THE HELLYER SAY

by ART HELLYER

In our travels the past year we traversed over twenty thousand miles of U.S. highways. Long distance travel today is such a pleasure, thanks to the tollroads that are starting to crisscross the country like a giant mobile circulatory system.

We've been over the Indiana and Ohio tollroads, the Pennsylvania turnpike (with its fabulous tunnels), the New Jersey turnpike, and the magnificent New York thruway that makes travel from New York City to Niagara Falls a breeze.

Out west we blitzed (at 55 M.P.H.) over the Will Rogers and Turner turnpikes in Oklahoma, and the highways of New Mexico and Arizona where, even when the sign says "two-lane high way ahead", the road is comparable to our four lanes here in Illinois. Out in California they have the freeways (the most fantastic of all), and down in Texas we found Dallas and Fort Worth closer than ever (travel-wise, that is), thanks to the new tollroad.

And now we have them in, around, over, under, and through Chicagoland. Let's see how the new tollroads are to travel. You've stopped at a toll plaza (you can't miss them; they're all over the place) and you've read the sign that tells you maps are available. The courteous attendant (and they are: we've found them that way on all tollroads) has handed you your map, after you've paid your toll, of course.

At this point I'd like to recommend that before venturing on to an Illinois tollroad you hire a trained navigator who has a very large magnifying glass, because the map you receive can fit into your wife's compact along with her swimming suit.

Let's say you've reached the spot on the map that says, "See inset B". Because you can't possibly figure out the signs on the road, nor can you tell at a glance at the map what to do, you pull over to the side of the road. The top of "Inset B" says, "Northbound to Wisconsin next exit O'Hare Interch'ge".

That apostrophe in "interchange" saved the taxpayers the price of one-and-a-half letters.

Below the aforementioned bulletin, which doesn't concern us anyhow because we think we're going south, are a bunch of curving snakes. These, I presume, indicate cloverleaves, but to follow them you have to be a chinese puzzle fan. These dotted-line snakes and solid-line snakes run all over Lake Street and North Avenue, and up and down the Tri-State Tollway and the Congress Expressway, which I thought ran East-West, but at this point it goes North and South.

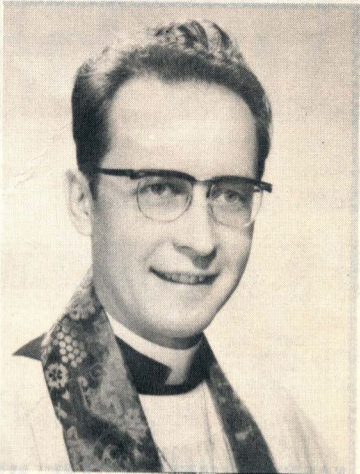

Just below this mess is St. Charles Road, a quiet little road that has never caused anyone any trouble, but now it too is covered and surrounded by dotted-line snakes. Between this point and the big black snakes, dotted-line snakes, and solid-line snakes intersection (which apparently is the major intersection of the whole shebang) is a little cloverleaf made up of dotted-line snakes and dotted-line-with-solid-black-squares snakes. I still haven't figured where this one leads.

Of course, there are signs to help you out of your dilemma—signs that read, "U.S. 41, S.R. 152, U.S. 6, U.S. 30 East, S.R. 152 North, U.S. 12, U.S. 20 East." And the Indiana end of the Tri-State Tollroad, if you follow the signs, you end up in the forest primevil—a thicket of woods.

It won't be too long before we've all figured it out, and just about that time, the engineers will tear it all up, and build new ones to once again challenge our stupid little minds.

THE HUMAN RELATIONS COUNCIL

by
THE REVEREND JOHN H. LUSK
Pastor, St. John's Lutheran Church

PRESIDENT, HUMAN RELATIONS
COUNCIL OF NILES TOWNSHIP

We are starting another year. The chant, "Peace on Earth, Good Will toward Men" comes ringing from the corridors of Christmas to sound the hopes that will move us during the year.

There are many organizations in our community that will be working throughout the year to realize our hopes for peace... churches, synagogues, schools, and civic organizations. But the only organization that covers the whole township and cuts across all religious and racial lines is the Human Relations Council of Niles Township.

The purpose of the Council is remarkably simple: (1) to foster and promote better human relations in Niles Township by providing an established and recognized medium for the exchange of opinion, the sharing of information, and the pooling of resources and efforts of existing organizations in the solving of community problems as they arise; (2) to carry on a continuing program of study, education and action, through existing organizations, designed to promote unity and understanding, and to foster more adequate solutions to community problems involving human relations."

The council performs no magic deeds and in its brief life of one and one-half years it has barely started its work. It stands for those qualities in human life that alone can inherit the earth... the spiritual virility that alone can guarantee peace among men.

Those of us involved in the Council's work feel that the presence among us of this sentinel of human rights will make our community a better place in which to live and rear our families.

Over three quarters of a million dollars in cash and pledges for the new Skokie Valley Community Hospital has been reported to date, according to word from campaign headquarters, 64 Old Orchard, Skokie.

$418,050 of the total has been committed from 19 of the large industrial corporations in the hospital area, according to Judson B. Branch, president of Allstate Insurance Companies, and chairman of the industrial solicitation section of the campaign.

Glenview has just begun its residential and commercial solicitations and early reports indicate 17 subscriptions for $18,665.

Best residential solicitation so far, is that reported by William A. Little, 2329 Cloverleaf Lane, Solicitation chairman for the Northfield community, with 34 pledges and cash totalling $49,875.

The Village of Golf, John M. Blair, 24 Briar Lane, chairman reports 63 subscriptions for a total of $37,840.

Intensive solicitation of Special Gifts prospects in Skokie, Lincolnwood, Morton Grove and Northbrook is scheduled to get underway within the next two weeks, according to Myron Greisdorf, community solicitation chairman.

