

Angry Student Smashes Car Into Adm. Building

Friday the 13th brought a disturbing climax to Black Heritage Week.

Last Friday Jay Walker Whities, sophomore, drove his '69 Chevrolet station wagon through the glass front of the administration building.

"He jumped the curb, drove in front of the building and floor boarded his car," said Carol Mitchell, freshman, who saw the incident.

"He was upset because of the apathy of the Negro students," said Mary North, sophomore.

He went into the gymnasium during the 10 o'clock hour to get the A.S.K. members who were playing intramural basketball to go hear Major General Julius Bection who was speaking in honor of Black Heritage Week.

A.S.K. members did not go hear the speaker because they would have had to forfeit the game, explained several of the students that were in the gymnasium.

"Walker went into the student center to get blacks to hear the speaker but the students were involved in playing spades," said North.

Whities then drove his car through the glass in front of the administration building.

"He drove his car in, backed it out and drove off," said Mitchell.

The campus security guard, Ray Kaluza was parked in the parking lot across from the administration building and radioed the Waco Police Department.

"I thought the building had exploded," said Connie Nors who works at the front desk of the registrars office.

"Whities did approximately, 2,500 dollars worth of damage," said Mel Post director of administrative services.

"It has not been determined who will pay for the damages," said Dr. Wilbur Ball president. Regardless of who pays for the damages we will go ahead and repair it he said.

The glass was not insured because insurance was prohibited.

"We have had natural breakage of glass before, because of building settling or shifting and we have always come out ahead by replacing the glass instead of paying insurance for glass all over the campus," said Dr. Ball.

Whities is charged with criminal mischief over 200 dollars and less than 10,000 dollars.

He was transferred to the Veterans Hospital Friday.

Impact Conference To Discuss Vocational Problems, Solutions

The Impact Conference is meeting at 8:30 a.m. until 7:30 p.m. in the HPE Lecture Hall Tuesday.

"The Impact Conference involves the area public institutions and it's general goal is to look at the strengths and weaknesses of vocational education," said Dr. Hastings, vice president and director of program development.

The goal of the Impact Conference is to assess the impact that vocational, and adult education programs and services are having in meeting individual and community needs for living and making a living.

"We are glad we can be a part of this. Every year we get more and more students enrolling in vocational education programs," said Dr. Hastings.

This is the first Impact Conference held at MCC and the second of it's kind in this area, he said.

The conference will include representatives from Connally, La Vega, Midway, Robinson, and Waco Independent School Districts. Also representatives from TSTI and MCC.

Some of the conference objectives are:

1. Determining the comprehensiveness of vocational offerings in relationship to the area's job market.

2. Looking at the placement and follow-up of vocational students and the impact that the follow-up information has upon the planning and management of local programs.

3. Determining the provisions and problems encountered in enhancing the career development of disadvantaged and handicapped persons in your community. (These are persons who need special attention due to physical, emotional, learning, or other types of problems.)

4. Determining what provisions are made by local public education institutions in eliminating sex stereotyping in vocational programs.

5. Looking at the provisions and support of local vocational advisory committee activities.

6. Determining what provisions are made for the involvement of vocational auxiliary instructional personnel in community activities to provide upgrading experiences.

7. Determining the comprehensiveness of adult education opportunities and the provisions made for eliminating education and employment barriers for adults.

Student Government met Monday to swear in Vera Spruill, newly elected representative. The absences of Janet Meek, Debbie Winters, Scott Calley and Vera Spruill at the Feb. 9 meeting were excused.

The Scrapbook Committee decided to meet at 10 a.m. on Wednesday in the Student Government Conference Room to discuss plans for the scrapbook.

Representative Dalvert Thiele said that the "Roundball Revue" which was sponsored by the Inter-Club Council had been cancelled.

Student Government agreed to appropriate $40 for refreshments at the Homecoming Dance on Saturday night.

