's special gifts was his mesmerizing ability to speak from the heart about these issues. Whenever John spoke at a public hearing about gay rights or social justice, the evening TV news inevitably used John's words as the focal point of the news report. Even after his death, John's compelling style continues to have its effect. He had his tombstone in Durand, Mississippi read: "John Rushing Howell/gay human being."

Nick Danna

SCOTT J. HAMILTON, 33, passed from this life March 30. Scott had been diagnosed HIV positive in August of 1993 and had waged a battle against many related complications which can only be described as gallant and courageous. Throughout all his difficulties, Scott remained a positive and upbeat friend giving great inspiration to all who had the good fortune to know him.

Scott was active in TPA and, despite his illnesses, travelled to various college campuses throughout the country to educate undergraduate students about HIV and AIDS.

He was born in Lansing, Michigan to Earle and the late Sharron Hamilton. In addition to his father, he leaves his stepmother, Kris Busk, his brother, Eric and his maternal grandparents, Gordon and Gertrude Tanner, all of Michigan. Scott also leaves his longtime companion and care-giver, Bill Soter of Chicago, and many, many friends.

Donations: Open Hand, or AIDS Alternative Health Project. 96

Rodney E. Harrill

Jan. 19, 1956 - July 27, 1995

Rodney Ervin Harrill, 39, of Turlock died July 27 at Del Puerto Hospital, Patterson, Calif., from complications of AIDS. We are all deeply saddened by his death.

Rodney was born in Iowa, raised in California, and spent time in Chicago and Pennsylvania. San Francisco, however, was home. He moved to San Francisco in 1975 after serving in the U.S. Air Force. Rodney was an artist, art collector, art dealer and computer consultant.

Rodney loved food (he was a great cook), animals, science fiction and all things technological.

He is survived by his father, Ivan; his mother, Darlene; brothers, Robert, Roger, and Ronald Harrill; and a devoted sister, Rebecca Harrill; all from the Turlock area. Rodney is greatly missed by Rebecca, who took care of him during the remainder of his physical life. His ashes will come to rest in a remote mountain stream.

A memorial/art retrospective was held for Rodney on August 10 at St. Francis Episcopal Church, Turlock. Remembrances may be made to Stanislaus County AIDS Project, P.O. Box 935, Modesto, CA 95353.

Rodney - we hope you were transported to the spaceship of your dreams.

Bruce Harrelson

September 14, 1995

On Thursday, September 14, we lost another brother, Grand Duke XVI Bruce Harrelson.

Bruce was one of the most generous men I've known. He'd give you the shirt off his back, or give you or charity his last dime.

The last 17 years he's been so good to me - the cruises and trips and more. I miss him awfully and will the rest of my life. I was angry, Bruce, because you said you'd never leave me and would always take care of me. But it was your time, and you're still the wind beneath my wings.

Bruce leaves his loving family: mother, Estelle; brother, Gene; sister-in-law, Lori; sister, Jackie; dad, Alfred; and nephew, Jason. He didn't suffer, and now he's with other brothers and sisters. I know I'll be with you someday. - All my love, Michael Bowman

Please join us for a celebration of Bruce's life on Saturday, Oct. 21, 3 p.m.-?, at Kimo's, 1351 Polk Street. ▼

Billy Harrell

William Melvin Harrell of Alexandria, Virginia, died Tuesday, November 21, 1995 due to complications associated with AIDS, according to his former partner and good friend, Tom Brown of Washington, D.C. He was 35.

Harrell was born in Texas on Sept. 9, 1960 and grew up in Gibsonton, Fla. He earned a General Equivalency Diploma, "one of the proudest moments of his life," said Brown.

Harrell worked a number of odd jobs before relocating to Falls Church, Va., in 1985. He moved to Alexandria six years later. Most recently he worked as an account assistant for Unisys Corporation in Virginia.

Harrell was a member of the Metropolitan Community Church of Washington, and was a volunteer delivery person for Food and Friends. He enjoyed driving and watching vintage race cars, playing tennis, and collecting teddy bears.

"Anyone who knew Billy knew that a teddy bear always brought a smile to his face," said Brown.

Harrell is predeceased by his mother and father, Carolyn and Ellis Harrell. He is survived by a brother, Tony Harrell; and two sisters, Deanne Aldarado and Eva Harrell, all of Gibsonton, Fla. In addition to Brown, Harrell is also survived by close friends Rob Chambers, Mike Moshos, Dennis Liphart, Harold Wenner, and Bridgette Hancock, all of the D.C. area.

ERIC R. HARTMAN, 37, a resident of Evanston and minister of music at the Good News Community Church in Chicago, died Feb. 29 of complications from AIDS. He had been involved with the Church since 1980 and had helped organize its gospel music choir. He studied voice under Patricia O'Neil at Northwestern University and graduated first in the class of 1980. During those years, he was active with Fisher-Folk and Covenant Community, two Christian activist groups. He later held several positions at Northwestern University, including business administrator for the department of biochemistry. He had been diagnosed with AIDS in March 1989. His partner, James Marks, died from AIDS in October 1992. 96

RON HIMEBROOK

10-15-95
The effect of AIDS was all too real for me. It had already stolen two of my dearest friends and claimed the life of my only uncle. But there would be one more good-bye to say.

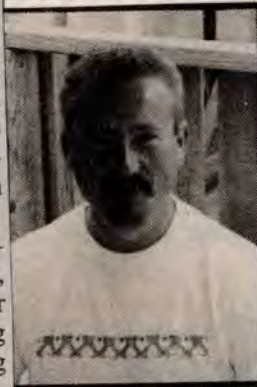

When I met Ron, the walls I had built to protect my heart began to crumble at my feet. As we listened to worn albums, we began to share our passions for music, coffee and the ocean. We soon discovered that we were soul mates.

Ron eventually lost his sight, but not his vision. He painted original Christmas cards and decorated an intricate gingerbread house to celebrate his last Christmas on earth. You see, in a world without light, Ron created his own. To capture the spirit, independence and creativity of Ron Himebrook would be to personally hold one of heaven's brightest stars in the palm of your hand.

As my "Earth Angel" slipped out of this world, he squeezed my hand as if to remind me that he would always be with me. I told him, "I'll see you later. I always do."

I see him in the rain, the sun and the moon. But mostly I see him in the stars. Fare thee well, my bright star.

Beth Allmon

JOHNNIE HERD

My friend Johnnie Herd died in September of 1989. It's hard for me to believe that I only knew him three years and that he has been gone more than six years. I met him when I was doing my social work placement at AID Atlanta, and he was the first PWA outreach coordinator. He would accompany me on visits and talk to newly diagnosed PWAs. He showed them that there was hope and he also made me believe that anything was possible in terms of this disease.

After many months of this work, however, he decided to quit because it was so difficult. I admired him for knowing his own limitations and being able to take care of himself. Since he was a hairdresser (who had been fired when his company learned of his diagnosis), he began "doing hair" in his home. He became my hairdresser and confidante. Johnnie kept my hair always looking good and I had some of the most fabulous hair colors ever seen in Atlanta!

The most important thing I learned from Johnnie was that when life doesn't go as you had planned, you change your plans. I still miss him very much.

Karen L. Geney

FOUR FRIENDS

My theatre of friends or, rather, "stars" began to leave the stage in the spring of 1992 and the exits continued for two years. Each knew the others well, supported each other and tried, each in their different ways, to prepare me for the end of our "play." Three were in their 30s—and the fourth in his late 40s. Not many years in this life.

I suppose we were like points in a five-sided star—crossing constantly. We argued, we dished, we camped, we cried and we laughed. They have left me a better person because they reminded me of the importance of kindness not only to others but to myself.

They were David Hackney, Mark Loper, Ron Condon and Trip McCord.

Though different in so many ways, we felt our "connectedness" and made the most of it. David left me his sense of spirituality and the need to get answers—whether painful or not. Mark taught me that in the fury of anger and rage, there is something so powerful as "love." Ron showed me the total orgasm of laughter on a bad day. And Trip, in his most fatherly of ways, schooled me in the art of patience and the rewards of accepting things and people unconditionally. I miss them all terribly. They left me, other friends, and their extended families too soon.

If you happened to know any one of them, you are lucky—very lucky.

Andy Aycock

Tenderloin Activist Bob Hawes Dies at 62

by Dennis Conkin

Longtime Tenderloin gay community leader and activist Bob Hawes died of complications of AIDS at Kaiser Hospital on Sunday, November 5. He was 62.

Born in Brooklyn, New York, Hawes had lived in San Francisco since 1968 and worked for Tenderloin Neighborhood Development Corporation since 1986.

Hawes was the beloved manager of Civic Center Residence, a unique McAllister Street residential hotel in the Tenderloin that provides supported independent housing to 200 low-income residents, many of whom have physical or mental disabilities or are in recovery from homelessness or substance abuse problems.

During his lifetime, Hawes served on the boards of directors of Central City Hospitality House, Swords To Plowshares, numerous AIDS organizations, and the Heritage Foundation. He was also active in founding the Tenderloin After School Program, an activity program for Tenderloin children.

An inspiration to countless recovering alcoholics and drug addicts throughout San Francisco and around the country, Hawes was proud of his 27 years of sobriety from alcoholism.

Hawes was instrumental in the founding of Living Sober, an annual event that draws thousands of lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender people in recovery from around the world to San Francisco for three days of workshops and conferences and socializing.

Hawes was also a well-known benefactor and supporter of local arts and music efforts, particularly the San Francisco Opera and its Merola Opera program for young singers.

As a young man, Hawes studied at the New England Conservatory of Music, which kindled his love of opera and launched a close 20 year friendship with opera diva Jessye Norman.

Hawes also sponsored several young opera singers on their way to international careers, including Delora Zajic and Laura Clay-comb.

A celebration of Hawes's life will be held on Wednesday, November 15 from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. at Civic Center Residence, located at 44 McAllister Street.

Contributions to the Bob Hawes Memorial Fund, which helps Tenderloin children and tenants, are requested to Tenderloin Neighborhood Development Corporation at 201 Eddy Street, San Francisco CA 94102. ▼

Bob Hawes. 75

WILLIAM C. HARRISON III, 32, known for his counseling work in Chicago, died of AIDS complications Dec. 2 in Surprise, Ariz. He was born April 4, 1963, in Round Lake and moved to Arizona as a youth. He received a bachelor's degree and a master's degree in theology from St. Meinrad Seminary in Indiana and began his career with the Archdiocese of Phoenix. Next, he became campus minister at the U. of Illinois at Chicago. In 1989 he became assistant director of the DePaul U. Ministry, where he counseled students, headed the university's United Way campaign and established himself as a campus leader in ministry, gay and lesbian issues and diversity and leadership training. In 1993 he received a master's with highest distinction in human services and counseling from DePaul. He left in 1994 to begin his own practice and develop the Chicago-based Phoenix Center for Personal Development and Counseling, offering counseling on issues of sexuality, relationships, HIV/AIDS, diversity and leadership training. In addition to serving as the Phoenix Center's director, he counseled clients at Associated Resource Center in Schaumburg. In October 1995, unable to resume his work because of health problems, he returned to Arizona. He is survived by his companions, Mark Adler and Dan Davis, friends and associates, and cats Mia and Gretchen.

