Home and

'Rec' Room

IS CENTER OF LIVING

by SHERYL LEONARD

The trend in suburban living today seems to be going down—to lower level recreation rooms.

This in no way detracts from the beauty of the more formal areas of the home. However, when guests arrive, after viewing and admiring the "upstairs," more often than not they are escorted to a beautifully furnished, completely-equipped-for-entertaining recreation room.

Such is the case at least, in the attractive bi-level home of the Irving Slavins at 8941 Lincolnwood Dr., Skokie.

Harlequin Floor and Wall

A harlequin patterned Vinyl tile floor in the foyer blends with the rose beige carpeting in the living room on one side and the harlequin wallpaper in the breakfast area on the other side.

Cafe style draperies on the long, high ceiling-to-floor windows provide an attractive setting for the turquoise, black and white decor of the room.

On the other side of the foyer, the kitchen-breakfast room combination features a turquoise, charcoal and white color scheme.

A built-in gas oven and range are utilitarian as well as attractive in combination with the charcoal Formica counter tops around the kitchen.

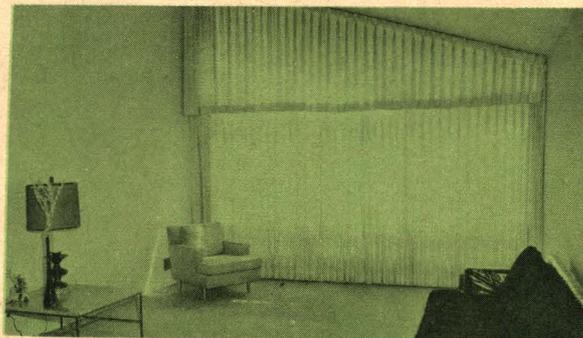

Turquoise shutters frame the window over the sink, blending with the white steel cabinets and black pull-down light fixture.

Wallpaper, in addition to the harlequin pattern on one wall, is designed to resemble bricks, in white with tiny flecks of charcoal, picked up from the coloring of the Vinyl tile on the floor.

Stairway to Bedrooms

A stairway from the living room goes to the sleeping quarters upstairs.

The master bedroom has mustard colored draperies, corduroy spread, and walnut bedroom suite.

Three month old Sheila Slavin has her own nursery-bedroom, while Joyce, 4, and Janet, 9, have their own pink and white room. Awards won by Janet for her singing line up with the dolls and toys.

The bathroom on this upper level is in pearl white tile with pink built-in-sink and marblized counter top of white, grey and pink.

To the Recreation Room

Having glanced through the living quarters of the home, one goes downstairs to the beautifully appointed recreation room created for the Slavins by Casual Corner, Inc., 4457 Oakton St., Skokie.

The brown tone on tone loungers pick up their colors from the asphalt cork tone tile floor.

A low white marble topped table is "cornered" between the loungers.

Two tangerine leather pull up chairs are separated by a low, long walnut cocktail table.

Little Joyce Slavin finds helping Mom in the attractive kitchen a lot of fun.

A perfect place for dining is created in another corner of the room with a round, walnut table and chairs.

Mahogany Walls

The walls in this room are of Phillipine mahogany in natural tones. A television set is built into the wall, as are storage cabinets.

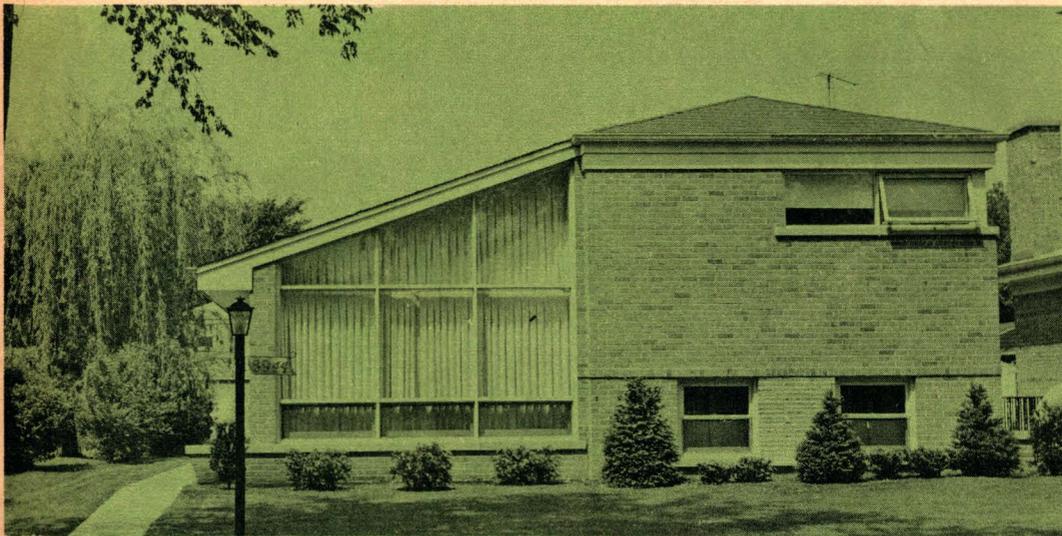

Part of one wall opens up and pulls down to make way for a combination desk and bar.

Entertainment is provided with a black spinet piano.

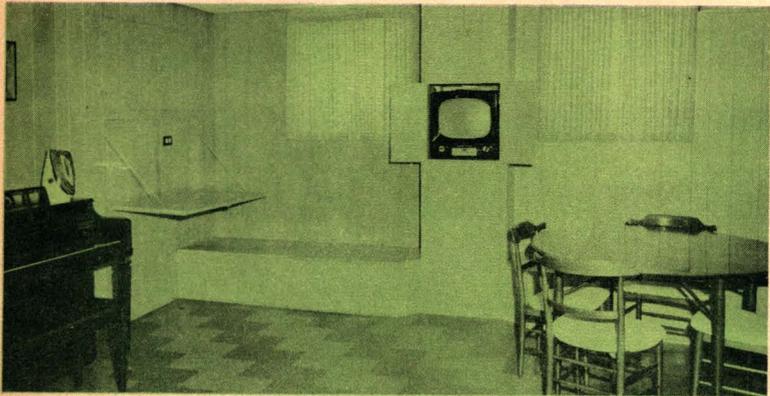

In front of the twin sofas or loungers, there are three Manderin type benches, in black, tangerine and white, placed together to form a complete unit.

On the wall over one of the sofas is a copy of a Picasso, the colors in the painting com-

Lighting is achieved, in addition to ceiling spots, by the use of a white pole light from the ceiling to the floor and a pull-down fixture over the low cocktail table.

A pleasant, attractive and tastefully furnished room that beckons one to relax and have fun.

New Niles Post Office

Construction of a new Post Office building for Niles has been awarded to Stromberg Construction Co., 5831 Dempster St., Morton Grove.

The new building is to be located at the northeast corner of Milwaukee and Octavia in Niles, and it is expected that construction will start about August 1.

Scooter Users Need Licenses

An ordinance was passed by the trustees of the Lincolnwood Village Board which would attempt to close a loophole in the license law created last year by the Illinois General Assembly covering the use of motor scooters and motor-bikes.

The new ordinance makes it mandatory that valid drivers' licenses be obtained by anyone using one of these vehicles.

THE ART OF LIVING LONG . . . BY CORNARO . . . THE ANCIENT VENETIAN NOBLEMAN . . . The First Discourse written at the age of 83 . . . the Second at the age of 86 . . . the Third Discourse at the age of 95. Cornaro died at the age of 102. (Translated from the Italian . . . 1542)

PART 1 of SECOND DISCOURSE: MY TREATISE, "LA VITA SOBRRIA," HAS BEGUN, AS I DESIRED IT SHOULD, TO RENDER great service to many of those persons worn with weak constitutions, who, for this reason, feel so very sick whenever they commit the slightest excess, that they could not possibly feel worse . . . a thing, which, it must be allowed, does not happen to those who are born with robust constitutions. A number of these delicate persons, having read the above mentioned treatise, have commenced to follow the regular mode of life therein recommended by me, convinced by experience of its beneficial influence. AND NOW, IN LIKE MANNER, I DESIRE TO BENEFIT THOSE FORTUNATELY BORN WITH strong constitutions, who, relying too much upon that fact, lead irregular lives; in consequence of which, by the time they reach the age of sixty or thereabout, they become afflicted with various distressing ills. Some suffer with the gout, some with pains in the side, and others with pains in the stomach or with other complaints; yet with none of these would they ever be troubled were they to lead the temperate life. And, as they now die of these infirmities before reaching their eightieth year, they would, in the contrary case, live to the age of one hundred, the term of life granted by God, and by our mother Nature, to us her children; for it is but reasonable to believe the wish of this excellent mother is that every one of us should attain the natural limit, in order to enjoy the blessings of every period of life.

ANY MAN, WHO BY NATURE, IS OF A BAD CONSTITUTION, MAY SIMILARLY, THROUGH THE use of reason and the help of the temperate life, enjoy perfect health to a very great age; just as I have done, although my constitution was naturally so wretched that it seemed impossible I should live beyond the age of forty. Whereas, I am now in my eighty-sixth year, full of health and strength; and at such an advanced age as mine, all my senses and organs remain in perfect condition, even my teeth, my voice, my memory and my heart. And as for my brain, it, especially, is more active now than it ever was. Nor do these powers suffer any decline with the increase of years . . . a blessing to be attributed solely to the fact of my increasing the temperateness of my life.

