The Purpose
of
Theta Xi Fraternity

is to provide a college home environment for its active members in which fellowship and alumni guidance lead to wholesome mental, moral, physical, and spiritual growth. To that end Theta Xi actively supports and augments college and community efforts to make individual members more mature and chapter groups more useful units of society. Through its alumni and undergraduate leadership Theta Xi endeavors to assist each member to develop: ONE, intellectual curiosity that assures the highest scholarship rating consistent with his ability; TWO, habits that lead to better mental and physical health; THREE, sincerity in his association with others and confidence in himself; FOUR, responsibility to chapter, college community and country; FIVE, leadership that comes from practicing the principles of democratic self-government; SIX, interests and activities outside regular scholastic studies that employ spare time to advantage; SEVEN, spiritual understanding that provides a reservoir of strength to draw upon when faced with conditions beyond comprehension.

Thoughts, Thought

While Thinking

by

Chuck Whitehurst

As we were saying when we were interrupted... the pay isn't much, but ah the fame of the thing. The very idea, called out of retirement to carry the banner again. It makes one feel so wanted, so needed, so important. How could we, with feet, knees, thighs, and hips of clay refuse?

Those of you who are stumbling onto this column for the first time won't understand. But the faithful (both of you) will recall that we signed off last spring as though we didn't plan to Think again for publication.

However, the sighs of relief from some quarters were too great a challenge. * And then the new name came along, well, we had to return. Besides, there are too many people left unslandered by our previous efforts, too many cliches left unused. No red, white and blue blooded American boy could pass up such an opportunity.

Getting down to business, let's discuss that new name. We haven't seen the other copy, but college news magazines being what they are, we'll bet you can read in at least six articles in this journal that this institution is now named Old Dominion College. "and isn't that nice."

Frankly, our only gripe is that they didn't make known any of the other choices. According to the papers, quite a battle went on behind closed doors. We won't venture any guesses, since that could prove dangerous—but if any of those suggestions advanced by the public were even considered, well, yes it is nice.

Actual ODC isn't such a bad name. See how nicely it abbreviates. And it takes so much less effort to say. We can remember when this hall of learning was affiliated with William and Mary, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and the University of Virginia. Man, identifying it then was a job! No wonder everybody called it "The Division."

One "nice" thing about the new name is the fact that it isn't likely to be forgotten. Just about everything else in town is named Old Dominion, why not the college? Pick up the phone directory and you will find exactly nineteen other Old Dominions, including construction, electric, foundry and maintenance firms, not to mention an insurance company, a freight line, a marine railway, a small loan corporation (which might come in handy if they feel any loyalty to the name), a paper company, a tobacco firm and a stevedoring corporation. Oh, and we almost forgot, a motel. Alphabetically, we will fit in nicely between ceilings and construction.

One soul we don't envy is the limerick

nut. Try to find rhymes for dominion. We think we exhausted the market with this one:

Everyone had an opinion
But they decided on Old Dominion
And that isn't so bad
When you consider the lad
Who hails from the U. of Filet Mignon.

(If you can do better—and who can't—drop it by the office. We'll print it.)

We do wonder about regulations on this campus, now that we are free. We don't really anticipate any major changes. (No, they're not going to serve beer in Bud's—at least until some brewery comes out with an Old Dominion brand "from the land of muddy brown water.") But now, at least there is the possibility that local problems will be dealt with in a manner more suitable to local folk.

Whether it will all be for the best remains to be seen, and we'll let some water flow over the tunnels before passing judgements. Of course, if secession from William and Mary doesn't accomplish all we had hoped for, we can always secede from Virginia—or better yet, from the Kennedy Boys' organization.

* Those members of the faculty or administration tired of reading this column can get rid of me with ease. Graduate me. I dare you!

VOL. II No. One

The Mace and Crown is the official publication of the student body of Old Dominion College. It is published seven times during the school year. Opinions found in the newsmagazine do not necessarily reflect views taken by the College Administration, the Publications Committee, or the editors. Contributions are welcomed. All correspondence should be addressed: The Mace and Crown, Old Dominion College, Box 6173, Norfolk 8, Virginia.

A PROPOSAL

The editors recently examined a unique effort on the part of the National Interfraternity Conference to strengthen fraternal bonds. The editors should like to propose that Old Dominion College's Social Fraternity Council adopt the Principles of Action as set up by the National Interfraternity Conference. It is felt that the adoption of these principles would contribute to the development of tradition and purpose at our College even though some of our fraternities are local in scope. Many of America's fraternities believe the principles to be inherent characteristics of brotherhood.

Principles of Action

NATIONAL INTERFRATERNITY CONFERENCE

- IN ORDER THAT the members of the National Interfraternity Conference may better serve the educational institutions of which they are an integral part, and
- IN ORDER THAT the Conference and college and university administrators may develop and maintain a closer relationship to their mutual advantage; and
- IN ORDER THAT the public may be better informed to the role that fraternities play in the constructive development of the young men of this nation . . .

THESE PRINCIPLES ARE DECLARED:

I LOYALTY TO THE INSTITUTION

will be achieved by:

- A. Indoctrinating pledges and members in the history, traditions and importance of their college or university; and
- B. Planning participation by undergraduates and alumni alike in those events which build pride in their institution.

II CONSTRUCTIVE TRAINING will be fostered by:

- A. Directing formal training dedicated to development and improvement of pledges as citizens and as fraternity men; and
- B. Stimulating full opportunity for the development of positive leadership abilities.

III INTELLECTUAL ACHIEVEMENT

will be encouraged by:

- A. Providing an environment in the fraternity chapter which will stimulate intellectual and cultural progress; and
- B. Establishing respect for scholarship as the primary purpose of a college education.

