It Takes a Rainbow Village The River City Mixed Chorus

The River City Mixed Chorus presents for the first time, a concert for Children and Adults! "It Takes a Rainbow Village" is a journey of fun, music, discovery, acceptance, and family. With selections that range from "Mary Poppins", "The Sound of Music", Billy Joel, the Muppets, and the musical "Snoopy", to name just a few, The River City Mixed Chorus is seeking to bring out the child in all of us, while showing diversity and tolerance in growing up and the discovery of one's self from childhood to becoming an adult.

This will be more than just the chorus performing- a children's chorus will accompany the choir during parts of the concert, and make this a truly magical performance that children and parents alike will enjoy! The second half of the concert will feature a performance of a musical based on the last book by Dr. Seuss: "Hooray for Diffendoofer Day!", which promises to be one of the highlights of the program.

This year, The River City Mixed Chorus will be adding an extra performance, giving the public three chances to see this one of a kind concert.

"It Takes a Rainbow Village" will be held Thursday, June 14th and Saturday, June 16th at 7:05pm, with a Sunday matinee, June 17th

Democratic Candidates Detail "Don't Ask" Strategies

Candidates generally like to tout their differences, but all eight Democratic candidates who participated in the Manchester, New Hampshire, debate Sunday night found rare unanimity in their view that the military's ban on gays and lesbians serving openly should be repealed.

The candidates' call to scrap "don't ask, don't tell" (DADT) may not be an act of unbridled political courage -- polls by organizations varying from Gallup to The Boston Globe have found that anywhere from 60 to 79 percent of Americans believe gays and lesbians should be able to serve openly -- but the shift was still historic to people who work closely with the issue.

"It's virtually impossible to get eight political candidates to agree on anything," said Steve Ralls, director of communications for the Servicemembers Legal Defense Network (SLDN), an LGBT advocacy group. "The fact that they as a party have unified behind an idea that was exceptionally controversial just a decade ago shows how far the movement to repeal this law has come."

Sen. Hillary Clinton fielded the first question on the policy when she was asked if the policy, which became law in 1993 during her husband's presidency, was "a mistake."

Sen. Clinton, who has called DADT a "failed policy" on several occasions over the years and noted her opposition to it as early as 2000, said it was a "transition policy" and "an important first step," but acknowledged that it had been implemented in a "discriminatory fashion."

"You know, after the first Gulf War, there was a big flood of discharges of gays and lesbians because they let them serve -- and then, after they finished the war, then they discharged them," she said, adding that Arabic linguists with critical skills have also been lost to the policy during the Iraq war.

Sen. Clinton concluded, "So I believe we could change the policy to let gays and lesbians serve in the military and be covered by the Uniform Code of Military Justice."

When CNN anchor Wolf Blitzer, who moderated the debate, noted that the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Gen. Peter Pace, said that changing the policy would be demoralizing and hurt troop readiness, Sen. Joseph Biden said, "Peter Pace is flat wrong. This is ridiculous. And by the way, we got a war on our hands we're trying to end. In the meantime, we're breaking the military. Nine thousand of these people have been kicked out."

Finally, Blitzer asked for a simple show of hands on who believed DADT should be repealed -- and all eight candidates raised their hands.

Here are the unfiltered words of the candidates or their aides on what steps they would take to end "don't ask, don't tell":

Sen. Joseph Biden, candidate:

"I would just, as president of the United States, end it. I would issue an executive order saying there will be no discrimination whatsoever in the military, and everybody will be held to the uniform military code -- so that if two gay people engage in illicit activity on the base, they're gone; just like if two married people engage on the base, they're gone. It's simple. And the other thing is, I've talked to these generals in the field -- France, Germany, England -- they've allowed gays in the military for I don't know how long. And 70 percent of the [U.S.] veterans - the people who got shot at coming back from Iraq, say they have no problem whatsoever serving with an openly gay person."

Rep. Dennis Kucinich, candidate:

"It starts with standing up for marriage equality. The fact is, the underlying issue of marriage equality is what truly establishes rights for our people. When you have marriage equality, issues like "don't ask, don't tell" disappear. As long as you don't have marriage equality, you have a two-tiered society, one with rights for one group of people, and not rights for another. I want full rights for people who happen to be gay, lesbian, bisexual, transgender -- full rights, period. We can set a higher tone in our policy. If it's not an issue in our larger society, then it's not an issue in our military."