President Bobby Kacal said that he had received complaints from faculty members about the construction of a new field house. Bobby said that the faculty members had requested him to bring up the subject in the Student Government meeting. He appointed a special temporary committee to investigate the construction of the field house; then the Student Government would either approve or disapprove of the construction.

After voting to continue to sell ABC Interstate Theater tickets last week, The Student Government learned that Dr. LaVerne Wong, director of Student services, had approved their recommendation. Don Bynum, director of student activities, said the tickets would not be available until mid-March or early April. The Student Government also approved the setting up of a voters' registration booth in the Student Center Feb. 23 through 26 to register qualified voters.

Bobby Kacal said that several Student Government members would be attending the Region 6 conference of the Texas Junior College Student Government Association at Blinn Junior College on Feb. 27.

A blood drive on campus will be held March 19 and will be sponsored by the Student Government and the Nursing Club, Bynum announced.

The Bicentennial Celebration stirs patriotic feelings in many, but to many businessmen it just means the year of the "Buy-centennial Sell-abration." So the old tradition goes on, "the rich get richer, and the consumer gets cheated."

There is an assortment of merchandise that is supposedly patriotic. There is the red, white and blue toilet, the Tom Paine Cola, the Revolution Toothpaste and Benjamin Franklin (and other oldies but goldies) iron-on patterns for shirts. Even the "freaks" have made contributions to the Buy-centennial by purchasing such items as red, white and blue "coke spoons" and cigarette papers with the same design.

Professional writers are making a fortune with old history notes and reminiscences. The greater the age of writer the more he has to print. Many newspapers have a nostalgia column.

The Bicentennial haircut is becoming popular. The haircut consists of stars and stripes or of "76".

A person can buy $1.70 worth of Bicentennial coins for only $9.75 from the government.

For 3 years the Chevrolet Vega has been produced in red, white and blue. Now cowboys have been seen wearing Bicentennial boots, belts and hats. Gold and silver Bicentennial watches are on the market, on the backs of the watches are engravings of the Eagle, the Liberty Bell and a locomotive.

The government's "American Revolution Bicentennial Administration" endorsed a national convention for business. The purpose of the meeting was for the businesses to learn how to make money on the Bicentennial.

A person can walk into almost any place of business and buy something that is supposed to spark Bicentennial interest. One might buy a pencil, a notebook, a pizza or a pair of underwear and still be able to get the Bicentennial look.

Remember Peter Fonda in "Easy Rider," the red, white and blue helmet and motorcycle? Those items have been repeated over and over since then. Many furniture stores are making genuine fake antiques, just like the ones our great-great grandparents used, only the electric cord has been added.

When the Buy-centennial is over, if the businessmen ever let it end, the manufacturers will be left with all that money. And what will the consumer be left with? Well, maybe a red, white and blue dyed chicken or maybe an alarm clock that plays the National Anthem to wake by.

Bookstore Cashes No Checks

Imagine yourself in this situation: You just got out of class at 1:30 and you're starving. Crisis!-you can't find even a penny in your pocket, and going to cash a check is out of the question because your car's gas gauge is pointing past empty.

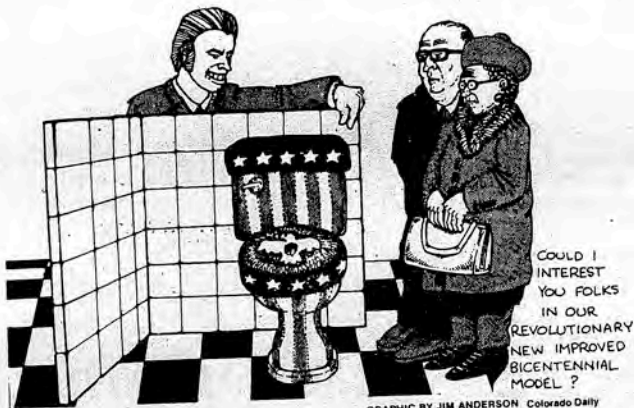

Needing fuel for yourself and your car, you discover a solution to your money problem—cash a check at the bookstore.