IV COMMENDABLE CONDUCT

will be sought by:

- A. Teaching and exemplifying the standards of good taste and sound morals; and
- B. Disciplining promptly and effectively any active members or pledges who deviate from these standards.

V MANAGEMENT RESPONSIBILITY

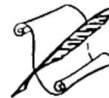

will be promoted by:

- A. Emphasizing the imperative nature of responsibility in the role of good citizenship; and
- B. Developing progressive experience in management as the members gain maturity.

VI DEMOCRATIC PRINCIPLES

will be inculcated by:

- A. Encouraging freedom of thought and action within the democratic processes and procedures of the member organizations; and
- B. Lending active support to those who protect our constitutional rights as citizens and as Americans.

In the implementation of these principles we seek the guidance and cooperation of college and university administrators. In turn, we pledge ourselves to sincere effort in the achievement of these objectives as evidence that the college fraternities continue to be a powerful force in the constructive development of young men in the transition from youth to manhood.

Dear Students:

It is my pleasure to welcome you, the student body, at the beginning of this new school year. This year is unusual in many ways, and I am sure that our freshmen will experience a greatly different emotion from the one experienced by our upperclassmen as they return to the campus. Our returning students have worked and played under the banner of Norfolk William and Mary for as long as three years; the revered name of William and Mary has become a part of them and cannot be discarded easily. Our faculty, of course, share this feeling of loss and will miss the tradition and other fine things associated with the name.

There comes, however, into the lives of all individuals and organizations a time when it is essential that their own identities be established and that they pursue on their own abilities the goals which are set for them. So be it with our College.

The name "Old Dominion College" has been selected by our Board of Visitors as a name which will give us an immediate identity with the great Commonwealth of Virginia and which will challenge us to our best endeavour to prove worthy of this historical name. The leadership supplied to our Nation by our State in the past is unexcelled. We of Old Dominion College proudly hope to continue to supply this type of leadership.

Our College is not "old" in terms of age as we were founded only thirty-two years ago. Neither was our Commonwealth "old" when given the name "Old Dominion." For the word "old" was used as a term of endearment and not age. When Charles II was restored to the throne of England he expressed his gratitude to Virginia for the steadfast loyalty and support given him by the Colony during his long period of banishment. In speaking of the Colony he expressed this feeling by referring to it as "my old [dear and loved] Dominion."

It is hoped that in the years ahead you will learn to love and appreciate your Old Dominion College as it can mean much to you in the happiness and success you derive from life. This should be a pact of mutual benefit. The success of your College will redound to your glory as will your own success reflect credit on your College. It is my sincere wish that each of you may profit from your stay on this campus and that you will always proudly support Old Dominion College as it grows in service and prestige through the years.

Very truly yours

Theta Xi and Kappa Sigma Kappa

Two National Fraternities Merge

Virginia Zeta Chapter of Kappa Sigma Kappa became the Kappa Lambda Chapter of THETA XI FRATERNITY following a national merger August 20th in Detroit, Michigan. The merger of the fraternities enlarges the organization to 70 active chapters throughout the United States.

The local chapter of Kappa Sigma Kappa was founded at Old Dominion College in November, 1949. Nationally, Kappa Sigma Kappa was founded September 28th, 1867, at Virginia Military Institute. At this time it was a member of the VMI Triad along with Alpha Tau Omega and Sigma Nu.

At the recent Detroit Convention, the local chapter at Old Dominion College received the High Gamma Award presented for contributing to the fraternity in an outstanding manner. The degree of High Alpha, highest award to individuals in the fraternity, was awarded to Bob Hood of Old Dominion. Rod Vincent received the Founders Award in recognition of high scholarship.

THETA XI FRATERNITY was founded at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, New York, on April 29, 1864. The 25 founders stated the purpose of Theta Xi, "To provide a college home environment for its active members in which fellowship and alumni guidance lead to wholesome mental, moral, physical, and spiritual growth." To that end Theta Xi actively supports and augments college and community efforts to make individual members more mature and chapter groups more useful units of society.

Some well known Theta Xi's include Henry T. Heald, President of the Ford Foundation; Frank Church, U. S. Senator from Idaho; Charles A. Chayne, Vice President, General Motors Corporation; and Richard Boone, a television star.

The 70 chapters of Theta Xi include such colleges as Purdue University, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cornell University, University of California, University of Pennsylvania, Northwestern University, University of Alabama, University of Missouri, and Georgia Institute of Technology.

The growth of Theta Xi has been conservative. The principal connecting links between the National Headquarters in St. Louis, Missouri, and the chapters are the chapter officers. Theta Xi Fraternity is governed by the National Convention composed of the members of the Grand Lodge, delegates of the active chapters and alumni clubs, and the individual alumni members. Between the conventions, which meet biennially, the powers of the Fraternity are vested in the Grand Lodge, which is composed of the national president, three vice-presidents, treasurer, immediate past president, and five members-at-large.

In order to provide a more competent and thorough administration, and to forge a stronger national fraternity, the United States is divided into eleven geographical regions. A regional director visits each chapter in order that a closer union of the entire fraternity may be maintained.

"The Unicorn of Theta Xi," the Fraternity's official magazine, has been published regularly since 1892. It is a journal of, by, and for the Fraternity and fraternity affairs. It is issued in February, May, August, and November. Theta Xi also publishes a Membership Directory, a Song Book, a Pledge Manual, and miscellaneous publications.

In the merger the original name and pin of the Theta Xi Fraternity were maintained as it was the older and more firmly established of the two fraternities. The crest, ritual, pledge program, and constitution will be a combination of each fraternity. Pins, crests, and other Kappa Sigma Kappa symbols may still be worn by the new Theta Xi's. Local members will begin using the various new insignia this fall. — TDH.

