To the Seniors of Nilehi East:

I congratulate you upon the completion of your studies in the Niles Township High School. When you receive your diplomas this year, you become members of a large group of very special people--the alumni of one of America's finest high schools.

May the years after graduation bring you many rewarding experiences which come to those who have given their best to life.

East Division Administration

The class level administrators concerned themselves with many facets of student life. The role of each class level administrator included problems far more complex than student discipline. Essential responsibilities of the administrators included attendance, arrangement of conferences with parents, and the establishment of a personal relationship between parents, students, and administrators. The administrators also helped to maintain the high level of scholastic and athletic attainments that are typical of Nilehi East.

To the Students of Nilehi East:

Within the cover of this annual edition of Reflections, the yearbook staff has recorded the highlights of the school year 1966-1967. It has been a year of personal growth and satisfaction to students and faculty as recorded in these pages.

To all students of Nilehi East, I convey my personal thanks and appreciation for the efforts extended to make this high school the outstanding secondary school it is today. Our great faculty has continued the outstanding work characteristic of past staffs but can only accomplish the goals that students are willing to achieve.

Congratulations to the staff of this yearbook for a job well done.

Guidance offers a helping hand

Mr. Rottschafer discusses foreign study with Holly Lubow.

The guidance department tested a new organization of the counselors. In this experiment, counselors were arranged on a vertical scale, with each counselor guiding students from all four grade levels. Vertical grouping allowed the counselors to contact more students and to familiarize himself with situations found in all four levels of education. Although each counselor advised approximately three hundred and twenty-five students, the special emphasis was on personal attention. In addition, the guidance counselors had special assignments such as testing, scholarships, career seminars, Junior parent night, college representatives, and military obligation. Guidance assemblies ranged from informing Freshmen of school policies to showing Seniors films on colleges.

Danae Prousis meticulously learns the process of organizing a newspaper.

This year the English department concentrated on strengthening each of its three academic levels. The discontinuation of the previously offered English literature course due to insufficient interest led to a re-evaluation of each of the three class levels. Basic classes composed of ten per cent of the total student body, worked with novels such as Lord of the Flies much more extensively. The reading of both novels and plays helped the basic student become more aware of the values of literature. In addition to the customary study of Shakespeare, Dickens, Hawthorne, and Thoreau, the regular classes read a diversity of novels and plays. The ten per cent of the student body taking honors classes did much outside independent study, working with literature of all kinds and preparing for advanced placement examinations.

In addition to offering instructions in French, Spanish, German, and Latin, the foreign language department enlightened the student on the culture and customs of the country. Movies and film strips gave the student a personal view of the country's sights and customs. The third and fourth year student studied such novels as La Symphonie Pastorale in French and La Nela in Spanish. The purpose of reading these books was to give the student new insights into the culture of the country. The addition of a fifth year French class gave the student increased opportunities to study various phases of life in France.

Social Studies reviews the horizons

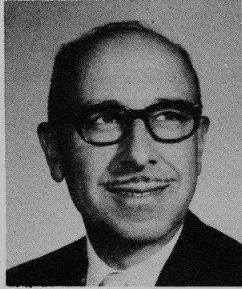

Errol Kaplan and Mary Ellen Sanchez concentrate on the questions of Mr. DeJonge's political science test.

During this school year, Mr. Spatafora, who had been department chairman in previous years, took a sabbatical, and Mr. Miya became the temporary department chairman. Despite this change, the underlying philosophy of all history courses continued to display the connection between events of the past and the events of the present. Beginning with the dawn of civilization, the social studies department offered courses that traced man's entire sequence of events. Upperclassmen were able to enroll in such courses as family living, psychology, sociology, and economics because political science was no longer a required course.

Science progresses with the future in mind

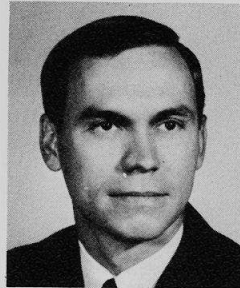

Mr. Degenhardt looks on as Steve Sweet learns the mastery of the microscope, the most important tool used in biology.

The science department at Niles East progressively expanded while it strived to acquire the newest equipment and materials. This year, the biology classes experimented with new laboratory work which Mr. Degenhardt helped formulate during special committee work for the Biological Sciences Curriculum Study. The science department spent much of this year planning for the future especially in respect to the extensive remodeling of rooms 312, 314, and 316. Science seminar, a group working on individual projects, purchased a new oscilloscope, a machine that measures the speed of sound and light and can detect electrical impulses in the body. The new equipment acquired this year is the beginning of the modernization of laboratory techniques.

Niles' business education courses were designed not only for vocationally interested students, but also for college-bound students. Such courses as advertising, bookkeeping, business mathematics, consumer economics, and salesmanship helped the student in his understanding of the business world. For the great number of students especially interested in secretarial work, Junior Secretaries and Future Secretaries Clubs were organized to help these students pursue their objectives. Some of the members of this department, interested in executive careers, organized the Future Executives Club.

Home Economics stresses creativity

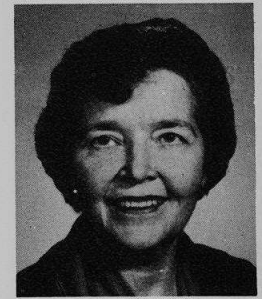

The home arts courses helped prepare girls for their future roles as homemakers and wives. The clothing and foods classes obtained new conveniences in order to keep up with the modern world. Girls learned to make fashionable clothes at only a slight expense on the new touch and sew sewing machines. Although they practiced planning and preparing meals with the new "ready-made" foods, they also learned how not to be totally dependent on these foods. The home arts classes taught girls the finer points of their future family responsibilities: how to shop wisely for clothes; how to prepare an appetizing meal; how to decorate a home; and how to successfully care for a family.

The proper way to sift flour is demonstrated in Miss Butler's foods class.

Industrial Arts build mechanical skills

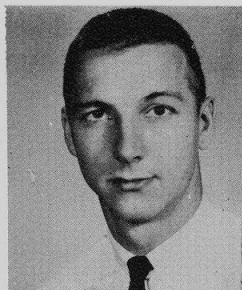

Mr. Test points out the parts of an automobile to Sheldon Tomlinson, Ed Van Russell, David Daniels, and Steve Matlin.

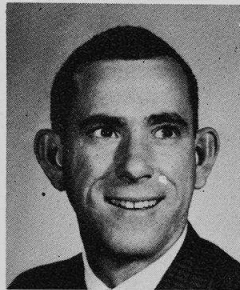

The industrial arts department coordinated the ability of the student to transform his own ideas into real objects. Industrial arts courses and the student's ingenuity transformed the concepts expressed in art, mathematics, and science into useful products. On its most basic level, the industrial arts department offered the knowledge which is needed to solve the simple and complex problems found at home. On its more advanced levels, the department offered courses which provide the basis for further vocational plans. Such courses as auto mechanics, photography, and electricity provided the foundation for the student's future career aspirations.

Donna LeComte begins to transform her thoughts into a painting with the use of water colors and imagination.

Expansion was the keynote of the art department this year. The high enrollment of three hundred and forty-seven students, approximately seventeen per cent of the entire student body, made it necessary to add another art room. The increase in enrollment was especially large in the two one semester courses offered, art lab and art history. With the additional room, students could better explore such areas as jewelry making, wood carving, and printmaking. This year the regular four year major art classes concentrated on the techniques applied to various forms of art.

The music department offered students the opportunity to pursue their goals in the music field. Students who were interested in the instrumental program could join beginners band and progress to the concert band and orchestra. Mixed chorus and glee club were open to those students who were interested in vocal music. From these two vocal classes, students were selected to enroll in the Concert Choir. In addition to performing in the annual school festivals, the choir sang at the Palmer House for a convention of the North Central Business Education Association. This year the choir also appeared on WTTW television and on a local radio station. The highlight of the year was the presentation of the musical, Music Man.

Physical Education

The boys physical education department has undergone several basic changes. Having all of the one hundred forty three boys of a gym period join in mass calisthenics provided a more standard and less time consuming program. Groups of underclassmen who exhibit outstanding traits of citizenship and athletic ability trained in the leaders gym program.

A similar leaders program was innovated by the girls physical education department seven years ago. The leaders program was designated to assist gym instructors in leading class activities. For those who were unable to participate in the normal gym program, a modified gym class provided ample recreation.

The new tennis courts provide room for the instruction of tennis.

The skills and the teaching of skills are learned by senior leaders Rochelle Cohen, Carolyn Dowlin, and Karen Muskatt as they participate in a basketball game.

This year the drivers' education department slightly altered one of the three phases of learning, the classroom instruction. A new textbook with more recent illustrations and regulations was adopted. Instead of relying on extra reports, class discussion, and films, the drivers' education department invited Illinois State Police officers to lecture on the rules of the road. The Aetna Drivo-Trainer machine was then used as a preparation for the behind-the-wheel phase. The hours of driving experience adequately prepared the student for the Illinois State License Examination, which was administered three times during the school year.

Many students benefited from the services of the special education department. Certain members of the special service staff, such as the speech correctionist, the impaired hearing instructor, and the homebound instructors aided students that suffered from handicaps. Other special services taught advanced techniques. The reading laboratory instructor helped those students who wanted to improve both their reading and comprehension rates. New to Niles East this year was the college preparation course, which also emphasized reading and vocabulary, thereby preparing students for the ACT and SAT exams. Audio-visual aids, another special service, enabled students to assist the teacher in emphasizing important points with the use of movie and slide projectors, overhead projectors, and duplicating machines. Another service, the work-study program, gave students the opportunity to go to school for a half a day and to work the other half. The special services offered at Niles East aided both the student body and the faculty.

