

WHO'S WHO AT NORFOLK W. & M.

DR. D. J. BLOCKER

One of the most interesting professors of the College of William and Mary is Dr. Daniel James Blocker, who has held the Chair of Sociology at this College since September, 1930. He was born in Florida in the year 1873 of German and Irish stock. At the age of twenty-two, he entered Stetson University from which institution he received his A. B. in 1909, and in the same year the University of Chicago granted him the identical degree. He continued his studies there and in two more years received his Master's degree. This same University claimed him for the following two years also and in 1913, he received his B. D. It was not until 1917, however, the year of his marriage, that he received his greatest honor, for it was at this time that his first Alma Mater bestowed upon him the honorary standing of Doctor of Divinity.

His promising and conscientious ability led to honors from his classmates. Dr. Blocker, besides being a member of the social fraternity Delta Sigma Phi, is a member of Pi Mu, for students of social science; Delta Theta Chi for graduate students of University of Chicago and Omicron Delta Kappa, for all-round development, at the College of William and Mary.

After leaving the University in 1913, he taught psychology and education at Stetson University for eight years and for two years (1920-1922) he was professor of philosophy at the college of William and Mary. At the end of this time, Dr. Blocker resigned to take over the presidency of the Shorter College for girls in Rome, Georgia. He remained there only two and one-half years, however and in 1925 became associated with Firman College in Greenville, South Carolina, as professor of psychology and sociology. It was not until last September that he returned to this institution and became Head of the Department of Sociology here.

Dr. Blocker is well-known in Norfolk and this vicinity as a lecturer and supply pastor for several local Baptist Churches. Only recently he has lectured here on social problems to a group of Jewish women. When asked his hobby, he said, "Teaching," and smilingly added, "it's my vocation and a vacation also." He lives in Williamsburg and has a son twelve years of age.

DR. BLOCKER AT BETH-EL TEMPLE

"There is no progress without danger, and there is no danger without progress," said Dr. D. J. Blocker, professor of Sociology at the College of William and Mary, in an address on "Social Progress and Youth."

"Progress is a law of nature and not a task. If you think of it as a task, you might revolt, if you think of it as a law of nature you will carry it through until your objective is achieved."

"Progress today in the Western world gets the support of youth, be it a movement, an ideal, or a material undertaking. Today, we desire to see the village become a metropolis, the cottage a skyscraper."

"The oriental theory of 'There is nothing new under the sun,' does not apply to the Occidental theory. In China, the grandfather and father pulled a pushcart, so the son pulls a pushcart. In the Western world, the grandfather and father rode in buggies, the son desires to ride in a limousine."

In speaking of the problems of youth, Dr. Blocker said, "There are three ways to develop the problems of youth. First, mature manhood ought to forget what it does for youth and remember what youth does for it. Second, mature man ought to put his rights in the background and youths rights in the foreground. Third, mature man ought to bury his unscientific misconception of youth."

The well-known college professor concluded his address by stating that the world is becoming more spiritual. "The only thing we ask of man is that he do his utmost best. If he falls down in his requirement of life he becomes a bar to human progress."

BRAVES DEFEAT NORFOLK COLLEGE

Local W. & M. Quint Wins, 35-23 Closing their pre-examination schedule of games, the Braves, of the Norfolk Division of the College of William & Mary, Saturday night defeated Norfolk College in an interesting game by the score of 35 to 23. The battle was on the Blair Junior High Court.

Hamburger, with 15 points, led the scoring of the winners, and was well supported by Tonelson and Nesson. Sorey, with 10 points, looked best for the losers.