FOR, AS MY YEARS MULTIPLY, I LESSEN THE QUANTITY OF MY FOOD; SINCE, INDEED, this decrease is absolutely necessary and cannot be avoided. We cannot live forever; and, as the end of life draws near, man is reduced by and to the firm law of excess moderation. Thus I am confident, I shall close my career by mere dissolution of the elements and without any pain or illness.

THERE THE ONLY MODE OF LIVING THAT WILL RENDER YOU SECURE IN THE HOPE OF LONG years in health consists in your adopting, at least after the age of forty, the temperate life. This is not difficult to observe; since so many in the past, as history informs us, have observed it; and many, of whom I am one, are doing so at the present time . . . and we are all men; and man, being a rational animal, does much as he wills to do. The orderly and temperate life consists solely in the observance of two rules relative to the quantity and quality of our food. The first consists in our using only such an amount of them as can be easily digested. Every man, by the time he has reached the age of forty . . . fifty . . . or, at any rate, sixty years, ought surely to be familiar with the conditions relating to the quality and quantity of food suited to his individual constitution; and he who observes these two rules, lives the orderly and temperate life . . . a life which has so much virtue and power that it renders the humors of the body most perfect, harmonious, and united. Indeed, they are brought to so satisfactory a condition that it is impossible they should ever be disturbed or altered by any form of disorder which we may incur, such as suffering extreme heat or cold, extraordinary fatigue, loss of customary sleep, or any other disorder.

Chief Griffin Is Given Super Pontiac by Friends

Skokie police chief William C. Griffin is driving a new $5,800 Pontiac today — surprise gift of a group of his fellow citizens.

Griffin was presented with the plush Starchief Catalina Sedan at a dinner in Krier's restaurant Saturday night. Most of the town's leading officials were there.

The presentation marked Griffin's 25th anniversary as a Skokie police officer and his 10th anniversary as police chief.

Leo Koertgen, manager for Peter Epsteen Pontiac, said the car given Griffin had "the works — everything from air conditioning to air suspension."

Griffin also was presented with a citation from Skokie village officials. A preamble to the ceremony's program said:

"His untiring devotion to duty and the friendly, pleasant manner in which he has conducted his office have gained him the respect and affection of all who know him.

"During a quarter century of police work, he has labored hard to make our village a better place to live in. The citizens of Skokie are fortunate indeed to have had such an outstanding police officer in charge of their law enforcement."

A. C. Thornton, president of the Chamber of Commerce, gives Griffin keys to super Pontiac which friends bought for the genial police chief. Others in picture, from left: village manager Arthur Lowther, Police Lt. Art Hennig, Mayor Ambrose Reiter.

Village attorney William M. Hennessy presents citation from Skokie village board.

Seek to Halt Construction On Small Lot

An injunction halting construction of a house on a narrow lot at 8723 Central Park Ave., Skokie, until further order of the court, has been issued by Circuit Judge Cornelius J. Harrington.

The restraining order was entered last week against Jerome Harris and Aaron Holzman Co., Inc. pending outcome of a suit filed in May by Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Freeman, owners of a six-room brick bi-level home costing more than $30,000 on a 40-foot wide lot at 8719 Central Park Ave.

The Freemans' petition for administrative review asks the court to vacate a village zoning board variance allowing erection of a 20 foot wide house on the 25-foot lot next to them, located in an R2 residential zone, requiring 40-foot frontage. Judge Harrington's order stayed the zoning board action pending outcome of the case.

In granting the injunction, the court ordered the Freemans to post $2,500 personal bond to cover possible damages in event the couple loses the appeal.

Skokie's motion to strike the complaint was denied and the court gave the village 15 days to file an answer.

According to Attorney Kernal Freeman, representing his son in the case, Harris has conveyed title of the narrow lot to Holzman, a building contractor. Skokie issued a building permit on May 12 and the foundation for the house already is in, Kernal Freeman said.

The suit charged the variance to build was granted "only for personal gain" of the applicant "without regard to general public welfare" and its effect upon neighboring property.

Westminster Presbyterian Church School

Over one hundred children from 2 years old to 6th graders have been studying the theme, Jesus Christ, and engaging in craft work, at the Vacation Church School at Westminster Presbyterian Church, under the direction of Charles Quirk, director of Christian education.

Teachers, all of Skokie, are Mrs. Edward Huguélet, Mrs. Henry Kolben, Mrs. Ruth Niles, Mrs. Richard Nordstrom, Mrs. Thomas Reid, Mrs. William O'Reilly and Mrs. John Saxon. Mrs. John Lazar and Mrs. June Taylor of Skokie, and Mrs. Edward McCabe of Wilmette, are staff superintendents.

IT'S HARD TO BELIEVE... BUT...

... we had the good fortune to run into these outstanding values while visiting the carpet show (now in progress) and we couldn't wait to tell you about them, even though a couple of them cannot be delivered until July 3. Just look at these buys we are passing on to you. Terrific, aren't they?

O'Connell Hearing Set For June 30

Superior Judge Donald S. McKinlay has set June 30 for hearing a motion to set for trial the legal battle over whether Skokie may charge Police Magistrate John R. O'Connell $100 a day for use of a village courtroom.

O'Connell has charged the $100 fee represents "political retaliation" for his past differences with the village administration.

The June 30 hearing date apparently means out-of-court negotiations for a "peaceful" settlement of the issue have been stalemated. The "peace talks" had been in progress since last August when Judge McKinlay said one of the major issues is to determine whether the fee is an "arbitrary act to deprive the plaintiff use of the new building." He referred to courtroom space in Skokie's new municipal building.

Since then, various dates were set for each side to take depositions from the other but nothing ever came of it.

O'Connell has been permitted free use of a village courtroom by agreement shortly after he filed suit against village officials in June, 1957.

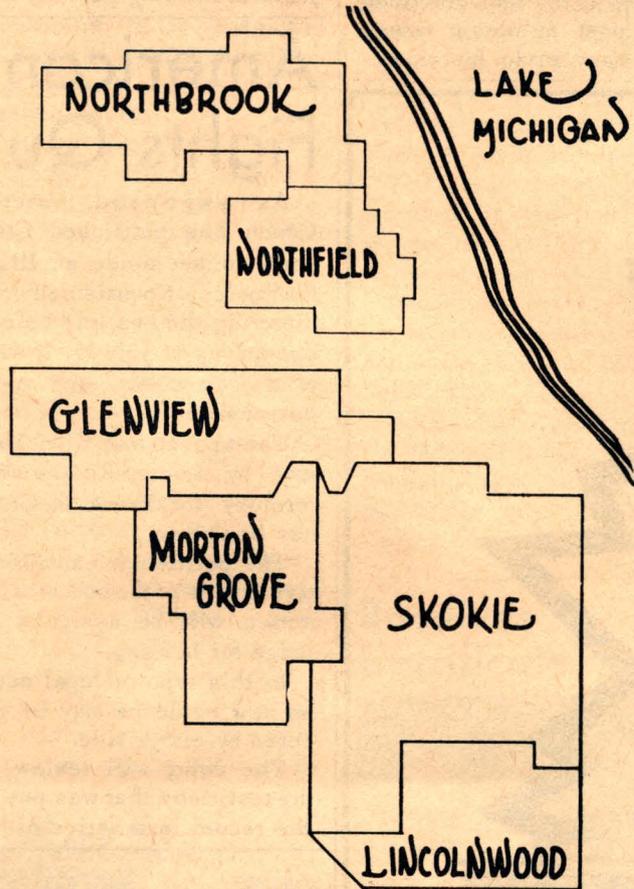

Before that, O'Connell had held court on the village steps because he wouldn't pay the $100 a day asked by the village under terms of a regulation adopted May 11, 1957, by the village board.

C&NW Hearing Set Today

The day for objectors to speak out in the Chicago and North Western railway's rate case is Thursday, June 26. The Illinois Commerce Commission Monday set the date for objections other than those already expressed by the City of Chicago.

SHRINE CONVENTION

About 100,000 Shriners with their families will be in Chicago, July 12 to 17, for the 84th Imperial Council Session of the Ancient Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine for North America. This group is the fun group for all Masons.

Map showing some of the communities to be served by the proposed Skokie Valley Community Hospital.

Fund raising program has been inaugurated which aims at raising $4,250,000.

Launch Fund Drive For Valley Hospital

The fund raising campaign for the Skokie Valley Community Hospital was launched this week at a meeting presided over by Otis E. Kline, president of the hospital board and vice president of the Union Tank Car Company.

The decision to erect a 150 bed non-denominational, general hospital is the result of over two years study by members of the board of trustees and other interested citizens.

The new hospital, Kline stated, will be situated in northeast Skokie on a large site selected because it provides ample room for parking and expansion as well as being close to major arteries of transportation, which makes for speedy access in time of emergency.

Judson B. Branch, president of the Allstate Insurance Companies, said:

"Three organizations already have made substantial commitments. G. D. Searle and Company has pledged $100,000, the Allstate Foundation has promised $75,000 and Baxter Laboratories have indicated they would give $25,000. One family, vitally interested in this worthwhile project, has provided $150,000. We expect many other large gifts from people who recognize the dire need for this hospital."

Skokie Indians Beat Boosters

Catcher Jim Dennis' single down the left field line in the ninth inning punched across the winning run as Krier's Skokie Indians beat the Kolski Boosters 7-6 Sunday in a Greater Chicago semi-pro league baseball game at Oakton Park.

The run was scored by Jimmy Phipps who reached first on an error and was advanced to second on a sacrifice.