Manuel "Manny" Hernandez, Jr.

Dec. 13, 1967 - Dec. 14, 1995

May flights of angels herald your coming.

Blessed friend, brother and lover, Manny passed after a dignified and valiant struggle with the AIDS virus. In passing, Manny leaves a loving family, many dear friends and his companion, Doug. He left us all with more love than we could possibly share. He left this world much richer for his having been here. Rest now, my love.

Contributions may be sent to AID Atlanta.

75

Gary "Wolf" Hoagland

June 9, 1963 - Dec. 21, 1995

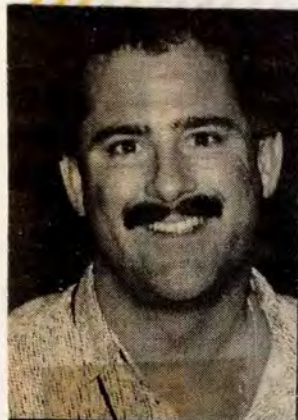

As a veteran of the U.S. Air Force and a survivor of its war against gays and a long-term survivor of AIDS, Gary ended his battles peacefully on the Winter Solstice. In his short life, Gary participated in numerous community organizations. In his strongly independent and feisty style, he championed human and animal rights everywhere he went.

Among many of Gary's activities, he held the honorable position of "Ambassador at Large" for the Tarheel Leather Club of Greensboro, N.C. He was also a former member of the SF Lesbian/Gay Chorus.

Gary's love of wolves and efforts to end their persecution were well-known to those who knew and loved him. He was a contributing member of Wolf Haven International.

Gary is survived by a large extended family, mostly in California, Washington state and North Carolina, including his grandmother, Ruth Long; his sister, Sharon Freeman of Texas; his closest friend, Walter Rosenthal of San Francisco; and his bestest canine friend, Barnabus, also of San Francisco.

Gary's wit, humor and gentle compassion will be truly missed by all whose lives he touched. A memorial service will be held in February. Please contact Walter at 415/332-9282 for more information. ▼

Steven L. Hughes died Dec. 31 of complications from AIDS in Los Angeles. He was 40. National sales manager for the Century Plaza Hotel, he delivered meals for Project Angel Food and donated most of his estate to AIDS-related organizations. He is survived by many loving friends and extended family, including Joel Bulik, Susan Habif, Kelly Kissell and David Swanson.

Essex Charles Hemphill

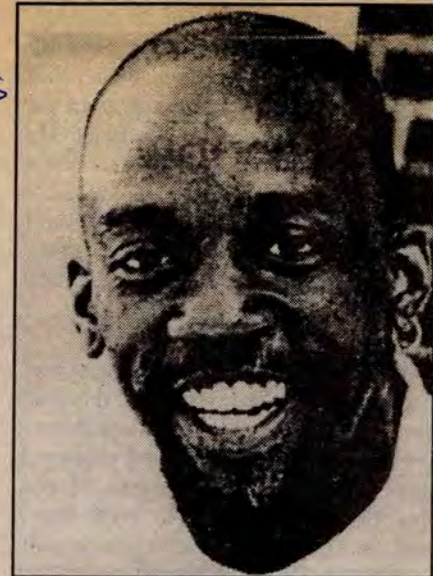

Essex Charles Hemphill, black gay poet and essayist, died Nov. 4 in Philadelphia from complications from AIDS. He was 38.

Essex was the author of the award-winning book "Ceremonies" (1993), culminating his rise as a major player in the gay and black literary worlds. Essex's credo in his poetry and public appearances was making the black gay man visible in both the black and gay communities. Essex was the first openly gay writer invited to read his works at the National Black Arts Festival.

He encouraged black gays to return to black communities to challenge anti-gay bias in churches.

Essex self-published three chapbooks, "Diamonds in the Kitty" (1982), "Plums" (1983), "Earth Life" (1985) and a book length collection, "Conditions." His work has been published in Black Scholar, Essence Magazine, Painted Bride Quarterly, Gargole, Outweek and other North American publications. His work is also featured in the film "Looking For Langston," and two critically acclaimed films by the late Marlon Riggs: "Tongues Untied" and "Black Is, Black Ain't."

Hemphill won the National Library Association's New Authors Award for "Ceremonies," published by Penguin in 1992. He also won a Lambda Award for editing the 1991 anthology, "Brother to Brother: New Writings By Black Gay Men." That project had been launched by author and activist Joseph Beam, editor of the black gay anthology, "In The Life." Beam, a long-time friend and colleague of Hemphill's, died of AIDS-related complications in 1988 before he could complete the sequel to "In The Life." called "Brother to Brother." Essex spent two years editing the manuscript and lived with the Beam family in Philadelphia during that time.

In addition to his friends, Hemphill is survived by his mother, Mantalene Clark Hemphill of Clinton, MD; father, Warren A. Hemphill Sr. of Ft. Washington, MD; three sisters, Tywan Hemphill and Lois Holmes, both of Washington, DC, and Sandra Littlejohn of Lawrenceville, GA; and one brother, Warren A Hemphill Jr., of High Point, NC.

Donald A. Hayes

Donald A. Hayes, an artist, environmentalist, and owner of Cove Forge Blacksmithing, died Jan. 16 at his home in Eastham. He was 47.

He was born in New York City, the son of John D. Hayes, now of Gainesville, Fla., and Pilar Gonzalez Hayes of Lima, Peru, who died in Eastham last year.

Donald grew up in New Canaan, Conn. and graduated from Beloit College in Wisconsin with degrees in Fine Arts and English Literature. When he moved to the Boston area, he became interested in designing and building Victorian style ironwork. He had a studio at the Boston Center for the Arts on Tremont Street for many years and also served as the director of operations there.

His fences, gates and balconies can be found on just about every street from Back Bay to Beacon Hill to the South End of Boston.

After buying Cove Forge and moving to Cape Cod, he began making tables based on traditional Zen stories which were sold in galleries in New York, Boston, Orleans and Nantucket.

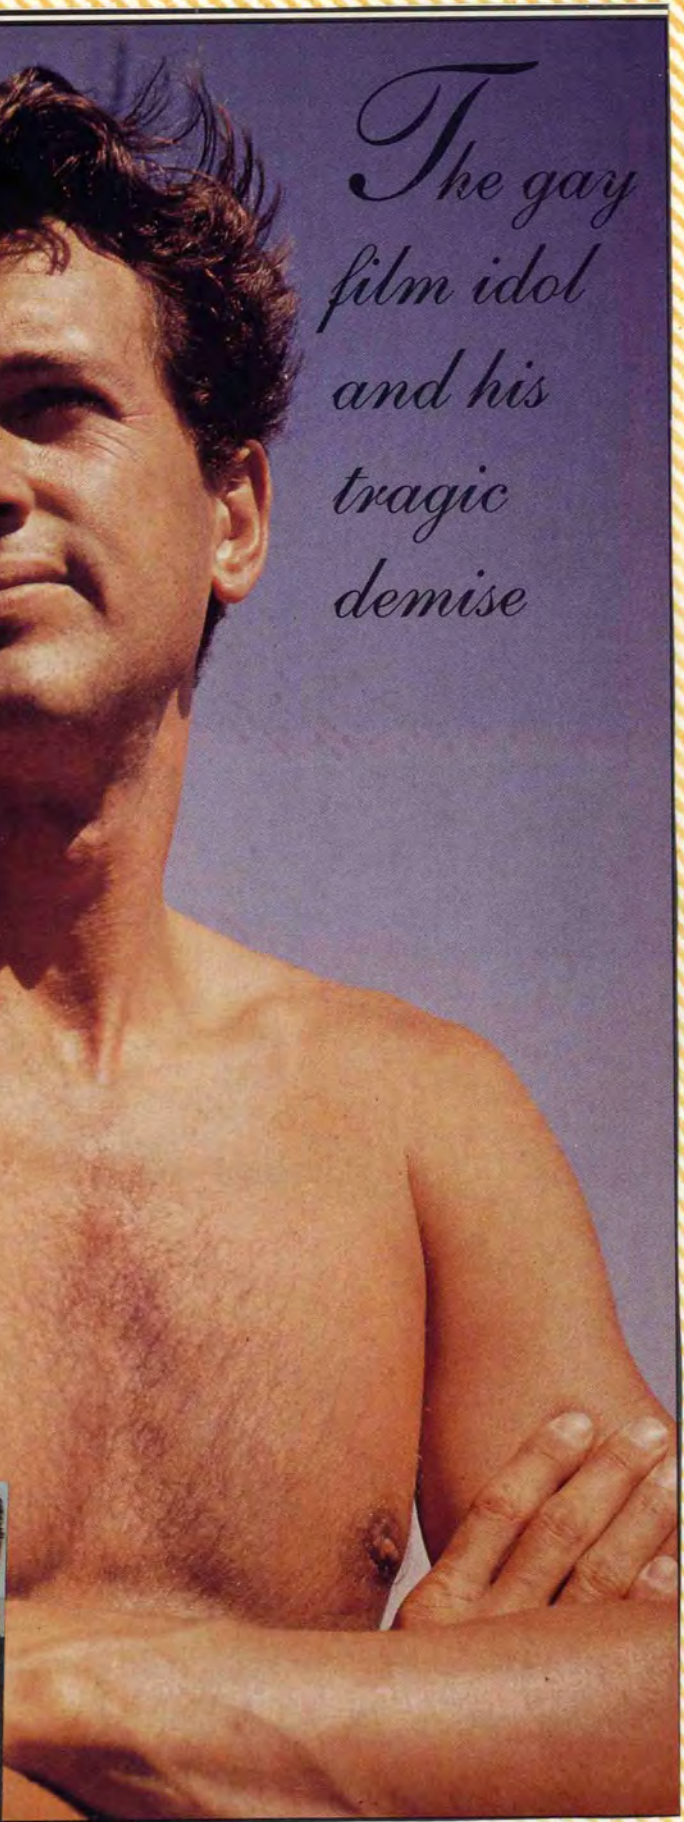

Donald was active in environmental concerns. He lobbied for the National Audubon Society in Washington, D.C., was a member of the active wing of Greenpeace and was the Eastham representative to the National Seashore. He understood both the needs of people and the urgency of land conservation and worked hard to find objective solutions.

He leaves his wife, Marie Stackpole-Hayes of Eastham and his daughter, Siobhan Stackpole of Orleans.

A memorial service will be held at First Parish Brewster on Route 6A in Brewster on Jan. 27 at 2 p.m.

The gay film idol and his tragic demise

Doris Day cried when old pal Rock Hudson showed up at her July, 1985, press junket looking like a skeleton. The 6-ft. 4-in. hunk had wasted away to 140 lbs. Days later, the gay actor collapsed in his Paris hotel room and was rushed to the hospital, where it was confirmed he had AIDS. Hudson, 59, died on Oct. 2, 1985 — the first known celebrity casualty of the killer virus.