Judge Dismisses Godell Case

Circuit Judge Joseph A. Pope Tuesday dismissed a charge of misconduct in office against Sidney Godell, Niles Township Justice of the Peace.

Godell refused to sign a waiver of immunity in an appearance before a Cook County grand jury investigation charges of mishandling of state fines.

Judge Pope said any "layman, judge or attorney has a constitutional right not to sign a waiver of immunity."

Godell announced that he would continue as Justice of the Peace.

Australian Is Rotary Speaker

Brian Wiseman, a 23-year-old lawyer from Australia, will be the speaker at the meeting of the Skokie Rotary Club on Jan. 20 at Vosnos Restaurant.

Wiseman is studying at the graduate school of Northwestern University on a scholarship provided by Districts 642 and 644, of Rotary International. These Districts are located in the northern part of Illinois.

A native of Wollongong, New South Wales, 50 miles south of Sydney, he was nominated by the Wollongong Rotary Club and selected by the local district governor for the scholarship.

At Northwestern, where he will study for the next year, he plans to earn a master of arts degree in political science, and will give special emphasis to law and to politics.

Cahill Host

Arthur R. Cahill, vice president of International Minerals & Chemical Corporation, Skokie, will be host at an Illinois State Chamber of Commerce dinner on Thursday evening, Jan. 22, in the dining room of the company's new administrative center.

Theodore Sulkin, 35, of 9714 Karlov Ave., Skokie, was seized by Chief of Detectives Martin Conroy over the weekend and charged with embezzling $2,500 from the Bluebird Currency Exchange, 5110 W. Oakton St.

Sulkin was an employe of the exchange. Conroy said he admitted taking the money, altering the firm's records to "cover up."

Sulkin was released on $5,000 bond. A preliminary hearing will be held Jan. 21 before Justice of the Peace Albert Baumhardt.

Richard Bernstein, owner of the exchange, said the firm's books still were being audited but that the amount lost would be at least $2,500.

Conroy said Sulkin had $405 in his possession when seized and turned the money over to police, saying it was part of the missing cash. He said he'd spent the rest.

Bernstein said Sulkin began working for the exchange Nov. 17 and that the thefts began three days later.

SKOKIE SKATES

The Skokie Park District will sponsor the "Skokie Skates" on Sunday, Jan. 25, at 1:30 p.m. in Oakton Park.

Campaign Rages to Wire; Higher Taxes Main Issue

The village of Skokie was trying to make up its mind on whether to change to a city as a down-to-the-wire political campaign raged on today.

The election will be held this coming Tuesday with polls open from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m.

On the ballot is a proposition which would abandon the present "at large" system of electing village officials and more than double the number of elected representatives in the municipal administration.

At present, a village president, a clerk and six trustees are elected at large—that is, every citizen votes on every candidate. Under the proposed city system, the community would be divided into eight wards, with two aldermen elected from each ward. A mayor, clerk and treasurer also would be elected at large.

Higher taxes appeared to be the main issue. The Committee to Keep Skokie a Village hammered away on this theme, maintaining that cities invariably have a much higher tax rate than villages—twice as high in the case of Evanston, it pointed out.

The Skokie Civic Federation, which was formed to change the Skokie government, hit hardest at the idea that neighborhoods needed 'someone to see' and that aldermen would be more responsive to the will of their immediate neighbors.

Democrats for Village

Martin "Scotty" Krier, Niles Township Democratic committeeman, threw the strength of his powerful organization to the village cause. In a final message to all Democrats in Skokie, he said:

"Just last month I and the Democratic organization threw all our strength against a proposal by the Niles Township high school board which would have saddled us—especially our younger families—with a terrible tax burden. The city form of government would also place a tremendous tax weight upon us."

Krier also said that persons wanting the change want it only because they have a grudge against the present village administration—and have no real arguments that justify "this wasteful, ill-considered, totally unnecessary meddling."

He said that "the proper way for these persons to get into office is to stand for election in the traditional Skokie village manner."

The Skokie Caucus Party issued a statement which said it was for the city form. It called the village government "an outgrown form of local government which fails to give you proper representation."

(The Villager, which editorially opposes the proposed city form of government, gratefully acknowledges the many communications, pro and con, which it has received. We regret that lack of space prevented us from printing more of them.)

Republicans Defect

Arthur Simmons, Republican committeeman, said he was for the city form, but a number of his precinct captains defected. One, Jerome J. Boruck, of 9350 Lockwood, issued a statement which said, in part:

"Under the aldermanic system I have no voice in the election of 87.5 per cent of the people who will govern me. There is, therefore, no accountability that any alderman will have to give, except to a small minority of the citizenry (12.5 per cent).

"A democratic community must be one whose philosophy is that of unity. The aldermanic system is one whose very nature is that of diversity..." He urged a "NO" vote.

The committee to keep Skokie a Village issued a final statement which said:

"The aldermanic-ward form of government, to keep itself in power, must continually provide patronage jobs and unnecessary log-rolling projects for the aldermen to dispense as favors to the voters in various wards. That is why the tax rate in aldermanic-ward governed cities is so high.

"We are not going to double our tax rate."

Skokie Park District Plans Ice Hockey League

The Skokie Park District will conduct an Ice Hockey League throughout the rinks in the Skokie area.

There will be three divisions—junior and senior boys leagues and men's league.

An announcement said: The junior league will be composed of 7th and 8th graders. All junior leaguers interested in hockey or having already formed a team should report to their neighborhood rink and register with the skating attendant. Rinks are located at the following parks: Emily, Oakton, Terminal, McNally, Lorel, Central and Greenleaf and Lamon.

