A Preview:

With more students than ever planning to go to college, and with competition for trained men and women becoming more and more intense — what is likely to happen to the quality of college teaching in the decade ahead? Can America's institutions of higher education hope to keep pace with the growing demand? Will there be enough good teachers — or are we entering an era in which teaching standards will have to be compromised? In June, The Link joins 250 other college and university magazines in presenting a special report on the state of college teaching in America today — and the outlook for the years immediately ahead. Be sure to read it — in the June issue.

Planning Ahead

A report on a concept of orderly growth

by Richard H. Heindel
President, Wagner College

IT IS dangerous for any college to drift into the critical period ahead. Even though planning assumptions are subjected to many variables and imponderables — and I will mention a few below — planning must be done.

Consequently, the faculty, administration and trustees are giving much thought to the future. I would like to mention a few of the propositions accepted by the Board at its February 17 meeting.

Because our present facilities are in full use, the College must retain an enrollment of about 1,045 full-time day students for 1959—60 and 1960—61, that is, until the new Library comes into use in the spring of 1961.

A twenty-year plan

We envisage orderly growth to 1,500 full-time students within a five to six year period, and to 2,000 full-time day students within a twenty year period. We shall endeavor to maintain an even balance between men and women students and the present ratio of residential and non-residential students. (It is possible that the number of resident students might increase at a faster rate than non-residents if residential facilities are expanded.)

We plan to maintain and develop around-the-clock and around-the-year use of facilities, and to extend the area from which residential students are drawn. We shall develop the evening program, especially at points of strength, and continue to build a modest, strong graduate program, including the liberal arts.

The over-riding principle is that any expansion or action must meet high quality standards.

All of the above assumptions will be affected by such variables as the increase of endowment, annual income and capital funds, the effect of the proposed Narrows Bridge, and the proposed mergers in the Lutheran Church. Let me use one sobering illustration.

Nationally, it is estimated that each additional student will cost $2,500 in expanded plant, and another $4,700 for residential space. In addition, many colleges feel that for each additional student the endowment fund should be enriched by at least $10,000. When this formula is applied to our plan to increase Wagner's enrollment by 500 in six years, the resultant mathematics yield a challenging figure.

The obligation to grow

One might easily dismiss the concept of orderly growth. Yet the reasons for growth — the obligations to those who believe in Wagner — will, in my opinion, prove to be both insistent and compelling.

"Our present facilities are in full use."

WAGNER NEWS

Sloan Wilson At Writers Conference

Sloan Wilson, author of the best-seller, The Man in the Gray Flannel Suit, will be on the staff of the 4th annual N.Y.C. Writers Conference at Wagner College, July 7—17. Wilson will conduct the workshop course in the novel. Other workshops will be conducted in non-fiction, drama, short fiction, poetry, and in juvenile fiction. Registrations are now being accepted. The $500 Stanley Award, awarded by Mrs. Robert C. Stanley of Staten Island, will again go to the dramatist whose script is judged the best by a board headed by H. R. Hays. Last year's winner, Josh Greenfeld, was recently named one of 8 playwrights who shared $110,000 Ford Foundation grant.

White Named Coach

Herb White, of Staten Island, was named head coach of the Wagner baseball team by Herb Sutter, Director of Athletics. He succeeds former big-leaguer Hank Majeski who is now a full-time scout for the Los Angeles Dodgers. White toiled as a catcher in the Yankees' system from 1936—41 before a four-year Army hitch thwarted his chances of moving up to the parent team. White, considered the finest catcher ever reared on Staten Island, faced a 23-game schedule with 10 veterans from last year's team that won only three out of 18.

New Accreditation Granted To Wagner School of Nursing

The School of Nursing has been granted a special accreditation which makes its graduates eligible for all first-level public health nursing responsibilities. Dean Mary Burr announced the decision of the collegiate board of review of the National League for Nursing. The new accreditation means that henceforth Wagner's Nursing School graduates will be eligible for immediate appointment for positions in private, municipal, and state-sponsored health programs without additional preparation courses. It's one of 55 such accreditations granted by the League to the 165 American colleges and universities which offer nursing preparatory programs. Dean Burr termed the news, "An added recognition of the satisfactory expansion of our basic program, for which previous accreditation was granted by the National League for Nursing."

New Lecture Series

The Wagner faculty will institute a new lecture series, The Wagner Forum, on April 19 at 8 p. m. in the Alumni Dining Hall. Faculty experts will give one-hour monthly talks open to the general public without charge. Series will be inaugurated by Assistant Professor of Religion and Philosophy Arne Unhjem whose topic is, "A Philosopher's concern with History." Chairman of the series is Dr. Gaspard Pinette, who was recently named chairman of the modern languages section of the department of romance languages and literature.

