Kup's column

You've heard of politics making strange bedfellow? Here's a topper—an Arab group in America denouncing the neo-Nazis' proposed march in Skokie because of the suffering it would bring to the village's Jewish residents. Skokie Mayor Albert Smith received this telegram from Hisham Sharabi, president of the National Assn. of Arab Americans: "We join with other concerned Americans in opposing the march by the National Socialist Party of America in Skokie as a deliberate provocation by an anti-Semitic group in a community whose members have suffered too much." Smith, needless to mention, was almost speechless in his surprise over the source of support.

MEANWHILE, FRANK COLLIN, the nefarious Nazi, is coming under bitter attack from another Nazi group, the National Socialist White People's Party, headquartered in Arlington, Va. The party is passing out leaflets in the Washington area, calling Collin a "phony who is trying to fool people by hiding the fact his father is Jewish." The party also charges that Collin, once a member of the NSWPP, "stole our funds when he was ousted and used that money to establish the crummy National Socialist Party of America in Chicago." (A classic example of the pot calling the kettle black.)