You dash down to the bookstore only to be told: "Sorry, we can't cash checks."

Gloria Diaz, bookstore employee, explained that the bookstore is unable to cash checks according to school policy. Too many "hot checks" have been given, she said.

Though the bookstore cannot cash checks, it will accept checks for articles bought in the store.

"We don't have any type of credit system, so we have to accept them," said Mrs. Diaz. "What else can you do?"

Major General Speaks About Being Black In The Army

Major General Julius Becton boarding a helicopter on the flag football field after speak in honor of Black Heritage Week last Friday.

Women in the military today stand where blacks stood 25 years ago, Maj. Gen. Julius Becton Jr. told a scattered audience Friday as the final campus event of Black Heritage Week.

"Today we don't have an army based on color," he said.

Maintaining a community of more than 160,000 people who make up Ft. Hood (where Becton took his command a year ago over 15,000 men) demands more than military discipline.

"We must deal with each other as people," he said.

The individual must know himself before he can work together with another human for a common goal. That working together is community, Becton said.

Whatever the category, when that group moves from being one of the "outs" to being one of the "ins" there is always another minority group of "outs" who must begin the process of merging into the mainstream of society, he said.

The place of the black soldier is no different than that of the white soldier. Women in the service are gradually moving into leading roles, serving in all but 10 per cent of the jobs — those strictly defined as combat, he said.

Becton referred to Ft. Hood in his explanation of "community" because of its size. Larger than Waco and its suburbs, Ft. Hood is the "largest institution of its kind in the world," he said.

Military life extends only to the soldiers; their spouses, children and friends form a community that is not dealt with as simply. The goal is that each group be respected by the community.

Black Poet Encourages Writers

Nikki Giovanni highlighted Black Heritage Week in Waco last Thursday as she spoke on the campus of Paul Quinn in the George B. auditorium.

Giovanni spoke on subjects ranging from poetry to politics. She is one of today's contemporary great black poets.

Writing was always one of Giovanni's dreams. "As long as I can remember I wanted to write. Writing had always been one of my fantasies and in my senior year in college I decided on writing poetry," Giovanni said. "I started submitting what I wrote, because someone has to read what you write. If you're a beginner looking for a way for someone to get your stories you must submit. If you're writing, continue to write and never stop writing."

Politically speaking her advice to black people was, "If you're going to change for the better you must vote. Voting is a means of voicing your opinion on issues that effect you every day."

Giovanni also stressed blacks in politics. She said, "Blacks need to get more involved in politics and become more aware of the issues."

In closing out her speech Giovanni said, "We as blacks must become great individuals first, because skin means nothing, it is the content of the individuals brain that counts.

Audio-visual effects, coordinated by Dr. Micheal White, will supplement the choral-type reading. The production will depict the American Revolution and the Civil War.

Campus Bands Stage Concerts

Jazz band music from swing to acid rock can be heard next Friday and Saturday on campus.

Stage Band Concert

First performance of the MCC stage bands will be Friday in the Fine Arts Theater.

"This performance will be a good opportunity to survey the entire range of works written for the stage band, spanning a total of some 40 years," said Melvin Cooksey, music instructor.

The concert will feature works by some of the leading composers and arrangers: Stan Kenton, Marius "Butch" Nardal, Jeff Struggess, Tom Frederickson and Herbie Hancock.

Nardal and Sturgess represent some of the newest jazz composers, said Cooksey. Both are from the One O'Clock lab band at North Texas State University.

Cooksey said that jazz has its compositional roots in ragtime music of the 20th century and of popular blues music. Blues is the principle sound source for Negro worksongs and spirituals.

"The outgrowth of jazz is merely the replacing of the single pianist with at least several players; and the replacing of the blues singer with a small group of instrumentalists or a full-size jazz band," said Cooksey.

