Spring/Summer 1998

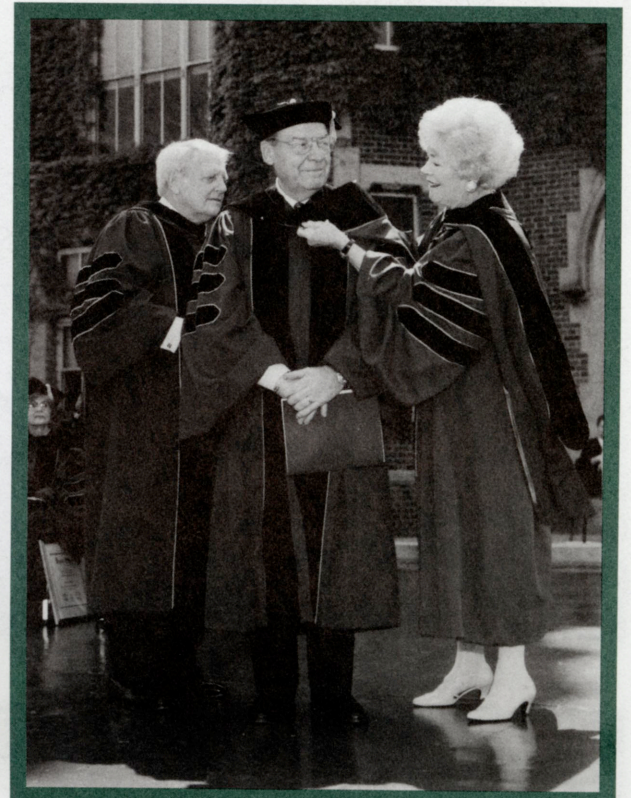

Three trustees honored at 1998 Commencement

Dr. Margaret Bambach Buck Reynolds

Dr. Donna Hanover

Dr. Clarence Rappleyea

On a day that may well go down in history as the best weather ever seen at a Grymes Hill graduation ceremony, 450 graduates with over 5,000 of their friends and relatives celebrated the completion of their undergraduate and graduate studies on Friday, May 15th.

The ceremonies opened with the traditional granting of honorary degrees, this year to three Wagner College trustees who President Smith cited as "life achievement exemplars" for the Class of 1998.

Margaret Bambach Buck Reynolds received the Doctor of Humane Letters, Honoris Causa for her lifelong support of education and the arts. A 1940 graduate of Wagner College, she became a Trustee in 1997 along with her husband William, former President of Litton Industries International.

Clarence Rappleyea was a Wagner College student in the 1950's and went on to a distinguished career in public service that has culminated as Chairman of the New York Power Authority. Previously, he was Minority Leader of the New York State Assembly. Dr. Rappleyea received the Doctor of Public Policy degree.