Art At Old Dominion

The Art Department of Old Dominion College is keeping pace with the improvements which are taking place over the entire campus. Mr. Charles Sibley, chairman of the department, has been working diligently to plan the upcoming degree program. Now that this is secured, the college will draw far more students who plan to concentrate in various fields of fine arts.

The department will continue to present special exhibits during the year which are open to the public as well as the student body. The current exhibit which will be on display during October features watercolors and drawings done by college students during the summer months. In November we are especially honored to present the works of J. Frederick O'Hara, nationally recognized printmaker, who has exceptional ability in the field of colored woodcuts.

During the month of December the department plans a pre-Christmas sale of prints from the graphics division. This should be of interest to all persons who enjoy giving original and unusual gifts.

By Shirley Bolinaga

The faculty and students of Old Dominion College are pleased to welcome 30 new faculty members to the college staff. They come to us from many places — some from business and industry, many from other colleges where they were teachers or graduate students, and others from government service and research laboratories. We were especially pleased to learn that several were once members of our own student body.

Several new department heads are indicative of growth and the expansion of some of our departments.

Dr. Harold Lampe will head the expansion of our engineering program into a four-year course. He comes to us from North Carolina State College where he was Dean of Engineering. He previously held the same position at the University of Connecticut, and was also professor of electrical engineering at Johns Hopkins University for 18 years.

Dr. Lampe is a registered engineer and has served as a consultant with several large companies. Among them are: Westinghouse Corp., Winchester Repeating Arms, and Consolidated Gas Electric Light and Power Company.

Mr. Fred W. Culpepper, Jr. is the new head of the department of industrial arts. He came to us during the summer and taught a workshop on arts and crafts as they relate to academic skills in the classroom for teachers of mentally retarded children. Prior to coming here he taught at Southern Illinois University for several years.

Dr. William E. Hopkins comes to Old Dominion as the head of the sociology department. He was formerly at Georgia State College as head of the sociology department. Dr. Hopkins has also taught at Appalachian State Teachers College, Wesleyan College, and at Louisiana State University.

Miss Mary Frey will be the director of our nursing program, presently under the biology department. She is a registered nurse and received her B.S. degree from Goshen College and the Master of Personnel Service degree from the University of Colorado. She has a broad and varied background in her field, and has served as director of several schools of nursing.

Many of our other new professors have outstanding and interesting records of achievement, and we regret that space does not permit us to list them here. New

Alumni Officers Announced

Mrs. Warren F. Spencer, Executive Alumni Secretary of The Old Dominion Alumni Association, made public last week the Directory of Officers for the 1962-1963 year. Archie T. Bruns, Class of '58, is president of the association. Bruns replaces Albert Gornto, Jr., Class of '56, as president.

Donald G. Mason, Class of '57, is first vice-president. The office of second vice-president is taken by W. Frank Latham, Jr., Class of '56. Robert B. Milner, Jr., Class of '57, is treasurer for the organization. Mrs. Mary B. Sanderlin, Class of '59, is recording secretary, and Donald Craig, Class of '59, is in charge of public relations.

Board members have also been chosen for the year. Anne Haste, president of the Student Government last year, was listed.

Lecture Series Begins

The Old Dominion College will begin a lecture series which should prove of interest to all students, faculty members, and members of the community.

The series begins Sunday afternoon, November 4 at 4:00 when Dr. Jacques Zaneveld will give a lecture, the topic of which is not yet known. The remaining five lectures will be presented through the school year by each division of the college, thus presenting a cross-section of interest to all who attend.

The lecture schedule is not established as yet, but the lectures, topics, and dates will be announced in the next Mace and Crown.

"A Boy of Seven"

Peace—a word revered and read,
Peace—a word abstractly said
To be what is sought in this land of ours,
To be what was lost in this life of ours.

Run ever faster. No time to pause,
Fate breathes close with out-stretched claws.

A child of seven cannot understand,
He questions his father; he grips his hand,
"Oh where is there peace in a frightened land?
Oh where is there peace in any land?"

The man looked down at his son's open face,
"Come, my child, I'll show you a place.
I'll show you a place where peace belongs;
I'll show you a pool, deep-shaded with song."

Blasting missiles causing great cheers,
Pride of accomplishment echoing fears.

They left the haunts of mechanical beasts,
A man leading his son to a symbol of peace.
The boy followed close his father's sure stride,
And they left the city and its progress behind.

They left the city and its progress behind,
And its blood-thirsty news to wallow in slime,
And its large bagged women to sweat their woe,
And its angry young men to hate some foe.

Ticking so loudly, never slowing down;
Hating so fiercely, digging underground.

They came to a wood, deep in the sky,
They came to a pond, dark and alive,
Where frog and bird voices joined the bee's hum,
Where blossoms of Dogwood scattered the sun,
And a fleet limbed doe in soft hesitation
Turned to the pool with deep fascination.

A boy of seven, staring so long
Looks into the water, hears its song,
Now remembers the city's mad rush,
Now understands the sun's evening blush.

Life, whispers pine, but louder than this,
The thundering peace in a boy's breast.

A boy of seven, releasing his hold,
Smiles at his father for having shown
To him such a place in a frightened land,
A bit of peace in a troubled land.

Placement Board Plans Career Day

The first meeting of the 1962-63 Student Placement Board was held on Monday, October 8 in the Placement Office, second floor, Administration Building. The Board is made up of student leaders who are "ex officio" members and of one student representing each major field of study. Students representing the major fields of study are appointed to serve for one year by the chairman of the respective departments.

The Student Placement Board will play an active part this year in planning and carrying out programs of particular interest to all seniors seeking jobs upon graduation. The first major program will be Federal Career Day, which will be held on Tuesday, October 30.