The senior boys league will include all high school boys. Those boys interested in registering a team or in playing hockey should report to Emily Park (Brummel & Kenton) with team rosters.

Senior men—all senior high school boys and older—interested in registering a team should report to Terminal Park (Gross Point and Niles Center Roads) with team rosters.

Anyone wishing to sponsor an ice hockey team or desiring further information should contact Mr. Nance at OR 4-1500 or the Skokie Park District.

Roster blanks may be obtained from neighborhood skating attendants. Some goalie equipment will be provided for games.

Ice Derby

The Niles Park District will sponsor its second annual ice derby Feb. 1 at 1 p.m. at the Grennan Heights park.

Both speed and figure skating events will be bracketed according to sex and age groups. Participants can enter one or both events. Age minimum is 6 years.

Entries will close Jan. 26. They should be submitted to commissioner Lou Schreiner, 8236 Osceola Ave.

At Auto Show

Peter Epsteen, local dealer of Renault of France, is participating in the Chicago Auto Show.

Epsteen states that Renault will show for the first time in the United States the "Caravelle", a new model.

Lis Scores 30 Points But Trojans Lose

By MIKE RUBY

Despite an outstanding 30-point performance by Ron Lis, the Niles Trojans lost their fourth straight Suburban League game 66-52 to Morton in the Nilehi gym last week end.

Lis, who hit for 13 out of 28 from the field, scored 18 of his points in the second half. Top scorer for the Mustangs was Rick Tomek with 23 points, followed by Larry Mack, a sophomore, with 18.

Actually the Trojans were outscored by only one point in the second half and by one point in a third quarter in which the Mustangs hit 9 out of 12.

The Mortonians controlled the backboards. This was due largely to towering 6 foot 7 inch Ron Peterman and 6 foot 5 inch Mack. Tallest man for the Trojans is Bill Reading at 6-foot-4.

The Mustangs' also hit on 75 per cent of their charity shots while the Trojans hit a meager 58 per cent.

The sophomore team again spotted its opponents a big lead and were not able to overcome it while losing 37-31.

Scoring was closely bunched, Larry Mills leading with seven points. Bronson Davis and Jim Boysen each had six and Jim Boosales had 4.

Next on the Trojan agenda is a game at Evanston tomorrow. The soph game is scheduled for 7 p.m. and the Varsity game at 8:30.

Editorial Page

'NO' Vote Urged

Elsewhere on this page are capsule arguments for and against the city form of government—the Evanston form, at least.

The only conclusion we can come to is that, by all comparisons extant, cities simply are more expensive than villages. But this is only part of the picture.

We recall a maxim to the effect that "he governs best who governs least." We might rephrase this, in the light of the Jan. 20 election to determine whether we want to change our village status, to something like this: "the fewer governors, the better the government."

The proponents of the city—ward idea base most of their case on the premise that Skokians need "somebody to see." This is just another way of saying, "we need someone to put pressure on when we want something."

And this is what we surely would have: government by pressure groups. This gets government into the field of barter. The merits of a cause become secondary to its popularity in a given area. An alderman would be inclined to trade his vote in the city council for the votes of his constituents come election time. This is natural; he is their "someone to see." This is the practice, also—and is why buffoons like Paddy Bauler of Chicago make a sideshow of city council meetings.

Isn't it much more desirable, from the standpoint of the entire village, to have our elected officials look at the whole picture? What is right for northeast Skokie, for example, may be wrong for the other five-sixths of the village. Village trustees, elected at large, necessarily must consider what is right for all of us. If they displease a majority of us, then we simply vote them all out of office.

But how much more difficult it is to remove a majority of 16 alderman! You have but to look at the account of the Evanston situation. Aldermen completely out of step with the majority of Evanston's citizens—but well ensconced in their own neighborhoods—can remain in office forever.

The Evanston people voted in a city form of government for far different reasons than are advanced as arguments for a proposed city of Skokie. Faced with a large influx of Negro residents, Evanston people simply gerrymandered them into one ward so that their voices would be forever ineffectual in the city council.

The bleeding hearts who claim "minority" groups need "someone to see" in Skokie, and who point to Evanston with such pride, would do well to review the Evanston history. What's to prevent this from happening to the "newcomers" in our new neighborhoods? For that matter, what's to prevent it from happening to the "oldtimers" in the old part of town?

So what would we gain? Equal representation of every neighborhood—as the rallying cry of the Skokie Civic Federation puts it? Possibly. We doubt it.

More economic government? All evidence points to the contrary.

A more efficient form of government? Definitely not. The most efficient form of government is government by one person. Every person you add after that might contribute more in the way of broader representation and outlook—but it makes administration clumsier, and policy-making decisions wind up being compromises. Skokie now has six trustees, and they seldom are in unanimous agreement on policy. The area of difference among 16 aldermen obviously would be much greater.

Less politicking? Hardly, with a system that makes every alderman's position dependent on pleasing his own neighbors—to the detriment, if necessary, of other areas.

More responsiveness to the "will of the people"? Far less. We'll guarantee that if the city form carries and a majority of Skokie's voters are dissatisfied with its administrators, removing them from office will be exactly 16 times as hard. There will never be a clear-cut mandate to the city administration. A month or two ago the people in the Sharp Corner district got together and by sheer weight of numbers prevented erection of a motel in their area. How successful would such an uprising be under a ward plan? Extremely successful, we'll wager, with the district's two aldermen. But why would the other 14 aldermen give a hoot?

So it all boils down to this: by test, we have the most efficient most economical, most responsive form of government possible for a community the size of Skokie. There may be an advantage or two to the city form of government, but the disadvantages far outweigh any possible benefits.

And in any event, we know what we have. If we change, we're simply setting sail into dark waters with no clear conception of our destination, or exactly why we're going.