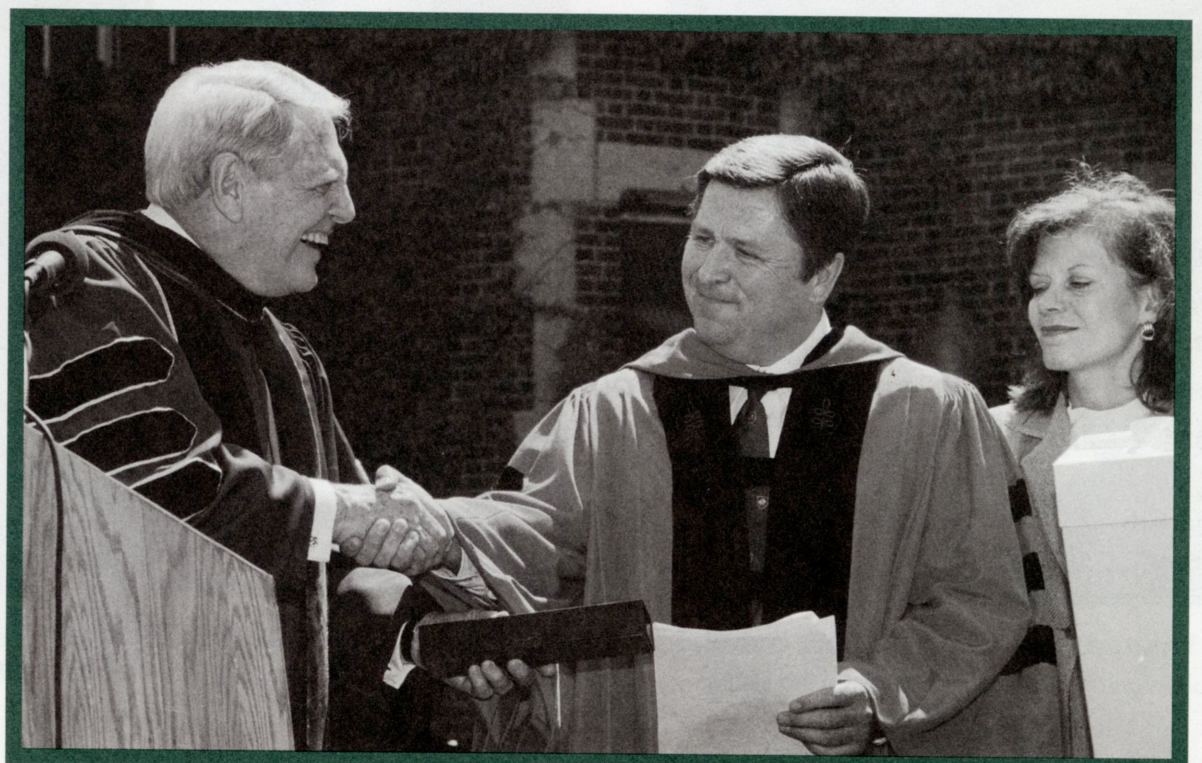

Also honored was Donna Hanover, television journalist, First Lady of New York City and Trustee of Wagner College since 1993.

The degrees were conferred by Dr. Norman Smith, President of Wagner College assisted by Dr. Donald W. Spiro, Chairman of the Wagner College Board of Trustees.

Also assisting were Wagner College Trustees Kevin Sheehy and William Reynolds, and 1997 doctoral recipient Elizabeth Connelly, President Pro Tempore of the New York State Assembly.

Trustees salute President Smith's Tenth Anniversary

Board Chairman Dr. Donald Spiro led a surprise addition to the Commencement script by announcing the tenth anniversary of Dr. Smith's tenure as President of Wagner College. He called up Dr. Smith's wife, Dr. Susan Robinson, to share the accolades of what Dr. Spiro cited as a "great ten years" of enrollment growth, financial stability and improvement to academic quality with an even more promising second decade underway. Following Dr. Spiro's commendations, President Smith expressed his gratitude and observed that the successes of the past decade would not have been possible without the exceptional trustee leadership and a dedicated cadre of faculty and staff. A special edition WAGNERlink will be published this fall recounting the achievements of President Smith's first decade as President.

FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear Alumni and Friends,

This issue of WAGNERlink heralds the end of my tenth year as President and one, I am pleased to be able to say, that has featured a wide array of gratifying developments.

Spiro Center Ahead of Schedule

Foremost among the milestones of 1997-1998 has been the broad-reaching expansion of the College's recreational and sports facilities. Wagner's 70th football season opened at a new stadium that ranks among the best at any comparable college. Concurrently, the Gym was closed in order to expand the facility into a 95-thousand square foot Spiro Sports Center, which, due in large part to a record mild winter, is ahead of schedule. We've been guaranteed that the basketball arena will be ready for the fall 1998 season with the indoor NCAA-pool and fitness center opening in the spring semester of 1999. Added to the playing fields developed on the previously-acquired Augustinian property, we now have a full complement of recreation resources that have become critical to any College wishing to compete for top undergraduates.

Enrollment at Capacity

Speaking of enrollment, we continue to be at virtual undergraduate capacity. The admissions applications we've been receiving for the 1998-1999 new student class represent yet another year of growth, both in geographic diversity and academic quality. Because of this, Wagner is annually becoming more selective in our admissions decisions which, in turn, positively affects the College's regional and national stature.

Library Facelift

As part of a multi-year upgrading program, the main floor was refurnished this past academic year. Leather sofas and chairs dominate the main reading rotunda and hopefully makes the library a more attractive alternative to student residence hall studying. The library is also being technologically improved each year in order to give our students full access to the new information resources available through Internet and other computer network sources.

