Niles North is a building which has seen many students pass through it's doors. Construction began in 1962. At the same time a foundation of hopes and dreams was started. For twenty years Niles North has been a permanent fixture in the minds of the community and the students who have graduated from this school. This is more than a building with walls and roof, it is a home of learning. The school, with it's classrooms, gyms, and cafeterias, is more than an assembly of bricks, wood, and glass; but has an influence on the minds of many, long after they have left. Since 1964 there has been wear and tear to the building, but it can never be destroyed in the students minds, Niles North will always be a school of learning and education.

1962 Plan Creates Model School

Faculty Is Part Of North's Tradition

The Niles North of today is not as it was originally planned approximately twenty-two years ago. The original plans called for one building consisting of four separate schools, each having its own departments, faculty, and administrations. The only common areas the four schools would share would be the gymnasium, the Learning Material Center, and the cafeteria areas. The school would have been considered to be one of the most modern school buildings in the nation, at that time. However, because of the cost factors involved in running an institution in that manner, the plans were changed to meet cost efficient needs. The school was designed as one building, consisting of four halls, each heading a major department.

Many of the people educating the students of our school now were original faculty members at Niles North when it opened in the 1964-65 school year. Pictured on these pages are those faculty members that instructed the first classes in 1964-65. They may look a little different, or a lot different, and they may hold different positions in the school, but they have remained a part of the Niles North tradition for twenty years.

Twenty Years At North Includes Changes

Former Students Are Now Teachers

Not only has the original faculty changed since 1965, but the structure of our school building, the existing departments, the school policies and rules, and the extra-curricular activities offered also have taken on many changes. Curricular changes include the introduction of special programs for students such as the Center for Individualized Curriculum, the Off-Campus Learning Center, and the Individualized Instruction Center.

Structural changes in the building structure include the construction of the student lounge, now used as a Nursery, and the building of a wall enclosing the cafeteria in 1981.

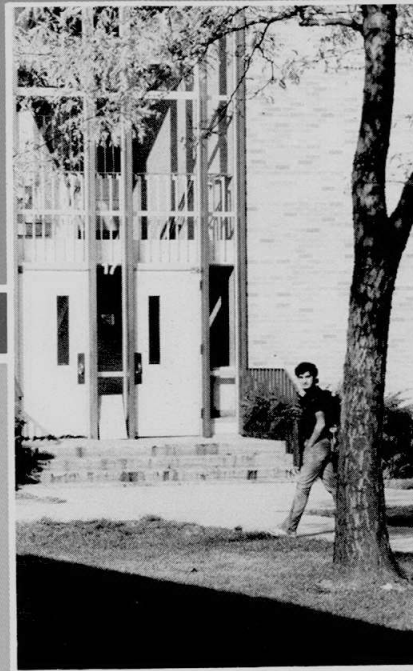

Various changes that occurred in school policies include the initiation of the 300 minute rule, requiring students to remain in school for 300 minutes each day. Our detention system has changed by monitoring more strictly those students not regularly attending classes.

The development of new extra-curricular activities have given students a wide variety of ways to get involved in the school.

The introduction of CIC, OCLC, and IIC gave many students special individualized attention with methods and assistance that best fit their learning needs.

Students, by far, have changed the most since the doors to Niles North opened twenty years ago. Fashions, hair styles, and social activities are just a few of the ways they have changed.

On the following page are former students of the Niles Township School District (219). Taking a closer look at the faces reveals that these former students are now among the faculty members of our school. See anyone you know?

Students' likes and dislikes have changed a great deal since the opening of Niles North High School in 1964. But their needs and wants still remain basically the same.

Many students work at part-time jobs after school, and therefore have extra money to spend on the things they would like to have. Items such as clothes, cars, gas, bicycles, records, computers, stereos, and many other products are among the items on the minds of students.

Over the years, many of these items have taken on many changes: clothing has become more individualistic and varied; cars have changed greatly in their size and design; gasoline prices have hit all time highs; bicycles have become much more technical; music has changed enormously with the advancement of technology; computers have turned into an everyday appliance; and stereos have changed from an item on the shelf to an item worn on a belt with headphones. Though these changes may not seem very severe to students, they are some of the great changes that have occurred over the past twenty years in our society.

Students attend school to be educated. Niles North High School provides an excellent opportunity for learning not only the basic classes such as English, Mathematics, Social Studies, and Science, but also classes that deal with more fundamental skills, such as Consumer Education, Business Education, Home Economics, and Industrial Arts. These classes, in addition to the basic classes, will prepare students with the basic knowledge and ability they will need to cope with our changing society.

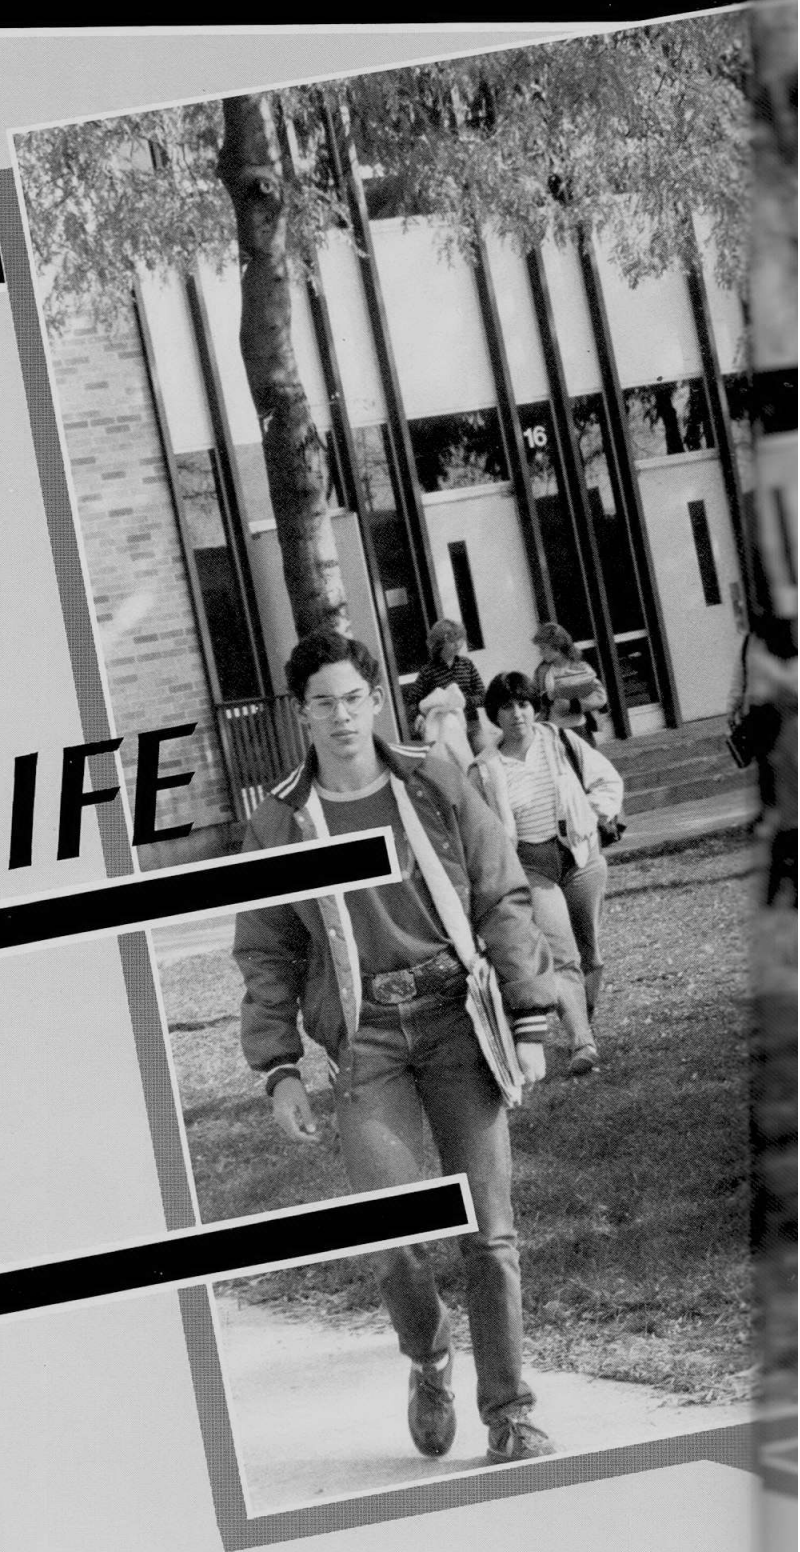

Besides the various classes offered at Niles North, there are many extra-curricular activities for students. Many of the clubs and organizations provide students with a way to work with a group of people toward a common goal.

Sports teams provide students with a means of developing talent, and working with other people through a team effort.

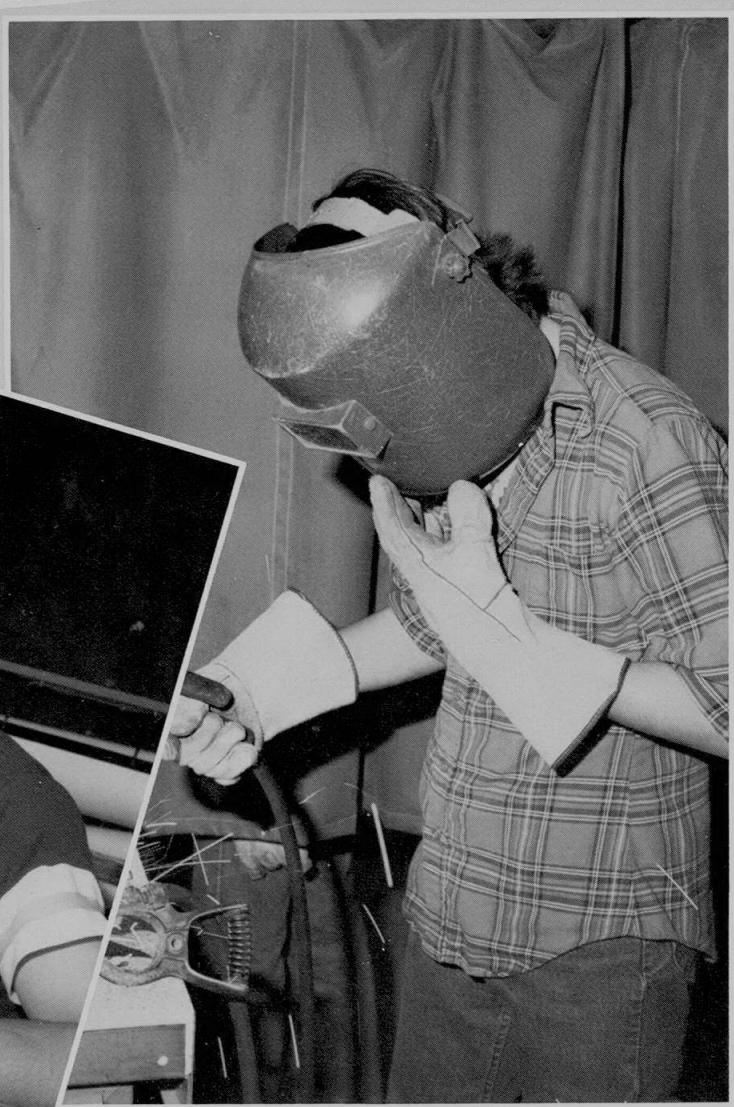

Joining any one of these activities will help a person to deal with problems as an adult.

Membership in a group with common goals gives any student a chance to learn by doing, and therefore feel better about himself.

Education

A Priority At North

Resource Centers

Assist Students

The fundamental function of a school is to educate the students attending it.

In the past years, Niles North's method of achieving this has changed a great deal. With the advancement of technology in the school, the possibilities of developing knowledge are limitless.

Niles North High School offers many specialized ways to meet the growing need of students for advanced knowledge. No matter what a student's individualized needs, if they seek the chance to learn, it can be accomplished at North.

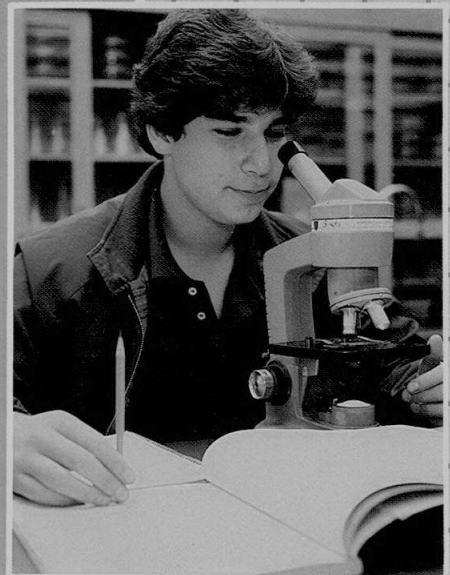

Students are offered courses at a variety of levels to suit their specific capabilities. Grades are weighted according to the degree of difficulty of each course.

One way in which students are assisted at North is through the use of student resource centers. These centers provide individualized help and instructions to those students who seek it. Presently, the six resource centers available to students are: English, math, science, social studies, foreign language, and Computer Science.

In addition to these resource centers, students have the use of the Learning Material Center to help them with their independent studies. Filmstrips, movies, tapes, micro-film, pamphlets, magazines, newspapers, college information, and a wide variety of books are all part of the huge selection of materials available for students use in the library.

Throughout the day, many students take advantage of the wide range of learning resources offered at Niles North.

Niles North And Old Orchard Open Campus Is A Privilege

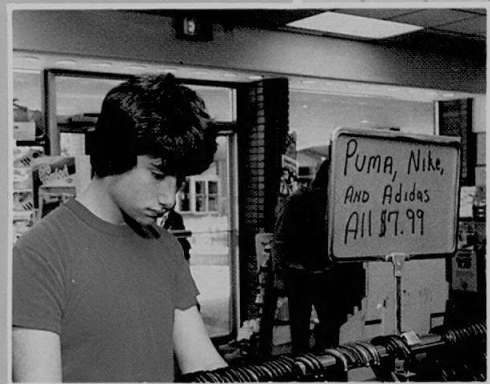

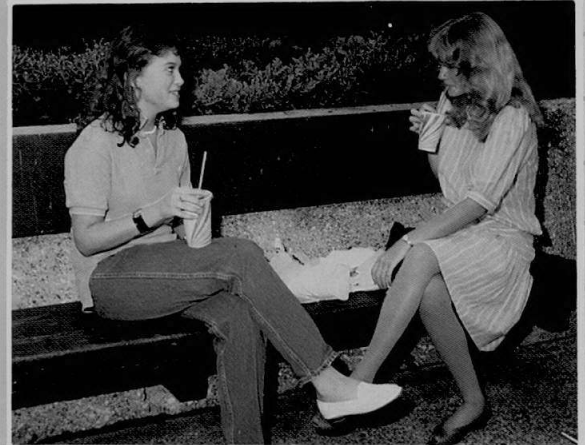

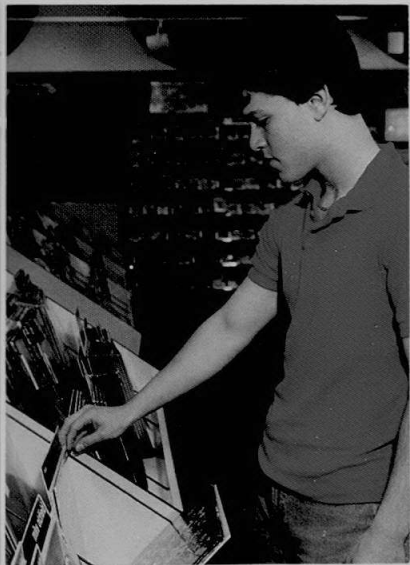

One special privilege that North Students are fortunate to have is Open Campus. Students with Open Campus privileges are free to leave Niles North's campus throughout the school day during their unscheduled time. Open Campus was initiated in the 1970-71 school year by Dr. Weldy. This privilege gives students a feeling of freedom and independence. To be eligible for Open Campus, students must be sophomores, juniors, or seniors, and have written permission from their legal guardian.

Students use this privilege to leave the school building during free time and lunch. The most popular place for students to visit on their free time is Old Orchard Shopping Center, located directly across the street from the high school. Eating, shopping, or just "hanging around" are among the many activities students enjoy at Old Orchard.

There are approximately 75 different stores, and approximately 9 places to eat in the center. Students can be seen getting a quick bite to eat, or doing a little shopping at their favorite stores during their lunch and unscheduled time.

Nighttime Is

For Fun

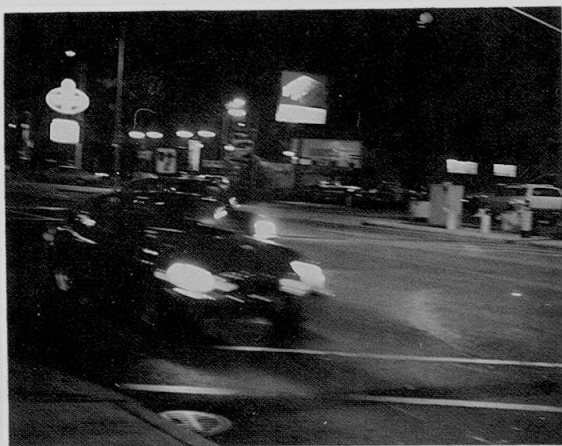

Food And Friends Are

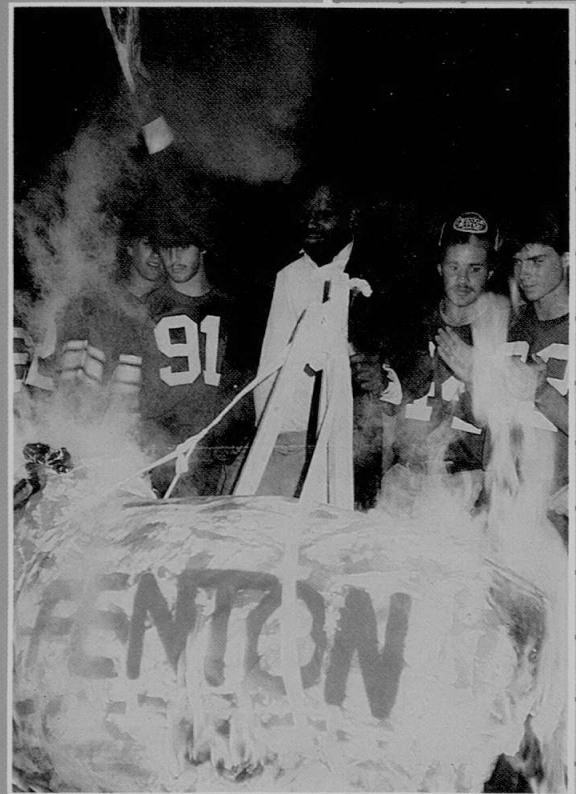

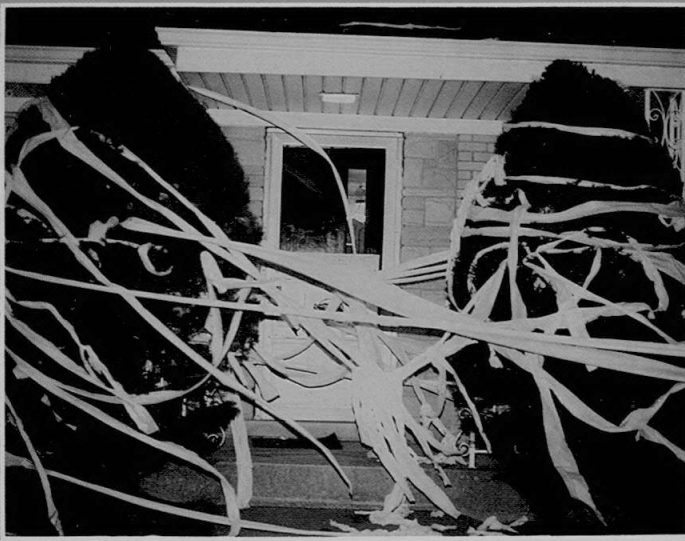

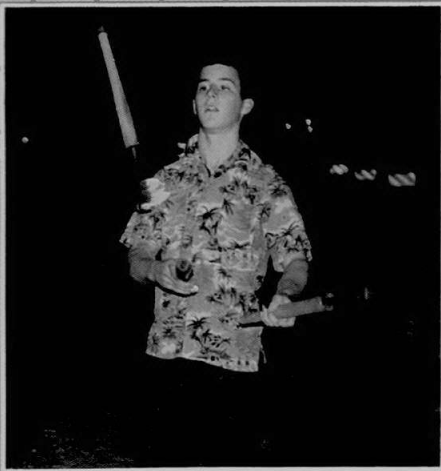

Important Ingredients

One of the things students enjoy most after school hours is making plans for the big night ahead.

Students find many ways of having fun during the evening hours. Getting together with friends in the evening and forgetting about the problems and pressures of school are two goals of the evenings activities, but the main goal in everyone's mind is just having fun. Going to dances, parties, movies, and games are all part of the night's events. However, the high point of every night is the food. Whether they are going to their favorite fast food joint, ordering pizza at home, or just raiding the refrigerator, students will find a way to eat their favorite foods.

Whether it is a dance, movie, game, party, or restaurant, the name of the game is having a good time, and being together with friends is the way to accomplish it.

The Best

And The Last

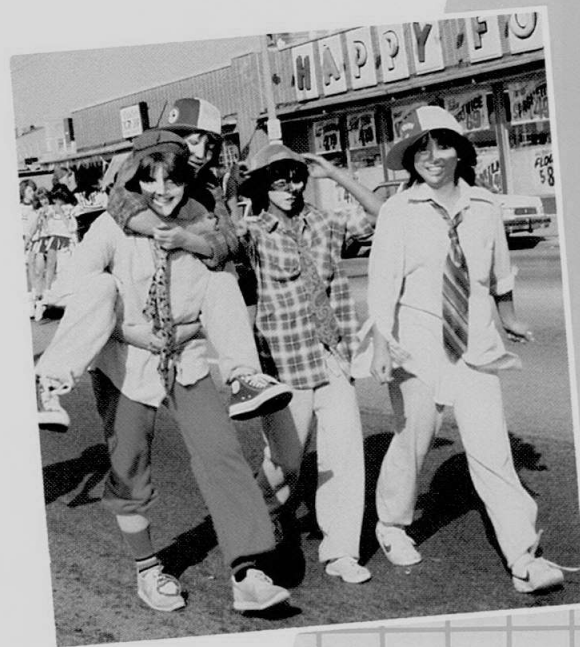

High School Is

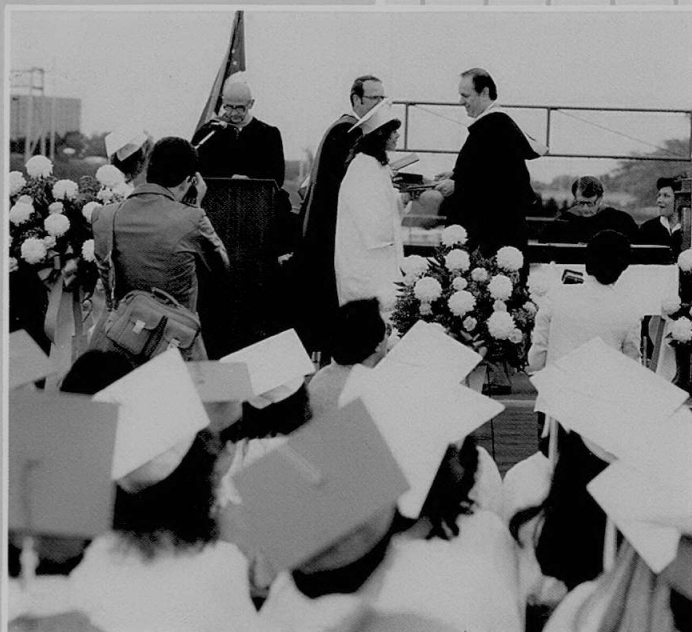

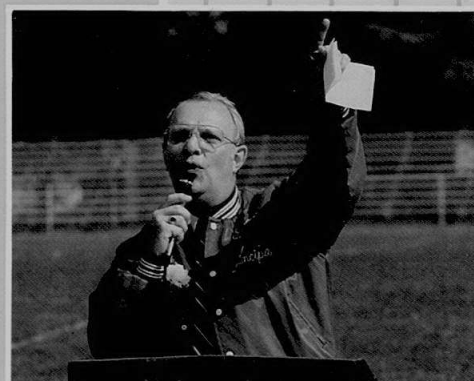

A Time To Remember

Memories are acquired with close friends, private jokes, embarrassing moments, and other special events that occur during a person's life. As a person grows and develops, they will make many strong memories that they will carry with them for many years. Some of their strongest and most meaningful memories will occur during their high school years.

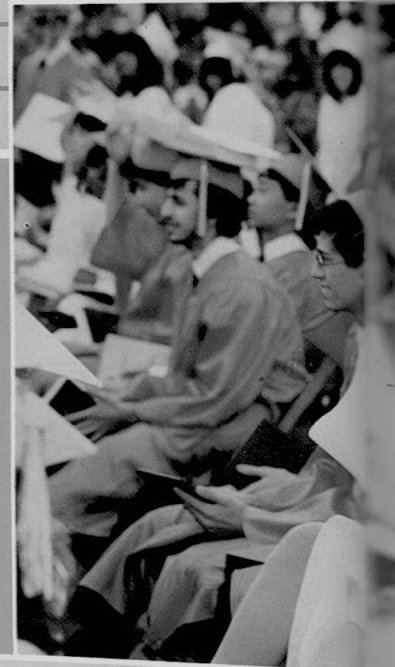

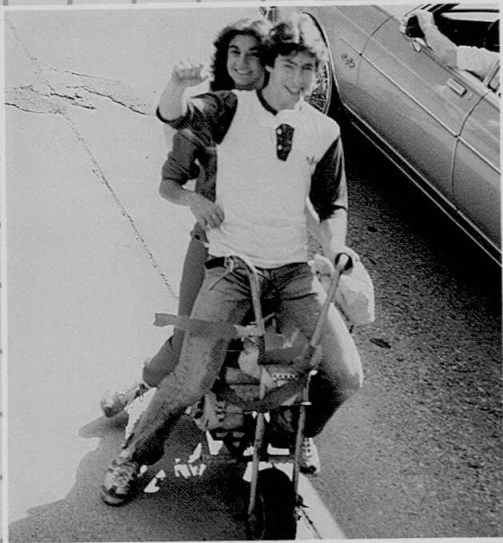

Each day Niles North provides the opportunity to make new memories, such as the big dance, homecoming, theatre productions, and sports events. These memories are made to last a lifetime, and usually do. At every reunion, people talk about old times, past teachers, and old and new friends that have been made.

Senior year provides a stage for some of the most memorable moments. The last homecoming, preparing for college, senior showcase, senior pranks, prom, and of course, graduation. These are the last, and usually most significant memories a student will gain during their high school years.

School Is More

Than Classes

Fun Is A Part Of

Niles North

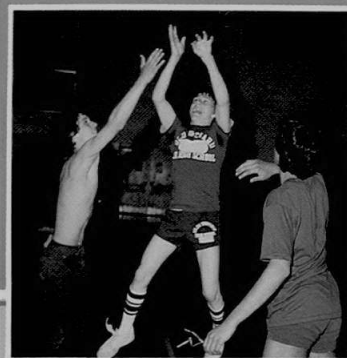

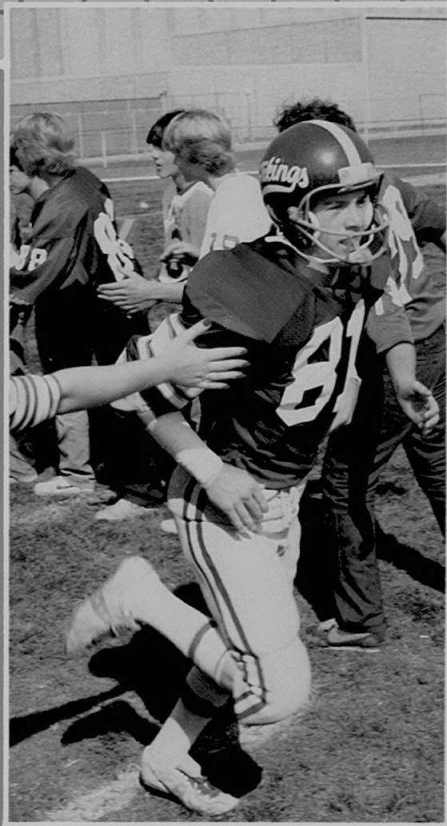

In addition to going to classes and participating in extra-curricular activities, students find other ways to have fun during school hours.

These good times can be seen in many places throughout the school. Reading a book in the library, munching out on popcorn at the concession stand, or even trying to eat the food in the cafeteria are some of the ways students occupy themselves in school during their free time.

Horsing around in the gym area, going to school sports events to see the Vikings battle it out, building a homecoming float, or just sitting around the cafeteria with friends is a part of high school that can not be forgotten.

These are the events that make high school what it is: a time to have fun, make friends, and develop into young adults.

During the school year at North, there are many activities, with only a few really special occasions that will never be forgotten. The year starts off with Homecoming, a time when students show their school spirit by dressing up for Spirit Week, making floats for the parade, going to the football games, and finally attending the big dance. To many students this was one of the most important weeks in the school year.

Our school is fortunate to have so many talented students who put on our student productions. Some of this year's productions included the Fall play, which was a Thurber Carnival; and Norsecapades, which is a variety show written, produced and directed by students. The Theatre Department also puts on One Act Plays and Children's Theatre Shows which tour the local junior high schools. Student talent is also displayed in the May Festival of Bands, in which all three bands give an excellent performance.

In October, the Student Congress brings the clubs in our school together to show the students the endless number of activities offered to them at North. To end our eventful year, the junior class provides the Junior-Senior Prom, and finally, graduation.

"Always And Forever" Prom '83 A Night That Will Last Forever In Their Memories

Tuxedos and Dress fittings - Flowers - Pictures - Plans for the weekend - Just some of the scenarios from Prom. "Always and Forever" was the theme of prom 1983.

Somewhere between 400 and 500 people attended the prom held at the Ambassador West. The menu for the evening was a fruit cup, salad, vegetables, chicken, and potato anna. For Desert the lights were dimmed and fifty waiters carried in flaming Baked Alaska. "It added a memorable attraction to the evening," commented Heidi Perlow. The mood of the evening was set by the music of Jack Krammer. A big part of the evening was the crowning of the King and Queen of prom. Katie Gauer and John Douveris were the magic couple with Cyndi Hirsch and Greg Smith as their court.

The Junior Class Board, who sponsors prom raised enough money for the event that the price of the ticket was $45, $5 less than the year before.