Play has been suspended because of the semester examinations. It will be resumed February 2nd, when the Braves will take the road. (Continued on Page 6)

Procedure for Registration for Second Semester, January 30, 1931

1. Students may register on any school day between January 23rd and 29th, inclusive.
2. Obtain a blank registration card and a lecture schedule from the desk in the library, Room 14, and also a class card for each class you intend to take.
3. Work out a satisfactory schedule and have same approved by the adviser for your course. The advisers are as follows:
Dr. Jackson—Bachelor of Science, Bachelor of Chemistry, Pre-Medical, Pre-Dental.
Miss Voight—Bachelor of Arts.
Dr. Marsh, or Mr. Timmerman—Pre-Business.
Miss Childress—Pre-Engineering.
Mr. Timmerman—Pre-legal.
4. Present the approved program and class cards to the Registrar, together with check or cash, thus completing your registration.
5. Organization-meetings of the various classes will take place on Friday, January 30th, and Saturday, January 31st. Attendance at this time is absolutely necessary.
JESSIE M. VOIGHT,
Division Registrar.

W. S. G. SCHEDULES DANCE

The first dance of the new semester which begins Friday, January 30, will be given that night by the members of the Women's Student Government Association in the college auditorium. The hours for dancing will be from 9 P. M. to 12:30 A. M. Since this is to be a dance sponsored by the entire women's student body, it is only fitting that the faculty act as chaperones. The "Merry Makers" orchestra, which has played here before for college dances, will furnish music for the evening.

One of the most outstanding features of the dance will be the unusual form of decorations. Each of the three women's social organizations of this division will decorate and have charge of one corner of the room, while the student government association as a whole will add the finishing touches, giving the effect of its being the binding cord that binds all groups together. Irritable Traveler: "What is the use of your timetables if your trains are always late?"

Station Master: "Well, sir, what would be the use of our waiting room if our trains were always on time."

TO THE INCOMING FRESHMEN

The majority of you have just graduated from high school. You have, therefore, not only completed your preparatory academic instruction, but have also completed and left behind you your high school behavior and practices. You are now students in a division, however new and unexpanded, of the second oldest, most historically prominent, and highly recognized academically, schools in this country—the College of William and Mary in Virginia.

Simultaneously with your matriculation into the Norfolk Division of the College of William and Mary you will witness the operation of, and become a vital part of, our Honor System. This Honor System was modeled somewhat after the one in practice at the College in Williamsburg, but it, as do other phases of our student activities, exhibits a marked individuality all its own. Shortly after registration a detailed explanation of the Honor System will be given you by some member of the Men's or Women's Honor Councils. Until then you may familiarize yourselves with such information as is offered on the Bulletin board. We, the Honor Councils, want you to feel perfectly free to ask us any questions concerning the Honor System and its operation.

Briefly, the Honor System consists merely of this:

The line of demarcation between that which is good and that which is bad is not clearly defined, good and bad being functions of the times, the manners and customs of a people, and must be determined empirically by the results of accumulated tests and trials through out time.

The people of the world may be divided, morally, into three classes or zones, the White, the Grey, and the Black. There is a neutral way, the Grey zone. On the extreme left of this lies a region, the Black Zone, in which there is fully recognized the rotten bad—clearly identified by all decent people. In the Grey Zone are those people which could easily shift to either left or right, and who will ever bear watching. On the extreme right—the White Zone—lies the very good, the perfect way, most clearly defined by Zoroaster, Buddha and Jesus of Nazareth, practically unattained save as the aim and hope of civilization.

The students of this institution will not tolerate those people identified as belonging in the Black (Continued in next column)

Long hot hours in a choking dust, torn jerseys and tattered breeches, that refreshing lack of showers, that hot afternoon in Suffolk, our trip to Williamsburg, those chilly nights under the glaring lights of Bain Field, all those memories were awakened for a brief moment on Friday, January 16th, when the Norfolk Division of the College of William and Mary paid honor to fifteen members of its 1930 football squad who had been selected to receive their numerals and green sweaters in recognition of the work which they had done on the team. These fifteen men constitute the original membership of the Norfolk Division's Monogram Club which is to be composed exclusively of letter and numeral men. In a talk presenting the numerals and sweaters, the Director spoke of the great difficulty of having a football season at all in 1931, paid high tribute to Coach Tommy Scott and praised the team for their loyalty and hard work under trying circumstances. Norfolk's two newspapers were praised for being most liberal in their write-ups of the college's athletics and the announcement was made that the 1931 football season would probably consist of at least four and possibly five home games and that option had been secured for Bain Field for two Saturday afternoons, Armistice Day afternoon and one Friday afternoon with one other game pending, the schedule and the games to be played away from home to be announced at a later date.

