

For Activity Hour

Council Recommends No Changes

Student Services Council made a recommendation Friday that status of the 10 a.m. Activity Hour not be changed.

A committee appointed by Dr. Wilbur Ball, president, to study facilities usage on campus has recommended that the period be changed to the proposed time.

Student Services Council members studied four surveys concerning the Activity Hour before arriving at their decision.

Don Bynum, director of student activities, presented a cross-section survey of the student body, a survey of faculty and staff and a survey of other junior colleges. Student Government president Mike Kelley presented a random survey made by Student Government.

Of the 38 junior colleges responding to Bynum's poll, 22 provide an activity hour. Thirteen of these listed pre-noon times for their activity hours.

"Prime-time, when students are on campus, is a good time for an activity hour," said Bynum. "A vast majority of the junior colleges polled said their students support activity hour."

A poll of 304 students in six history and six technical-vocational classes conducted by Bynum showed that 60 per cent favored leaving activity hour at 10 a.m., while 14 per cent would like to see it scheduled at another time.

Thirty-eight per cent of all faculty and staff polled prefer activity hour be scheduled at another time; 30 per cent feel it should remain at 10 a.m., and 14 per cent feel it should be completely dropped.

"We're in somewhat of a philosophical dilemma," said Mary Cantrell, mental health instructor; "students want it (Activity Hour) the same and the faculty wants it changed."

If Activity Hour was changed to noon to 1 p.m. many students leaving campus at noon would

WORK AND PLAY--Students use the 10 a.m. Activity Hour for a variety of things, such as playing "spades" and making up chemistry labs.

Blood Drive Here Nets 63 Units

MCC students and faculty donated 63 pints of blood in the Red Cross Blood Drive last Friday.

The drive was sponsored by Chicanos Unidos and Nursing Students Association.

Pam Jackson, Red Cross Donor Recruiter said, "We do appreciate those who gave blood. You know you have helped someone when you give and right now the blood is certainly needed."

Don Bynum, director of student activities, said, "We usually have less people donating in the spring because people are just getting over colds and other illnesses."

In the Fall blood drive MCC donated 90 pints of blood.

Scot-N-Water Club won the trophy for having the largest percentage of members donate blood. 55 per cent of the clubs membership donated. The trophy was presented to club president, Dalbert Thiele, Monday.

The Nursing Club had 15 per cent of its members donate and Chicanos Unidos had 13 per cent.

Anyone interested in donating blood may visit the American Red Cross at 1124 Austin Ave. It is open from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Mondays and 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Tues. through Fri.

Reading Program Seeks Tutors

The MCC Regional Community Education Co-op Right to Read Reading Academy's purpose is to provide tutoring for adults who read below the sixth grade level, so that they may improve their reading skills.

Volunteers are needed to inform potential students of the opportunities available to them through the MCC Co-op. People who enjoy speaking to groups are needed to explain the program and recruit volunteers at civic and social organization meetings. Coordinators are needed to help make assignments and arrange for facilities for the tutoring sessions.

"We need people with special interest in public relations, advertising, recognition ceremonies, newsletter preparation and tutor training," said Thomas. There is a great need for volunteer tutors, since tutoring is done on a one to one basis.

Clerical assistants are also needed to help collect and maintain records, reading inventories and other important information. "Sometimes volunteers are needed in subjects other than reading, such as math, grammar, and business skills," said Thomas.

There are forty-two students with only 14 volunteers presently involved in tutoring. There are no special qualifications or educational requirements to be a tutor, and normally two to three hours a week is all the time it requires.

The students are matched with volunteer tutors who give them individualized reading instruction. "The Academy not only helps the student, but also provides experience in the areas the volunteer may be interested in," said Dr. Doug Thomas, coordinator of the Right To Read Program.

The Academy provides the necessary training for all volunteers. It also supplies all of the workbooks, readers, and other material used in the program. The Academy will help volunteers with transportation expenses if necessary.

According to a recent survey in the area served by the MCC Co-op there are over 18,000 adults who have not finished the fourth grade. The Reading Academy hopes to provide tutors for at least 400 students this year and at least 1800 in the next three years," said Thomas.