Lawrence S. Histen

Lawrence (Larry) S. Histen, 39, died at Chilton House in Cambridge on Dec. 7 due to complications of the AIDS virus.

Born on Jan. 20, 1956, Larry was raised in Braintree and graduated from Braintree High School. He received his B.A. from Boston College and prepared for a career in financial administration at Harvard University Extension. Larry served as Controller or Accounting Manager at Design Continuum, Inc., Armstrong Laboratories, and Boston Community Services.

When Larry's mother, Gertrude, was stricken with multiple sclerosis during his teens he became one of her principal care-givers. After her death in 1985, Larry moved to Boston where he was a popular member of the gay community. From the time of his diagnosis as a person living with AIDS in 1990, Larry took a very active interest in his car and treatment.

By 1991, Larry could work only sporadically and his friends became beneficiaries of his many talents. Working a couple of hours a day he transformed a friend's attic, doing all the wiring, plastering, painting, and even sewing the curtains. For another friend he installed a computer, selected software and reorganized his small business.

Larry had a lifelong interest in making and refinishing furniture. Shortly before his death, Larry completed his first quilt which evidenced his keen eye for color and detail.

Before his final hospitalization, Larry enjoyed spending a quiet hour or two chatting with friends at Fritz's.

Larry is survived by his father Edward of Braintree, his brother Thomas of Virginia, sisters Martha Cole of Colorado and Joan Prew of Rhode Island, and many close friends.

A Mass of Christian burial was celebrated at the Jesuit Urban Center followed by burial in Braintree. Contribution in Larry's memory to the Multiple Sclerosis Society, 101A First Ave., Waltham, MA 02154 would be appreciated.

Christopher Wayne Hampton

Christopher Wayne Hampton of Atlanta died Dec. 31, 1995 at age 33 after a courageous battle with AIDS.

Originally from Greensboro, N.C., Chris attended the North Carolina School for the Arts and graduated from UNC Greensboro in 1984. He had made Atlanta his home since 1985 and built a successful career in the broadcast video industry, retiring last September as venue equipment manager for the Atlanta Committee for the Olympic Games.

Chris was involved with the community as a member of the Atlanta Executive Network, as a founding member of Voices Out Front, as chairman of the board of directors for the Atlanta chapter of the International Television Association, and as a member of the original development committee for Project Open Hand. He was best known as the person to call for video equipment for any community event, and was always lending his time just for the asking. Chris was one of those people who made friends everywhere he went, connected them all to each other, and was always there when needed. He worked hard and played hard, and would never let AIDS slow him down.

He is survived by a fabulous family of friends and his loving relatives: mother, Judy Moorefield Hampton of Greensboro, N.C.; father, M. Wayne Hampton of High Point, N.C.; grandmother Eva Moorefield of High Point, N.C.; brother, Paresh of Sebastopol, Calif.; and sister, Debbie Byrd of Jacksonville, Fla.

A memorial service will be held on the afternoon of the Masquerade Ball, Feb. 10, 1996, at 2:30 p.m. at the home of Roddy Roy, 1540 Monroe Dr. For information, please call (404) 837-0442. Donations may be made in Chris' honor to Project Open Hand Atlanta or Positive Impact.

Gary Leon Harrison

Gary Leon Harrison, 36, founder of the Harrison Dance Co. and internationally acclaimed dancer and choreographer, died May 6 at his parents' home in Atlanta. He founded Harrison Dance in 1984, and performed with it across the country and in Europe and Asia. In 1986, he and two members were semi-finalists on the "Star Search" television show. He choreographed and performed in the Distinguished Lecture Series for then-President Reagan and was the former dance director for the Northside School of Performing Arts. Survivors include his parents, three brothers and his grandmother.

Today we will be presenting the Annual Organ Birthday Concert. The Concert is free, but donations may be made at the door to help support the Archdiocesan AIDS Ministry which is directed by Sr. Zita Fleming, CSJ. Six local organists will be performing works of Franck, Widor, Guilmant, Guridi, Dupre, Langlais and others. The program will conclude with Calvin Hampton's "Pageant". Mr. Hampton died in 1984 of complications from AIDS. After the concert, all are invited down to the Choir Room for a piece of Birthday Cake, to celebrate the organ's 120th anniversary of dedication. The program is free, and all are cordially invited to attend. There is an entrance for the physically challenged on the Union Park Street side of the Cathedral.

Mark Hefner

Mark A. Hefner, 29, died Monday, January 29, 1996 of AIDS related complications at George Washington University Hospital in D.C., according to his partner, Joseph White of Washington, D.C.

Hefner was born Nov. 13, 1966, in Wilmington, Del. He was a 1984 graduate of Christiana High School, where he was active in chorus and swimming. He moved to D.C. in 1985, and worked for two years as a bar back at Tracks. More recently, Hefner combined his love for film by working as a manager at the Georgetown store of Washington Video. He started there in 1986 and retired in 1994, White said.

In addition to films, Hefner enjoyed music, shopping, and traveling, especially to Key West, Fla., and Hawaii, said White. He also enjoyed spending weekends at Rehoboth Beach, Del. He will be remembered for his "quick wit" and sharp sense of humor, White said.

In addition to White, his partner for the past seven years, Hefner is survived by his parents, Phyllis Johnson and Glen Hefner; sisters, Joy and Kelly Hefner; brother, Shawn Hefner; and niece, Morgan Hefner, all of Wilmington, Del.

'MARLBORO MAN' CHRISTIAN HAREN DIES OF AIDS

SAN FRANCISCO (GayNet) — Christian Haren, an actor and model best known for his representations in newspaper, magazine and TV ads in the 1960s as the "Marlboro Man," has died of an AIDS-related illness. He was 61 years of age.

Haren, was born in San Bernardino, worked under contract for MGM Studios in the late 1950s, and appeared in the John Wayne film "In Harm's Way" as well as in live theater on Broadway.

In the 1960s he increasingly did advertising modeling, and because of his rugged good looks, often appeared in ads for products like Budweiser beer and quickly became one of several Western-attired "Marlboro Man" models for the cigarette maker.

After being diagnosed with HIV in 1985, he worked as an AIDS educator in San Francisco.

Stephen Harman

Stephen W. Harman, a resident of Alexandria, Virginia, died of AIDS-related complications on Sunday, January 28, 1996, at his parents' home in Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, according to his mother, Patsy Harman. He was 41.

Born July 27, 1954, Harman was raised in Gettysburg. He attended beauty school in Springfield, Va. For the past 20 years, he worked as a hairdresser in Alexandria. He was the owner of 1405 Hair Salon located on King Street in Alexandria.

Harman was known to his friends by the nickname "Snow."

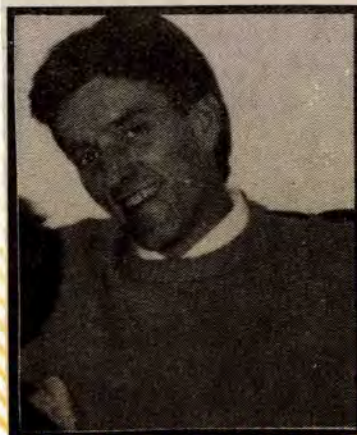

In addition to his mother, Harman is survived by his father, Curvin R. Harman, of Gettysburg; two brothers, David Harman of Fredericksburg, Va., and Mark Wolf of York Springs, Pa.; three sisters, Pamela A. Carpenter and Brenda Martin, both of Woodbridge, Va., and April Secrest of York Springs, Pa.; his paternal grandfather, Millard Wolf, also of York Springs; and nieces and nephews.

Services were held Jan. 31 at Mt. Olivet United Church of Christ in York Springs, Pa. Harman's remains were buried at Pines Cemetery in New Chester, Pa.

Contributions in his memory may be made to Food & Friends, 58 L St., SE, Washington, DC 20003; or Whitman-Walker Clinic, 1401 S St., NW, Washington, DC 20009.

JOHN HANDRAHAN

John Handrahan passed away on March, 15. A visible member of the community, John was ever present in the GRGRF Pride Block Party, serving the community with a smile. John was survived by wife Debra Handrahan, lifetime companion Arthur N. Oliver and was a loving father to Jillian and John N. Remembrances in lieu of flowers may be made to the Jillian and John N. Handrahan Trust Fund, P.O. Box 848, Forestdale, MA 02644.

Bert Huguley

Sept. 16, 1950 - Jan. 16, 1996

Bert, 45, was born in Columbus, Ga. His family remained in Georgia when Bert moved to San Francisco in the late '70s.

Bert worked in the city for years, then worked as a temp while he attended nursing school. He was diagnosed with AIDS before he could finish school. He was an avid bingo player, loved to cook and eat, have cocktails, and was a part of everyday life through his volunteering at the AIDS Foundation Food Bank, Project Open Hand Food Bank, PAWS and the AIDS Foundation itself.

Bert passed away peacefully at Davies Medical Center after an eight-year struggle with AIDS. He was surrounded by a few close friends, Letty Ann (P-of-A), Breck, Mimi (DP-A) and Linda.

Bert was best known for his love and loyalty toward his family and friends. He is survived by his mother, Mary Nell; father, George; stepfather, Don; grandmother, "Big Mama"; brother, Chris; and sister, Becky.

A memorial service will be held near the beach. All who want to attend should be at the Cliff House on Saturday, March 2, at 2 p.m. For more information contact Letty Ann at 415/472-2118 or Mimi at 510/609-9734. ▼

The Rev. Peter Van Allen Hayn

January 21, 1945 — May 12, 1996

The Rev. Peter Van Allen Hayn completed his journey on Sunday, May 12, 1996, at his home in San Francisco.

Peter was ordained as Deacon in 1990 and Priest in 1991 in the Episcopal Church. Peter retired as Administrator for the Episcopal School for Deacons and the Vicar of St. Barnabas Mission, both in San Francisco. His ministries include those at Grace Cathedral and General Hospital and the Parsonage in San Francisco. He was also an active member of the Constantines of the Bay Area.

He is survived by his father, Lloyd; aunt, Virginia; brothers Robert and Lawrence; his current partner, Vince Jang; former wife, Ruth Hayn; son Jeremy Hayn; daughter, Sara Roosa, and her husband, Eric; grandson Ej Roosa; and countless friends he made during his lifetime of selfless service.

A celebration of his life will be held at St. Aidan's Church, 101 Gold Mine Drive, San Francisco on May 25 at 5 p.m. His ashes will be interred at Grace Cathedral at a date to be announced. Call 749-6300 for more information. In lieu of flowers, a memorial fund has been established in his memory at the Episcopal School for Deacons, 459 Vienna Street, San Francisco, CA 94112.

Dale Harris, 67, Writer and Lecturer on the Arts

3-14-96

By JENNIFER DUNNING

Dale Harris, a writer and lecturer on dance, music, art and literature, died on Thursday at his home in Manhattan. He was 67.

The cause was AIDS, said David Vaughan, a friend.

Mr. Harris wrote and lectured about a wide variety of subjects, ranging in dance from classical ballet to avant-garde modern dance, from black American vernacular dance to Kabuki. He was the dance critic of The Wall Street Journal and a music critic at The New York Post, and contributed regularly to Opera Canada, Opera News and, in England, The Guardian and Opera magazine.

