

Unpaid Tickets Create Problem For Bynum

By Joyce Fink

An increase in the number of unpaid parking tickets has created problems for Don Bynum, director of student activities.

"In September and October of 1975, 292 parking tickets were issued and by Nov. 1, 1975, only 53 of the tickets were unpaid. In September and October of this year, 835 tickets were issued, and as of Nov. 1, 375 were not paid," Bynum said.

Bynum said that the purpose of the fine system was to act as a deterrent against illegal parking.

Parking violations are $2, but fines paid within the three day grace period are reduced to $1.

The main problem is that students are not paying the fines within the three day grace period, Bynum said.

Bynum has had to hire one fulltime work study student to help his office keep track of unpaid tickets.

If a student does not pay his ticket within the three day grace period, the Student Activities Office sends a card to the student's home to remind him to pay the ticket. If the ticket is still not paid within a five day period, an administrative summons is sent to a student's class. If there is still no response, a hold is put on the student's transcript.

Bynum has made a recommendation to the Student Services Council that the parking fines be raised because he felt that the $1 was not enough of a deterrent. The Student Services Council recommended that a first time offense be raised to $3 if payment is made within five class days and $5 if it is not paid within the five day period.

Students who receive tickets have the right to appeal them. The first appeal is made to the director of student activities, the second is made to the Student Supreme Court, and the final appeal is made to the dean of student services.

Parking regulations are listed in The Highlander's Guide and The Chanter. Registration packets also contain copies of the parking regulations.

Bynum said that he felt that some students were disregarding the parking regulations because they did not want to walk far to their classes.

Red Cell Record Broken

Red Cross Blood Mobile was on campus Thursday to collect 90 units of blood from MCC students, faculty and staff. The amount collected was a record donation for MCC. Goal for the drive sponsored by Student Government was 100 units. Red Cross officials termed the drive as being "really fantastic."

Correction /

A story printed in the Nov. 17 issue of The Highland Herald stated that the allotment of 20 more parking spaces for faculty was due to action taken by Student Government. It should have said that the allotment of these spaces was the result of action taken only by George Andreason, director of Administrative Services, not Student Government.

Speech Students Win Awards, Place Fourth In SWTSU Festival

MCC students won 14 awards at the Southwest Texas State University Speech Festival Friday and Saturday.

More than 250 speech students from Texas participated in the festival. Twenty-two major colleges and 3 junior colleges attended the meet.

Texas A&M won first place with 160 total speaker points. San Jacinto placed second with 158 points, and Lee College placed third with 149. MCC placed fourth with 148.

Trophies were given to the top three winners and certificates were awarded to individual students receiving excellent and superior ratings. Speech director Ann Harrell said that she felt MCC students could have placed higher except the entry blanks were misleading.

Judges commented that in the readers theater division, MCC students were very polished.

"It was obvious that the readers enjoyed performing the literature and that they were vocally and non-verbally well synchronized," said Mrs. Harrell.

MCC's readers theater selection is titled "Twisted Tales and Morbid Morals." It is a compilation of a liberated version of "Snow White," a tongue twister take-off on "Cinderella" called "Rinderella," a summary of

"The Scarlet Letter" by Richard Armour and a primer-style version of "Hamlet" called "Fun With Hamlet and His Friends."

Students and their individual ratings are top scoring speaker Kathy Miller with excellent in communication analysis, expository, original poetry and prose; Joey Derting, excellent in communication analysis; Becky Rose, excellent in impromptu, expository and poetry; Paul Hill, superior in communication analysis and expository; Kay Stiffler, excellent in expository; Susie Guerra, superior in poetry; Martha McConnell, superior in dramatic reading and Carol Menchu, excellent in prose.

MCC Loses First Game, Places Third At SHSU

By Roger Busby

The Highlanders, flying high with a 3-0 record and coming off a well-played 113-105 victory over Tyler Junior College, couldn't keep it going Friday night at the Sam Houston Classic. Coach Johnny Carter's Highlanders fumbled, fouled and miss-passed their way to a 99-95 loss to Angelina Junior College in their opening game.