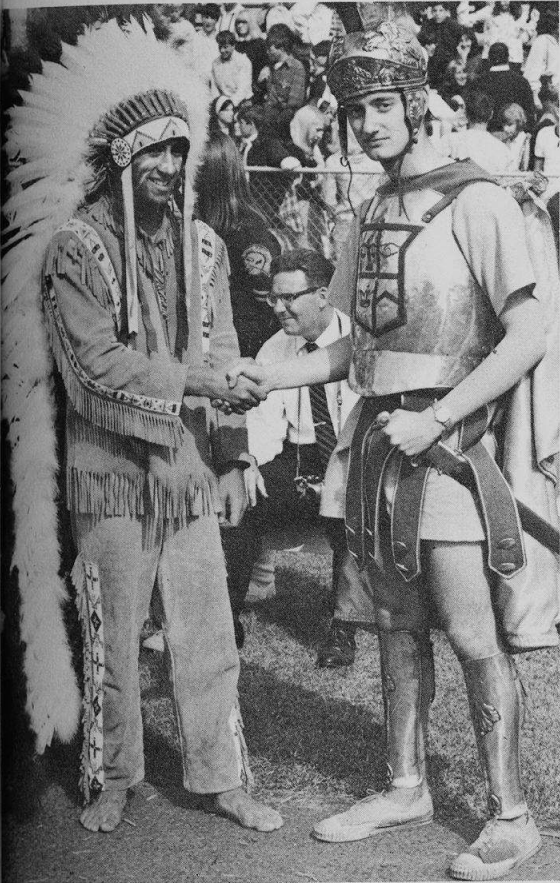

Mr. Oleny briefs Mary Klingbeil, Steve Schoenwolf, and Maureen Heinz on the procedures to follow while enrolled in the work-study program.

ORGANIZATIONS

A school year has passed, but the memories remain. Translating memories into a coherent pattern of pictures and words was the task of the yearbook staff. Layouts were planned, pictures taken and cropped, people interviewed, and copy written as the book assumed its final shape. Long hours of hard work went into the completion of each section and time played an ever-important role. Cries of "I'll get it done on time," soon changed to pleas of "Couldn't I please have an extra week?" A new assistant advisor, Mr. Mel Pirok, added his suggestions to the project of recapturing the school year in print. Trying to broaden the yearbook's outlook, Miss Irene Deneen, yearbook advisor, attended the Scholastic Press Yearbook Conference in New York. Classwork had to somehow be done between yearbook assignments. But finally, the moments of joy and sorrow, confidence and doubt, excitement and routine from September 1966 to June 1967 appeared in one book, Reflections '67.

REFLECTIONS '67 creates order out of chaos

Directing the energies of the Nilehilite are D. Prousis (Editor-in-Chief), G. Seeskin (News), L. Lorence (Feature), and S. Vetzner (Sports).

takes action

The Nilehilite did more than express a viewpoint. Members acted upon their words. They sponsored a bookdrive for the underprivileged children of the Lawndale area, attended conferences, and produced sensitive editorials. Providing a link between students and faculty, the Nilehilite gave students an opportunity to express their own views. The paper was composed of four pages: a news page, an editorial page, a feature page, and a sports page. Each page had its own editor, and one of the page editors was chosen editor-in-chief. To be a staff member of the paper, a student must have completed one year of journalism and have been chosen for staff. At the end of the year, the students in the class put out a special Apprentice Issue. Other special issues included the Christmas Issue, the Election Issue, and the Senior Issue. Demonstrating consistent high quality, the Nilehilite again won first-place award from the Columbia Press Association.

GOLDEN GALLEON retains high quality

Golden Galleon, Niles East's literary magazine, consisted of poems, essays, short stories, and art works composed and submitted by members of the student body. The published works were judged and selected by Guild members, all contributors to the magazine. Golden Galleon provided a medium of expression through creativity and presented some of the school's finest compositions. The theme chosen for the 1967 Golden Galleon, "A Method in Madness," based on the line in Hamlet, set the theme for the art work.

Guild activities this year included the construction of a Class C float for Homecoming and the traditional job of selling refreshments at all home basketball games. Ending the year was the banquet at which time new members were initiated into the Guild.

Student Council leads school

Coordinating and leading Student Council efforts are officers J. Heinsimer (President), H. Brody (Vice-President), S. Tarantur (Secretary), and R. Bernat (Treasurer).

Representatives of all four classes met at least three times per week for Student Council. Enthusiasm was the key word, and active was the Council. From supplying guides for Freshman Orientation, to running a Freshman Mixer, to raising one thousand dollars for the Crusade of Mercy, to running a school store, to leading a CARavan for the Niles West game, to assuring students complete representation at all times, Council members were kept busy every minute. Pep assemblies livened under the guidance of Student Council. Frequent meetings assured student communication with the administration. A new student lounge, planned by Council added to the students' convenience. Through its numerous services and activities, Council continually allowed students to display their interest and enthusiasm for Niles East.

Planning a student lounge isn't easy lament Merle Wolff, Hal Brody, and Gary Deutsch.

This year the Student Service Organization changed its image. The new S.S.O. advisor, Mr. Arthur Colver, helped to institute the change. Efficiency and fairness were stressed at all times. S.S.O. strived to be an active morale builder for the students by urging all students, regardless of whether they were a supervisor or were supervised, to take an interest in the organization and to cooperate with it in its endeavors. More responsibility was placed upon the students, and members of the organization gave their leadership to spark self-discipline among the students. In addition to supervising study halls, serving as library and hall monitors and receptionists, S.S.O. participated in Homecoming with its float entry and sponsored a banquet at the end of the year. S.S.O. operated on the belief that mature high school students do not require adult supervision to study. Students who were members of the organization helped to make S.S.O. an integral part of student activity.

Service Clubs

The Student Unions, organized by the members of Student Union Board, gave students of all four classes an opportunity to meet informally. The Board included nine carefully selected seniors and four Student Council members. The success of the Unions was demonstrated again and again starting with the after-game mixers, and continuing with the traditional announcement of Prom King and Queen and various informal and formal dances of the year.

Other student service organizations in the school which aided both students and faculty were A.V.E., Library Aids, and G.S.O. Members of A.V.E., Audio Visual Education, helped run film projectors, tape recorders, movie projectors, and various other technical machines. The Library Aids assisted the librarians in shelving and categorizing the books. The members of G.S.O., Girls' Service Organization, planned projects during the year to aid needy people.

Drama Clubs explore the fine arts

Drama Clubs meant more than acting. They meant students could explore all facets of the dramatic arts from lighting a stage to presenting a debate. The Debate Team was open to any student interested in researching and debating the topic chosen in the state for the year. The project this year was "Resolved: that the foreign aid program of the U.S. should be limited to a non-military assistance." Ushers Club ushered for the main events of the school year. Tecnis provided all major and minor productions with lighting and sound. New members worked on a point system and eventually became masters of their arts. After having earned ten points or one hundred hours of work, students were inducted into Thespians, the honorary society of the theater. Obtaining a plaque dedicated to the late Mr. Alvin Schwartz was a major goal of the society this year.

Chess Club members matched wits with others over a chess board as well as participating in numerous Chicagoland tournaments. All those who were interested in art, whether they were taking it or not, were free to join Art Council. Members of Art Council worked on creative projects and learned new art techniques. Both old and new folk songs were taught and exchanged in Folk Music Club. Members of NESTLES, the Fine Arts Club, met and discussed the literary arts. Nicki Pinto

The American Field Service, sponsored by the Foreign Language department, played host to Nicki Pinto, this year's foreign exchange student from Brazil. The annual spring A.F.S. candy sale assured money for a foreign exchange student next year at East.

In addition to A.F.S., Niles' language clubs aimed to create a greater understanding of the peoples and cultures of the world. French Club members entered a Class B float for Homecoming, saw a French movie and a hockey game, and gave a party a spring banquet with French food. Spanish Club took a trip to see a Spanish movie and to eat Spanish-style food, had a Christmas party, and met monthly to sing Spanish songs and learn Spanish dances. In the traditional Roman fashion, Latin Club collected supplies for the needy families and dined in togas and laurel wreaths at their annual banquet. Russian Club met to study the Russian culture and saw a film about Russia. German Club constructed a booth for the Carnival, saw a German movie, and had a German-style dinner.

Honor Societies recognize achievement

Having published over 222 lines, D. Prousis, E. Aprill, and G. Seeskin were initiated into Quill and Scroll by the beginning of their senior year.

Quill and Scroll is the honorary journalism society for high school students who are members of the newspaper or yearbook staffs. To be eligible for the society, a student must have written 220 inches of published material and have been recommended by his journalism teacher.

National Honor Society encouraged leadership, scholarship, and service in students. Juniors and seniors who had at least a "B" average were eligible for membership in the society. A list consisting of the names of all eligible students was sent to all the teachers who then chose the students most deserving of the honor. The students elected to the Society were initiated at the annual academic awards assembly held at the end of the year.

Instrumental Groups

"Happiness is playing an instrument in the school band," was the theme of the instrumental department this year. An instrument playing student found his "happiness" in any one of four groups. Mr. Provost directed three major bands. The Freshman entered the Cadet Band and trained to play at school functions. When he had displayed sufficient skill, he progressed to the Concert Band, which was designed for the more mature music students. The bands played at assemblies, pep rallies, football games, and basketball games. This year many more freshmen played in the Concert Band instead of the Cadet Band. Finally, the Stage Band consisted of students who spent extra time after school to learn and practice new arrangements. The orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Auge, learned classical pieces as well as popular tunes. They performed for the Winter and May Festivals, Music Man, and graduation.

Homecoming Committee plans a real "Trojan Round-up"

Posted in the outdoor showcase was the calendar of events for Homecoming 1966.

Last summer the Homecoming Committee, members of the faculty, and the Senior Cabinet began to plan 1966 Homecoming, "Trojans Round-up." In the early fall, the student body became involved in the "Round-up" with the planning and the building of floats for the parade.

On Friday, October 7, a spirited Pep Rally initiated the Homecoming Week-end. All through the night students worked energetically to complete their floats, and then braved a ride to the Old Orchard Theater Parking Lot. At 10:45 on Saturday, October 8, the tired but happy students hopped on their floats as the parade began to weave its way through the labyrinth of streets to the school.