In all this honor paid to the men receiving numerals, the scrubs were not forgotten. The speaker (Continued on Page 6)

Zone as student in the Norfolk Division of the College of William and Mary.

Your tutors in this Honor System will not be the faculty, they will be the old students who will fail in their duty if they do not assimilate you into their comradeship and give you the helpful hand of fellowship. They have assumed the responsibility of establishing an Honor System and the duty of giving you a knowledge of it. This will in time be your heritage—see to it that you do not trade your birthright for any man's mess of pottage.

You will recognize it to be your duty as part of the student body to help us keep the clean, spotless record maintained since the opening of the first semester. —Chairman, Men's Honor Council.

TO THE FRESHMAN

Freshman, we welcome you and are glad to recognize you as students of the Norfolk Division of the College of William and Mary. We hope you, as College students, realize the new responsibility you have taken upon your shoulders. You are no longer under the discipline of high school rule, but instead you are under Student Government. Your studies will be more difficult, but they will not be forced upon you. Instead, you will be the judge as to how much you will do. As a result you will get out of College exactly what you put into it. As freshmen you must become acquainted with a few things.

The first thing is our Honor System. William and Mary was the first College in the United States to establish the Honor System; therefore each freshman is expected to uphold it to the Nth degree. Every student's behavior is governed by his own sense of honor. All tests and examinations are given under the honor system instead of the supervision of a teacher. Therefore every freshman must be acquainted with the Code of Honor.

Another important thing is sportsmanship. A student at William and Mary admires a good sport and loathes a poor sport. Each freshman is expected to enter into the college activities whole-heartedly as a good sport. The various clubs and athletics give a student ample opportunity to show good sportsmanship.

Finally, the upper-classmen wish to be regarded as friends—not enemies. They are present to help you and to make your college life pleasant. The wish is that you may enjoy your days as students of the Norfolk Division of the College of William and Mary. They hope the school will profit by your being a student, and that you will gain much from the contact with the students.

Door-knobs and window curtains will be imposed on the students of the college to cover any damage done to the college property by the playful and facetious persons of this higher institution of learning. The co-operation of the student body to avert the imposing of a tax which would be unjust to some of us, is heartily asked and encouraged.

The Inquiring Reporter

What do you think of the new $7.50 athletic fee?

Mildred Signaio, '34—"I think it is one of the best things we've begun this year, and I think the originators deserve a lot of credit."

Kenneth Taylor, '34—"It is what we have needed, and I hope the results will be gratifying to everyone."

Mary Lawrence, '34—"It is one of the things we most need and I think the result will be good for everyone."

Frances Smith, '34—"I think it is a good thing and I hope the results will be successful."

Virginia Lester, '34—"I hope it will be a huge success, as it is just what we need."

Clyde Jennings, '34—"Not half bad—and I hope the results will be a pleasant surprise."

Jean L. Gooch, '33—"It's Papa who pays."

DO YOU KNOW THAT

Ronald Colman is at present being sought by two actresses—for a husband.

"Tom Sawyer," that Mark Twain favorite, is an experiment by Jackie Coogan, just to see how the children will take childish photoplays? Can you imagine!

"Green Pastures" has been the theme of more than eighty church sermons in the Metropolitan belt. Anna May Wong was not born in China but in California? Now who'd have thought of that?

Von Suppe's opera "Boacaccio" is to be revived at the Metropolitan with Jeritza in tights? Can't fight that!

A new play by Booth Tarkington, "Colonel Satan," is now on the stage?

New York has twenty-two dark theatres? And Norfolk complains of business depression!

NEWPORT THEATRE

The Newport Theatre is to show the latest from Hollywood for the next two weeks.