Bookstore Goes Professional

Since Barnes and Noble bookstores were the inspiration for the library's upgraded reading room, we went one step further by turning the management of the bookstore over to this national retailer. Barnes and Noble has been making major inroads into college bookstore management including at Harvard. In our case, they will be renovating the store and expanding the inventory to include a wider array of leisure reading.

An Invitation to Log On

If you haven't visited Wagner's website recently, please do so. Our address is, simply, www.wagner.edu. At the bookstore site, a selection of products including Wagner logowear is available for purchase through the Internet.

Top Credit Rating is Ours

I'm also pleased to report that Wagner College's financial standing continues to make great strides. Like over 90% of all small, private colleges in America, Wagner works hard to maintain fiscal stability. Having achieved operating balance for the past decade, the College's long term debt was recently underwritten by Morgan Guaranty Trust, resulting in a Standard and Poor's AAA rating. That is about as good as it gets and yet another certification of Wagner's great strides forward.

Thanks to Alumni and Friends like YOU

As I've said many times, and meant it every time, I'd be unable to report so much progress and energy were it not for the alumni and friends of Wagner who have "given something back" in order to help today's generation of students have access to high quality education. Unless otherwise designated, all donations to Wagner are passed along to currently-enrolled students in the form of scholarships. This helps Wagner to recruit students of high academic promise while also helping to enroll undergraduates who might otherwise be unable to afford a college education.

You've made the difference that has made these first ten years happily successful. I hope that you'll stay with us in the decade to come and beyond.

Best wishes,

Dr. Norman R. Smith
President

Wagner Senior Deana Herrera is Selected Miss New York and Will Compete in the 1998 Miss America Pageant

Native Staten Island resident Deana Herrera, a Class of 1999 theatre and arts administration major, was selected Miss New York at the State's pageant in Watertown. An honors student and consistent Dean's List member, Deana has also been an active volunteer on behalf of the Juvenile Diabetes Association. She will compete in Atlantic City at the nationally broadcast Miss America Pageant in September. Additionally, she'll be making public appearances throughout the State in her capacity as Miss New York for the coming year.

Deana is crowned (right) by Lisa Esler, the 1997 Miss New York.

Alumni Celebrate Anniversaries and Class Reunions

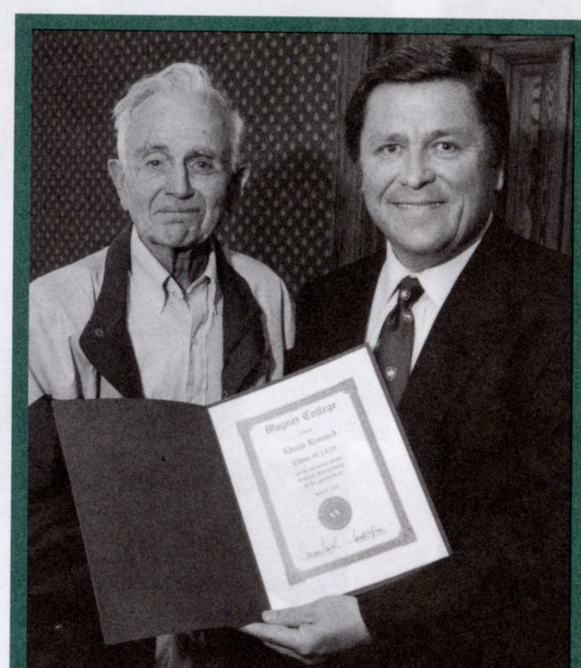

Celebrating the 70th Anniversary of Wagner Football and the opening of the new stadium on September 13, 1997, are (l. to r.) Richard Kotite '66, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, Dr. Donald W. Spiro '49, H88, Robert Loggia '51, and President Norman Smith.

Over 70 Bregenz-program alumni/ae (right) gathered during the June 1998 Class Reunion Weekend, the largest single turnout of alumni in attendance.