A Memory From The Past Onward Towards The Future

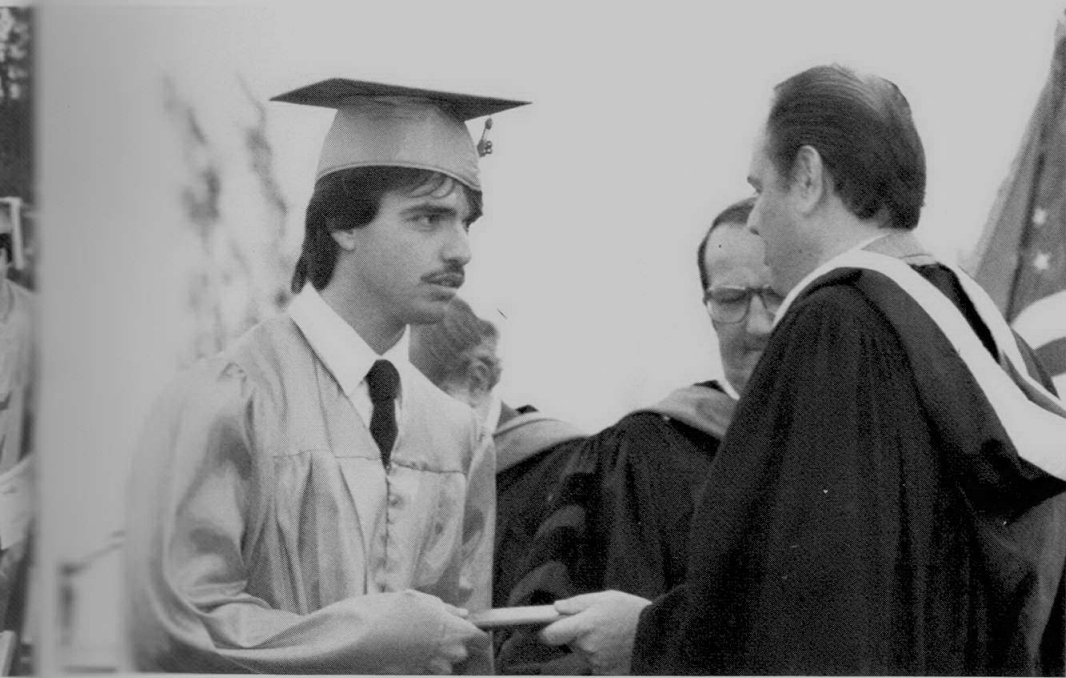

"Hail to North Our Alma Mater," are words recited only once a year, and yet are of greatest importance. (This, of course, is graduation.) The 1983 commencement was held June 5 on a cool, windy afternoon, but the weather had no effect on the warmth felt by students, families, and faculty members. Graduation was a day filled with feelings of happiness, anticipation of the future, and the sadness of leaving close friends and familiar faces. The senior class had 521 students graduating.

Before giving out diplomas, Valedictorian Ronald Weiner and Salutatorian Michael Margolis spoke to their classmates on what the future holds in store for them. Mr. Thompson, the 1983 Senior class advisor commented, "I thought it was a lovely graduation, it was well planned and well organized."

(CLOCKWISE FROM UPPER LEFT) Valedictorian Ronald Weiner addresses his classmates on the memories of their last four years and the future to come; Richard Haynes anxiously awaits

Dream Comes True Spring Play Sold Out

Seven weeks of working with the cast before presenting the play was a major reason that the Rock Opera, of "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat" was a success. The musical was still playing on Broadway, relatively new in Chicago, and was very popular. Mr. Proffit stated that a main concern in casting the play was that not enough males would try-out for the male parts. However plenty of the students tried out for the male roles and the play "went on".

The young cast, good music, and the appeal of the updating of the familiar childhood story of Joseph made the play enjoyable.

Kabuki Comes To North Traveling Theatre Troupe Performs For Elementary Schools

A group of ten talented underclassmen thrilled hundreds of area youngsters, when they brought Kabuki theatre to the local elementary schools. "Three Tales of Japan" told of the trials and tribulations of "The Princess and the Sea," "The Little Peach Boy," and "The Magic Fan" in traditional Japanese drama. The traveling theatre troupe annually visits district elementary schools to introduce Niles North to children, and give new students interested in theatre a chance to perform. Jerry Proffit, theatre director, added, "This experience is the perfect vehicle to bring theatre to the community and new blood to our department." Sophomore Steve Dicker, acting in his first production, summed it up by saying, "A smile, laugh, or a simple thank-you from the kids made the whole show worth while. I guess that's what theatre's about."

(CLOCKWISE FROM UPPER LEFT) Lena Akelian finds a tremendous peach, containing all her dreams, a son, in the Little Peach Boy; Susan Sommers quietly waits for tea to be served. Auroris Kicks Up Heel At Dance Show

5, 6, 7, 8, . . . that was what you would have heard in the dance gym, the west cafeteria, or wherever the Auroris members were practicing. The razzle dazzle of the music and the glittery costumes was captured on May sixth and seventh, at the 1983 Auroris Dance Show, "Dancin' Magic." As fifty-seven girls waited to go on, the audience hushed, and then livened up when the music started.

The dance troupe, which consisted of fifteen girls, had dances by themselves, as well as with the regular Auroris. The show could not have been "Stayin' Alive," without spnsor Suzie Gantz. "She organized all our fundraisers, and was there when we needed help with a dance step," commented Auroris member Kristi Vasaloski. The girls choreographed their own dances, and put forth extra effort and time in the last three weeks before the show.

Auroris members this year consisted of sixty-six girls, and there was also a dance troupe. The dancers agreed that being part of the club gave them the experience of being in a show and participating in its production. . . . Take five!

Precious Memories

Homecoming '83 Will Last Forever

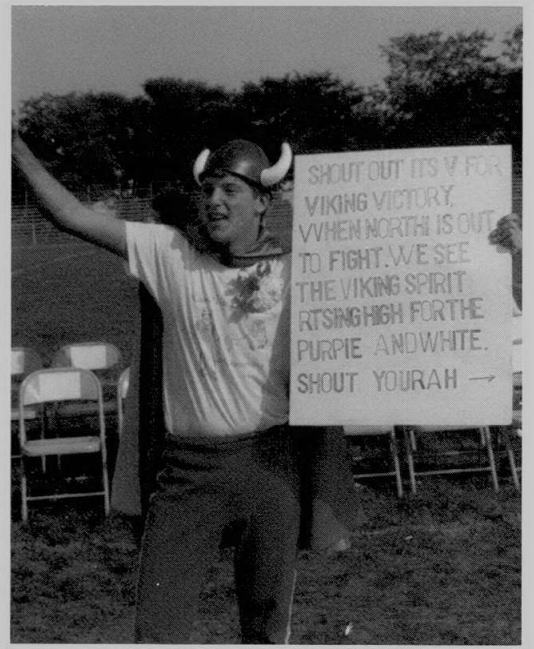

Homecoming week was the most spirited week of the '83-'84 school year. The week started with the sale of buttons, tee shirts, and mums and also included spirit days. Spirit days were established to pep up the student body for the weekend games. Spirit days students dressed up to show school spirit. On purple and white day, the Friday before the football games, there was a pep assembly during school for the student body. At the pep assembly there were celebrity speakers and contests in which senior football players participated. Most importantly, Jodi Cohn, the Homecoming Queen was crowned. She was chosen to represent Niles North as queen in the annual parade.

On Saturday after the parade the Sophomore Football team was ready to start their game. The Freshman team had already won their game the night before. The Sophomore team fought hard but lost. The Varsity game was well attended and full of action, but there was no victory for the Vikings. After the games were over and the fans had left a quiet came over the football field. Homecoming excitement had almost reached its end. There was only the Homecoming Dance to look forward to and the precious memories of Homecoming Day left.

Homecoming Celebrates Past And Future Students Join Forces Step Back To Past Enthusiasm

The Homecoming dance and brunch celebrated both the return of alumni and the rising spirit of the student body. Niles North stepped back a few years when Homecoming was a time for enthusiasm, alumni, and a large student body turn out. Thanks to chairmen Anat Greener and Lisa Smith the alumni brunch was a success. Approximately fifty graduates of the class of '83 returned to reminisce with old friends, catch up on new events, eat bagels served by the Principal, and have a good time. The Homecoming dance, held in the contest gym, was even more popular. The event was attended by 286 couples, signifying the largest turn out in years. Bright decorations designed by chairmen Allison Anderson and Debbie Mitchel, good music, and interesting company set the mood for a very enjoyable evening. "With the enthusiastic group of people we had, it felt like we were back in the fifties when Homecoming was something everyone actually looked forward to.", commented dance co-chairman Allison Anderson. Although we always tend to look towards the future for our happiness, a step back into the past isn't all that bad.

Thurber Carnival Receives Excellent Evaluation Fall Production Challenges Young Actors

"This years fall play was a smashing success," said cast member Elaine Bauer. The play consisted of short scenes from the works of James Thurber. Some of the scences included "The Secret Life of Walter Mitty", "The Unicorn in the Garden", "Wolf of the Door" and "The Night the Bed Fell on Father".

News got out that Niles North was doing A Thurber Carnival. For Illinois State Theatre Assciaton evaluaters were here to see the production. The play received great reviews and was invited to the Illinois High School Theater Festival in January. There it received an excellent evaluation. Special recognition was given to the set which included revolving scenery.

The cast consisted of sixteen students that were from all levels. "This play was special because all the students were stars" stated Elaine Bauer. Mr. Jerry Profit, head of the theater department, directed the play and stated "This play was a challenge for all members, cast and crew."

drey Becker the trials and tribulations of living alone on an isolated island; Ronald Packowitz narrates how the bed fell on grandpa, with help from Scott Hirshman. Practice Makes Perfect

Norscapades Is A True Success

This past year a very successful production was put on at the Niles North Theatre. This performance was Norscapades '84 entitled "Help! I'm caught In A Treadmill And Don't Have Gumboots." It was put on stage January nineteenth, twentieth and twenty-first at 8:00 p.m. The show consisted of nineteen skits with in two acts. Twenty students made up the full cast. The cast rehearsed every afternoon after school. Rehearsals sometimes lasted until 6:00 p.m. When showtime came closer the cast would be given a dinner break and then return for more practice. A few weeks before the show, the cast met on weekends for even more practice. All this hard work really paid off. Practice sure did make perfect. The audience and cast was very happy with the end results of "Help! I'm Caught in a Treadmill And Don't Have Gumboots!" This production of the 1984 Norscapades was a true success.

Students Get Involved Fairs Display Students' Interests

After working hard in their classes throughout the year, art students had a chance to show off their work. This was at the Art Fair, that is held every year in May. The Art Fair was presented to show the student body and community the work students did in their art classes. A variety of paintings, sculptures, prints, ceramics, and other art works were shown. All work was shown in front of the auditorium and all students and parents were welcome to come and see the student's work.

Churros, S'mores, S.A.D.D. Buttons, stock market contests, and Vikette performances were just a few of the many things that encouraged students to come to this year's Activities Fair. The Activities Fair was organized by Student Congress to give the students a chance to learn about the various clubs and activities that Niles North has to offer. All students were excused from classes for two mods and were invited to go to the east and west cafeterias and gymnasium to visit the different activities. There were about 29 clubs represented, that demonstrated to the students what they were about, and tried to recruit members.

From 8:00 a.m. to 3:15 p.m., Monday through Friday, students direct their energy into academic classes. Following the final bell, however, a large percentage of the student body involves themselves in extra-curricular activities.

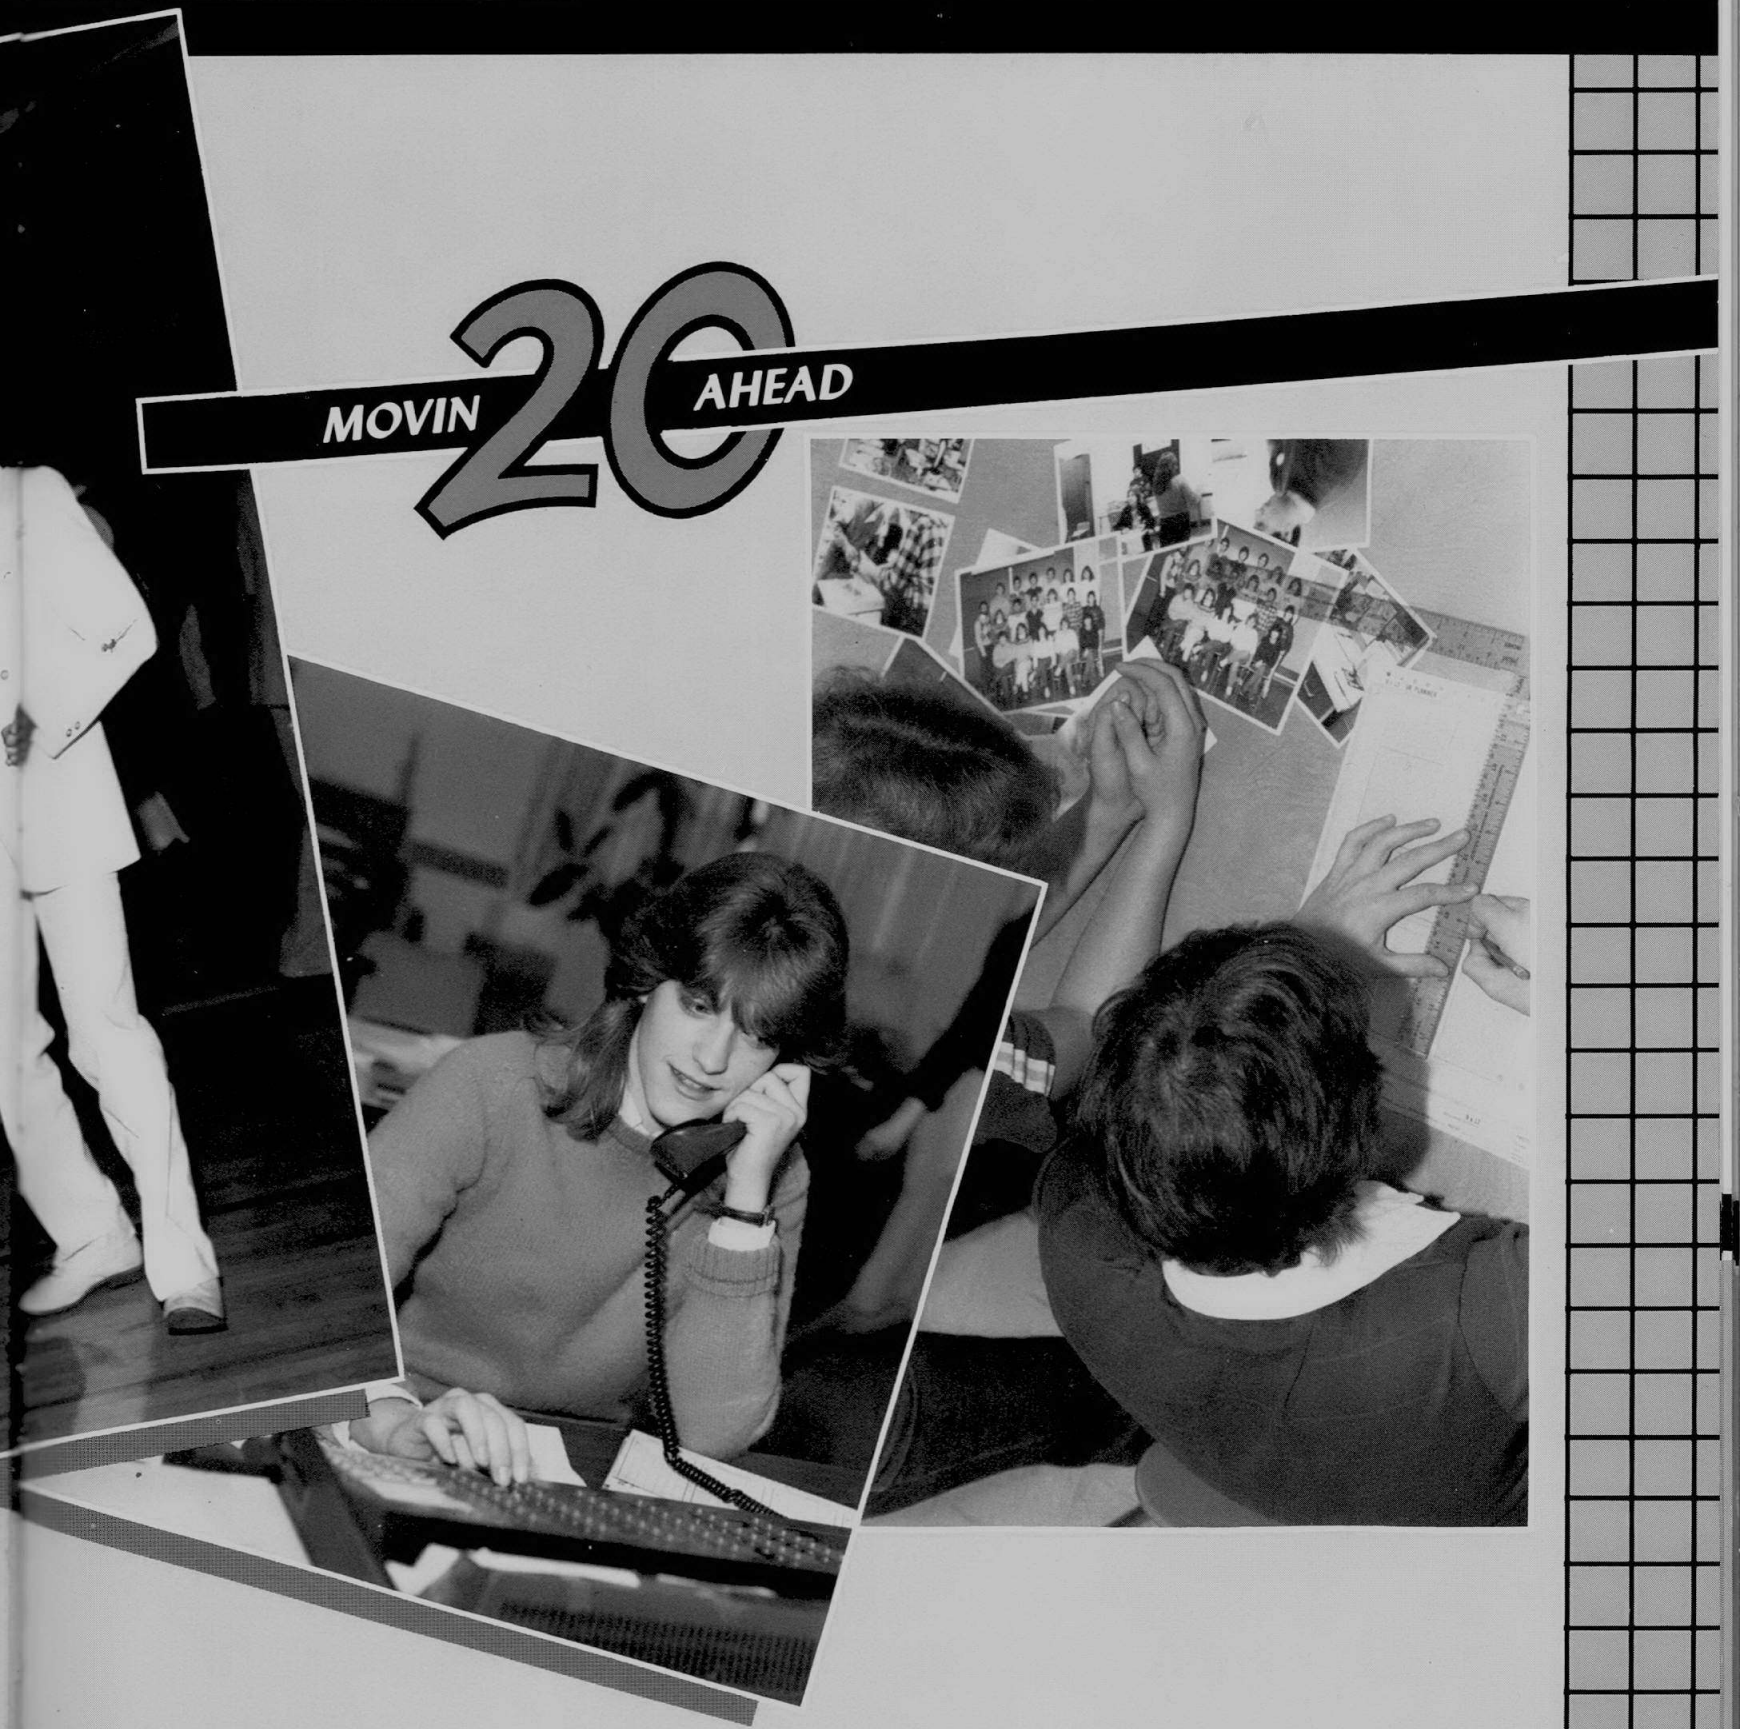

Niles North offers a wide variety of clubs and activities for students. Each group offers the student a chance to contribute ideas to the group and to help change and /or improve the school or community. Many students also join the various clubs and activities for another reason: to meet new people. One North student commented, "It is a great way to meet new people and make new friends. After a long day at school, it is relaxing to sit down with fellow school mates and socialize."

Altogether, the approximately 45 clubs and activities at North present an interesting challenge for most students. By working together to promote a cause in the school, students develop responsibility, leadership, and pride in the achievements of their group.

Kagan Edits 20th SAGA

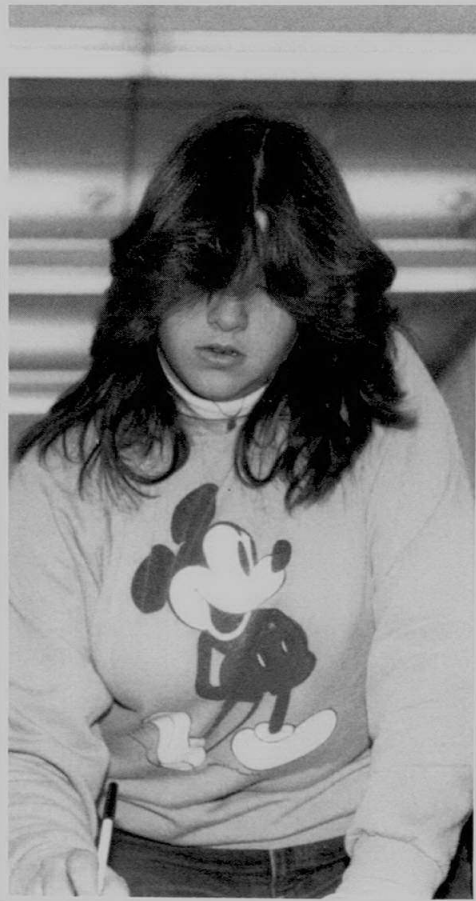

Staff Cooperates In Meeting Deadlines

Terms like pica, layout, cropper, 3R forms, and 3C forms probably don't mean much to most students at Niles North. To the eighteen members of the yearbook production class, those words are part of the terminology used everyday in class. The Editor-In-Chief of the '84 SAGA was Larry Kagan, and the sponsors were Mr. Dennis Grabowski and assistant Ms. Ellen Peirce. There were also four section editors. Kagan, the four section editors, and the rest of the staff all worked together producing pages for their assigned sports, occasions, or activities to be turned in on one of the five deadlines that were to be met during the year. The deadlines fell each month from October through February. For each deadline, there were certain pages to be completed. Once turned in, the pages were checked by the editor, and then shipped to Josten's/American Yearbook Company in Topeka, Kansas.

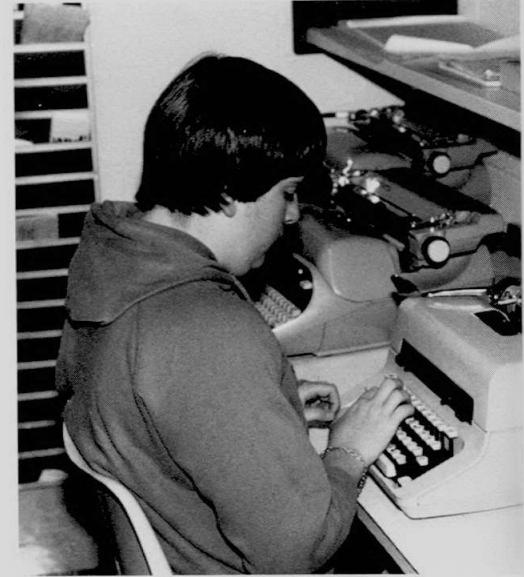

This years SAGA Staff produced the 20th issue of SAGA, Niles North's yearbook. Much time was spent by the editor and staff collecting views from the student body about their opinions of what should appear in the book. These ideas helped to form the structure of the book. One of the main goals of this years staff was to produce a yearbook the students would like, and could relate to.

School Paper Receives Honors

Staff Works To Maintain Standards

"People don't realize how much work actually goes into the paper. It takes dedication from the staff as a whole. In order for the paper to be a success, everyone has to work hard and work together," commented Editor-in-Chief Sheryl Cohen.

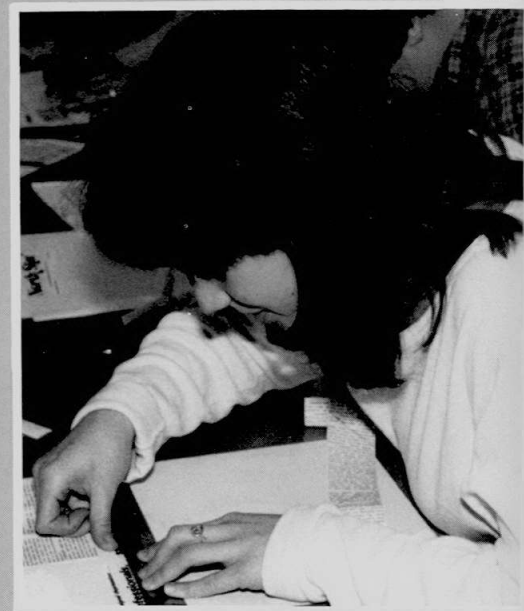

The staff of the North Star put in a great deal of time and effort to put out the editions of the newspaper every two weeks. Stories were written, proof read, sent to the printer to be type-set, and pasted on layout sheets and then printed. Only after all these steps had been carried out was the newspaper distributed.

Through hard work and dedication, the North Star staff has received recognition. In 1983, the paper was a National Scholastic Press Association Medalist with four All Columbian Honors.

"Although most of this year's staff was new, everyone seemed to learn quickly the fundamentals of putting together the paper," said Sheryl Cohen. Most of the students from this year's staff will be returning in September, 1984, to continue the tradition of excellence that has become synonymous with the North Star.

Clubs Expand Creativity

Students Gain Experience Together

Calliope, Forensics, and the Art Club all provided students with opportunities to express themselves in different ways. The Art Club, which was new this year, was sponsored by Ms. Zuckerman. The Art Club had two tasks. One was to maintain a rotating gallery with student art work in the hall offices. The second was to critique each other's art work. "This club gives them the time to pursue their own goals in art," stated Ms. Zuckerman.

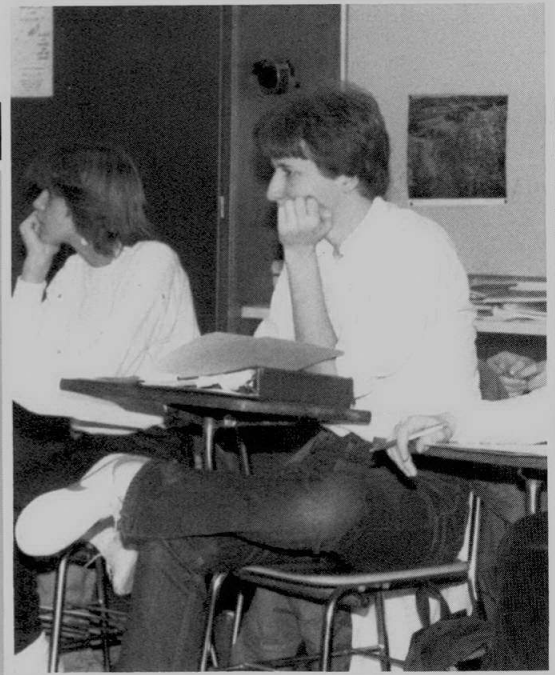

The Forensics Team, which was sponsored by Mr. Wolf, participated in tournaments, where they were judged by their speeches. The students involved got a lot out of this club. "We gained experience in speaking, learning about world affairs, and the challenge of competing," stated Steve Kim, member of the team.

Calliope, a magazine put out by the students for the students. It contained art and written work all submitted by students. The submissions were selected by the staff, and it was distributed in May.

Lending A Helping Hand

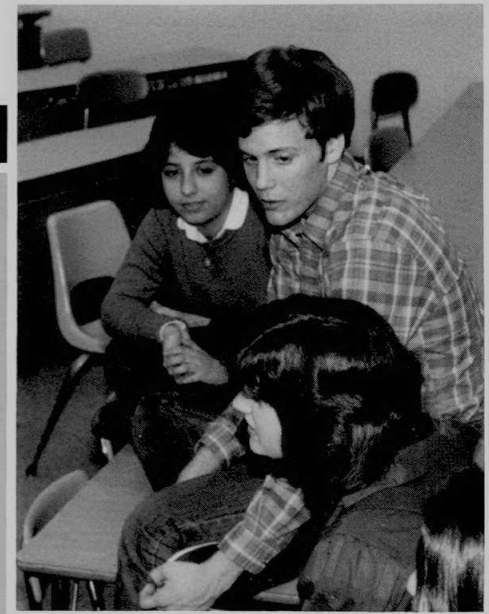

People Helping People

Project Lead and Student Leadership helped students throughout the year. Members of Project Lead showed the Freshman around the school before the year started. The tours helped students find their classrooms and lockers more easily after school started. The Student Leadership organizations helped Niles North students understand and deal with their problems. Small groups met once a week during study periods to discuss their concerns. Using upper classmen, as advanced leaders, students have an opportunity to talk openly with people who are trained to listen and work with students and their problems.

Clubs Share Common Goals

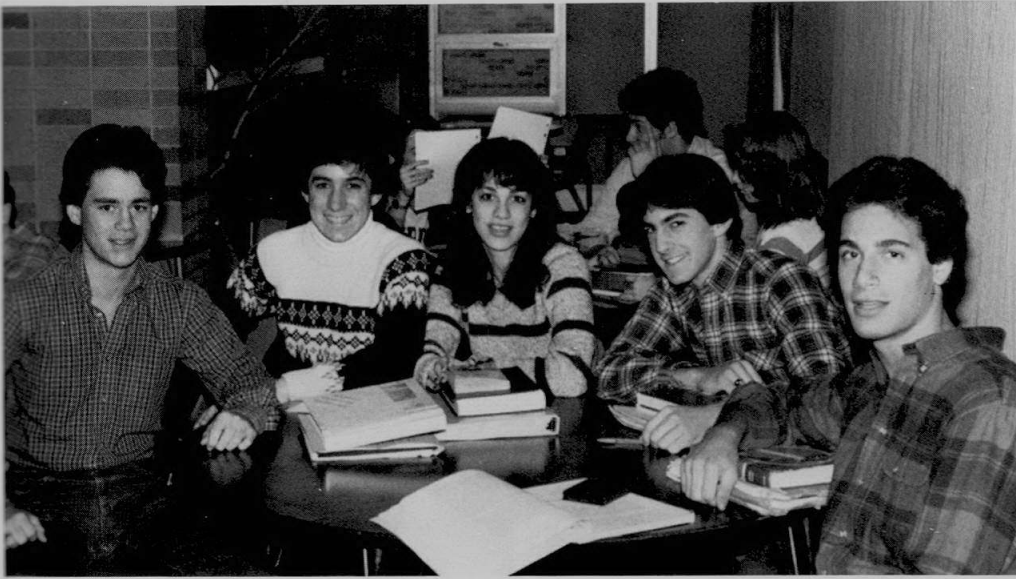

N.H.S. And Student Congress Promote School Spirit

Working to promote a common goal of school unity and educational betterment the National Honor Society and Student Congress both serve the student body diligently. Although these clubs are not affiliated they share many things in common. Some of which include the new policies each has instated this year for a healthier educational environment; the Honor Societies peer tutoring and charity work, and Student Congress' new grade weighting system and school spirit promotion.

The National Honor Society is comprised of upperclassman in the upper fifteen percent of their class who participate in extra curricular activities. "Being elected to the National Honor Society is not only an honor, it also enables us to contribute to the general welfare of our school community," commented Seniors Nick Brustin and Cort Jacoby. Student Congress, on the other hand, is comprised of both elected and appointed members. "Although we hold elections every year anyone can join Congress and get a sense of what's happening around the district, while in the process benefit others," explained Senior Elaine Grossman. Kids helping kids are what these clubs are all about.