He was a popular lecturer on ballet, cultural history and opera at the Metropolitan Museum from 1979 to 1995, and two sets of CD's and tapes based on his opera talks became best sellers at the Metropolitan.

Mr. Harris was born in London to working-class parents. He was a self-made man whose first exposure to culture occurred when his school was evacuated during World War II to King's Lynn, in Norfolk, where he lived in an 18th-century house and learned how to behave in a world where, as he put it, there was the "unimaginable luxury and refinement" of conversation during mealtimes.

He immigrated to the United States in 1952. After military service here, he attended Harvard University on the G.I. Bill and graduated summa cum laude in 1958.

Mr. Harris taught at Harvard and at Stanford University in the 1960's, then went on to teach literature and writing at Sarah Lawrence College and the history of dance and opera at the New York University Tisch School of the Arts. He became a professor of art history and humanities at Cooper Union in 1992.

He also lectured at Princeton University, in the education department at Christie's auction house in New York City, at the Fort Worth Modern Art Museum and for the opera leagues of Los Angeles, San Francisco and Seattle. He conducted eight seminars on ballet, art, opera and cultural history at the Smithsonian Institution in the 1980's. In 1991, he gave the Mozart Bicentennial Lecture at the Salzburg Festival.

He also broadcast reports on music in New York for the Canadian Broadcasting Company and recorded Acoustiguide for art exhibitions. He appeared on public television as a host for "Live From the Met" and as an interviewer of ballet and opera stars.

Mr. Harris wrote a novel, "Home Fires Burning," in 1968. He was a frequent contributor to dance and music encyclopedias and anthologies in America and England. He also wrote for some 30 magazines, newspapers and specialized journals in America, Europe and Australia.

No immediate family members survive. A memorial service is to be held at the Great Hall of Cooper Union on May 6 at 5:30 P.M.

Allen Harris, RN, BSN

March 7, 1957 - February 14, 1996

Our friend, Allen Harris, passed away of AIDS at dawn on Valentine's Day after a long and spirited fight (one he never relinquished). With him was his lover, David Gary and friends and chosen family, Florence, Steve, Rion, Allan and Helen. Allen is also survived by his brother, Michael and Michael's family, Amy, Philip and Alyson. Services were held Friday, February 16 at Congregation Sha'ar Zahav, where Allen was an active member.

Friends remember Allen's love of life, of travel, food, of shopping for bargains and taking walks in San Francisco after rain storms. We will remember him as someone who never stopped enjoying life, or fighting to live.

Allen's nursing career began in Philadelphia where he was born and raised. He moved to San Francisco over a decade ago to work in the Kaiser Geary Campus ICU. More recently, he worked in Kaiser's HIV Research Unit and, though HIV positive, successfully completed his BSN at USF while working full time and participating in local state and national political campaigns.

Allen helped found RNs for Quality Care. Early in the epidemic, he served on the American Nurses Association HIV Task Force; he was appointed to that organization's credentials committee and founded the ANA Lesbian and Gay Caucus. He was instrumental in founding the Association of Nurses in AIDS Care and served as its national secretary. He was a member of the Golden Gate Nurses Association board and was an active member of the Government Relations Committee. Allen served two terms on the California Nurses Association Board of Directors and PAC.

Allen's advocacy for access to health care, HIV issues and lesbian and gay concerns provided many opportunities to him to testify before committees and to advise local, state and national political leaders. He was appointed to the U.S. Dept. of Health and Human Services HRSA AIDS Advisory Committee and he counted as one of his most memorable days attending a reception in the Rose Garden and meeting President Clinton.

The nursing profession, the gay & lesbian community and AIDS activism have lost an articulate spokesperson and one hell of a fighter. Allen Harris will always be an inspiration and a reminder that one person CAN make a difference.

Greg Hendrix

Greg Hendrix, 39, of Washington, D.C., died of AIDS related complications on Saturday, March 2, 1996, at the Burtonsville, Maryland home of his sister, Anne Kennedy, according to his friend, Tom Sena of D.C.

Hendrix was born at D.C.'s Georgetown Hospital on Nov. 14, 1956, and graduated from Parkdale High School in Greenbelt, Md. He received a business degree from Strayer College in D.C., and worked as a legal secretary in D.C. until his disability retirement in 1993.

Hendrix will be remembered for his "encyclopedic" knowledge of animated films, especially films by Walt Disney and Warner Brothers studios, Sena said. He enjoyed watching animated Disney features with friends, and was an ardent collector of animated film memorabilia, including books about the skills and history of animated art, Sena said.

Friends will also remember Hendrix for his "witty" sense of humor, his selfless giving, and his deep spirituality, Sena said.

"Greg and I talked a lot about God, the afterlife, and where he expected to be, said Sena. "His relationship with God was profound. He taught me a lot."

Hendrix was predeceased by his lover of nearly two years, Bryce Allen, who died of AIDS related complications at the couple's D.C. home on Jan. 2, 1996, Sena said.

"He was very loving," said Hendrix's sister, Ann Kennedy. "I was struck by Greg's courage throughout his illness. He'd watched so many die that his courage throughout it all was amazing."

In addition to Kennedy and Sena, Hendrix is survived by his sister, Tricia Consoli, her two daughters, Lauren and Allison Consoli, and her son Mason Consoli, all of Norfolk, Va.; and many friends throughout the D.C. area.

Wesley T. Hall

Wesley Thearon Hall, 46, of Washington, D.C., died Saturday, March 2, 1996, of AIDS-related complications at the Washington Hospital Center, according to his friend, Skip Strobel of Washington, D.C.

A lifelong resident of D.C., Hall was born March 27, 1949. He graduated from Roosevelt High School in 1968 and continued his education at Washington Technical Institute. When he left the Institute, he began working in the print shop of Bechtel Construction Company. In 1973, he moved to the Amtrak printing department, where he worked until the time of his death. He also worked for Century 21 in the early '90s.

Hall's passion was trains. He was a member of Hot Box, a local Gay railroad club.

"He loved to travel, especially by train," Strobel said. "On the spur of the moment he would catch a train to New York City for the weekend."

Hall had a large collection of train videos, and was very knowledgeable about the railroad and locomotives, Strobel said.

Hall attended the Metropolitan Community Church of Washington on a regular basis. He enjoyed cooking, quiet nights at home listening to disco music, and all animals, with a special fondness for dogs, Strobel said.

"Wesley should be remembered by those who knew him as an honest, simple, and decent man who would always 'be there' in time of need," Strobel said. "He was a very proud Gay man. He never gave up. He loved life too much for that."

Hall is survived by his mother, Cleo Hall; sister, Sharon Walton; and two brothers, Carl and Vernon Hall, all of D.C.

A memorial service will be held at MCC Washington, 474 Ridge St., NW, on Saturday, March 16, at 6 p.m. For further information, contact Strobel at (202) 543-7341.

Kurt Hecht

Kurt Hecht, 60, a longtime resident of Washington, D.C., died Thursday, February 29, 1996 at Manor Care Fernwood in Bethesda, Maryland, according to his friend, Ronald Moch of Rockville, Maryland.

Hecht was born Aug. 24, 1935 in Ludwigsburg, Germany. In 1955, he moved to the United States to study geology and oceanography on scholarship at Scripps Institution of Oceanography, a branch of the University of California, San Diego. Around 1960, he moved to Washington, D.C. where he worked as a consultant for the World Bank. While affiliated with the Bank, Hecht traveled extensively throughout Africa.

He was known for his interests in psychology, Middle Eastern philosophy, and the holistic treatment of HIV, a subject he followed for over 13 years. According to Moch, he loved to cook, especially Middle Eastern and Indian foods. He participated in several 12 step groups in the Washington area.

In addition to Moch, Hecht is survived by relatives in Tübingen, Germany and his friend, Brigitte Sutherlin of Washington, D.C. His remains were cremated and his ashes will be interred in Tübingen. A memorial service is being planned by the family.

Rodney Lee Hines

Feb. 15, 1954 - July 26, 1996

Rodney Lee Hines was born in Ashland, Ohio, and passed away on July 26 in San Francisco. He is survived by his family.

Rod worked in leaded glass for 25 years and is famous for his glass sculpture. He was prolific, creating over 20,000 pieces of work. Defining his own reality, Rod became a self-styled mystic. He lived on the edge.

"I am a worshiper of light, a follower of love and my holy book is the manuscript of nature."

Everyone who met him sensed his depth and creative gifts. Rodney wanted to be remembered as a spiritual warrior. In spite of the difficulties he faced in his life, Rod impressed people as a growing, insightful person. He was a wonderful friend.

Bud Hicks

Lewis F. Hicks Jr., also known as "Bud," 41, died Sunday, March 24, 1996, of AIDS-related complications at his home in northwest Washington, according to his wife, Toy E. Hicks.

Hicks was born July 6, 1954, in Columbia, S.C. He received an associate's degree in business administration from Manatee Community College, Brandenton, Fla. He first moved to Washington, D.C., in 1981. He worked as a bartender, waiter, and assistant manager at The D.C. Eagle and as a general manager at The Exile, no longer in business. In 1987, he moved to Los Angeles, where he was briefly employed with Turner Constructions Co., a national corporation. In 1988, he returned to the District where he served as an assistant accountant for Turner Constructions Co. He retired in 1991.

He was an active volunteer at Whitman-Walker Clinic, the NAMES Project, and the Metropolitan Community Church of Washington, where he served as deacon, worship coordinator, and bookkeeper. Hicks was an avid bowler with D.C. Sports Association. He was also president of the Friday night league during the 1989-90 season.

He and Toy Hicks were married Dec. 31, 1992. Hicks is also survived by his brothers, Jim Hicks of Columbia, Md. and John Hicks, of Germany.

Hicks was preceded in death by his partner Jim Berg, who died in 1987 of AIDS-related complications.

A memorial service will be held Saturday, April 13, at 5 p.m. at MCC/Washington. His remains will be interred later this month in Raleigh, N.C.

Ten years after the Supreme Court's Bowers v. Hardwick decision, the man who fought the sodomy law is dead, but statutes prohibiting gay sex live on in Georgia and many other states

by WALTER WOODS

Atlanta—Michael Hardwick, the man who fought unsuccessfully all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court for the right of gays to have legal sex in their own homes, died quietly five years ago, nearly alone, and out of the public spotlight.

His obituary, which ran in the Gainesville, Fla., Sun the week of June 13, 1991, said he died "after an extended illness." The only achievements listed were that Hardwick had been an artist and an Episcopalian.

Hardwick's end has been a mystery among Atlanta friends and gay publications over the past several months. His name has come up this year, the 10th anniversary of the high court's decision in his famous court case, Bowers v. Hardwick.

The case, which upheld Georgia's right, and hence the right of every state, to outlaw consensual gay sex—and straight sex acts other than coitus—made Hardwick a gay freedom fighter and his prosecutor, state Attorney General Michael Bowers, Georgia's most famous homophobe.