The highly favored Highlanders committed 34 turnovers and missed the front of 13 one-and-one foul shots. Five Highlanders, including three starters, fouled out of the game, while two others played a good portion of the game with four fouls.

The Angelina Roadrunners played a scrappy, well-disciplined game and placed three starters in double figures. Sherman Spikes, an all-tournament performer, led the Roadrunners with 24 points and 8 rebounds. He was followed closely by Jim Sandridge who popped in 21 points and grabbed off 3 rebounds. David Dantin added 18 points and 10 rebounds while Johnny Roberts and Arthur Washington accounted for 8 points each and 5 rebounds respectively.

The Highlanders were able to lead most of the way because of 19 turnovers by the Roadrunners. The Roadrunners cashed in on 25 of 34 free throws while the Highlanders converted 27 of 47. Also, like the Highlanders, the Roadrunners were in foul trouble. Five Roadrunners went to the bench early, including all-tournament Spikes.

Vinnie Johnson led all scorers with 36 points and pulled down 10 rebounds. Glenn Minnex helped with 15 points and 10 rebounds, while Ed Marshall pushed in 13 points. Angelo Grimes and Sam Worthen each tallied 10 points and 4 rebounds.

Small crowds and little enthusiasm was common throughout the classic. The newly completed, domed field house where the Highlanders had defeated San Jacinto College earlier this year in a scrimmage was not used the first day because students were registering there.

Coach Carter, understandably upset over the events, said:

"Thirty-four turnovers: You make that many mistakes, you should lose. It was because of lack of concentration. We were trying to make things happen instead of taking advantage of what was there. We forced passes, we forced shots and generally did not think of what we were supposed to do."

With less than a minute on the clock the Highlanders were down by only 2 points. The play was fast and furious but no points were added until 50 seconds remained. Spikes hit two free throws for the Roadrunners. The Highlanders brought the ball down court and Johnson quickly dropped in a 10-foot jump shot to cut the spread down to two points again.

The inbounds pass came with just 15 seconds remaining on the clock, and the lob pass was stolen by Johnson. He wheeled and dealt to a soft 8-foot jump shot that fell just short and trickled over the rim into the hands of a Roadrunner who was fouled. Both ends of the one-and-one were converted and the Highlander's hopes were drowned with 4 seconds on the clock.

The Highlanders looked like the team that defeated Tyler earlier in the week the following night as they demolished the Wharton Pioneers 103-81. The previous afternoon the Pioneers played Henderson County Junior College (the winner of the tournament, and the team that had been expected to give the Highlanders a run for the top spot) a very respectable game, 89-82.

The Highlanders improved considerably in the turnover department in this game, committing only 15, while the Pioneers turned it over 32 times. Coach Carter emptied his bench during the game and the Highlanders concentrated on keeping the score well out in front of the Pioneers.

Johnson was named to the all-tournament team. He scored 68 points and pulled down a total 20 rebounds to pace the Highlanders to their third place finish.

Texas Tops Lassies

By Glenn Vrba

The MCC Highlassies took their loss of the year to a tough bunch from the University of Texas, 72-58. The game at the MCC gym was close at the half, but the Highlassie's record still fell to 3-1.

In the first half both teams displayed a stern defense as MCC stayed with their man-to-man and Texas switched from zone to man-to-man freely. The Highlassies fell behind in the first few minutes of action as Texas hit consistently from all over the court.

Trailing by 10 points with about 7 minutes left in the half, the Highlassies started a comeback led by five straight points by Claire Morris. The Highlassies pulled to within two points at halftime 35-33.

The second half started the same as the first as Texas reeled off 10 points to MCC's two. The Highlassies battled to within four midway in the second stanza, but Texas began hitting from everywhere again. Jackie Swaim, MCC's high scorer with 20, fouled out with five minutes left in the game hurting the MCC cause. The Highlassies played well, but could not overcome Texas' fine outside shooting and solid team play.