FACULTY IN THE NEWS

NEW FACES

Dr. Miles Groth, A.B. Franklin & Marshall College, M.S., Duquesne University, Ph.D., Fordham University, joined the tenure track Psychology faculty as Assistant Professor. He has been teaching at Wagner since 1994 and has serviced as advisor to the Wagner College chapter of Psi Chi, the National Honor Society of Psychology Students and is also co-editor of the Faculty Newsletter which reports faculty scholarship and professional distinctions. In 1999, he will chair a Wagner first: an international colloquium on Existential Psychology.

Dr. Joseph R. Isler, B.S., M.S., Ph.D., University of Cincinnati comes to Wagner's physics faculty from the University of Colorado where he conducted research in atmospheric gravity waves and their behavior. Already he assumed the faculty advisorship of three student groups: KSA Co-Educational fraternity, Wagner Gospel Choir and the Free Verse Poetry Group. He was also a Homecoming float judge.

Dr. Laurence J. Nolan, B.S. University of Southwestern Louisiana, M.A., Ph.D. University of Delaware has been an adjunct faculty member since 1994 and now joins the full-time tenure track psychology faculty. He is co-advisor of the Psychology Club and serves on the Honors Program Advisory Committee.

Diane Radin Porat, B.S., M.S. Wagner College is now a full time instructor with the Education faculty and is concurrently completing her doctorate at the University of Toronto's Ontario Institute of Education.

Dr. Steven Snow, B.A. University of Iowa, M.A., Ph.D., University of Washington joins the political science faculty as a tenure track Assistant Professor. Dr. Snow's interests include Latin America and Western Europe including the impact of business on politics, economic development and other issues of political economy. Dr. Snow also advises the History and Political Science Club.

PROMOTIONS

Dr. Richard Brower of the Psychology Faculty has been promoted to Associate Professor and tenured. Professor Brower has maintained a record of superb teaching and is the author of two volumes in social psychology and several articles in highly regarded academic journals.

Dr. Steven Sessions, a highly regarded member of the math and computer applications faculty, has been tenured and promoted to Associate Professor. Dr. Sessions serves on the Academic Policy Committee and has produced academic papers highly praised by his peers for their substance and innovation in addressing mathematical problems.

Dr. Kathleen Bobbitt has been promoted to Associate Professor of Biological Sciences. She is a very popular teacher and recently had her work chronicled on the NBC "20/20" television news program.

Professor Anthony Carter has been promoted to Associate Professor of Business and also to Chair of the Professional Programs Faculty. He has just published his first book, Contemporary Sales Force Management and he has contracted to publish another on re-engineering. Professor Carter has also been a leader in career development, internship cultivation and is the faculty liaison to the athletic department and the NCAA.

Dr. Patricia Lutz was promoted to Associate Professor of Chemistry. As Chair of the Sciences Faculty, Dr. Lutz has been an essential and valuable academic leader at Wagner College. Her scholarly work focuses on the chemical properties of mercury.

EXCELLENCE AWARDS

Each year, the faculty recommend, to the Provost and President, three members of the faculty who have shown distinction in one of the three categories of performance excellence established by the personnel committee of the faculty. The award recipients for 1997-98 academic year are:

For Teaching Excellence

Dr. Kathleen Bobbitt

Associate Professor of Biological Sciences

For Scholarship and Research

Professor Bill Murphy

Assistant Professor of Fine Arts

For Service to the College

Professor John Esser

Assistant Professor of Sociology

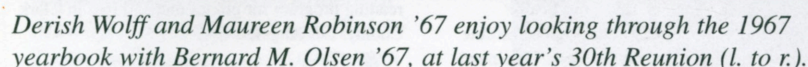

A 48-Year Belated Degree is Finally Conferred

In 1950, Herbert Bell left Wagner College to enroll as a medical student at Tulane University where he graduated and went on to become a prominent neurosurgeon. He never received his undergraduate degree because he had not completed a then-required course in German. Since the course is no longer a requirement at Wagner, and since Dr. Bell was otherwise a stellar student, and since his career achievements are among the most distinguished a Wagner graduate has accomplished, President Smith declared the degree retroactively conferred and formally presented Dr. Bell's 1950 diploma in a private ceremony in the President's Office attended by Dr. Bell's family, including Dr. Bell's wife, Marilyn (above, center). President Smith cautioned that the 1950-dated diploma is signed by what was then a 5-year old future president. "Hopefully no one will notice," said Smith, adding that the degree was nonetheless official and valid.