Students Work Hard To Perfect Study Skills

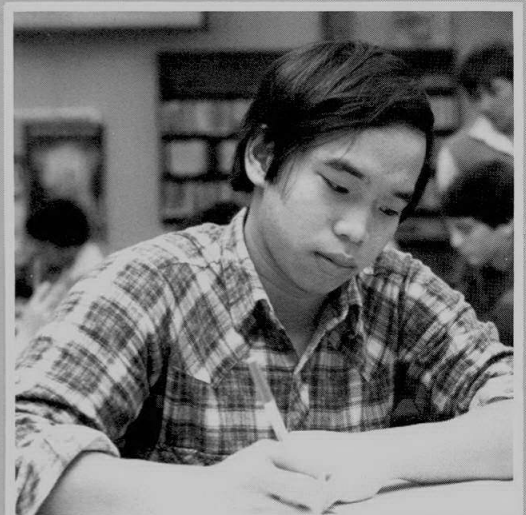

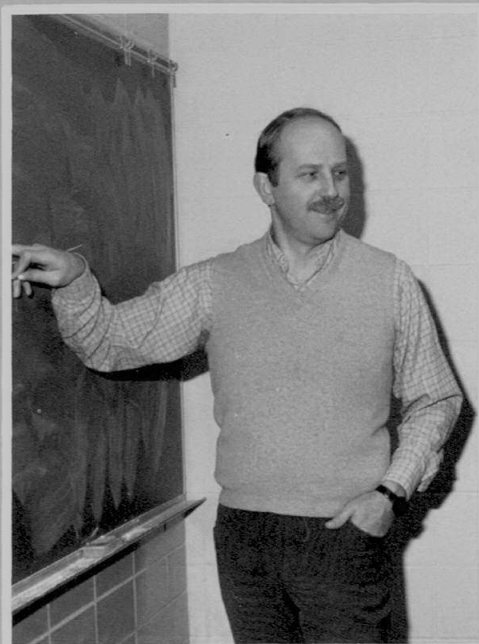

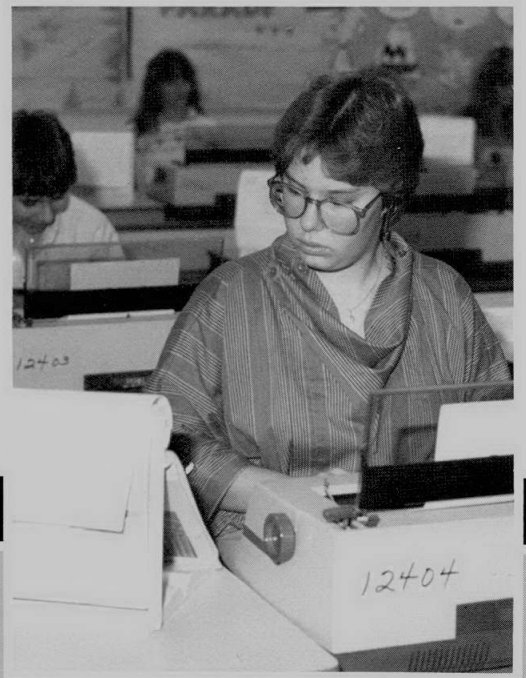

Clubs Has Very Inactive Year

Key Club is an international organization sponsored by Kiwanis International. Kiwanis International provides funding for Key Clubs and other special services, including scholarships to Seniors who have done much for the club. The President of the Key Club was C.J. Appelson. The club has sponsored events such as a racquetball tournament for the benefit of the club. The importance of the club was not shown due to the irregularity of meetings, which were to have taken place every Wednesday. Candid photos on this page show Niles North students hard at work.

Cheerleaders Show Their Spirit Off

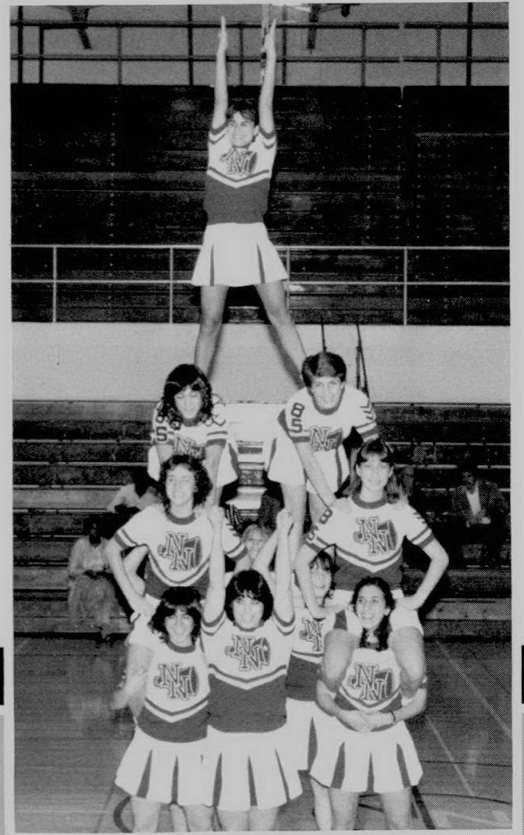

Help Team And Fans Get Psyched For The Events

The varsity cheerleaders tried to promote school spirit this year by getting students involved in their cheers. Freshman, Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors were taught the school song and some sideline cheers. "We tried to come up with new ideas for different mounts and cheers," commented Rana Irving. During the games the cheerleaders were responsible for keeping the spirit and pep in the crowd. Many hours of hard work were spent by the cheerleaders learning and practicing their routines. In order to promote school spirit and to get the fans comming to the games a mini pep assembly was held this year. Each grade met during their homerooms in the gym where their respective cheerleaders lead and taught many new cheers. The cheerleaders not only worked during the school year, but during the summer also. The girls went to the USCA training session for one week at Northern University. The main purpose of going was to learn and help other people from all over the country on new routines, Rana Irving said, "All the girls at camp were great; it showed us that we were people rather than just kids leading cheers."

Underclass Cheerleaders Perfect Skills

Long Practices Pay Off To Victory

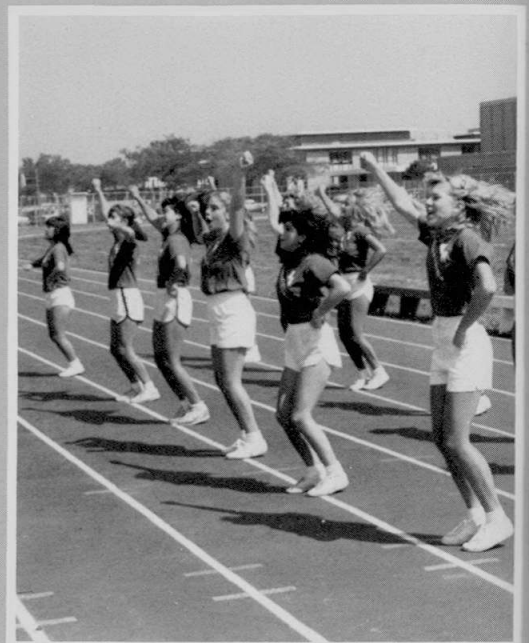

Throughout the season the freshmen and Sophomore cheerleaders cheered the Vikings on. Through victory and through defeat, they were always there with spirit. During basketball and football games, it was the cheerleaders job to rouse up the crowd to cheer on the team.

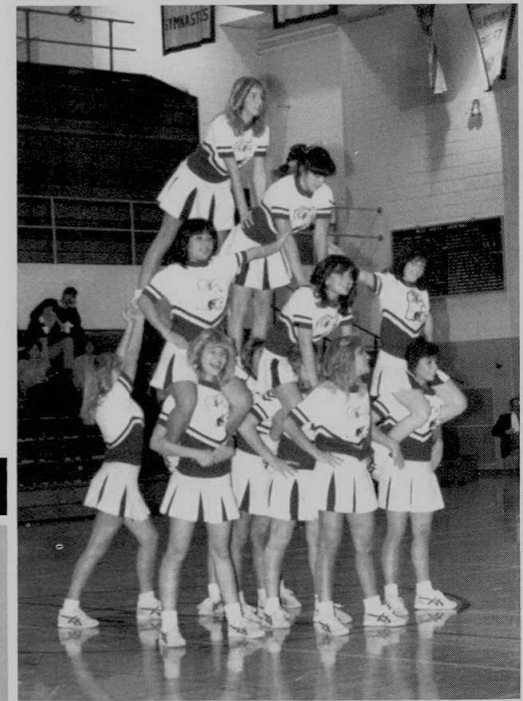

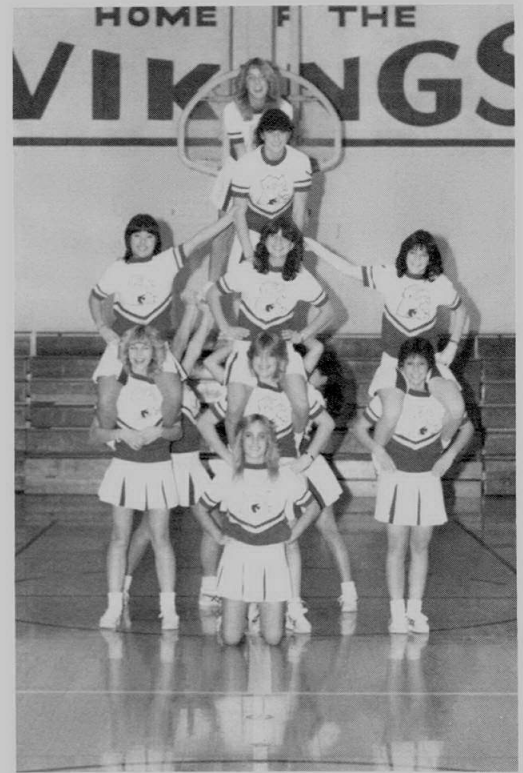

The girls worked very hard throughout the year, at practices as well as at games. They accomplished a lot this year on developing new mounts and improving their cheers. "Being a cheerleader was hard work and it is a hard job to fulfill," commented Amy Tanimoto. "it was time consuming, but I loved it."

Cheerleading enabled the girls to meet new friends, meet people from other schools, and gain a life long experience they will always remember. Cheerleading helped the girls in relieving the pressures of school. "Coming into a new school, I was a little scared. Once I met all the girls who I would cheer with, we all seemed to encourage each other to meet other people, have a fun time, and not to worry about anything," stated Debby Rockwell.

Vikettes Kick Off Top Successful Season

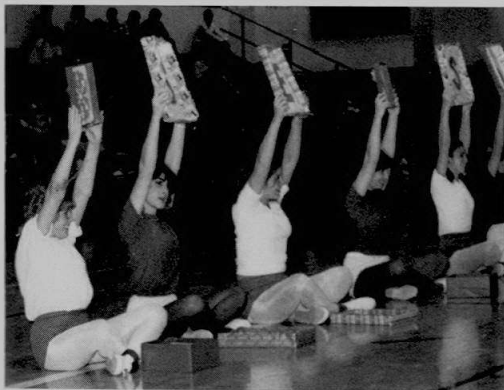

Inexperience Doesn't Hamper Their Performance

"To the surprise of many people being a Vikette is not as easy as it looks, its a lot of hard work," commented Senior Cindy Sadkin. The Vikettes practiced three days a week for three hours after school. They also came to school at night for special practices and sometimes had to stay till 10:00 at night. The Vikettes learned two routines a week: All routines that were learned or performed were made up by fellow Vikettes. A major problem that hindered the squad was that there were only four returning Vikettes, twenty three people were new this year. Over the summer the squad got together often and worked on their skills. All their hard work payed off when at the end of the summer they went to pom-pom camp where they competed against many other squads and received a second place trophy in overall competition. Another reward of their hard work was a Cable T.V. segment that was filmed on them. The segment interviewed many girls and a routine they did at a basketball game. According to senior co-captain Jodi

Cohn, "The squad this year was so close that it make all the hard work, fun."

P.T.S.A./Booster Club Support Students

Many Benefit From Club Sponsored Activities

Parent Teacher Student Association and Booster Club are two of the most important parent groups involved in Niles North.

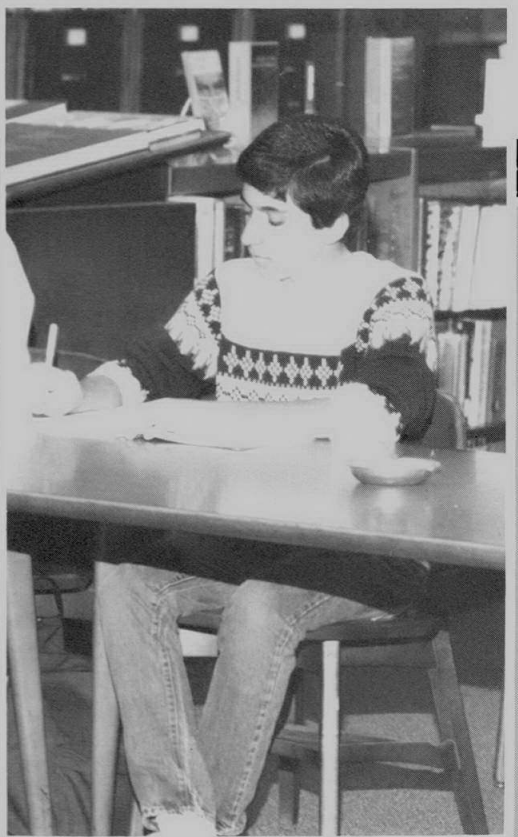

Both groups support students and student related activities. The Booster Club sponsors athletic related activities and school spirit fund raisers. They run the concession stand during school, at sports events, and at dances these parents also act as chaperons by collecting tickets at the door. Other things this group does is carry markers at football games and help out at other sporting events. Booster Club also sponsored a Donkey Basketball Game and a Professional Wrestling Match. These two events help raise money for student scholarships.

P.T.S.A. meets on the first Thursday of every month. They discuss various items relating to school and community issues. They make a decision and take a stand. They also present their views to the school board. This group sponsored the Freshman sight, sound, and speech screening during orientation. They also ran the food stand at football games. The P.T.S.A. also sponsors student scholarships.

Auroris Dance To Perform

Spanish National Honor Society Begins At North

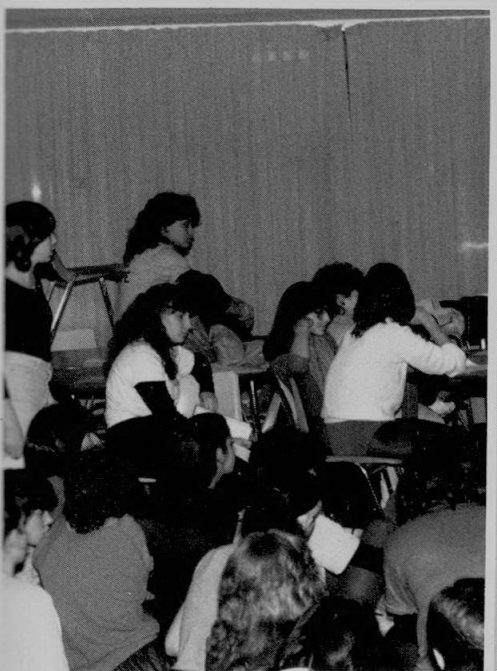

Spanish National Honor Society and Auroris were two distinctly different kinds of activities, however, they both had similarities. Spanish National Honor Society, a group of honors Spanish students with Mrs. Judy Park as their sponsor, had a rather unusual fund raiser which was the sale of Churros, that is a Mexican pastry specialty of Mexico.

Auroris on the other hand, was a dance group of all girls. Auroris split into two different groups. Auroris with many members and Dance Troupe a few select dancers. Each year they produce one show. To put on this show much patience, effort, and practice had to be put in by each and every girl. So far no similarities were seen between the groups, but one major similarity existed. This was that both groups benefited the students that participated in them, and that these activities would be around for many others to enjoy.

Varsity Club/ "N" Club Show Recognition

Honors Received By Athletes

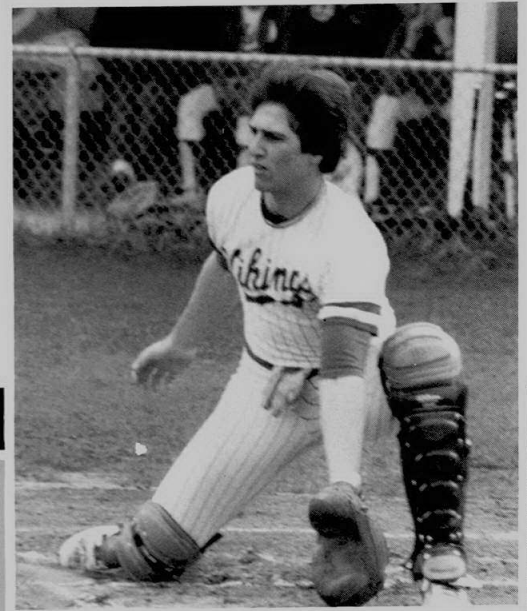

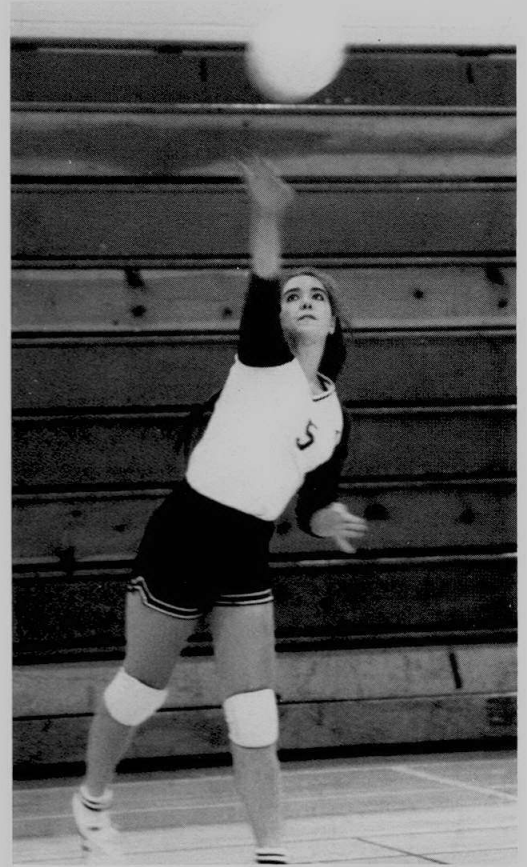

This year was the first year for the "N" Club. The Juniors and Seniors who were on a Varsity team and earned a Varsity letter joined. There were weekly meetings at Niles East in the Student Lounge. On every Friday the members were asked to wear their sweaters with their Varsity letter attached along with their patch in which their sport was sewn on. The purpose was to promote spirit and start a new tradition.

The Varsity Club met on various Wednesdays of the year to discuss the highlights of the teams' seasons. At these meetings, girls were noted for their accomplishments during the season. At the end of the year, scholarships were given to the outstanding players.

Working Hard To Assist Sports Teams

Scorers Help Bring Team Dedication

Laschinski, Mary Meek, and Caroline Connelly each do their own job.

This year Wrestlettes were a much smaller group than usual. Being smaller the girls were much more dedicated. Six girls: Susan Laschinski capt., Caroline Connelly, Julie Gartner, Sherri Lazar, Mary Meek and Anne Peterson spent four days in champaign with the Wrestlers in order to help at the State Competition. Captain of the Wrestlettes Susan Laschinski stated, "I'm pleased to see that the Wrestlettes were dedicated to the team not by participation, but rather by promoting spirit and helping to keep score."

This years Timers were very productive. They were there to help time the meets and give support by using stop watches and recording the times on a card for the officials. Outside the club, many of the timers are friends which made the club more enjoyable.

Leaders Assist Coaches With Physical Education Classes

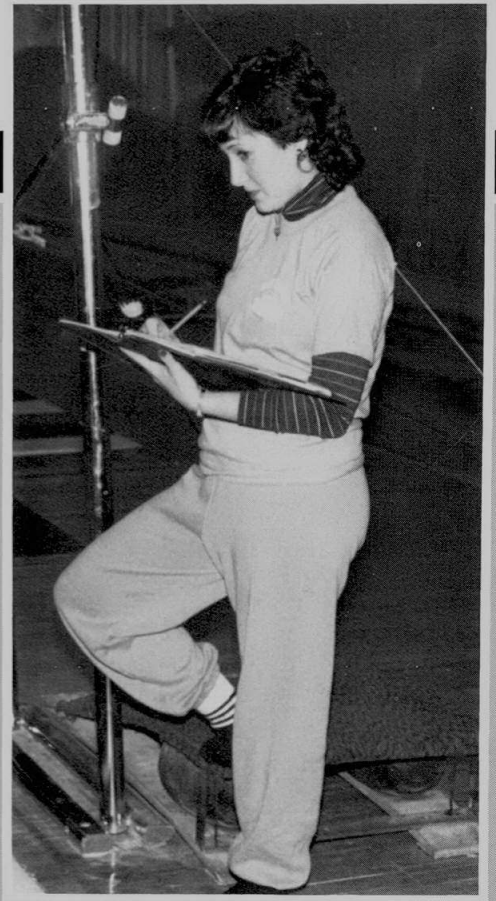

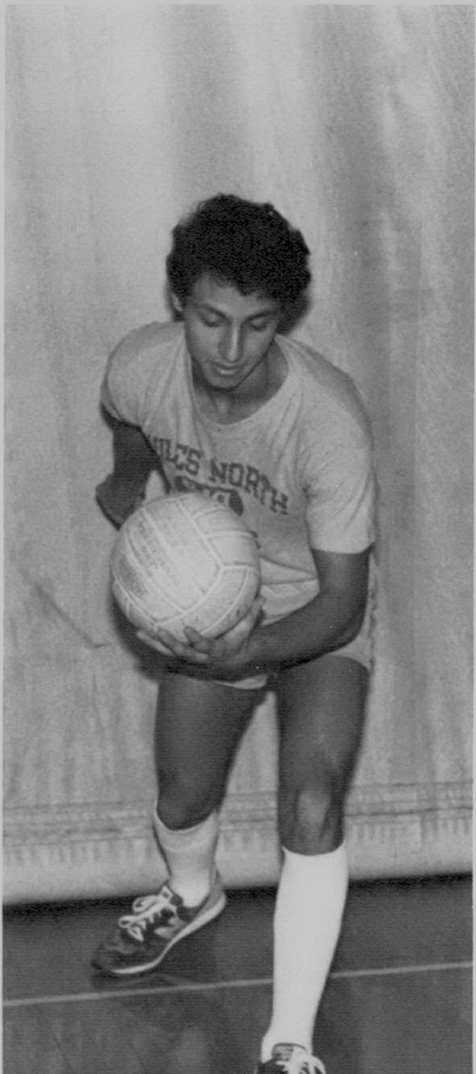

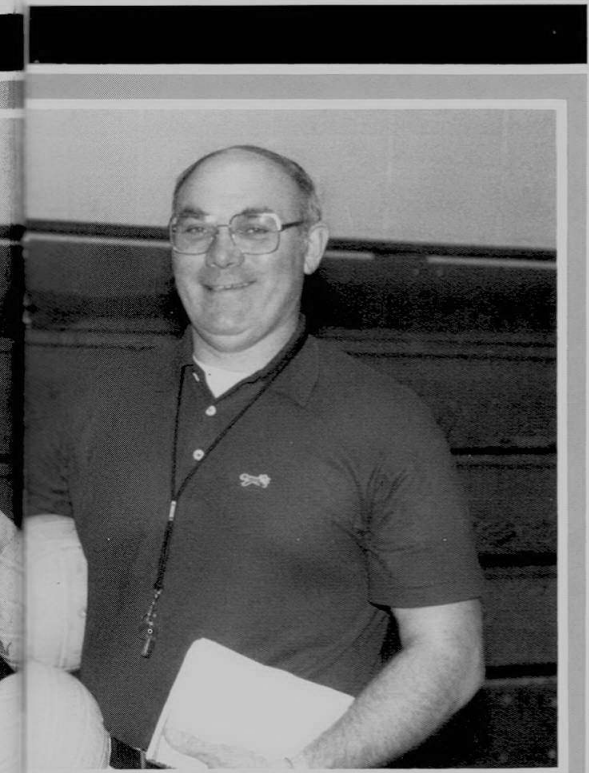

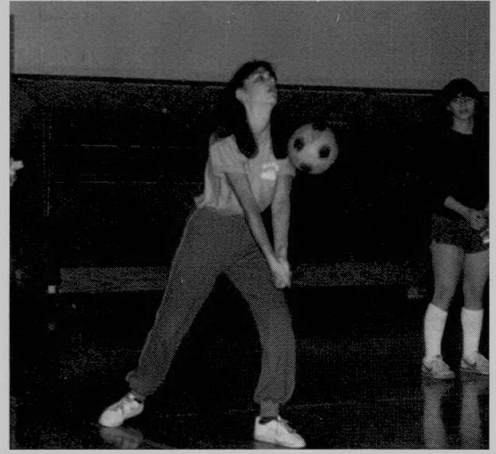

Leaders Set Examples For Students

To become a gym leader in your junior or senior year, a student must first be trained in their sophomore and junior years of P.E. classes. After being recommended by a coach or teacher, a person can become a "leader". As a result, the coach has an extra pair of arms to assist with class instruction. Class members have a better view and understanding of a move or procedure in a particular sport since the leader also acts as an "example". This past year, 64 boys and girls acted as gym leaders. To distinguish them from the class, leaders wore special yellow or blue uniforms given to them by the P.E. Department. Leaders can arrange to work with specialized gym classes in order to make use of their talent. "It is an opportunity to help students feel better about themselves," said gym leader Allison Anderson.

Clubs Work To Achieve Perfection

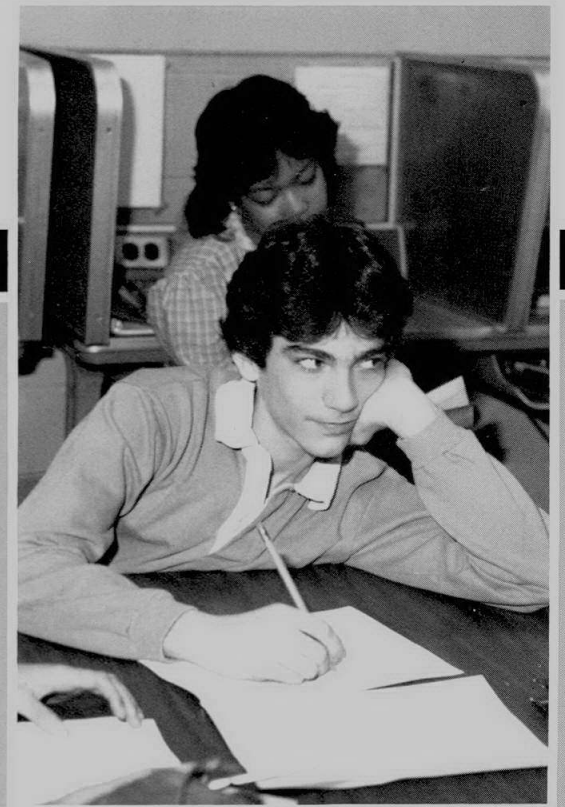

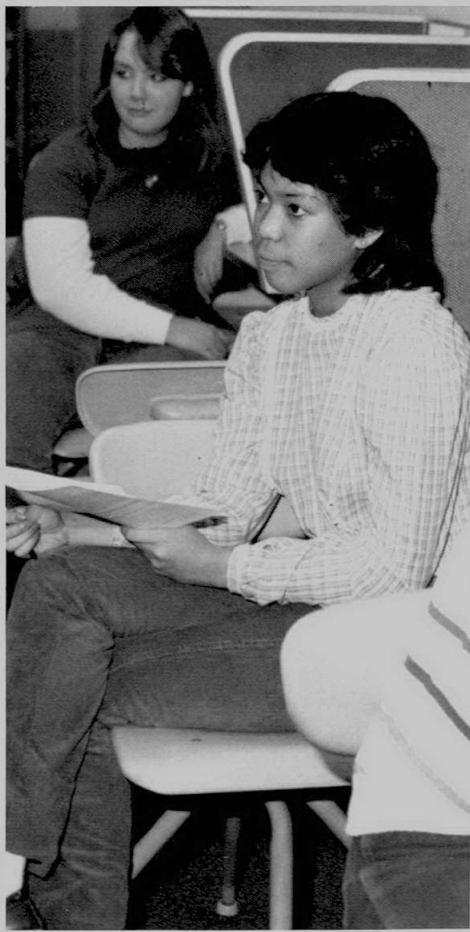

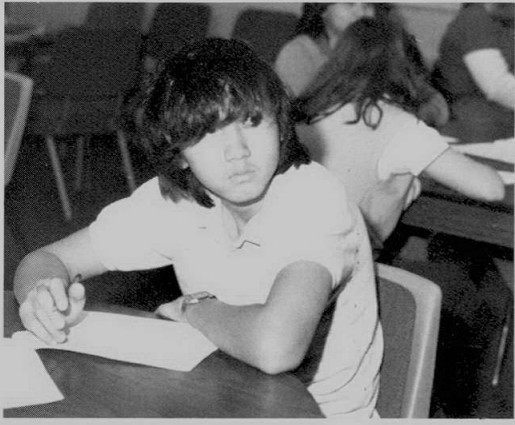

Succeeding Is The Main Goal

"That's all for today and have a great day." This was the Niles North P.A. announcers routine statement every morning. Six students and one advisor worked together every morning at 7:55 a.m. They announced what happened in sports from the previous day and what was on the agenda for that day. Cooperation was also the motto for the 1983 Homecoming Committee. The students met once a week starting in July until Homecoming week. Committee members were assigned to plan the dance, the alumni brunch or the pep assembly. Thorough planning by committee made 1983 Homecoming a success. Helping students establish better Reading skills was the goal of the North Reading Center. This past year the course was worth one credit per semester, unlike the previous year. Students received homework and were tested daily. This helped to accomplish the course objection.

Behind The Scenes

Theatre Allows For Student Growth

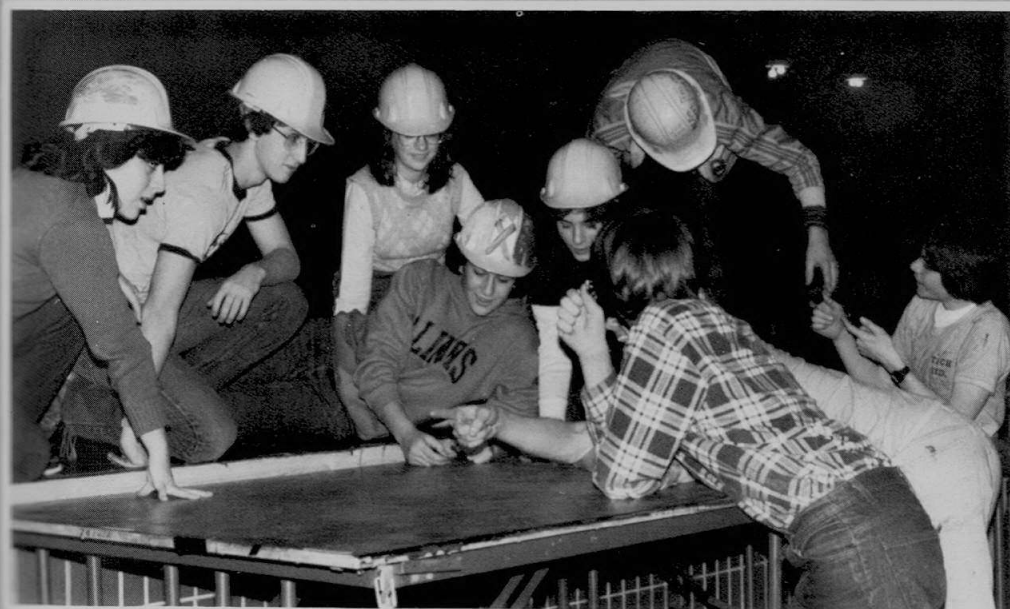

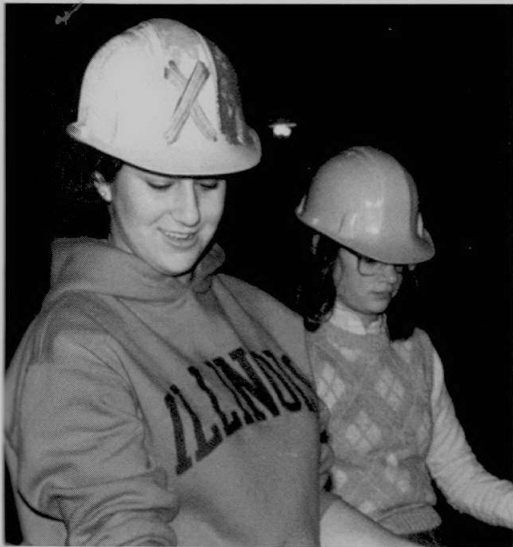

There have been four Theatrical productions this year. Their contents have ranged from straight drama to musical comedy. The season included: A Thurbur Carnival, Norsecapades 1984's, Help! I'm Caught In A Treadmill And Don't Have Gumboots, How To Succeed In Business Without Really Trying and the one act plays.