Gov. Bill Richardson, candidate:

"I would pass legislation to end it, but I would also say to my military commanders. There is not going to be any discrimination against gays and lesbians the military."

Sen. Mike Gravel, candidate:

"When I met with the Servicemembers Legal Defense Network, I said, 'I'll do an executive order,' and they said, 'Senator, you can't do that, it's a law.' I said, 'Well, you just watch me.' Let me tell you, I've learned one thing about military people: Those stars can come off as easy as they go on when you're Commander in Chief ... Bill Clinton was nothing but a wimp, and his wife joined him in that. She now says [the policy] was transitional. This was never transitional. They should have taken a page from Harry Truman, who said, 'If I can't get through the Congress the law to integrate the races [in the military], I'm going to do it as president.' Omar Bradley, who was chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said that the military wouldn't stand still for it. And Truman said, 'Well if they won't stand still for it, tell them to start Attention: Omaha Area GLBT Homeowners in Trouble! There is a Solution!

Candice Zoucha - Omaha, NE

Many Omaha area gay and lesbian homeowners who have had trouble with credit cards and so on have found that there is one place in Omaha where they can be treated with respect.

No "better than you" attitude, no "b.s.", no guilt just for being gay or lesbian.

At last, finding financial help doesn't have to be like a "coming out" at Thanksgiving dinner with everyone pointing fingers, and finding fault.

Mindy Hahne, of Service First Solutions in Omaha's Midtown area works at a GLBT friendly outfit that specializes in helping Omaha area GLBT homeowners in need.

Hahne says she takes great pride in being gay and lesbian friendly. And treating the folks she helps like family.

"A lot of people in the GLBT community don't realize that even without gay marriage, or civil unions, there are already several equal protections in place for gay and lesbians as real property owners! Maybe because no one else wants to tell you about them!" Mindy says.

"Being gay or lesbian doesn't have to be a barrier to equal treatment anymore!" Hahne says.

Hahne has helped many gays and lesbians over the years, many personal friends.

"I am the one person in town that specializes in helping gay and lesbian folks with debt consolidation, cash out, credit repair and so on!" Hahne says.

"These are good people with damaged credit reports and/or hard to prove income! Not through any fault of their own! I specialize in helping the gay and lesbian community get a fair shake from the financial industry!" Hahne says.

Hahne says she has a lot of connections to Wall Street money, "I have personal relationships with investors nationwide, even internationally! Fair-minded people who want to fund loans for people with past credit problems!" she says.

"Many of them have a social conscience! And they take pride in helping gay and lesbians in particular! Just like I do! They use my proprietary system as their own little bit of "social activism!" Hahne says.

These investors are people who buy 'pools' of mortgages of 50 million dollars at a whack! 50 million bucks! It's taken me 5 long years and it's been really hard to find these 'fat cats!' People who are 'like-minded' about what I do for the Omaha gay and lesbian community!" Mindy says.

"Not only is it illegal to discriminate against the GLBT community, it's just plain wrong!" Hahne says. "The self-limiting perceptions held by some in the community are just as much of a problem as the crooked people who perpetrate the discriminatory practices themselves!" she says.

Hahne says, "It's my personal mission to change the mindsets! And to liberate everyone from the restraints!"

"I grew up in a house where we didn't have much money! And my parents understood just how money really works even less! Nowadays, it's a lot of fun for me to help people get control over their money and their lives!" Mindy says.

Mindy Hahne can be reached at 934.9248. "I'm really busy, so those who don't get a live answer from me need to leave a detailed message and then give me at least 24 business hours to return the call!" Fitness Corner

By Ron Blake
Certified Personal Trainer

This column brought to you by that funny little fitness guy Ron Blake and his buddy Dr Seuss. Ron wants to hear from you at blake.fitness@yahoo.com or at 480-241-5651.

I brought out the grab bag for this week's fitness pump and circumstance. I've included a slew of topics that will keep my A.D.D. readers quite happy.

Get to your physician for your yearly physical. Guys are notoriously bad about adhering to this. There are some men who haven't turned their heads and coughed for the good doctor since the summer before their eleventh grade soccer season. Go get your checkup. They even have male nurses now who can take your vitals and instruct you to disrobe.