Ex officio members for 1962-63 are:
Jack Allbritton	President	Student Government
Jim Bryan	President	Legislative Council
Charles Montagna	President	Judicial Council
Marvin Elder	Editor	Mace and Crown
Betty Lou Parker	Editor	Troubadour
Jordan Pugh IV	Representative	Alpha Kappa Psi
Sandra Locasio	President	Senior Class
Billy Eisenbeiss	President	Junior Class
Ellen Dixon	President	Sophomore Class

Porter Phillips has been appointed to represent the Biology majors. Other representatives of major fields will be announced as they are appointed by their department chairmen.

In order that the Placement Board be able help seniors locate jobs, all seniors are requested to complete and return their placement forms to the Placement Office by October 15.

Pictures will be needed. Twenty copies of students' annual pictures may be obtained for $2.00 if it is done now. Orders may be placed with the Troubadour staff in the Publications Building on 48th Street, opposite the new B.A. Building.

Seniors may obtain College Placement Annuals in the Placement Office and, at the same time, get information concerning this year's recruiting season. The recruiting schedule begins on October 15 when Edmondson, Ledbetter and Ballard will visit the campus, followed by the Air Force, Navy, Marine Corps, and the General Accounting Office during the rest of that week.

Plans For New Building Complex Outlined

Construction on the new Business Administration, Math, and Physics Building was momentarily stopped recently by a strike. Inclement weather may also postpone the scheduled completion.

Should construction of the new Business Administration, Math, and Physics Building on campus continue to progress on schedule, students in those departments may start second quarter classes in that building's modern classrooms facing 48th Street.

Although a definite date has not been set, Dean John R. Tabb and Mr. Clifford L. Adams both look forward to the first of the year as the date for moving their respective departments of Business Administration and Physics into the new building.

Dean Tabb said the B. A. department will occupy the east wing of the building near the Fine Arts building. The Math and Physics departments are to share the two floors of the west wing. A large lecture hall, the first of its kind on campus, will occupy the middle of the building. The lecture hall will be used by all departments in the building as it is needed and is also set up to accommodate business conferences in Norfolk, Dean Tabb said.

Included in the modern B. A. facilities are a secretarial lab and a statistics lab. Dean Tabb said he hoped to have calculators installed in the statistics lab in the future. Other special purpose rooms may also be included.

Mr. Adams said that included in the Physics section of the building will be, along with sufficient classrooms, four Physics labs.

Mr. Adams estimates that around 200 general physics students will make use of the new building as will some 60 physics majors. Dean Tabb puts the number of Business students, both day and night, at over 600, of which 500 will be day students. Math students in the building should push the total number of people using the building to over 1,000.

A student lounge will also be in the new building, as well as faculty offices.

Mr. Adams said the present Physics classrooms will be taken over by the chemistry and geology departments. It is not known what use is to be made of the Business classrooms when they are vacated.

Technical Institute Begins Year

Since 1945 the Technical Institute of the Old Dominion College of Norfolk has been very active in producing technicians for our modern industrial needs. This October is no different for Director Edgar Kovner and his fellow faculty. In fact, as the Technical Institute starts its 18th year, a record 242 day students can be seen busily attending classes. The First Quarter students, better known as Freshmen, are not to be out done by any means. They are 119 strong, also a record for the Technical Institute. A breakdown of the different departments will show: Electronics, 107; Drafting, 93; Air Conditioning, 23; and Automotive, 19.

New faces of the faculty also can be seen on the T.I. campus this year. Leonard A. Hobbs, an electronics instructor, has returned from the V.P.I. campus in Blacksburg where he has been working on his Masters Degree in Electrical Engineering. John H. Lawless, another electronics instructor, has returned from the Navy after a years stay, as he was called in last year during the Berlin crisis. Mr. Lawless has an Electrical Engineering Degree from University of Virginia. Mr. J. Hirst Lederle, who is known on the campus by his expertness in electronics, has recently returned from Oak Ridge Institute for Nuclear Studies in Oak Ridge, Tennessee. We are sure that Mr.

Lederle has some very interesting material to pass on to his students this coming year. Mr. Luther J. Shipman, a Virginia Polytechnic Institute graduate, who, as this reporter understands, is a master on the subject of swimming pools, has been accepted at the Oak Ridge Institute for Nuclear Studies. Mr. Shipman will probably depart for his studies the first of next year.

The newest face on the Faculty can be seen in the Drafting Department. I am sure that we all welcome Mr. Tracy Neighbors. Mr. Neighbors, who was born and reared in Commerce, Texas, has a most outstanding background in education and working experience.

He graduated from East Texas State College with a Bachelor of Science Degree in Industrial Education. Next was his stay at University of Illinois where he received his Master of Science Degree in Industrial Education. Mr. Neighbors has done part of his work for his Doctor's Degree at Wayne State University. World War II saw Mr. Neighbors in the U. S. Air Force where he was a pilot and flew the B-24, B-25, and B-29. After the war he had many impressive positions in college teaching Industrial Education and Engineering Drawing. A most impressive position was his eight year experience as Director of Drafting and Design at the Chrysler Institute of Engineering. Chrysler Corporation. During his spare time, Mr. Neighbors is active in a number of honorary societies of Education and Industrial Education. He says he is quite good with a 16 m.m. camera. Again, welcome to the Technical Institute.

As this reporter strolled down the hall this past week, many new faces were encountered among the First Quarter students. A couple of the more interesting were Virginia Laird, one of the few girls at the Technical Institute this year, and William Roberts who I understand is a very good wrestler.

Virginia graduated from Granby High School in 1961. After a year at William and Mary, Virginia decided that she would like to acquire a technical background. This interest brought her to the Technical Institute where she is enrolled in the Architectural Drafting Department. Upon graduating, Virginia would like to work for a local architect. During her spare time she likes to water ski, and I understand she excels in sewing.