Ten years after the Supreme Court's decision, the cold, hard rhetoric written into the opinion and its legal ramifications are still felt on the tender advances gays have made in the courts.

"Basically, the message from the rhetoric in Hardwick was that gays have no rights, and courts have since used that message to practice wholesale discrimination against gay men and lesbians," said Suzanne Goldberg, staff attorney for the Lambda Legal Defense and Education Fund, a national gay and lesbian legal organization.

Bowers v. Hardwick has been the legal backbone of every major decision to hold back gay rights, Goldberg said. It and the sodomy laws it protects have been used to stop gay adoptions, take children from gay parents, deny jobs and fire without cause.

Nineteen states now outlaw gay sodomy. Five states outlaw only gay sodomy. Fourteen forbid both gay and straight non-coital sex. Before the law was struck down in Montana, fines for conviction were as high as $50,000. In Idaho, the penalty remains life in prison. In Georgia, most people reading this article could be sentenced from one to 20 years in prison for having sex with their partner.

F. David Hammond

F. David Hammond, born May 6, 1959, died April 25, 1996. He is survived by his partner of 10 years, Lee Kirby; their two dogs, Cody and Mitchell; his family, and a close circle of friends. David served as a volunteer and on the board of directors of Pets Are Loving Support, an organization he deeply believed in and to which he devoted many hours. His loves were Billie Holiday, Eta James, Broadway musicals, the theater and good friends. He will be missed.

F. David Hammond

Uncle David & Goliath

For years he fought the battle almost every single day. For AIDS is a disease that won't go away. He fought for his family, and his family alone. For he knew he couldn't run and he had no place to hide. They said this was a battle that he wasn't going to win, but whenever he got knocked down he'd get up and try again. In April it defeated him, but he wasn't going to cry; for he knew the 25th was a good day to die.

—Jason Willitzer, April 25, 1996

Raymond Helm

Raymond "R.J." Helm, 31, of South Philadelphia, died May 25, 1996, of complications due to AIDS, at home, surrounded by family and friends.

Originally from Rumson, N.J., Helm attended St. Thomas of Villanova University in Miami, and also owned and operated a landscaping business there.

He moved to Philadelphia and quickly gained popularity in the community as a bartender and bar manager. He had great respect for his customers and was given that same respect in return. In addition to his regular duties, he arranged a number of events, fund-raisers and trips for patrons.

Helm worked in several clubs in Philadelphia, including Uncles, Club Tyz, Key West, and most recently Raffles, where he managed Down on Camac.

He is survived by his parents, Patricia and Raymond Helm; a brother, Stephen; two sisters, Maureen and Eileen; and grandmothers Rita Mulrone and Florence Helm.

A memorial service will be held at 7 p.m. June 3 at St. Rita's Church, 1166 S. Broad St.

Memorial contributions may be sent to Philly PAWS, 1234 Locust St., Philadelphia, Pa. 19146. ▼

Blake Wright Henry

Blake Wright Henry died May 1 of complications from AIDS in San Diego. He was 36. A native Midwesterner, he was an accomplished musician, writer, cook and world traveler. His past 12 years in San Diego included employment as an engineering technician for NBS/Lowry of Rancho Bernardo working on toxic waste, but most notably his performances with San Diego's Finest City Freedom Band, which he joined in June 1985 and for which he served as president until he became too ill. He also performed with the Lesbian and Gay Bands of America at the inauguration of President Clinton. A volunteer for Strength for the Journey, Henry is survived by his companion, Ted Janka; parents, F. Donald and Mary Lou; sisters, Kathy Peterson and Molly; brothers, Mark and Bruce. 96

Keith Haskins

Keith E. Haskins, 35, a resident of Washington, D.C., died Thursday, July 11, 1996, of AIDS-related complications at Hyattsville Manor in Hyattsville, Maryland, according to his friend Turner Freeman of Washington, D.C.

Haskins was born Sept. 7, 1960, in Buffalo, N.Y. He attended North Carolina State University from 1987-89. After moving to D.C. in 1989, Haskins worked as a manager at D.C.'s AMC Union Station Nine Theatres.

He had an enormous passion for the movies, according to Freeman. He was especially fond of Bette Davis and counted All About Eve among his most-favored films. He also enjoyed animated movies, especially those produced by Walt Disney Studios. Haskins had even hoped to own a movie theater.

He was fond of traveling, especially to Los Angeles and New York City.

In addition to Freeman, Haskins is survived by his mother, Janet Haston of Pittsburgh, Pa.; and many other relatives and friends.

Joseph Robert Hernandez

Oct. 8, 1949 - July 19, 1996

Joe's fondest wish was fulfilled: to rejoin his beloved partner, Greg Cable, who died in his arms exactly 10 years ago.

In his own words, Joe had a rich life. He grew up in Germany, Italy and Marin, where his flair for design and performance found an outlet in school theatre. Although he graduated in landscape architecture from Cal Poly, it was his sense of interior space and fine cabinetry that earned him a place in the hearts and homes of clients when he moved to The City in the early '70s.

Joe was among Stop AIDS's first regular hosts. As his own health began to wane, he let go of working full-time to volunteer at the Botanical Gardens and the Larkin Street Youth Center, and undertook small creative projects for friends - sometimes even for himself, to add warmth and charm to the rambling flat he lived in for so long.

Joe's sister, his mother and his step-mother gathered round to help at the end. They are joined in a great sense of loss by his nephews and many loving friends and clients.

A memorial gathering for Joe will be held August 17. Call 431-4781 for details. To honor his memory, please consider a donation to the Larkin Street Youth Center or the Stop AIDS Project.

Marty Holmes

"Give us a death undiminished..." - "Hidden Legacies," GMCLA
I am glad to tell you that the struggle is over and Marty Holmes has left the earth to become another star in the heavens. Left behind are David, Butch, Paul, Fred, Dr. Stadler and the staff of 5P21, Jon, Bill, John and Gary, and the entire Gay Men's Chorus of Los Angeles.

As a physician's assistant, Marty was my primary care for over five years. I am still here because he cared. Marty was one of the most successful human beings I have ever known, and he touched thousands of lives that we will never know about.

In leather, on his motorcycle, in uniform or in his hospital whites, he was one handsome man with a heart that couldn't be contained in one of his statures. Letting him go is one of the hardest things I have ever done.

We will celebrate the life of one very special brother, lover, health care giver and friend at Holy Innocents Episcopal Church, 455 Fair Oaks, in San Francisco (near 26th Street) on Thursday evening, August 29, at 7:30 p.m. For further information, please call David Dehner at 436-9859.

Charles Martin Haberman

March 23, 1963 - July 17, 1996

Charlie died of AIDS on July 17 at home with his loving partner, mother, sister and close friends in attendance as he peacefully strolled away. A Marion, Ohio native, Charlie graduated from Xavier University in 1985 and was a foreign currency newsletter editor in Cincinnati before heading West in 1988 with a few friends and his beloved '50s furniture. In San Francisco, Charlie worked as a manager for MCI and as a volunteer coordinator for Community United Against Violence.

Charlie's many, many friends will always remember and miss the twinkle in his big blue eyes, quick deadpan humor, generous ear and the eloquent way he expressed his righteous outrage at injustice in the world. He will also be remembered for his volunteer work in the community and participation in many protests.

Charlie leaves his partner, Ben; parents, Annie and Willie; sisters, Kathy, Mary and Shannon; brothers, Bill, Mark and Mike; 14 adoring nieces and nephews; friends, Nick, Mary T., Scott, Howard, David, Mike, Mary L., Denise and Letitia; and many others.

Charlie's friends will celebrate his love and life on Sunday, Sept. 15. Please call (510) 482-5525 for details.

Kenneth Hale

Kenneth Paul Hale, 35, died Sunday, June 16, 1996 at his Washington, D.C. home of progressive multifocal leukoencephalopathy, or PML, an AIDS-related complication, according to his spouse and comrade, Ralston Cox.

Hale was born April 14, 1961 in St. Louis, Mo. It was there, in 1973, that he was recognized as a young scholar when he won the city's spelling bee championships. He attended Harvard University, where he graduated, cum laude, in 1984 with a degree in classics. He worked as an editor and researcher for Let's Go travel guides based in Boston. He also worked for Cultural Survival, a Boston-based nonprofit agency focusing on the concerns of indigenous people throughout the world; and ABC Publishers, publishing travel periodicals.

He moved to Washington in 1988, where he worked as a freelance editor and contributor for RFD, a Gay periodical. In 1989, he took a job with the World Bank in D.C. Five years later, in 1994, he retired as managing editor of the Bank's publications department.

Cox described Hale as an "avid and curious traveler," "voracious reader who haunted libraries and bookstores," and a member of D.C.'s Radical Faeries, where people knew him as "Opal."

His marriage to Cox was celebrated at Friends Meeting of Washington in September 1994. It was the Meeting's first ceremony celebrating the marriage of two men, Cox said.

In addition to Cox, Hale is survived by his parents, Paul Donald Hale and Jeanette Wehmann Hale of St. Louis, Mo.; two sisters, Kathleen Schultz of Oceanside, Calif.; and Christine Hale of St. Louis; and two nephews.

Death of Israeli pop star highlights AIDS stigma in Israel

Ofra Haza, 41, hid her affliction to the end

2000

by Dina Kraft
Associated Press Writer

JERUSALEM (AP)— The death of a popular singer from AIDS, and her efforts to conceal her illness from the public, have sparked a furious public debate here about the right to privacy — and the stigma that some here still attach to the illness.

The refrain "Ofra died of shame" reverberated through Israel's newspapers and airwaves this week. Haza's reported concealment and the widespread reaction to this week's story about it in the Haaretz daily have highlighted Israeli attitudes toward the disease.

The 41-year-old diva died Feb. 23 of organ failure. Citing the singer's wish to maintain her privacy, doctors who treated her at Tel Aviv's Tel Hashomer Hospital refused to say what brought on her condition.

However, Haaretz reported that she died of complications from AIDS. In an editorial, the paper said there was "no reason to demonize" the disease by keeping it a secret. The editorial called AIDS "a human disease like any other."

Doctors and family members maintained their silence, and there was no way to know how long Haza had been seeking treatment or how she might have contracted the disease. But Haza fans, politicians and others across Israel speculated today that if she had not feared negative publicity and had sought treatment sooner, she might not have died.

"I think the shame, stigma, and lack of information are what killed her," said Tirza Ariel, widow of another popular Israeli singer.

Fewer than 3,000 out of 6 million Israelis carry HIV, the virus that causes AIDS. Despite a recent Health Ministry campaign to increase public awareness, some Israelis still have misconceptions about the disease.

AIDS activists lamented Haza's reported decision to keep her disease a secret, suggesting it reinforced the message that the disease is shameful. Others raised the prospect that in a more tolerant environment, Haza could have followed the example of someone like American basketball star Magic Johnson, who retired after his 1991 disclosure that he is HIV-positive but has stayed in the public spotlight and become a campaigner for AIDS education.

Some AIDS sufferers said friends and acquaintances surprised them by embracing them even after they had "outed" themselves. "Nobody ran away from me, nobody broke off the connection with me," said Avinoam Frumer. Others insisted there is a price for going public.

