WEDDING DRESS, satin cloth and lace.

Ivory-colored satin wedding dress worn by Mosell Lyndon at her wedding in the Lyndon House in 1897. Made by a prominent local dressmaker, according to Foundation records. With elaborate lace around the nape and down the front to the bodice. With elegant, full train. The fabric is very delicate; it tears easily. Has been restitched in some locations.

Approximately 59 1/2" high.

American, Georgia dressmaker, 1897.
