Real Est. Program Sets Example

by Thomas Hughes

May 19, 1975 a law was passed that made it a requirement to have approved college courses to become a licensed real estate salesman. MCC was the first school in Texas to have a full time real estate department.

"We plan on having 300 students in real estate in a few years," said Bob Moore, real estate teacher. Bob Moore is also vice-president of the Texas Real Estate Teachers' Association, as well as being in the Texas Who's Who along with Ed Ware, also a real estate teacher at MCC.

"Over 70 per cent of our students have never sold real estate before," said Moore. The real estate department has students from several central Texas towns. There is even a student that commutes from Stephenville.

The ages of the students are from 18 to 65 years old. The first junior college real estate club in Texas is in the planning stages for MCC.

Some of Moore's classes have never been taught before, so there are no textbooks for them. The students are helping to develop books for the courses. "They are like Guinea pig classes for other schools," said Moore, "if it works here it will be tried somewhere else."

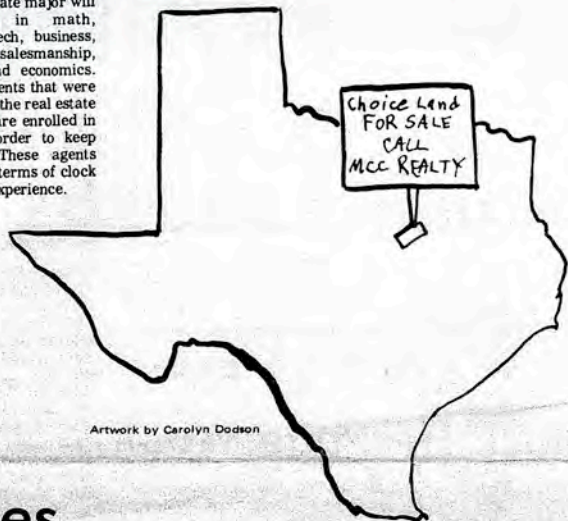

Seminars are held to determine such things as if it would be cheaper for a group of students to buy a house instead of rent an apartment. Moore holds seminars across Texas on real estate.

Real estate branches into other related fields such as brokerage, appraisal, property management, mortgage risk financing and land development. Students can earn a certificate of completion after one year of real estate courses or an Associate of Applied Science degree for 65 hours of college courses.

A person must take a state examination to become a real estate salesperson and a lengthier test to become a broker. A real estate major will take courses in math, professional speech, business, real estate law, salesmanship, management, and economics.

Real Estate agents that were practicing before the real estate law was passed are enrolled in the courses in order to keep their licenses. These agents receive credit in terms of clock hours for their experience.

Students Vie For Offices

by Joyce Fink

Student Government and Homecoming Sweetheart elections are scheduled from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Thursday and Friday in the Student Center.

Positions open in Student Government include secretary and eight student representatives. Homecoming Sweetheart nominees were nominated by the various clubs around campus.

Candidates for secretary include:

Carol Kirkland; currently a member of the Student Government and a member of Circle K Lil' Sis. Carol is a freshman.

Carol Degrate—secretary of the Bagpipers Pep Club and a member of Afro Student Kindred. Miss Degrate attended Chilton High School where she was a member of the Student Council for three years, class president, captain of the drill team, president of Future Homemakers of America, was selected to Who's Who Among American High School Students. "I want to get involved in the activities sponsored for the students, to know how the activities began," she said.

Running for student representatives are:

Becky Sykora—In high school, she was a member of the student council. She is a member of the Astronomy Club and a new member of Phi Theta Kappa. "I want to get involved. I want to know more of what's going on on campus," Becky said.

Becky Collins—a member of the student council in high school. She works in the Counseling Office. "I like people a lot. I think I can get a lot done in Student Government," said Becky.

Other candidates for student representatives are freshmen Albert Apel of Gatesville High School, Oliver Cozby of Waco High School, Gloria Nino of Midway High School, Ora Thomas of Robinson High School, Cindy Briers of Lake Ridge Academy in Ohio, and Carol Mitchell of Lanier High School. Sophomore candidates are Arlene Burt of Central High School in Maryland, Georgia Faubion of Throckmorton High School, Paul McMullen of Athens High School, Vera Sprull of Jefferson-Moore High School and Debbie Winter of Crawford High School. These were not available for comment.

