Welcome to New Members

Once again it is time to say "Welcome" to the growers who joined Cranberry Canners, Inc. during the past month.

Our welcome to these new members is warm and sincere, for now, more than ever before, greater cooperation among growers is needed. These are uncertain times. Many difficulties surround us. But if cranberry growers work together, they can face the future confidently. Cooperation among all growers will bring greater success to each grower.

That's why we heartily say "Welcome" to these new members of Cranberry Canners, Inc. who have added their strength to cooperative marketing.

Satuit Cranberry Company First to Join "Cranberry Army Pool"

Mr. M. L. Urann, President of Cranberry Canners, Inc., congratulates Mrs. Marie Lincoln and Mrs. Bernice S. Clapp, the first growers in the nation to subscribe to the "Cranberry Army Pool."

IN this day when women are playing an important part in so many war activities, it is not surprising that two women were the first to become members of the Cranberry Army Pool. These two women are Mrs. Bernice S. Clapp and Mrs. Marie Lincoln, co-owners of the Satuit Cranberry Company of Greenbush, Massachusetts, producer of some of the finest cranberries grown in the state. They have operated the bog for the past ten years, Mrs. Clapp serving as President and handling the selling of the crop and Mrs. Lincoln as Treasurer, supervising the work done on the bog. The appearance of the bog and the quality of the berries grown speaks well for their ability as cranberry growers. The bog is free of weeds, in excellent condition, and a good producer.

Mrs. Clapp is also doing her bit for the war effort in another direction. She is the President and Manager of a woolen mill in Braintree, engaged in reclaiming wool waste, which is used to make fine quality yarn. In addition, she is the mother of a son serving in the U. S. Coast Guard.

Cranberry Canners, Inc. is proud to have as its members these two capable and successful women, and congratulates them on their leadership in being the first growers in the nation to subscribe to the Cranberry Army Pool.