The second in the series will be on May 10. Dr. Murvel E. Annan, associate professor of biology, will talk on "One-hundred Years after Darwin." Dr. Annan is now working on a study of the effects of radiation through a U. S. Public Health Service Grant . . . Dr. Myron Bement Smith will lecture on "Mogul Architecture of India" in the auditorium at 8 p. m. on Tuesday, April 14. Alumni are invited to attend this illustrated talk. Dr. Smith, now chairman of the committee for Islamic Culture and director of the Islamic archives for the Library of Congress, recently returned from a six-month's tour of Muslim lands. He is considered one of America's foremost authorities on Islamic architecture.

Blackwell Named Basketball MVP

Fred Blackwell, the high-jumping 6'4" center of the basketball team, won the Roger Ling Trophy, awarded annually by Delta Nu fraternity to the outstanding player of the year. Blackwell's achievements included team highs of 254 rebounds and 881 minutes played. In addition he averaged 9.9 pts. per game and was generally given the thankless job of defending the opposition's best big man.

The team, after a shaky start, rallied to finish with a record of 11 wins and 13 losses, and kept its recent mark of upsetting at least one "major" college every year by drubbing Muhlenberg, 84—64. Top scorer was sophomore Bob Farmer with 14.8 average followed by co-captain Milfred Fierce's 11.9. Coach Herb Sutter, looking ahead to brighter things, loses only reserve Dave Lamb from the squad, and picks up the nucleus of best junior varsity squad in Wagner's history. The J.V., coached by Chester Sellitto '50, ripped off 16 wins, lost only five. If Wagner is going to have another super-star (Bob Bosley '53, Lonny West '58) it may well be 5'11" Ron George who averaged 18 pts. with the J.V. and saw limited action with the varsity. Sellitto calls George the "fastest player at Wagner since my brother-in-law graduated." (Lionel Rotelli '54). Other varsity regulars who will return next season include Harry Orlando, Harold Junta, and Pete Wirth.

Catalog Offered to Alumni

A limited number of copies of the 1959—60 catalog issue of the Wagner College Bulletin, edited by College Editor Miriam Zeller Gross, are now available. Interested alumni should write to: Howard Braren, Director of Alumni Relations.

John Campbell Heads Development Office

John W. Campbell was named director of development in January, succeeding Adrian F. Nader who resigned to become copy editor of RN, a national magazine for nurses. Mr. Campbell's post includes supervision of the information, public relations, and alumni offices. He comes to Wagner with a rich background as a public relations specialist for the U. S. Foreign Service in Latin America and in the Department of State. Most recently, Mr. Campbell was director of the inter-American network and assistant to the president of World Wide Broadcasting System.

Alumni Fraternity Notes

The Kappa Sigma Alpha effort in the current fund drive now stands at pledges amounting to $7,186.50 toward a goal of $10,000. The group seeks to name the lobby in the proposed new library. Co-chairmen in the drive are Fred Witte '49 and Nick Baldassano '50 . . . Alumni of Alpha Sigma Phi are invited to attend the frat's annual spring formal. It's scheduled for May 8 at the Garden City Hotel, Garden City, Long Island. Write to: Box 185, Wagner College . . . Burgis Coates '50 succeeds Bill Brown '53 as president of alumni chapter of Delta Nu. Other new officers are: Anthony Crecca '50, 1st vice president; Dr. Herbert Flamm, Jr., F, 2nd vice president; and Walter Stiering '50, secretary . . . The 29th annual convention of Phi Sigma Kappa was held on March 21. Campus events included a chapel service, a luncheon, and an initiation.

Dr. Coles to Head Placement Office

Dr. Roswell S. Coles has been appointed director of the College's placement bureau. He succeeds Stephen J. Botsford who retires this semester. Dr. Coles, who has been chairman of Wagner's department of sociology, will assume his duties as director of an expanded placement program in September. A new departmental chairman will be named soon. Mr. Botsford, who joined the faculty in 1946 as assistant professor of mathematics, became Wagner's first full-time placement officer in 1951.

Howell to address Wagner Club

Jim Lee Howell, head coach of the professional football New York Giants, will be the guest speaker at the May 7 meeting of the Wagner College Club at 6 p. m. at the Railroad-Machinery Club, 30 Church St., N. Y. C. A reception at 5 will precede the dinner-meeting. Howell, who was Wagner's football coach from 1947—53, will illustrate his talk with films of the Giants in action during 1959. Reservations, at $3.50, are now being accepted by the alumni office.