Freshmen nominees are Norma Soza, Chicamos Undios; Sally Nelson, Phi Theta Kappa; Carol Remos, Circle K.

DAN DEES Cabins in Ruidosa N.M. on the veterans ski trip last year.

Ski Trip Deadline

Time is running out for signing up at the Veteran's Affairs Office, for the ski trip to Red River, New Mexico. There are only a few spaces left on the list. Ron Smith, director of Veteran's Affairs, said the cost would run from $100 to $120 for the ski trip. The first $60 is for transportation and lodging, and the other $60 will be used for food, ski rental, spending money and ski lift fees.

A tentative list of the first forty-five names will be kept until today. At 5 p.m., a definite list of names will be made, and if anyone has not made their down payment at that time, their name will be dropped from the list. Then the names from a reserve list, will be placed in these openings, on a first come, first serve basis.

Faculty Members Prevent Drowning

Two weekends ago counselor Ed Lindsay and instructor Bob Moore were fishing at Lake Whitney and caught something they hadn't bargained for.

The men were fishing from Soldiers Bluff at Whitney when Lindsay noticed a van drive up near them. Four teenage girls got out with another older woman who apparently was ready for some hiking.

After awhile, two of the young girls ran to Lindsay and Moore saying their friends had fallen off a cliff and into the lake.

Lindsay and Moore dropped their poles and ran after the girls. Another fisherman, Paul Ford of Arlington, also came to help.

When the three men arrived at the scene, both girls in the water were tiring quickly. To make matters worse there was an eight foot cliff between them and their rescuers and the water was a cool 35 degrees.

Lindsay took off his jacket and holding it by one sleeve threw the other end to one girl as she started to go down. She tried to

Lindsay took off his jacket and holding it by one sleeve threw the other end to one girl as she started to go down. When she tired too much to hold on, he laid down on his stomach and hung over the side of the cliff using his arms and hands to hand onto the girl. The two remaining girls grasped his feet to steady him, but the girl's slippery arms threatened to slip free from Lindsay.

Meanwhile, Moore and Ford had taken off their belts and lowered them to the other girl in trouble. They managed to pull her out of the water.

Moore then saw Lindsay leaning over the cliff and thinking he was about to fall in, jumped on his legs and stomach knocking the breath out of Lindsay. With Moore's help they finally hoisted the 150 pound girl out of the water.

After the men saw that the girls were not hurt, they were leaving when Lindsay overheard the girls sponsor saying, "I knew this was going to happen, I knew it would happen when I got out of bed this morning, I just knew this would happen." A lot of help she was, was Lindsay's thought.

Moore later found out that his action had come with a price. While leaning over the cliff to pull out the one girl, his new glasses fell into the lake.

JAMES BURROUGHS: HPE Instructor-Southwest Conference Official

Burroughs, Officiates For SWC Basketball

by Thomas Hughes

James Burroughs, faculty member, has a double identity. Burroughs is a Physical Education instructor and a referee in the Southwest Basketball Conference. Officials in the Southwest Conference are all members of the Southwest Basketball Official's Association (SBOA).

Burroughs said, "It is difficult to get into, it is an honor to be in the officiating field." To become a member of the SBOA one has to apply in February and take test on rules and the mechanics of basketball. "You have to stay in good physical shape and be knowledgeable on the game," said Burroughs.

While a junior at Sam Houston State University Burroughs became a member of the SBOA. Burroughs attended Sam Houston State University on a basketball scholarship.

Burroughs' career as an official actually started when he was a freshman in high school, coaching junior high girls tournaments. After coaching at Richfield High School, Burroughs coached here for five years. "An official has to hustle to be on the play, have good judgement, and be consistent in the calls he makes," said Burroughs.

An official has to work his way up to coaching college basketball as Burroughs now is capable of doing. The official begins with junior high, to high school, junior college and then four year colleges. "The umpire is usually the more experienced of the two officials on the court," Burroughs said.

The SBOA headquarters are in Dallas, Waco has 92 members in the organizations. A person can not officiate a game unless approved and a member of the SBOA.

The responsibilities of the two officials at a basketball game start an hour before the game starts. The officials first have a pre-game conference to know what to expect from each other on the court. At this meeting the officials can discuss any unusual circumstances that had happened to either officials that could happen again.