Beginning February the second through the fourth, the one and only Conrad Nagel will be seen in "Free Love." The little boy deserves a great big hand for this production.

Remember, "Charley's Aunt," well, she's back again and in the role held by Syd Chaplin and in the silent revision comes Charlie Ruggles in all his glory. This is on story which under normal conditions would have worn out by this time, but here it is back again and there doesn't seem a chance of "Charley's Aunt" falling to please.

If you liked, "Disraeli," you'll go wild about George Arliss' latest, "Old English." Your opportunity of going wild will be February the ninth, tenth and eleventh. This is the tale of a delightful old sinner who enjoys himself in the end.

Look who's coming to town following George Arliss at the Newport, no other than "The Widow From Chicago," featuring a young man's ideal, Alice White and the flappers fancy, Neil Hamilton. I'd better not say anymore about this picture, you'll have to see it.

ULTIMO

An eerie cackination shrieks below
 The gelid howling of this icy wind,
 Ululant ghost of a fatidic past
 Once bound in Time that moved: now none to bind,
 Or mock at its prophetic sweep of doom
 Over the whispering sands compassionate.
 The hidden levins of its swirling waves
 Brands the steel answer of a challenged Fate.

A GENERAL GUIDE TO PINEAPPLE TRAPPING (Conclusion)

As you remember—in fact, you've been thinking of nothing else, what?—the last we saw of the earl, he was walking back to the castle after a period of despair in the woods caused by the pliffing of his pineapple hunt. Under stress of woe, he had left his hunting headgear behind him in the woods—don't forget that, it's pretty darn important. Now read on, read on, like the great little trouser and glutton for punishment you are!

Two months later, and again the earl is in the woods. Now, however, we find him in a lighthearted mood. On the morrow he is to sail for America, a land he has yet to visit, and all aglow is he to the prospect. So he strolls along humming a gay ballad, thinking, mayhap, of the gallant figure he cut at last night's farewell ball, or possibly—he is such a fellow—of the saucy-eyed, black-haired wench newcome in attendance at the Bowl and Pipe. Eh, but life is good!

Of a sudden a plaintive squeak is heard close at hand. The earl stops still with a muttered oath. Could it be—ah, but ridiculous! And with a light laugh he walks on. But hark! The cry is repeated. In a single bound L. Dashingham Cortleigh, ninth earl of Clumpbo, is around the bush whence comes the sound! What he sees there causes him to recoil in thunderstruck amazement. Zounds, what have we here! Oddsblood, 'tis the weedgrown hunting headguard of the gallant earl, for theft of which he has but recently and heartily drubbed poor Anne, the scullery wench! But look! What is that within the headguard running around, squeaking? Why-why-why, God bless us, 'tis a trapped pineapple! (Whew!)

'Twould take better pen than ours to justly describe the mingled emotions of surprise, bewilderment, and joy that now strove for mastery in the earl's breast. Suffice it to say—well, just suffice it to say.

In the light of present-day scientific knowledge, we know how the pineapple got there. The earl had dropped his headgear on (courtesy of himself) Friends and relatives had kept it in comfort by bringing sweets, nuts, cigarettes, and other goodies and poking them through the bars.

But the earl, who had never even heard of a pineapple seed, much less seen one (as who has?), knew no such explanation, and, naturally, attributed miraculous powers to the headguard.

Upon arriving in America some weeks later, the deluded earl immediately began to demonstrate the powers ("powers"—ha-ha, that is a good one, ha-ha) of his headguard. With much ceremony, and in the presence of Jamie Walker, mayor of New York, he placed it in some woods. Then everybody ran like everything, leaving it alone.

Five months later, led by a Campfire Girl's harmonica band, while members of the local W. C. T. U. executed cartwheels on the sidelines and an expectant nation listened in over a National hook-up (courtesy of the Heigh-ho Corset Company), the earl and all the boys trooped out to have a look. And they found—they found—they FOUND the headguard EMPTY!

Ah, heartless destiny that thus fills the hearts of men with glorious dreams and lofty visions only, on the hour of their fulfillment, to dash their dazzling ramparts to the dust! Ah cruel Fate, that—ah—that—aw, NUTS! Fate, you big stiff!