Long rehearsals proved worthwhile as they allowed for personal as well as professional growth. Many students will pursue careers in the theatre and agree that this experience was beneficial to their future success. Lisa Blumberg stated, "I plan on making my future in theatre. The experience I've gained through Mr. Profit and the rest of the department is invaluable." Kip Helverson commented, "My experience in theatre has helped boost my self-confidence and made me more appreciative of the art." Most important is the message received by all involved, "Quality comes only from dedication."

Investments And Work Are Encouraged

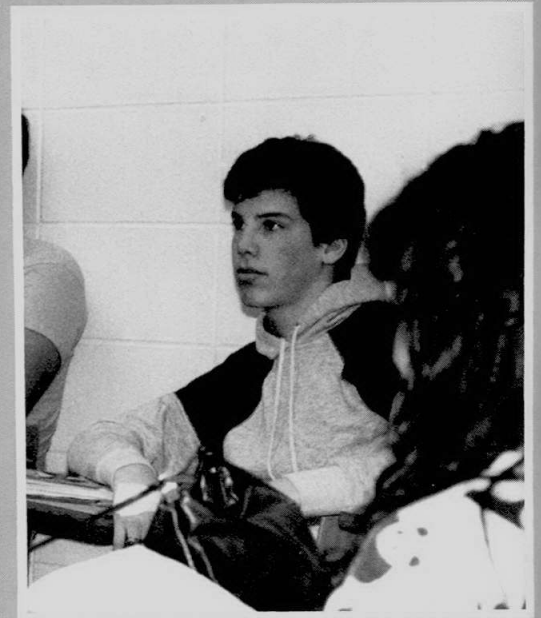

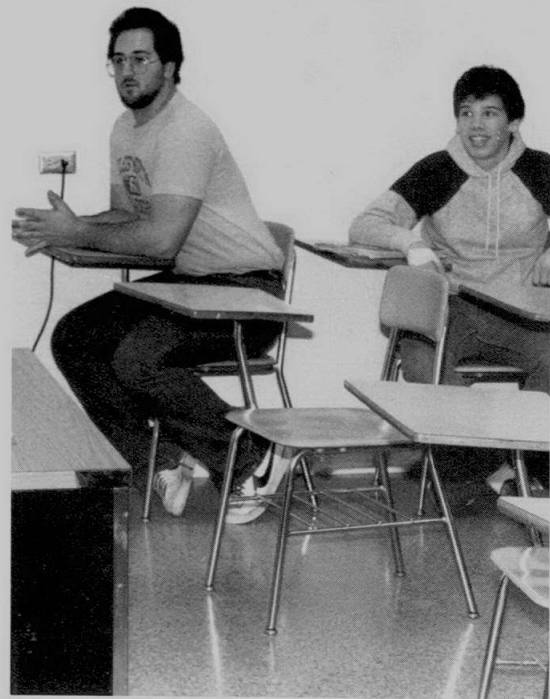

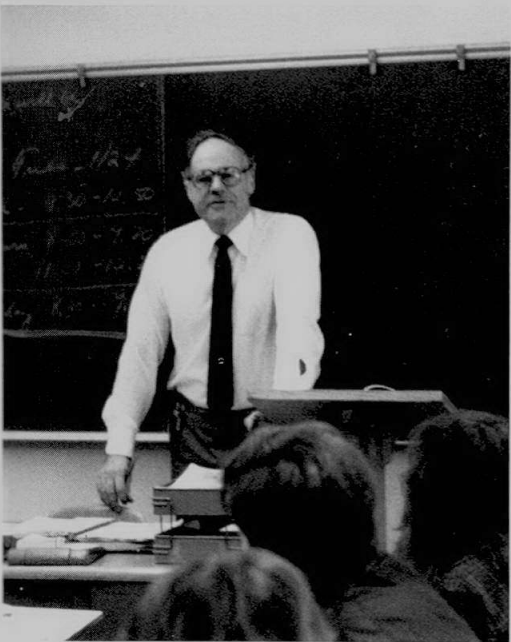

Students Learn Valuable Skills

The Niles North Investment Club was offered to students at any grade level, who were interested in techniques of investment practice. Mr. Charles Plock who was in charge of the club, encouraged members to take part in stock contests such as Depaul University's Stock Market Experiment. Another interesting club at Niles North was The Home Economics Related Occupations Club (HERO). This club was included with the Cooperational Vocational Education Department. Stephanie Green a member of the club commented "I've learned a lot about myself, as well as the working world". On the job training gives students marketing and selling skills, and helps them to adjust to the demands of a job, and dealing with the public. Dr. Ron Henrici sponsor of the club said, "Students will gain alot for a little of their time".

Students Learn Useful Skills

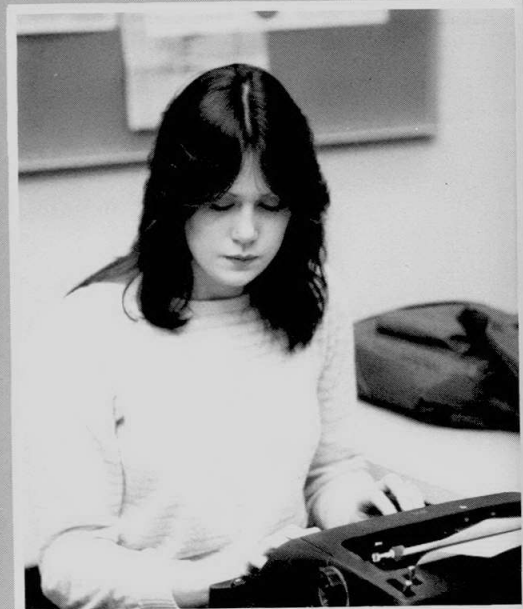

Practical Arts Class Prepare Future Workers

Distributive Education Clubs of America, known to Niles North Students as Deca, is a very important class for future business leaders. This year's class offered many skills in marketing and distributing. Besides class sessions, the students had to hold a job and work at least fifteen hours a week. This year the members had a chance to travel to such places as Kansas, Minnesota, and Springfield, where they competed with the skills they learned during the year.

Office Occupations was open to all students who had an interest in office skills. In order to be in the class the students had to hold a job in an office. To prepare the students for the jobs the following are learned in class: typing, filing, letter writing, schedules, and spelling. Many students benefited from the class. Student Leigh Chaban said "I learned a lot and was able to put my skills to use".

Volunteering Is Educational

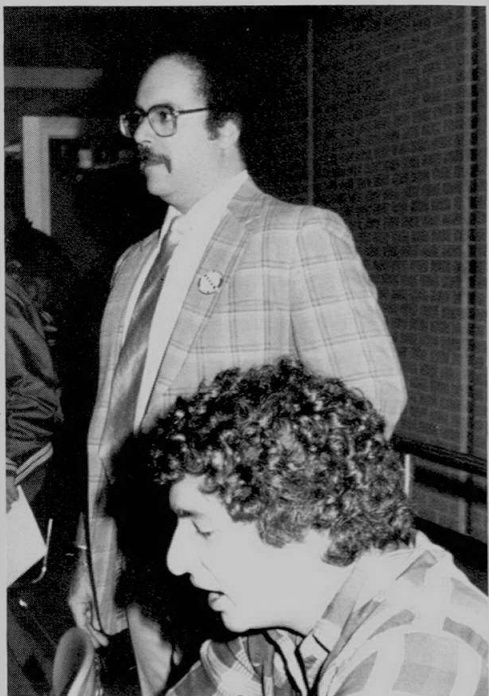

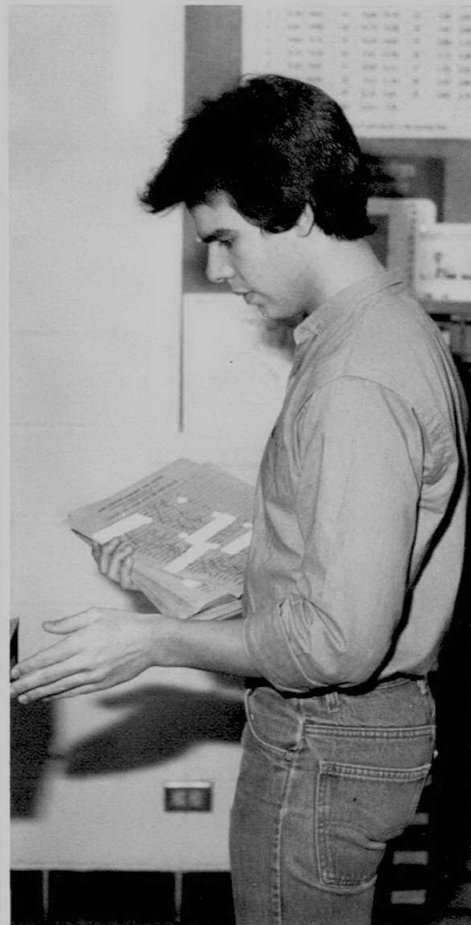

Students Help Solve Growing Problem

The Student Volunteer Program was again helpful throughout the school. The areas of most concentration of volunteers were the concession stand, Hall A office, Main office, Main office, Schedulers office, Counselors office. Doing such things as selling food and beverages, sorting mail and schedules, running errands, filing, and answering the switchboard and other telephones. Again this year the program was sponsored by Ms. Thompson and Mr. Pos. "I think that volunteering has given me experience in office occupations and has also fulfilled a certain part of my education, in rendering my services voluntarily it has many rewards," said Willy Sera. "I am glad there is a program in our school which provides an alternative to study halls, allowing students to use their time constructively," stated Kim Pamper. The need for volunteers in our schools and in society is in demand.

S.A.D.D., Students Against Driving Drunk, was again this year an important club in our school. This program is important because it made students as well as parents realize the serious problem of driving while under the influence of alcohol. Marty Lev the clubs president along with sponsors Mr. Browning and Mr. Schusteff were on local television. Channel 11 held a talk show Chicago Feedback which was held at Niles North; with the student body as audience. The program reviewed some important aspects of the drinking and driving problem. Also this year's enrollment has been the largest in the club's history. The line between students and the problem has been shortened since the club has been organized.

Clubs Open New Opportunities For Students

Members Enjoy Intense Competition

The Math and Chess Clubs of Niles North High School are meant to provide a learning and enjoyable experience for its members.

The Math Club was sponsored by Mr. Jerry Smith and Mr. George Pryjma. It is a club in which one has the opportunity to explore different concepts of math not normally taught in high school.

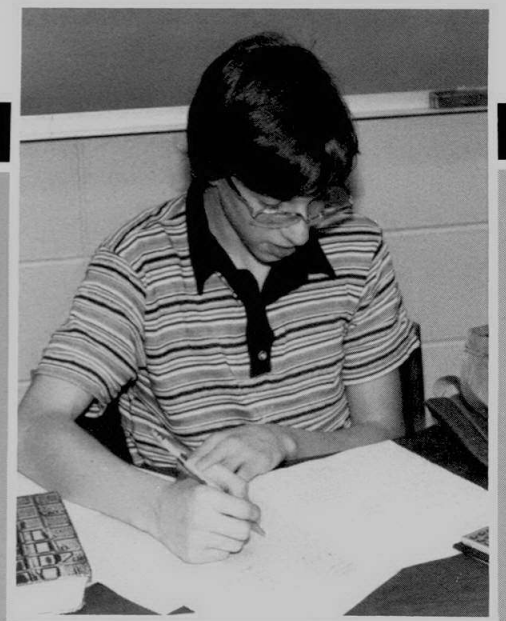

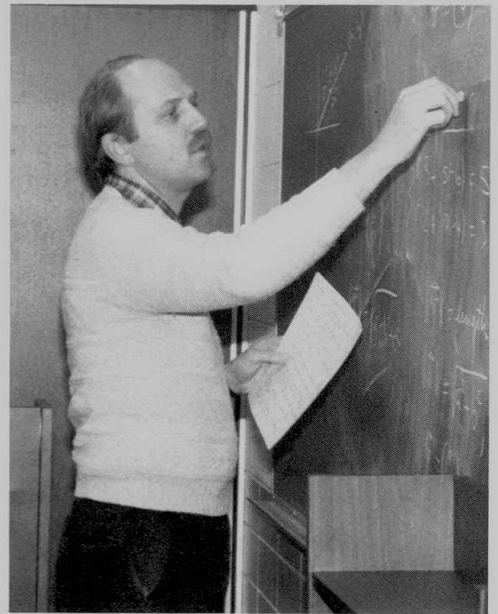

The major function of the Math Club is to practice with the Math Team which is made up of club members. The Math Team competes in the North Suburban Conference with 24 other teams.

The Chess Club provides its members the occasion to meet and compete with other students with the same skill. The club is sponsored by Mr. Frank Cardulla. "The Chess Club competes in state and local tournaments in which they do very well" says Dmitri Silversteyn.

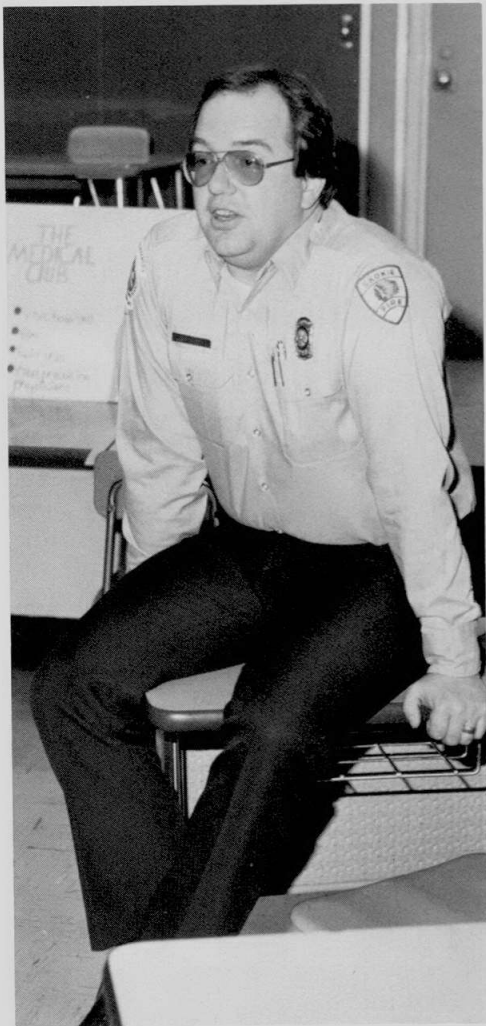

Dmitry has been a member for 2½ years. He enjoys the competition and the chance to perfect his skill at playing chess.

Student Club Supports Cambodian Orphan

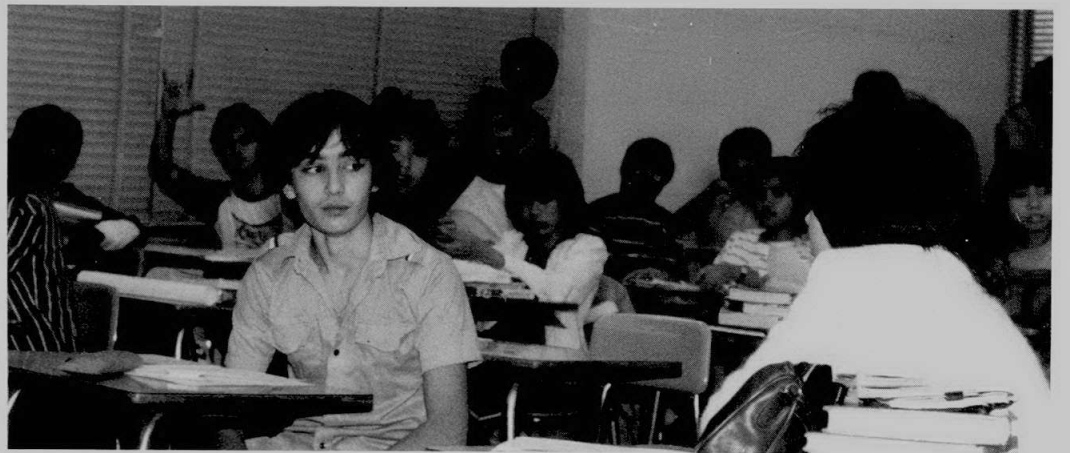

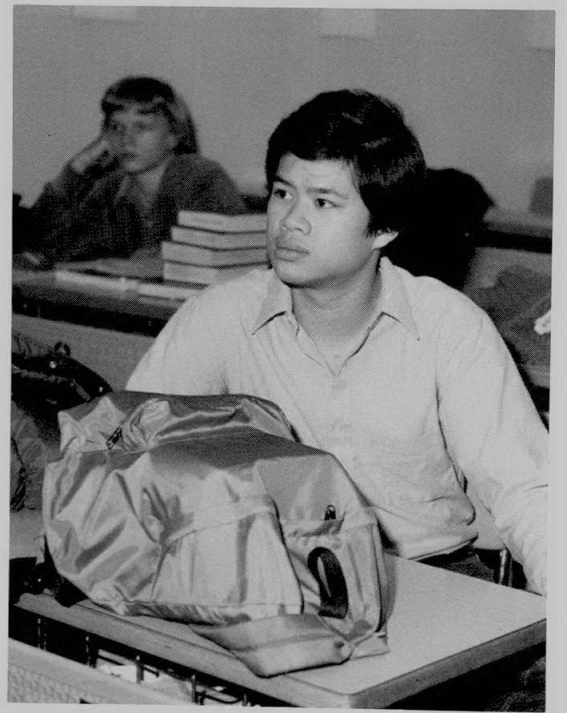

Investigating Career's Is A Club Priority

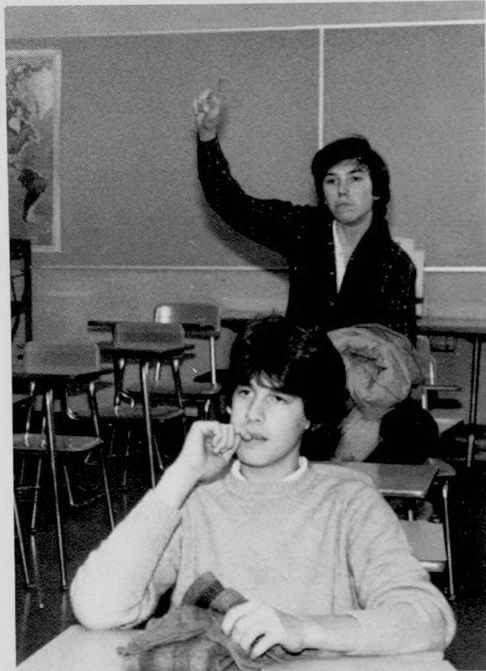

"Medical Club of Niles Township High School North Division", is the name of the Medical club at Niles North. It has been an active club for three years. The club has been open to all students regardless of his or her grade level. The club's purpose, was to investigate careers in the medical field. Mr. Anderson said "Membership in the club has increased fifty percent, that's about thirty students". Mr. Anderson was hopeful that Freshmen and Sophomores would find away to develop leadership through the club. Members are encouraged to read up to date materials of the science and medical field's. The club went on field trips to hospitals and some colleges in the Cook County area. At the hospitals, students meet doctors and lab technicians. On one tour a doctor told the members of the club to avoid certain fields of medican, because there was an overload of available personel. Mr. Anderson commented, "The club is very beneficial to those students wanting to know about the medical field." The International Club was another active club at North. This club offered students from Foreign and Domestic countries a chance to meet one another. The club had forty eight members from twelve different countries. The International club planned activities which involved adopting and supporting an orphan Cambodian child from Thailand. Each member gave fifty cents per day towards this effort. The club also participated in local Ethnic events in the North Shore and Chicago area. One very interesting activity sponsored by the club was a tutoring program. Members acted like "Big Brothers" to the recently arrived students, and helped those students who felt strange in a new school setting. Mr. Lendway and Mr. Thomas, the club sponsorees, both stated "The International club is for every student at North, whether native or foreign."

Variety Is The Spice Of Life

Club Members' Expand Their Horizons

"We make everything from saltwater taffy to Rock Cornish Hen," said Mrs. Mary Ann McElfresh, the club sponsor. "Students who come to our club like to cook their own dishes and socialize with friends. The club has been cooking up a storm for eleven years at Niles North. Students let me know a week ahead of how many people are coming, and I go out and buy the right amount of food," commented Mrs. McElfresh. "They then start cooking, sometimes up until 6:00 or longer, like when we made trout." "I like to cook," stated Sue Block, a nutritionist and member. "But I never get a chance to cook at home, so I come here."

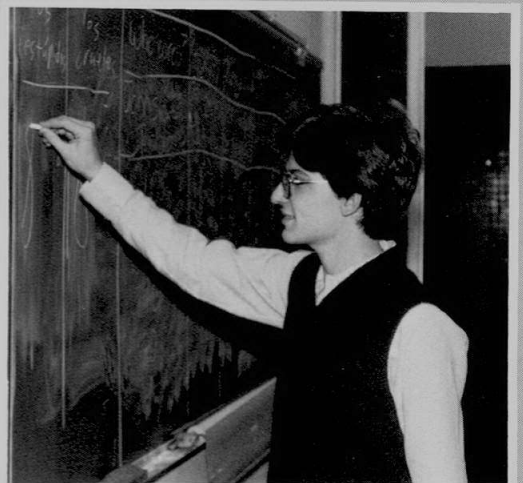

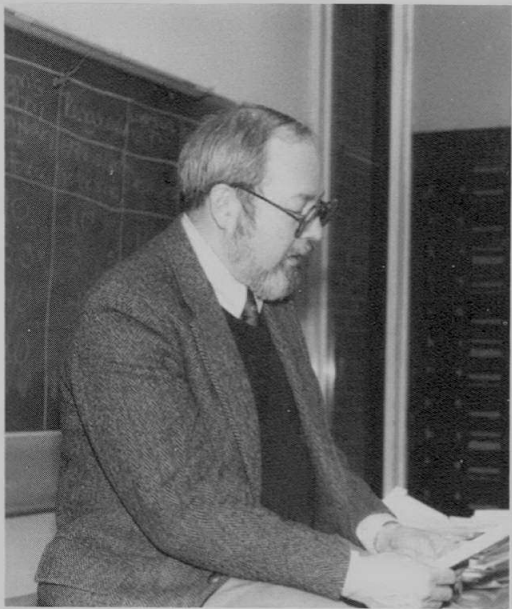

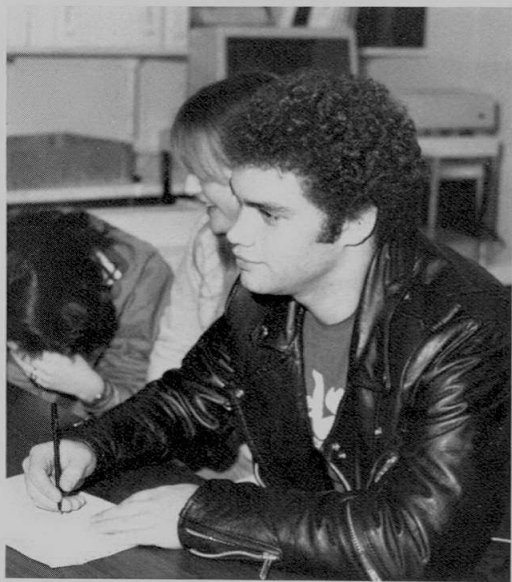

The Current Events Club is a club where the student wins by the overall knowledge they get by reading newspapers, watching the news on television, or what they learn through school. "You play a game based on current situations in the world," stated Michael Goroff, a member. "We go through many different types of situations, like social affairs, war and peace; including international and political affairs, too".

"Every other year we host teenage students from another country," stated Dr. Henrici, the Foreign Exchange Club sponsor. "Last year we had students from Ahlen, West Germany." The inbetween years we work on raising the funds for the Niles North students to be able to travel abroad. The experience the students receive when visiting other countries will always be remembered.

Music A Universal Language

Students Brought Together By Singing

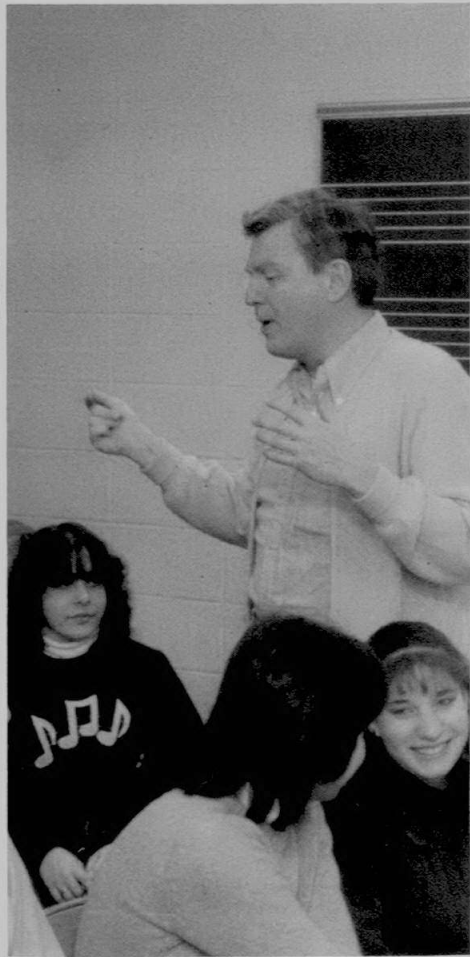

Altos, sopranos, notes, octaves, and chords, all were found in the choruses. There were two choruses this year: Choral Union and the Chamber Choir. Both were under the direction of Mr. Anderson. These choruses practiced everyday for the festivals and other performances that occurred throughout the year.

One such event was the Winter Festival, which was held on December 21. There was also the Choral Festival, which was held on February 20 at Niles North. It was an all-day event which hosted nine other schools in a voice combination to form one giant chorus. They practiced throughout the day and gave their performance at night. This was not only an opportunity for musical experience, but also for making new friends. "I think that the Choral Festival is a good experience, because you meet new people, while you gain musical knowledge", stated Nate Weiss. The choruses also sang at Senior Citizen homes.

Honors For N.N.'s Orchestra

Seven Students Go Down State

"This year the Orchestra had a nice balance between Freshmen, Sophomores, juniors, and seniors," commented Mr. Sklar, orchestra director. The Orchestra consisted of 28 members this year, along with five additional students in beginning strings.

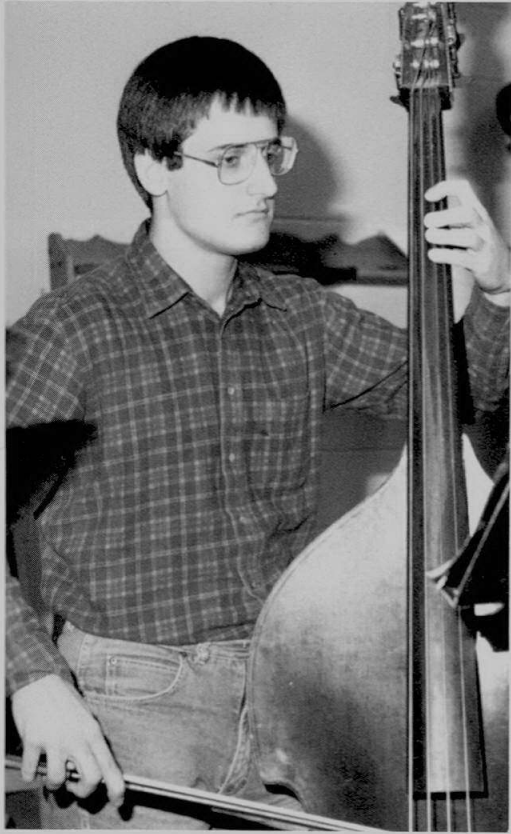

The Orchestra gave four concerts through out the year, with solo performances by Wayne Gordon, french horn, Melissa Gregory, viola, and Paula Son on the piano.

On February 15th, the Orchestra, along with the symphonic band, left on their most extensive tour ever. They went for four days to New Orleans, where they performed at four schools while they were there.

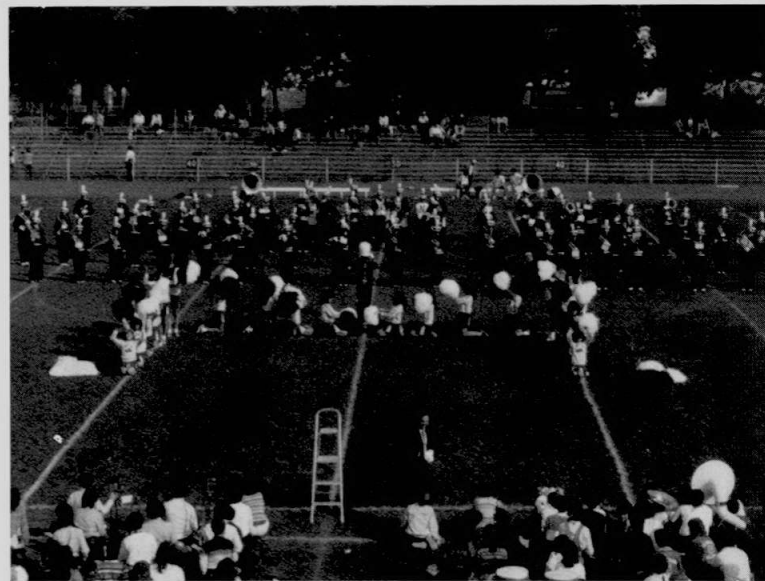

This year the largest number of string students achieved positions in the Illinois Music Educators Association district orchestra. Seven students went Downstate to perform with other students from schools in the district. From those seven, six were chosen for the all-state orchestra. "The students did a terrific job, we are all very proud," Mr. Sklar commented.

Marching To The Tunes Of Success

High Stepping Through The Year

Mr. Eisele, the new Marching Band conductor, faced a challenge this year in that it was necessary, due to the resignation of former conductor Tim Wolfrom, to set up and entirely new band program. Bill Sera comments, "Mr. Eisele's job was well done considering he came in late in the year."

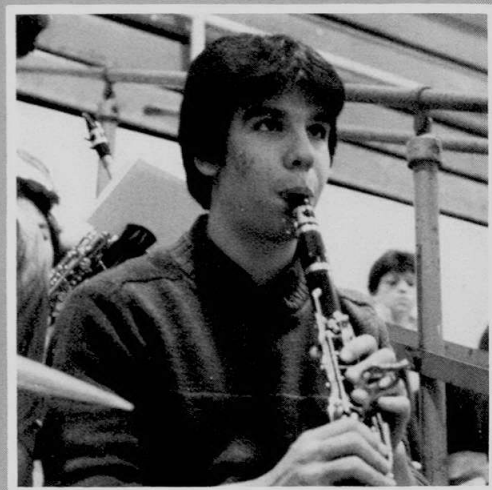

Marching Band performed in the annual homecoming parade and football game. Later in the year they were joined by the Flag Team who performed with them and added life to home football and basketball games.

