Dear Mayor White,

I am a sophomore at Canton High School and I have been thinking about the intergration problem you have been having in Boston School System.

I think that the solution should be to start intergration in the first grade and continue it as they advance through the grades. That way they will know eachother by the time they reach High School and there is less friction between the students. I realize of course that this is not what Judge Garrity wants but it is a solution that will accomplish the goal of intergration in the longrun.

I speak from experience in that in Canton High School we have several black students who blend inwith everybody else andthereis absolutely no friction at all. You can't put intergration in by force and you cannot put it in all at once.

Respectfully yours,