William Roberts attended Princess Anne High School and then moved over his Senior year to Granby High School where he graduated this past June. A very good student in Mechanical Drawing, Bill decided to enter the Technical Institute and study General Drafting.

After graduating, he would like to get a job with a civil engineer. Bill likes to fish in his spare time and, as I have mentioned, is a very good wrestler. Both students admit that they have to study a lot. In fact, all the students seem to keep busy, which reminds this reporter that he has some midnight oil to burn! Bye now — John Grau.

Yearbook Briefs

The Troubadour Editor-in-Chief, Betty Lou Parker, announced that over nine-hundred yearbooks were sold during registration. Thus the price for the annual has been dropped from eight to seven dollars. Payment of this amount must be made by November 30th, 1962, in the Business Office. Students may still pledge to buy a yearbook at the Troubadour office, but pictures in the class section will be excluded.

This is maturity: To be able to stick with a job until it's finished; to be able to bear an injustice without wanting to get even; to be able to carry money without spending it; and to do one's duty without being supervised. —Echo

Construction to Begin

The construction of Old Dominion College's student union building will begin next summer preceded by the engineering building.

The cost of the student union building is one million dollars and the engineering building's cost is listed at one-half million dollars.

The student union building is to be located on Bluestone Avenue between 47th and 48th streets. It will house the College newspaper and yearbook offices, student government offices, rooms for student activities, a cafeteria, and general offices. The two-story engineering building, located on Bluestone Avenue between 46th and 48th streets, will include faculty offices, classrooms, drawing rooms, and laboratories.

Architects Lublin, McGaughy and Associates will design the student union building. The firm of Williams and Tazewell will design the engineering building. The General Assembly of Virginia appropriated $740,000 for the student union building and $585,000 for the engineering building in the 1962 legislature. The remaining money must be raised by a bond issue.

John Browning Is Soloist For Concert

The Norfolk Symphony Orchestra and Civic Chorus will begin its 1962-63 season on October 29 at 8:30 P.M. at the Center Theater. The guest soloist for this first concert will be John Browning, the great pianist who represented the United States at the Brussels World's Fair.

The Norfolk Symphony Orchestra and Chorus will present seven concerts in all for the coming season. Among the guest artists other than Browning will be Fredell Lack, Daniel Abrams, and Sidney Harth, all of whom are among the best in their fields.

The Norfolk Symphony, conducted by Edger Schenkman, will, of course, participate in all seven concerts, and the Norfolk Civic Chorus will assist the Orchestra in two of the events.

Season tickets are available and are priced at $5.50 for students, $8.50, and $12.50. For additional information call Mrs. Leonard Nugent, 464-0559.

College Receives Natural History Specimens

New arrivals at Old Dominion College this fall include several tigers and water buffalo, a leopard, and a giant python. In carefully mounted form, they are joining the science department.

Originally from India and Burma, the jungle creatures are part of a collection of more than 50 natural history specimens recently donated to the College by Cecil Smith of London, England.

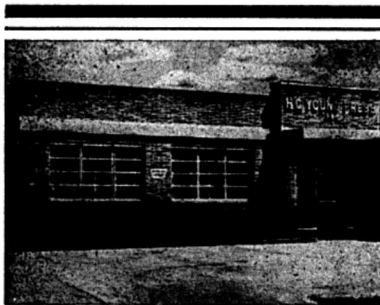

A forestry official in Burma before his retirement, Smith acquired the trophies during hunting expeditions from 1915 to 1926. Many of the animals he killed himself.

The collection was given to the college here as a result of Smith's friendship with Dr. Walter Herman Bell, of the Old Dominion counseling office.

Dr. Bell first saw the wild beasts when he was a house guest of Smith's in England several years ago. At that time he told his host that the college in Norfolk would welcome the natural history exhibit if its owner ever decided to part with it.

The College was notified this past summer that the collection would be donated to the science department here. The shipment crossed the Atlantic aboard the U.S. Lines S. S. AMERICAN ANGLER.

Roger Rageot, Curator of Natural History for the Norfolk Museum, has been an interested appraiser of the new arrivals. He speaks enthusiastically of the fine condition of the specimens.

Noting that a tiger rug alone is often worth nearly $500 today, Rageot estimates the dollar value of the collection in the thousands.

More important, he feels, is the scientific value of the exhibit to students of natural history and comparative anatomy.

The presence of the jungle creatures in Old Dominion's Science Lecture Hall will "help to create an atmosphere of learning," Rageot remarked.

For the erudite science major who desires a complete breakdown of the collection's contents, the following has been added.

Case No. 1—Mounted heads of Chinkara, Serow, and two Balk Bucks; two skulls; sizes 3' 6"; 2' 9"; and 1' 7".

Case No. 2—Three Tsine skulls, one Tigress, and hooves of Tsine. Sizes: 4' 8"; 3' 9"; 1' 5".

Case No. 8—One mounted Tiger skin, one mounted Tigress skin, one mounted Himalayan Bear skin, one mounted leopard skin, one mounted Python skin, and two mounted Harmadryad skins. In addition, the following skins are unmounted: one Thamin, one Serow, and eight smaller mammals.

While in transit, the collection was insured for $2,500.00.

Forensics Team Begins Season at OD

Old Dominion's debate team will open the 1962-63 season October 19, with a forensics tournament, held on campus. The two day tournament, sponsored by Old Dominion College, will include six rounds of debate, three rounds of persuasive speaking and two rounds of after-dinner speaking. Princeton, Notre Dame, Navy, Georgetown and most of the Virginia colleges are included in the schools planning to attend. All rounds are open to the public and information concerning where and when they are to be held can be obtained in the library assembly hall on October 19, 20.