The Indians play the Chicago Vets at Oakton Park Sunday. Their league record: 3-4.

Petitions ICC to Abandon Skokie Valley Operation

Transportation for Niles Township commuters appeared further jeopardized today after a petition was filed by the North Shore railroad to abandon its entire electric line operation.

If approved, the proposed abandonment would mean that thousands of township commuters would have to seek other means of getting to and from the Chicago Loop.

Bus transportation for the area already is a question mark, with the American Coach Co. ordered off the streets by July 15 for various inadequacies in its service. However, the American Coach Co. president, Frank McCreary, was granted a reprieve this week when Circuit Court Judge Harry Fisher suspended the ICC "quit" ruling.

(See story in adjoining column.)

The Northwestern railroad, which has a commuter stop in east Skokie, also has petitioned to eliminate that service.

The other railroad serving Niles Township, the Milwaukee Road, has been trying to cut services and raise rates for a number of years but has been hindered to a great extent by legal roadblocks thrown up by the Milwaukee Road Commuters Assn., a group of private citizens.

Thus the North Shore line's proposal to eliminate its Skokie Valley operation poses a possibly crippling blow to the area's transportation network. Most township commuters use the line's stop at Dempster St. in Skokie.

Just a few years ago the railroad was granted permission to abandon its Shore Line operation.

At present the road operates 90 miles of line between Chicago and Milwaukee and an eight-mile branch from Lake Bluff to Mundelein.

Its president, in filing the petition jointly with the Illinois and Interstate commerce commissions, declared:

"The action is prompted by continued operating losses and the imminent necessity of making large capital outlays for which we have no funds."

A joint concurrent hearing before the two regulatory bodies was requested.

In 1957 the company showed a net loss of $414,914.

American Coach Gets Reprieve From Fisher

Circuit Judge Harry Fisher this week suspended an Illinois Commerce Commission ruling that the American Coach Co., serving the Niles Township area, must quit its bus runs by July 15.

He gave the line authority to keep on running while he reviews the ICC decision.

Louis Gentili, attorney for American Coach and its president, Frank McCreary, said the order probably would permit the firm to operate at least until fall.

Skokie Firm's Suit Dismissed

Circuit Judge Harry M. Fisher has dismissed by agreement a Skokie construction company's lawsuit against Wilmette, for building permits.

In an out of court settlement, George J. Georges, 8039 Kilbourn, Skokie, president of Chase Construction company, agreed to enlarge 15 of 19 lots involved in return for the permits.

Georges had filed the suit when the Wilmette Plan Commission apparently didn't move fast enough for him in finalizing a revised lay-out more in keeping with what the village considered "present day planning."

Permits had been withheld because the lots didn't meet village zoning ordinance requirements of 60-foot frontage and 8,400 square feet of area. All of the lots had 40 feet of frontage, except four of 52 feet.

MEETING

The Kiwanis Club of Skokie Valley will meet today at 12:15 in El Gaucho, Skokie. The meeting will be an open one to discuss convention details.

Legion's Ox Roast Starts Thursday, July 3

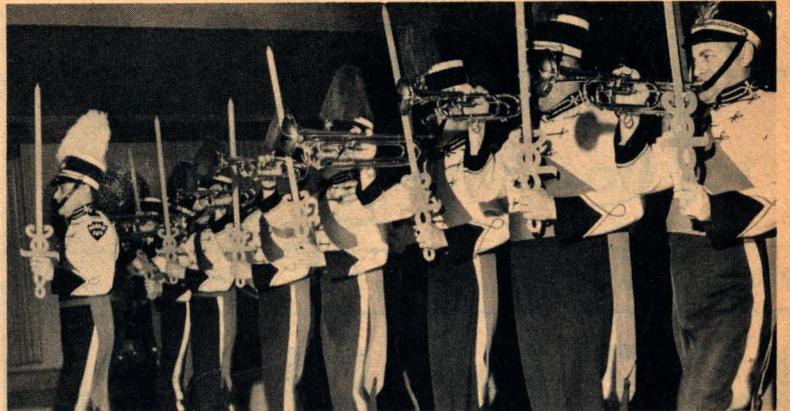

Skokie's 14th Annual Ox Roast Festival, sponsored by Skokie Post 320, the American Legion, will be held on July 3, 4, 5 and 6 across the street from the Post Home at 8212 Lincoln Ave.

The Legion members are preparing a huge supply of oxen for the event. This is cooked according to a recipe kept secret by cooks who have prepared the meat for several years.

On display in the veteran craft's booth will be various items made by hand by hospitalized veterans.

Highlighting the festivities will be an appearance on July 4th by the three time national champion drum & bugle corps, sponsored by Skokie Post 320.

This is the only fund raising event held by the American Legion post to obtain money for its many civic functions.

The Skokie American Legion drum and bugle corps, which will be a feature attraction at the service organization's ox roast festival starting July 3.

American Coach Co. Fights Quit Order

As expected, American Coach has petitioned Circuit court to set aside an Illinois Commerce Commission order directing the bus line to cease operations on July 15. It serves Niles Township and nearby communities.

The appeal was filed Thursday by Louis R. Gentili, attorney for Frank McCreary, bus line owner.

The petition for administrative review of the commission's action will be assigned to a judge for hearing.

In this type of legal action, no new evidence may be presented by either side.

The court will review only the testimony that was put into the record in a series of hearings lasting more than 2 years before the ICC yanked the American Coach franchise.

Gentili asserted the ICC action is illegal and that it deprives American Coach of its rights without due process of law.

Meantime, the ICC opened hearings in Chicago today (Thursday) on South Suburban Safeway's application to take over American Coach routes between the Chicago Loop and Evanston, Skokie, Lincolnwood, Morton Grove and Niles. McCreary also has filed an application for the American Coach Co. routes on behalf of Bluebird Coach Lines, a west suburban firm he also controls.

First Grandchild To Be Married

Mr. and Mrs. Abraham L. Weiss, 6725 Monticello Ave., Lincolnwood, will celebrate the marriage of their first grandchild, Eunice Weiss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Weiss, 8610 S. Ingleside Ave., Chicago, to Gerald Donald Sachs, on Sunday, June 29.

The wedding will take place in the South Shore View Hotel. Another granddaughter, their youngest, Pearl Sher, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sher of the Lincolnwood address, will be one of the junior bridesmaids.

If we've ever found reason to disagree with Marty Faye (WBKB) in the past, we take it all back with his comments the other evening on doctors and "socialized medicine."

Marty, in his own inimitable style, lauded the general practitioner or "family doctor." He brought home the fact that many of these noblest of God's creatures gave of themselves without remuneration.

This has always been a subject near and dear to our heart. The general practitioner is more than a doctor. He is family consultant, psychiatrist, mender of broken hearts, and dispenser of joy, in addition to his medical services.

His is the healing hand placed on the body and the healing word placed on the heart. His office is the confessional.

Such a man would never turn a patient away because of his inability to pay. Of course, one can counter with certain instances of mercenary attitudes on the part of some professional men, but these are in the minority, and they are not what Marty Faye referred to as the "family doctor" type of physician.

We feel that government controlled medicine would definitely impede progress not only in the medical field itself, but in a man's individual incentive. The governmental red tape involved in such a practice might tend to destroy the feeling of dedication that exists.

There are social service and welfare agencies to help the indigent. There are thousands upon thousands of doctors who give freely of their time and knowledge to clinics, welfare stations, and other places where medical help is provided on a non-paying partial payment basis.

The medical profession can offer a unanimous vote of appreciation to Marty Faye for his comments.

We were in real distinguished company recently when we attended a dinner in honor of the Attorney General of the United States, William P. Rogers.

First and foremost was our own special newspaper woman, Gladys Erickson, and her husband, Charlie Finstor, political editor of the Chicago American. With us were other political editors, George Tagge of the Tribune and his wife, Lavonne; Charlie Cleveland of the Daily News and his Martha, and Bob Weidrich of the Tribune.

We came away with wonderful memories of a grand evening and with roses that we had "helped" ourself to from the table.

The roses eventually landed on our boss's desk. He's still under the impression they were purchased. The truth will out.

What is there in our passions.... That lifts us way up high.... Then dashes us to earth again.... With just one thought-to die.... What is there in our hearts.... So filled with love to give.... That makes us lift our heads again.... And helps us want to live.

(Editor's Note: There has been some comment that suburban women fall into a rut, that they have a tendency to become dull. In order to dispute these rumors, The Villager decided to offer positive proof that Niles Township women are not only among the best informed, but that they are vitally interested in all civic activities.

Wife—mother—career woman—each one adds dignity and beauty to our community. The following is the first of a series of articles on Niles Township women who are representative of the type of wonderful women here. We shall merely title them "The Suburban Woman" and let the stories speak for themselves.

THE SUBURBAN WOMAN

Mrs. Theron Russel's way of life is in complete contradiction to her ultra smart femininity.

Like the early pioneer women, Vera handles all of the many chores about her home by herself, her primary assistance being the marvelous faculty she has for organizing her work.

When you consider that in addition to her husband, her lovely tri-level home, there are four children for whom to cook, wash, iron and care for, her job as housewife and mother attains great magnitude.

Marriage Means Moving

Shortly after her marriage, Vera Loreen Russel, nee Darrow, found herself embarked upon a life of moving about.

First there were two years in Milwaukee and then on to an apartment in Evanston.

During their seven years of residence in Evanston, daughter Pam, (now at Nilehi) was born in 1941 and Theron Jr., (a student in Sharp Corner) was born in 1945.