Clubs To Clean River

Joggers and bicyclists using the trail running along the west bank of the Brazos River through Cameron Park may find it unusually clean this spring.

Scots 'N Water members are making plans to clean the trail from MCC to the Suspension Bridge. The club is inviting local high schools, Baylor University and other civic groups to participate in the clean-up project.

"We're planning to clean the trail Saturday, but if enough people want to participate we may put it off so everyone can help," said William Sterling, organizer of the project.

Lover's Leap and the trail are two areas which Sterling says are the trashiest.

"There's trash everywhere around Lover's Leap; I think some people must throw their garbage off of it," Sterling said.

"The area is used by joggers and bicyclists, but they just don't keep it clean," said club member John Pemberton.

Sterling and Pemberton are among club members who cleaned part of the area two years ago for an ecology class project at Richfield High School.

"It only took us an afternoon when we cleaned it in '75," said Sterling, "but this time we're taking on a much bigger area."

The club also wants to put trash barrels along the trail, but that will first have to be cleared with the City of Waco, Sterling said.

Activity Hour; Useful Or Unused?

With all the comparing of surveys and debates over the Activity Hour, it is questionable that changing the period would have a positive effect for anyone — students, faculty or staff.

Adoption of a proposition that the Activity Hour be changed to noon to 1 p.m. would be of little help for scheduling more classes or getting better use out of campus facilities.

Students, given an inch, will take a mile. As class schedules are made now, most students have 8 a.m. and 9 a.m. classes and use 10 a.m. as a break. With a noon to 1 p.m. Activity Hour, many students will be tempted to schedule 10 a.m. and 11 a.m. pre-break classes — a schedule that would allow many of them to sleep late. Result? Building usage might not be any better than it is now.

The same or less building usage would be had with a noon break as with a 10 a.m. break. The big difference would be that many more students will be likely to leave campus during the noon break, and not return for the day.

Probably no larger group than the student body could be affected by moving or dropping the 10 a.m. Activity Hour. Of the some 3,600 day students, about 500 are involved in clubs and organizations.

Many of these same 500 go to work immediately after classes, and one has to wonder if clubs and organizations such as Student Government could function efficiently and effectively with a noon activity hour.

But countless other students use the 10 a.m. break as an opportunity to study, use the library or make appointments with instructors or counselors. Activity Hour is presently the Counseling Office's peak time for student — counselor conferences.

This campus is almost void of students, faculty or staff after 1:30 p.m. Most people can be found on campus from 7:30 a.m. to noon. 10 a.m. falls in the middle of this time period, making it the optimum time for clubs to meet, and students to confer with faculty and staff members.

Offering some P.E. classes and other multi-section classes during the 10 a.m. Activity Hour might provide an alternative for students who have unusual schedules or who want to get their classes over with.

Better building usage could be achieved more through this alternative than any other.

Letter To The Editor

'A Star Is Born' Movie Review Offends Student

Dear Editor:

I was greatly disappointed and highly offended by Mr. Davis' critique of "A Star Is Born" (Highland Herald, Feb. 23).

The first point I would like to challenge is why shouldn't Miss Streisand have re-written the movie to be based around herself, being she knows herself better than anyone else. As for Streisand and Peters receiving all credit, my view point is, if you are the character which is being portrayed, you would know what you would wear.

I'm glad that the third version is different; anyone can copy. As for my Kleenex box, I wish I would have had it with me. Their tender moments caused a lump in my throat several times. At the end of the film it was all I could do to restrain myself from crying out loud.

Mr. Kristofferson was supposed to look like he could be a Jack Daniels advertisement. He was a tired man burned out on booze and dope which I feel he portrayed very well.

In my opinion it is one of the best Streisand movies yet. This character was someone real whom I could believe in today.

Yes, "Evergreen" is a beautiful song, but the song that was sung "five times too often" as you referred to it ("Are You Watching Me Now") was of great symbolic significance.