And so it was that L. Dashingham Cortleigh, ninth earl of Clumpbo, introduced pineapple trapping to the Western Hemisphere. What a break, what a break for every one of us!

CURTAIN SPEECH

'Tve poems which the perceptive reader—and surely we're not presumptuous in claiming a reader?—will find this week sparkling like precious stones against the drab background of our well-meaning efforts to be sprightly, are by way of being an experiment, and were contributed, at our solicitation, by several students with no other immediate outlet for their gifts than this column. If, upon their publication, there is a general advance upon this department with rope and fagot, no more such opera will herein be printed. If on the other hand, they are received with an intelligence worthy of the college's standing, there is strong likelihood of the establishment, when this periodical has made its inevitable gain in stature, of a permanent poetry column. The ubiquitous author of these notes will readily be able to sense the reception.

Poems may be given to any member of the staff until further notice. Those we had not room for this week will be forthcoming in our next issue, if the attitude of readers warrants it. We really think it will, despite the almost certain adverse mutterings of those mental pygmies who could claid a relatively major intellectual triumph upon their comprehension and appreciation of a rhymed couplet.

These first efforts are in a more melancholic and allegorical vein than those we hope to find submitted later on, but we not unenviously believe they point to the existence of a definite talent in the college.

—Poindexter Cortleigh.

BERCEUSE

Here grasses spring black from the seed of folorn despair,
 And long, low bells surge deep in the sightless air,
 In the aqueous air, in the air soft drenched with blue;
 And a far, dead moon swings faint and wide
 O'er the glittering crawl of a windless tide,
 And dark poppies gleam with the pearls of a noxious dew.

—W. N. J.

NOCTURNE

Stars above forest on a hill
 And the deep windows of a low house,
 And silence.

And darkness there but for strange flames
 On that hearth,
 Flickering
 On the white face of the thing lying dead.

M. S. G. A.

The Men's Student Government Association wishes to extend a hearty welcome to new students entering the college. It is with a great deal of pride that we look back on our accomplishments in all lines of endeavor, during the school's most critical period. It is hoped that you will help us to expand and make Norfolk proud of this institution.

The Men's Student Government Association of the Norfolk Division, College of William & Mary, was organized in October and since that time has made wide strides in bettering conditions in and around the school.

The Constitution was adopted from that of the Men's Student Government Association at William and Mary College in Williamsburg. Seven men were selected from our student body to approve those phases of the Constitution which fitted in with the Norfolk Division. This Constitution was submitted to the Men's Student Body and was adopted.

The government committees are divided into two distinct bodies. The first, the Executive Committee, is composed of three members; the President, the Vice-President, and Secretary-Treasurer. This committee is at the head of the business part of the organization. The second committee, which is the Honor Committee, is composed of five members, the Chairman, Secretary and three members at large. This committee deals with all cases involving the honor system and violation of its rules. It is with much pride that we look on our honor system, as no one has been dismissed from school for breach of honor this year.

The Men's Student Government Association meets whenever there is business to be transacted. A $7.50 athletic fee and other constructive measures have been passed by them. Plans for fixing up the men's social room are moving rapidly, and from all indications, it looks as though this will be a big help from a social point of view.

Executive Committee—President Dave Nesson; Vice-President, Wilson Chandler; Secretary-Treasurer, Sam Phillips.

Honor Council—Chairman, William Gore; Secretary, Jeter Kaufman.

Members - at - Large: Templin Licklider, Francis Morrisette, Truman Baxter.

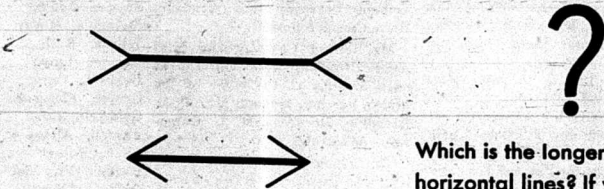

It is generally reported that education pays, but the professors say not much.