Professor McCroskey, the debate team sponsor, says he is looking forward to a very good season, partially because he has limited the team's schedule to 13 debates. Not only will this lessen the academic strain on team members by causing them to miss less classes, but it will also give them more time for preparation between debates.

The topic for this season will be: "Resolved that the non-Communist nations of the world establish an economic community."

(Students interested in debating may contact Professor McCroskey in room 203 E of the Fine Arts building or attend any of the daily debate meetings held at 12 noon in room 201 of the same building.)

Old Dominion College and Washington and Lee University will participate in a debate to be shown on WAVY television. The taped debate will be shown on October 20 or 21 and again immediately following the "Tonight" show the following week.

SOMETHING OLD, SOMETHING NEW

by Charlie Falls

"Something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue." No this isn't the prelude to a marriage. It's a way of describing this year's teams at Old Dominion. If anything it's a divorce—from an association with a school that is slowly but surely losing its association with other colleges in the state of Virginia. Last year we became The Norfolk College of William and Mary. This year we are Old Dominion College. Well known facts to us, but what about the poor unfortunate slob who doesn't know about our wonderful institution?

Although our name, our colors and our uniforms have changed, we still have the same great group of athletes for the most part. And what counts most we still have President Webb, Scrap, Bud, Lou, Pete and Al. Man for man there probably isn't a better coaching staff in the state.

Come December 1 the Monarchs will be out to take on Little Eight and Mason-Dixon opponents in basketball. This year's outlook is bright indeed with the return of five lettermen: three seniors and two juniors. To round out the squad, Bud has a new crop of freshmen. At this time it is not known how many actually will make the squad, but there has been a large turnout. A new feature this year will be Old Dominion's participation in the Quantico Invitational Tournament. After last year's 17-3 record, Metheny is confident his team will fare well in tournament. It's high time our athletic teams received recognition on a national level and this is considered one of the best ways to gain recognition.

Metheny welcomes the return of Ronnie Byrd to this year's squad and expects big things from him. Coach Metheny said, "I'm real pleased to see that Ronnie is in better shape this year. He's lost 36 pounds this summer and appears to be in good shape." Ronnie is 6'2" and is capable of playing either guard or forward. He played freshman basketball at the University of Virginia and high school ball at Granby. Merky Carroll, 5'11" guard and co-captain of last year's squad, will be a senior and is in his third year of varsity play. Ray Dougan, big 6'4" center, has a fine outside shot and is tough under the boards. Ray has fine speed and agility despite his size and should provide good scoring punch around the key. Billy Phelps, 6'1" forward, should contribute greatly to the Monarch scoring attack. He is fast and drives well. Also, he is a fine rebounder and can play either guard or forward.

Wayne Parks, 5'9" guard, played in the shadow of Leo Anthony most of his fresh-

FRAT FOOTBALL BEGINS

This week marks the opening of football season for the six fraternities at Old Dominion College. This year's teams boast many veterans from last year's wars. And wars they were indeed, for each team was out to beat the perennial power, Delta Omega Phi. Despite everyone's brazen efforts to do the Delta boys bodily harm, they still managed to "eek out" a record of 9 wins, 0 defeats, and "1" tie. The tie came at the hands of a determined Kappa squad by a score of 6-6.

The only two frats in the league that gave the Deltamen any trouble were Tige and Kappa. Tige was Delta's closest competitor with a 7-2-1 record. Kappa was in third place with a 6-3-1 record. The Imps were fourth in the league with a 3-6-1 record, followed by A E Pi with 2-6-1. In last place were the Pi Phi "Redskins" with the distinction of being different in the won, lost and tied column. The Pi Phi Sigma boys were 0-10-0. How's that for consistency.

This year's squads will be essentially the same as far as personnel. The Deltamen will be tough to beat unless some of the other teams can come up with a new crop of players. Men like Bob Walton, Jim Zadell, and Ronnie Byrd will give their Delta team the potential for a championship contender. "Tear 'em up" Tige will be close on Delta's heels once again with Herb Alcox and Jerry Levy as their stalwarts.

The Imps will have a number of newcomers this year: "Beeffy" Gene Richardson and Bob Fentress will lend support on the line with speedy Nelson Harris doing the running. Kappa, under a new franchise, will hereafter be known as Theta Xi, Kappa Lambda chapter. It remains to be seen what the new name will do for them, but their hopes are high on improving last year's .600 average.

A E Pi will be hurt by the graduation of Al Colton and L. C. Coleman. Many people remember the colorful play these two performers gave in their many years at this school, not to mention the laughs. A E Pi, though not a winning team, still outdrew many of the winning teams by their colorful play and show to determination.

Pi Phi, according to a good source, will "be real tough" this campaign. A number of new members will bolster the team which made a poor but determined showing last year. Spike Bruno is expected to lead the Pi Phi attack with a steady throwing game. The Pi Phi defense leaves much to be desired because of a lack of speed. They should improve this year according to Bruno, who claims they will be "100% better." In other words, they will win at least one game to improve last season's 0-10 record.

man year, but last year became a regular at the guard spot. This will be Sparky's third year on the team and probably his best. Freddy Edmonds, 6'2" forward, will be back this year with his jump shot and fine rebounding ability. He can also play guard with his good drive and jump shot.

Old Dominion Grapplers Ready for 1962 Season

BY JACK BELLIS

With the acceptance of Old Dominion College into the N.C.A.A.-sanctioned Mason-Dixon Conference, the opportunity for recognition on a national level has been provided for the Monarch wrestling team.