Situps will not solely get rid of that gut. They will strengthen your abdominal muscles but you will still have that layer of fat over them. However, you still need to continue those situps. In addition you will need to watch your diet and perform some kinds of cardiovascular activities in your weekly plans. Over time all this work will pay caloric and fat burning dividends and you will indeed see something strange in the midsection. Those will be the abdominal muscles.

Try walking around your living room instead of sitting when you watch the next big football game. Clear some space and walk like an Egyptian. You'll burn off those nachos and pizza much faster than if you were simply affixed to the love seat. You could even safely toss a football back and forth to your friends in the room. This would be another example of more calories being incinerated by your body. Just be careful around the vase. Remember, "Mom always said not to play ball in the house."

Try eating exotic fruits. There's the pepino from Peru, the mangooseen from Southeast Asia, the jambolan from Hawaii, and the tamarillo from Sri Lanka. Turn this into a scavenger hunt and see how many exotics you can uncover in your neighborhood's or city's grocery stores. Your body will give its highest regards to you for the added health benefits.

Try something vastly askew from your normal routine today. Get a group of friends and go skydiving. Walk around your house naked one Saturday or Sunday. Go to a different denominational church than you would usually attend. Sing Quiet Riot songs on karaoke night at that dive straight bar in the suburbs. Just leave the Barbara Streisand T-shirt hanging in the closet that particular night.

Help the lady in apartment 6C move her furniture and boxes on her moving day. The 56-year-old dame will likely offer you some lemonade or possibly a pint of your favorite lager for your efforts. Your reward will be a great physical workout and twenty virgins when you enter heaven.

Use a condom on that guy you meet at Club Regal Beagle tonight. It won't be easy. Those rascals are difficult to put on and they cause such displeasure. Furthermore the guys you hook up with always proclaim their disease free status and you do not want to insult them. Stand your ground anyway and use that prophylactic. Your immune system will gladly show its gratitude tomorrow, next week, next month, etc.

That's some clever stuff. Huh? It's not only the clanging weights and the treadmill that will get you health and fitness results in life. It takes a whole village of ideas. There are plenty of ways to approach your well-being. My noblesse oblige dictates me to encourage you to move your thinking cap outside of the box. The torch is in your hands now.

Thank You Omaha!

Dear Omaha,
I would like to thank everyone who has shown support for a spread I did in Instinct magazine.

I actually did it for Omaha itself and any tourists who may visit in the future. I had put a lot of hard work and effort into it for creating a six page spread. I hope I have made you proud of Omaha and represented everyone to the best of my ability.

Now, some of the pictures were taken around the gay bar scene and that is why I plugged the hell out of everything else in my intro to Omaha. Also, on that note, the blind date consisted of many activities via the non bar scene.

Many here say there is nothing to do or that we are not involved, or that the guys aren't hot and we are cheap.

Thanks Todd for representing us well, I bet you haven't even read the Gayzette until today when someone mentioned you are in there.

Well someone needs to lift a rock off of people like this and many others we have encountered at the bars, show them around and take time to look, see and read what is available.

Now don't get me wrong I like my bars and have a blast there. But I hope that what I provided has helped Omaha more than anything. I love this city even though I live across the river but Omaha needed a spread like this and it was long overdue.

Gary Winingham I want to thank you personally for it was your letter that got printed in the Gayzette that got me to write this response.

O! Thank you,

It was a great night of entertainment at DC'S Saloon Sunday the 27th. The bar was hosting the Omaha Metro GLBT Sports League benefit show. The show helps support the sports league continue year round sports activities. Many local performers who support the league came out that night to twirl, sing live, and raise money for the benefit. bringing in their stars. I've got a drawer that they can put them in.' And that was it."

David Bonior, campaign manager for the Edwards campaign:

"[Sen. Edwards] has made his position clear that he's opposed to the policy. He believes that sexual orientation should not be a consideration for people who are willing to give their lives to serve the country and risk their lives -- that should not happen. Actually, he came out maybe three months ago with his position on that policy. He will do whatever is necessary to get it [repealed] and quickly once he is in office."

Robert Gibbs, communications director for the Obama campaign:

"[Sen. Obama] supports repealing it. I don't think you need a strategy if you support repealing it. I would have to check on what the legislation says, but he has said he supports repealing it."