TWO ELDERLY women were chatting in the lobby of the Sutter Gymnasium after the memorable Lauritz Melchior Concert on March 11, 1958. The first said, "Wasn't Mr. Melchior wonderful?" Her friend replied, "Yes, but you know, I sometimes think even I would sound good with that choir backing me up."

Tributes of this nature have become so commonplace over the years that the denizens of the Wagner public relations office take as a personal slight any press review of a Wagner Choir concert which employs adjectives less laudatory than "great."

Occasional excellence is seldom come by easily. Continuing excellence must be a chore. Dr. Sigvart J. Steen, director of the Wagner Choir since 1949, when asked to expound on the nature of his job, is fond of comparing it to that of a professional athletic coach.

Dr. Steen claims that the genuine challenge lies ultimately in human relations. The choir must, to achieve excellence, believe in itself eventually. So it is also, says Dr. Steen, with a championship baseball team.

Mantle can't flunk out

The analogy is not quite precise. After all, Mr. Casey Stengel does not have to concern himself with the possibility of Mickey Mantle's either graduating or flunking out of Yankee Stadium. Dr. Steen can retain his "Mantles" for four years at best, and even less when choir members elect to pursue certain studies which simply allow no time for choir practice.

Assembling and training a 50-voice choir every year is a complex task. It begins during freshman orientation week with interviews and auditions. Generally, approximately 100 freshmen evince some interest in choir. There is room usually for 20. As soon as classes begin, the entire group goes into rehearsal. Two weeks later, Dr. Steen selects the final personnel.

Rehearsals are concentrated into five weekly sessions of 50 minutes each. Choir participation is not regarded as a normal extra-curricular activity, but as a regular college class for which members receive one hour's credit each semester.

The annual Christmas Festival Concert is the choir's first concern. One of the College's proudest traditions, it is now presented twice on the Sunday preceding Christmas holidays. The gym's 2,200 seating capacity isn't large enough to accommodate the choir's fans at one sitting.

The College Voice

by FRANK HANNIGAN

When the Christmas vacation is over, the choir goes into an intensive period of preparation for the annual tour program.

This year's itinerary included 24 appearances in eight states and the District of Columbia.

The majority of the tour concerts are held in large churches. "There is something in our kind of music that immediately captivates church audiences," says Dr. Steen. "Perhaps it's because those in the audiences have, at one time or another, sung in choirs themselves."

The tours are deliberately planned to get the choir and the Wagner name into as many new areas as possible. Among the stops this year were Lexington, Ky., Dayton, O., Pittsburgh, Pa., and Alexandria, Va.

A limited budget is another factor in tour-planning. All traveling is done in a chartered bus which sets a limitation on the choir's size.

Twenty-five homes in the city of each concert appearance accept two choir members as overnight guests. Breakfast is provided in these private homes, and the choir eats dinner in a group, usually at a church hall where Dr. Steen says, "We are always entertained regally."

The choir's power as an agent of good will can best be estimated when you reflect on this plan: since 1949, the choir has been the welcome guests of more than 6,000 different homes, many in areas where Wagner College is an unfamiliar name.

During the spring semester Dr. Steen concentrates on individual instruction and sight reading. There are occasional concerts on weekends at sites close to Staten Island.

Choir members eventually graduate into a wide range of professions. A small minority are music majors who go on to teach music or become high school choral directors. The rest go on to graduate schools of science, into business, become teachers, etc.

Perhaps in this can be seen the choir's finest virtue. As a true cross-section of the college student body, and not a select group of music majors, the choir provides an opportunity for a rich and broadening experience which is at the very heart of Wagner's liberal arts tradition.

*January graduates only

THE ALUMNI of Wagner College, a group of 3,700 individuals whose median age is somewhat less than 35, have once again raised their sights in the capital fund drive for the new library and chapel. The executive committee of the Association has approved a goal of $100,000 to be met before a deadline of June 30.

Originally, the alumni goal was set at $65,000 to underwrite the cost of the library's main reading room. When that figure was topped easily in the first stage of the drive, the goal was hiked to $80,000. The current alumni total of pledges (see chart at left) tops that by more than $1,500.

Al Corbin '35, national chairman for the alumni effort, is confident the new goal will be exceeded. His confidence is based on the knowledge that 14 states and regions in Pennsylvania, Connecticut and upstate New York, have yet to be solicited.