Next on the Homecoming agenda was the Trojan-Mustang football game. As in past years, the Trojans found themselves on the short end when the final whistle sounded. Yet the excitement lingered on as the students returned home for a few hours of sleep before the traditional dance. "Trojans Round-up" was a success.

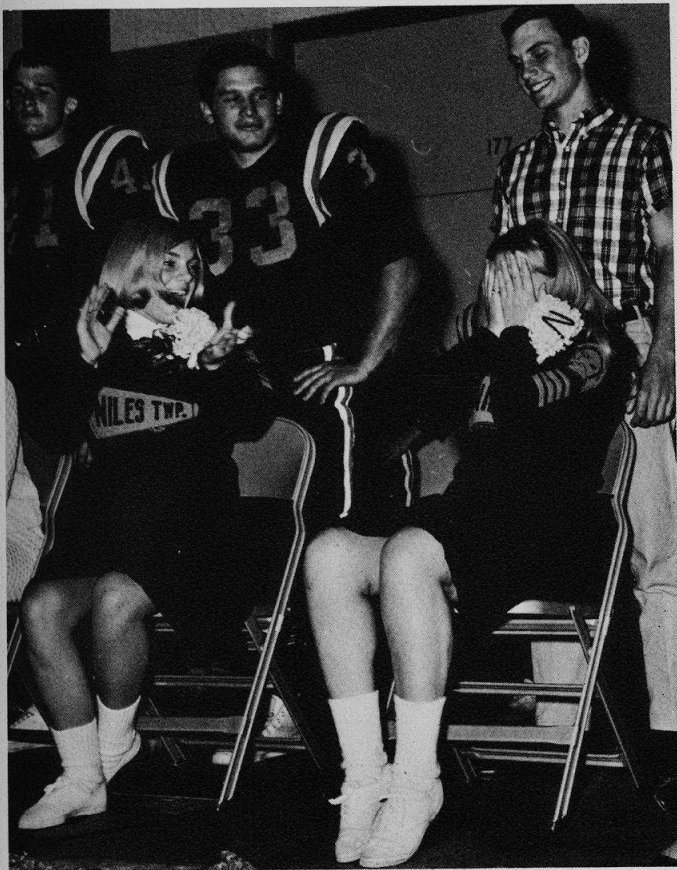

Pep assembly leader Steve Ornstein and Trojan Mascot Chuck Dribin preform in part of the Homecoming skit "Slowly I Turn."

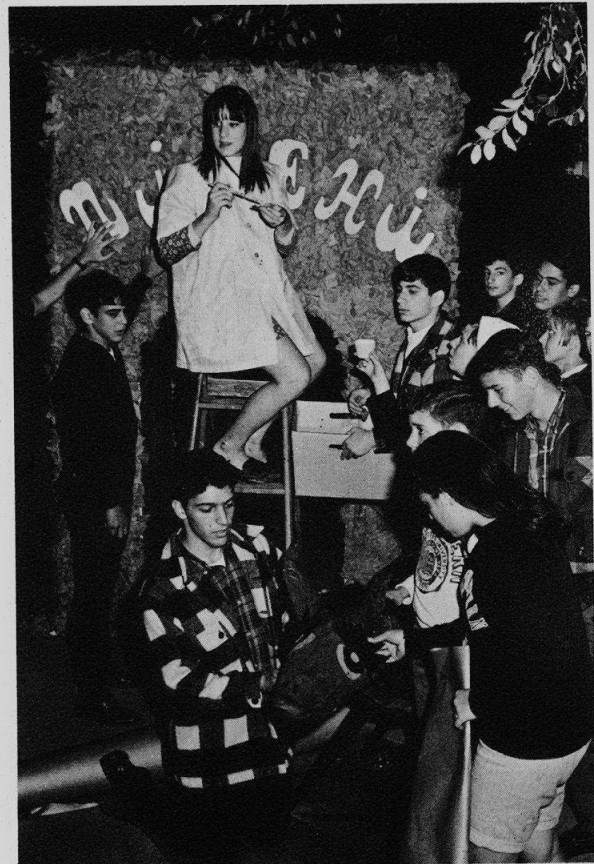

Senior Steve Plotkin rides across the contest gym floor, pulling behind him the first float of "Trojans Round-up."

The Day Before

Stunned by the announcement that she was chosen Homecoming Queen, Sandy Siegel throws her hands to her face in disbelief, while Carolyn Dowlin energetically acknowledges the choice.

"C'est la vie!" echo French Club members as they realize there are few hours remaining before the judging of floats will begin.

That Day

In the early morning hours, students put last minute finishing touches on an independent float.

Students roaming the Old Orchard Theater parking lot wonder if they really see a fourteen foot yellow octopus, a senior class float.

Hoping for a victory, the enthusiastic crowd cheers for the Trojans in the Homecoming game against the Morton East Mustangs.

Rustic Sunset culminates the Homecoming festivities

As the sun set on the evening of Saturday, October 8, Niles East celebrated its own "Rustic Sunset," the 1966 Homecoming dance. Students danced to the music of Mel Rolane, the dance floor surrounded by autumn decorations. The dance was climaxed with the crowning of the Homecoming Queen and Court, who were escorted to the throne by members of the varsity football team. Those students who planned "Rustic Sunset" were rewarded with a successful dance that ended the Homecoming festivities and helped make Homecoming '66 an occasion to be remembered.

“ Madwoman of Chaillot ” brings comedy and reality

Pierre (Ed Feld '67) looks on as the Rag Picker (Eric Palles '69) explains the reality of crime, violence, and world affairs to Madwoman (Linda Ruben '67).

Gabriel (Nancy Becker '69) listens intently as Madwoman (Linda Ruben '67) explains how men have changed from gallant to grasping.

Prospector (Chuck Dribin '68) samples water for an indication of oil.

The beautiful city of Paris was the location of the 1966 Fall Play, Jean Giradoux's "The Madwoman of Chaillot." It involved the conflict between a so-called "madwoman," Countess Aurelia, and the crass materialism of the French Capitalists. The Countess loved the beauty and charm of her native city, but the capitalists were planning to destroy Paris to extricate oil. She devised a plan to do away with all the evil people by pushing them down a bottomless staircase below her cellar. The play, although a fun filled comedy in certain scenes, reflects seriously on current times, and times to come.

The play, under the direction of Mr. Proffit, exhibited new and unique techniques in lighting and stage direction which helped to make a successful show.

Prospector (Chuck Dribin '68) tries to lure Pierre (Ed Feld '67) into a life of evil, while Madwoman (Linda Ruben '67) insists that Pierre stay with her in a life of beauty.

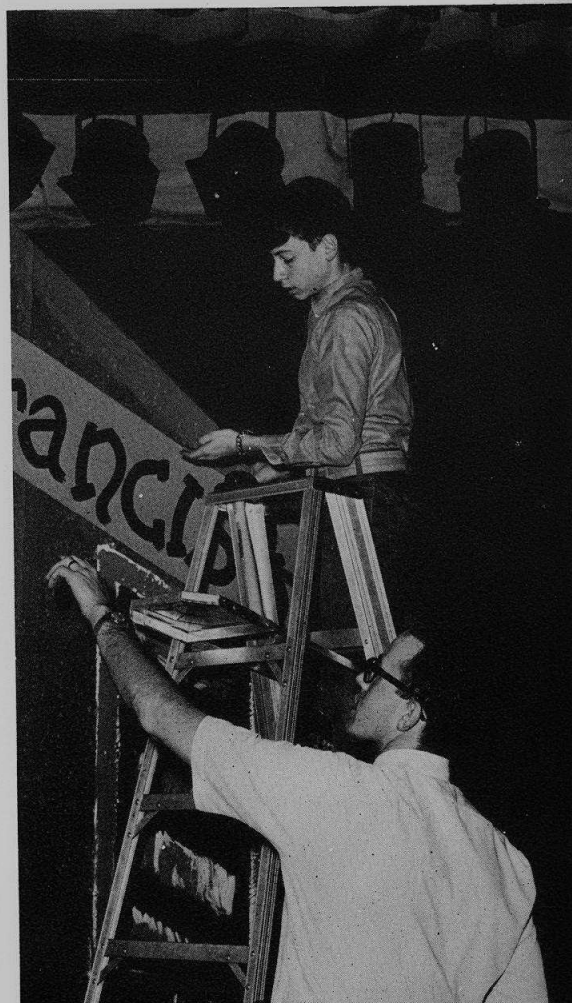

Mr. Proffit gives last minute instructions to cast and crews before the performance.

"The Jet Set" travels through a maze of talent

Kennedy International Airport was the scene of the opening number of "The Jet Set" where Bette Beer ('67), Steve Boren ('67), Debby Rebhan ('67), and Lee Covitt ('67) dance to "Everything's Coming Up Roses."

The 1967 edition of Reflections Revelries featured a round-the-world tour in less than four hours. "The Jet Set" took off from the Kennedy International Airport at 8:00 P.M. on February 8 and 9. The Jet Setters consisted of a spy, a teacher, a movie producer, and the typical mod teenager. Act One transported the Jet Set to Brazil, Las Vegas, Japan, and Russia. With each stop the audience was welcomed with singing, dancing, and excitement.

On the return trip, Act Two, the Jet Set visited Israel, Siam, Africa, France, and England. They arrived home, in Chicago in the Finale -- "Chicago, Chicago." The stage Band provided all musical accompaniment.

Behind the scenes, "The Jet Set" was under the supervision of Mr. Proffit and Miss Faurot, Directors: Mr. Provost, Band Conductor; Mrs. St. Angel, Dance Director; and Mr. Kent, Technical Consultant. All involved made Reflections Revelries 1967, "The Jet Set," a complete success.