MEN'S STUDENT GOVERNMENT MEETS

The Men's Student Body had a very snappy meeting on Wednesday, January 13th. The important subject up for discussion was our vote for basketball manager. The two candidates were Ed Hall and Kenneth Taylor. Mr. Taylor received our support by almost unanimous vote.

The other topics taken up were furnishing the men's lounging room in the basement and whether or not the monogram members should be eliminated from paying athletic fee. As our status on this question was not exactly clear, it was referred to a committee of David Nesson and Bill Rosenfelt to see Mr. Timmerman and get our standing on this question.

David Nesson also appointed a committee to equip the lounge room. The committee is composed of Templin Licklider, Edward Cohn and Fred Stewart. Anything to help furnish this room will be appreciated. The men will take anything just tell us. Old victrola, radio, sofa, etc., anything.

DR. PATE TO TAKE PROF. STUBBS' PLACE

In February with the beginning of the new term, Dr. James Ernest Pate will be instructor of government at this college.

He received his B. A. from Louisiana College in 1916; his M. A. from Wake Forest College in 1917; Ph. D., from Johns Hopkins University in 1926. For two years he was instructor in political science at the University of Texas, and since 1927 he has been Assistant Professor of Government at the College of William and Mary.

Mr. T. J. Stubbs, Jr., Associate Professor of History at the College of William and Mary, who was scheduled to fill this position which Dr. Pate will hold, was unable to do so on account of illness.

TO THE WOMEN STUDENTS—NEW AND OLD

When one enrolls as a student at the College of William and Mary, he is more directly than ever before a member of a democratic government. More directly, I say, because he has a voice in the control of student conduct, activity and legislation. He has a chance to profit by the noble examples of his equally noble predecessors and to learn from the honorable traditions of our ancient institution.

Our division of the College of William and Mary is not ancient, for, in reality, it is still in its infancy—its first year of existence. Nevertheless, we feel the tie that binds us to the Mater in Williamsburg and we have learned to love and honor its priorities and inspiring ideals. The Women's Student Government Association is here to help your college and to realize that "the intelligent love of a student for a college is one of the most enlarging experiences of life."

To the Women's Student Government Association is entrusted the enforcement of rules made by the authorities of the institution and the association of rules made by the authorities of the institution and the association at large. The duties fall under three councils, namely: the Executive, Judicial and the Honor Councils. Of the three, the latter is the most important and most highly respected. Among the priorities of the college one finds the installation of the Honor System, 1930. This system may well be explained in a few words—"At the College of William and Mary in Virginia, there is no place for the liar, the thief, or the cheat." The Council of the Women's Student Government Association may ask the withdrawal of any woman student from college for due cause.

A word must be said here for the present women students. You are to be congratulated. With the exception of a slight misunderstanding on the part of the Freshman class, there has been no cause to note any, but sincere, conduct, and the Honor Council has not been called into use.

To you I wish to say, "Keep up your good work; your president and your director appreciate it." While to the new students I point to you as a worthy example and add the greetings of the Executive Council.

LOTA J. SPENCE,
President Women's Student Government Association.

gether as one. The green, gold and silver of the school will mingle with the colors of the various societies.

This will be an excellent occasion for the student body to become better acquainted with each other, and with the members of the faculty. The new students will have entered and are expected to enter into the social rounds of the school as well. The proceeds of the seventy-five cents (per couple) admission will be used in the "better acquainted" campaign that the women students plan to sponsor during the next semester.

A REPORTER'S AMBITION

The ambition of every newspaper man is to be able some day to write what he thinks about certain people. It remained for the editorialist of the Fountain Inn (S.C.) Tribune to enjoy that privilege. His editorial follows:

Mr. Robert Chetway and Miss Alice Broadkin were married at noon Monday at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Broadkin, Reverend M. L. Gassoway, officiating.

The groom is a popular young man who hasn't done a lick of work since he got shipped in the middle of his junior year at college. He manages to dress well and keep a supply of money because his dad is a soft-hearted old fool who takes up his bad checks instead of letting him go to jail where he belongs.