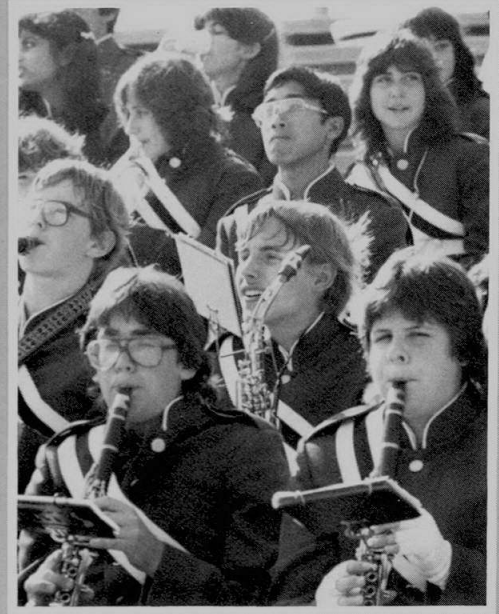

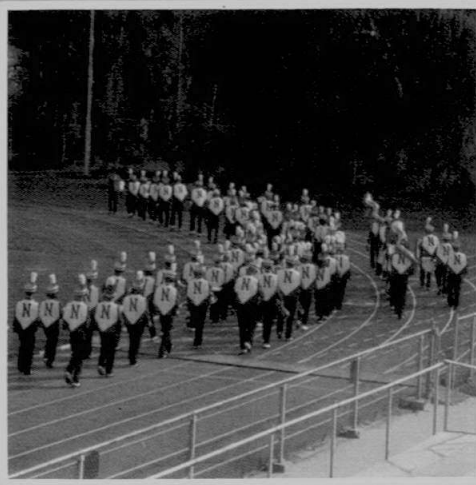

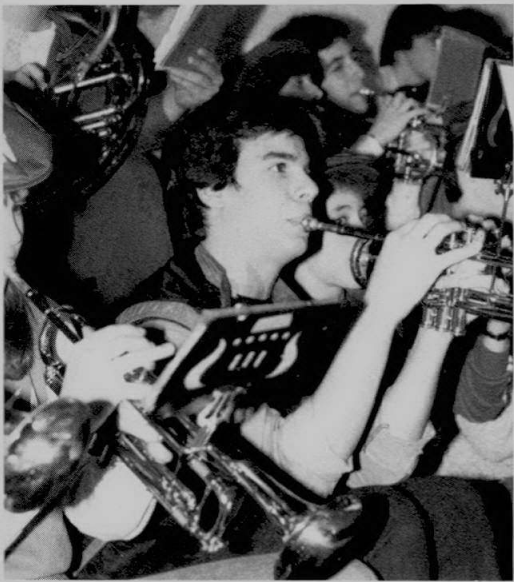

At the last 1984 football game, performing conditions were poor as the field was muddy and slippery. Against the advise of Mr. Eisele, the Band performed successfully and with no casualties.

Advanced Musicians Participate In Symphonic Band

Two Musicians Make All-State Band

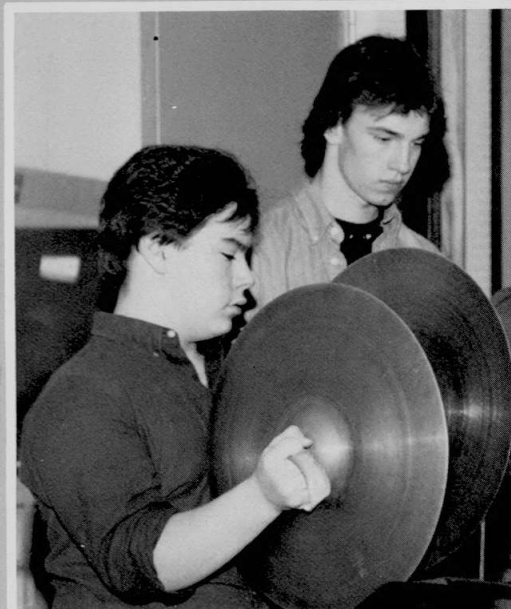

The Symphonic Band is made up of highly advanced musicians that attend Niles North. To be a part of the band students had to go through very demanding auditions. The music the band played varied all the way from Pop to Classical. This year seven students made the District Band. These students were Debbie Stahlberg, Holly Copeland, Steve Finckle, Daniel Katz, Wayne Gordon, Randy Oyler, and Ivo Braun. Out of the seven only two made it to All State Band. These gifted musicians were Debbie Stahlberg and Holly Copeland.

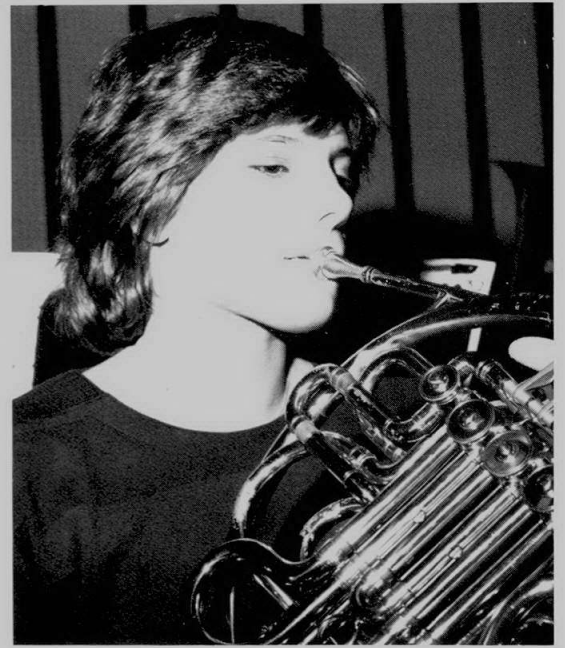

Besides playing in assemblies, the band did some other activities. Such as the bandathon and a trip to New Orleans.

The Jazz Band is made up of all the musicians, who love jazz music. Music Parents Teachers Meeting was just another place where they showed off, their fine talents. Senior Andy Raphael said "This year Jazz Athletics are an important part of every person's life. They help one to develop physically, as well as mentally.

Athletic competition is more than a person or a group of people participating in a game or athletic activity. It is actually a combination of dedication, sportsmanship, and pride being put to work.

Dedication is the main building block of any athlete or team. If athletes are not willing to work and put in the practice time, they can not expect to excell, no matter what natural talents they posses.

Furthermore, no team can expect to play well together if the team refuses to practice together. No matter how many talented individuals may be in a group, a good team is the one that works and plays well together.

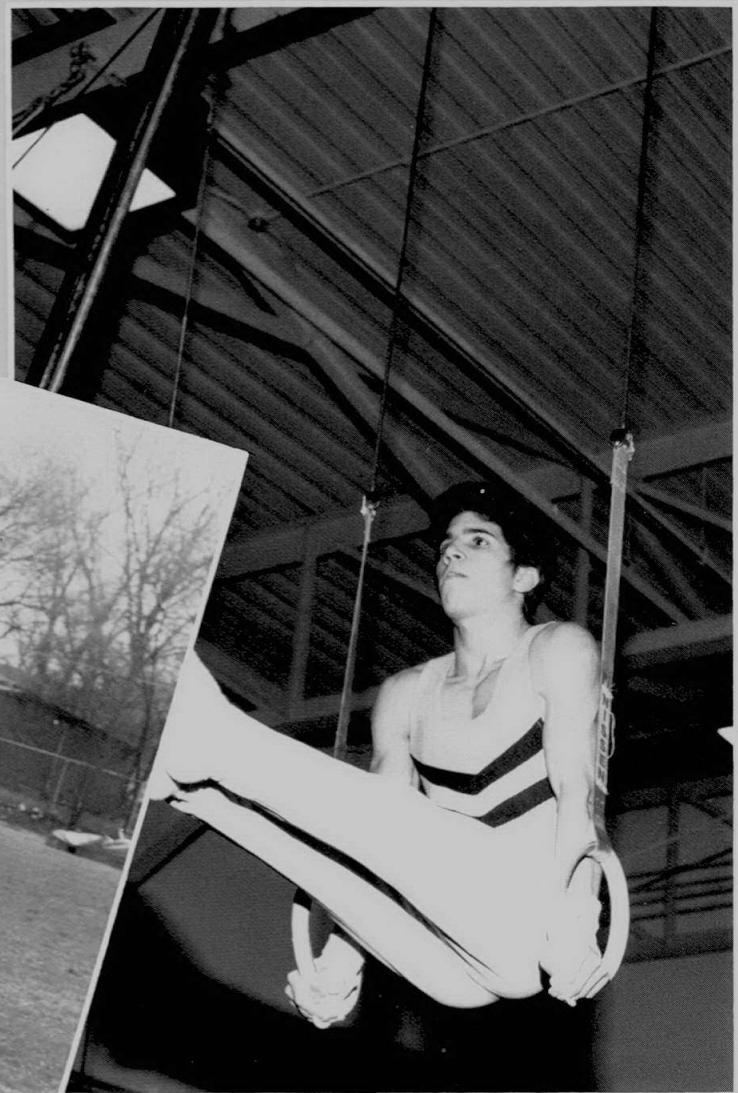

Sportsmanship and pride are probably the most important aspect of high school athletics. Athletic competitions enable students from a wide range of high schools to meet one another. Pride must be shown wherever the athlete or team may travel. Without this pride, the motivation for winning would not exist.

During the various athletic competitions, the responsibility of representing the school is placed on the members of the team. Sportsmanship is expected both on and off the playing field. Good sportsmanship is the true mark of a top athlete.

Baptist Retires After 20 Years At North

In 1964, when Niles North opened, Mr. George "Babe" Baptist joined the faculty as a math teacher. He earned the nickname "Babe" from his grammar school days when he was in fourth grade and pitched for the sixth grade basketball team.

Besides being a math teacher, he was also the head basketball coach. Soon after, he became a hall director for the school which held the authority of both a Dean and Principal. Later he became the Building Manager, and then in 1975, he was appointed to the position of Athletic

"He is such a professional in what he does and the way he handles things."

Director.

It was a long road to becoming A.D., and Mr. Baptist was determined to be the best A.D. possible.

When Mr. Baptist took over the responsibilities of A.D., there was not a central organization in the Physical Education or Athletic Department. He condensed both programs into one large program, controlled by one office and by one administrator. This method of administration simplified matters greatly for the Physical Education teachers and the coaching staff.

According to coaches, teachers, students, and parents, Mr. Baptist has been very conscientious about his work. He is very visible in Physical Education classes, athletic practices, and during athletic competitions. This idea of exposure helps coaches, staff, students, and parents to better relate with him.

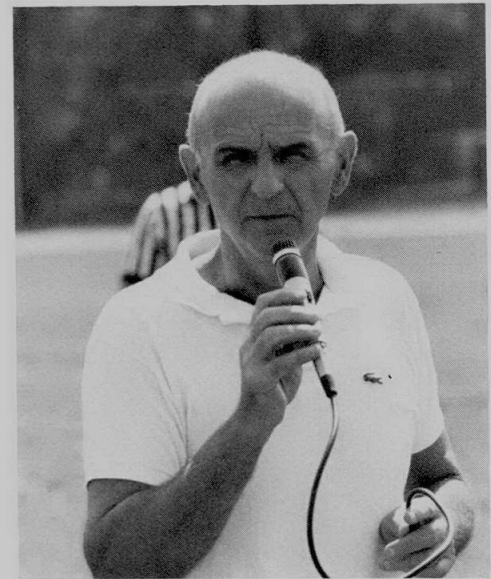

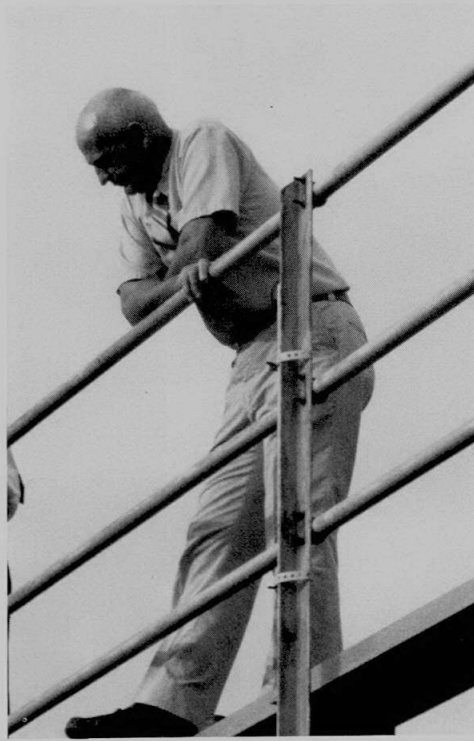

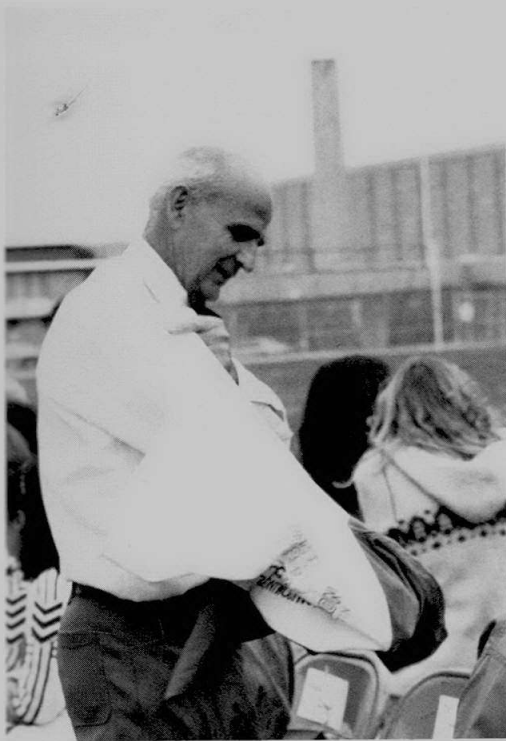

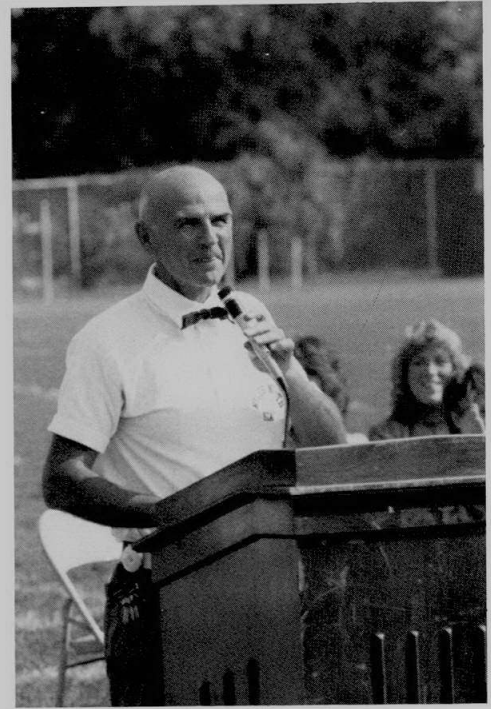

One of the first decisions Mr. Baptist made as Athletic Director was to switch Niles North from the Central Suburban Conference to the North Suburban Conference. This change enabled students at North to better compete with athletes on their own level.

Mr. Baptist was also one of the people responsible for increasing the number of girls' sports available at North. When he became the A.D., girls competed in Tennis and Badminton. Today, North offers ten different sports to girls.

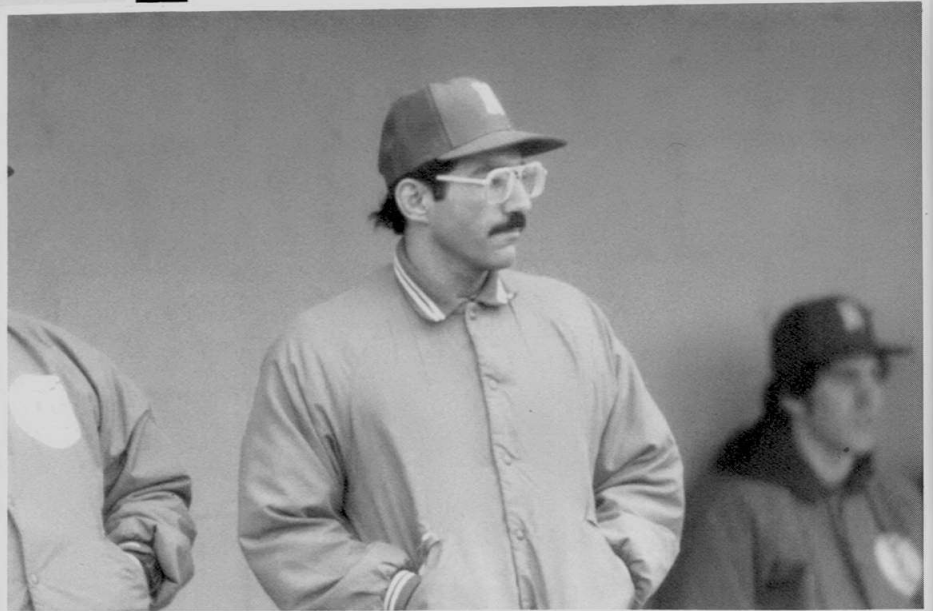

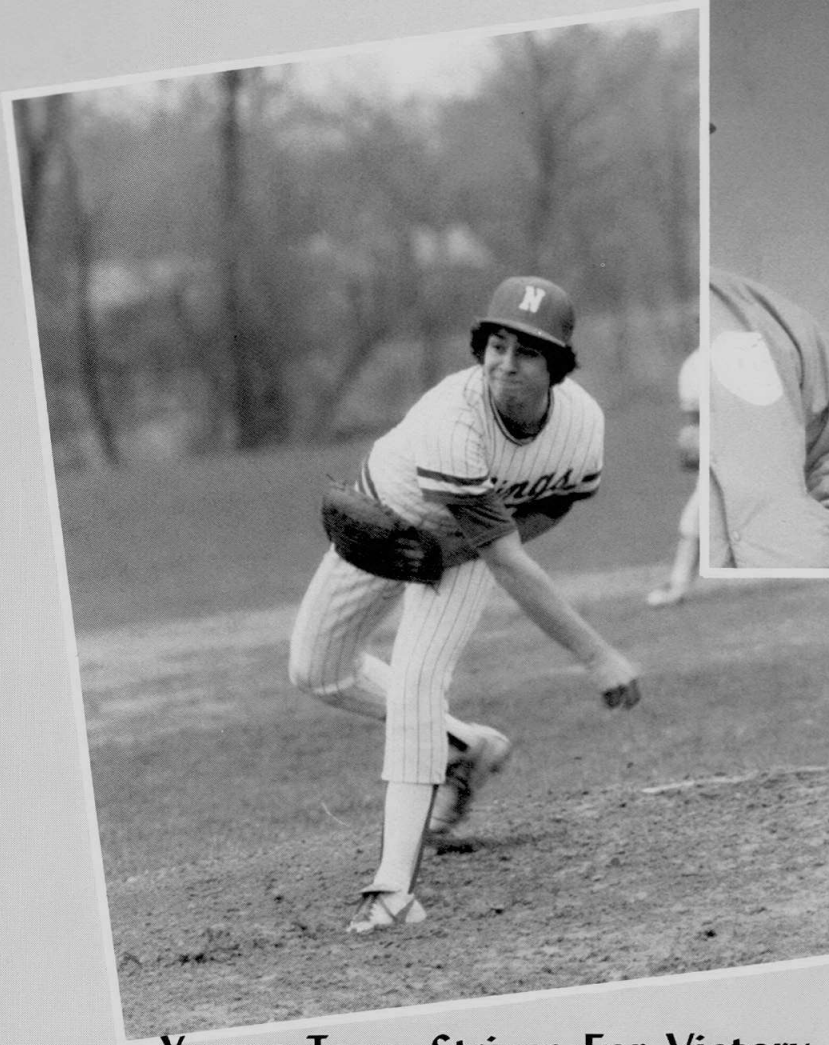

Because of his involvement in the North Suburban Conference, he was elected President of the conference for the 1979-1980 school year. Mr. Baptist has also compiled a book of all the North Suburban Conference records.

The Physical Education staff, as well as the coaching staff at North, consisting of more than 50 coaches, regards Mr. Baptist being an honest, fair, and supportive administrator, aware of their needs, and opinions. He has listened to their suggestions, and while not always agreeing with them, has been fair in his judgements. Pat Grant, P.E. teacher and coach stated, "He always considered us as professionals in our field." Mary Alfus, P.E. teacher and Coach, summarized it most accurately, "He is such a professional in what he does and the way he handles things."

This was Mr. Baptist last year at North, retiring from his position as A.D. Because of his leadership, professionalism, and consistent support of the Athletic program and staff, the following sports section of the yearbook is dedicated to Mr. George "Babe" Baptist.

Season Demands Hard Work

Young Team Strives For Victory

"If you're not involved in any way, baseball will seem dull and boring," commented Bill Henry, a former baseball coach at Niles East. "To get involved in baseball, you have to be a player, coach, or a fan." "I think the bad weather affected us mentally more than physically." Varsity Head Coach Mitch Nelson said, "We battled 20 mile per hour winds and 30 degree temperatures to pick up our first win of the season at the expense of Glenbrook South, 10-6."

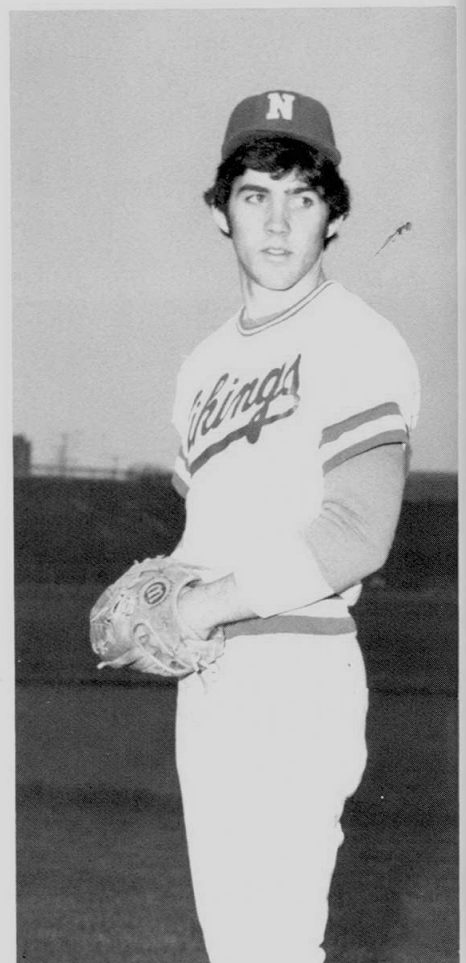

The Niles North Varsity baseball highlights of 1983 was burying Zion-Benton 18-2, and the demolishing of Libertyville 20-1. The Vikings had only two lettermen back from last year; all-conference senior Scott Comitor and senior Alan Farber.

Stuart Rhum was the most valuable player. Their season record was 6 wins and 14 losses. "This team had a better attitude and worked harder than last year's team. We want to get better, that's the key," commented Coach Nelson.

Underclass Teams Work Hard To Win

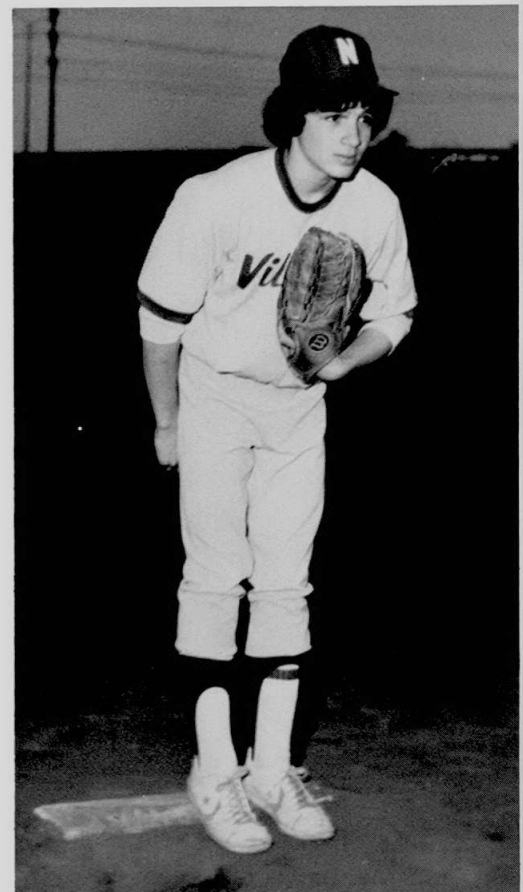

The 1983 Boys Sophomore Baseball Team, headed by Coach Mitch Stewart, finished with a winning record of 8 wins and 6 losses. Their team highlights include the defeat of Mundelein (12-3) and the slaughtering of North Chicago (16-1). "I can't wait until next year when I am on the varsity level," stated Mark Muskal, he continued, "because if we have a winning attitude, we could have a good chance of winning the conference title." The most valuable player award went to John Baker and Bob Cichowicz. The 1983 Boys Frosh A Team, led by Coach Weinburg, had a rough season, with a record of 5 wins and 9 losses. Their team highlights include the wins against Zion Benton (8-4) and Lake Forest (6-2). The most valuable player award was given to pitcher Robert Powers. The Frosh B team ended up with a winning record of 6 wins and 3 losses. Dedication Strengthens Team

Coaches, Gymnasts Work Many Hours

Dedication is what gymnastics is all about, and this is proven by the Niles North gymnastic team and coaches alike. Seymour Rifkind, who once had a shot at the Olympics and was a former Niles Township student, returned to help in the progress of fellow gymnasts.

The team worked out in the evenings to be with their coach at his only available time. The team worked many hours each day, and with the help of Coach Bill Bro, they also worked out on the weekends.

Gymnastics is not a one season sport, it must be worked at all year long. Practices may last three to four hours daily with double practices in summer. Injuries might stop an average athlete, however, Vince Rostowsky's dislocated elbow, David Goldman's broken wrist, along with Joe Cesario and Howard Zavell's knee injuries did not stop this team.

What provokes gymnasts to work out until exhaustion or injury forces them to stop? Dedication keeps them going and is truly exemplified by this team's effort.

Boys Track Team Needs More Man Power!

"We were basically a fine team and we had some very fine athletes, but our biggest problem was lack of people," commented Coach Richard Howard. The boys track team, even though they were small in number, finished the indoor track season by placing fifth in the North Suburban Conference with a four and seven overall indoor record.

Senior Carlos Gonzales went to state for the 800 meter run. A disappointment was when junior Andy Barnes left the team due to illness, as he had been a hopeful in state competition for the long jump.

This year's tennis team was neither a winning or losing one. "The team itself wasn't experienced in team play, but it got in some good practice. Soccer Camp Improves Skills

Summer Work Provides Opportunity To Develop

Over the summer, some of the girls from the soccer team went to a strenuous soccer camp held at Niles West. This camp was coed and the girls were pushed hard. According to Joanne Lee, the camp was held from six to eight each evening for two hours straight, with one fifteen minute break. "They demanded a lot from us,"

"stated Kim Pamper," but the learning was good and fun."

The girl's soccer season, as stated by team member Gina Galvan, did not have a good season, even though the girls tried hard. The coaches for the 1983 season were Coach Coulson and Coach Steark. They felt that the girls had a lot of spirit and dedication, but the reason that the season's outcome was not as good as expected was because of the inexperience of the team. Most of the players were a new addition this season. The team expects a winning season next year.

Running Towards Success

Six Members Go Down State

Working hard eventually pays off! That's how the girls of the track team felt. They worked hard daily from February to May and they proved that if something is wanted bad enough, it will be given to them, but not necessarily on a silver platter. Six of the girls went down state for various events. It all started when the girls qualified during Districts. Diane Stahlberg, Carine McCall, Doris Adler, and Janice Maxwell placed second in the 800 Meter relay.

Janice also went down state for placing first in the 200 Meter run and long jump. The fifth girl, Karol Kuehn, only a Freshman at the time, went down state for placing third in the mile while at Districts. The last girl, Colleen McIntyre, broke the record for the 800 meter. When the girls were down state, they did not finish as well as expected.

Team Sets Conference Record

Spirit And Fun Highlight Season

Grand Slam! Home Run! That's what was expected from our girls softball teams.

Last season they came through with the conference record of seven and nine, and our junior varsity was six and eight. First baseplayer Ruth Ann Pos, said that, "we had a great team and lots of spirit." Ruth Ann hopes the team will have as much spirit in future seasons. Leslie Babetch, a varsity player who played third base thought, "It was fun to be on the team, we were kept very busy."

Laura Pomerantz was on the varsity team when she was a freshman, she played center field. Laura felt, "the best part of softball working with my teammates.