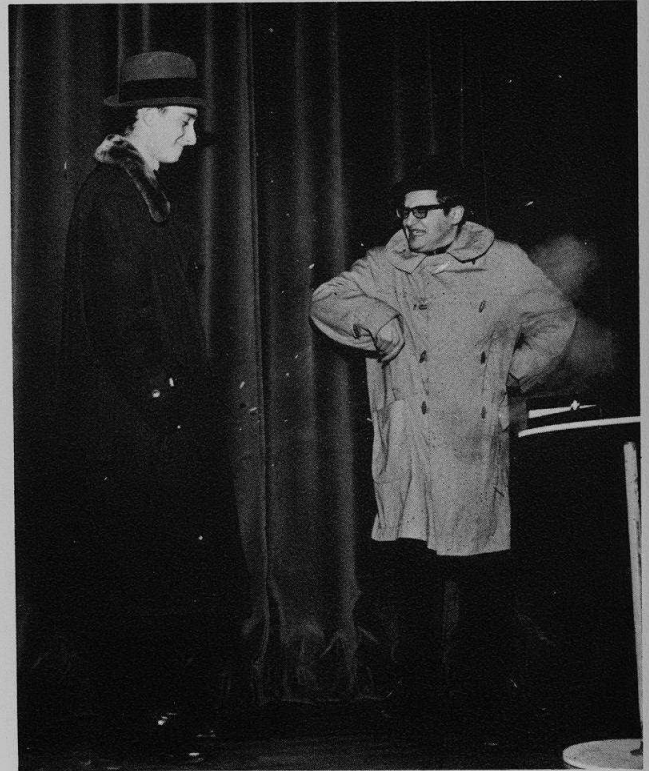

On arrival in Brazil, the Jet Set came upon Nicki Pinto (Foreign Exchange Student '67) and Mirtha Quintanales ('67) giving their interpretation of "The Girl From Ipenema" as played by the Hill Combo.

Winter Music Festival greets the holiday season

The sounds of the holiday season echoed from the Niles East auditorium on Sunday, December 18, 1966. Under the direction of Mr. Auge, the combined groups of the Music Department presented the annual Winter Music Festival. Participating in the program were the Concert Choir, Concert Orchestra, Concert Band, Girls' Glee, and Mixed Chorus. Also featured were the Lorelei Girls, a selected group of female vocalists. The concert was presented, in part, later that week for the student body. As in past years, the Winter Music Festival was an outstanding presentation and added to the spirit of the season.

OKLAHOMA! O.K.

Curly (Lorey Comitor '66) attempts to win Laurey's (Carole Propp '67) favor with tales of a fringe-topped surrey.

Trying to convince Jud (Elliott Kroger '67) that he is really appreciated, Curly presents a vivid picture of what Jud's funeral would be like.

The Spring Musical transferred the Niles East auditorium to the golden fields of Oklahoma for a few fun filled hours on April 1 and 2, 1966. Under the direction of Mr. Earle Auge and Mr. Richard Tendick, "Oklahoma" told the story of pretty Laurey and her cowboy boyfriend, Curly, who seem to be having troubles getting together. Laurey is being pursued by the farm hand, Jud, and Curly seeks solace with a local flirt. Meanwhile Laurey's best friend, Ado Annie, and her intended, Will, are having troubles of their own, since Annie has fallen prey to the charms of a traveling salesman while Will was in the big city.

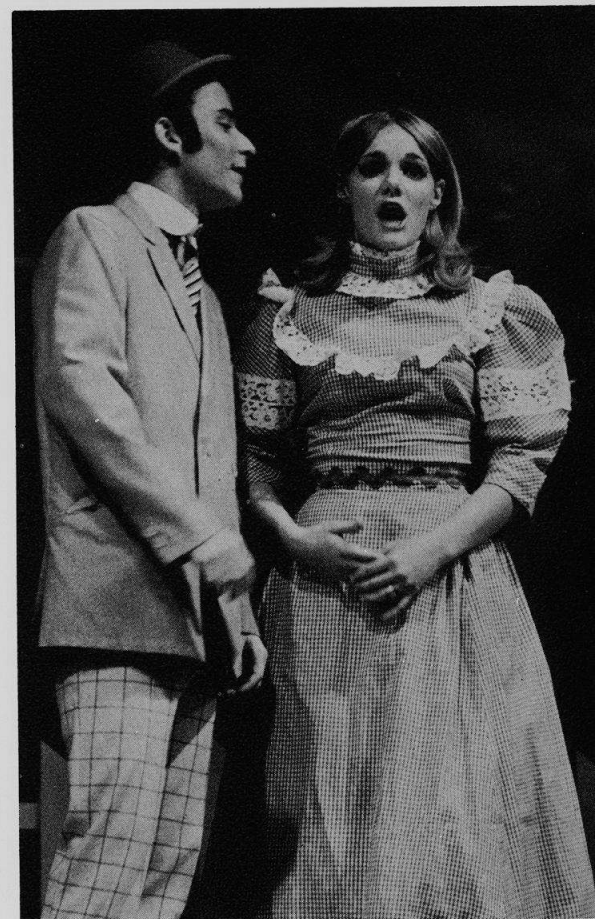

At a box social given by the farmers and ranchers, Curly sells everything he owns to buy Laurey's lunch, and they finally declare their love for each other. Jud swears revenge, and attempts to kill Curly on the night of Curly and Laurey's wedding. Curly kills Jud instead, but is cleared of the charges. The story ends happily for everyone as the newly wedded couple leave for their honeymoon in the surrey with the fringe on the top.

Members of the cast, Andrew Carnes (Bob Beazley '69), Ado Annie (Carolyn Dowlin '67), Will Parker (Chuck Schwartz '66), Laurey (Carole Propp '67), Curly (Lorey Comitor '66), Ali Hakim (Bob Cooper '68), Gertie Cummings (Ruth Revzen '66), Jud (Elliott Kroger '67), Aunt Eller ('67) gather around the surrey.

To show that the farmer and the cowboy can be friends, the town folk dance at the box social.

Ado Annie (Carolyn Dowlin '67) is taken in by sweet-talking Ali Hakim (Bob Cooper '68).

"A Touch of Gold " welcomes June

The happiness of being Prom King and Queen is reflected in the radiant smiles of Dick Shallcross and Sue Swartwout.

From King and Queen, Dick Shallcross and Sue Swartwout, and their court, Jeff Gendelman, Ellen Bernat, Danny Ponto, and Linda Witcher, reign over the dance.

The first weekend in June was one filled with "A Touch of Gold," for on June 3, 1966, Niles East held its second "out-prom" at the Pick-Congress Hotel. That night culminated three years of hard work for the class of '67 which started with the selling of penants during Freshman year and ended with the Jay and the Americans Concert in January, 1966. Instead of the traditional pre-prom parade, the candidates for king and queen presented skits in the auditorium. The theme of the 1966 prom was carried out as couples danced to the strains of the Dick Long Orchestra in the Gold Room. The evening was climaxed with the coronation of the royal couple, Dick Shallcross and Sue Swartwout.

Varsity Harriers run short of expectations

The Trojan Harriers, led by senior Bob Schabillion, practice for an important meet against Waukegan.

At the outset of the season hopes were high for this year's varsity cross country team. This optimism was enhanced by a 16-44 win over Waukegan in the first Suburban League meet. But to the chagrin of the team, they were able to capture only one more league victory. One cause for this disconcerting record, despite the fine running of captains Bob Schabillion and Steve Epstein, was the stiff competition of the Suburban league. The team had to settle for sixth place in the league, but they were a respectable eighth in the Ridgewood Invitational tournament. However, due to promising junior lettermen Arnold Rotkin, Jerry Letzkus, Bill Gardiner and Don Schubert, the outlook for next year is bright.

Frosh-Soph Cross Country

This year's Frosh-Soph Harriers did not fare well in the Suburban League. Coach Len Winans attributed this poor record to a lack of depth and spirit. This situation can be remedied by increased participation and more active support by the student body. With the aid of this year's seasoned freshmen, the forecast for next year is better.

Varsity Football: Mittelberg tackles state honors

This year's varsity gridmen had hoped to win two games. For them as well as the whole student body it was a disappointing season as the Trojans slipped to another last place finish in the Suburban League.

The season opened with the men of Troy looking as if they were not going to score. In the first three games they were outpointed 89-0. The Trojans scored their first touchdown before an enthusiastic Homecoming crowd. After losses to Proviso and Waukegan the 1966 Trojans had their finest hour in an exciting contest at New Trier East. Sophomore quarterback Todd Bonner replaced injured Neal Kamin and successfully moved the usually ground based Trojans to the air. The final gun, however, found the Blue and Gold on the short end of a 13-6 score. On the final weekend of the season Niles jumped out to an early lead only to have it wiped out by a 33 point Highland Park onslaught.

Despite the team's poor finish there were a number of individual standouts. Hard hitting tackle Vic Mittelberg gained honorable mention in the post season all-state voting. Neal Kamin was given honorable mention on the Suburban League team as a defensive back.

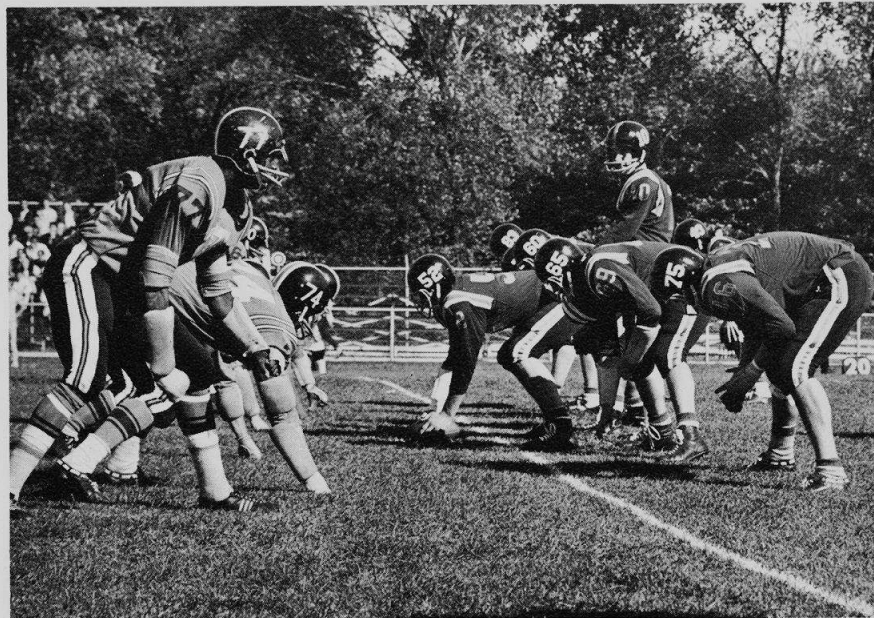

With the aid of good blocking, halfback Mario Corona gains crucial yardage for the Trojans.