Although this will only be the sixth season of wrestling competition for the college, the grappling squad has nevertheless been one of the most successful of all the varsity teams. Competing as independents, Coach Pete Robinson's teams have lost but three matches over the past five seasons. In competition with members of the Mason-Dixon Conference, Coach Robinson's boys hold an over-all 15-2-1 record. Last year the Monarch grapplers had an excellent 10-1 fare, losing only to the perennial national powerhouse Loch Haven State, and capping the Virginia A.A.U. crown.

With the departure of only one letterman, captain Buddy Meredith, the forecast for the coming season is bright indeed. Coach Robinson has every reason to be optimistic with seven lettermen returning. Al Boyd, 123 pounds, Jim Crowling (130), Harvey Silverman (137), Bob Gutterman (147), Bill Langston and John Rice (157), and Fred Turner at Heavyweight comprise the nucleus of what might be a championship contender. Bill Fry, who sat out most of last season with an injury, will return to make his presence felt by the opposition.

In addition to the veterans, a host of promising freshman have arrived to further brighten the picture. Dick Harris and John Jordan from Granby, Bill Ayers of Norview, Paul Cote and Ned Ricardo of Norfolk Catholic, and state champion Bob Waterfield of Maury will add strength and depth to an already formidable squad.

Although the outlook for this season is bright, the schedule is by no means easy, with a return bout against powerful Loch Haven and the addition of tough Lycoming. In addition, the Monarchs will meet such schools as Washington and Lee, East Carolina, American U., Baltimore, Loyola of Maryland, Gallaudet, and Hampden-Sydney. Coach Robinson feels that since Old Dominion is now in the conference, the other teams will be more than ever determined to beat us. However, he also stated that the Monarchs are already widely respected by their opponents, and he gave assurance that his boys will be in top shape for the season opener. Robinson also asks the student body to give its complete support to the team in its first quest for the Mason-Dixon crown.

Time Out... with Spike Bruno

I suppose I'll be missing the bandwagon if I don't say anything about football on the Old Dominion campus in our first edition this year. After all, I should follow the precedent set by my colleagues who so skillfully discussed all the pros and cons of college football here at OD. It boils down to simply this. We do not have a football team and there are no immediate plans for a football team, so why not discuss those sports on campus that are currently doing so well? For example, in case you don't know last year we held three Little 8 championships and were runners up to another. The basketball and baseball teams were co-holders to the titles in their division and the swimming team was winner of the Little 8 swimming title. The track team didn't fare as well; they were "only" runners up. The wrestling team had a 9-1 mark, that defeat coming at the hands of Loch Haven, and the cross country team was third in the Little 8 cross country standings. And we should divert our attention to football???

This year, Scrap Chandler and the staff are taking their bats, balls and hurdles to the Mason-Dixon Conference to play with the big boys. Bud Metheny's basketballers are facing the toughest schedule to date. Loyola, scheduled December 15th at Loyola, fares to be about the toughest game on the roster. However, Loyola is also meeting Providence and Seton Hall this year, so they may not be repaying the compliment. Bud and his troops open on December 1st against a rugged Lynchburg team at Lynchburg. NOTICE!!—Fellowship Applications to be Filed

Dr. James Reece of Old Dominion College announced that The Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation is receiving applications for the school year 1963-1964.

Dr. Reece said that the foundation offers one-thousand fellowships. Any faculty member at Old Dominion may send nominations to Dean I. B. Cauthen, Jr., at: College of Arts and Sciences, University of Virginia, Charlottesville, Virginia. The deadline is October 31st. All candidates must file the required credentials with Dean Cauthen by November 20th. Interested students may obtain further information from the English Department secretary or Dr. Reece.

Concert Series Launches 25th Year

The Old Dominion College Concert Series will launch its 25th anniversary year by presenting the French National Orchestra, conducted by Charles Munch, on October 15 at 8:30 P.M. at the Center Theater.

The second concert will be a recital by Nathan Milstein, world renowned violinist, who will make his second appearance on the series on December 5. The young American pianist, Stewart Gordon, student of the great Walter Gieseking, will be the third artist, playing the evening of February 6. The series will close its 25th season with the Bach Aria Group with Eileen Farrell and Jan Peerce on March 30. All the concerts are held at the Center Theater and start at 8:30 P.M.

Anna Hurt has been appointed the student member of the Board of Directors of the Concert Series. She and a committee of students will launch a drive to sell student tickets for the series early in the fall quarter. Mrs. Bohl, of the music department, also has student tickets for the series. Student tickets are $7.00 for the season, and all seats are reserved.

Opera Workshop

Again this year, the Opera Workshop, sponsored by the Optimist Club of Norfolk, will present three operas. The first will be "Wonderful Town" by Leonard Bernstein on November 30 and December 1. During the second quarter the Workshop will prepare "Madam Butterfly" for performance on March 1 and 2. The final production will be the ever popular "Student Prince" by Romberg, on May 24 and 25. All the performances are given at the Center Theater. Tickets may be obtained at the Business Office, and this year the whole Workshop program will be on a "series" basis, all three performances for either $6.00, $7.00, or $8.00.

ON CAMPUS

ALPHA OMEGA PHI

New officers for the Fall quarter are Linda Davis, President; Pris Harrison, Vice-President; Gerry White, Recording Secretary; Jeanie Bacon, Corresponding Secretary; Sanda Connell, Treasurer; Kate Renn, Pledge Mistress; and Intramural Representative; and Betty Lou Parker, Public Relations Director; and Mrs. Warren F. Spencer, Sponsor, Myrna Mays, Chaplain; Gerry White, Inter-Sorority Representative; Genny Heath, Historian; Jo Anne Horton, Parliamentarian.

The Alpha girls will entertain all Freshman girls at a "Coke Party." This will serve as a welcome to incoming co-eds.