The bride is a skinny, fat little idiot who has been kissed by every boy in town, since she, like a Sioux Indian, sucks cigarettes in secret and drinks mean corn liquor when she is out joy riding in her dad's car at night. She doesn't know how to cook, sew or keep house.

The house was newly plastered for the wedding and the exterior newly painted, thus appropriately carrying out the decorative scheme, for the groom was newly plastered also, and the bride newly painted.

The young people will make their home with the bride's parents—which means they will sponge on the old man until he dies and then she will take in washing.

POSTSCRIPT: This may be the last issue of the Tribune, but my life ambition has been to write up one wedding and tell the unvarnished truth. Now that it is done, death can have no sting.

DRAMATIC CLUB

The officers of the Dramatic Club are:

President, Templin Licklider; Vice-President, Rosa Holmes; Secretary, Ruth Wilson; Treasurer, Sonny Gore.

This is one of the most interesting clubs which has been formed. It is organized for dramatic interests. Plans are being thought of for a play to be presented sometime in March.

SIGMA EPSILON PI

President, Albert D. Alexander; Vice-President, Julius Snyder; Secretary, Stanley L. Kahn; Treasurer, Albert D. Wilson, Jr.; Committee on Membership and Standing, Land Mott, Chairman; Fred Hill; Edward D. Cohn; Sergeant-at-Arms, Wm. Waldman.

This is an honorary scientific society and promises to be an outstanding club.

ORCHESTRA

The "High Hatters" is the orchestra formed at this Division of the College of William and Mary. Regardless of its few months of practice, it is a well-rounded group and a worthy representative of so young a College. Jimmy Carter, who succeeded Albert Alexander as leader, is now in charge and the orchestra promises to continue with its peppy music.

TRIK

This club, formed by a group of girls, has twenty-two members. During the Christmas holidays the girls entertained at a theatre party. Last Friday they gave a card party in the auditorium. They have as their sponsor Miss Sarah Redwine. The officers are, President, Florence Grover; Secretary, Hulda Dimmitt; Treasurer, Cary Baldwin. The other members are: Virginia Bell, Ada Brangan, Lucy Chappelle, Lynda Cromwell, Delma Dixon, Althea Farrell, Myra Hough, Frances Knapp, Mary Lawrence, Helen Lukens, Virginia Malbon, Vivian Parker, Mildred Signalgo, Frances Smith, Mary Turner, Ruth Wilson, Marion Wolfe, Ruby McCloud and Margaret Jackson.

Doctor: "Did you open both windows in your room as I told you?"

Patient: "No, sir, there is only one window, so I opened it twice."

"Stanley, come quickly. There's a man up to his ankles in mud."

"That's all right. Tell him to walk out of it."

"He can't, Stanley. He's upside down."

Eddie: "So you decided not to get the new car you were talking about?"

Elmer: "Oh, somebody else held the lucky ticket."

GIRLS' LOUNGING ROOM

Before Christmas the Women students of the Norfolk Division of the College of William and Mary began to plan a lounging room in the college building. Mr. Timmerman gave the room which was used at one time as the Tanner's Creek Branch of the public library. Committees were appointed to work out plans and decorations for the room. School colors are to be carried out.

Green paint has been bought for the furniture, cream paint for the walls, and grey for the floor. The rug committee has bought two large carpets and two bright rag rugs for the floor. A floor lamp is also going to be bought.

People have been very liberal in donating furniture for furnishing the room. Two lounges have been given, a piano, a big table, a portable victrola, and two gas stoves. College pennants have been ordered for the walls and curtains are being planned for the windows. Heat for the room is being installed now. The lounging room will be finished by February and promises to be a bright spot in the college.

THE MONOGRAM CLUB

The members are: Terry Maxey, Sam Phillips, Jeter C. Kaufmann, Foy Vann, Bill Abbrams, Jack Hawkins, Junie Wilson, Billy Walker, Bill Eames, Gorham Parks, Dean Preston, Alex Segal, Bill Ottley, Harry Hamburger, Kenny Odell, Francis Morrisette.