After the first half of the football season was over the Sophomore gridmen seemed to have achieved their goals. They registered impressive victories over Niles West and over Suburban League foes Oak Park and Morton East. Due to the injuries the young Trojans failed to record another victory in their remaining four games.

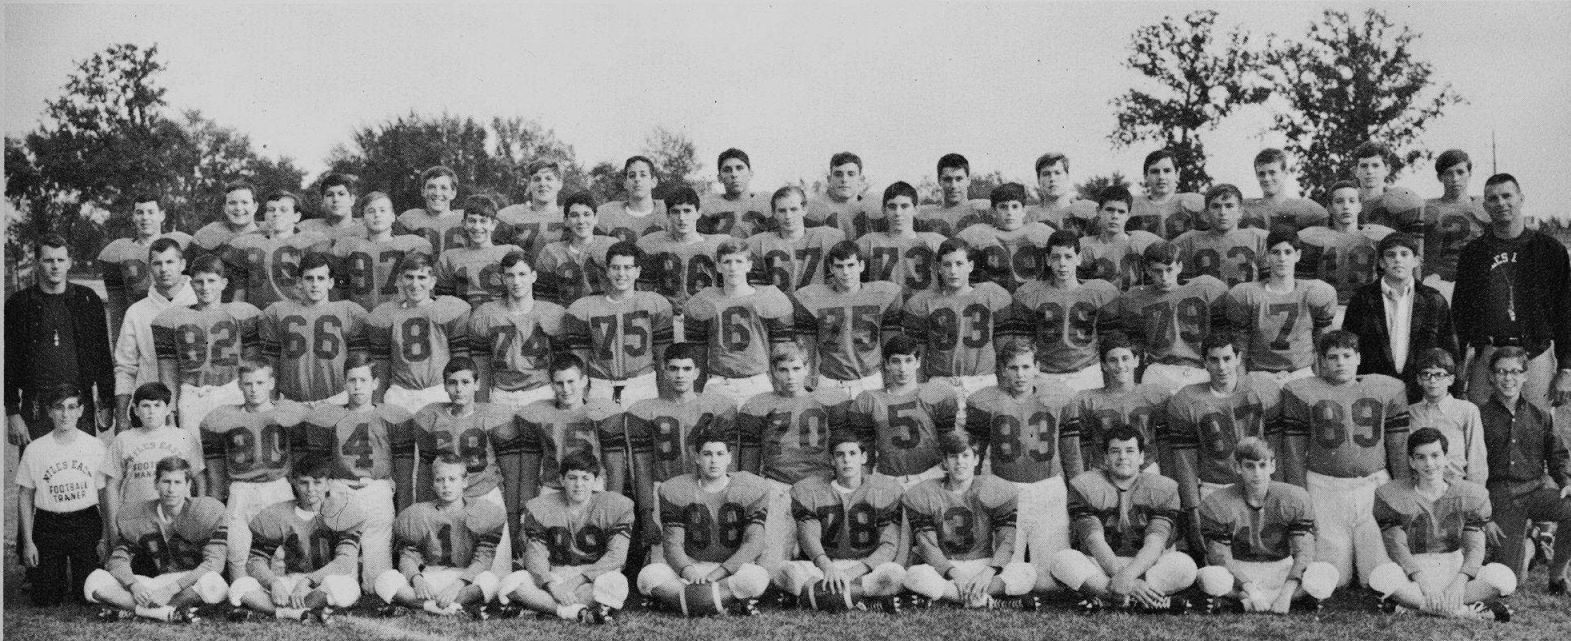

The defensive unit was the strongest division of the team. Ed Thiry, Rick Becker, and Mark Koppel were superb on defense but did not cast a shadow over the offensive squad. This division of the team was sparkled by the passing of quarterback Todd Bonner, the reciving of Rich Rice, and the running of halfback Barry Hartstein.

Although the sophomore football team failed to finish in the first division of the league this year, they should meet with success during their varsity careers. The team possesses the talent, the depth, the hustle, and the desire to win. If they are not plagued by injuries in the future, the team should finish in at least third place in the Suburban League.

future for Trojan football

The outstanding Freshmen athletes which comprised the "A" team played very well. They highlighted the year with a 33-7 victory over Morton East. Led by Steve Rose, the team showed much desire to win.

The "B" team wound up the season with a record of five wins and three losses. With Larry Ginsberg, Reed Neuman, and Greg Guggan leading the way, the team scored impressive victories over Evanston and arch-rival West. With the combination of these two units, next year's Sophomore team should win its share of games.

The finest Niles East basketball team in recent years began the season by defeating Niles North 69-57 and Niles West 68-67 to become the champions of Niles Township. But this championship was just a prelude to a greater one. On the night of December 27 the Trojans began their conquest of the Niles North Holiday Tournament. In the first round, the Trojans easily defeated Maine East 62-54. The next night they defeated Niles North 59-55, on the final night the mighty Trojans defeated Highland Park 60-55 to become the champions of the tournament. It now seemed that the Trojans were not destined to lose. They won their fourth, fifth, and sixth games in a row against Highland Park, Oak Park and New Trier. But as the team was shooting for "Super Seven," they lost a heart-breaker to Morton East 62-60. From here there was an abrupt change as the cagemen lost four in a row. However, the team could not stay in the doldrums of defeat for long as they put together another winning streak by defeating Evanston, Oak Park, and New Trier. But once again Morton East broke the string; this time by the narrow margin of 71-69. Even though the team finished sixth in the league with a 6-8 record, they had a 12-10 overall record.

Sophomore Basketball

After defeating Evanston early in the season, it looked as though the Sophomores were on their way as a potent force in the Suburban League. Unfortunately, this proved to be their only league victory. The somewhat dismal season was the result of both inexperience and poor shooting. However, the team did show much drive and enthusiasm. With more experience they should develop into good varsity players.

Sophomore Bob Bresler and a Glenbrook adversary both try for a rebound.

The Frosh basketball players had the ability to make baskets. However, it seemed that the other team always made a few more. Poor defence accounted for the 2-12 Suburban League record. But defence comes with experience; baskets come with ability. The Frosh have the ability, and they will gain the experience. This should insure a sound future for the young Trojans.

Tim Cech pins down state championship

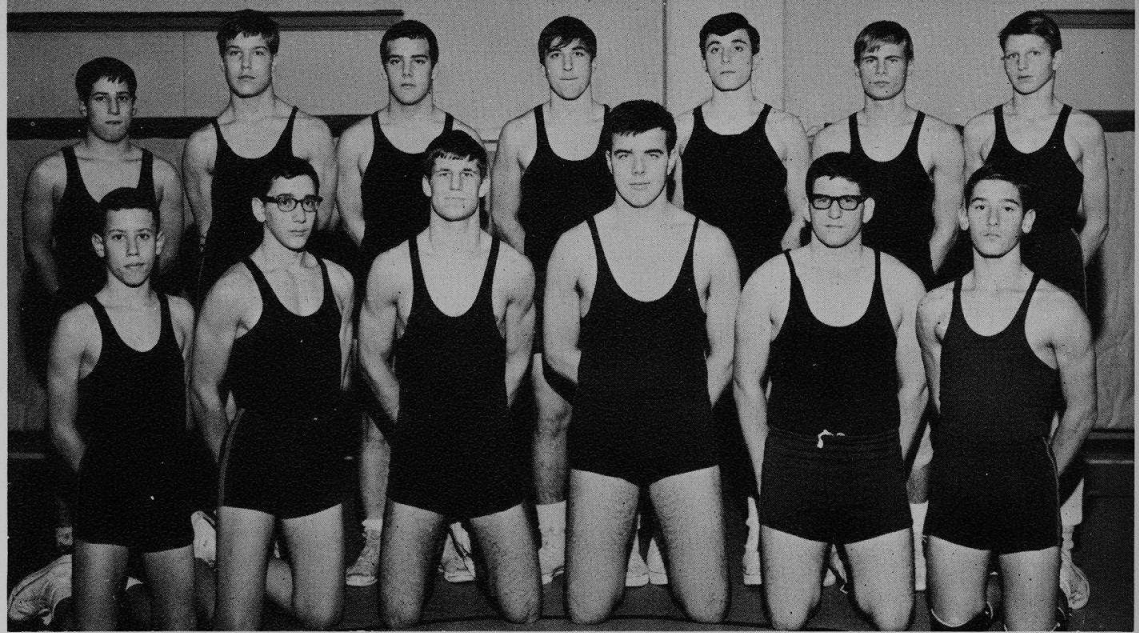

One of the most underrated and deserving teams in Niles East is the varsity wrestling squad. Led by coach Howard Byram, they ranked as state contenders this year as in previous years.

They opened the 1966-67 season with an impressive victory over Forest View 24-16. Then they ran into the onslaught of the Waukegan Bulldogs and lost a courageous battle to one of the most prominent teams in the state. Stunned by their devastating loss, they regrouped and promptly recorded unmerciful victories over Highland Park, Oak Park, Morton East, and Elk Grove. Gathering momentum, they set out to meet with the mighty New Trier Indians. But when the smoke had cleared the Trojans were found on the short side of a 15-23 score. The matmen were never able to recover from this blow as they concluded the season with heartbreaking losses to Evanston and West Leyden.