Julia Barchitta named first Dean of Experiential Learning

Associate Professor Julia Barchitta '64, formerly head of Wagner's nursing department has been appointed to the new position of Dean of Experiential Learning. The appointment was made by Wagner College Provost Dr. Richard Guarasci. Dean Barchitta will continue to teach, with a reduced load, in the nursing department. In her new post, Dean Barchitta will oversee the external experiential component of the newly developed "Wagner Plan" which is modeled on the learning community format whereby all Wagner undergraduates must include real life experiences in the academic training. Nicknamed "Learning and Doing," the new academic program was developed by Dr. Guarasci and the faculty in order to strengthen and bring distinction to the undergraduate learning experience at the College.

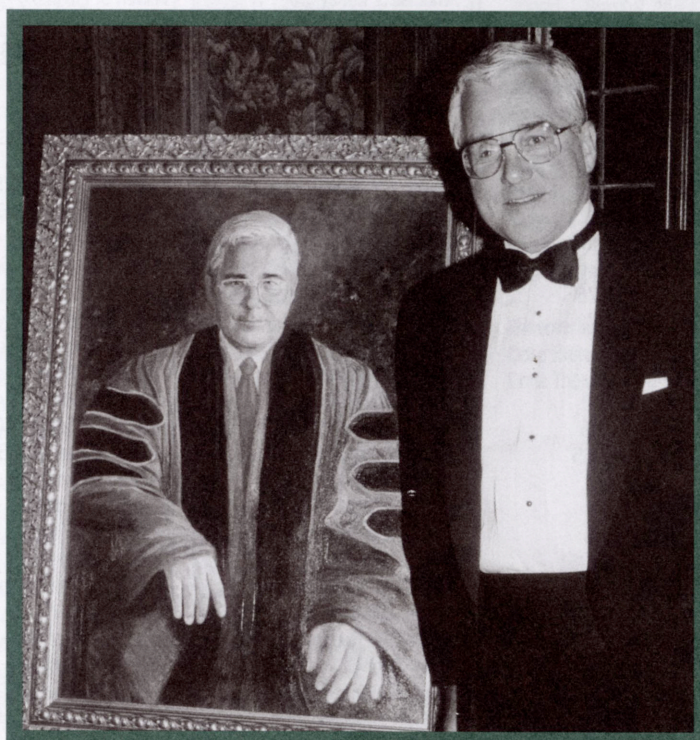

Maureen Robinson '67

Interviewed by Ivana Pelnar-Zaiko

These impressions are as much a part of who Ms. Robinson has become as is the broad liberal arts

In 1992, Ms. Robinson was married to Derish M. Wolff, CEO of Louis Berger International, Inc., an international engineering/consulting firm. With her characteristic humor, Maureen recalls that she “finally screwed up her courage and took on the ultimate challenge: marriage”. Derish, her friend and companion for fourteen years, “made her an offer she could not refuse”. Then she adds more earnestly: “He is responsible for most of the joy in my life (even my nine month old granddaughter)! I attribute our longevity solely to Derish’s abounding good humor.” The couple’s frequent travels have enabled Maureen to see 56 countries and still counting. When she was teaching, Mr. Wolff always put off his extensive trips until Maureen could join him in July and August. “Either for love or madness,” says Maureen, “this forced a man,

A highlight of the 1997-98 Inner Circle Black Tie at the home of President Smith was the unveiling of an oil portrait of Wagner trustee Dr. Robert O'Brien which joins a collection of portraits hanging at Wagner College which honor key supporters of the College. Dr. O'Brien joined the Board of Trustees in 1993 and has served as Chairman of the Development Committee and of the Trustee Affairs Committee. Presently, Dr. O'Brien heads Global Credit Risk Management at Credit Suisse First Boston. Earlier in his career, while at Bankers Trust, he was Henry Kravis' banker during the RJR-Nabisco leveraged buyout which was the largest in history and inspired the book, "Barbarians at the Gate."