Stage Band Contest

The Second Annual Central Texas Stage Band Contest will be held Saturday from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the MCC Student Center.

Bands from Baylor, Mountain View and MCC will compete with bands throughout the area. Instructors from Baylor, Mountain View and Eastfield College will judge the contest.

Trophies will be awarded to the best band in each class and to outstanding soloists.

Roboy will speak on "The Plight and Conservation of Wildlife", "The Role of Zoos in Conservation", "The Role of the Cen-Tex Zoo."

Anyone, on and off campus, is invited to the lecture.

EDP Installs New Members

Epison Delta Pi, data processing honor society, installed new members Feb. 11 at a luncheon at the Water Works Restaurant. The new members were installed by EDP President Wilbert Curtis.

The new members were each presented with a certificate of membership by Curtis. The new members were Kent Birkes, Roy Boston, Cynthia Featherston, Gail Hoffman, Florence Manning, Beth McGregor, Colleen Shelburne and Barton Townsend.

Colleen Shelburne, vice-president, told of the activities of EDP. The Data Processing Management Association (DPMA) and EDP are working together on a project for the Waco Police Department. EDP and DPMA are co-sponsoring a Heart-of-Texas DPMA and Student Area chapter banquet for March 15. Robert Smith, vice-president of data processing at Blue Cross-Blue Shield of Texas will be guest speaker.

Grand Chapter Rep. Kent Birkes reported on EDP chapters in the state. Secretary-Treasurer Elizabeth Miller introduced the officers, and Joe Spacek, sponsor, introduced the guests and members present. Several local businesses and the MCC Data Processing Center were represented at the luncheon.

MCC HOMECOMING

FEBRUARY 21, 1976

Ten Years And Still Growing

Providing post-high school education to all the people of McLennan County, MCC is celebrating its tenth birthday this year.

MCC's history began when several persons saw a need for a junior college in McLennan County.

A steering committee polled high school juniors and seniors in the county and were assured that 1200 of them would attend a junior college. The committee obtained 6,000 names on a petition for the State Board of Education to consider the application for the creation of the college.

Sept. 22 the steering committee named seven persons as nominees to run for election as college trustees. In October, the County Commissioners set the junior college election for Nov. 2.

On Nov. 2, 1965 county voters approved four separate proposals necessary for the establishment of the college: to create a college district to encompass all of McLennan County; to elect seven trustees to govern the college; to authorize a maintenance tax of up to 25 cents per $100 county valuation; and to authorize the issuance of $2 million in bonds.

Wilbur Ball was named president of the college Feb. 22, 1966. In March, 1966 Chester Hastings, now vice-president, was named dean of the college.

School was set to open in September, 1966 with a wide course offering. Faculty salary schedule was established and interviews were held. Collection of library resources began.

James Connally Air Force Base was designated as a temporary home for the college.

MCC was named in May, 1966, and became the first junior college in Texas to have the word "community" in its name. From 400 to 500 students were expected to enroll that fall.

College credit enrollment has increased from 859 students in 1966 to 3,573 today. Continuing education classes began in 1967. They have grown from 200 students to about 4,000 students.

MCC's permanent location was chosen in August, 1966, to be the site of the William Cameron estate. Construction began in 1967, and the campus was occupied in January, 1969.

After a 34 per cent enrollment increase, a $4 million bond issue passed in September, 1970, to provide more facilities for the college.

Athletics in intercollegiate competition began with basketball in 1967 and continued with baseball in 1968, tennis in 1970 and golf in 1972. Women's basketball began this fall.

HIGHLANDERS RANKED HIGH IN TEXAS AND NATION

1976 Highlanders

The 1975-76 MCC basketball team is acclaimed to possess the greatest individual talent ever assembled in Highlander uniforms. Highlander foes have witnessed this claim to the extent of the '75-'76 Highlanders posting their best team record at this point in the season, since their beginning in 1967.

