

LOCAL WOMEN AID SUFFRAGE CAUSE VICTORY

Mrs. C. W. McCulloch Tells Part Evenson Played in National Campaign.

WORKERS JUBILANT ON EVE OF SUCCESS

Many Local Celebrities Are Named in National Suffrage Roll of Honor.

"Conventions Held" is the title of the following article written for The Tribune by Mrs. Catherine Evenson McCulloch, 1011 Columbia Street, St. Paul, Minn. The article is a reprint of the address of the suffrage movement which she delivered at the National American Women Suffrage Convention in the city of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 10th day of the month. It is a most interesting and well written account of the work done by local women in furthering the cause of woman suffrage.

BY MRS. CATHERINE EVENSON
MCCULLOCH.

When woman suffrage is finally accomplished in the United States, women ought to be able to contribute their full share to the nation's progress and to the welfare of the people.

Church and School Aid.

The first step in the work of the National American Women Suffrage Association was to secure the aid of the churches and schools. In many places, the churches and schools have been the most active in the work of the suffrage movement. In St. Paul, Minn., the churches and schools have been the most active in the work of the suffrage movement.

Frances E. Willard.

The first step in the work of the National American Women Suffrage Association was to secure the aid of the churches and schools. In many places, the churches and schools have been the most active in the work of the suffrage movement. In St. Paul, Minn., the churches and schools have been the most active in the work of the suffrage movement.

Local Work in Minnesota.

The first step in the work of the National American Women Suffrage Association was to secure the aid of the churches and schools. In many places, the churches and schools have been the most active in the work of the suffrage movement. In St. Paul, Minn., the churches and schools have been the most active in the work of the suffrage movement.

Minnesota Suffrage Movement.

The first step in the work of the National American Women Suffrage Association was to secure the aid of the churches and schools. In many places, the churches and schools have been the most active in the work of the suffrage movement. In St. Paul, Minn., the churches and schools have been the most active in the work of the suffrage movement.

Local Work in Minnesota.

The first step in the work of the National American Women Suffrage Association was to secure the aid of the churches and schools. In many places, the churches and schools have been the most active in the work of the suffrage movement. In St. Paul, Minn., the churches and schools have been the most active in the work of the suffrage movement.

Minnesota Suffrage Movement.

The first step in the work of the National American Women Suffrage Association was to secure the aid of the churches and schools. In many places, the churches and schools have been the most active in the work of the suffrage movement. In St. Paul, Minn., the churches and schools have been the most active in the work of the suffrage movement.

Local Work in Minnesota.

The first step in the work of the National American Women Suffrage Association was to secure the aid of the churches and schools. In many places, the churches and schools have been the most active in the work of the suffrage movement. In St. Paul, Minn., the churches and schools have been the most active in the work of the suffrage movement.

Minnesota Suffrage Movement.

The first step in the work of the National American Women Suffrage Association was to secure the aid of the churches and schools. In many places, the churches and schools have been the most active in the work of the suffrage movement. In St. Paul, Minn., the churches and schools have been the most active in the work of the suffrage movement.

Local Work in Minnesota.

The first step in the work of the National American Women Suffrage Association was to secure the aid of the churches and schools. In many places, the churches and schools have been the most active in the work of the suffrage movement. In St. Paul, Minn., the churches and schools have been the most active in the work of the suffrage movement.