RESOLUTION OF SKOKIE HUMAN RELATIONS COMMISSION

The following resolution was passed unanimously at the March 25, 1971 regular meeting of the Skokie Human Relations Commission.

The Skokie Human Relations Commission endorses the concept of building low-rise, low-income housing on scattered sites in all residential areas throughout the city and suburbs.

The Commission believes that such housing in the suburbs, together with middle-income housing, job opportunities, and an effective public transportation system, will provide an opportunity for people of all races, nationalities, and economic levels to enter the mainstream of our economy and build a better future for themselves and their children.

We recognize our responsibility, as a suburban community, to share in solving the problems brought about by neglect, discrimination and mistaken priorities of the past, in order to create a stable metropolitan area based on a legacy of fairness and justice. We urge our Village Board of Trustees to plan now for low and moderate income family housing.

We urge the Board of Trustees to adopt a similar resolution.