The first four times it was sung Kris was asking Barbara a question, "Are you watching me now?" The last time it was sung it was sung almost as a prayer sung by Barbara to Kris.

No, Mr. Davis I was not let down. I will enjoy seeing it again.

I suggest that you look up the word "critique" in the dictionary. You will find it is not synonymous with "put down".

Hereford Journals Donated To Library

Bill Allen, Waco Real Estate agent, recently donated a history of American Hereford Journals to the library.

The journals date from 1958 through 1976. Each is an annual publication and contains nearly 300 pages of Hereford history.

Animal Science instructor Walter Kruse said "This donation makes it possible to have research material for the Hereford breed. We can now study changes in body type. Leading breeders throughout the United States can be easily looked up and also problems of the breed can be found in the journals."

SG Discusses Budget

By Amy Dunlap

A proposed budget revision was passed in Monday's Student Government meeting. Treasurer Mark Henson presented the revisions.

From the balance on hand Feb. 25, 1977, the following changes were made: $700 was budgeted for the original convention and travel costs, present balance is $624.09. The revised budget calls for $800. Dances and supplies originally started with $800 and presently has $462.72. Student Government wishes to decrease this amount to $310. For concerts, there is $120 left in the budget from the original $500. The revision calls for $250. By redistribution of funds $200 will be made available for Athletic Banners to be placed in the gym honoring the Highlanders. All budget revisions will have to be approved by the Administration Board.

Laura Langford read a memo that will be sent to Dean of Student Services, Dr. Wong, listing all classrooms that do not have clocks.

Becky Rose, Susana Guerra and Kathy Miller were nominated for special recognition by Student Government. These students participated in a Florida Speech tournament last semester. They represented MCC bringing home 11 trophies. These students along with future ones will be commended by Student Government with a Certificate of Recognition.

A Student Services Council meeting report was presented. President Mike Kelley, Secretary Carol Degrate and Representative Dennis Kutschersky attended the meeting. The results of the Student Government Activity Hour Survey were given as support for not changing the hour. The council voted not to support the proposed change.

Kelley said that the Student Government Absentee Policy is going to be enforced because of excessive absentees. "Absenteeism will not be tolerated," said Kelley.

The Mental Health Associates of MCC club constitution was approved. Office Education Association and Music Educators National Conference Chapters have submitted constitutions for active club status but have not yet been reviewed.

be excluded from club activities, said Student Government Representative Dennis Kutschersky.

"Activity Hour benefits all students, not just clubs," he said. "Many students who work nine to 10 hours each night can use the library only at the Activity Hour."

The Facilities — Use Committee has suggested that classes could possibly be scheduled at 10 a.m. if Activity Hour were moved or dropped.

One school in Tarrant County offers one section of multi-section courses during its activity hour, said Bynum.

Student Services Council will discuss the possibility of scheduling classes during Activity Hour at its meeting next month.

Highlassies March To Region Finals

Coach Pam Davis' Highlassies advanced to the finals of the Region V tournament with a 58-53 win over Howard College last night.

MCC now plays for the regional championship and a berth in the national tournament in Hutchinson, Kansas tonight against South Plains.

South Plains defeated the Highlassies earlier this year by a score of 64-60.

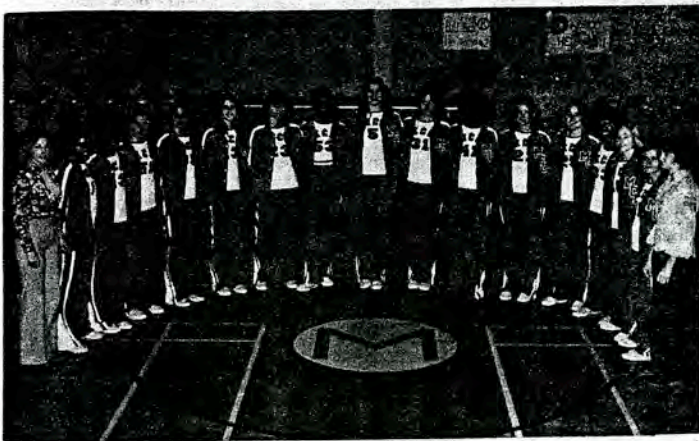

MCC defeated Grayson County 73-47 Monday night in first round action.