This seems an extraordinarily dangerous undertaking. The Villager recommends a flat "NO" vote on Jan. 20.

The Evanston Story

Because the city of Evanston is pointed to with pride by those advocating the city form of government for the village of Skokie, we are reprinting here two entirely different views of Evanston.

One is a letter to the editor we received from the Henry Wolfs. Mr. Wolf is an official of the Skokie Caucus Party and an advocate of the city form of government.

The other is based on the verbatim remarks of Mr. Charles E. Claypool of the Evanston Committee for Good Government at a meeting last week. Mr. Claypool and a host of other outraged Evanstonians are attempting to change that city's form of government in the April election.

The Wolfs' letter follows:

Between now and January 20th, the voters of Skokie are going to be bombarded with "information" about the city form of government. Much of this will be of an emotional nature urging them to "preserve" our village status and completely ignoring the pertinent facts. The facts are that any form of government can be used to the benefit of any given community or, on the other hand, can become corrupt, inefficient or irresponsible. Good or bad government is not a result of the form in which it operates, but the integrity and knowledge—or lack of it—of the men and women who administer it. This is proved by the many respected, well run communities using the city form of government, such as Evanston and Park Ridge, as opposed to the usage of the city form in Chicago.

Here are some of Mr. Claypool's remarks:

We are all greatly concerned about the increase in the cost of our city government. Our city-manager recently made a statement which was printed in the Evanston Review (Dec. 25, 1958 p.7) to the effect that our city tax rate had decreased from 1.030 in 1954, to an estimated .908 in 1958. That sounds fine, doesn't it? But have you ever compared our city's tax rate with the rates paid in other communities? It's really quite an eye-opener. To think that an old, established community like Evanston should have to tax its residents far in excess of the tax rates of other newer towns—towns that don't begin to have the fine facilities we have enjoyed for years, but in most cases are just getting around to building them and doing so at far less cost, apparently, to the taxpayers, in those towns, than the cost to us of maintaining our established facilities.

Our city's tax rate not only is almost double the average rate of the mayor towns, but it's about 70% higher than the average tax rate in the other city-manager-run towns in this vicinity. In fact, EVANSTON HAS A HIGHER MUNICIPAL TAX RATE THAN ANY OTHER SUBURBAN TOWN IN COOK COUNTY, BAR NONE. I seem to hear a voice from the past that keeps saying something to me about a promise of more "economical" government.

(After citing figures to prove his point, Mr. Claypool went on to bemoan the fact that "when they (the aldermen) ignore you (the people of Evanston) then you have the job of electing a new majority to the council responsive to your will, which, to take Evanston as a theoretical example, would mean the election of ten new men out of an eighteen man council.")

Mrs. Stankowicz

Heads Niles' March

Mrs. Frank J. Stankowicz, St., 6826 Cherry St., Niles, was named general campaign chairman for January's 1959 March of Dimes in Niles.

Mrs. Stankowicz, wife of the Mayor of Niles, has served in previous years with the March of Dimes as Mothers March chairman, 1952-53 and 54; general chairman for 1953-54 and 55, and refreshment committee chairman for 1956.

elected president of the association, will preside. Mrs. Roy F. Kirk will present devotions.

One of the most rewarding aspects of being a member of the fourth estate is the opportunity it affords for meeting interesting and wonderful people.

Demetrios A. Michalaros, the Greek poet, editor of Athene Magazine, and whose latest book "The Minoan" was reviewed in this column, is a shy, soft spoken, modest gentleman. His thoughts and words come forth like the sun slowly rising over a hazy morning.

In answer to a question put to him, Michalaros had this to say:

"You ask me if there is any poetry in the world today—considering the wholesale abandonment of the arts in these more recent decades by a harassed humanity and a missile-mad world—poetry never ceased to be and never will—poetry has wings and is an expression of the true being—our lives are a continuous series of aspirations—Holy dreams which belong to a world that is not real—the world of the poet."

Covering a show at the Merchandise Mart is like bucking up against rush hour traffic on the outer drive. All that is needed for a three or four hour coverage of activity in this world within a world is shoe soles made of iron, strong legs, sharp elbows, four hands, and a never fading smile on your face.

One should carry an overnight case when traveling from the second to the 16th floor. We could have gone to Milwaukee in less time than it took for us to make that trip.

But there were many exciting things happening at the Home Furnishing Show, particularly the cocktail party the Mart gave for members of the press. Ed Pazdur is a delightful host, even if some of his guests did leave the soiree in a horizontal position.

We seem to be constantly running into Mrs. George Joslyn, one of Skokie's social leaders. Last summer, when we drove off to a remote hotel in Wisconsin to get away from it all, there was Mrs. Joslyn—greeting us in her bathing suit. This week, while taking fashion photos for a March of Dimes show, there she was again. Only this time, fully dressed.

Welcome home; Mr. and Mrs. M.F. Hutcheson, 4032 Grove St., who spent a month vacationing in Florida. Mrs. Hutcheson is an active member of the North Shore League for Exceptional Children... The Jacob Shapiro family, 8235 East Prairie Rd., also Florida vacationers. We're particularly pleased with this return since the Shapiros had an accident en route which could have proven quite disastrous. They're all back safe and sound proving that the good Lord watches over his special people.

Photos taken at office parties are always good grounds for blackmail. Especially shots taken while members of the firm paused under the mistletoe. The party itself might have been a completely dull flop, but the photos would indicate a hilarious time was had by all. What was that Confucious had to say about one picture?

'REBEL WITH A CAUSE'

— Hero of
Cuban Revolution

Fidel Castro

Jack Nordeen

by MORT KAPLAN

As Fidel Castro, Cuban rebel leader who waged his own Five Years War against deposed President-Dictator Batista, finally parades triumphantly through the streets of the Latin American nation, close by—if not at his elbow—is 20 year old John Clifford (Jack) Nordeen.