Gazebo Erected on Campus in Memory of Philip Qualben '51

Trustee Vice Chairman Dr. John Lehmann '62, H'93 Initiates Memorial for His "College Ideal"

Wagner President Dr. Norman Smith joined the Trustee Vice Chairman in dedicating a recently erected gazebo in memory of Wagner alumnus Dr. Philip Qualben who died last year. A large contingent of Qualben clan assembled including Dr. Qualben's children and his brother, fellow alumnus Dr. Paul Qualben. '44.

In dedicating the gazebo, Dr. Lehmann recalled Dr. Qualben as his ideal. "Phil had it all. He was an all-American athlete (who would turn down a professional baseball career in order to attend graduate school and earn his doctorate). He was an A student and he was President of Student Government," recalled Dr. Lehmann (standing next to the lectern).

Dr. Qualben's brother, Paul '44, (third from the right) who with Phil served as joint counseling psychologists at Wagner College until their joint retirement a few years ago, thanked Dr. Lehmann for the memorial noting that his brother would have been deeply honored.

The gazebo sits on the Cunard Hall lawn and has already become a popular gathering point and photogenic campus landmark.

IN MEMORIAM

John M. Braisted, Jr.
1907-1997

John Braisted was 90 years old when he died last December. A Trustee Emeritus of Wagner College and former General Counsel to the College, Dr. Braisted was Staten Island District Attorney from 1956 to 1976, a record tenure. Since retiring from public life, he returned to his family law practice, Braisted and Braisted, founded in 1905 by his father. Among his many distinctions was serving as Choirmaster and Organist at his Staten Island Reformed Church for 64 years. He was also a life regular attendee at Wagner College football games.

Georg Olsen
1924-1997

Georg Olsen, 73, died less than a week after he and his wife made their annual visit to the Wagner College Inner Circle Black Tie Holiday Party at the President's House. A life-long resident of Grymes Hill, he graduated from Wagner College with a B.S. in Engineering and served in the U.S. Army during WWII where he was wounded in the invasion of Normandy. He and his wife Mildred were alumni leaders in the Staten Island branch and were regular participants in campus activities including sporting events. He was also a leader of the Trinity Lutheran Church.

In Sports, Women Seahawks Prevailed

The NEC Volleyball Championship was captured by Wagner's Female Team (above) and Coach Lauris Murnieks, above left, took away Coach of the Year honors. Women's basketball also had their share of distinctions including making it to the NEC finals. Two of the players who got the team to the championship game were also GTE Academic All-District winners, Alicia Conquest (below left) and Susan Moffatt (below right). Conquest was also selected Class of 1998 Valedictorian.

Wagner will host Goodwill Games This Summer

New York City is host to the 1998 Goodwill Games, scheduled from July 19 to August 2 and drawing 1,300 of the world's best athletes from more than 60 countries. This year, Wagner's new football and track stadium will be home to the international bicycling competition which will take place on July 25 and 26.

Wagner College was selected by the Games Committee for location and for the impressive panoramic views from Wagner's hilltop site. A special racing track with 53 degree banks, called the Vanderdrome, will be assembled on the field especially for the competition.

The Goodwill Games will be broadcast throughout the world via network television including TBS, CBS and HBO. Tickets for the Wagner-based cycling competition can be obtained throughout the City.

Wagner Golf Classic Set for August 17 at Richmond County Country Club on Staten Island

The 1998 Seahawk Golf Classic will take place at the Richmond County Country Club on Monday, August 17 beginning at 10 a.m. through an awards dinner commencing at 7:30 p.m. Individual golf entrance is $300. The Golf Classic has raised about $250,000 for scholarship endowments and for the construction of the Spiro Sports Center.

The Wagner Golf Classic has been dedicated to the memory of former Wagner College Trustee and alumnus Sal Alberti. The event is chaired by Trustee Tom Moles '65 with help from athletic director Walt Hameline, former Golf Coach Bob Peirano and former Trustee Walter Pagan '61.

Spiro Sports Center Construction Continues On Schedule

Contractors Guarantee Stadium Completion In Time for Fall 1998 Basketball Season

The photo below shows the new portion of the structure from the Howard Avenue vantage point. The former Sutter Gym can be seen in the background. Presently gutted in order to double the basketball arena seating capacity, the old joins the new which can be seen half-constructed in the foreground. The bricked first floor is the home of the new, expanded fitness center.