Varsity Defense Victorious

Football Fails But Friendship Prevails

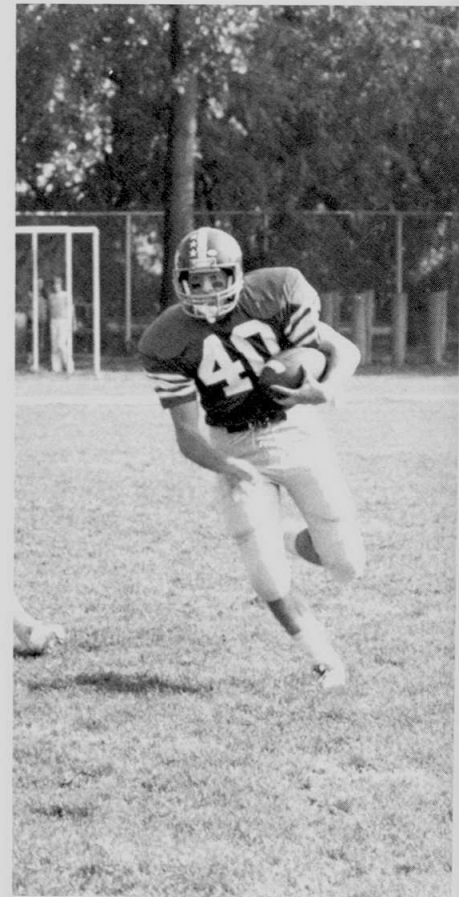

Although not living up to their expectations the 1983 Varsity Football Team enjoyed a fun season with a close group of friends. Senior Stuart Rhum added, "Even though we didn't win many games, it was a very enjoyable year, because I was with a great bunch of guys." An especially strong defense seemed to be foiled by coaching and offensive problems, but this didn't falter the teams spirit. "The school was really behind us this year, that helped a lot!" commented senior Bill Weimer. The seasons 2-7 record was summed up

Season Shows Improvement

Players Display Potential For The Future

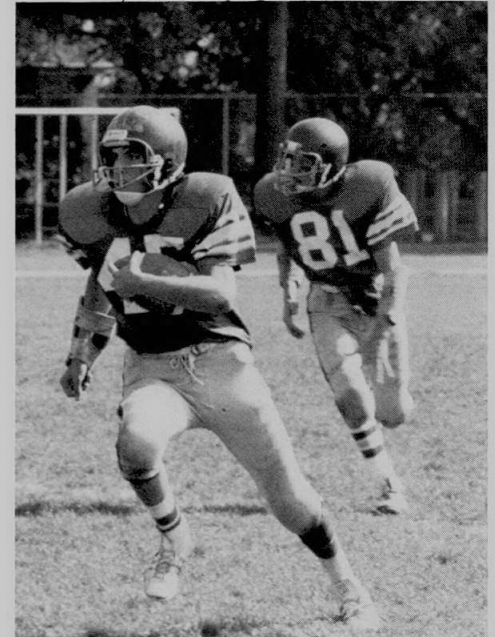

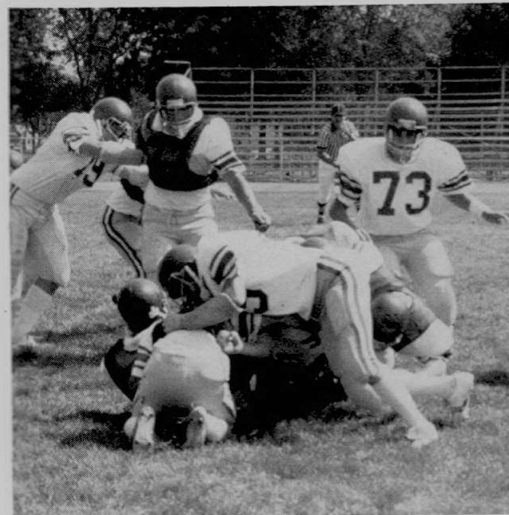

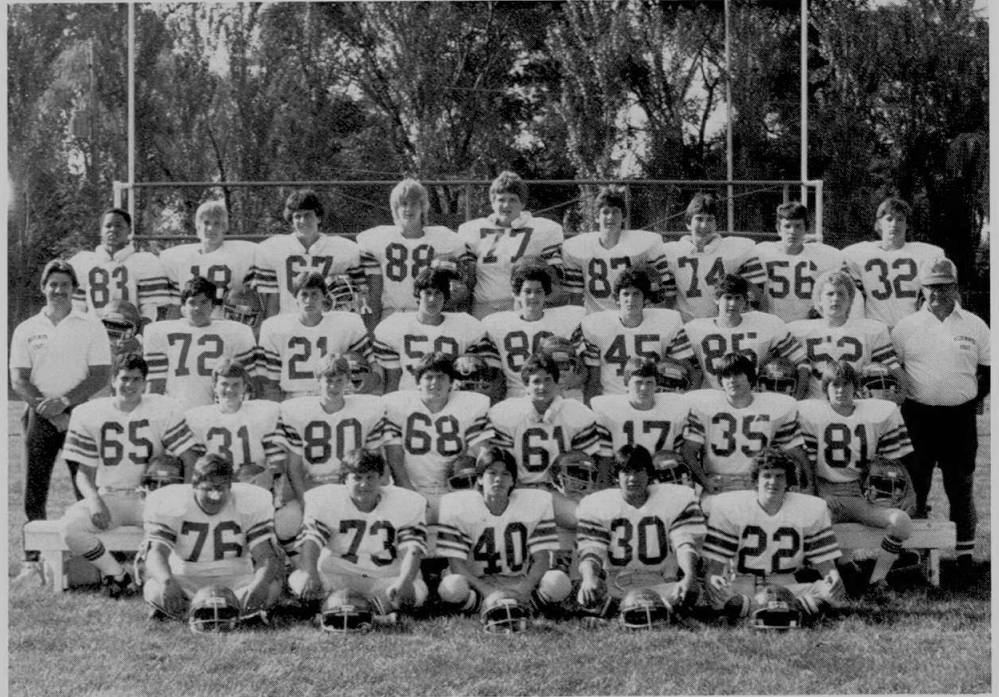

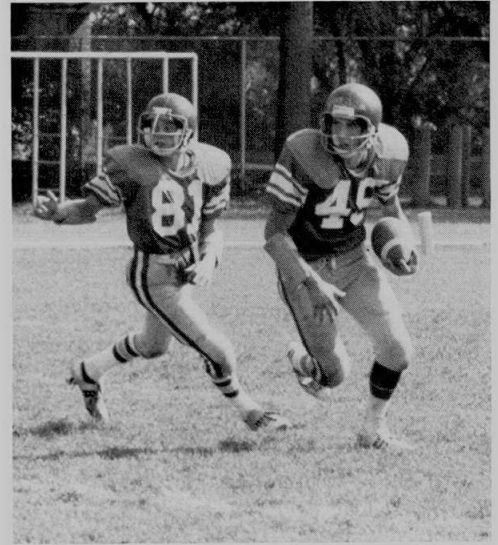

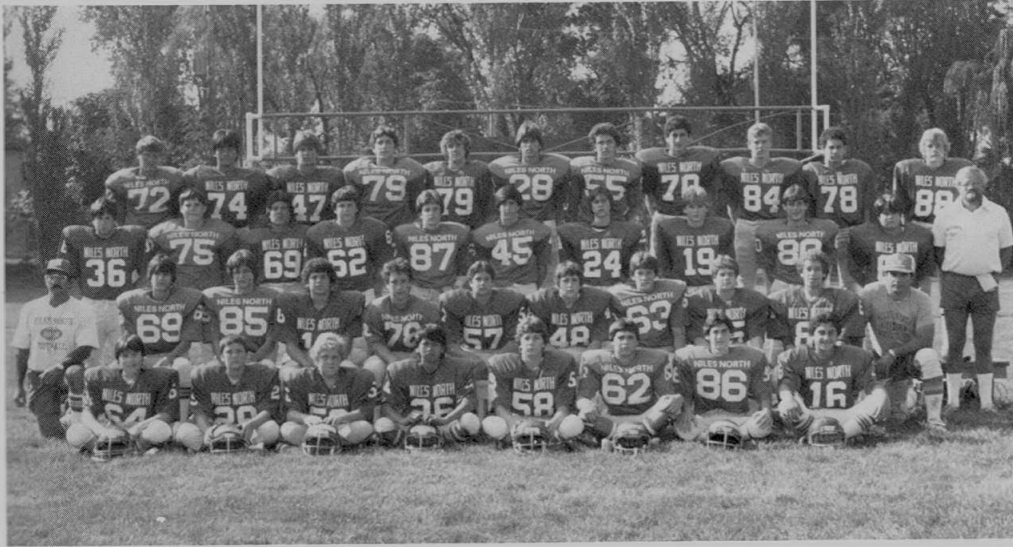

The 1983 sophomore football team had some problems using teamwork but realized its importance enough to improve toward the end of the season. Paul Willis recalls, "We had banged around in the beginning but came around in the end." With a record of 3-4-1, Demetri Pappas comments, "Our team was better than the record shows."

"The team had a lot of spirit. It was a good time to make new friends."

This year's Freshman team demonstrated success. Coached by Steve Poznansky, they had a record of 4-3-2. Freshman recalled the season with pride and enthusiasm. "We had the best freshman team in years," said Dave Hancock. "many players showed promise and potential." Not only is the glory of winning important, but the experience which leaves everlasting impressions. Steve Malloy states, "Freshman Football was a rewarding experience. Diver Places Second

This year's Girl's Swimming season was much improved over the previous years. The divers helped to improve it. Junior Diane Stahlberg placed second in Conference and set a new school record for diving.

Senior Julie Czyzewicz improved her scores. The girls' times were a lot lower this year, but weren't low enough to compare with the other schools. The Varsity team consisted of girls who were on the team previously. The freshman team did well considering it was their first year on the team. The girls hope to keep improving their scores and their placement in the conference.

Soccer Teams Need More Fans

J.V. Soccer Team Plays Second String To Varsity

The Niles North Varsity soccer team led by coaches Kmet and Weber was comprised of the more accomplished soccer players.

However, as tradition follows most Junior Varsity teams everywhere seem to receive little attention or recognition. This also held true for the Niles North Junior Varsity soccer team.

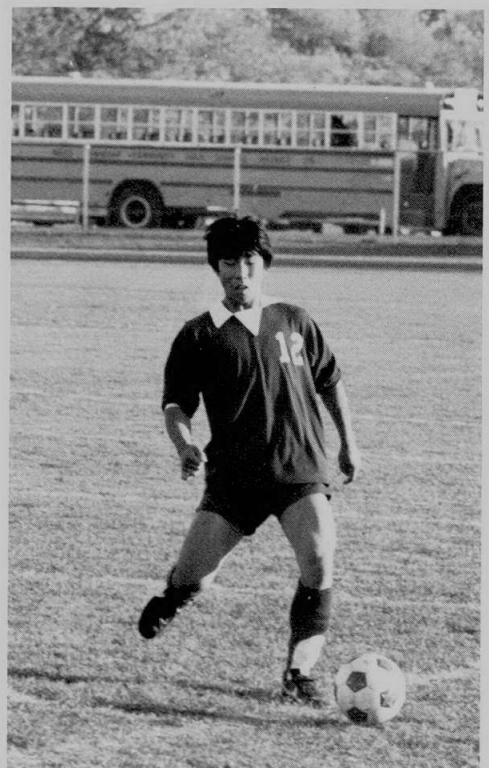

"Because our season was hindered with rain, we didn't get enough attention."

Equal time of practice was spent by both Varsity and J.V. teams. In addition the Junior Varsity players had to attend and be ready to play in any Varsity game if needed. What kept the J.V. team going was love of the sport. The Junior Varsity team this year suffered while during most of their games it rained. Also, they started their practices in early September and received no respect.

Something Was Missing

Teams Need More Fans

Although the Junior Varsity soccer team did not get as much attention as the Varsity team Freshman and Sophomore teams were left out in the cold with almost no spectators. Soccer a fairly new sport in America was fastly becoming very popular sport. Even at Niles North. The start of more boys going out for soccer, which never would have happened a few years ago. Even the start of a girls soccer team. However, in the stands there left something to be desired such as more spectators. Niles North Sophomore and Freshman teams handled their seasons fairly well, but they did not receive enough support from fans. Which possibly might have played a great factor in some important Sophomore and Freshman soccer games.

"We played fairly well, but we wished we had more fans attending the games."

A Building Season

Working Hard To Improve

"This year our team worked hard to improve together," Eve Levin, captain of the girl's tennis team, enthusiastically stated. This year was mainly a building season for the team, as many seniors graduated last year and new team members joined. Through many drills and hard work, the girls strived to improve. "As the year went on, you could see the results of our practicing had paid off," Eve commented.

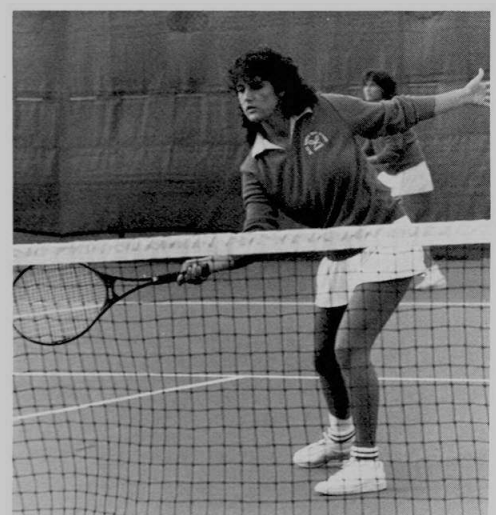

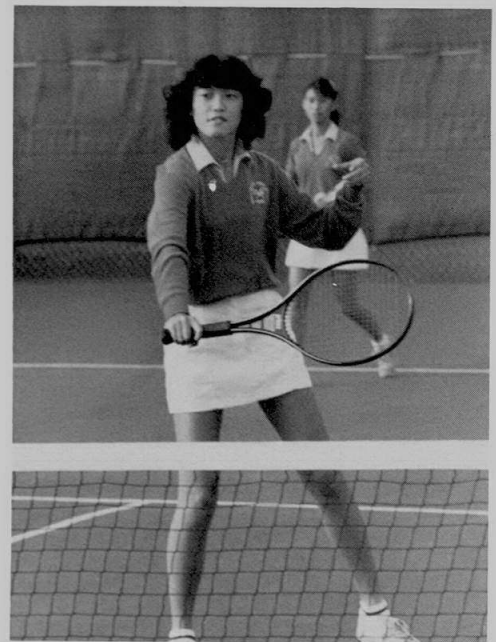

"This season gave us a chance to work hard together and become good friends."

Besides the new members that joined the team this season. Varsity Coach Frank Sacks and Junior Varsity Coach Allison Horwitz, instructors at the Touhy Tennis Club, were new additions to the team. They spent a lot of time conditioning the team to help them improve their skills.

The season ended with Varsity 5-9 and Junior Varsity 5-8. Eve Levin was the captain of the team, and Stacey Pergakes won the Most Valuable Player Award. "Our team worked great together, we were very close and got to be good friends," Eve said, "I think we've improved a lot and will have a great team next year!"

Two Members Make All Conference

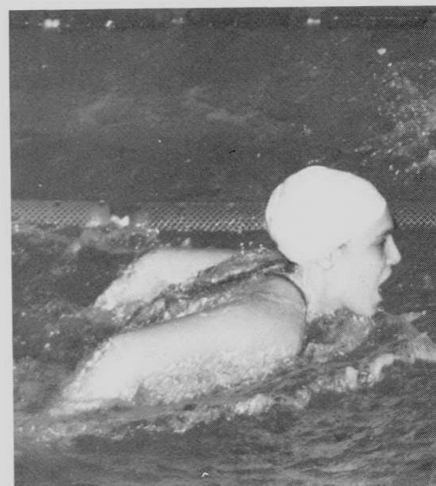

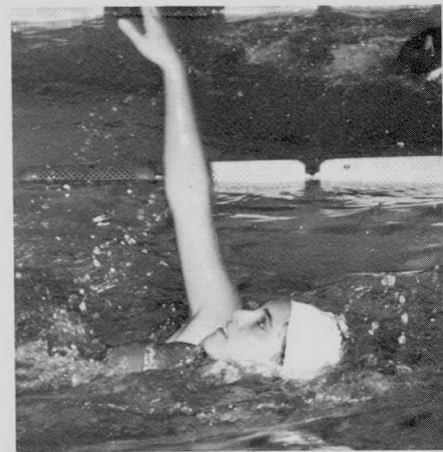

Despite their 0-11 record, the Niles North Varsity golf team's season had a bright side. Seniors Paul Hirsch and John Cleary made all-conference, making a headstart for the team. "They really tried hard", said Coach Rusk. Hirsch was voted team captain and Cleary was also team MVP. The Frosh-Soph team also improved, scoring a victory against Mundelein. The teams worked on improving the fairway approach, since it was one of their weak spots. Sophomore Scott Rickspoone responded by saying that even though they had a poor record, they did have enthusiasm. Although the Frosh-Soph and Varsity's combined record was only 1-21, all the golfers tried hard and had fun.

"Our times improved near the end of the season, but so did other schools."

Volleyball Teams Do Not Meet Expected Achievement

Bumping, setting, and serving the ball, all terms that were set in motion by the three volleyball teams. The varsity team set with high goals, finished lower than expected. They ended with a 4-16 conference record. This was not caused by the lack of talent on the team, but by the absence of experience and consistency expected of the varsity team.

The junior varsity team played well and ended with a 10-6 record and placed second in conference. Sophomore Laura Pomerantz stated, "Our team had a better winning strategy, than last year's team."

The freshman team, with this being their first year in playing together had a winning strategy. Stated freshman Koula Kalogeros, "We really worked well together as a team, and we hope that most of us will join the J.V. team to continue our winning abilities together." This team ended up with a 12-4 record and also placed second in the conference. Members from both the junior varsity and freshman teams agree that their toughest opponent was Libertyville.

New this year, was the addition of a new coach. Coach Alfus had also retired, from coaching varsity, so Coach Smith took over. This in turn left the J.V. open, which Coach Busch took over.

Running The Distance

Girls Work For Deserved Recognition

1983 was the fifth year Girls Cross Country has been a recognized girls sport in the state of Illinois. With that came the responsibilities and dedication by coaches and team alike, which are required by other recognized teams like softball and basketball.

Cross Country is one of the toughest individual sports that any male or female could participate in. Training is a year long activity, running many miles a day. The girls run through forest preserves, parks, along the lake front, and other rough terrain. Senior Karen Keuhn along with junior Doris Adler and all-conference runners-sophomore Karol Keuhn and junior Colleen McIntyre help to form the backbone of this team.

There is something special about each and every Cross Country team member. They seem to be driven by some special force that only they know of, something inside them that makes them run for themselves, rather than for the fan fare and the spotlight as other athletes sometimes do. This team is not only a very dedicated team, but also a very special one who deserves much recognition.

Varsity Team Works Hard

Good Season For Young Team

Through much dedication and hard work the 1984 Niles North Varsity Basketball team improved with more wins this season than last year. Conference rivals Warren and Mundelein made the season look difficult and challenging. After playing twenty games of the season the North record was 10 and 10. The coaching experience and easy rapport of coaches Pete Christie and Mitch Stewart, with the athletes, made the year an unforgettable experience.

"Basketball was fun with the encouragement of our coaches," commented Mike Elowe. The team worked out daily and the effort paid off. Important games were lost by only a few points. The starting team included two juniors Paul Fabbri and Mark McIntosh and one returning varsity player Ramil Mendoza. Consistent effort gave the team a season to be proud of.

Underclass Teams Look For Victories

Players Have Disappointing Season

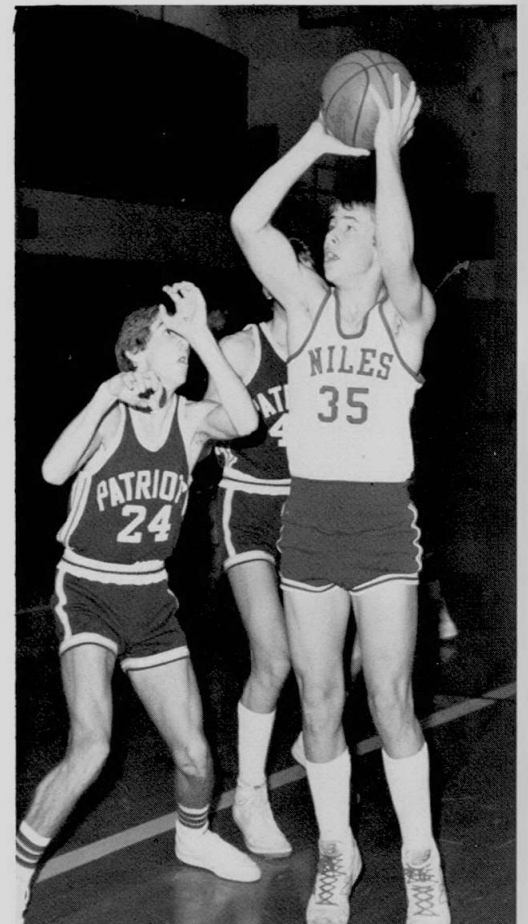

This year's edition of the Niles North Freshman and Sophomore Boy's Basketball teams hoped to collect many victories. According to Coach Houlihan, "Both of the Freshman teams have showed great improvement since the beginning of the season". Some of the outstanding players of the Freshman A & B teams include Jim Baker, Josh Brustin, Adam Fleischer, Jim Foss, Dave Hancock, William Ramirez, and David Schultz.

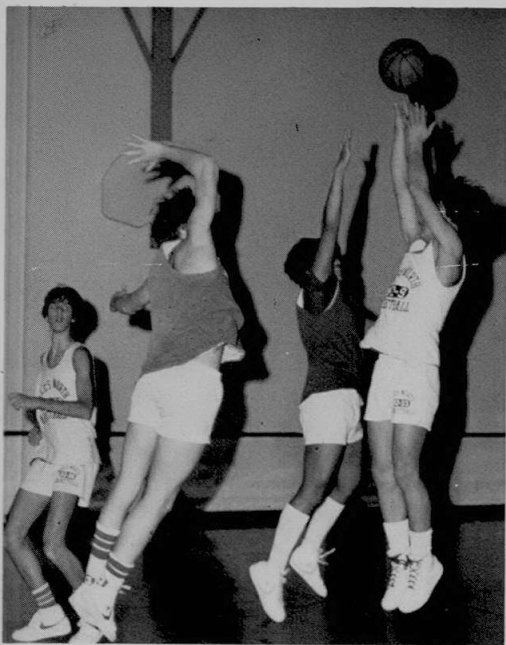

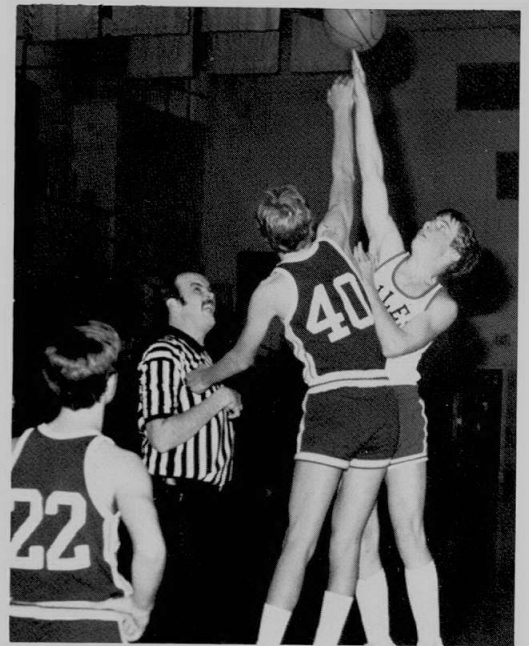

"The team let us learn and at the same time have a lot of fun."

Some of the team's goals were to learn the fundamentals and to have fun. The Sophomore team had a disappointing season, but they did win against some tough conference rivals. Coach Frank Bostic stated that the team had the talent to be contenders, but they just could not score the points. Some of the outstanding players of the team include Mitchell Goldstein, Ken Meister, Tim O'Connell, Robert Powers, David Rubens, Jo Soco, Ken Sterling, and Charles Vuckovich, and Ed Schenk.

Swimming With Spirit

Individuals Form A Team

"A young and spirited bunch," that is what the 1983-84 Boy's Swimming Team was, according to their coaches, Joseph Rusk and Charles Balciulis. Although this may have been a relatively young team, they seemed to have come together and worked well together.

This year's team was made up of a majority of sophomores and juniors. Under the leadership of Captain Howard Borchew, a senior, the Vikings were always up for every meet. Along with Borchew were other team leaders. Junior Stuart Bernsen swam the 200 Individual Medley and Freestyle, and Sophomore David Noe, who as a freshman broke two freshman records and is on the verge of breaking varsity records in long distance races, are always involved in helping the team in both practices and meets.

The major goal of a swimmer is to set personal records and to be able to beat one's own fastest time. Although a swimmer is racing against someone else, the motivation comes from within. The only way the swimmers can improve upon their times is by hard and grueling practices. Most swimmers swim year-round many are in clubs during the summer. During the school year practices are held, starting at 6:20 a.m. for an hour, and again at 2:30 p.m. until well into the evening. With this type of dedication, all of our swimmers will become winners where it counts — inside.

Young Team Comes Through Strong

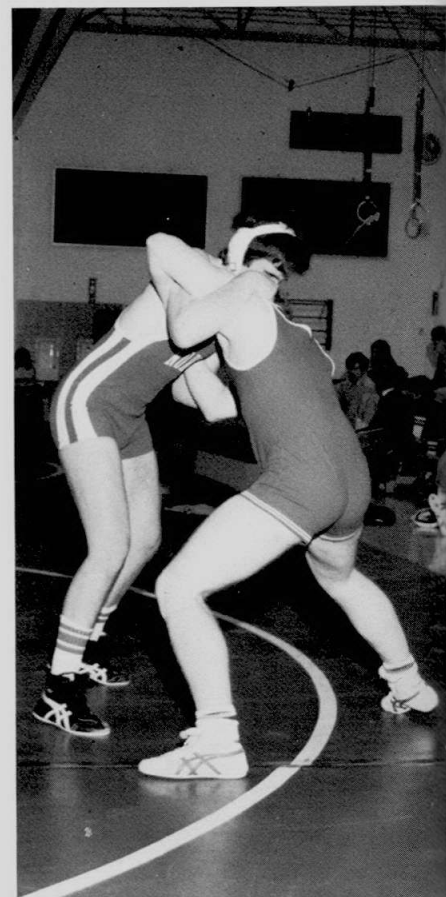

Team Members Show Great Dedication

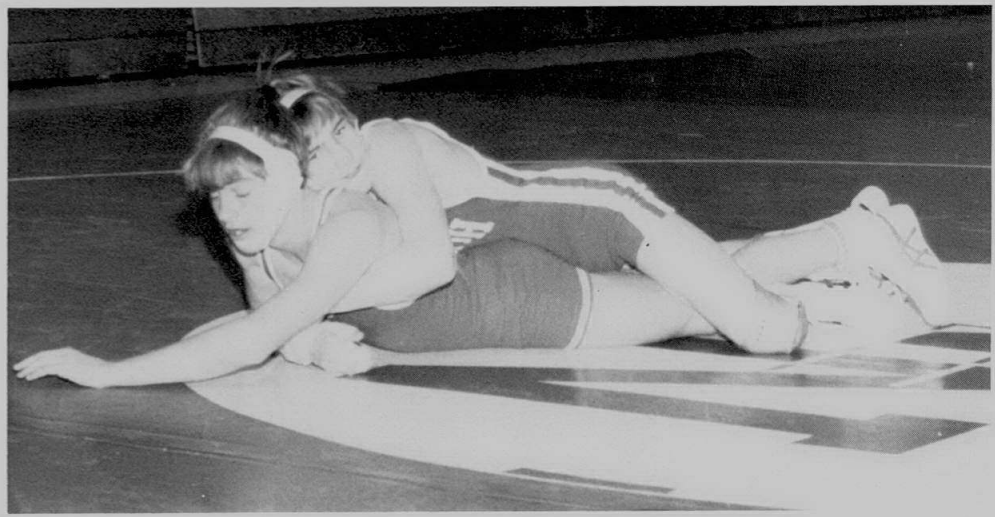

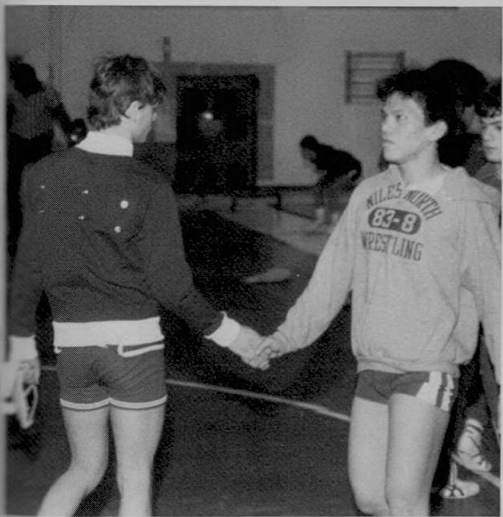

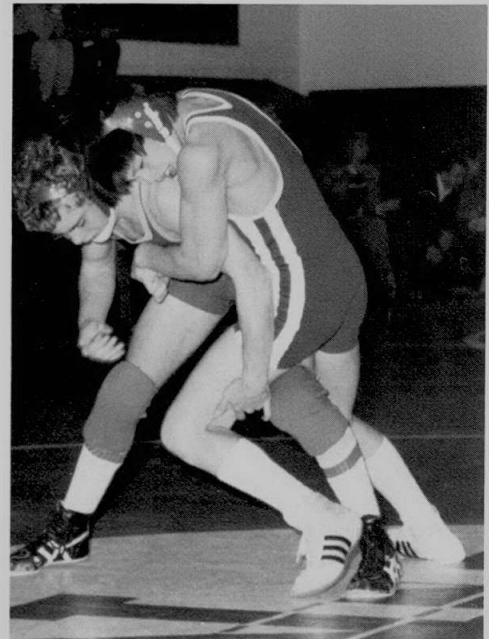

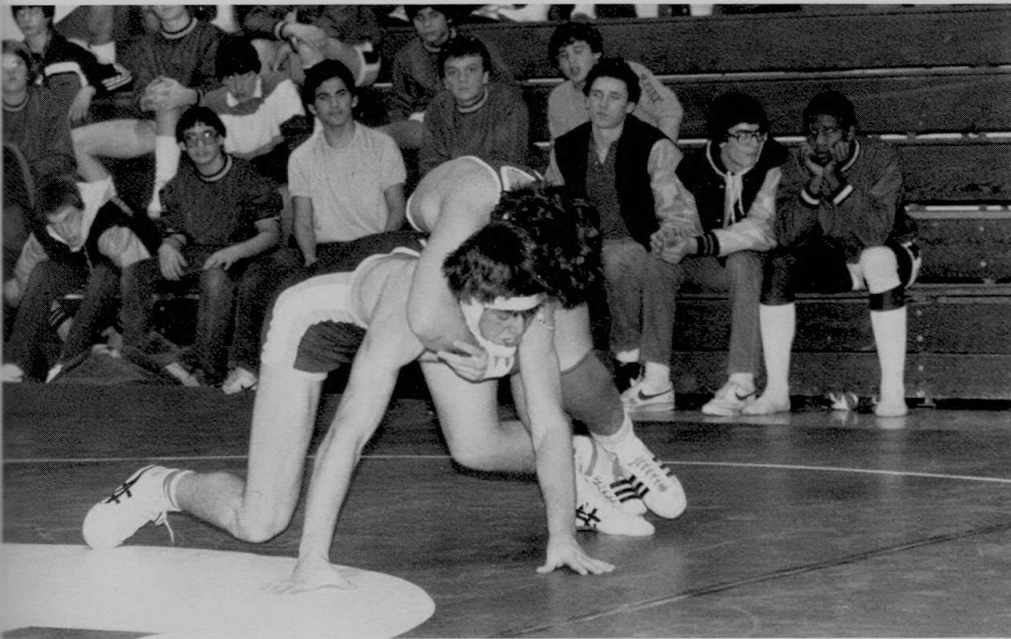

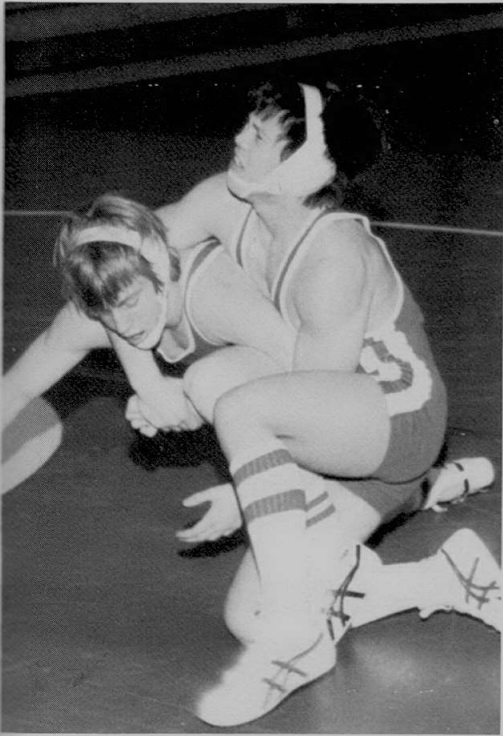

The Niles North Varsity Wrestling team was a team made up of many students putting forth effort and skill. The team was made up of all grades. It had two Seniors, four Juniors, five Sophomores, and one freshman. This year the team had a overall good season record, which was eleven and nine. This year in conference meets Howard Spiro placed third and Olen Johnsen placed fourth. This year Coach Steve Poznansky stated "Even through only two Seniors wrestled varsity, the team won more meets than they did with four." This year the team brought home three trophies.

"I feel that we did very well for a young team, and if we keep trying, we can improve greatly."