The only remaining task that the Trojans faced was to defeat their opponents in the state competition. They took a third place in the state district tournament. Sophomore Andy Bolnick and Seniors Vic Mittelberg and Tim Cech wrestled their way into the sectional tourney. Because of illness, Bolnick was not able to compete, but both Mittelberg and Cech earned berths in the state finals in Champaign. Both wrestlers returned triumphantly. Mittelberg took fourth place in the heavyweight division and Cech returned as the state champion at 120 pounds. Thanks to the fine individual efforts of these two great competitors, Niles East was ranked sixth in the state. With the addition of a strong Sophomore team next year Niles East should once again rank high in the state competition.

State champion Tim Cech holds the advantage over his opponent prior to another victory.

Young grapplers have potential and ability

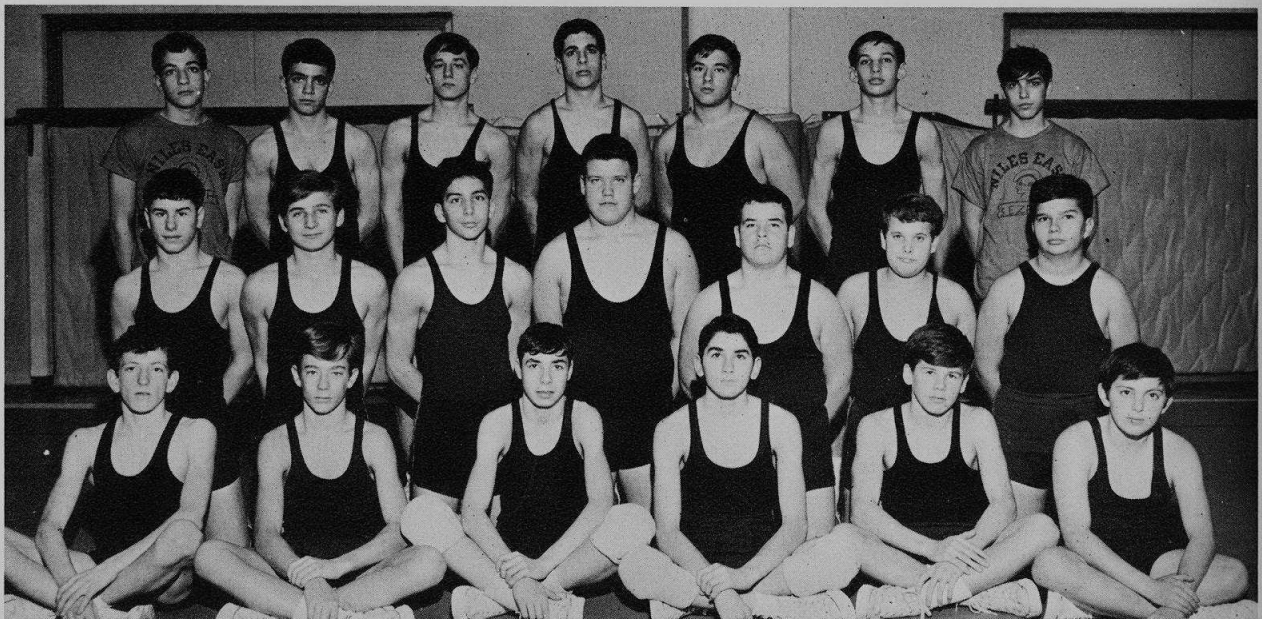

The disenchanting record compiled by the Sophomore wrestling squad did not reflect upon the great ability and potential that the young grapplers possessed. Because three men wrestled varsity and half the team consisted of Freshmen their dual meet record was four and six. The team was still able to save face because of outstanding individual performances by such promising matmen as undefeated Bill Stapelfeld and Tim Gunderson, eleven and one, at 154 pounds.

The Freshman wrestling squad found Suburban League competition rough going. It must be noted that Harold Witkov, Ken Kravitz, Ralph Satoloe, and Ward Abelson wrestled on the sophomore squad. The Frosh's respectable .500 record outside of league competition does show that they have the ability needed to succeed in the tough conference.

Despite rather unimpressive performances against their opponents in the Suburban League, the Niles East Swimming Team managed to defeat a majority of their non-league competitors. Led by senior captain Bob Simon in the 50 yard freestyle, and by junior Tom Harrington in the individual medley, the tankmen defeated the swimmers representing Elmwood Park, Lake Forest, West Leyden, and Arlington Heights High Schools. Another swimmer who was responsible for these victories was Jim Hawkins, a sophomore, who consistently captured first place honors and established a school record in the breaststroke. The prognosis for next year's squad is that they will improve both their Suburban League and non-league standings.

This year's talented sophomore swimming team compiled an outstanding record of nine victories and four defeats. This included victories over Morton East, Proviso East, Oak Park, and Waukegan. Wayne Thomas in the backstroke, Jim Christensen in the butterfly, and Paul Katz in the freestyle formed the backbone of the squad. The team also defeated five other non-league teams. These excellent swimmers and the remainder of the well balanced sophomore team should provide the spark that the varsity squad requires to improve their mediocre status in the Suburban League.

The Frosh team experienced a dismal season; however, the novice tankmen can improve as demonstrated by this year's sophomore squad.

Slotten triumphs on tumbling and tramp

Through the years the Trojan fans have always been fascinated by the varsity Gymnastics team. This year was no exception. Lee Sandler and Mark Randall were both state contenders on the tramp and Barry Slotten took first in state in both tramp and tumbling. The team as a whole finished fifth in the state. One of the biggest surprises came when sophomore Seymour Rifkind came in fourth in the state in the parallel bars. With such performers as Steve Kite, Mike Zissman, and the men already listed, the outlook for varsity gymnastics will continue to be a bright spot in Trojan athletics.

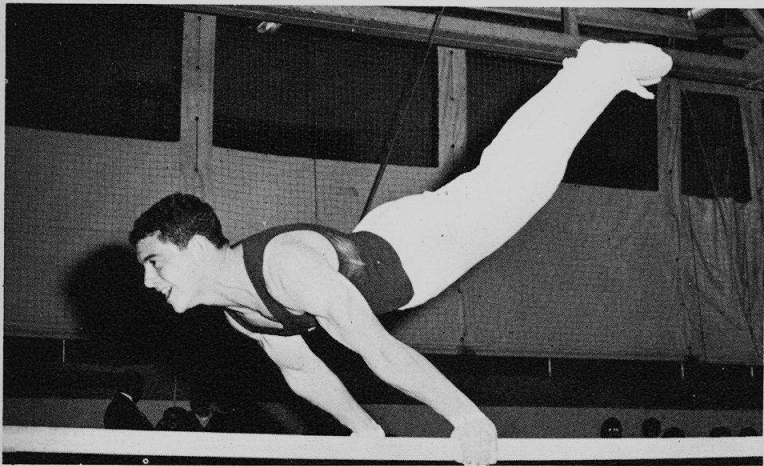

In his pre-game warm-up Steve Kite displays his prowess on the parallel bars.

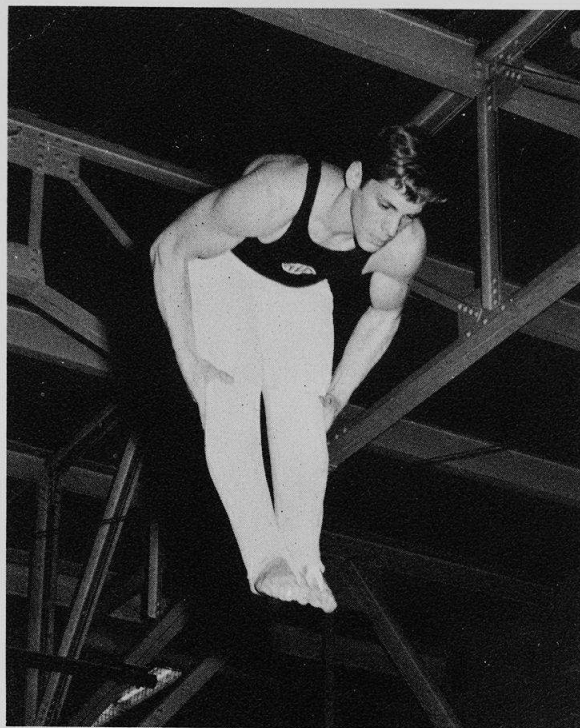

Frosh - Soph gain valuable experience

The Frosh-Soph team did well in Suburban League competition. Led by Wayne Sandler, Ernie Miller and Mark Milstein, the Frosh-Soph gymnastics outlook is once again bright at Niles East. With added experience and hard work the Frosh-Soph gymnasts should add a well balanced team to the varsity squad.

Trackmen jump off to quick start

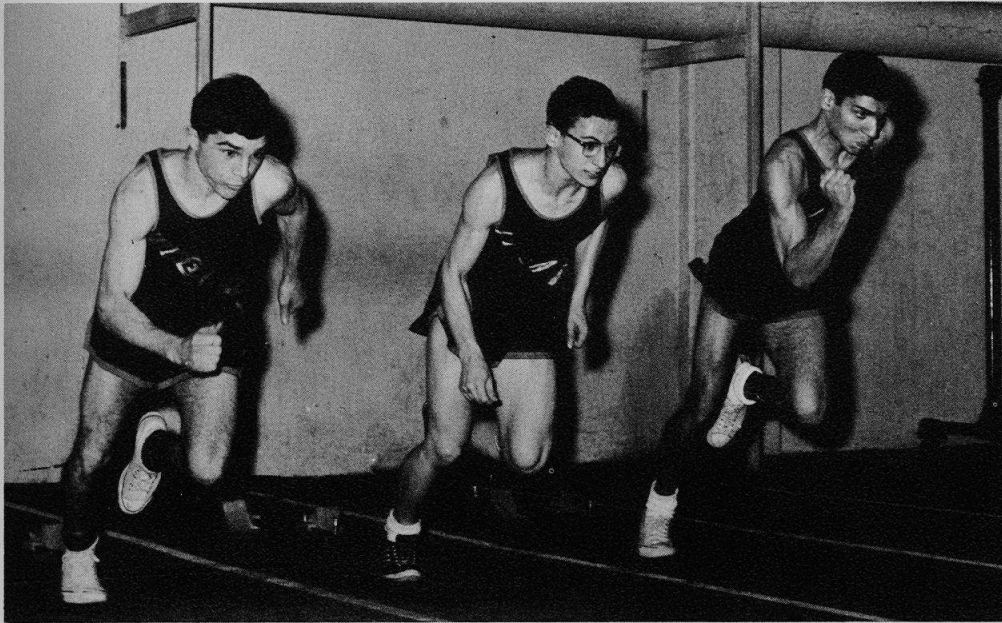

Coach Collien's superbly balanced track squad jumped off to seven straight victories in the indoor preview to what should be a fine outdoor season. Outstanding among the first seven triumphs were the routs of Glenbrook North and South, and the meet in which the trackmen defeated both Niles West and Niles North to gain the township championship.