Then came there first home in Libertyville, Ill.

Five years were spent here and then, again in true pioneer woman fashion, Vera was packing and picking up roots to go to another home in Kalamazoo, Mich.

During their four years in Kalamazoo, Bobbie was born in 1953 and their little red haired beauty, Carol, came to join the family in 1953.

Arrive in Skokie

Three years ago, the prestige of this community was enhanced when the Russels moved into their home at 8818 Kildare Ave., Skokie.

Theron's position as mechanical packaging sales manager and consultant in packaging correlating for Ace Carton Co., Chicago, still takes him traveling all over the country, Mexico and Canada.

At the present time he is involved in developing a revolutionary new package for frozen foods.

However, with the young ones about the house, Vera's belief in "wither thou goest" as far as her husband was concerned had to be stilled for a while.

Vera Russell as laundress, cook, baker, housekeeper, car and window washer, is as efficient and meticulous as Vera, charming hostess, mother and wife.

Active in Scouting

Back in Libertyville and Kalamazoo, she was active in girl scouts and for a number of years had her own troop.

She has been an ardent worker on the polio and Red Cross drives, an active member of the Sharp Corner and Nilehi PTAs, and with her family, regular members of Holy Trinity Episcopal Church, and the Lake Shore Club.

This tall, lovely young woman soon will be going forth again to solicit funds for a research hospital.

Her hobbies include raising house plants, knitting, bridge, but most of all, her children.

All of the Russells enjoy fishing.

The Russells still go on trips together, but nothing like when there were just the two older children and they'd be off to places like Tucson, and life on a dude ranch.

How Does She Do It?

How does one woman perform all of her household duties, keep her family happy and contented, belong to clubs where her children are concerned and still manage to always look so young and pretty, with a constant sparkle in her eyes?

We think the answer lies in Vera Russell's love for all people—her family, her neighbors, her friends.

Her house is as sparkling as is she, and here Vera applies a bit of old fashioned elbow grease as she polishes her walls.

At the end of a busy day, Vera gets all set to attend a meeting of the Sharp Corner PTA.

A DAY IN PRISON

by SHERYL LEONARD

I went to prison — for a day.

I was the guest of the man who runs Stateville Penitentiary in Joliet.

The prison undoubtedly is a cruel and ugly place to its inmates. Yet somehow I found a gentle beauty there.

To me, Stateville does not seem to come under the classification of an "institution. One rather gets the impression of a large training school where thousands of men live, sleep, work and study.

This initial feeling on entering Stateville is due to the genius of one man, Warden Joseph E. Ragen, whose insight, understanding and knowledge of penology has brought about the atmosphere that exists within the penitentiary today.

Arriving at Stateville, we — other Newswomen and I — drove down a long, wide drive to the gates of the prison. In the center of the drive was a beautifully landscaped lawn, with a number of men, trustees, engrossed with working on a veritable carpet of grass. Were it not for the guard and our own knowledge of what lay beyond the towering brick wall, we might have been approaching a country club.

Gets "Frisking"

No one is allowed to enter the gates of Stateville without first signing his name and time of entry and then being "frisked" by a matron. We were asked to empty everything in our purse. However, with the exception of a small vial of perfume and our fountain pen, all the contents were returned to our bag.

After passing through a door that would have exposed any metal object on our person, we were permitted to proceed to the main building.

Greeted by Warden

Here we were greeted by one of the most gracious men we have ever met, Warden E. Ragen. All the time he was escorting us to his living quarters within the building, we kept asking ourselves how it was possible for one so calm, so pleasant, so gracious, to so successfully maintain order and discipline in a penitentiary of over 4,000 — for the most part, hardened criminals.

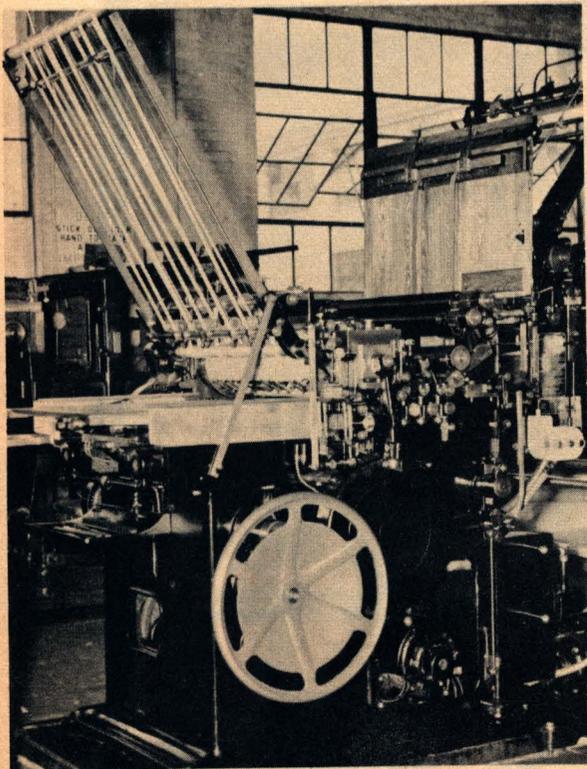

The apartment in which the warden and his family live is one of simple elegance. We were informed that most of the beautiful furnishings were made at Stateville by the prisoners.

Ragen escorted us to the enormous circular dining room with a seating capacity of 2,000. In the center of the room is a steel guard tower

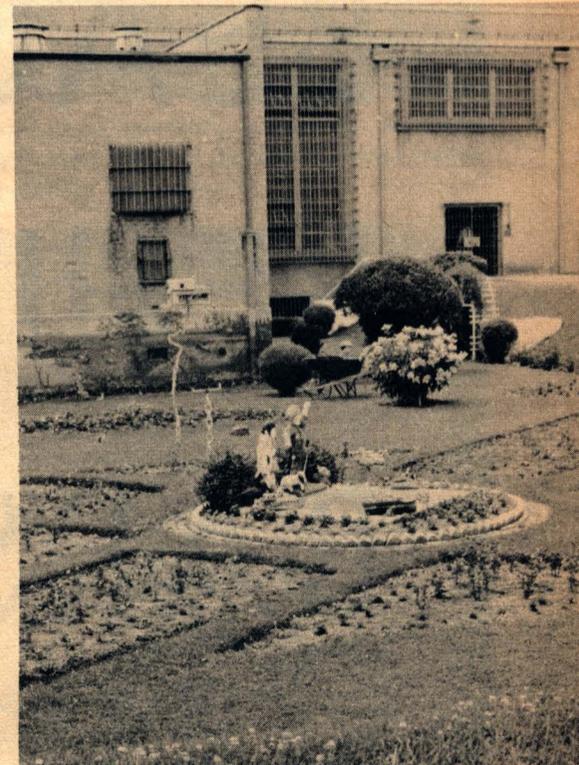

A corner of the attractively furnished apartment on the penitentiary grounds where Warden and Mrs. Ragen live and entertain and where they raised their two children.

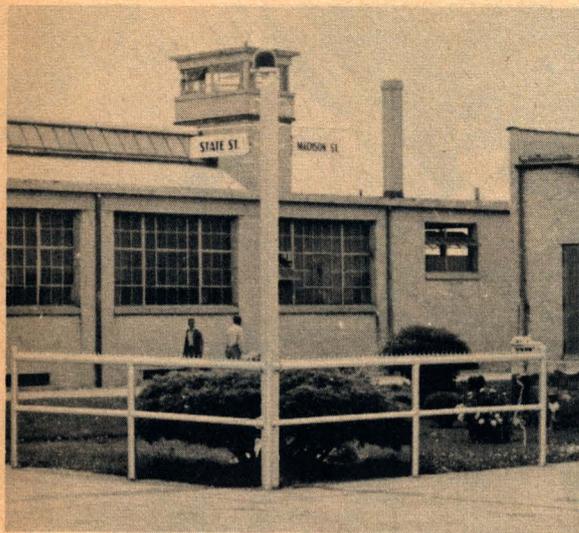

Part of the self sufficiency of Stateville is the print shop. Shown is one of the many presses on which the inmates print their own paper and learn about the printing business.

The immaculate interior of one of the cells.

A sense of humour and a bit of nostalgia combine to make this corner of the penitentiary grounds "State and Madison."

manned by armed guards during mealtime.

Bakery Tantalizing

As we stood viewing this huge room, a most delightful aroma of freshly baked bread reached us from the bakery, where 800 two pound loaves of bread are baked daily.

One of the men was carefully cutting into squares a mouth-watering coffee cake that could have graced the most elegant of tables.

The kitchen, the rooms where the food is kept, the deep-freezers holding the meat, all are fastidiously immaculate.

A typical menu will have something like cereal, milk and sugar, stewed apples, jelly, coffee, bread and margarine for breakfast; potted noodles with diced beef, lettuce salad, mixed fruit, coconut bars, bread, vegetables, iced tea, for dinner; hamburger steak in brown sauce, boiled potatoes, buttered green beans, green onions, cucumbers, rice pudding with raisins, bread, margarine and tea for supper.

From the dining room, we went on to visit one of the four circular cell houses. Each house contains 248 cells, equipped with modern plumbing and heating, bed, dresser and stools.

Radio for Inmates

Each inmate is furnished with individual ear-phones and the radio is controlled by a master control. However, there are three stations from which to select a program.

Doors of the cells are reinforced with glass set in steel frames, which are locked and controlled hydraulically. This type of cell house is known as a "panopticon" (meaning "seeing all") which the tower guard in the center of the cell house is able to do.