When Jack Nordeen is not engaging in revolutions, he takes his mail at 9125 Marmora, Morton Grove.

An amazing story, in the most exciting fictional tradition, attaches itself to the blond Morton Grove youth who left the sanctity of comfortable suburban living to align himself with a cause in which he believed.

Jack, according to his mother, Mrs. Clifford Nordeen, took a Florida vacation last year. It was this vacation that spawned a revolutionary out of an intense young man barely out of his teens.

"He was always fascinated by politics, people and history," adds Mrs. Nordeen. She explained that he made friends with some Cubans in Miami and they interested him in the plight of the people in their country.

When Jack Nordeen returned to Morton Grove, he was convinced as to the rights and wrongs of the Cuban internal situation... convinced that Castro was right, Batista wrong and the masses wronged. He studied Cuban history and tradition with the characteristic zeal of determined youth. But there was, indeed, a difference between Jack Nordeen and contemporaries of his 20 year old world. Where they might leave off, he was just beginning.

26 of July

As the story is pieced together, Jack read a pamphlet describing the activities of "26 of July," Castro's fund-raising arm in the United States. It was this group that sent food, clothing and medical supplies to the rebels and served as a propaganda force for the rebel chieftain and his army.

The date, July 26, represents Castro's initial attack against the Batista regime, during which he was captured and held prisoner temporarily. It is the Symbol of the Castro movement and rebel troops display the date on their uniforms.

Nordeen attended meetings of this group. He spoke no Spanish, though, and at the meetings little or no English was spoken.

According to "Fred" Diaz, also a member of the club, and himself a Morton Grove resident, even the jokes had to be translated for Jack someone always would sit with him and interpret.

But Jack Nordeen wasn't joking, as everyone was soon to find out. Diaz recalls it was hard for the members of "26 of July" to understand the fiery enthusiasm of an otherwise mild-mannered young native born American for their cause. He had no relatives in Cuba, nor friends, nor even acquaintances. He had never been there himself, and so it was natural that they regarded him with skeptical eye. Most of them had some Cuban ties, filial or otherwise.

Nordeen soon displayed a fervor, however, that only comes to one who believes strongly in what he is doing. It soon became obvious to the group that Jack Nordeen was dead serious. It was a short time after Nordeen began attending meetings that he dropped his bombshell. He was going to Cuba. There was nothing that his parents, the membership of "26 of July" or anyone else could do to dissuade him.

He would go to Cuba, somehow manage to bridge the 600 miles from Havana to Castro's Sierra Maestra mountain headquarters, and take up arms with the bearded followers of Fidel Castro in the Cuban civil war.

The trip would be fraught with the pitfalls of hazardous terrain and Batista's army and secret police. They took a dim view of any native Castro sympathizers, let alone a "one man invasion from Morton Grove," whose purpose pure and simply was to fight a dictatorial rule that shackled a nation.

Nordeen was briefed. He had instructions, rendezvous points, enough money to see him through for a short period of time... and little else.

Morton Grove To Cuba

It was September, 1958. He went to Miami, from there to Cuba. Meanwhile, Castro had been informed of the game-legged (Jack has a slight limp as the result of a childhood illness) but game-hearted youth.

When Nordeen arrived in Cuba, all modern available transportation was being used to ship men and ammunition to Bayame for a major offensive aimed at dislocating Castro from his Sierra Maestra stronghold.

Ray Brennan, Chicago Sun-Times reporter, who spent some time with Castro's forces, described the journey to the effect that:

Nordeen's funds were drained after five days in Havana. He couldn't get to Bayame, a rendezvous point from where he was to be put in contact with the Castro partisans. He didn't speak the language. Cuba was seething. Anyone without a specific purpose for being there AND the ability to prove it was in danger. Jack had the purpose, but no ostensible reason for being in the Latin American "vesuvius."

Needing a few "breaks," as they say, he took a gamble and boarded a bus leaving for Bayame. How far he could have gotten is questionable. The fact remains that Nordeen got his "break" in the form of a Batista army sergeant with an intense interest in learning English customs, language and tradition.

Nordeen stationed himself protectively near the sergeant for the entire trip. Each time the bus was boarded for search, the sergeant waved inspecting police and soldiers away from his traveling companion. When the two reached Bayamo, Nordeen bought his companion a beer and quietly slipped away.