Although the entire team has performed well, there have been individual standouts. Mike Rich in the 50 yard dash, Arnold Rotkin in the half mile, and Neil Kamin in the pole vault have all turned in consistently good performances. The four lap relay team, composed of Mario Corona, Seymour Bachman, Mike Mogill, and Mike Rich established a new school record and deserve high commendation.

If the indoor season is any forecast of the outdoor season, Trojan fans can look forward to the spring competition.

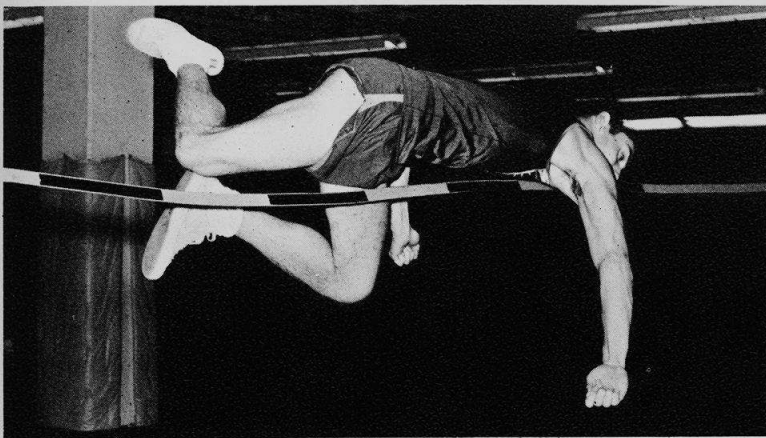

Junior Mike Rich easily clears the final hurdle in a great run.

Juniors Mike Rich and Mario Corona and senior Larry Acker practice starts before a big meet.

Frosh - Soph Track

Larry Acker demonstrates his high jumping skill.

The Frosh-Soph squad, to say the least, started the season in a disappointing manner. They lost their first seven meets. However, lack of depth is the major reason for this dismal start. There were only twelve boys on the team; therefore, each must excell at more than one event to make a good showing. But individual performances have been shown on the team. Ed Heinman in the half mile and sprinter Barry Hartstein should provide some excitement for the fans of the young trackmen.

Golf has been a relatively unsuccessful sport for Niles East in recent years. However, the 1967 edition of the Trojan Linksters will definitely improve on the dismal record of last year's team. Senior letterman Ron Adelman, shooting in the low 80's will lead the team. He will be followed by two other returning lettermen, Seniors Dave Hochberg and Mark Muzio. Aply backing up the seniors will be four juniors, Don Cleven, Bob Gats, Bill Bruch, and Curt Rodin. This will make for a well-rounded team. This season's golf team will have the determination to win, and even more important, it will have the ability. With these two factors going for the team, the season should be a success.

Netmen have talent and experience

Coach Chuck Morrison goes over strategy for an upcoming match as his two top doubles teams of Barry Lempert and Al Rosenfeld and Bob Newlin and Scott Glickson look on.

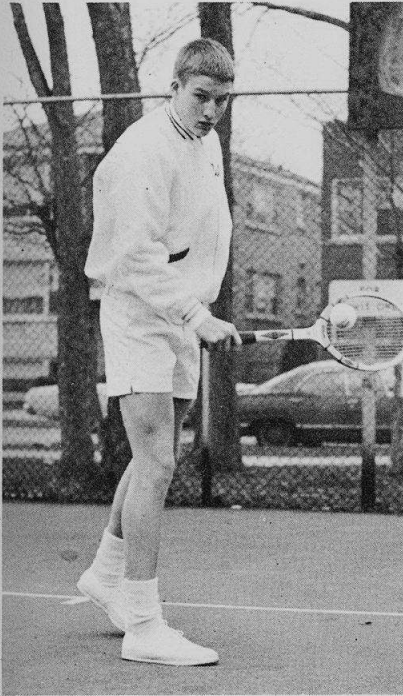

The future for the 1967 varsity netmen looks bright. With returning senior lettermen Rich Galen, Ken Batko, Dave Kritzer, Dave Kalish, and Berry Lempert the team has a strong experienced nucleus. Coach Chuck Morrison will also rely heavily on Junior Mark Bishop, who placed fourth in state competition his Freshman year. The team has worked diligently all spring and is certainly recognized as a league contender.

Coach Len Winans's Frosh-Soph racketmen are also expected to fare well in the tough Suburban League. The Frosh-Soph team is where young Trojans learn new skills and gain experience. Two of the young Trojans that should be a valuable contribution to the varsity squad in coming years are Ernie Miller and Fred Beaver.

Officers V. Fantus, (Vice President) K. Weinberg, (President) J. Jungwirth, (Treasurer) and K. Kamin, (Secretary) devote much time to organizing G.A.A. activities.

G.A.A. finds itself ...

Any day after school, one can find girls eagerly participating in the various activities of the Girls' Athletic Association. The activities encompass all aspects of physical education, developing mental and moral character as well as physical skills and body coordination. Every eager girl can participate in tennis, free swim, basketball, badminton, volley ball, bowling, and other team and individual sports. For students with special skills there are more selective divisions such Ripplettes and Orchesis which perform for the school, all levels of Cheerleaders, and the tennis and gymnastic teams.

An awards assembly is held at the end of each year. There, G.A.A. members receive individual commendation for their participation and a senior, who is outstanding and plans to major in physical education, is awarded a four hundred dollar scholarship. Taking part in the G.A.A. programs is a stimulating and enjoyable experience for hundreds of girls.

Debbie Rebhan reflects the year's events.

Swimming Swinging

Lynda Von Oppen demonstrates a backswing.

The tennis team swings to success. Team members are Fay Reich, Ivy Katz, Bernice Suddak, Lynn Rosen, Diane Batzkall, Lynda Von Oppen, and Karen Ullberg.

Freshman cheerleaders learn how to promote spirit and enthusiasm. They include J. Rich (Captain), B. Siegel, S. Leavit, N. Schmidt, M. Kipnis, and L. Krichevsky.

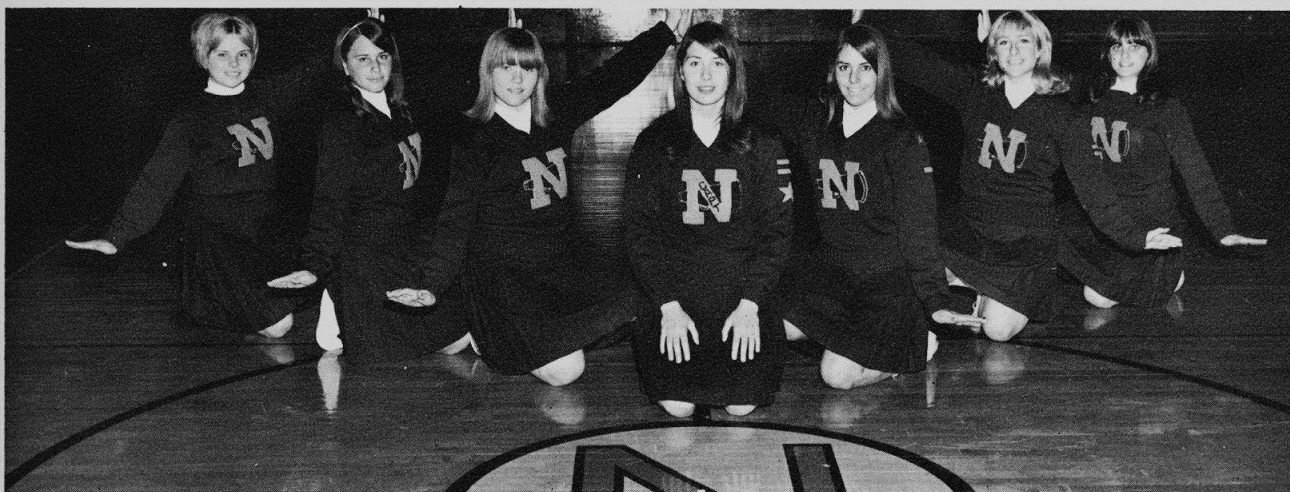

Cheerleaders pep up our triumphs

Any time you go to a game you'll see them there -- the cheerleaders. These girls, loyal supporters of our athletic teams, did their best to encourage our players and crowds. New cheerleaders are chosen at the end of each year. Competition is keen; prospective members must be skilled at performing many cheers, jumps and stunts. Appearance, personality, voice and pep are also a major factor in selection of the teams.

The cheerleaders were active in other school activities this year, also. They entered two floats in the Homecoming parade, and helped to plan several pep assemblies.