We saw the laundry where over a million and a half pounds of soiled clothing are handled yearly. It was interesting for us to watch the soap being made in the soap factory.

In fact, everything used in Stateville is made right on the premises. Furniture, printing, motor repair, tailoring, barbering... everything required to make Stateville completely self sufficient and self sustaining is handled by the inmates.

Top Level Schooling

When the warden turned us over to Lt. Hollis McKnight, vocational director at Stateville, as our escort through the schools, we were prepared to find some degree of training, but nothing like what we actually witnessed.

Going to school in Stateville is urged, but not compulsory. An inmate, with an 8th grade diploma, can complete his high school education. If he is not qualified for high school, he can attend grade school.

After completing the equivalent of a 4 year high school course, an inmate receives a GED, issued by the county. This is a certificate of General Education Development.

Instructors are all inmates, and the curriculum includes such subjects as languages, English, mathematics, history and accounting.

Great Works of Art

We stood entranced before some of the most beautiful oils and paintings we have ever seen. Even though some of these rare works of art are often exhibited and displayed in hotels and areas outside of the prison walls, we were crushed to see such tremendous talent lost to Doorway to a new way of life is the Stateville High School where a man can complete his education.

As Lt. McKnight tried to explain to us, many of these men never had an opportunity, or realized that they had these capabilities and talents, until they came to life after embarking on the penitentiary's vocational and educational program.

Here again was positive testimony to Warden Ragen's unique method of rehabilitation. Although many of these men may never be part of society again, at least they have found an emotional outlet, a final realization that they can do something worthwhile.

On the other hand, many a man has left Stateville and because of the training he received while a prisoner, was able to get a job in a well-paying trade.

Machinists, printers, bakers, barbers, cabinet makers, are only a few of the trades a man can learn.

In the vocational school, the warden, with acute intuitiveness, soft pedals theory and stresses actual performance — on-the-job training.

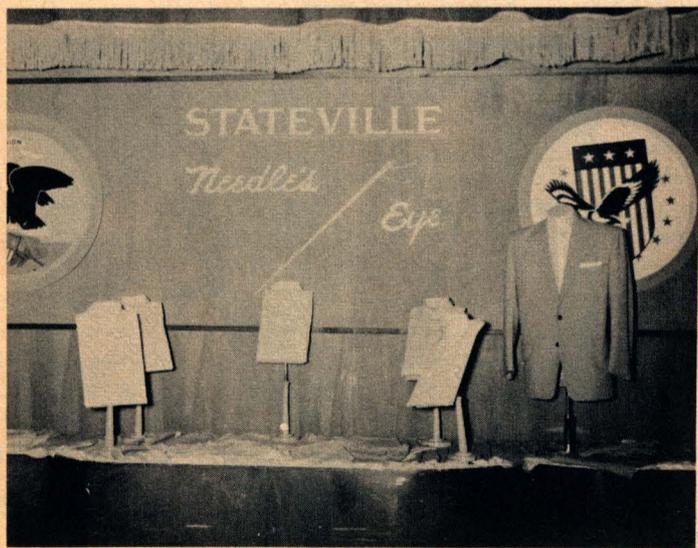

Beauty in Chapel

The beautiful stained glass windows, the altars, the works of art in the prison chapel were all created by inmates. It was in this chapel that press conferences were held by Nathan Leopold prior to his parole.

One can go on writing about Stateville, a city of men, lost for a while, or permanently, to the world, but living in a self sufficient, self sustaining state.

Book Written on Warden

Many volumes have been written about this penitentiary, about Warden Ragen, about some of its more "publicized" prisoners like Leopold, Touhy, Heirens, but no account ever carried the impact and factual reporting than the book, Warden Ragen of Joliet, by Gladys A. Erickson.

Miss Erickson, a brilliant writer and newspaperwoman, speaks of it in her book as "Stateville—a stark mausoleum silhouetted against the sky—a long road with landscaped parkway that leads off the busy highway—trusties in peaked prison caps—a watchful guard in khaki—"

As we made our way out of the prison gates and started our drive home, we were thinking of all the beauty we had seen in art work, in landscaping, in flower gardens; of the groups of blue denimed men, some at work in the shops some in school, some on the baseball diamond, some walking in groups supervised by a guard; we remembered the apparent, yet probably deceptive, relaxed feeling among guards and prisoners; we thought of the handsome young man who served our luncheon--

We were on highway 66, riding home, they were all there behind us, behind those huge walls—and the simple act of riding down the open road, knowing that we could turn off in any direction we pleased, suddenly seemed to hold great significance.

Chapter VII of Niles Township History:

Skokie's GREAT FIRE of 1910

by BERTHA M. ROSCHE

(Credit is due to Mr. George Blameuser for the greater part of this fire story. It is inevitable that an account taken orally in a number of personal interviews, should collect an assortment of gaps and conflicts. Before writing this chapter the author had to make a long-distance SOS call, and Mr. Blameuser's help in ironing out the wrinkles is much appreciated.)

The Niles Center fire of 1910 has been called a miniature of the Great Chicago Fire because of several similar aspects:

Both fires were in October after a prolonged period of drought.

The town was tinder waiting for a spark.

Both fires originated in a stable.

The barn in which this blaze began belonged to a Mr. Wolfe and was on the west side of Lincoln north of Oakton. A strong southeast wind whipped the fire along that side of the street.

As yet there was no water system in the village. Every house had its own well and cistern. The volunteer fire department relied upon the bucket brigade method. All able-bodied men took a hand, passing buckets or sopping roofs with mops and brooms from pails hauled up by rope. The department had a hand pumper to draw water from a cistern, but, with so many buildings afire at once, such equipment was pitifully inadequate.

Calls for help were sent to Morton Grove and Niles, and they contributed their volunteer departments, though they, too, were largely dependent on bucket-passing.

Then the call for help reached Evanston and Chicago. They responded with an engine and a company apiece. They laid their hoses to the lagoon belonging to the Peter Blameuser family, west of their large old home across the street from the present location of the Public Library. Without that little body of water the town doubtless would have been doomed. The fire lasted from afternoon until evening of the next day and left a block and a half of the business district smoldering.

Market Day

This had been a market day with its usual motley throng of outsiders. As though officials did not already have trouble aplenty, they had to contend with looting.

Those citizens whose buildings were in the probable path of the blaze began setting their furniture or stock out on the walks to be carted to safety—an ideal arrangement in the minds of the light-fingered ones among the crowd. So it was necessary to deputize men to guard what the fire didn't take.

After the disaster discussion began in earnest on the need for a water supply.

The first system was an artesian well on Niles Avenue at the present Searle Parkway. It was drilled through hardpan and solid rock to a depth of 1400 feet. A water tank above it held 25,000 gallons. The tank was taken down in the middle '30s, but the well now furnished Searles with water for air conditioning and sprinkling.

In the late '20s a pipeline was laid from Chicago, bringing Lake Michigan into the faucets of Niles Center. The first home to have running water was the Klebms', the rambling house known to older residents as the "Swedish Castle" in the 8200 block on Lincoln Avenue, now occupied by the American Legion.

Sewage a Problem

Running water necessitated a sewer system.

Sewage disposal was a real problem, for Niles Center had no stream such as Nature had provided to Morton Grove and Niles.

The Drainage Canal had been opened for use in January 1900, but the east boundary of Niles Center was still the Northwestern tracks, leaving a two-mile strip of unincorporated territory between the village and the canal.

The town was advised to install a septic tank, but the idea met with citizens' disfavor, and the problem of diverting sewage to the canal was taken up with Cook County. Much legal work had to be done to obtain rights from property owners on that strip of land. It was nearly a decade after the fire that the sewers were completed and connected with the Sanitary District system.

Since 1952 virtually all of Skokie receives its drink of water through Evanston. That city has a thoroughly modern plant on the lake front, with pipes reaching out 5000 feet into the lake, 30 feet under its surface. Its purification follows the most recent scientific methods.

So disaster eventually brought improvement and modernization. With water from the city and sewage through the canal the as-yet beneficent shadow of Chicago had reached this far.

HOW TO START A BIG BUSINESS FROM SCRATCH

Morton Grove Style

Exterior of the new Presto Stamping division, designed specifically to accommodate the large press.

Co-founders of the new corporation are, left to right, Roy Robinson, Michael McCauley, John Kornfeind and Charles Conlon. The firm's first subsidiary, not even in existence a year ago, will do more than $500,000 worth of business its first year.

said. "We expect Mark-Thomas will in time become one of the major companies in the country. We will eventually have many subsidiaries, of which Presto is only the first. We will create two more this year.

"Immediate plans call for a wide variety of products for industry, including powdered metal products such as bushings, small gears and the like made by using powdered metal and compressing it, and tool specialty items."

After McCauley dreamed up the master plan he presented it to three close friends—Roy F. Robinson of 8812 Meade, a contractor; John Kornfeind of 9116 Newcastle, an accountant, and Charles Conlon of 6140 Elm, an architect.

"They immediately became associated with me in following the project through," McCauley related. "Many other people we later sold stock to happened to belong to the Knights of Columbus too.

"Every stockholder is some sort of professional man, and all of them were selected on the basis of being able to make some tangible contribution to the new company. Many are in the construction business, some are in the machine tool industry, others in industrial supply and a number are local businessmen. In time, many will be full-time employes of Mark-Thomas or one or another of its divisions."