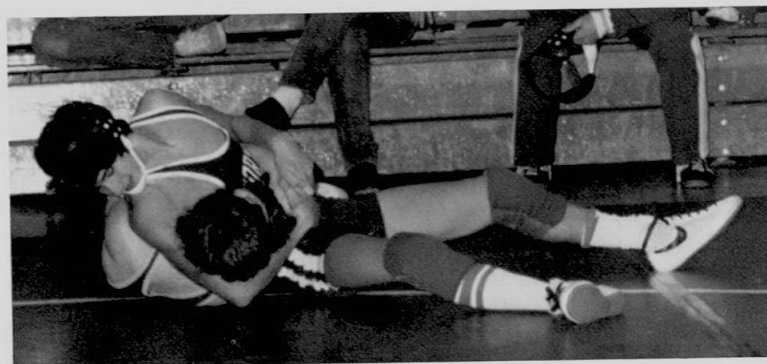

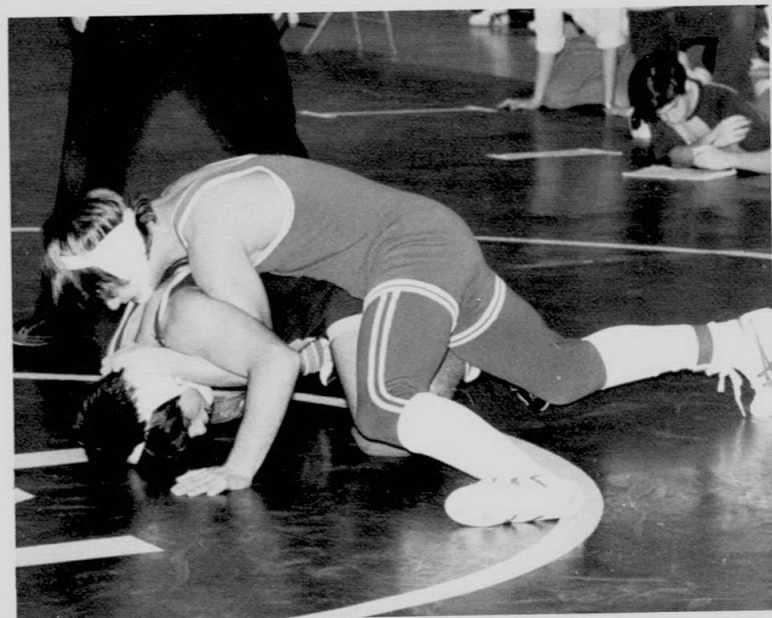

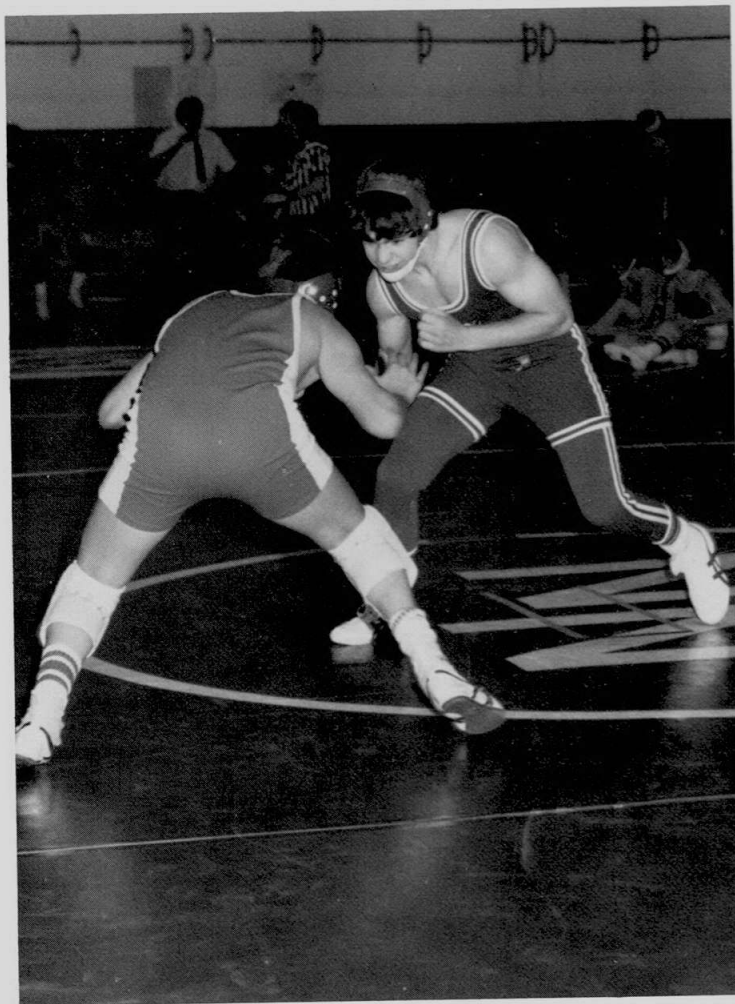

Junior Joel Feinstein said "This years season was demanding, but fun!" The team started out with more people then it end up. The people who stayed on showed the school, what love and dedication is to a sport.

Wrestling Up At North

Young Wrestlers Show Their Might

Freshman wrestlers had a 9-4 overall record this year and a 4-4 record in the conference. For most of the freshman, it was their first experience with wrestling. The coaches felt that great improvements were made on all levels. Their efforts were highlighted by the records they broke, whether they were someone else's, or their own. Some freshman record breakers were Jeff Rasof, John Leja, and Allan Migdal.

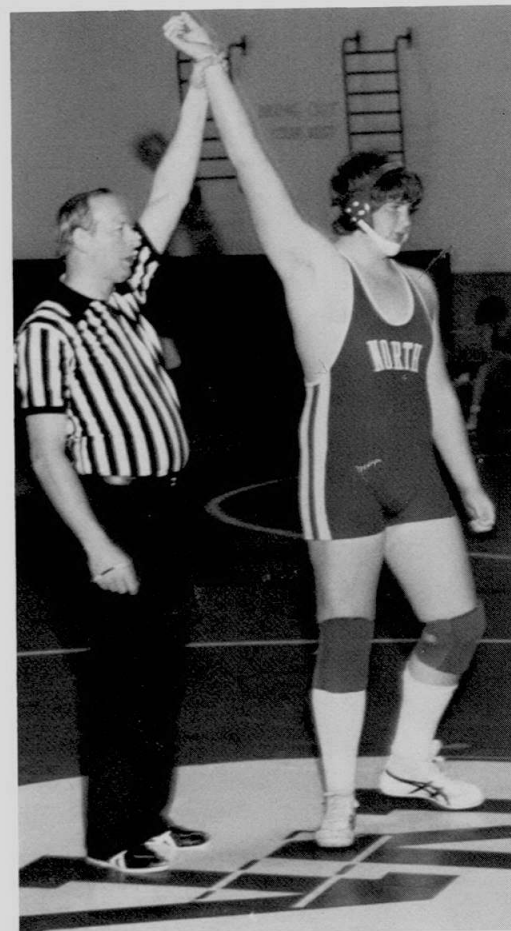

Coach Dennis Fickes stated, "If these wrestlers stay with the program, wrestling at Niles North can only improve."

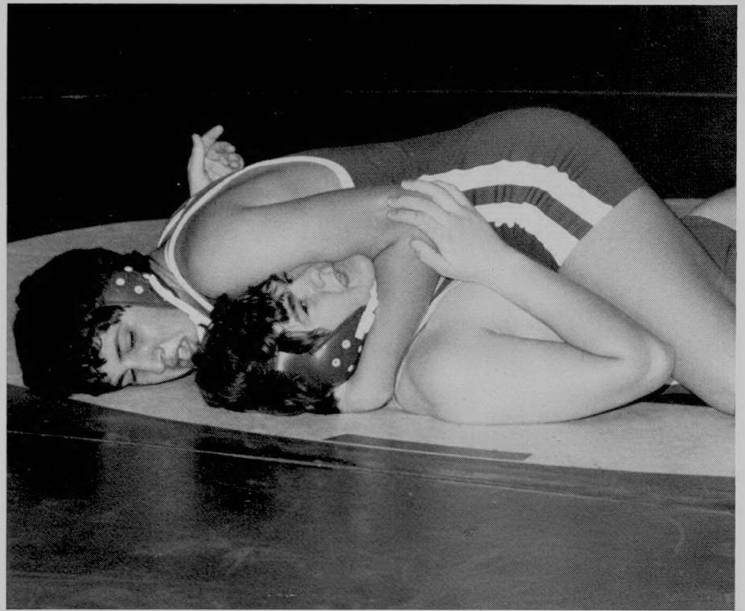

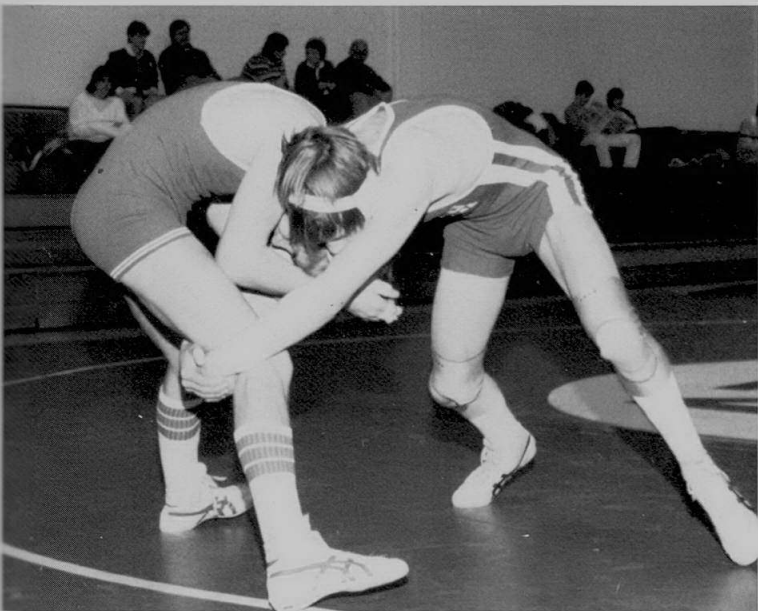

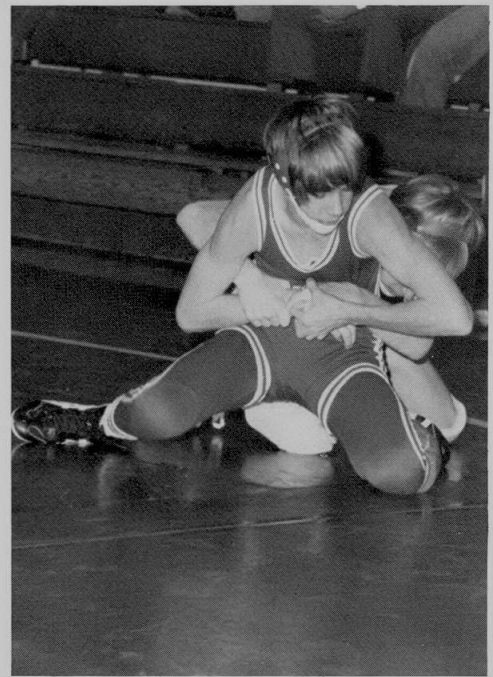

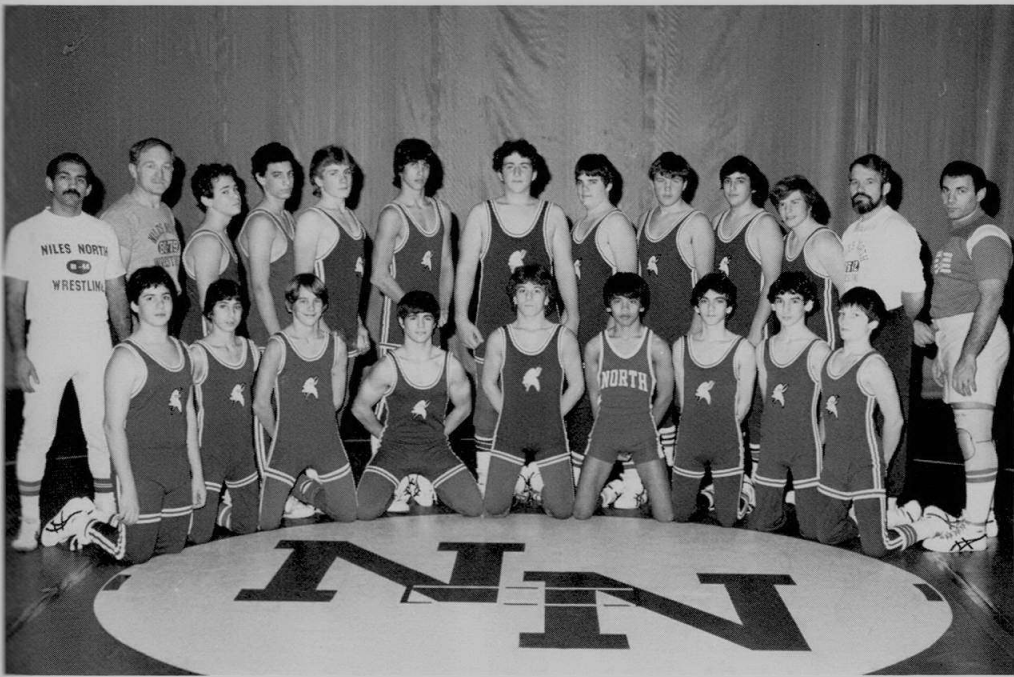

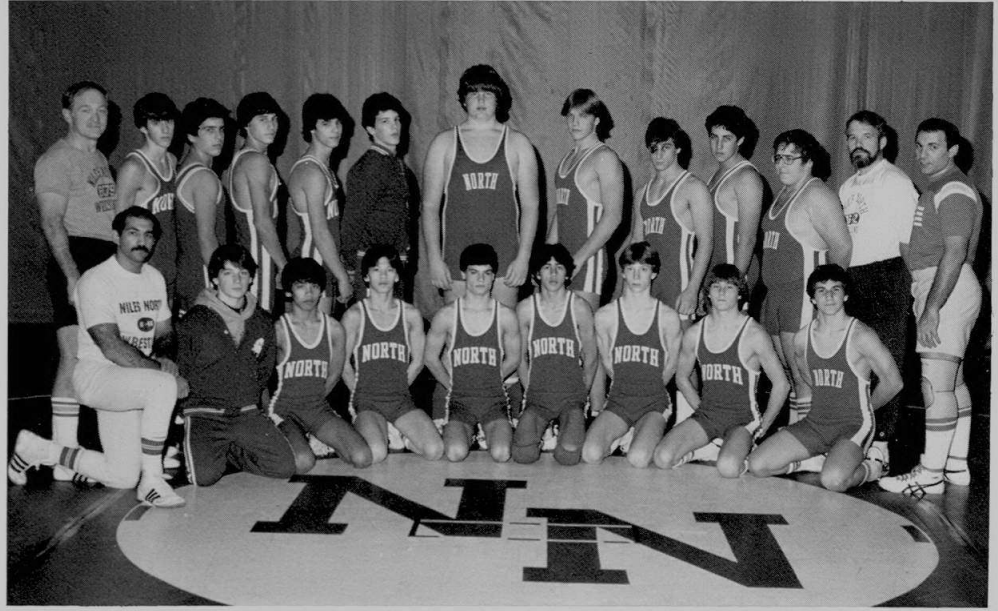

"You have to have the will to win."

The J.V. record was 13-3-1 and they placed third in conference. The young team included underclassman in all but two spots. "If the team was older or more experienced, we may have done better," commented Paul Willis. With practice and experience, individuals improve as does the team as a whole. Coach Al Poznansky optimistically adds, "If these kids continue to work hard, they may be undefeated next season."

Girls Gymnast Have High Hopes

Look For Top Placement In Conference

The Niles North Girls Gymnastics team commenced to a good start this season. Three of the top five tumblers had returned to the squad, making a strong team which should contend for the North Suburban Conference title. One large problem the team had to deal with were the "club-kids" head Coach Tom Sokalski commented.

the junior varsity level were gymnasts Tracy Kurtz, Jenny Weimer, and Chris Tichy. All three are expected to contribute greatly to the varsity in 1984. Coach Sokalski described the team as good quality, hard working, and conscientious girls. "We practice vigorously for three hours a day, five days a week," he said. Coach Sokalski hoped the team would finish in second place.

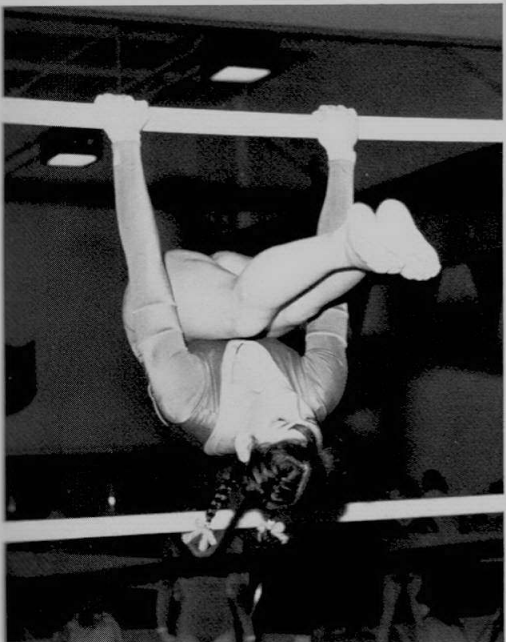

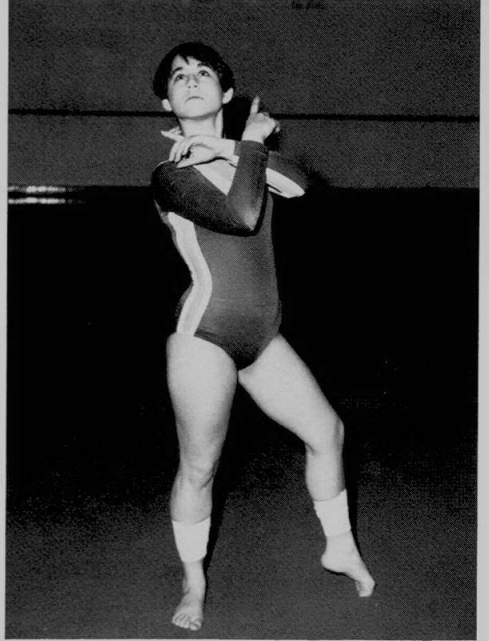

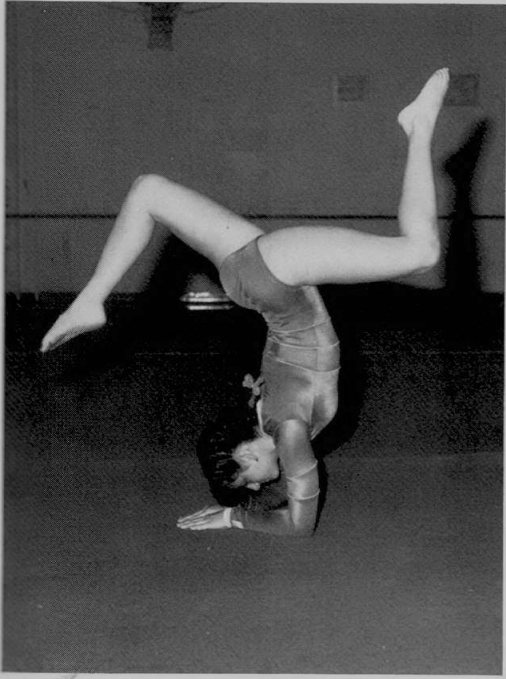

"We are probably the hardest working team in the school."

A club-kid is a student which has taken years of gymnastics classes before entering high school gymnastics.

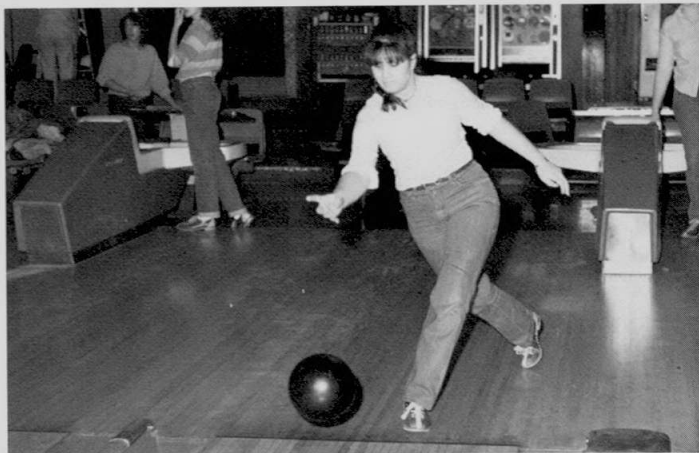

Sokalski is very proud of the athletes' efforts in their competition. Some of the top girl gymnasts are juniors Beth Lucas and Sue Hundrieser and sophomore Jill Rocklin, and Lisa Harada, who has done well on floor exercise and beam this season. Serving their freshman year on

Bowlers Hopes Are High

Team Goes For Conference Placement

"Each girl who bowls for North finds the sport interesting. They always know we have a chance and will never give up." This was just the case this year with the Niles North Bowling Team, as stated by head coach Carol Wellman. Some goals endeavored for this year were to take first place at the Niles West District meet, and as a team, go to the state tournament;

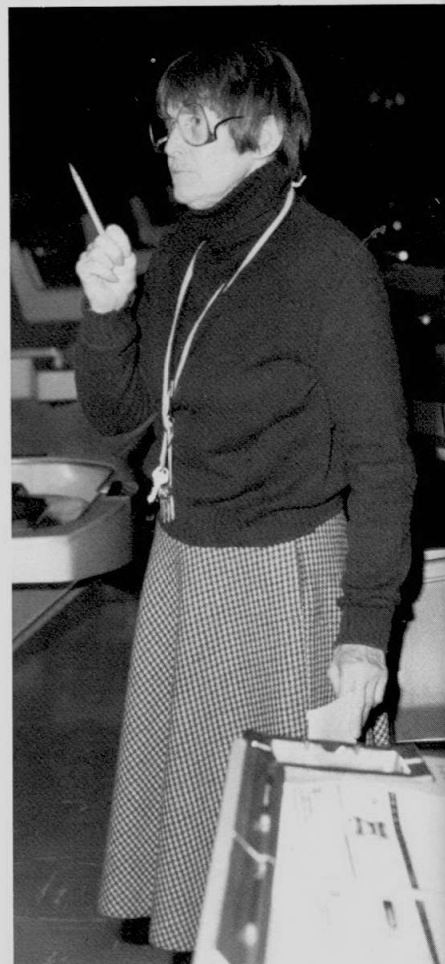

set was, that though it all they held some of the lowest averages per game at the initial day of practices, they never stopped improving," Wellman said. At the end of the season almost all the team members who practiced regularly improved their averages by 20-30 pins per game.

4 Years Of Work Pays Off

Outstanding Athletes Recognized

The outstanding senior athletes at Niles North dedicated themselves to be the best that they could be in their sport. Athletics take both a great deal of time and energy from the student athlete. Besides ones school work, there must be time to work out and stay in condition for their sports.

"Athletics has made high school more eventful and interesting."

For most senior athletes, their senior year was their fourth year in a sport. That meant four years of practicing long hours after school and also on weekends, with games many times on schooldays and at night.

Niles North gave no special treatment to their athletes inside the classroom. All athletes had to be able to complete their requirements to be able to participate in an extra-curricular sport. Most of the outstanding senior athletes were leaders in the classroom as well as sport.

To become outstanding in anything including sports, one must put in the time to practice and sharpen one's skills. No athlete can be ready for the big game without practice. These outstanding athletes practiced their sport year round and even practiced one sport while participating on another team. Through their dedication to their sports and themselves, these students have earned the respect of fellow peers as fine athletes.

The quality of a school depends upon the quality and dedication of its faculty. Niles North High School is fortunate to have an experienced, well-educated and committed group of teachers, many of whom have spent most of their professional career in the Niles Township district.

Each teacher invests daily in the curriculum, presentation, and record keeping of his/her classroom, but also makes an emotional investment in the lives of his/her students. "I was told in college that when you assume the role of a teacher, you are in effect saying 'Be like me,'" commented one faculty member, she continued, "I have always tried to remember this thought in all my dealings with students."

The commitment to education is aided by the administration and support personnel. Administrators help design curriculum, schedule classes, and organize budgets. Their decision-making responsibilities affect each student every day. Clerical workers, maintenance workers, and food service personnel help to make Niles North a friendly, healthy, and efficient place to spend the school day.

LEADERS AND WORKERS

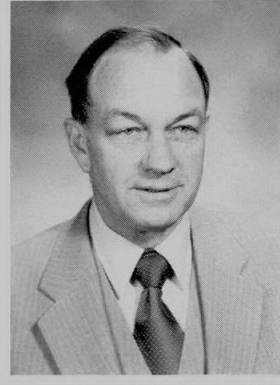

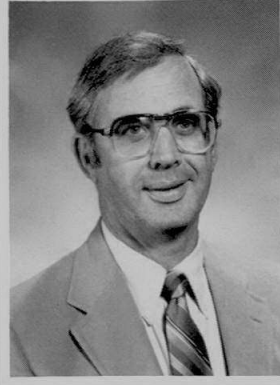

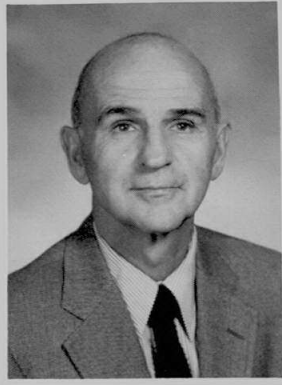

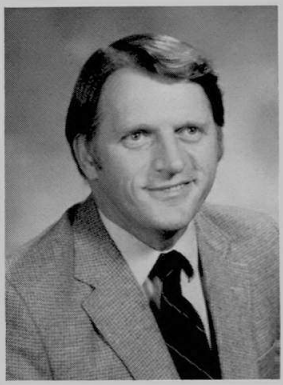

The duties of Niles North High School administrators vary, but they all provide the management which helps the school system operate in an organized and efficient manner.

All the directors shared the same common responsibilities. Staffing was a primary and very important task each year. Each faculty member was given five assignments and an assigned time of day in a resource room. Clerical staff must also be assigned and supervised. Faculty members were observed, evaluated by Directors, and given feed back on their classroom and overall performance.

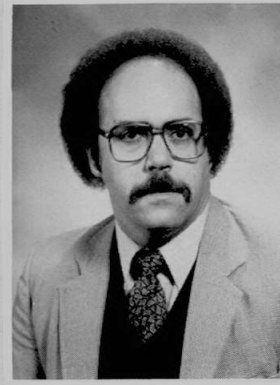

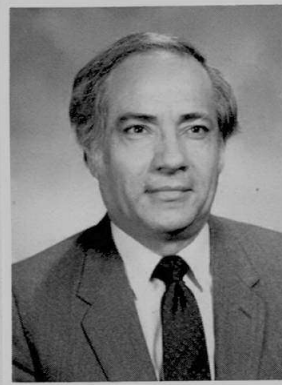

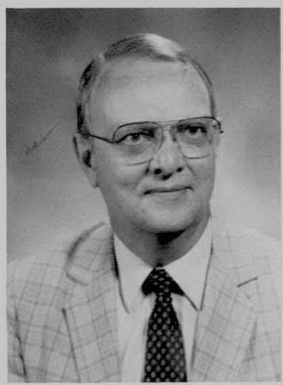

Besides staffing and evaluation, Directors monitored the course offerings in their area. Course materials had to be updated, and enrollment must be followed carefully to determine the number of courses offered. Meeting times for classes were carefully arranged to avoid overlap and conflict. Each Director controlled the budget for his department, and allocated materials and supplies to staff members and students.

Each director also supervised extra-curricular activities within the school, and Directors shared the responsibilities of attending all school athletic events, concerts, dances, and other activities.

Directors were available to students if problems occurred in their department or questions arose regarding classes. These administrators often meet with students in the Spring to explain course offerings in their department. That increased each student's options were registering for Fall classes.

INNOVATION AND LEARNING

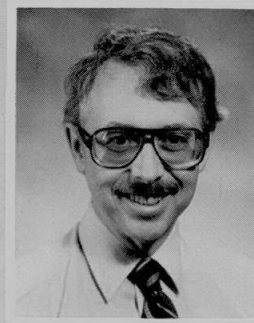

Math is comparable to a large puzzle waiting to be solved. Many students at Niles North are taking more than enough classes to solve this puzzle.

Niles North High School only requires one year of math for graduation requirements, but more than half of the graduating class will take beyond the requirement. The class of '83 had 66% of the class take more than one year of math. Math teachers at North enjoy teaching and find it very challenging working with the students. A lot of teachers find it very rewarding to them when they see their students learning.

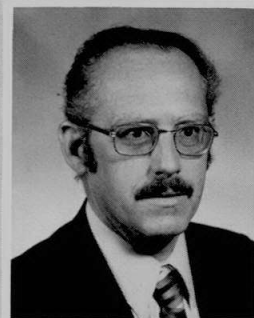

During the past year, Dr. Morris set up an event that is new at North. This event was the college professors day. Visiting professors came from various colleges to lecture to all levels of math classes. Students were given the advantage of discovering what it is like to be taught math on the college level.

Dr. Morris wishes that in the future the math staff would agree on a standard grading method. Presently, each teacher may make their own grading system and students are confused with grades, when one teacher has a complex system and another teacher has a less difficult system.

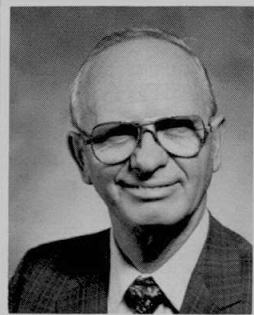

Mr. George Pryma, who is a math teacher at North, is often nominated as the FAVORITE teacher by senior students. Mr. Pryma is greatly involved in the computer science program. When there are computer workshops at different colleges in the area, Mr. Pryma usually attends them. Niles North is fortunate to have such a large computer program, offering both beginning and advanced computer programming classes. Niles North is presently one of the only schools offering this advanced course.

Changes played an important role in the 1983-84 English department. According to Dr. Hawkins, department head, the changes began with a mass analysis of the freshman program. This will be the first time the high school and the junior highs in the district work together on a program like this. Dr. Hawkins began to meet with teachers who seemed very optimistic toward the program. In this new program, 75% of the work will be mandatory in all English courses, allowing the teachers to use the remaining 25% to teach what they choose. The students will benefit most as they will have the opportunity regardless of which section they are studying. Dr. Hawkins stated, "What is as inspiring is shaping the characters and developing the knowledge of future generations."

Another important program is the Foreign Language program at North. This outstanding program introduces students to new languages, cultures, and customs from around the world through the foreign language classes. During a student's first year in a foreign language, the student learns the basic skills needed to properly use that language. The basic skills taught are pronunciation, reading, writing, and listening and understanding the language. Besides the basic skills of the language learned in the classroom, a foreign language also helps students to better understand and use the English language.

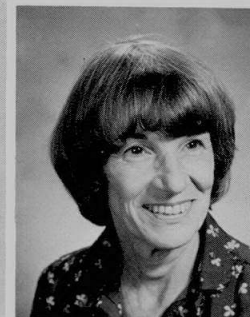

RESOURCES FOR STUDENTS

The Learning Material Center (LMC) is filled with many resources. There are thirty to forty thousand books, and approximately 125 periodicals, along with films, tapes, pictures, and even college information. The resources keep increasing every year. Besides the learning materials, the library also has a freshman orientation program to introduce all new students to its benefits, and teachers can request special programs for their classes.

An excellent staff helps to administer the LMC. In addition to Mrs. Palansky, the head librarian, there are four media specialists, six supportive staff members, and six to seven student assistants. All the librarians are certified teachers, and most have a masters degree in library science. The LMC is improving all the time in order to make its resources more valuable and current to the students needs. Outdated materials are removed to make room for new books, magazines, and films.

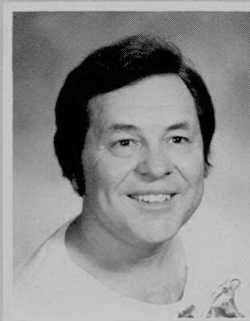

What lies in store for the future? Librarians are already attending workshops in order to learn on the use of computers for use in the library. They are hoping to use computers for circulation, and in the future will have a computerized card catalog for the use of all students and faculty members.

Artists brushes, easels, pencils, and paints need not be thought of as tools for drawing and painting, instead they may be thought of as keys to the future. The Art Department had a variety of courses that began with Art Foundations, a course which taught the elements of art, line, shape, color, texture, and shape.

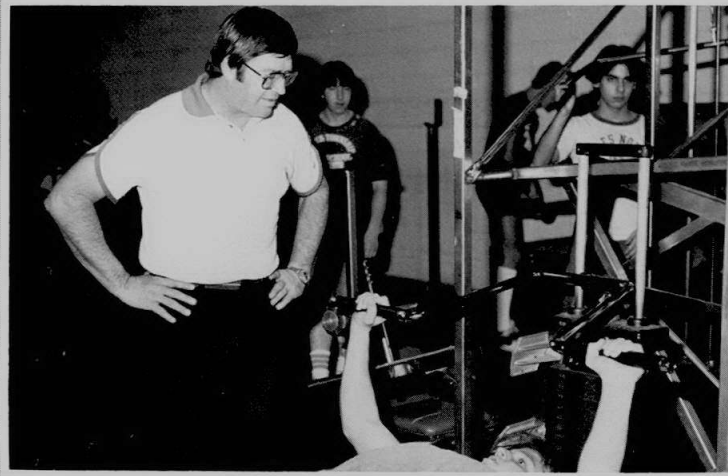

For students involved in the Art Department, "It gives them a better appreciation and understanding of the world around them; they look at things from a different perspective. It can also be a good confidence builder, showing that they can do something," commented Mr. Thomas Giles, director of the Fine Arts Department, he continued, "for those who were not involved, they are missing a lot, and many may never find their hidden talents."