The first Highlander team of 1967-68 posted a 13-13 record with an all freshman team. In 1968-69 the team won the North Zone of the Texas Junior College Conference with a 22-14 record. Since that time the records have been as follows: 1969-70, 19-11; 1970-71, 9-20; 1971-72, 22-7; 1972-73, 28-8 (Conference and State Champs); 1973-74, 22-10; and 1974-75, 27-5 (Conference Champs).

This year's team shows very good balance with five sophomores and six freshmen.

John Derrick leads the list of outstanding sophomores. Derrick ("J.D.") last season was a first team selection of the Northern Texas Junior College Athletic Conference All-Conference team, made the All-Region V team, the All-Region V tournament team, and was Honorable Mention All-American.

Carlos Blackwood ("Los") was a Super-Sub last year (and this year) and previously played on the Panama National All-Star team.

Skippy Black ("Skip") transferred from Sam Houston State where he started last year for the Lone Star Conference Champs. Black was a high school All-District player for Austin Johnson.

Mark Talaga is a transfer student from Michigan State and was a two year All-State performer at All Saints High School, Bay City, Michigan.

Martin Schwarz ("Marvelous Martin") is a transfer student from Texas Tech and was an outstanding player at Richfield High School, Waco.

The freshmen players show a lot of future promise with two starters and at least two others seeing plenty of action. Ed Marshall ("Easy Ed") is a two year All-State performer from Kennard High School and made the "Coach & Athlete Magazine" selection as an All-American high school player.

Vinnie Johnson ("V.J.") was selected to the All-Brooklyn team and the All-New York City team and was listed as one of the top leading scorers in Houston last year and made the All-District and All-City teams.

Burt Burrows of Austin Crockett was selected to the All-District teams in both basketball and baseball.

Dan McMullen ("Dynamic Dan") was an All-District performer at Garland South Garland.

John Hightower ("High") of Huntsville also was selected on an All-District team.

Highlassies Arrive With Tenth Anniversary

1976 Highlassies

When basketball season began on campus, students and faculty quickly found out there was a new team representing MCC. The 'Lassies went into the MCC Classic with a 0-8 record and people were beginning to wonder if the women would win a game.

"After we got beat badly by Temple, we had a team meeting. Marilyn Maxwell injured herself in the Temple game and this hurt. We had a meeting and decided if we were going to win we would have to start playing as a team," said Davis.

The team meeting helped, for MCC won first place in the tournament with wins over North Texas State and San Jacinto College. From that point on, the 'Lassies have played respectable basketball, winning over half their games.

Here is a closer look at each of the 1976 Highlassies through the eyes of Coach Davis:

Carol Remus, freshman from Waco Midway- "Comes from good basketball background. Biggest adjustment was to run offense. She had little aggressiveness at first of season but she is beginning to adjust. Her biggest problem is herself-she doesn't want to be a ball-hog but she has to run our offense."

Connie Witt, freshman from Axtell- "Aggressive, quick, rebounds well for her size. Her biggest adjustment was that she had to run offense in high school where here she is playing a wing position so she can shoot her shot and rebound well."

Doris Ross, sophomore from Mart- "Tremendous plus in both offense and defense play. Without her, we have little rebounding. We couldn't play without her."

Pat James, freshman from Waco Jeff-Moore- "She has beautiful shot from the outside. Her reactions are still slow, but she has a lot of desire and a willing to do what is right for the team."

Janice Wallace, freshman from Lorena- "She is one of these anything-we-need girls. She has played about every position for us. Puts a lot of pressure on the ball handler."

Kathy Bullock, freshman from Waco Richfield- "Kathy had a lot less experience than the other girls because she played only one year of high school ball. She is a good girl to have whenever we are pressing and defense in general."

Edna Stewart, freshman from Riesel- "Edna doesn't have that much experience because she has been playing only this semester. She will play real tough defense and put pressure on the ball handler."