Family Growing, Too

McCauley, married and father of three, lived at 8247 Mango in Morton Grove for seven years. Recently, the family decided it had outgrown the house so Mrs. McCauley took the children on a vacation in Germany and McCauley expects to find a new and larger residence before their return this summer.

Meanwhile, he is supervising Mark-Thomas' growth as its president. Co-founder Robinson is president of Presto, which is producing "everything from thumb tacks to fabricated structural steel," as a company official put it.

Mark-Thomas bought out a small Evanston machine shop to launch Presto. The purchase netted them rights to a patented stamping process by which dies can be produced at as little as 10 per cent of conventional costs.

The new firm already has contracts with Hotpoint, A.B. Dick, Frigidaire and the Electromotive division of General Motors.

"We started only with faith in McCauley's drive and ability," Conlon said.

McCauley added: "We started our company in the midst of recession, but we have no problem getting business. Our problem is getting the work done."

A young dynamo from Morton Grove is the force behind a thriving new business which exemplifies the free enterprise system at its best.

The firm began in the brain of Michael McCauley, 35-year-old industrialist. It gained momentum when he outlined his plan to three Morton Grove friends, and it came to life when the four men, all members of the Knights of Columbus, fired the imagination of 40 other members of their church in Morton Grove and enlisted their aid as investors.

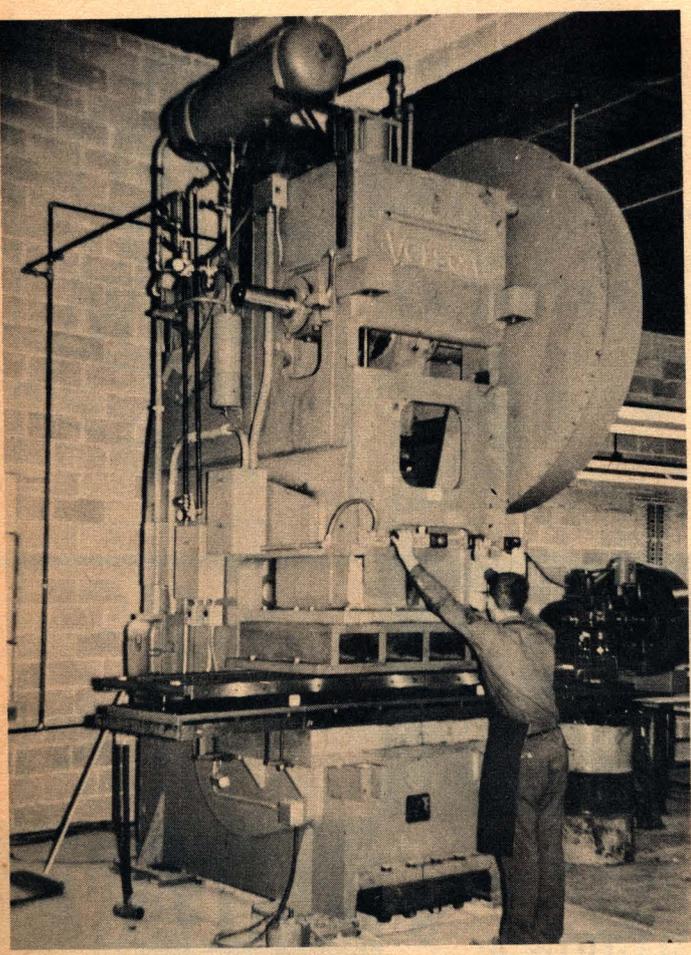

The company, known as the Mark-Thomas corporation, was conceived as a parent concern which eventually will have a number of subsidiaries. It derived its name from the two apostles, Mark and Thomas.

Its first subsidiary, the Presto Stamping division, already is in operation in Arlington Heights, has more orders than it can fill, and is assured of doing at least $500,000 worth of business during its first year. A year ago it was just a gleam in McCauley's eye.

McCauley came to Chicago from Pittsburgh with experience in the tool and die industry. He founded two firms—Bell Tool company and the Marathon Die Set company, both in Evanston. These concerns were started on a shoestring with the aid of several partners, and both have prospered.

Why Third Firm?

Then why launch a third firm operating in substantially the same field? "Primarily because of the difference in long-term aim," McCauley

Neatly coiffured and manicured, Viola McMillen finds putting a new sole on a shoe can be fun.

Lasting Lasts . . . The Shoemaker Is a Woman

by SHERYL LEONARD

It is a bit incongruous to find a female shoemaker. But what adds to the incongruity is that the shoe repair artist is a tall, stately, blue eyed brunette.

As a youngster back in Missouri, while little girls were fascinated by golden curled dolls, Viola McMillen would stand entranced watching her father at work in his part time shoe repair shop.

She had no idea then of following in her father's trade, since she hoped some day to become a nurse. However, dreams of nursing were shattered when her father died and she had to turn her schooling into other channels.

Move to Milwaukee

After Viola's marriage to Harry McMillen, the couple decided to move to Milwaukee where Viola's brother had a successful shoe repair business.

Harry went to work with his brother-in-law and Viola stayed at home to raise a family.

When the youngsters were in school, the McMillens decided to go into business for themselves.

Goes to Work with Husband

That's when Viola donned an apron and went to work beside her husband.

Having a natural ability to create and to make new things out of old, she became proficient at repairing the upper parts of a shoe. Her husband worked on the soles and lower parts of a shoe and as Viola laughingly tells it, "He did the bottoms and I did the tops,"

They worked together in this manner for about nine years, and when a friend told them of the need for a good shoe repair shop in Skokie, they decided to move.

Open Shop in Skokie

Six years ago they opened the Parkside Shoe Repair Shop at 4644 Oakton St., and made their home at 8023 Kilpatrick St.

In addition to repairing shoes, Viola does a lot of zipper repair work.

It is not unusual to find this smiling, well groomed, manicured, woman hard at work on one of the heavy shoe repairing machines.

A quick change, and the work apron is removed, leaving her all dressed up to go out with her husband to a meeting of the Moose Lodge, or to participate in her bowling league.

She's Musician, Too

When she isn't making the machinery hum, she is making music. She is official pianist for the Moose Lodge.

It is a tribute to Viola McMillen's ability and courage that while she was working by the side of her husband, in an occupation unfamiliar to women, she raised two fine children.

Her lovely daughter, Marlene Rae, was married recently to Thomas John David, and her son Ron, is a familiar figure as one of Skokie's police officers.

Viola McMillen's lasts may be lasting, but so are all the good impressions she makes on all who come to know her.

Smartly attired, Viola McMillen is a typical suburban matron ready to attend a club meeting.

Man and wife, side by side, Viola and Harry McMillen find working together a real pleasure, as well as a practical arrangement.

Mrs. McMillen takes a great deal of pride in making new things out of old and concentrates on doing a good job.

Program Notes for Kiwanis Convention

The 43rd annual convention of Kiwanis International scheduled for June 29th through July 2nd, will be the largest in the organization's history. This "homecoming convention" is expected to attract more than 16,000 Kiwanians and their wives. They will enjoy four days in the nation's second largest city, with emphasis on fun, fellowship, and planning for the future of Kiwanis.

The cornerstone laying ceremony for the new Kiwanis permanent home will be one of the highlights. The new home is currently under construction two blocks north and a block west of the present home office location.

A top-notch slate of personalities will sparkplug the program. In addition to International President H. Park Arnold, the four-day affair will see the appearance of the Honorable Wilber M. Brucker, U. S. Secretary of the Army; The Honorable Henry Cabot Lodge, U. S. Representative to the United Nations; Mr. Brian Aherne, star of the Chicago Company of "My Fair Lady," and Dr. Kenneth Wells, President of The Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge.

The convention will feature a complete schedule of affairs for conventioners of the distaff side: Monday afternoon, June 30th, there will be a fashion show in Chicago's Medinah Temple, specially-staged by Marshall Field and Company; Wednesday afternoon, July 2nd, there will be a theatrical presentation for the ladies — also at Medinah Temple. Special programs for junior guests will take place all day Monday, the 30th, Tuesday morning, July 1st, and all day Wednesday, July 2nd. There'll be a nursery for the smallest fry with trained personnel in attendance — in a downtown Chicago hotel. A list of baby-sitters will be available at the Junior Guest booth at the International Amphitheatre.

The convention itself will be staged at the International Amphitheatre — 42nd and Halsted Streets. The Amphitheatre is located on the edge of the Chicago Stock Yards area — largest in the country. The area is a small city in itself, complete with bank, newspaper, hotel, and one of the finest restaurants in the world. There will be shuttle buses between the Amphitheatre and the Chicago Loop (where most delegates will be housed) during convention sessions.

Traditionally, Kiwanis conventions are the "singing-est conventions in town." Music and the sponsorship of musical organizations is dear to the hearts of Kiwanians everywhere. There seems to be a connection between good living and this emphasis on music. The Chicago convention will feature Kiwanis-sponsored amateur bands, choruses, combinations and other musical groups from literally every corner of the North American continent. Both adults and youngsters will be represented.

Mariners Show Great Talent In Club's Fourth Presentation

The show was presented in the Fellowship Hall of the Westminster Presbyterian Church, 4950 Pratt Ave., Skokie.

This was the first year the show was open to the public and a charge made for admission. From the success of the attendance, it was decided to present future shows to the general public.

The show included variety acts, dancing, songs, and comedy. The final number, a patriotic theme, was a group of selections by the choir.

Ozzie Wolfes, of Lincolnwood, the first skipper of the club, was director and master of ceremonies.

Honolulu Rock 'N Roll could very well be the theme song for Mrs. Clarence Dennis of Lincolnwood as she participates in the Mariners Club talent show.