DO YOU KNOW THAT—

"Tom Sawyer," Jackie Coogan—great comeback, is making a tremendous hit, whenever it's being shown, financially speaking?

John Barrymore is being featured in "Svengali," an adaptation of "Tribby," the famous English novel?

"Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," is being remade for the talkies by none other than John Barrymore?

Movieland is trying something for a change, this is to be a year of horror? Oh, just in the 'flickers.'

"Dracula" will be out some time soon, featuring a foreign star?

"Sad-Eyed" Zasu Pitts is now doomed to play comedy parts exclusively? She was cast in the part of the mother, in "All Quiet on the Western Front," but it was so funny it had to be retaken with Beryl Mercer in the above mentioned role.

Adolph Menjou has returned to the English-speaking screen after a lengthy contract in France.

Richard Cromwell, now starring in "Tol'able David," is a high school boy of twenty?

The William and Mary College, Norfolk Division, dance orchestra is still in existence and will resume practices on completion of exams? The boys must study.

"Now, Jimmy, what happened when the cow jumped over the moon?"

"Somebody got an idea for vanishing cream."

FOOTBALL MEN HONORED

of the morning, Mr. Edward N. Smith, Headmaster of Norfolk Academy, in a stirring talk paid tribute to the virtues of the loyal scrub. He pictured vividly the impossibility of success for any team without the hard work and unswerving loyalty of those individuals whose names never reach the public.

The College had as its guests besides Mr. Smith, Mr. L. F. Games, Assistant - Principal of Maury High School, Lou Northrop, and Tom Hanes, Sports Editor of the Ledger-Dispatch.

Those receiving their numerals were: 1934, Wilson, Vann; 1933, Parks, Preston, Kaufman, Segal, Hamburger, Phillips, Maxey, Abrams, Hawkins, Otley, Odell and Morrisette, Manager.

W. & M. BRAVES VICTORIOUS, 35-25

In a speedy and sensational game Friday night on the floor of the Blair Junior High court, the Norfolk Division of the College of William and Mary defeated the Blackstone Military Academy, 35 to 25. A crowd that taxed the spectator facilities of the gym witnessed the basketball game.

While the visiting prep school quint furnished the top scorer of the evening in Guard Koedle, who registered 16 points, the all-round basket tossing of the Braves, led by Center Phillips with 12 points, counted for the victory. Tonelson, with 7, and Nesson and Hamburger, each with 6 points, proved a sufficient support to the shooting of Phillips, to score the victory.

The game was characterized by the closest kind of guarding, and as a result Blackstone boosted their total score by pocketing seven of their free throws. The Braves made but three of their foul shots.

GYM IS SECURED FOR WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

Great spirit and enthusiasm was demonstrated when a large number of young hopefuls reported to Coach Mary O. Parker last Friday afternoon for tryouts for the Varsity basketball team which is being organized.

Through the courtesy of the Norfolk School Board, Mr. C. W. Mason, and Mr. H. Edgar Timmerman, the girl's gym in Blair Junior High School has been secured as a place for practice which are to be held twice a week.

Much of this same keen enthusiasm has been evident during the practices which were held during the warmer weather before Christmas on our outside courts.

A definite schedule for games will be arranged in the near future consisting of games with the Richmond Division of the College of William and Mary, and William and Mary itself.

"Were you nervous the first time you asked your husband for money?"

"No, I was calm and collected."

Jack: "Lois bought two goldfish. She paid a dollar for them."

Jean: "Huh! If that's all she paid, I'll bet they're only plated."

GOLF CLUB

Golf—that fascinating pastime of batting a large white pill around the greensward, has been added to the activities, to take up the leisure time of the college youths. They plan to practice on Mondays and Fridays. With this preparation they will enter tournaments next semester. They intend to use the Army Base or Country Club courses.

Come on out fellows! Who knows? We may find a golfer to take up Bobby Jones' crown.