Sherry Youngblood, freshman from Coolidge- "Sherry has also been playing only this semester so she does not have much experience either. She is a good team player and keeps everyone going."

Fieldhouse Preliminary Plans OK'd By Board

The Board of Trustees voted to begin preliminary planning for the new fieldhouse in the Feb. 10 board meeting. The field house will be located on the wooded flatland adjacent to the student parking lots and the Child Care Centers.

The location is considered best because it is flat sight, near utilities, and close to the HPE Building, said Dr. Ball, president of the college.

Mel Post, director of administrative services ran a parking survey on the evening students and found that the area for the proposed gym had nearly no parking.

The building will cost approximately 480,000. A bond issue will not be needed said Dr. Ball. It will be funded by the MCC building fund.

The building will be of metal frame with prefab concrete walls.

The bleacher will seat about 2026 people.

The preliminary plan does not have a place to take up tickets.

Jimmy Clayton, athletic director is already working on a new plan.

The preliminary plans do not include air conditioning.

We will probably add some alternatives in the future such as more space, bricks in the front of the building and air conditioning.

"I would like a building seating 2500 to 3000 to be used for meetings and perhaps have a stage," said Earl Harrison a board member.

The board members discussed the need of more storage space and said that

New Classes For Adult Ed.

Adult recreation courses in aerobic dancing, golf, and scuba diving begin in February through the McLennan Community College Continuing Education program for the 1976 spring semester.

The beginning golf class will emphasize the proper grip, stance, approach shots, driving, and putting as well as the rules and etiquette of the game.

The basic scuba diving course is taught by a certified scuba diving instructor. Upon satisfactory completion of the course, the student will become a certified scuba diver.

Aerobic dancing is a rhythmic sport that combines the benefits of conditioning exercise with the fun factor inherent in dancing.

For further information pertaining to times and cost of courses, contact the MCC Continuing Education Office at 756-6551, ext. 217.

space underneath the bleachers could be used to accommodate the equipment of non basketball sports.

The fieldhouse will also be used for intramurals.

"We will use it for anything else feasible--indoor tennis, volleyball, intramurals and other athletic events," said Dr. Ball.

"It has been suggested to me that the building could also be used in the summer for some of the state wide projects," said Guy King a board member.

Harrison added that there could be a dance on the floor, perhaps a sock-hop.

Hill Tips MCC

by David Williams

The Hill Junior College Rebels slapped the MCC Highlanders with their second conference loss of the year, 90-84, and their third loss overall.

It was a sloppy game played by the 5th ranked Highlanders as they started out the game with Hill exploding for 8-0 lead. The lead was never lost as the Highlanders came close but not close enough.

On many occasions Hill hit easy layups and completely riddled the Highlanders press. Officiating was not the best but the Highlanders had ample opportunities to win. A main factor in the loss was the limited play of Vinnie Johnson, as he scored a season low 9 points and stayed on the bench in foul trouble for more than half the game.

The bright spots in the loss was the play of center, John Derrick, as he shunted the rough pushing tactics of Hill and came out of the game as the leading scorer and rebounder with 26 points and 15 rebounds.

Ed Marshall was next with 17 points and followed by Glen Minnux with 14 points.

The Highlanders shot a miserable 40 percent while Hill was connecting for 48 percent.

Highlanders Stick Cooke 112-87

by Terry Tacker

Derrick and Vinnie combined for 70 points as the Highlanders defeated Cooke County 112-87 in a Western Texas Junior College Athletic Conference game. MCC time 23-2 for the year and 9-1 conference play.

Derrick rewrote the records last evening. The sophomore from Garland finished with 19 field goals on 25 attempts and a free throw for his total of 39 points. This point total broke a career-high scoring record for Derrick. He also pulled down a school-record 32 rebounds, 14 of them offensive carums.

Freshman Johnson poured in 31 points and passed for 13 assists, a team high for the season. He had 15 field goals, 3 steals and 6 rebounds.