Other top scorers Carolyn Johnson and Gay Loewe chipped in 13 and 9 respectively. For Texas, Kathy Fern led with 24 points.

Morris Stars For MCC

While watching the Highlassies play, one can't ignore the smooth play of starting forward Claire Morris a freshman.

Morris hails from Grand Prairie High School, just outside of Dallas. At Grand Prairie, she starred on the girl's basketball team and was named all-district her senior year as she ripped the cords for a 32 point average — no small feat when it is considered that her district produced the girl's 4A state champions, Duncanville.

The Highlassies almost lost the talented 5'8" leftie to Southern Methodist University, but Morris decided to attend a junior college first.

The switch from basketball to five-change and Morris talked about it:

"I really like the five-man game better because it gives you a chance to play defense and offense. I've always enjoyed playing defense, and it really adds to my game."

Highlassie coach Pam Davis appreciates Morris' talents: "Claire handles the ball real well and is a good passer. She's very unselfish in that she looks for the open player at all times."

"Claire also has a good outside jump shot and is an excellent free throw shooter. On top of all this, Claire is very determined to do well and is a hard worker. And all of this stems from her love of the game," said Davis.

Orange Explodes Past Temple Leopards For 105-87 Victory

Dominating the contest from the outset, the Highlanders rolled to their fifth win of the season by defeating the Temple Leopards 105-87 Tuesday night in Highlander Gym.

MCC used their height advantage and tenacious pressing defense to build up an early 15-6 lead. Temple remained within striking distance largely due to Highlander first half turnovers. MCC held a comfortable 57-42 lead at halftime.

The Leopards were unable to slow down MCC's run-and-gun offense in the final twenty minutes. Guard Sam Wortham began to drive up the middle of the Leopard defense, scoring nine second half points.

MCC reeled off ten straight points in a span of 30 seconds to spell doom for Temple. Coach Johnny Carter substituted freely in the game's final eight minutes.

'Marathon Man' Prepares For Olympics

By Debbie Garrett

Clad in a brown warm-up suit and blue back pack, red-haired James Kennedy, who has the reputation of being a "marathon man," is always on the move.

Kennedy is seen running all over Waco to condition himself for the 1980 summer Olympics. He has a strong desire to enter the marathon race in the Olympics.

He has been running for two years and plans to enter Baylor University next fall and be on the track team. He lifted weights in high school and now loosens up by lifting light weights.

"One time I ran around a pool 185 times," Kennedy said. "I am in excellent health and have had no blackouts in the past."

Kennedy is sincere about his running and says it has a meaning.

"If I don't run every day it bothers me. I will just keep running every day because it starts the day off excellently," said Kennedy.

He runs about 10 miles a day with no specific route. He likes Waco and sightsees while running.

Like most athletes that eat foods on a outlined diet, Kennedy tries to keep a well-balanced diet by eating foods from the four basic food groups. Kennedy does not eat breakfast because he runs in early morning.

An average day for Kennedy includes getting up at 7 a.m. for a little quiet time and then running for about four or five hours. He runs without a break.

After running for a few hours he eats, studies and sometimes "messes around for awhile." He then meditates and is in bed by 10 p.m.

When he meditates he said he is preparing himself for the next day.

Kennedy attended Paris High School in Paris, TX. He was an airplane director on a Naval aircraft carrier. He enlisted in the Navy directly after high school and served for two and one half years.

Kennedy is 21 years old and in his first semester at MCC. He is taking Interior Decorating and plans to get into a business. Next year he will enroll as a full-time student.

Kennedy said, "The Lord did it all, I contribute everything to Him. My motivation comes from the Lord."

He is a member of Trinity Church on Hillcrest and 18th and Pine Assembly of God. He is involved with Here's Life Waco, a nationwide movement sponsored by Campus Crusade for Christ, and MCC Baptist Student Union.