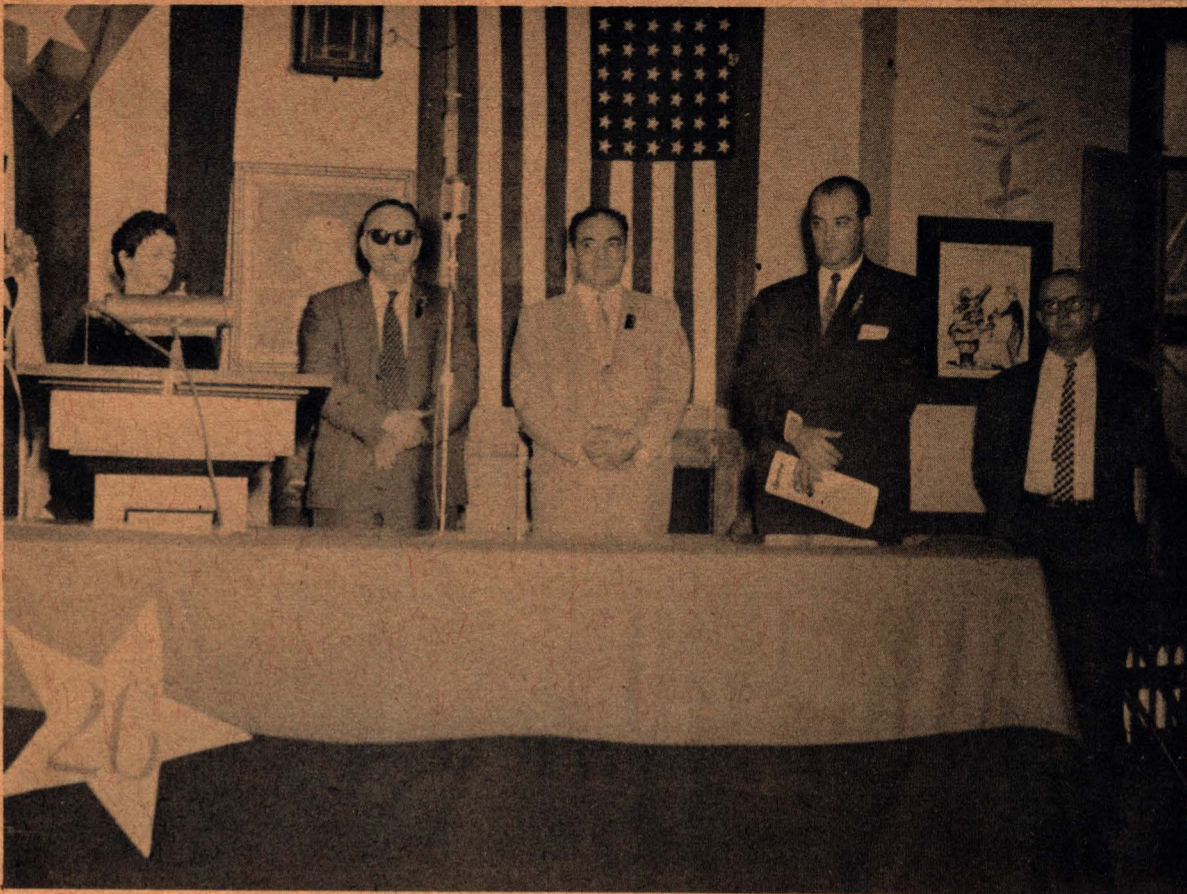

It remained for him to contact a roadside grocer and for the man to radio that the American was here. Later, two men on horseback charged out of the mountains and whisked Nordeen into the Sierra Maestras. The trail of the "Americano" evaporated in the veritable "puff of smoke."

Castro is reported to have remarked later that "this was the first time a Batista soldier ever gave a rebel safe conduct to our lines." The story of the boy who duped a dictator's army was retold a hundred times around Castro campfires, and served to fan rebel hearts, already flaming with a cause.

The entire set of circumstances under which Jack Nordeen left America and got to Castro is said to have shored up the spirits of Castro followers.

Lazaro "Fred" Diaz, member of "26 of July," who lives at 8425 Marmora, Morton Grove, points to map of Cuba as he traces Jack trip.

Provisional president of Cuba, Manuel Urrutia (in dark glasses) is shown as he addressed a meeting of "26 of July" in Chicago last September. Also identifiable is Montejo (third from right), and Constantine Kangles, Castro's U.S. legal counsel.

How does a Jack Nordeen, much the same as Hemingway's Robert Jordan in "For Whom The Bell Tolls," get the inspiration to drive him to leave home for "another man's fight."

It's hard to find an answer in his background. Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Nordeen, live in a comfortable, though certainly not lavish by any standard, ranch type home. Mr. Nordeen is associated with an Arlington Heights automobile dealership.

They have one other son, Billy, an enthusiastic 8-year old. Also a "landmark" on the Nordeen premises is a gargantuan, coal black Labrador Retriever named Mike. Mike is big enough to take off an arm if he had a mind to, but you can turn him upside down without eliciting so much as a growl.

It was in this household — the Nordeens are of Scandinavian descent — that Jack Nordeen grew up. He attended elementary school in Chicago and later, when the family moved to Skokie, graduated from Sharp Corners School.

He attended Niles High for one year and the family moved to DePere, Wisconsin, where Jack graduated from high school. Later they moved back to Chicago and into their present Morton Grove home.

Jack's mother describes him as a quiet, serious boy and awaits word from him not unlike any other mother whose son is at summer camp or, perhaps, in the army.

For Jack Nordeen, though, "camp" is not the usual summer spa that features fun, frolic and good food. Nor was Uncle Sam's army ever like Castro's. Athletics are supplanted by live "grenade-throwing," mess halls are of the open air variety and social activity is restricted to the dreams a rebel dreams when he can catch forty winks.

Mrs. Nordeen, an attractive, personable woman, told of the smuggled correspondence with her son. She sent and received letters which were concealed inside other letters. These were taken back and forth by seemingly innocuous persons, sympathizers who usually worked for or had connections with intercontinental transportation companies.

Mrs. Nordeen expects to hear from Jack as soon as he gets to Havana. She recalled a letter received in November in which Jack predicted that they would be in Havana by Christmas.

Billy Nordeen, talking in exclamation marks, says things like, "Boy!" . . . and "It sure is exciting!" in speaking of his brother's exploits.

Jack had been working in communications and propaganda, preparing English materials for dissemination and also English language broadcasts.

Jack Nordeen will be 21 years old in April. Rumor has it that he is in line for a big job with the new Cuban government. After what he's done, who can say he doesn't deserve it? At 21 he's crossed a continent and helped overthrow a dictator. He's been party to more excitement in two decades than most of us are in a lifetime.

Jack Nordeen should get a nice birthday present from Fidel Castro . . . Something like the city of Havana neatly wrapped in a ribbon . . . but at least he'll get a satisfaction he may never again feel, at what he helped to accomplish.

Hot chocolate was a welcome pause for cold youngsters. Cost of ride was 35 cents. Each began at different starting point, making it easier for kids in various sections of Skokie to get to at least one.