But the win was a team victory. The Highlanders rebounded from the Weatherford loss in grand fashion as another capacity crowd roared their approval of the final outcome.

The contest contained two completely different halves. In the first half, the Lions shot 64 per cent from the field and gave the Highlanders a tough time.

Derrick scored six of MCC's first 12 points but each time the Highlanders would score, the Lions would tie the game. Cooke County went 14-58 in the first half before they missed their first shot. MCC had problems moving the ball in the early going against the Lions 2-1-2 zone defense. Cooke County went ahead 20-14 with 11:53 left in the half for their biggest lead in the game. MCC Coach Johnny Carter called time-out, inserted guard Burt Burrows and went to the Highlanders' full court press. The different defense resulted in five quick MCC steals. From that point on, the Highlanders controlled the tempo of the game.

Cooke County was still shooting amazingly well. Skippy Black put MCC ahead 49-47 with 31 seconds left, but Joe Jackson shot a 29-foot shot at the buzzer. It went through the net, and the game was tied 49 at halftime.

The Highlanders scored the first six points of the second half and never looked back. The Lions' shooting cooled off, and they were outmuscled by the Big Orange. MCC's Ed Marshall shut down the Lions leading scorer James Hall, who had scored 17 points in the first half, and Johnson and Derrick began to take control of the game.

MCC roared to an 18-2 advantage through the first five minutes of the half with Black scoring six, and Derrick and Mark Talaga four each. The Highlanders increased the lead to 71-57 before the Lions could regain some momentum. At that point, Derrick and Johnson combined for the next 32 points.

MCC collected 66 rebounds to the Lions 34. The Highlanders forced Cooke into 34 turnovers while committing only 15 themselves.

Highlassies Defeat Eastfield

The Highlassies defeated Eastfield Thursday night in their most impressive win of their first year in existence. MCC won 93-56.

The 96 points represents the most points put on the scoreboard by the 'Lassies all year. Four players scored in double figures as MCC's record now is 7-14.

The 'Lassies shot more than 55 per cent in the first half and had little trouble enroute to a 41-25 halftime lead. In the second half, the Highlassies had leads up to 40 points as Eastfield could do little to stop the scoring barrage.

The MCC scoring parade offset a super performance by Eastfield's Charlotte Humphrey. Humphrey scored 35 points on 15 field goals and five free throws before fouling out with two minutes left in the game.

Freshman Janice Wallace scored 24 points to lead the 'Lassies. She was followed in scoring by Connie Witt with 21, Pat James 18, Doris Ross 16, Sherry Youngblood 7, Carol Remus 4 and Kathy Bullock 3.

Scott, Skinner Have Hopes

Two all-conference baseball players have set their goals high for the up coming season. Tommy Scott, an all-conference pitcher, and Tim Skinner, an all-conference secondbase both are graduates of Arlington Sam Houston High School.

Scott had impressive statistics last year on the mound winning 6 games and losing 5.

His 0.77 earned run average was most impressive.

Scott's goals are simple, he said, "I'd like for us to win a conference crown this year. Our hitting is going to be better and our pitching staff will return with more experience. We have many people coming back from last year and that one year's experience will help tremendously."

"My personal contribution will be the ability to pitch complete games. I think with a little luck our chances of winning the conference are good."

Tim Skinner the returning second baseman said, "I'd like to win the title, be a team leader, improve on my hitting and be an RBI man. Last year my defense helped the team, but this year I would like my game to improve. We have the experience and the personnel to win it all. I feel everyone must work hard and contribute what ever is needed to win."

ODDS & ENDS

by Terry Tacker

The spring sports are now in full swing on campus. Coach Don TATUM'S TENNIS TEAM has already participated in several matches and Saturday the Highlander baseball team has their first game. Temple Junior College, one of the finer junior college teams in this area, will provide the opposition. Game time is 1 P.M. on the MCC FIELD.