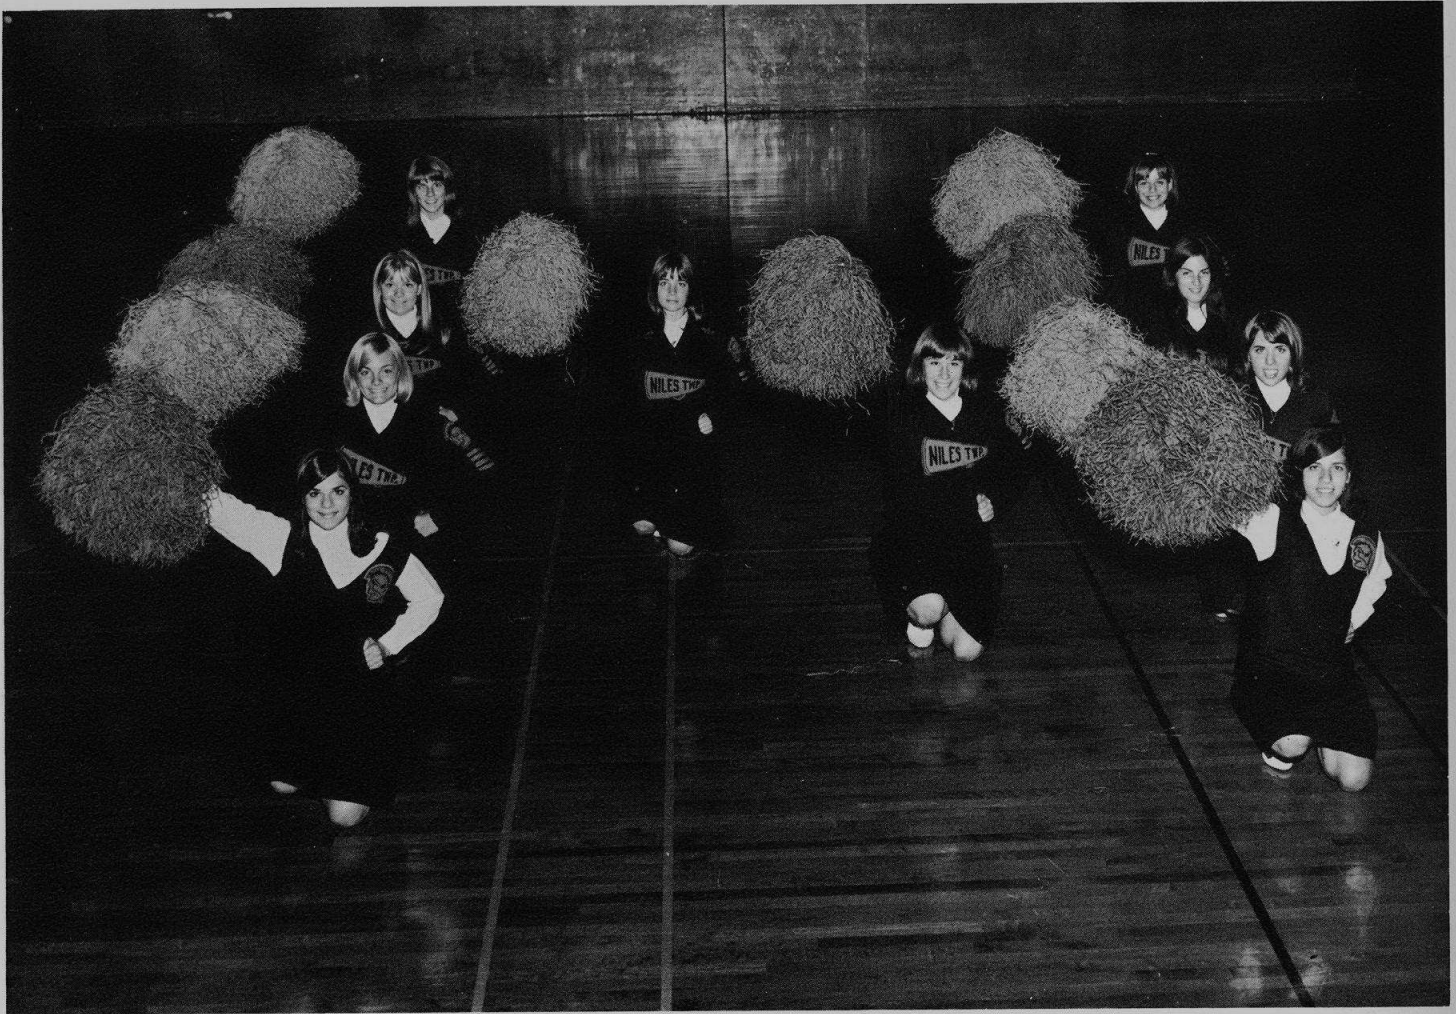

L. Harrold, D. Lachman, and H. Brakeman cry for victory for the Trojans.

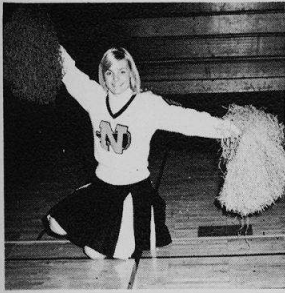

Always ready with support for our teams are the Sophomore cheerleaders: K. Molitor, E. Arkin, J. Harrold, M. Hook (Captain), M. Yelner, D. Lachman, H. Brakman.

Cabinet unites Freshmen. BACK ROW: B. Lerman, M. Klein, S. Fine, R. Goldstein, J. Nitti, B. Langer, B. Moss, S. Eckersley, A. Chalfie, A. Aprill. SECOND ROW: L. Rubin, K. Elkins, G. Gale, L. Woolf (Sergeant-at-arms).

The Class of 1970 entered high school a little frightened, a little bewildered, and greatly excited. The Freshmen feared the new responsibilities they would be undertaking and the adjustments they would be making to the different regulations. The new class was bewildered by the maze of halls and the labyrinth of decisions they encountered.

Although, at first, the Freshmen were strangers to the busy world of high school life, with its athletic activities, socials, and academic courses, the Class of '70 eventually became accustomed to the new ways. These Freshmen no longer lost their way in the halls, but were settled into the general pattern they would be following for the next four years. The Freshmen now have representatives in council, and a cabinet of their own to help regulate the student body. Through the different positions the Freshmen are holding and by participating in the activities available to them, the Freshman Class has become a major part of Niles East.

Sophomore Cabinet worked to raise money for next year's prom by selling class rings and pennants. BACK ROW: M. Cohen, R. Samelson, M. Arenson, R. Shapiro, M. Levie, N. Holland, D. Shearn, W. Page. SECOND ROW: S. Lipson, R. Greenberg, E. Arkin, L. Stone, L. Darmstadter, M. Yelner, R. Silverstein, C. Ponoroff, B. Cooper. FIRST ROW: D. Chaiken (Vice-President), S. Freedman (Secretary), B. Hartstein (President), G. Silver (Treasurer), S. Melamed (Sergeant-at-Arms).

Winding their way through the labyrinth of high school, the Sophomores have rounded another bend. They found themselves as upper lower classmen, and took advantage of the situation by fooling the unsuspecting Freshmen with false directions and elevator passes. They became more aware of school activities by selling class rings, pennants at basketball games, and buttons to raise money for next year's Junior-Senior Prom; they felt the thrill of turning the key in the ignition and driving away.

The class of '69 is the last graduating class of the decade. They are determined to finish the '60's as a memorable class. The Sophomores excelled in student government, athletic and scholastic abilities. The knowledge of following in the footsteps of the Juniors coupled with setting the pace for Freshmen was part of the excitement of being a member of the Sophomore class-the class of '69.

Juniors had to deal with many new responsibilities. Suddenly, although graduation was still two years off, the students were faced with all the details of pre-college planning--meetings, applications, tests. Junior curriculum emphasized the study of American roots and culture. All Juniors were required to study American history and to pass an examination on the United States and Illinois Constitutions. For their first time, Juniors could take a college level course, A.P. American History. The Junior English course included an extensive study of American literature.

Members of Junior Cabinet took over the job of financing the annual Junior-Senior Prom. Juniors were found on varsity athletic teams, as club officers, and in important positions in S.S.O. and Student Council. Juniors not only looked forward to leading the school as Seniors, but also served in leadership positions as Juniors.

Trojan Round-em-up, the year's homecoming, is advertised through the halls of Niles East.

During the past four years, the Class of '67 has gradually worked its way through the framework of mazes found at Niles East. Senior year, the only path still to be conquered, was that leading to graduation. As newcomers to high school, the class first successfully sold pennants. Heartbreaking football games, the twilight pep assembly, and last minute preparation for homecoming floats highlighted Sophomore year. Becoming upperclassmen gave them the privilege to attend the Junior-Senior prom which they hosted at the Pick-Congress Hotel. Senior picnic and breakfast, fall plays, fantastic spring musicals, the sale of felt hats and "BOSS" buttons, the traditional carnivals, the opening of a new student lounge and bookstore were experiences the Class of '67 will always remember. When the road to graduation has finally been traveled, seniors will enter a new set of mazes where new problems to solve and new goals to achieve will always exist. Seniors will always remember the foundation laid for them at Niles East.

Only 180 days until June 11

Mixed emotions fill the minds of seniors as they enter their last year of school.

Acknowledgment

The maze of activities and events of the school year '66-'67 is ended. We have threaded the maze of compiling Reflections '67. In these pages is the goal toward which we have labored. Leafing through the finished product, we smile as we recall the tense moments when we felt ourselves lost in a maze of frustrating and seemingly insoluble difficulties. We wish to thank the many people who worked to put the book together and to overcome the problems that arose: our sponsors, Miss Irene Deneen and Mr. Mel Pirok, who offered advice in many areas, Mr. Art Colver, administrative advisor, Mr. Norman Koenig of King Co. Printing, and the staff of Root Studios. We especially owe thanks to the editors, Barb Dubrow, Joyce Ellis, Gail Estrin, Bill Oppenheimer, Curt Rodin, Arlene Rotkin, Rebecca Ruben, Sue Tarantur, Karen Weinberg, and to their staffs for all their time and effort.

Gratefully,
 Ellen Aprill