GAMMA GAMMA

Helen Hurt, President of Gamma Gamma, announced the officers for 1962-1963 last week. Judy Newberg is Vice-President. Mary Ford is Recording Secretary; Gay Olsson, Corresponding Secretary; Arlene Palmer, Treasurer; and Financial Secretary, Mary Liz Mulqueen.

IMPS

The Imps Fraternity enjoyed a prosperous summer. The social activities included two successful dances in which the students from Old Dominion and other colleges joined the Imps in having a good time. On several occasions the Imps joined the other social organizations on campus to promote a feeling of Inter-Fraternity Cooperation.

PI PHI SIGMA

Officers for the Fall quarter are Jim Pauley, President; Bruce Ormond, Vice-President; Graham Hutchins, Treasurer; and Clyde Beasley, Secretary.

During the summer the Pi Phi House took on new colors as the members took to paint and brush. The entire downstairs was painted with light yellow and blue.

TIGA

Tiga members contributed their efforts to the Camp Civitan project for underprivileged children during the summer. This is a fraternity project, and the labor was available at any time the project needed them.

Officers for the 1962-1963 school year are as follows: Bill Thompson, President; Bob Fitzgerald, Vice President; Leslie Simmons, Recording Secretary; Chuck Mathis, Corresponding Secretary; Dean Rogis, Treasurer; and Pete Harrell, Proctor.

THETA XI

Officers for the 1962-1963 school year are Bob Baker, President; Stan Biggs is First Vice-President and Arthur White is Second Vice-President. Buck Jordan is Recording Secretary, and George Rhudy is Corresponding Secretary. The Treasurer is Sam Howard, and Bob Thomas is Historian.

Delegates to the recent convention in Detroit were Mac Rawls, Stan Biggs, Ralph Hines, Dan Haworth, and Art White. They spent five days at the meeting.

first home tilt is slated for December 4th against Pembroke State. In case you haven't heard, we make it customary to attend the home games. Sounds like a good idea, especially if you enjoy a good calibre of basketball.

Lou Plummer's cross country team opens its '62 season October 6th against Bridgewater. Mr. Plummer has high hopes of improving last years third place standing. We should know the score by November 3rd, the date for the Little 8 meet at Bridgewater. Two weeks later, on November 17th, Lou's boys will travel to Bridgewater once again, this time for the Mason-Dixon Championship meet.

Possibly the most underrated sport on campus, wrestling, opens its schedule at home on December 3rd against Washington and Lee. Pete Robinson, wrestling coach, has compiled a record nothing short of great. In no one season have his grapplers lost more than two meets, and in all except one year they lost only one. However, it is strange indeed to see how few of the students turn out for the wrestling matches. We couldn't have asked for a more constant winner. In case you think I'm hinting when I say the wrestling season opens here, at HOME, on December 3rd against Washington and Lee, you are positively correct. No reason why we can't all get out and see one of the best wrestling teams in the state. Incidentally, for those few sceptics who have the idea that wrestling is a slow, boring sporting event, I suggest you take a look at college wrestling. . . . "Old Dominion Robinson style."

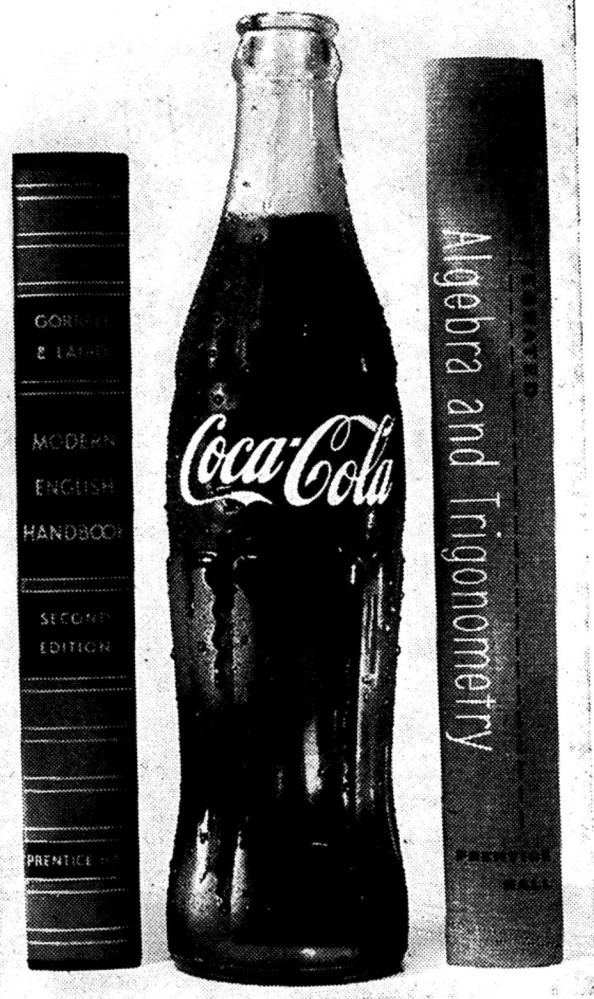

Rounding out the fall and winter sports schedule is swimming. Scrap Chandler's aquamen take their marks on November 30th against Lynchburg in the foe's home pool. You can take a look at the swimmers on December 5th when we entertain William and Mary at OD's home pool. The Mason-Dixon Championships are held March 1st and 2nd.

As you can see by the records, this is a story of young school grows up. Perhaps the change from Little 8 to Mason-Dixon was the best thing that has happened to Old Dominion in a long time. We were getting to the point where we almost completely dominated Little 8 events. Now we can show sports fans around the state just how good we really are.

Football oh, yes football. Well, maybe in about ten or fifteen years, just maybe now, we will see Old Dominion among the top teams in the nation. Till then . . . let's see the ones that are currently making their marks in the sporting world, OUR OWN OLD DOMINION TEAMS.