The Art Club, sponsored by Ilene Zuckerman, is an activity encouraged by the Art Department. Members of the club get together once a week after school. One of their tasks was to maintain a rotating art gallery of students' art work. The exhibits were changed every month, and the work was displayed in the hall offices. There was also the annual Art Show, which displayed the work of students from Niles North as well as the work of students from Golf, Old Orchard, East Prairie, and Oakview Junior High Schools in the Niles Township District.

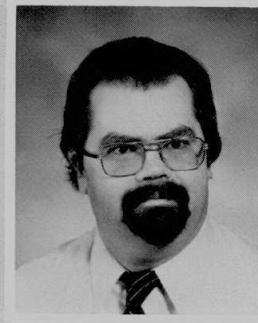

OPTIONS AND DECISIONS

For a student to receive a drivers license, they must learn many basic driving skills. The Niles North Drivers Education course is considered one of the best driver education courses in Illinois. When compared to a private driving school, Niles North offered more to the potential driver.

There were various classroom projects and movies that were seen. Actual driving experience was provided by range, where students were taught the basic maneuvering skills and behind-the-wheel, where the student participated in actual on the road experiences. At the end of the semester, the students were rewarded not by good grades, but by receiving their blue slips, which allowed the student to get their formal drivers license.

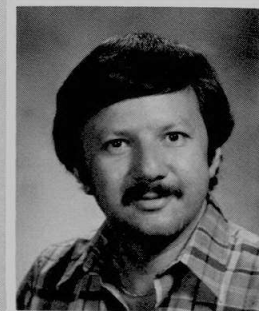

When students choose their courses, they have many decisions to make. One decision was what kind of physical education class to take. Niles North offered students a variety of different classes. Many students decided on the regular gym classes, but other signed up for the leaders P.E. class, where students actually had a chance to assist with gym classes; or Life Saving was another choice students had. Upon completion of this course, the students could become certified as life savers. A Co-Educational gym class was also offered to students, where both male and females participated in class together. With these options, students had the choice to take a gym class that suited them best.

Close to 600 exceptional children in District 219 receive some degree of special educational service. Two of these programs are the Individualized Instruction Center (I.I.C.) and the Center for Individualized Curriculum (C.I.C.).

Walking into room D106, a person would see six sub-rooms made up of partitions. The six rooms house the six I.I.C. teachers at Niles North. These teachers provide academic assistance and emotional support to approximately 240 students. According to Bill Weiss, I.I.C. and C.I.C. director, "This program alleviates the frustration of a student having trouble with his or her classes." A student who is placed in this program is assigned to teacher who they see everyday at a specified time. This time is worked into the students schedule, so they can receive help with class work they are having trouble with. "Not only do I get help on school work, but I also have someone to talk to if I have a problem or if I want to talk," commented a student enrolled in this program.

"C.I.C. enables students to get a High School diploma. Many of the students in the program might have dropped out of school because of frustrations with out this special help," stated Mr. Weiss. Students are enrolled in standard classes where they are grouped in small classes according to their needs. Also a part of this program is a vocational experience. Mr. Mark Recker, C.I.C. Prevocational Director, helps students find jobs they are interested in. "This prepares the students for work after they finish school," said Mr. Recker, who also sets up job interviews and often drives the students to the interview.

Niles North High School's student body is made up of a wide variety of students, each unique in his/her own way. Personalities of the students vary greatly, but they do have one thing in common: they are caught between their childhood and adulthood. No longer children, but still not yet ready to be on their own, their lives are just taking shape and being molded by everyday experiences at home, in school, and at work. These are not only the carefree years of a person's life, but also the time when major decisions are being made about their future. They may not always make the right decisions, but they will learn from their mistakes.

High school is a place where many learning and growing experiences take place. This not only occurs in classes, but also during after school activities, such as clubs or sports.

At this stage in a person's life, they are confused as to what their long term plans or goals are. Niles North High School helps students view themselves in different ways, and consider what goals they hope to reach in life.

FRESHMAN CLASS OF 1987

Being the new addition to North, the class of 87 was filled with uncertainty and a sense of adventure. It was the beginning of a whole new chapter in their lives, with many new changes and challenges.

At first they were the quiet ones, grouped with their friends from junior high, but after a couple of weeks, they broke out of their shells and felt they belonged. Some participated in sports, while others got involved with band, theatre, and different clubs and organizations.

One of the organizations was the Freshman Class Board. The main purpose of this organization was to get students involved. Mr. Fink, the board's sponsor, felt that this was a great way to promote school spirit, and give the Freshman experience working together with the school.

Freshman year leaves new students with many new choices to make. The choices can be confusing. Stephanie Astor, a freshman here at North, saw entering high school not as a time of confusion, but as a time to take advantage of the new opportunities.

Stephanie joined the swim team to improve her technique and make new friends. She especially enjoyed being a part of a team and working with them as one.

Stephanie also joined the Colorguard and Freshman Class Board and is also taking a wide variety of classes from Introduction to Business to Girls Ensemble. "Since I have the opportunity, I want to experiment with as much as I can," Stephanie exclaimed.

Being an all-American at Niles North was a "tough job" for freshman Tracey Kurtz. She had mixed feelings before she came to Niles North. "I thought there would be lots of homework, and the classes would be hard," stated Tracey, "but I liked the social life of high school and many of my friends helped me get through Freshman year." An after-school activity she had joined during the winter was gymnastics, and during the summer, she planned to tryout for softball and Auroris. Taking Spanish as a foreign language was another move to make her an all-American.

One August morning the invasion of Niles North began. Students from foreign countries, many new to this township, flocked to Niles North to register for the 1983 school year. Japanese freshman Motoharu Sugaya moved to the U.S. because of better schooling. In Japan's schools, physical punishment is allowed, all students wear uniforms, and they receive 5-7 hours of homework daily. "Japanese teachers are very strict," stated Motoharu, "not like the teachers here who are much nicer."

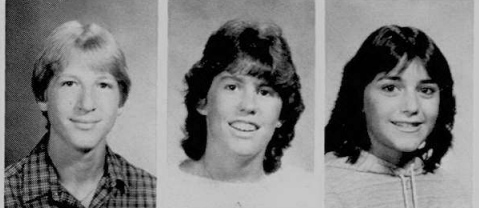

In Japan Motoharu learned English from a textbook, which made pronunciation difficult. At Niles North he is taking 'English As A Second Language' to help him out. Motoharu enjoys the challenge of Niles North and adjusting to life in the United States.

Outstanding athletes are made, not born. To this theory, Mike Kupferberg has really worked hard during his first season playing on the Vikings football team. Mike was one of the captains on the Freshman A team this fall. He played the positions of fullback and linebacker, and scored 10 touchdowns out of 9 games. Mike worked towards having a good season. "I like the way the team can work together as one, stated Mike, "and I plan to play on the Niles North team for many seasons."

The second year classmen were no longer the unsure freshmen, but the now proud, experienced sophomores. The Sophomore Class Board was active this year in raising money for the Prom, which they will be responsible for next year. Using marketing skills and aggressive strategies, they scheduled more sales and activities this year. Class Board sold candy, sponsored bake sales, and sold Viking pennants. Besides promoting school spirit, these activities raised money for Class of '86 projects.

An abundance of school spirit shines through sophomore Debbie Brandwein. Debbie, who was the assistant chairman of the pep assembly helped make this year's Homecoming unforgettable. "It was a very fun experience, and I plan to join Homecoming Committee next year," said Debbie. She also wants to get involved in Auroris, the Sophomore Class Board, and Theater, as after-school activities. Debbie's favorite hobby is ice skating, which she has been doing for seven years. During the summer, Debbie traveled to Dallas to compete, but she didn't place in this competition. This didn't discourage her, and she continues to practice every chance she gets. Her other hobbies are piano, and voice lessons.

Born in the Philippines, Antoinette Bello came to the United States at the age of four. In 1978 she moved to Skokie where she believes students get a better education and are more disciplined. As a freshman at North, she had more freedom and she was always meeting new people. As a sophomore, she finds it much harder with new responsibilities and work. Toni plans to go to college and hopes to major in an area of medicine. When Toni sets out to do something, she likes to go all out. For example, she took a limo to Homecoming with her escort and friends. She and her friends really enjoyed the experience.

Sophomore Gail Jones is the type of student who feels strongly about school spirit. She has a lot of pride for Niles North and wants to be a part of the school as much as she can.

Gail joined the Concert Orchestra, which gave her a chance to play a wide variety of music with others who feel the same way. Gail took acting lessons and hoped it would improve her chances of being in one of the many productions put on by the theatre department. "I enjoy getting involved in school activities," Jones commented, "Niles North is such an active school, it gives everyone a chance to get involved."

New to America, sophomore Yoon Young is not an ordinary Niles North student. Yoon is originally from Seoul, Korea and has only been in the United States for a year and a half. Yoon and her family moved to America primarily for political reasons.

Yoon began to learn English in Korea, which for her was a very difficult language. Yoon says that there is a sharp contrast between the schools here and in Korea. "In Korea, the schools are much more strict in their education and far less people attend school. Yoon enjoys math and oil painting. She's also taken piano lessons for six years.

JUNIOR CLASS OF 1985

With three years of High School experience, Juniors returned in the fall upperclassmen. Junior year was a very important year. The year when major tests were taken and numerous decisions were made. One of these decisions was to start thinking about the colleges they would attend, but most important they had to take on the responsibility of being upperclassmen. The Junior Class Board took the responsibility of organizing the Senior Prom. To put the Prom together took much work. The Junior Class Board was responsible for raising money for the super event. By raising money for the junior class and organizing the Prom was one way the juniors showed they became in the true sense of the word Upperclassmen.

Junior Howard Zavell has been on the Varsity Gymnastics Team since his sophomore year. In the last two years he had acquired the motto "no pain, no gain" Howard had always had an interest in gymnastics and Niles North coaches Bill Browe and Seymour Rifkind persuaded him to participate competitively. Howard had proven himself to be a true gymnast and competed in the all around competition. He worked out three hours a day after school and four hours daily during the summer. When everything seemed to have gone his way, he injured his knees and was advised to stick to light workouts and drop two events. But he kept on working, exemplifying the true spirit of the team and living out his motto "no pain, no gain".

Dedication will pay off. That was what junior Susan Hundrieser thought to herself after she made the tough decision to go to gymnastics camp instead of having a sweet sixteen party. Sue worked hard over the summer and worked out every day after school before the season started. However, she was apprehensive that the new coach would not push the team as hard as had former coach Seymour Rifkind. Despite this apprehension, she sensed that her hard work and dedication would pay off. The 1983 Girls Gymnastics season was great!

Last years track season turned out to be a disappointment for Junior Andy Barnes. Andy had been hopeful to go down state for the 400 meter run and the long jump, in which he had broken the records. During indoor season he placed first in his events. His hard work had payed off.

Then at the beginning of the outdoor season, Andy was unable to compete due to illness. This year the track team put all its might into winning and recovered Andy Barnes was there with the team to try again to achieve his goal to go down to state competition.

"Yearbook Production is a very demanding class, contrary to what everyone has heard," commented Junior Anne Peterson. Anne has been on the yearbook staff for two years. Even though there was a lot of work for her, she enjoyed helping put the book together.

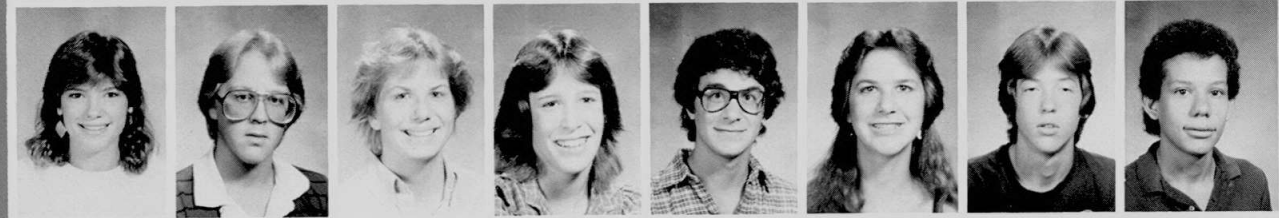

Anne was the activities section editor for the 1984 Saga. "Being a section editor demanded a lot of time. There were deadlines to meet, staff members to assist, and endless pages that had to be checked and rechecked. "However," Anne commented, "seeing the book at the end of the year, and the work the staff puts into it, is worth all the effort."

A time to move on, and a time to make plans for the future. There are many mixed feelings of leaving close friends and familiar faces behind, but the anticipation of the future always lingers.

Seniors take this time to look back at the past four years, which seems like just a few months; good friends, favorite teachers, and endless school activities are memories not soon to be forgotten. Freshman year brought new friends and the closing of Niles East. Next came the year of the wall and 300 minute days. Junior year a goodbye was said to our superintendent, while preparing for agonising college board exams. Senior year brought with it the elimination of the pass-fail option and a new grade weighting system.

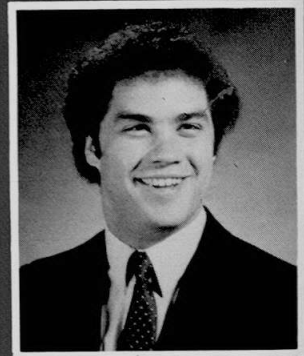

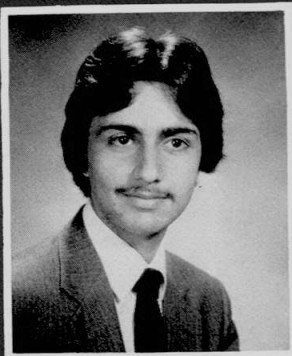

Although there was complaining along the way, it was enjoyable to be together. Graduation has finally arrived. A major chapter in life has ended, and a new one with endless possibilities will soon begin.

He's got the beat! senior Wayne Gordon is a very dedicated musician. Wayne is an accomplished French Horn player and has performed with such organizations as: The Metropolitan Youth Symphony Orchestra of Chicago, The Chicago Symphonic Wind Ensemble, and The Illinois Music Educators Association Band and Orchestra. Wayne has recently attended the National High School Music Institute of Northwestern University.

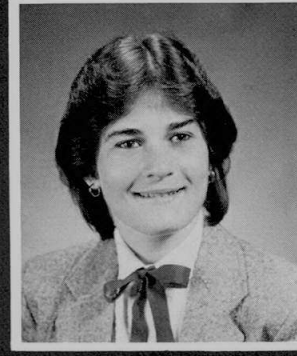

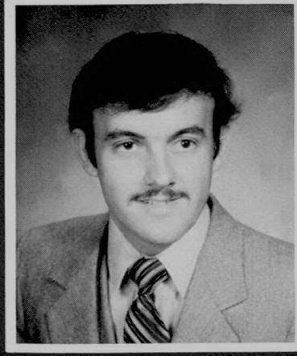

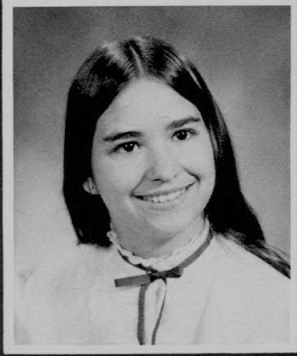

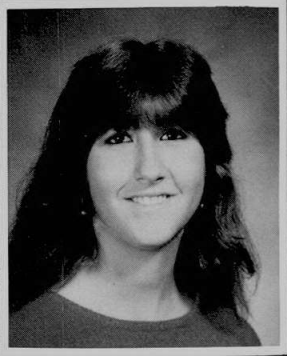

Michael Cooper
Maureen Covinsky

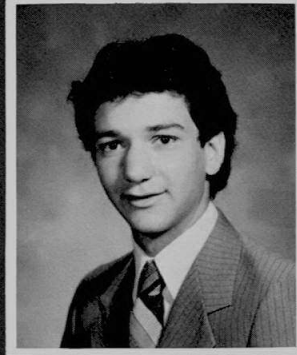

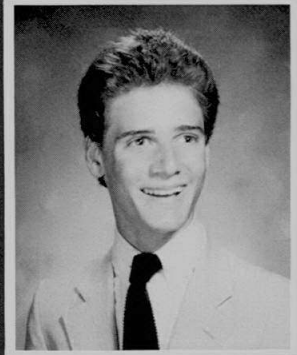

Wayne has had many musical accomplishments at Niles North also. He was the drum major of the Niles North Marching Band during his senior year, and has played in the pit orchestra for numerous theatre productions. Wayne has also worked as Student Musical Director for Norscapades '83-'84. Wayne stated confidently, "Music will always be a part of my life." Wayne will surely be heard from in the future.

Students Against Driving Drunk (SADD); the program to help students recognize the seriousness of driving under the influence, would have never have been developed at North without the concern and leadership of senior Marty Lev. Marty saw the need for the program in the school, and went about organizing it.

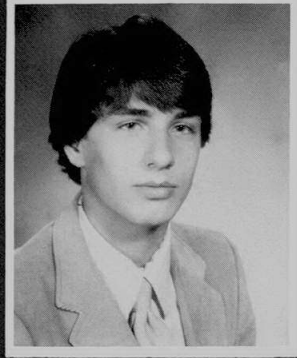

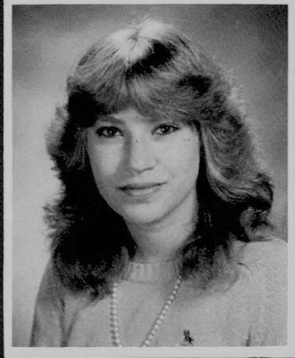

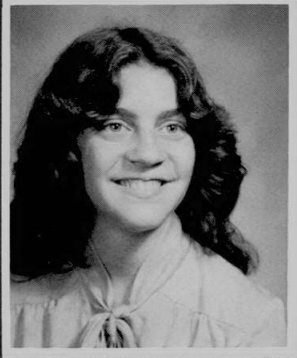

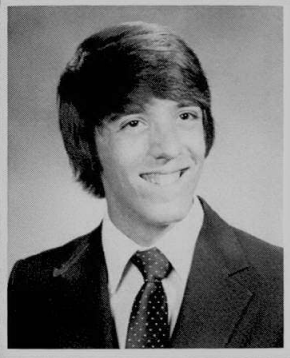

Marty was the founder and first president of SADD. His main goal was to encourage his classmates to see the problems and results of driving while intoxicated. To encourage students to get involved and take the cause seriously, Marty organized the SADD group. To encourage students not to drive while intoxicated, Marty asked students to sign contract forms promising not to drive or let friends drive under the influence of the situation ever arose.

Besides working with students in the school, Marty has also organized a court monitoring program where students could sit through actual court cases, and afterwards speak to the judge about his verdict. "Having students in the courtroom allows them to see the judicial system as it actually operates," commented Marty.

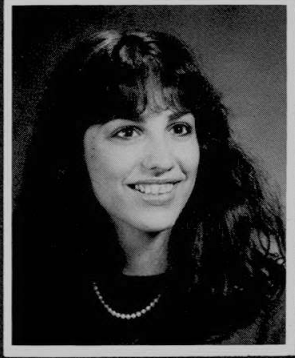

When asked to sum up the main objective of SADD, Marty stated, "By setting up SADD, I hope to make teens a part of the solution, and not a part of the problem."

How are your summers? According to senior Elke Adler, nothing could compare to hers. Elke, along with 22 other Niles North students, spent three weeks in West Germany as exchange students. She spent the beginning of her trip in Ahlem, West Germany with a German high school student who came to visit Niles North during the spring. The trip was not only a lot of fun, but was helpful in improving her knowledge of the German culture. Together with the experience of being in a new country Elke, with her new German friends, went to a museum, saw a concert, attended a school, and listened to a lecture by German Senator Wolfgang Volmar. Spending a week with relatives in East Germany, a communist country, she saw how different their economic system was. When asked about these differences, Elke replied, "I was especially shocked that everyday products are so difficult to get, things I always take for granted." She added, "A pair of Levis, if you're lucky enough to find a pair, can run up to $200.00, and its common to wait twelve years for a car!" Elke felt that this was the most memorable experiences Niles North could possibly have given her. This experience has given her a better understanding of the language and culture of Germany.

"Lets Go Vikings!" This is the motto of senior Rana Irving. Rana has been a cheerleader at North since her sophomore year, and feels the memories she made will last forever. "Cheerleading is a lot of hard work, and much time is spent preparing the routines," Rana commented, "but everyone has a lot of fun cheering the team on to victory." Rana really enjoyed attending a cheerleading camp over the summer of senior year. Rana, along with the rest of the squad, competed against 40 other schools in various cheerleading competitions. She was pleased that her squad placed in the upper half of all the events. "Camp was a lot of fun and quite an experience. It really helped our squads ability to perform and execute mounts," Rana stated.

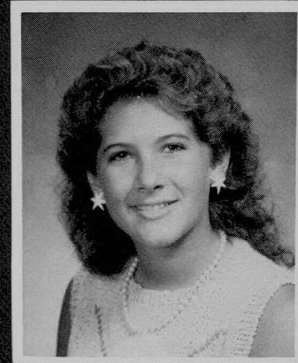

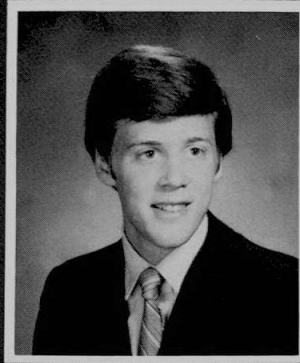

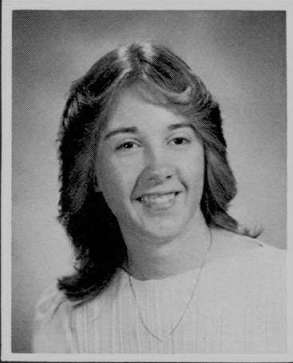

Douglas Mitchel
Kim Moeller

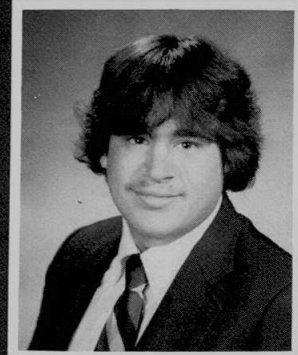

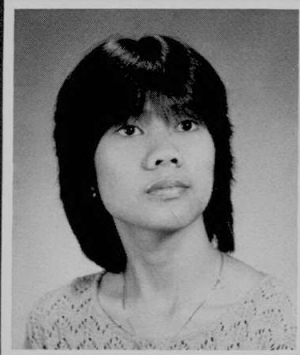

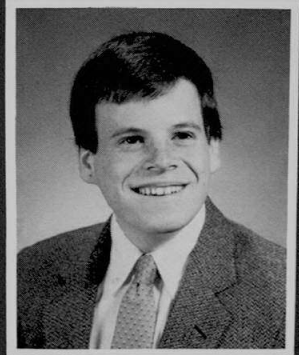

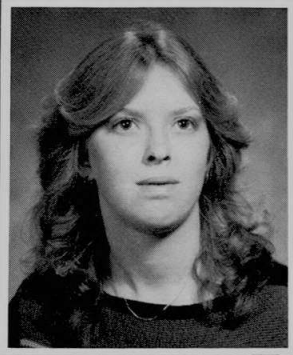

Besides cheerleading, Rana is actively involved in many other school activities. Some of these include Class Board, Homecoming Committee, Project Lead, and SADD (Students Against Drunk Driving). When asked about high school in general, Rana stated, "It is like climbing a ladder, you start at the botton rung a freshman, new to the school, and work your way towards the top rung of the ladder, senior year, surely one of the most memorable times of a person's life."

Well rounded individuals roll in all directions, as is the case with Danica Katz. Using her singing, dancing, and acting talents, she's become a success in the Niles North Theatre Department. Danica choreographed Norscapades '83 and directed one of 1983's Theatre Shorts. "My experiences in theatre have helped me grow creatively, as well as emotionally. I've acquired a certain insight about people that I consider valuable. I've been taught the meaning of comraderie." Danica has also had the privilege of performing in the 1984 All State production of Our Town. Danica feels that her energy and motivation have helped her with her school work as well.

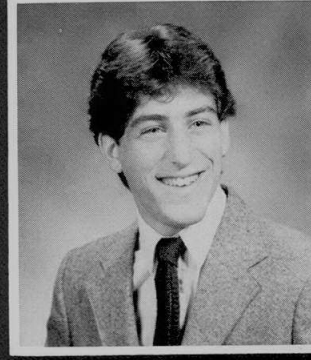

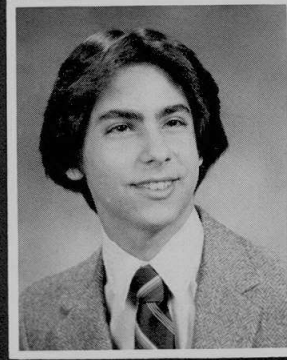

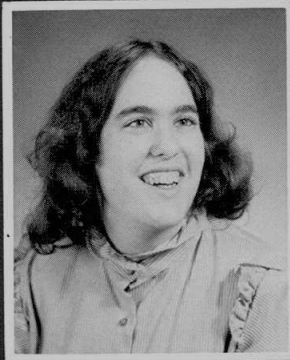

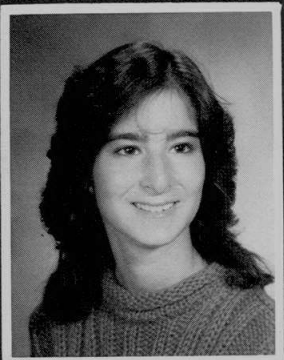

Danica plans to continue to develop her talents through college and graduate studies.

There is a big difference between attending school and investing oneself in school. Senior Scott Greenspan is the type of student who invests himself and gets involved in school many ways.

Scott was a leader in numerous clubs and activities. He held many positions in Student Congress, was treasurer of the Senior Class Board, president of the National Honor Society, one of the first members of the Student Leadership program, and a member of the Tennis Team. "I care about my school, and in my four years at North, I wanted to see it improved as much as possible," Scott commented.

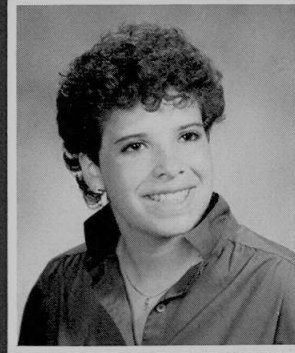

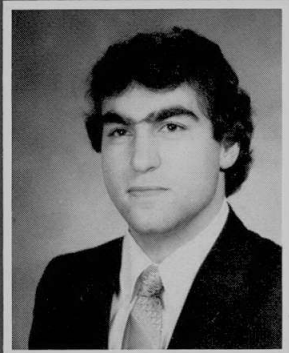

Scott takes all his responsibilities seriously, and despite the extra time and work he volunteers to after school activities, Scott keeps his grades up and places in the top 10% of his class. Scott plans to use the knowledge and experience he has gained at Niles North in the future, as he plans to go on to study engineering.

April Harrison, a senior at North, has a strong personality which is very individualistic. Her individuality shows strongly in her art work, which April takes very seriously. Through Niles North's curriculum, April has greatly enhanced her artistic talents. She has taken many art related courses at North including Art Foundations, Ceramics, Graphic Design, Painting, Drawing, and Sculpture. Enrolling in a large variety of art courses at North has allowed April to experiment with many artistic ideas, styles, and textures.

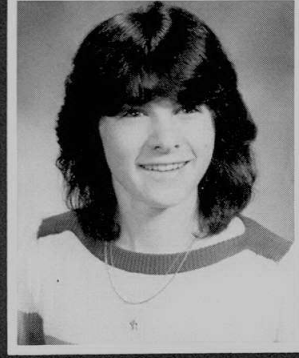

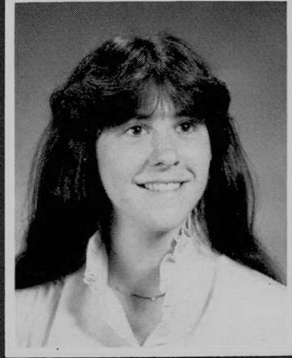

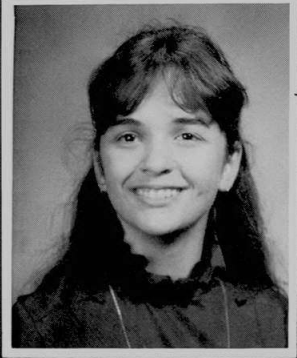

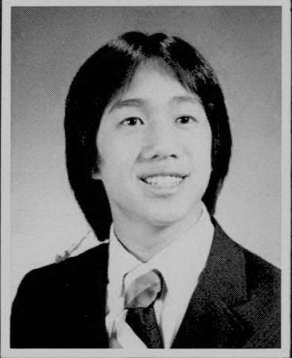

Of the wide variety of art courses April has taken at North, she feels that the Graphic Designs course was the most beneficial to her. "I feel that going into the Commercial Graphics Design Field will help me express my personal feelings on paper. It will also help me convey my message to the public," April stated.

April feels that all the classes she has taken will be of much help to her in college. She plans to attend a program at Southern Illinois University, where she would like to train in commercial arts and receive after two years an associates degree. She then hopes to transfer on to a vocational design school.

Epilogue

Working on the production of such a large and detailed book was quite an experience for me. Trying to pack all the details of an entire school year into one book seemed like an impossible task. There were so many aspects of school life that needed to be covered: classes students liked, classes students disliked, teachers students liked, teachers students disliked, the Library, study halls, mods, the BAC. I think you understand.

Besides the activities listed above, what about the activities that occurred after school hours? Late night practices, the football game Friday night (it was 20° that night), the basketball games, and all the other sporting events? What about the party Saturday night or the big dance or the time we T.P.'ed that house with 50 rolls of toilet paper or that night at the beach? What about the time during lunch we went on a shopping spree to Old Orchard? I felt that it was important these times were covered too. These were the times that captured the real spirit of school.

To accomplish the large task of accumulating all the necessary information could not be done by one individual alone. I decided the place to get the information was from the student body itself. After I had collected all the information, it was my job to relate the information to the yearbook staff and begin the production on SAGA '84.

It wasn't an easy task to accomplish, but thanks to the hard work of many individuals, I feel that we did a fairly good job in producing a high quality yearbook that the entire student body could enjoy.

SAGA will always be "MOVIN AHEAD" into the future, and I am pleased to have played a part in its tradition. I would like to take this opportunity to thank some special people who were essential in producing this publication.

MR. DENNIS GRABOWSKI. I would have had a hard time making it through some of those times of need if you hadn't been there to help me get things back on the right track. Thanks for all your assistance. You have been more than an advisor, you have been a real friend.

MS. ELLEN PIERCE, in times of real need, you were there to proof our copy and make any necessary corrections. When it came to needing something typed fast, you were always there to help. Thank you for all the help and support you provided. MS. NADINE MOLITOR, thanks for all those times you came to the rescue to find a student who wasn't on our list, or give us the correct spelling of a name. You were a big help with the accuracy of the book.

MR. DENNIS EDER, our Jostens Salesman, thank you for all your help in answering those tough questions, and working out the details.

MS. KATHY ANDERSON, our plant consultant, thank you for always being on the ball with the minor details, and always keeping us informed of any errors, and correcting any problems we had.

ROOT PHOTOGRAPHERS, it was helpful to know we could always depend upon fast and efficient processing when we needed it.

Also, I would like to thank SANDY MILLER and GARY DUBIN for working over time to help finish the book. My staff also played a key role in producing the book. Thanks to all who came through in times of need.

To my fellow classmates, this is really your book because you gave me the opportunity to produce it. I hope you will appreciate it and all the hard work that went into its production.