Haza rose from the slums of Tel Aviv to become Israel's first international pop music star, blending ancient Yemenite Jewish devotional poetry with the sounds of 1980s techno music.

Other papers and the electronic media said they also knew Haza had AIDS but did not run the story. Some lawmakers and other observers criticized Haaretz for invading Haza's privacy.

Haaretz's editorial cited widespread rumors about the cause of death and Haza's status as a public figure in its decision to publish the report.

"The attitude she bore toward the disease influences people, both healthy and infirm," Haaretz wrote. ▼

Nicholas C. Houpis

Nicholas C. Houpis, 43, a retired Digital Equipment Corporation manager and well-known AIDS educator, died May 26 in his home after a long and courageous battle against AIDS. His family was at his side.

A native of Keene, NH, Mr. Houpis was known as "Mr. Nick" by thousands of Greater Boston grade school students through his work with "Staying Healthy," an innovative program that educates fourth and fifth grade students about health issues including HIV and AIDS. His engaging and thought-provoking presentations endeared him to hundreds of teachers and students who continued to correspond with him long after he visited their schools.

Mr. Houpis graduated cum laude with a bachelor's degree in political science from the University of New Hampshire, Durham, where he also served as manager of the university's NCAA men's ice hockey team. He earned a master's degree in public relations from Boston University's College of Communications in 1981.

Mr. Houpis worked for Transamerica Airlines of Oakland; General Foods Corporation of White Plains, NY and Towers, Perrin, Forster & Crosby of Boston, before beginning a decade-long public relations career at Digital Equipment Corporation in 1984.

While at Digital, Mr. Houpis served as public relations manager for its field service division and later as analyst relations manager for Digital Services. During his tenure, Houpis received numerous professional awards including Digital's Communications Leadership Award in 1991.

Mr. Houpis retired from Digital in 1994 after being diagnosed with AIDS. Over the next five years, he selflessly dedicated himself to helping the public learn more about HIV and AIDS. He served as a consultant to numerous corporations on AIDS in the workplace issues, and conducted daily speaking engagements to schools and community organizations on behalf of the American Red Cross, Planned Parenthood, the Boston Living Center and AIDS Action. He also regularly answered calls on Boston's AIDS Action Committee Hotline, counseling concerned individuals and families about the growing AIDS epidemic.

Despite well-publicized breakthroughs in treatments for HIV and AIDS, Mr.

Houpis was one of thousands for whom new combination drug therapies failed. He became a leading advocate for increased education and research, and support of those still struggling with the disease.

His inspiring story and advocacy was chronicled in The Boston Globe, local Boston newscasts, PBS and CBS Nightly News with Dan Rather. Mr. Houpis also served on the board of directors of Community Research Initiative of New England (CRI), a nationally renowned, Boston-based AIDS research organization that continues to seek new treatments and an eventual cure for AIDS.

Mr. Houpis loved water-skiing, aerobics, and squash, and most especially his family and hundreds of friends who were embraced by his tremendous compassion, energy and generosity.

Mr. Houpis' father, the late Constantine N. "Dino" Houpis of Keene, NH, preceded him in death in March.

He leaves his beloved life partner of eight years, Michael Burke of Brighton; his mother, Yonnie Ballas Houpis of Keene, NH; a sister, Elana "Lela" Houpis Barnes and her husband Jim of Piedmont, Calif.; a brother, Christy C. Houpis of Amherst, NH; a nephew, Jonathan Barnes and a niece, Alison Barnes, both of Piedmont, CA.; numerous aunts, uncles and cousins and his faithful dog, Ellie.

Memorial contributions may be made to CRI of New England or AIDS Action Committee, c/o Foley Funeral Home, P.O. Box 692, Keene, NH 03431.

OF PEOPLE	PAGE	AGE	NAME	DATE OF DEATH
1	45	31	GREGORY J. HAAS	6-14-95
2	4	34	ALLAN HABER	8-16-91
3	5	46	JOHN HABER	1-29-92
4	30		JOHN MARK HABERLIN	2-5-95
5	63	33	CHARLES MARTIN HABERMAN	7-17-96
6	35	62	ERIC M. HACKER	8-5-94
7	53	30	DAVID HACKNEY	1992
8	19	34	JOHN HACKNEY	6-3-93
9	5	35	STAN HADDEN	12-2-91
10	A-39	38	JEFF HADEGORN	1995
11	24	43	TREVOR HADLEY	11-9-93
12	23	33	RONALD HAEFKA	10-17-93
13	A-35	31	CARLO HAGAMAN	12-1-93
14	12	46	DONALD HAGAN	3-7-92
15	31	38	JEFF HAGEDORN	9-8-95
16	9	40	GARY HAGEN	12-26-91
17	16		JOHN DAVID HAGEN	9-10-93
18	29	37	STEVE HAGEN	4-15-94
19	24	41	RICHARD R. HAGEMAN	8-14-93
20	25	47	TIM HAGERMAN	3-29-93
21	9	47	LAURENCE HAINES	6-11-92
22	44	41	STEVEN ARTHUR HAINES	4-21-95
23	A-37	87	CLARA HALE	1993
24	A-34	35	GREGORY DEAN HALE	12-1-94
25	26		HAROLD SCOTT HALE	11-13-94
26	24		JESSE J. HALE	1-9-94
27	63	35	KENNETH PAUL HALE	6-16-96
28	32	46	DARRELL LEE HALEY	12-18-94
29	35		DAVID HALEY	5-23-95
30	22	26	GREGORY HALEY	7-28-93
31	A-34	48	KELLY HALIN	12-1-92
32	43	41	ANDREW ARLIN HALL	3-1-95
33	32	38	BRIAN HALL	12-21-94
34	23	43	CARTER B. HALL	11-14-93
35	6	25	CRYSTALL HALL	NO DATE

OF PEOPLE	PAGE	AGE	NAME	DATE OF DEATH
36	6	47	DAVID A. HALL	11-15-91
37	23	39	DAVID EDWARD HALL	4-11-93
38	24	44	DON HALL	8-26-93
39	16	52	DONALD C. HALL	9-16-94
40	26		George HALL	10-13-93
41	37		JAMES HALL	8-4-94
42	19	35	Kevin P. HALL	4-10-91
43	23	35	MICHAEL P. HALL	11-23-97
44	27		Remy HALL	12-26-94
45	24	51	Rev. VIRGIL HALL	3-14-93
46	13	65	RICHARD HALL	10-29-92
47	B-74		Toby HALL	1993
48	M-84		TONGA HALL	1999
49	51	60	Wesley HALL	3-2-96
50	1	37	PATRICK L. HALLAREN	3-9-94
51	22	42	PAUL FRANCIS HALLAREN	12-27-93
52	42	44	Bruce William Haller	2-4-95
53	38		Jim HALLEY	9-12-94
54	5	34	ROBERT W. HALLIDAY	9-14-91
55	26	19	DAVID M. HALLION	4-3-94
56	9	45	PETER W. HALLOCK	7-17-92
57	51	51	Kenneth HALPERN	1-13-96
58	6	44	RICHARD L. HALPERN	6-28-92
59	S-90		DEAN HALSEY	3-9-94
60	6	57	ROY HALSTON	NO DATE
61	47	47	BONNIE E. HAMANN	7-6-95
62	6	40	Joseph E.S. HAMBLIN	12-27-91
63	27	35	CORNELIUS CON HAMEL	7-11-94
64	32	42	ANTHONY HAMILTON	3-29-95
65	10	35	CARLTON HAMILTON	8-1989
66	51	62	GORDEN STUART HAMILTON	11-15-95
67	A-34	39	Hugh HAMILTON	12-1-89
68	22	37	JOHN RICHARD HAMILTON	11-25-93
69	24	43	MICHAEL HAMILTON	4-23-93
70	22	37	MICHAEL HAMILTON	7-12-93

OF PEOPLE	PAGE	AGE	NAME	DATE OF DEATH
71	S-89		MICHAEL E HAMILTON	10-10-95
72	29	36	RAY HAMILTON JR.	7-17-94
73	25		RICHARD (DICK) HAMILTON	4-10-94
74	52	33	SCOTT J. HAMILTON	3-30-96
75	25	45	JACK W. HAMM	4-2-93
76	36	37	JOHN R. HAMMEL	2-3-95
77	35	47	DAVID M. HAMMER	8-18-94
78	S-90		ANDY HAMMOND	3-9-94
79	S-90		CARL HAMMOND	3-9-94
80	61	37	DAVID F. HAMMOND	4-25-96
81	39	41	DONALD HAMMOND	2-4-96
82	A-34	34	TOM HAMMOND	12-1-92
83	57		CALVIN HAMPTON	1984
84	57	33	CHRISTOPHER WAYNE HAMPTON	12-31-95
85	11	87	MABEL HAMPTON	10-26-90
86	5	45	ANTHONY HANCOCK	9-21-90
87	5	27	BLAIR HANCOCK	8-29-93
88	49	34	BRIAN K. HANCOCK	10-4-95
89	S-89		DALE DWAIN HANCOCK	10-10-95
90	58		JOHN N. HANDRAHAN	3-15-96
91	S-90		DENNIS HANEY	3-9-94
92	S-90		JERRY HANEY	3-9-94
93	7		JOHN PHILLIPS HANG	9-9-93
94	5	44	DAVID E. HANKERMAYER	8-10-91
95	5	36	CHARLES F. HANNAGAN	12-20-91
96	31	35	MARK W. HANNON	1-28-95
97	14	35	CRAIG HANSEN	4-3-93
98	34	48	DAVID HANSEN	6-30-95
99	47		RICHARD (RICK) HANSEN	8-8-95
100	25	48	JOHN DANIELS HANSON	7-31-93
101	13	25	GARY C. HANSON	5-15-93
102	26	42	LARRY HANSON	3-4-95
103	A-35	30	SCOTT IRWIN HANSON	12-1-93
104	34	36	TERRANCE CHRISTAIN HANSON	7-4-94
105	44	66	WILLIAM (BILLY) HANSON	6-20-95