Gaye Loewe, finally fully recovered from a hand injury, was MCC's leading scorer with 21 points. Carolyn Johnson added 16, but more importantly the freshman from Dallas pulled down 22 rebounds.

Jackie Swaim and Claire Morris finished with 10 points each. Sharon Whitney with nine, Ellen Lindemann with five and Vivian Speer with two points rounded out the MCC scoring.

Davis' probable starting lineup for the game against South Plains will be Jackie Swaim, Carolyn Johnson, Gaye Loewe, Claire Morris and Sharon Whitney.

Highlanders Invade Abilene

By Terry Tacker

The Highlander basketball team defends their Region V Junior College championship beginning Thursday afternoon with an encounter against Clarendon. Gametime is 2 p.m. at the McMurry College Gym in Abilene.

Abilene and the regional tournament was an exciting experience for the 1976 Highlanders. Led by sophomores John Derrick, Skippy Black, Mark Talaga, Carlos Blackwood and freshmen Glenn Minnex, Ed Marshall, Vinnie Johnson and Burt Burrows, the Orange captured the first place trophy and advanced to the national tournament in Hutchinson, Kansas. The road was not easy last year, with MCC winning over Howard College 95-93, New Mexico Military Institute 74-73 and nipping Amarillo College 85-81 in the championship game. The action promises to be just as tough this year.

Four teams from both the Northern and Western conferences will be participating in Abilene. MCC, Hill, Cooke County and either Ranger or Grayson County represent the Northern league with Clarendon, Midland, Howard County and number four in the nation Western Texas from the Western conference.

If the Highlanders defeat Clarendon Thursday, they play the winner of the Midland - Cooke County contest at 9 p.m. Friday night. The championship game is set for 8 p.m. Saturday night, after the All-Star game at 7 p.m.

REGION V BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT McMurry College Abilene, Texas

To be held March 3-4-5

Leopards Sweep MCC Nine

Blasting 21 hits for the afternoon, the Temple Junior College Leopards swept a doubleheader from the Highlanders 8-6 and 6-5 Sunday afternoon at the MCC Field. The games were supposed to be played Saturday but were forced to be moved one day back due to Baylor using the MCC diamond Saturday.

MCC held leads during both games only to watch the Leopards come up with the effort needed to win the games. The Highlanders collected eight hits in the first game and four in the finale but were not enough in both cases.

After trailing 5-1 in the opener, MCC stormed back to take a 6-5 lead in the sixth inning. Sophomore Mike Schreiner blasted a three-run home run scoring Louis Rendon and Rusty Erwin.

But Temple came back to take the lead 8-6 in the top of the seventh. Two Highlander errors and two singles led to the Orange downfall. Kevin Weibold took the loss for the Highlanders, giving up ten hits and striking out four while going the distance.

The Leopards, who split with MCC in an earlier doubleheader in Temple, scored five runs in the fifth inning to propel them to their second game victory. Burt Burrows collected a homer for MCC while Bret Blackwell had his second double of the afternoon to lead the Highlander hitters. Oscar Tibbs absorbed his second loss of the year against no wins.

Tennis Team Place Second

By Eddie Wiley

The tennis team hosted the McLennan Invitational last Friday and Saturday with 19 schools participating.

Navarro Junior College took the invitational earning 36 points. MCC placed second with 29 points and Cooke took third with 27 points. Texas Wesleyan College captured fourth with 26 points.

Coach Carmack Berryman expressed great pleasure at MCC's second-place finish.

"... match like this gives the players both experience and more knowledge of the game," he said.

In men's singles, Tim Roerick got into the quarterfinals being defeated by Navarro 6-2, 6-2.

In women's singles, both

Denise Norred and Arlene Simms advanced into the quarterfinals. Both were defeated 2-6, 2-6 by Navarro.