NTJC Sponsors Cemetery

Greisdorf, in issuing the joint statement, stated: "We are very fortunate in securing a congregational section in what is Chicagoland's finest and most beautiful Jewish burial ground. Members of the congregation are now able to secure family estates in this modern, artistically landscaped burial ground, which has done away with unsightly tombstones and crowded, uninspired conditions so often seen in older cemeteries. "Our loved ones will repose in serenely peaceful surroundings," he continued. "What's more, the officers of Shalom Memorial Park will return to the congregation for its use a portion of the sale price of each family estate as a contribution. The present low prices are guaranteed to members for a short period of time."

Father Gratiot will analyze the history, polity and theology of the Roman Catholic and Episcopalian groups. His address is the third in the series of ten lectures which are a part of the township's oldest program of adult Jewish education. Rabbi Sidney J. Jacobs serves as moderator of the series.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

A great many children enjoyed a Merry Christmas this year, complete with unexpected dolls, games and other toys, because of the generosity of the warm-hearted people in the Niles Twp. area. The success of the "Toys for Tots" program certainly reflects the friendly spirit of your community.

Those of us in "B" Company, 9th Infantry Battalion, United States Marine Corps Reserve, would like to take this means to thank everyone who donated toys to "Toys for Tots." We wish it were possible to thank each of you personally. We extend a standing invitation to visit us at any time at our Training Center, 1100 Central Street, Evanston, Illinois.

We would particularly like to thank the men of the Skokie Fire Department and the participating Shell Oil Dealers.

Our deep appreciation is expressed to the Villager and all the people on your staff. Your support was a most important factor in the success of the 1958 "Toys for Tots" campaign.

The entire experience has been, for us, most satisfying. Again, our thanks to everyone.

Sincerely,

Dear Sir:

In connection with the debate concerning the proposed change in the form of our local government, two arguments against the ward plan have appeared so far in your paper.

One, advanced by Mr. M. Krier, opposes the change because "it is too expensive" and "will just lead to trouble." In regard to the expense involved, the real issue is what kind of a local government the money will buy us; if it will buy a better than the one we have now, then the money will be well spent. There is not much in Mr. Krier's statement in the way of an objective defense of our present system, and to be opposed to a change only because of a temporary expense and of a somewhat more expensive way of running it is, in my opinion, not too valid. It is common knowledge that one gets what one is paying for.

As to the assertion that a change "will just lead to trouble" it is a vague statement and I wish Mr. Krier would tell us more precisely what trouble might be expected. As it is, the first question which comes to mind is: trouble for whom.

The second argument against the ward plan was advanced in your editorial in the December 18th issue and is of a more fundamental nature. The change to a more representative system is not good according to the editorial because it will "divide the village into eight little factional communities which would continually vie with one another preferential treatment." I note that the same argument could be advanced against the composition of our Federal legislative bodies and following this line of reasoning we could be better off in electing our senators and representatives at large. And yet the Fathers of our Constitution have preferred in their wisdom our present system to any other and have set a pattern for the make-up of a government for and by the people.

In concluding I want to assure you that I am eagerly anticipating the arguments the change which as indicated in the same editorial, you will present in future issues. This important issue should be resolved on basis of factual honest arguments; only then will we have the best government which we deserve.

Very truly yours,
Alexander Averbach

Fire Precautions At Skokie School

The Cleveland school, 8145 Kildare, Skokie, whose pupils were routed from classrooms by a recent fire scare, is re-wiring the entire building and installing new light fixtures, announced Dr. O.H. Harvey, principal.

Dr. Harvey further disclosed that fire inspector Pat Seul had recommended installation of heat detectors in stairwells, closets, and all unused, enclosed places throughout the building and that bids were being received for installation of a fire sprinkler system in the boiler room, storage room, kitchen and basement.

NEW LIEUTENANT

On the recommendation of Miles T. Babb, chairman of the firemen and police committee, the Skokie village board Saturday gave Fire Chief Edward Steek permission to appoint one more lieutenant in his department.

NEW MEETING PLACE

Future meetings of the Skokie Plan Commission and Board of Appeals will be held in the newly remodeled court room of the Municipal Bldg., 5127 Oakton St.

The Board of Appeals meets the second Monday of each month.

The Plan Commission meets on the first Monday of each month.

A fire, apparently begun by defective wiring, caused about $25,000 damage to a Williams-burg village home Tuesday morning.
 The interior of the home of Mrs. Franc J. Gardner, 96 Williamsburg Rd., was severely damaged by the fire.

Win Ice Skating Pond Maintenance

The Skokie Park Board has agreed to "partially" maintain an ice skating rink at Lee-Wright Park.

Although the Park Board could not meet the requests of the residents for full maintenance of Lee Wright's ice skating rink, a compromise agreement was reached that Lee-Wright Park would receive snow removal services for the balance of the season by using the village's snow removal trucks or, whenever necessary, by contracting with a private party.

About 35 residents of the Lee-Wright area appeared at a Park Board meeting room in the Devonshire Park Recreational Center last Wednesday.