Niles Township Group Names Executive Director

Louis I. Heller of Atlantic City, New Jersey, has been named executive director of The Niles Township Jewish Congregation, Skokie, it was announced this week by Myron Greisdorf, president of the synagogue. Mr. Heller is the first person to be named to this newly-created position, just as The Niles Township Jewish Congregation was also the first in the area to name a rabbi, a cantor and a Director of Religious Education. Mr. Heller, a graduate of the City College of New York, is a product of the Park Avenue Synagogue, where he studied with Rabbi Judah Goldin and the late Rabbi Milton Steinberg. He comes to The Niles Township Jewish Congregation position from Congregation Beth Israel in Atlantic City, where he served as executive secretary. He is married and the father of three children. He has already assumed his administrative responsibilities at The Niles Township Jewish Congregation.

NTJC SERVICE

"What Mean These Words?", a review of his sermons this year, will be the topic of the sermon to be delivered by Rabbi Sidney J. Jacobs at the Sabbath Eve service of The Niles Township Jewish Congregation Friday, June 27, at 8:30 p.m. in the synagogue, 4420 Oakton St., Skokie.

Roberta Ilene Levy, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving I. Levy, will be named and blessed at the service.

Dr. and Mrs. Stein will be hosts at the Oneg Shabbat collation which follows the service in honor of their son's Bar Mitzvah, as will Mr. and Mrs. Irving I. Levy in honor of their daughter's naming.

Robert Edwin Stein, son of Dr. and Mrs. Leon Stein, 4050 Greenwood Ave., Skokie, will become Bar Mitzvah at the Sabbath morning service of The Niles Township Jewish Congregation on Saturday, June 27, beginning at 10 a.m.

Two Big Events For Skokie K of C

Skokie Council, Knights of Columbus has two important activities planned for Sunday, June 29.

The Quarterly Communion of the council will be held at the 8 a.m. Mass at St. Peter's Catholic Church in Skokie.

The annual picnic of the council will be held in Groves 8 and 9 of Harms Woods with registration starting at 11 a.m.

All children who are registered will receive free ice cream, soft drinks and favors. Many valuable prizes will be given away to winners of contests to be held during the day.

Charles Briggs is chairman of the picnic committee and the co-chairmen are John Calderhese, Irving Day, George Heron, Jimmy Hohns, Mike McCauley, Joe Rakosky and Roy Robinson.

The committee urges all members of the council to bring their families to the picnic.

Few Non-Whites In the North Suburban Area

Only two north suburban Cook county towns and five in Lake county are among the 25 out of 192 Chicago suburbs which have more than 2.5 per cent or 250 non-white residents under the latest available censuses.

A suburban "segregation" study released by the Illinois Commission on Human Relations, a state agency gave out the information at its annual delegates' conference.

Evanston with 7,832 non-whites out of 74,959 residents under a 1955 special census, or 10.4 per cent compared with 7,134, or 9.7 per cent in 1950; and Glencoe, with 579 out of 8,647 under a 1954 census, or 6.7 per cent, compared with 454 out of 6,980, or 6.5 per cent in 1950, are the two exceptions.

Kenilworth, which had 84 non-whites out of 8,789 residents in 1950, has not taken a census since, and Winnetka, with 309 non-whites and 2.6 per cent in 1950, had dropped to 2.5 per cent with 285 out of 13,058 population by a 1955 census.

The report pointed out that north suburban non-whites in some areas were largely women employed as domestics.

Stating that lack of employment opportunities, high costs of homes in most areas, and "housing discrimination" were causes, the report, written by Mirro Romanow, research supervisor, concluded: "Regardless of the factors involved, Chicago suburbs have developed a high degree of racial segregation, which in turn tends to promote segregation in economic, social, political,

Dr. Johnson On WTTW TV Series

Morton Grovers may be surprised to see a familiar face on their television sets this summer.

Dr. Falk S. Johnson, 7101 Palma Lane, Morton Grove, is appearing on Channel 11, (WTTW) 7:30 to 8 p.m., on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays as instructor of a College Preparatory English course.

The program is designed to give high-school seniors who plan on entering college this fall, a running start in English composition.

Insurance Man Wins Plaudits

Jan Prochotsky, 8424 Keystone Ave., Skokie, representative of the Lincoln National Life Insurance Company, and a member of the F. G. Lotito Agency, gained national recognition for his personal production record for May, it has just been announced by Cecil F. Cross, vice-president and director of agencies.

Mr. Prochotsky, tied for seventh place in number of policies sold and ranked 16th in total sales.

This honor was won in direct competition with all of the company's more than 2,500 sales representatives throughout the country.

Figures as follows are given for other north and northwest suburban non-whites, who include Indians, Orientals, and dark Mexicans as well as Negroes, the report points out:

Glenview, one out of 13,470 (1956); Golf, two out of 232 (1954); Lincolnwood, 52 out of 10,490, (1957); Morton Grove, 64 out of 16,643 (1958); Niles, six out of 13,949 (1957); Northbrook, eight out of 8,148 (1955); Northfield, 20 out of 3,170 (1956); Skokie, 98 out of 43,987 (1956).

Wilmette, 157 out of 20,500 (1956); Arlington Heights, two out of 19,149 (1956); Des Plaines, four out of 28,512 (1956); Norridge, 11 out of 4,596 (1956); Palatine, one out of 7,766 (1956); Park Ridge, 19 out of 27,590 (1957); Schiller Park, five out of 3,555 (1957); Wheeling, three out of 3,426 (1956).

Reporting no non-whites in the latest census are:

Mount Prospect, 11,894 population (1956), and Rolling Meadows, 8,416 population (1957).

X-Ray Unit To Move To Morton Grove, Niles

A mobile chest X-ray unit will move into Morton Grove for two days of free chest X-raying.

The Unit will be parked at 6010 Dempster, Morton Grove, on Monday and Tuesday, July 14 and 15.

During the preceding week, July 7 through 11, the unit will be stationed at 4949 Oakton St., Skokie, where x-rays will be taken from 2 to 9 p.m. on Monday and Friday, and from 10:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Next Monday and Tuesday, June 30 and July 1, residents of Niles can get their free check against tuberculosis at the unit parked at Birchwood and Milwaukee Aves., Niles. X-rays will be taken there from 2 to 9 p.m. on Monday, and from 10:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on Tuesday.

The summer survey of tuberculosis detection is conducted by The Tuberculosis Institute and The Suburban Cook County Tuberculosis Sanitarium District.

Last summer 928 Morton Grove residents had free chest x-rays in the three-day program in their community. Reported at that time were 17 suspected cases of TB, 5 suspected cases of cardiac disease, and 3 suspected cases of some other type of chest disorder.

On June 1 of this year 2 Morton Grove residents were receiving hospital care for tuberculosis from SCCTSD.

Having a chest x-ray takes less than a minute and requires no undressing. All x-ray films are read by radiologists at SCCTSD, and results of the readings are mailed to the home within two weeks. If further checks are necessary, they may be obtained free of charge at one of the SCCTSD clinics.

Special activities of the Tennis Club are already well underway. Wright-Lee Scores Over Cleveland

The V.F.W. Little League baseball was rained out Tuesday. The B League played both scheduled games on Wednesday with Mike Schearn's Wright Lee team beating Cleveland with a score of 3-2.

Excellent pitching caused the first nine boys at bat to strike out. Manager Gail Inlow's Terminal nine walloped MacMiles' Lorel Park team 7-2.

On Thursday, in the only B League scheduled game, Tony Donofrio's Cleveland team came back and trounced Lorel 10-1. Tony played all 15 of his boys. The A League was met by rain all the way through.

Pony League Opens Season

The Skokie Pony league opened its season during the past week with teams representing the Boosters, the V.F.W. and Kiwanis taking the lead.

Jim Rogan's grand slam home run and fine relief pitching by Ken Borcia, who also homered, weren't enough for the Krier Democrats, who bowed to the V.F.W. 8-7.

Chuck Scharf pitched for the Kiwanis club and beat the Skokians 14-5. The Boosters defeated the Regular Republicans 9-5 as pitcher Farrell allowed only two hits and struck out 18.

The Ponies and the Independent Republicans also tangled, but the game ended in a 4-4 tie—called because of darkness.

BILLBOARDS

Public hearings are scheduled for July 7 on a zoning proposal to prohibit billboards and other advertising signs within 300 feet of superhighways in unincorporated areas of Cook county.

The county zoning board will conduct the hearings on the billboard prohibition recommended by the county board and presented by Harry Chadwick, director of the county's rezoning project.

High single game score for the season goes to Anne Olker, 4421 Main St., Skokie, with a 220, high series of 547 is held by Elizabeth Zeiler.

'Snow White' Returning to Local Screens

"WHISTLE WHILE YOU WORK" . . . With the assistance of her friends of the forest, Snow White cheerfully sings, as they tidy up the cottage of the Seven Dwarfs in this scene from Walt Disney's feature-length cartoon, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs." One of the most beloved of Disney's features, the film is re-released, in color by Technicolor, by Buena Vista.

FOURTEEN EYES AND SEVEN NOSES . . . peering over the foot of the bed belong to Walt Disney's beloved Seven Dwarfs, who discover that the "monster" that invaded their cottage is none other than the Princess, Snow White.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

The Niles Township Community Chest and Council Board of Directors, and I are most appreciative of the very splendid publicity which you are giving the Chest in your newspaper, and I am confident that the good people of the entire area concur with us in this feeling.