Ann Lewis, senior adviser to the Clinton campaign:

"I would have to check and see if [Sen. Clinton] could do that by executive action. But she has been on record for some time as opposing "don't ask, don't tell." She has talked about it and written about it before. She also addressed it in her speech to the Human Rights Campaign. But I would have to go back and see how specifically she could do it."

SLDN's Steve Ralls said that some degree of confusion over whether an executive order could eliminate the policy is warranted, since "don't ask" was put into place a by a congressional vote and a presidential signature.

"There has never been a presidential executive order that attempted to overturn law," he explained. "In general, executive orders create laws; they do not repeal or modify the laws. So it's an untested principle for the executive branch to alter a congressional mandate via executive order." (by Kerry Eleveld, The Advocate)

“Miss Trina Tabloid’s Movie Reviews”

Hello Everyone! I am getting a lot of feed back about these articles, mostly good and some bad. The most negative I have had is that I only re-view older movies, well this is how it is: I could get newer movies from Netflix, but I use them for the foreign films, hard to find movies and the GLBT films you can find on their site and not at Hollywood.

With the MVP program with Hollywood Video you can not get current releases; you have to wait until the movies “drop” into the MVP program. I spend around $ 45.00 a month to keep my self occupied with films at work and at home. If you would like to purchase gift cards for me at Hollywood Video, I can watch the current releases and review them for you. I would gladly take them! Just email me and let me know where I can pick them up! Again Thank You and Enjoy!

Failure to Launch – PG 13 – 1 Hour 36 Min. – Hollywood Video - 2002

In a desperate attempt to push their 30-something son Tripp (Matthew McConaughey) out of the nest, a frustrated mother and father (Kathy Bates and Terry Bradshaw) hire a beautiful relationship “consultant” (Sarah Jessica Parker) with a patented plan to move him out of the house. But her tried-and-true tactics, which involve her posing as the girl of his dreams, don’t always have the intended effect. Zoey Deschanel co-stars.

I would love to see a gay version of this, I mean come on how many gay guys do you know still living with at least one of their parents? We all know a 40 year old gay happens but not often. Cute concept however, hiring someone to get rid of your son that is living with you. Good movie but predictable.

Race to Space – Rated PG – 1 Hour 44 Min. – Netflix - 2002

Race to Space stars James Woods as Wilhelm Von Huber, a NASA scientist who transfers to Florida with his young son, Billy (Alex Linz). When Billy’s hired by Dr. McGuinness (Annabeth Gish) to help train chimpanzees for a NASA space mission, he develops a close bond with Mac, the first chimp to be sent into space. Soon, father and son are working together to bring Mac home safely.

Wonderful family movie, based on true events. A tale of a father and son and their struggles after the mothers death. A story of a child and his best friend, who happens to be a chimp! If you have younger kids or just like feel good movies, you will like this film. It has great extras.

Brick – Rated R – 1 hour 1 Min. – Hollywood Video – 2005

This unconventional film noir -- set in the halls of a modern-day high school -- marks a promising debut for writer-director Rian Johnson. Teenage loner Brendan Fry is forced to navigate his school's social network when a secret crush turns up dead and the murderer is anyone's guess. Through intense interactions with thespians, band geeks and druggies (including a grown-up Lucas Haas), Brendan works to crack the cliques -- and the case.

The hottie kid from Thrd Rock from the Sun (Joseph Gordon-Levitt) is wonderful in this high school based thriller. Stellar performances by all! Kind of slow moving but well worth seeing!

Third Man Out – Not Rated – 1 Hour 38 Min. – Netflix

Private eye Donald Strachey (Chad Allen) is tasked with safeguarding gay community activist John Rutka (Jack Wetherall) after he receives threats in this made-for-TV thriller. But when Strachey comes to believe Rutka fabricated the report, the gumshoe deserts his post and Rutka ends up dead, leaving behind a long list of foes for Strachey to investigate. This is the first adaptation of Richard Stevenson's series of gay-themed mystery novels.

The cutie from Dr. Quinn Medicine Woman and the gay uncle from Queer as Folk are in this film. That’s reason enough to see it! Great detective movie based on books from Richard Stevenson. Great story and it was well acted. There are twist and turns around every corner!