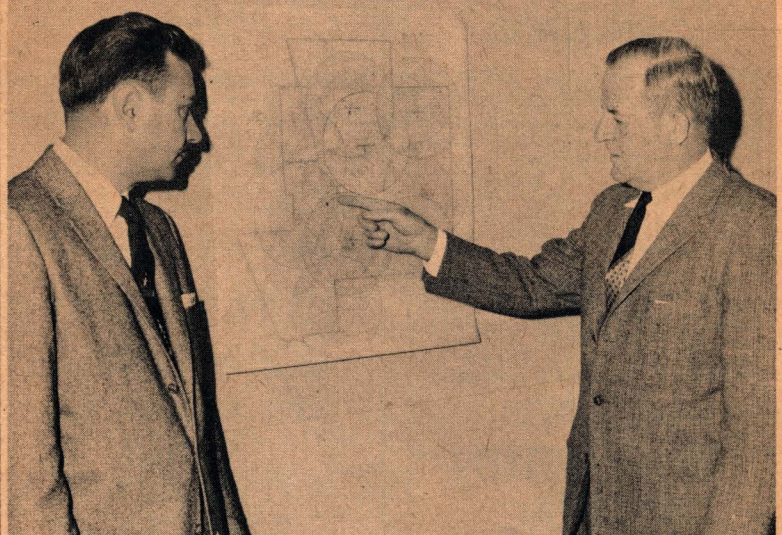

Herb Koehler, 4843 Wright, Ter. and Gus Dallas, 8505 Niles Center Road, presented a signed petition from 500 residents living around Lee-Wright Park, and asked for full maintenance of ice skating facilities from the Park Board.

Superintendent of Parks Robert Ruhe said that the Park District now maintains and supervises ice skating rinks at Terminal, Central, McNally, Lorel, Oakton, Greenleaf and Lamon, and Emily Parks. These rinks, he says, are within one mile of any household in town.

Eventually, there should be an ice skating rink within three-quarters of a mile (6 blocks) of every home, while a future plan may call for a rink within one-half mile (4 blocks) of every house, Ruhe reported.

Henry Weber, vice president of the Board of Park Commissioners said that no additional money can now be appropriated for full maintenance of additional parks without an increase in taxes.

Henry Weber (right) vice-president of the Board of Park Commissioners, points out the Master Plan of Skokie Parks to Herb Koehler, spokesman for residents of the Lee-Wright park area.

'Indecent' Performance Causes License Revocation

Based on police testimony of an indecent performance. Daniel Ryan, president of the county board, has revoked the liquor license of Rocco Potenzo, owner of the Forest Lounge, 6548 Milwaukee ave., Niles Township.

Six girls were arrested in the tavern Sept. 6 and fined $200 on charges of performing lewd acts. Deputy Sheriff Allen Rosen and Former Deputy John J. Healy testified Dec. 23 in a hearing conducted by A.L. Hornick, Ryan's assistant, that the girls did a strip tease that left them nude from the waist up.

The policemen had posed as customers to gain entrance to a room in the rear of the tavern to see the show.

Defense Attorney Michael Brodtkin contended the girls had a lace cloth draped over their shoulders, and that their movements were "nothing different than anyone could witness on television or in any night club.

"Frankly, I have never seen the type of dancing described on television or in night clubs, said Hornick. "In my opinion, this was not a dance of the seven fawns or sweet little strolling about on the green. It was not even a folk dance."

Potenzo and others associated with the location at various times had federal wagering stamps.

Three Skokie Experts Teach Hanford Scientists

Three Skokie residents conducted a training school for nuclear scientists at General Electric's Hanford Atomic Works in Richland, Wash., Jan. 7-9 and at Idaho Falls, Idaho, Jan. 12-14.

Perry L. Toback, 7642 E. Prairie; Henry Barton, 8228 Monticello, and George Kalantzis, 4955 Dempster, instructed the scientists in the operation, control, maintenance and design philosophy of 256-channel pulse height analyzers, special purpose digital computers used in analyzing radioactive material.

The three men are employees of Radiation Counter Laboratories, Inc., 5121 W. Grove, which is sponsoring the school. Toback is director of research and development at RCL. Barton and Kalantzis are the firm's senior project engineer and and sales engineer, respectively.

Fresh Illinois Farm Chicken and Strawberries from California Featured at Johnstone's Restaurant

What is frequently considered by the layman as the mark of the master chef... an extra pinch of this, a dash of that, and a bit extra for the pot... is now as obsolete as a wood burning stove in the stainless steel kitchen of Johnstone's Restaurant at 4747 Peterson Ave., Chicago.

Also, out the window has gone the time honored belief that the restaurant kitchen is the private domain of the "master" chef.

Richard Grassfield, co-owner with Shelby C. Johnstone, of Johnstone's Restaurant dominating the corner of Cicero and Peterson, says that his restaurant, through modern management techniques, offers guests the same high quality "old-fashioned, home-cooked meals" for any given dish today as six months from today.

The swishing of skirts replaces the traditional fluffy chef's hat as an all-feminine staff of cooks (not a man in sight) prepares scores of different dishes. Each cook is fully trained to carry on in another's job of preparation.

Specialty of the house is "Fried Chicken... all you can eat for $1.90," and Grassfield points out with pride that he uses no frozen meats. The logistics of serving 1,100 to 1,200 fresh chickens a week is ably solved with shipments, direct from nearby Dundee, that are a day to a day and one-half fresh.

Grassfield's statement of "all the chicken you can eat" he refers to with a recent amusing incident of a hungry college student who ordered a plate of fried chicken (which is one-half a bird), polished this off with a second, ordered a third for desert, and followed up with a fourth order.

Following this gastronomical exercise, he paid his $1.90 and thanked the management. Fortunately for the management, the "bird" who can finish off two complete chickens is rare indeed.

Johnstone's also is noted for its own-baked pasteries from their shop in Lincoln Village. Dozens of deserts are served, fresh from the bakery, and highly recommended for this season of the year is fresh strawberry whipped cream pie made from berries flown in from California and delivered directly to Johnstone's Bakery.

Diners enjoy comfort, wonderful food, good service, and pleasant background music in surroundings of modern design. The California architecture is complete with indirect lighting. Private rooms, accommodating from 15 to 150 persons Tasty food is enhanced with Johnstone's pleasant dining facilities. Additional rooms for private parties are available for groups of 15 to 150.