OF PEOPLE	PAGE	AGE	NAME	DATE OF DEATH
106	19	30	GARRISSON U. HAPBURY	5-23-93
107	5-89		JOHN HARDESTY	10-10-95
108	20	73	EUGENE W. HARDING	6-30-93
109	46	40	PETER HARDING	5-11-95
110	21		TONY HARDING	2-7-91
111	14		MORGAN P. HARDMAN	10-3-93
112	31	72	PAUL HARDMAN	1-5-96
113	40	40	ROBERT BRIAN HARDMAN	11-9-94
114	24	39	MARK HARDWICK	11-17-93
115	61	37	MICHAEL HARDWICK	6-13-91
116	10	42	JEFFREY D. HARDY	1-3-91
117	42	31	JON ANTHONY HARDY	9-10-95
118	33	42	MICHAEL W. HARDY	2-14-94
119	48	43	ROBIN HARDY	10-28-95
120	15	43	MICHAEL J. HARE	7-14-93
121	58	61	CHRISTAIN HAREN	3-20-96
122	5	31	KEITH HARING	3-1990
123	40	38	JERRY LEE HARLER	1-14-95
124	45	30	THOMAS JOHN HARLIN	11-3-94
125	33	37	ROGER HARLOW	6-21-94
126	58	41	STEPHEN W. HARMAN	1-28-96
127	12	59	RAIF HARMER	4-20-92
128	12	35	JESSE K. HARMIN	11-18-92
129	17	38	DAVID HARNISH	1-4-93
130	50	37	FRANK HARPER	10-13-95
131	53	35	BILLY HARRELL	11-21-95
132	52		BRUCE HARRELSON	9-14-95
133	52	39	RODNEY E. HARRILL	7-27-95
134	14	43	BOB HARRINGTON	10-19-92
135	16	41	BRIAN P. HARRINGTON	5-3-93
136	59	39	ALLEN HARRIS R.N.	2-14-96
137	45	42	BRENT HARRIS	7-1981
138	7		CRAIG HARRIS	11-26-91
139	59	62	DALE HARRIS	3-14-96
140	19	35	DWAYNE U. HARRIS	5-21-93

OF PEOPLE	PAGE	AGE	NAME	DATE OF DEATH
141	45	33	John CARROLL HARRIS	12-3-95
142	6	37	John J.J. HARRIS	4-14-92
143	46	33	Joseph M HARRIS JR.	6-10-95
144	29		KENNETH A. HARRIS	9-5-94
145	4	32	KONKAI D. HARRIS	3-7-91
146	30	46	MICHAEL DON HARRIS	2-4-94
147	9	45	Roy HARRIS JR.	NO DATE
148	1		Sidney K. HARRIS	8-10-92
149	A-35	48	WALTER K. HARRIS	12-1-92
150	37	46	BOB HARRISON	6-29-94
151	9	46	BRIAN T. HARRISON	5-23-92
152	51	51	DOUG HARRISON	8-26-95
153	57	36	GARY LEON HARRISON	5-6-96
154	48	36	Guy HARRISON	8-17-95
155	12	43	Ken HARRISON	10-18-91
156	34	46	ROBERT FRANKLIN HARRISON	6-29-94
157	54	32	William C. HARRISON III	12-2-95
158	8	40	William SCOTT HARRISON	3-29-95
159	10	40	RICHARD HARROD	1-6-93
160	21		CHRISTOPHER R.T. HART	6-15-93
161	43	45	EDWARD ALLAN HART	4-20-95
162	37	49	NEIL L. HART HART	8-14-95
163	6		RANDOLPH B. HART	3-9-92
164	31		RANDOLPH Y. HART	8-19-94
165	8	30	ROBERT HART	6-9-88
166	51	38	ROGER ALAN HART	12-20-95
167	25		SIMON MARKET HART	2-11-94
168	S-89		JOEY HARTLEY III	10-10-95
169	35		TIMOTHY ALAN HARTLEY	6-16-95
170	53	37	ERIC R. HARTMAN	2-29-96
171	50	43	JERRY HARTMAN	8-20-95
172	8	42	ALAN C. HARTWELL	5-1991
173	23	36	ANDREW HARTZELL	5-9-93
174	21	49	MICHAEL HARVEY	9-23-93
175	12	13	STEPHEN HARVEY	1-1-93

OF PEOPLE	PAGE	AGE	NAME	DATE OF DEATH
176	33	36	Wendall HARVEY	4-24-94
177	39	32	UMAN HASAN	10-24-94
178	18	30	ALAN R. HASKELL	2-3-93
179	23		DARREN L. HASKELL	6-11-91
180	62	35	Keith E. HASKINS	7-11-96
181	33	41	MARK Andrew HASKINS	2-5-94
182	18	31	KATRINA HASLIP	12-6-92
183	43	46	John Henry HASS	3-14-95
184	37	51	MUNEER HASSAN	12-14-94
185	7	40	Kevin S. HASSLER	6-9-93
186	37	47	CHRISTOPHER HASTING	3-1-96
187	39	45	JOAN W. HASTING	8-10-95
188	17	34	TONY HATCH	2-3-93
189	1	15	ROBERT HATCHER	11-26-92
190	43	36	ROBERT F. HATHAWAY	3-31-95
191	13		MICHAEL HATOFF	5-20-94
192	19	62	DONALD HAUCK	6-15-92
193	A-35	42	STEVE HAULEY	12-1-93
194	33		FREDRICK L. HAUPERT M.D.	2-18-95
195	20	54	RONALD HAUER	5-20-93
196	15	33	ROBERT F. HAWE	NO DATE
197	54	62	BOB HAWES	11-5-95
198	34	45	RUSTY L. HAWES	6-6-94
199	S-90		ROBERT HAWK	3-9-94
200	9	39	STEPHEN BRUCE HAWKINS	7-25-94
201	A-34	35	TIMOTHY HAWKINS	12-1-92
202	3	44	TIMOTHY HAWKINS	6-19-92
203	36	54	WILLIAM BENJAMIN HAWKINS JR	8-22-94
204	17	37	MARK HAYDEN	10-23-93
205	55	47	DONALD A. HAYES	1-16-96
206	18	33	MICHAEL W. HAYES	5-5-93
207	7	28	RICK HAYES	7-4-92
208	P-43		ROBERT HAYES	4-1993
209	21	39	WALTER HAYES	7-30-93
210	58	51	REV. PETER VAN ALLEN HAYN	NO DATE

OF PEOPLE	PAGE	AGE	NAME	DATE OF DEATH
211	3	32	Roy HAYNER	11-7-92
212	w-37		BRADLEY HAYNES	12-1-94
213	42	56	CHUCK HAYNES	4-14-95
214	33	33	ROBERT HAYES	6-29-94
215	11	45	RON HAYS	4-1991
216	29	41	JOAN EDWARD HEAD	7-5-94
217	3	37	MICHAEL J. HEALD	3-13-92
218	23		BRIAN P. HEALEY	12-31-93
219	25	40	BRUCE HEALTH	5-23-93
220	29		LARRY A. HEALY	7-16-94
221	13	38	DR. CLIFFORD S. HEAPHY	4-12-93
222	25	41	GERALD HEARNS	8-31-93
223	24		PAUL C. HEARNS	8-18-93
224	2		GARY HEATWOLE	4-8-90
225	A-35	31	RICK HEBERT	12-1-93
226	34		DON HECHER	6-5-94
227	60	60	KURT HECHT	2-29-96
228	4	40	LAWRENCE W. HECHT	11-6-91
229	17		RAY HEDGE	7-11-94
230	46	45	RICHARD DENNIS HEDRICK	5-18-95
231	52		GARY HEFFINGTON	10-17-91
232	58	29	MARK A. HEFNER	1-29-96
233	43	48	DONALD M. HEGGESTAD	5-6-95
234	1		KIRK HEGGIE	2-8-90
235	12	55	CHARLES HEIM	3-31-93
236	16	43	MARC HEIN	3-30-93
237	26	40	VICTOR LEO HEINEMAN	2-27-94
238	26	44	SCOTT HEISER	10-21-93
239	40	49	ALLISON G. HEISTERMAN	4-29-95
240	32	43	TERRY HELBING	3-28-94
241	S-90		DAVID HELD	3-9-94
242	62	31	RAYMOND R. J. HELM	5-25-96
243	42	46	JOHN CHARLES HELLIWELL	10-11-96
244	36	40	ERIC HELLMAN	9-3-94
245	55	38	ESSEX HEMPHILL	11-4-95

OF PEOPLE	PAGE	AGE	NAME	DATE OF DEATH
246	44	57	Bill Henderson	4-19-95
247	48	41	Dirk Bryan Henderson	8-21-95
248	46	44	Robert Paul Henderson	9-1-95
249	39	44	Spencer Henderson	11-14-93
250	A-34	23	Stephen Ray Henderson	12-1-94
251	34		James Allan Hendricks Jr.	10-16-92
252	26	44	Peter Andrew Hendrickson	1-21-96
253	60	39	Greg Hendrix	3-2-96
254	6	40	Thomas S. Hennessy	1-6-93
255	62	36	Blake Wright Henry	5-1-96
256	17	36	C. Patrick Henry	2-5-90
257	9	46	Don C. Henry	4-9-93
258	36	50	Dr. M.L. (Hank) Henry Jr.	3-25-95
259	3	34	Thomas A. Henry	7-28-90
260	18	39	Arthur C. Hensler III	8-23-93
261	12		Kenneth M. Hensley Jr.	5-18-92
262	41	66	Jack B. Hepworth	2-15-95
263	23	33	Kenneth Lee Herbert	8-13-93
264	15	57	Wilfred E. Herbert	2-14-93
265	53		Johnnie Herd	9-17-89
266	3	44	Kay Herd	3-1991
267	48	38	John D. Herdan	7-22-95
268	20	32	Jeffrey Herington	4-26-93
269	22	66	James Leo Herlihy	10-21-93
270	S-42		Jim Herman	NO DATE
271	S-90		Mark Hermes	3-9-94
272	13	29	Felipe Hernandez	10-5-92
273	62	47	Joseph Robert Hernandez	7-19-96
274	S4	28	MANUAL MANNY Hernandez Jr.	12-14-95
275	S-90		Paul Hernandez	3-9-94
276	23	37	Rodolfo Hernandez	1-10-93
277	I-6		Tito Hernandez	NO DATE
278	S-89		Judd Herndon	10-10-95
279	S-89		Brad Harold Herr	10-10-95
280	30	33	Mark Anthony Herrera	1-30-94

OF PEOPLE	PAGE	AGE	NAME	DATE OF DEATH
281	32	31	VINCENT WILLIAM HERRERA	3-25-94
282	44	35	DAVID W. HERRIN	4-8-95
283	14	28	DUANE HERRING	11-29-92
284	42	41	ROBERT ALAN HERSHMAN	3-11-95
285	24	11	HEATHER HERTZAN	9-11-93
286	46	38	PETER MICHAEL (Puffy) HESLIN	2-14-96
287	5-89		JOHN MARK HESS	10-10-95
288	22	29	ROBERT HESS	1-12-96
289	30	40	RUSSEL JOSEPH HERSE	2-2-94
290	51	29	GARY KONRAD HESSLER	11-11-95
291	7	63	HAL HESTER	9-13-92
292	17	42	SCOTT F. HEUMAN	5-13-93
293	47	38	GREGORY HETTMANSPERGER	6-17-95
294	50	42	BRIAN C. HEWITT	11-21-95
295	9	39	PAUL F. HEWITT	10-12-92
296	48		ROBERT HEWITT JR.	12-27-95
297	36	38	STEVEN HEWSON	3-11-95
298	37	59	RICHARD A. HEYMAN	9-16-94
299	47		WILFRED (WINNIE) HEYWOOD	8-29-95
300	21	46	WILLIAM E. HIATT	6-22-93
301	38	41	PATRICK HICKEY	7-12-95
302	13	56	LELAND HICKMAN	5-12-91
303	61	41	LEWIS F. HICKS	3-24-96
304	A-37	29	PAUL (DURAND) HIDALGO	1993
305	30	41	BRUCE PATRICK HIGGINS	6-27-94
306	42	73	HAZEL L.M. HIGGINS	11-8-92
307	36		PAUL BOWEN HIGGINS	8-5-95
308	A-35	34	RAYMOND A. HIGGINS JR.	12-1-86
309	A-39	74	PATRICIA HIGH	1995
310	26	38	JOHN HIGH TOWER	1-19-95
311	33	53	MICHAEL HILDEBRAND	10-19-94
312	14		WILLIAM C. HILDUM	5-7-92
313	4	32	DAVID L. HILL	5-29-91
314	3		DENNIS HILL	11-17-91
315	4	40	EDWIN S. HILL	3-18-92