Corbin, who is comptroller of Todd Atlantic Shipyards Corp., recently returned from a second trip to the west coast where, as usual, he combined business with business — Wagner business. He checked on the progress of regional drives with Conrad Reisch '47 in San Francisco, Edward Jones, Jr. '38 in Los Angeles, and The Rev. Everett Jensen '40 in Seattle.

Average Pledge Is $82.16

The average alumni pledge, payable over a three-year span, stands at $82.16. Since the 1957 Loyalty Fund closed with 1,224 donations, it's reasonable to assume the current drive will do the same. A projection of an additional 300 pledges, figured at an average pledge of $80, shows that the $100,000 goal should topple before June 30.

The class of 1953 has captured the class leadership with pledges amounting to $5,063. In second place is the surprising class of 1957 — surprising in that it leads many classes whose members have had considerably longer time to amass personal fortunes. The class of 1950, the largest in Wagner's history, and a perennial leader in Loyalty Fund drives, has slipped to third place. The class of 1950 does, however, stand first in number of pledges with 102. Former students, those who completed 30 or more semester hours here but did not earn degrees, are building an outstanding record. Seventy-five "Formers" have pledged $4,982.

Library Will Cost More Than $700,000

The overall campaign figure in pledges is now $912,740. Alumni will recall that the goal in campaign literature was set at $1 million — $300,000 of that represented as the chapel. All the architectural estimates make it quite clear that the minimum standard library needed at Wagner will come closer to $850,000, rather than $700,000. Assumed in this is a typical rise in building costs since the campaign was conceived.

These figures point to one irrefutable fact — more than $1 million of pledges will be needed to pay for the buildings. President Richard H. Heindel said recently, "No doubt we need to get several special gifts and several substantial foundation grants to get the buildings rolling. But it's also clear that these come more easily when, as with Wagner, alumni faith and participation are strong and extensive."

Tentative Timetable Set

The architectural firm of Perkins and Will has been retained to design the library and to formulate overall campus plans for the future. A tentative timetable calls for construction of both the library and chapel by the spring of 1961.

Recent grants from foundations and corporations have been encouraging. The Charles Hayden Foundation announced a $100,000 grant early in January. At the same time Dr. Heindel reported an anonymous corporate gift of $15,000. Later in the month, it was learned that the New York Foundation had donated $10,000. All these gifts are earmarked for the library.

"It is most encouraging to have the alumni set new goals and go over them," President Heindel added. "Such results build up confidence among other friends, whose interest in Wagner has often been stimulated by alumni, and whose help we also need."

Staten Island follow-up campaign among alumni was launched in February in the Alumni Dining Hall. Checking the board are: (l. to r.) John J. Gross '35, chairman of the follow-up effort; Al Corbin '35, national chairman of the alumni phase of the drive; Dick Forster '49; Louise Kehoe Russell '53 M58; Bill Mangini '58; Burgis Coates '51; and Richard Colgan '56. The drive will continue through June 30.

ENDURING RECOGNITION

In the entry of the Main Building of Wagner College, cast in enduring bronze, are listed the "Donors, Patrons, and Benefactors" of another era whose gifts made possible that magnificent building. Just so it is proposed to perpetuate the names of those persons who, by their gifts of Shares in each category, played the decisive role in making these buildings become a reality. Furthermore, a Book of Appreciation will be compiled and placed in an honored place in the Library. This will list alphabetically (without amounts) the names of all who made a financial contribution, of whatever size, to the 75th Anniversary Development Program of Wagner College.

The share categories:

	Ten Quarterly Payments	Three Annual Payments	Total Gift
BUILDER'S SHARE	$ 15	$ 50	$ 150
DONOR'S SHARE	30	100	300
PATRON'S SHARE	60	200	600
ANNIVERSARY SHARE	75	250	750
BENEFACTOR'S SHARE	120	400	1,200

These Shares are merely suggested units of giving, and subscriptions of any other amounts will be sincerely welcomed. No gift will be too small to be appreciated, but neither, when the future of this College is at stake, can it be too large!

Alumni who pledged gifts to the 75th anniversary drive before January 15 should be listed in this report. Omissions should be called to the attention of the alumni office.

a change in the season ...

Alumni Day has traditionally been a part of the Commencement weekend. The executive committee of the Alumni Association, reasoning that alumni prefer to return to Wagner in the midst of its most verdant season when campus activity is at a peak, have effected a change . . . Notice is herewith served that —