The officials then do stretching and loosening exercises. The two officials then go onto the court 30 minutes before the game starts. Ten minutes before the game the officials check the official score book to make sure both teams have their starting line-up.

The referee gets the visiting teams' captains and the umpire gets the home team's captain. The officials escort them to mid-court to discuss the colors they will be called, any new rules and to find out who represents the team when speaking to the officials.

The players of each team are announced, the referee throws the ball into the air for the jump-off and the game has begun.

ASK Activities For Black Heritage Week

Afro Student Kindred (A.S.K.) will begin the celebration of Black Heritage Week at 10 a.m. Monday with a Rap session with Oskar Fahnbulleh, a student from Lyberia, and African students from Paul Quinn College.

There will be a talent show at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Fine Arts Building. The talent show will feature fashions from Cross Town Traffic Boutique and models by Diane Clark, Vicki Blocker, and Doris Moten. There will also be a Greek show performed by sororities from Paul Quinn. The talent show will be performed by A.S.K. members and black students in the community.

The Paul Quinn College Choir will perform at 10 a.m. Feb. 11, in the Fine Arts Theatre. The choir will be under the direction of Wilber Northington.

Elnor Taylor, Associate Vice-President of District II of The Texas Student Education Association will be the speaker. Miss Taylor is a senior at Paul Quinn and is majoring in English.

The film, Black History-Lost, Stolen, Astrayed, will be presented between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Thursday in the Science Lecture Hall. Bill Cosby is starring in the film. Students may see the film at their convenience said Sandra Rosemore, sponsor of A.S.K.

Members of A.S.K. will go on the evening of Feb. 12 to Paul Quinn College to see Nikki Giovanni reading her poetry.

Shortly before 10 a.m. Feb. 13 Major General Julius Beeton from Fort Hood will land on the intramural flag football field, in a helicopter. He will be met by students, A.S.K. members and sponsors.

Beeton will speak at 10 a.m. and music will be by the Intercollegiate Denomination Inspirational Choral. The choral will be directed by Foster Whitaker and the organist is Jerry Mitchell.

The Annual Soul Food Banquet will be held at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 13, in the Carver Center. Guest speaker will be Rev. Ladel Thomas, pastor of the First Pentacostal Church of God and Christ.

Music will be by Jerry Mitchell and soloist Vera Sprull.

Tickets for the banquet can be purchased from A.S.K. members at $2.00 each.

Mood Rings Do They Work?

Black, get help; brown, look out; blue, happy; green, ziggan along; yellow, steady down. These are the colors of the popular mood ring.

The mood ring changes colors when a person changes his mood.

Several of the stores in the community reported that mood rings are selling at a very fast rate.

"We are just about out of them," "I have them on order," and "They are selling very fast," is the reaction I get from clerks at jewelry counters.

The mood ring is a piece of jewelry that everybody is wearing. Men and women of all ages are buying them said one clerk.

The price of the mood ring ranges from 96 cents to 20 dollars in area stores. The price is set by the type of mounting, explained one clerk. Some rings have cheap metal and an adjustable band. The more expensive ones are of sterling silver or gold.

The most frequently found price was between 5 dollars and 7 dollars and 50 cents.

The rings have a paper or liquid under the stone which changes colors when the temperature of the finger changes. "I think the liquid is the better ring," said Mrs. Teicheomann, jewelry clerk at Sears. It is recommended that you don't put them in water.

Watercolor Class

A daytime class in watercolor I begin on campus, Monday, February 9, from 9-11 a.m. at the Fine Arts Building.

Instructing the course will be Arney Fitzpatrick, a prize-winning artist who recently won the Waco Art Center 1975 competition.

The six-week class will have individualized instruction for both beginner and intermediate students. The class will be held Mondays and Wednesdays. Enrollment is limited to 16 students.

To register or obtain additional information, contact Continuing Education Office call 756-6551, extension 217.

Quilting Display

Students from the quilting classes will display antique and new quilts at the Lake Air Mall 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. There will be quilting demonstrations and quilt repairing.

The quilting classes are taught by Mrs. Wyoma Troup. Mrs. Troup will teach classes at Sul Ross Recreation Center through MCC on Tuesday, starting Feb. 10. The classes are at 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. and 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. The class cost $14.50.