OF PEOPLE	PAGE	AGE	NAME	DATE OF DEATH
316	30	66	FRANK HILL	5-14-94
317	19	56	KEN HILL	6-6-93
318	S-84		RAY W HILL	10-10-95
319	27		STEVEN EDWARD HILL	1-24-94
320	12		WILLIAM HILL	10-14-91
321	2	30	DAVID A. HILLIARD	2-18-92
322	53		RON HIMEBROOK	10-17-95
323	35		HOWARD J. HIMMELFARB	4-15-95
324	28	55	DOUG HINCKLE	2-3-94
325	30	50	THOMAS HINCKLEY	6-24-94
326	17		WILLIAM (BILLY) HINCKLEY	8-28-94
327	1	46	KENT C. HINER	12-2-91
328	60	42	RODNEY LEE HINES	7-26-96
329	44	39	EARL (RUD) HINKLE	5-8-95
330	35		GREGORY HINSON	9-11-94
331	46		JOE HINSON	7-21-95
332	29	37	WILLIAM D. HINZ JR.	6-21-94
333	9	39	MIKE HIPPLER	4-2-91
334	S-90		MARK HIRANO	3-9-94
335	7	59	JOHN HIRSCH	NO DATE
336	13		MICHAEL HIRSCH	NO DATE
337	57	39	LAWRENCE S. HISTEN	12-7-95
338	S-90		REXFORD HITCHCOCK	3-9-94
339	40	29	GREG HIXON	11-29-94
340	A-35	33	MICHAEL RAY HIXON	12-1-93
341	A-35	35	JOHN HIXON	12-1-92
342	13	42	CHRIS HJORT	3-5-93
343	46	34	BRUCE HLIBOK	6-23-95
344	55	43	GARY (WOLF) HONGLAND	12-21-95
345	16		DR. DAVID HOBART	1989
346	A-34	56	MARK HOBBS	12-1-94
347	25	40	JAMES F. HOCH	5-8-94
348	15	41	CLINTON HOCKENBERRY	3-24-92
349	2	42	GUY HOCQUENGHEM	8-25-88
350	11	48	MICHAEL HODGE	11-27-92

OF PEOPLE	PAGE	AGE	NAME	DATE OF DEATH
351	6	46	Timothy J. Hodgen	1-3-93
352	7		Parker Hodges	6-10-93
353	51	42	Dale Francis Hodgins	6-15-95
354	3	33	James C.J. Hodgson	2-10-91
355	9		Sten E. Hodgson	8-1-92
356	29		Arthur Hoffman	11-1-89
357	A-35	50	Howard Hoffman Jr.	12-1-94
358	21		John Reed Hoffman	12-26-94
359	27	50	Karl R. Hoffman Mid	11-11-95
360	A-35	5	Keya Marie Hoffman	12-1-93
361	38	41	Michael R. Hoffman	9-2-94
362	24	56	Paul Hoffman	9-20-93
363	30	40	Richard Francis Hofmann	2-27-94
364	30	63	Gay Lord J. Hoftiezer	5-27-94
365	31		Brian J. Hogan	4-28-95
366	39	47	James Z. (Jim) Hogan	10-25-94
367	16	50	Gary Hoggard	10-9-92
368	S-89		Darrell Wayne Hoggatt	10-10-95
369	14	40	David W. Holbrook	6-19-92
370	37		Darroll E. Holder	7-18-95
371	26	38	Thomas Doyle Holdorf	7-15-94
372	3		Beulah B.E. Hole	9-24-91
373	36	41	David E. Holland	12-16-94
374	S-89		Jerry R. Holland	10-10-95
375	9		Steven A. Hollar	1-13-92
376	15	40	Richard D. Hollenbaugh	1-24-93
377	1	33	Timothy Hollers	1-1-94
378	23	49	Joseph Holloway	7-22-93
379	A-37		Fred Hollows	1993
380	31	36	Brockton H. Holm	8-10-95
381	38	37	Scott David Holmberg	1-23-95
382	45	20	Christopher Holmes	1992
383	24		James B. Holmes	3-3-95
384	1	43	John Holmes	1988
385	35	47	Larry J. Holmes	8-2-94

OF PEOPLE	PAGE	AGE	NAME	DATE OF DEATH
386	63		MARTY Holmes	8-29-96
387	7	53	JAN V. Holmgren	3-29-93
388	15	34	BILL HOLT	6-28-93
389	17	40	JONATHAN HOLT	4-11-94
390	A-37	45	STEVE HOLT	1993
391	11	62	SCOT HOLTAN	9-27-91
392	27		YOU DUNG Hom	1-6-95
393	5		LOUIS F. Homyak	1-15-91
394	6		WILLIAM G. Honey	5-18-93
395	29	40	B.W. Honeycutt	1-13-94
396	47	46	RONALD JAMES Honeycutt	8-3-95
397	50	34	ERIC Hook	8-23-95
398	29	65	Ted Hook	7-19-95
399	36	31	John David Charles Thomas Hooper	9-29-94
400	49	49	ROBERT DENLOW Hoopes	8-19-95
401	27	43	BRIAN Hoover	2-3-94
402	7		CHRISTAIN Hoover	7-15-92
403	19	54	EDWARD W. Hoover	4
404	23	41	JOHN LEE Hoover	6-4-93
405	A-39	29	ERIC HOOGSCHOUR	12-1-93
406	26		CAROLYN Hope	1994
407	9	43	JACOB M. Hopkin	11-6-92
408	33	42	EARLE R. Hopkins	5-26-94
409	38		KEVIN Hopkins	12-27-95
410	27	42	RAYMOND Hopkins Jr.	5-26-94
411	49	46	WILLIAM C.A. Hoppe III	8-30-95
412	25		WILLIAM TIMOTHY HORAN	3-22-94
413	40		JEFFREY A. HORGAN	9-6-96
414	12	41	RONNY HORN	4-18-93
415	22		CHARLES M. HORNBAKER	10-30-93
416	35	48	CHARLES HORNE	9-4-94
417	11	33	DANIEL A. HORNE	NO DATE
418	49	45	RICHARD HORNUNG	1-3-96
419	6	29	KENNETH M. HORITO	3-4-93
420	2	44	RICHARD HOROVITZ	7-18-91

OF PEOPLE	PAGE	AGE	NAME	DATE OF DEATH
421	11	44	STEVEN D. HOROWITZ	8-13-91
422	48	35	DAVID V. HORE MILLER	7-3-95
423	5-90		JERRY HORSTING	3-9-94
424	2		STEPHEN M. HORTON	12-11-91
425	20		IAN HORVATH	1-5-90
426	25	34	MARC A. HOSKINS	8-12-94
427	5-90		ROGER HOSTETTER	3-9-94
428	31		CRAIG HOSTETTER	7-16-94
429	25		ANNA T. HOUGHTALING	1-8-94
430	65	43	NICHOLAS C. HOUPIS	5-26-99
431	14	35	GEORGE M. HOW	2-22-93
432	26	55	BENN HOWARD	8-7-94
433	16	32	DANIEL C. HOWARD	1-29-93
434	2	55	DICK HOWARD	2-15-91
435	9	40	MICHAEL E. HOWARD	12-4-91
436	22	30	GREGORY VERNON HOWE	4-30-93
437	9		DON HOWELL	8-13-91
438	52	55	JOHN RUSHING HOWELL	10-17-88
439	1	34	TRACY HOWER	5-4-90
440	48		ELIZABETH B. HOWLETT	10-18-96
441	39		GEORGE HOWLETT	8-17-94
442	2	41	JOHN HOWLETT	9-26-91
443	20		MATT HOYDIE	5-1993
444	13	37	HERBERT HOYT	1-26-93
445	8	39	BRUCE HUBBARD	11-12-91
446	49	42	ROBERT I. HUBBARD	8-10-95
447	9	43	RICHARD M. HUBERT	10-14-92
448	44	42	JAYSON WORTHAM HUDGINS	4-29-95
449	56	59	ROCK HUDSON	10-2-85
450	33	41	ROBERT WILLIAM HUESNER	6-20-94
451	18	39	GREGORY HUFFMAN	5-20-88
452	41		JERRY HUFFMAN	2-5-95
453	5-84		CHARLIE EUGENE HUGES	10-10-95
454	4	34	CHRISTOPHER W. HUGES	4-13-92
455	35	32	GREGORY HUGES	10-25-94

OF PEOPLE	PAGE	AGE	NAME	DATE OF DEATH
456	18	51	John Preston Huges	3-19-93
457	55	40	STEVEN L. Huges	12-31-95
458	33	34	WALTER coleman Huges	4-16-95
459	58	45	BERT Huguley	1-16-96
460	P-43		PETER HUJAR	4-1993
461	9	45	ROBERT C. HULL	12-30-91
462	26	32	Charles (Chuck) Hummer III	9-19-94
463	7	57	Robert A.L. Humphreys	8-23-91
464	S-89		Keith HUNNICUTT	10-10-95
465	34	35	ALBERT HUNT	6-25-94
466	8	37	BILL HUNT	1-7-93
467	34	33	George MARTIN HUNT	6-18-94
468	14	40	Richard HUNT	1-7-92
469	38		thomas A. HUNT	6-30-96
470	25	38	John R. HUNTER	2-24-93
471	41	32	Richard DENTON HUNTER	1-17-95
472	29	47	DAVID V. HUNTLEY	7-2-94
473	19	38	Jeffrey D. Hunzeker	8-3-92
474	33		Dennis H. (Daniel) HURA	4-4-95
475	26	36	STEPHEN HUSA	5-3-94
476	16	37	William A. HUSACK	2-11-93
477	15	34	Bo HUSTON	5-24-93
478	16	41	DAVID S. HUSTON	12-1-93
479	8	35	BRYAN HUTCHINS	2-25-93
480	A-35	31	DAVID W. HUTCHINS	12-1-89
481	35	30	Timothy MARK HUTCHINGS	10-13-94
482	17	40	Charles V. HUTCHINSON	12-22-92
483	46	50	Bruce R. HUTCHINSON	5-17-95
484	18	50	DAVID J. HUTCHINSON	7-22-93
485	26		PAUL J. HUTTE	7-22-94
486	51	43	IRWIN B. HUX	12-18-95
487	15	41	JAMES HYNES	11-6-91
488	41	31	KEVIN J. HYNES	1-16-95
489	64	41	OFRA HAZA	2-23-00
490				