Scoring Points

By Terry Tacker

THANKSGIVING OFFERS no holiday for the Highlanders as Friday and Saturday they enter the Lon Morris Classic in Jacksonville. The Plaid takes on Temple in Temple Tuesday night while the Highladies play the always-tough Leopardettes from Temple the same day in Highlander Gym.

THE COMPETITION in the men's intramural flag football schedule comes to an important game today. The once-beaten Raiders play undefeated Southside Shorthorns at the activity hour. If the Raiders win, another game between the two teams will be played to determine the champion. If the Shorthorns win, they will win the title for the second consecutive year. The Women's Championship is also tomorrow as Sigma Delta Phi takes on the Powder Puff Phantoms.

TEXAS CHRISTIAN UNIVERSITY is reported to be negotiating with a top-notch small college head coach to take over as head football coach of the Frogs. Jim Shofner has announced that he will resign the post after the final game of the year against Baylor. TCU officials hope to name the successor by the end of the week.

"RETIRED" HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPION Muhammad Ali is closing a deal with owner Dr. Chester Reed on Reed's River Oaks mansion in Houston. The listed asking price for the 15-bathroom, six-bedroom house was $4.25 million, but the two are negotiating at the price of $3.5 million. The mansion contains 24,000 square feet. Six acres of land is also included in the packaged deal.

THE WORST TEAM in baseball history was the 1962 New York Mets. In their first year of existence, New York posted an 40-120 record and finished 60½ games behind the champions. Pitching coaches around the National and American Leagues for the 1976-77 season include Roger Craig at San Diego, Galen Cisco at Kansas City, Al Jackson at Boston and Bob Miller at the expansion team Toronto. What is so unusual you ask about these appointments? They were all members of that 1962 Met team.

ONE OF THE MOST DISAPPOINTING experiences ever faced by Baylor Head football coach Grant Teaff has to be the Bear's inability to grab a bowl game bid. Teaff wanted to go to a post-season classic this year more than ever for the seniors on the present squad who enrolled at Baylor when, quoting Teaff, "it was not the thing to do." The two-week layoff by the Bears really hurt the possibilities of them receiving a bid. Members of the senior class have excellent chances of playing professional football. Gary Green, Cleveland Franklin, Gary Gregory, Rell Tipton, Flynn Bucy and Tim Black are included in that list.

Orange Takes Home Opener

Sophomore Vinnie Johnson goes up for two points during first half action of the MCC-Tyler game won by MCC 113-105. Attempting to guard Johnson is TJC's Neal Rogers (42).

The Highlanders thrilled a near-capacity crowd with a 113-105 win over Tyler Jr. College Thursday night in Highlander Gym.

The contest was the home opener for the defending conference champion Highlanders.

Sophomore Vinnie Johnson, playing a wing position rather than the point position of last year, scored 42 points, many coming off follow shots. Houston product Glenn Minnex displayed his usual aggressive play under the backboards, as the sophomore scored 21 points and pulled down 17 rebounds. The win was a total team effort as the visitors never really posed a problem for MCC.

The Highlanders held a ten point lead through most of the first half. The Orange full-court press was too much for the Apaches to handle as was the Highlanders rebounding power led by Minnex, Ed Marshall and Jim Soukup.

Tyler stayed within striking distance by converting 27 of 32 free throw attempts. MCC made just 11 of 17 free throw attempts. The 62-58 halftime score marked the Highlanders smallest lead of the game.

When the going got tough in the final half, Highlander starting sophomores Johnson, Marshall, and Minnex got going. The threesome tallied 41 of MCC's 51 second half points. Any comeback hopes by Tyler were deadened by a beautiful assist pass from Burt Burrows to Johnson for a stuff shot. MCC was in command from that point to the final buzzer.

Coach Wendell Milstead Apaches fell to 1-1 on the young season.