But much of the attention on campus will remain on the BASKETBALL team, and why shouldn't it? The Highlanders are now 23-3 on the year.

Thursday night, MCC hosts RANGER for another important conference game. Saturday night, the Highlanders take a break from the hectic conference action when they host SAN JACINTO COLLEGE, one of the teams that has had the honor of beating the Highlanders this season. If you want a seat for this game, you had better come early. MCC travels to SOUTHWEST CHRISTIAN Monday night for a game with the Rams.

The HIGHLASSIES play the Ranger RangeAnns tomorrow night and then conclude their season against San Jacinto Saturday night. If the Lassies could win those two, they would conclude their first year of existence with a 0-14 record, and that would be outstanding considering the kind of start the women had.

Many people have ridiculed the game of BASEBALL lately, saying the game is DULL. Baseball is dull? Of the eight top rated sports events on TV last year, four were World Series games.

HOUSTON ASTROS' General Manager Tal Smith: "Rebuilding is not an overnight project. It will take some years to be on the same level with teams like the Reds and Dodgers. We must be patient and hope our youngsters come along rapidly."

The unpredictable owner of the Oakland Athletics Charlie Finley and his lawyers are optimistic that pitcher

CATFISH HUNTER will be returned from the New York Yankees. The ATHLETICS have a history of being a nightmare for their manager because of their outlandish ways. New manager Chuck Tanner talks about what he'll do about the outspoken A's: "There are a lot of good kids who go to bed at eight every night, are no trouble at all, are great to be around and hit .180. Give me the outspoken good player." We'll see what Tanner has to say when the season is over, if he is still around.

The ROSE BOWL led all other holiday grid shows in the Nielsen ratings.

The Southwest Conference INDOOR TRACK MEET will be held Friday in Fort Worth, Texas, which defeated Baylor by two points last year, is the favorite to repeat as champions.

The hottest team in the National Basketball Association, winner of seven straight games, is the Portland TRAIL BLAZERS who is led by Bill Walton. Bill Walton? Yes, that is the same guy who was All-America at UCLA and was supposed to lead the Blazers to the NBA championship his first year as a pro. Several bad things happened to Walton his rookie year, and he ended up playing a mere 15 active games. This year, WALTON is third in the NBA in rebounding and is doing everything a team player has to do like hitting the clutch shots and passing off to his teammates when he doesn't have an open shot. The Blazers are glad to have the big guy around.

Darryl Sausberry, 6'8"

University of Arkansas center, sporting collar-length hair and a long drooping mustache, fouled out of three straight games. Before the next game against Baylor, he decided to trim his hair and shave his mustache. Sausberry was called for only two fouls. Two nights later, against Texas Tech, Sausberry played 40 minutes and played the whole game. The HAIRCUT? The SHAVE? "I think they helped," Sausberry concedes. "I hate to say it, but I guess the hair did affect the refs."

SPORTSQUOTES: Chi Chi Rodriguez, Puerto Rican golf pro, on his accent: "After all these years it's still embarrassing for me to play on the American GOLF tour. Like the time I asked my caddy for a sand wedge, and he comes back 10 minutes later with a ham on rye."

Al McGuire, asked why his Marquette teams play so many low-scoring games: "I couldn't shoot when I played, so I teach defense."

The Highlander tennis team played two matches Friday in their first action of the year. Coach Don Tatum's forces played Paris Junior College in Paris and Grayson County College in Dennison.

MCC tied Paris 6-6 with the Highlander women winning their six matches, but the men found the going rough and lost all their outings.

The score in the Grayson match was 7-5 in favor of MCC. Once again, the women won all their matches but this time Tim Roehrick won his match over Grayson's Robin Roberts to give the Highlanders their winning margin.

NAVARRO 7 MCC 3

Navarro handed the Highlander tennis team their first loss of the year with a 7-3 setback. The match was played in Corsicana. The Bulldog netters came from Pakistan, Chili, Bolivia and were too much for MCC to handle.