BEOG Checks

Two disbursements will be made to students who are due money from their Basic Educational Opportunity Grants (BEOG). The disbursement dates are Feb. 16 and April 6. The checks can be picked up at the Financial Aids Office. Students must bring their campus identification cards with them to receive the checks.

Single Parent

"The Single Parent Experience" is a small group for sharing the problems of single parents or for those interested in this subject. Students can sign up in the Counseling Office or in the Health Careers Building. Beginning Feb. 11, the group will meet on Wednesdays from 10 a.m. to noon. These meetings will last for eight weeks. Questions concerning the single parent group can be answered by Susan Cochran or Ed Lindsay in the Counseling Office.

Summer Financial Aid

Students planning to seek financial aid for the summer semester should begin making arrangements for such aid, said Stephen Crump of the Financial Aids department.

"Financial aid for the summer semester will be a lot like it is for any other semester, except there probably won't be much left in the way of scholarships," said Crump.

Crump explained that Basic Grants will not be available during the summer except for those students enrolled in vocational programs such as cosmetology.

Other forms of financial aid available for the summer semester are work-study and Henson-Hazelwood students loans. Crump said that some supplemental education opportunity grants may also be available.

Chatmas and Instructor Barney Fitzpatrick chose the students that will exhibit their work. The artists are Melanie Farmer, Greg Blancett, Otto Matjevich, Kim Miller, Chet Ragsdale, Loretta Holley, Stephen Wright, Gigi Airheart, Darlene Rosser, Sharon Draper, Weldon Avery.

Also Raydean Damon, Linda Laine, Jan Meek, Rosemary Nichols, Denise Berger, Paul Wernette, Willie Bowers, Lisa Williams, Ron Vaughan, Ted Edmonson, Nancy Hughes and Elvis Brown.

Growth Group

Students who are interested in attending Growth Group sessions can sign up in the Counseling Office. Group One will meet on Mondays from 2 to 4 p.m. beginning Feb. 9. Group Two will meet on Tuesdays from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. beginning Feb. 10. The sessions will last for eight weeks.

Art Exhibition

An exhibition of student art works will be displayed this week in the Fine Arts Building. The exhibit includes drawings, paintings, design and sculpture. The Building Fine Arts will be opened 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. until and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday.

ODDS & ENDS

by Terry Tacker

Tomorrow night sees both the Islanders and Highlassies in action. The men take on Cisco the women play Navarro. Highlassies game is not a ference game but the Islanders battle with Cisco. The men's team takes a break from conference action

Friday as they take on the diversity of Texas Junior University at Gregory Gym in Austin. In Weatherford Monday night, both teams play as the end part of the conference season continues. As we reported last week, members of the Houston Astros National League baseball team are in town today. They are here for the yearly media tour to promote the upcoming season. Here is another note concerning the Astros. Judge Roy Hofheinz, admitting for the first time publicly he no longer controls the vast Astro-domain complex he built, said he would fight any attempt to sell the Houston

Astros franchise. Hofheinz said, "I will fight any move of the Houston Astros from Houston and the Astro dome with everything I have." New Orleans millionaire John Mecon Jr. has shown interest in buying the team. Tony Perez who is suing Muhammad Ali for more than a million dollars, said he would not referee the Feb. 20 San Juan title match between Ali and Jean-Pierre Coomans under any circumstance. "I'm not taking the fight," Perez said. "My lawyers are against it. After the way he talked about me in Cleveland after the (Chuck) Wepner fight, the things he said, how come all of a sudden I'm all right?" After the Wepner fight, Ali had shouted that Perez "doesn't know if he's black or white." Intramural basketball competition has started. Games are played Monday, Wednesday, and Friday during the activity period. We doubt there are any future NBA stars competing, but they are entertaining to watch, so go see a game. Sixteen more days till baseball season here at MCC. Coach Rick Butler's forces play Temple Junior College here at the MCC Field on Saturday Feb. 21. $148 million dollars was spent by the people staging the 1976 Winter Olympics, which begins today in Innsbruck, Austria. Jill Rankin, a senior at Phillips High School here in Texas, scored 81 points in a 87-0 defeat of Malakoff High in the Duncanville Basketball Invitational, breaking her own tournament record of 71 points. The 6'2 1/2" center is averaging 45 points a game this season. SPORTSQUOTES:

Pete Rose, on his speed on the bases: "I'm not a great runner, I'm no Joe Morgan, but I'm not bad for a white guy." H.K. Reeves, football coach at Hokes Bluff, Alabama High School, after his team was trounced 53-0 by Hazlewood in the state class 2A championships: "If we hadn't given them those first four touchdowns, it might have been different." Lou McCullough, Iowa State athletic director, predicting prospects for the formation of a super conference of major football powers as hopeless: "Someone must always finish last in any conference and teams like Notre Dame and Texas don't like to finish last.".....