In men's doubles, Warren Gradick and David Ammans advanced to the quarterfinals, being defeated 2-6, 2-6 by San Jacinto College. Also, Roerick and Art Hobbs made it to the quarterfinals being defeated 1-6, 4-6 by the top-seeded team from Navarro.

In women's doubles, Miss Norred and Lilith Eberle lost to Cooke 1-6, 5-7.

Reaching the semifinals were Miss Simms and Sherry Collazo losing 6-4, 4-6, 6-4 to Texas Wesleyan College, and in men's singles B Division, Rick Perry lost to Navarro.

Baseballers Tackle Ravens

Coach Rick Butler's Highlander baseball team will try to get back on the winning track today at the MCC Field when the Orange take on San Jacinto College. Starting time for the doubleheader is 1 p.m.

Probable starting pitchers for MCC are freshmen Bryan Combs and Donald George.

MCC plays Paris Jr. College Saturday in Paris and Crowder, Missouri Tuesday in Waco as the Highlanders resume non-conference competition.

Scoring Points

By Terry Tacker

FANS UNABLE TO ATTEND the Highlander regional games in Abilene, can hear the play-by-play action on KWTX radio. Air time for Thursday's encounter with Clarendon has been set for 1:55 p.m. While MCC is in Abilene, the Baylor Bears will be participating in the Southwest Conference Tournament in Houston. KWTX announcer Frank Fallon assured me that MCC basketball will be aired even if there arises a conflict with a Baylor game. If that happens, Baylor would be on A.M. while the Highlander game would come over F. M. KWTX is located 1230 on your dial.

FORMER MCC COACH JIM HALLER was at the least very happy Saturday night in Austin after his Baylor Bears upset Texas University in the first round of the Southwest Conference basketball tournament. The Bears are playing perhaps their best basketball of the season and have finally built some momentum that might carry them to a upset win over Texas Tech Thursday night at the Summit in Houston. In the other second-round game the Texas Aggies play Houston. The Aggies had little trouble with SMU Saturday but the Maroon and White do not appear to have enough muscle to overtake the Cougars in Houston. Arkansas sits back and watches Thursday and Friday's games, waiting for the championship game Saturday night. Who knows, maybe this rest might harm the Razorbacks instead of help. The possibility of Houston or Texas Tech beating Arkansas are stronger than most people think.

IT IS INTERESTING to see former junior college players that played against the Highlanders last year continue their careers with major colleges. Mike Schultz, the former San Jacinto postman, is now starting for Guy Lewis' Houston Cougars. Hill Rebel-ex Willie Foreman is performing well for Texas A&M. Mike Edwards, who once scored 35 points against MCC, now starts for the Pan American Broncos. Perhaps the most successful of them all is former Amarillo guard Darrell Holliman. Holliman and Vinnie Johnson stages a spectacular shooting exhibition during last year's regional championship game between the Badgers and MCC. Johnson scored 43 points while Holliman ended up with 46 scores. Holliman now stars for Memphis State.

Intramural Championships Slated

The championship games for both the Men's and Women's intramural basketball competition has been postponed till Monday and Wednesday of next week. The Highlander and Highlissie basketball teams, who are the officials for the intramural games, have been in Abilene through this week.

Monday in Highlander Gym, the Black Six tackle the East Side Gang for the men's championship. Members of the undefeated East Side Gang are Ronald Rush, Craig Lewis, Ricky Hicks, Reginald Thomas, Greg Dobbins, Tony Green and Malcolm Beck. The once-beaten Black Six is composed of Mike Beal, Gary Benson, Billy Clark, Steve Nichols and Mike Guyton.

Wednesday in Highlander Gym, the Phantoms play the Basketball Bombers for the women's championship. Making up the Phantom team are Laura Langford, Leslie Rathman, Robin Johnson, Pam Follard, Dana Henderson and Cindy Phillips. The Basketball Bombers is composed of Cindy Behringer, Connie Walker, JoAnn Dameron, Sharon Holmes, Melinda Laufenberg, Edna Stewart and Jane Kersten.