Thank you again for all you are doing for us as well as for your fine co-operation with those of us who are trying in a small way to make this a better community in which to live.

Norman Schack President Combined Community Chest and Council of Niles Township

You have had our subscription since long before publication as we felt that there should be one quality news magazine for the whole area.

With sincere good wishes for your success,

Honor Easton Webster Evanston

Dear Editor:

We Byfords already love your newspaper. It is like reading a good magazine all about familiar persons and places. And what a pleasure to enjoy all of your photos without going blind!

Those were fine articles about our next-door neighbors, the DeCorrevonts, and Mrs. Barry, a wonderful lady. Could hardly wait for Thursday and the Skokie Civic Theater feature.

Our sincere good wishes for a long and successful life for the Villager.

Mary S. Byford Morton Grove

Dear Editor:

I want to thank you for serving as a resource person in the field of journalism. I had many comments to the effect that your discussion was very informal and that you gave students and parents valuable information about your particular vocation.

We, in the Guidance Department, feel that you gave the conference wonderful publicity in the article which appeared in The Villager.

O.H. Ruyle Vocational Counselor Niles Township Community High School

Dear Editor:

I wish to thank you for the free copies. We think you and the staff are doing a great job! Enclosed please find check for subscription.

My parents will be here next week from Colorado. In the past I have found it difficult to get them interesting reading matter. Father is 83 and mother is 82. The Villager has solved that project for me this year. I know the folks will enjoy reading The Villager as we do, especially the articles on Our History. Congratulations. Keep up the good work and lots of luck for your future success.

COHEN'S COLUMN

by RAY COHEN

Although the high school season is over, many of Niles' top players are still active on the diamond.

On Saturday, two of the Nilehi stars—and 38 other prep standouts—will participate in the Chicago American Diamond Classic. This brings together the 20 outstanding seniors from city schools and the 20 top-rated boys from all the suburban schools.

The game will be played at Comiskey Park June 28—after the Sox-Senators game.

First baseman Bill Ihne and pitcher-outfielder Ron Chez will represent the state runners-up Niles Trojans in the game. Both boys made the all-Suburban League and all-state tourney teams this year.

Chez was voted the team's most valuable and the schools' outstanding senior athlete of 1958. A right hander, Chez posted a 15-3 record this year while receiving three shut-outs, including one no-hitter. He also played the outfield and posted a .242 batting mark.

Ihne batted .313 this year with three homers. Ihne is reggraded by many scouts as a fine prospect, especially around the first base sack.

The suburban team is well fortified. Evanston's George Joswik (3b-ss) and Carl Harmon (of), Bull Reno (New Trier's catcher), and Frank Reda (of) of Proviso are other stars from the SL. All were all-league choices.

Vic Pagel (3b) and Bob Gruber (p-of) of Maine's state champions also are members of this squad. The others are: infielders—Meyer (LaGrange), Wisner (Palatine), Coleman (Kankakee), Green (Bloom), and McGee (Oak Lawn); Outfielder—Dapkus (Evergreen Park); pitchers—Featherstone (Blue Island), Gowe (Warren), and Rosset (North Shore Country Day). Rosset pitched three consecutive no-hitters!

Don Kolloway, former White Sox first baseman and second baseman, and Brue Benson, Wheaton Academy coach, are the co-coaches of this dream team of prep stars.

The city team: infielders—Pieroni (Wells), Plump (Tilden), Ball Tuley), Lacney (St. Rita), Carlson (Lindbloom); Chiakulas (Kelvyn Park), Schneider (Amundsen), Kucharski (Gage Park) and Melsheimer (Schurz); outfielders—Chmelik (Fenwick), Diugoploski (Tuley), and Todhunter (Fenger); catchers—Dzik (Lane), Figiel (Kelly), and Lord (Parker); pitchers—Best (Lake View), Bruckner (Calumet), Mathys (De LaSalle), Pickett Taft, and Vasil (Vocational).

Skokie Legion Sponsors Two at Boys State

Skokie American Legion Post 320 announce its selection of Mike Skol and Steven Fox as its Boys State delegates. The boys will attend the annual American Legion Boys State Convention held on the State Fair grounds at Springfield, from June 22 to June 29.

William Downing, the Skokie Boys State representative, states that the boys were selected by members of the Niles Township High School faculty, where Mike Skol and Steven Fox have both completed their junior year.

Steven Fox, 17, of 4910 Morse Ave., Skokie, has been home room president for three years. He is also president of the Freshman Cabinet and is an active member of the Bowling Club, Choir, Boys' Glee Club and the Math Seminar.

Mike Skol, 15, of 8912 Bronx, Skokie, has maintained an "A" average throughout his three years of high school. He is president of the Thespian Society; a member of the National Honor Society, and he plays the viola in the school orchestra.

The purpose of the Illinois American Legion Boys State is to provide citizenship training for approximately 1200 boys.

In Film Festival

A medical education motion picture produced by G.D. Searle and Co., medical research and pharmaceutical manufacturing organization, has been chosen to represent the United States in the scientific-didactic category of the 1958 International Film Festival in Venice, Italy, in July.

The film, "Edema in Congestive Heart Failure," was picked by a committee sponsored by the U.S. State Department as the best of its type produced in the United States in 1957.

Helicopters to Start Serving Winnetka Area

Winnetka and its surrounding communities got the jump on the Niles Township area this week with an announcement that helicopter service has been approved for that section.

The Illinois Commerce Commission authorized helicopter passenger service between Winnetka and O'Hare Field.

The stop will be added to the triangle formed by O'Hare, Midway Airport and Meigs Field, serviced by Chicago Helicopter Airways, Inc.

Studies currently are being made to determine the feasibility of establishing an Evanston-Skokie heliport to provide the same service. The two communities are financing the project jointly.

Park District Tennis Tourney

The Skokie Closed Tennis Tournament for residents of the Skokie Park District will be held on the Oakton Park Tennis Courts beginning Monday, July 7. Final matches will be played Sunday, July 13.

Entry blanks may be obtained at the Park District office, 4400 Grove St. Entries and fees must be received at the Park District office no later than 5 p.m. on July 3, or by the tournament chairman, Mrs. William G. Ramsey, 4741 Keeney St. no later than 5 p.m. on July 5.

The following events are planned: men's singles, women's singles, men's doubles, mixed doubles, junior boy's singles, boy's singles, boy's singles and junior girl's singles. Park District area residents are encouraged to enter the tournament and become acquainted with the rapidly expanding tennis program being offered by the Skokie Park District.

STATION ROBBED

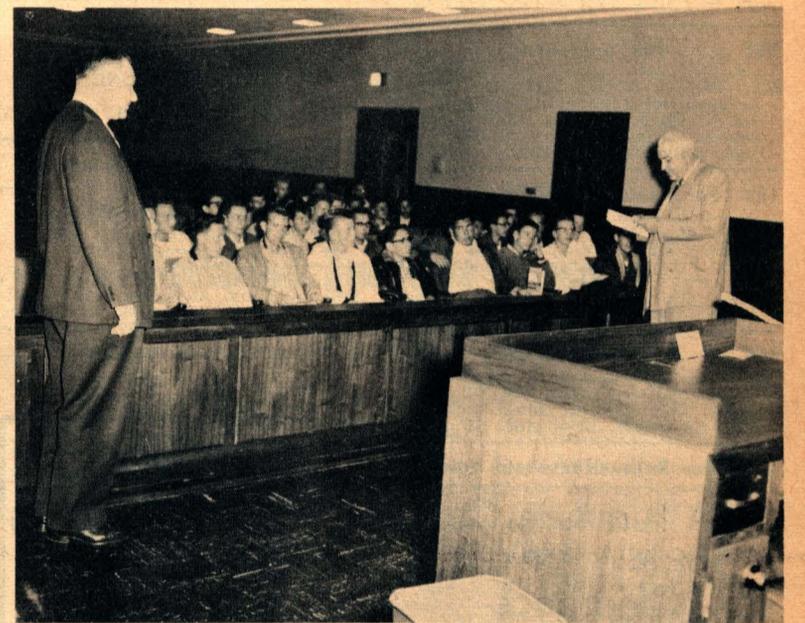

Lincolnwood Police Chief "Les" Flowers reported that vandals broke a window pane to gain entry into the Triangle Service Station, 6777 Lincoln Ave., on Saturday, June 21, and broke into the cigarette machine, taking money and cigarettes.

GETS DEGREE

Norman H. Ohlson, 23, of 7841 Kenneth Ave., Skokie, was awarded an Associate Degree in Applied Science upon successful completion of a 96 week residential training program in Electronic Technology and Design from DeVry Technical Institute, 4141 Belmont Avenue, Chicago. A veteran of the United States Marines, Ohlson served in the Korean War.

A. E. Spotzke, right, vice president in charge of public and industry relations for the Allstate Insurance Companies, explains American public relations procedures to Park Chan Yong, chief of the Insurance Section of the Ministry of Finance of the Republic of Korea, who visited Skokie recently to study Allstate's operation.

Police Sgt. Bob Krueger, Skokie Juvenile officer, as he gave instruction at a session of the Motor Scooter Safety School, held recently at the Skokie police building. More than 50 teenagers from throughout the township attended. Police Chief W.C. Griffin is at left.

Old makes way for the new... Workmen are shown as they demolished a house at the northwest corner of Main and Lehigh Streets in Morton Grove, to make way for the new Illinois Bell Telephone Co. garage. Completion of the new building is expected early next year.