Highlanders Zip Grayson 90-89

by Terry Tacker

Freshman Vinnie Johnson made a basket with seven seconds left in the game, to give the MCC Highlanders a 90-89 win over Grayson County Monday night in the Grayson County Coliseum. The win ups the Highlander's record to 20-1 on the season and 7-0 in conference play. Grayson County falls to 6-1 in the conference competition.

Highlander fans that made the long trip to Denison were treated to a game they will probably never forget. When the clock had finally run out, MCC supporters ran on to the court to congratulate the team while the Viking fans stood in the bleachers dazed by the final outcome.

Darryl Lee, a 6-7 Freshman from Camden, N.J., scored an amazing 51 points against the Highlanders. The point total came as a result of 22 field goals and seven out of ten made free throws. Several times in the second half it looked like Lee would beat MCC by himself as he made shot after shot with an uncanny accuracy.

MCC jumped ahead 2-0 when Johnson made a beautiful alley-oop pass to John Derrick and the sophomore from Garland responded with a basket. But the Vikings took control after that as they zipped to a 15-4 lead after seven minutes.

Highlander turnovers and poor shooting caused this Viking surge. MCC started to apply full court pressure, and slowly but surely chipped at the lead but could never take the upper hand. Grayson County lead 45-41 at halftime.

In the second half, the lead see-sawed through the first 10 minutes. The Highlanders took the lead 55-52 with 14:44 left and forced the Vikings to call timeout. After the timeout, two Jay Depanion buckets for Grayson County put them back in front.

The Highlanders began to rebound better in the second half. Another plus for MCC was the hot-shooting that came from Freshman Ed Marshall. Several key baskets from Marshall kept the Highlanders in front on the scoreboard.

Lee committed his fourth foul midway through the second half. But this did not stop him from scoring 22 of the Viking's last 24 points.

Grayson County tried to stall the game away with a three-point lead with 1:24 to go. With MCC's women's basketball coach Pam Davis yelling,

"That's chicken, that's chicken", the stall attempt backfired.

Glenn Minnex fouled Keith Foster, the best free throw shooter on the Grayson team, with 21 seconds left. But Foster missed his first attempt of the one-and-one situation and Derrick claimed the rebound for MCC. Johnson received the outlet pass from Derrick and scored with his picture-perfect jumpshot. Grayson's shot at the buzzer fell short.

The Highlanders shot 44.6 per cent from the field compared to Grayson's 42.6. MCC won the rebounding battle by a 49-42 margin. Derrick grabbed 19 rebounds to lead MCC in that department. Sophomore Skippy Black and Johnson each had nine carums.

Cagers Tag SCC — 19th Victory

Even though playing probably it's sloppiest game of the year, the 10th-ranked Highlanders defeated Southwest Christian 101-93 Thursday night in Highlander Gym.

With another capacity crowd looking on, MCC used a balanced scoring attack for a 53-43 halftime lead. It looked, at that point, that the Highlanders might blow the Rams off the court.

Southwest Christian, led by 6-4 sophomore Robert Glasper began to get stronger and stronger as the game progressed. With 8:55 left to go in the game, the Rams, behind 87-59, began to make a comeback like no other team has done this season against MCC.

SCC scored nine points in a row and proceeded to build up momentum. Highlander miscues, technicals, and missed baskets resulted a 90-84 score with 2:54 remaining. The MCC fans were beginning to feel an upset in the making.

But MCC, like true champions, just bent—they did not break. Freshmen Ed Marshall, Vinnie Johnson, and Glenn Minnex hit six free throws in a row and Sophomore Carlos Blackwood added a field goal for a 98-84 lead with 1:48 left.

Johnson scored 29 points, 14 in the first half and 15 in the second, to lead MCC scoring. Sophomore John Derrick had 28 rebounds to pace the Highlanders in that department. Derrick also blocked six shots.
