*Deceased July 8, 1895.

The First Church of Christ in Granville, Mass., was formed in 1744, as a result of the preaching of Whitefield and Jonathan Edwards, which was the means of a revival known as the Great Awakening.

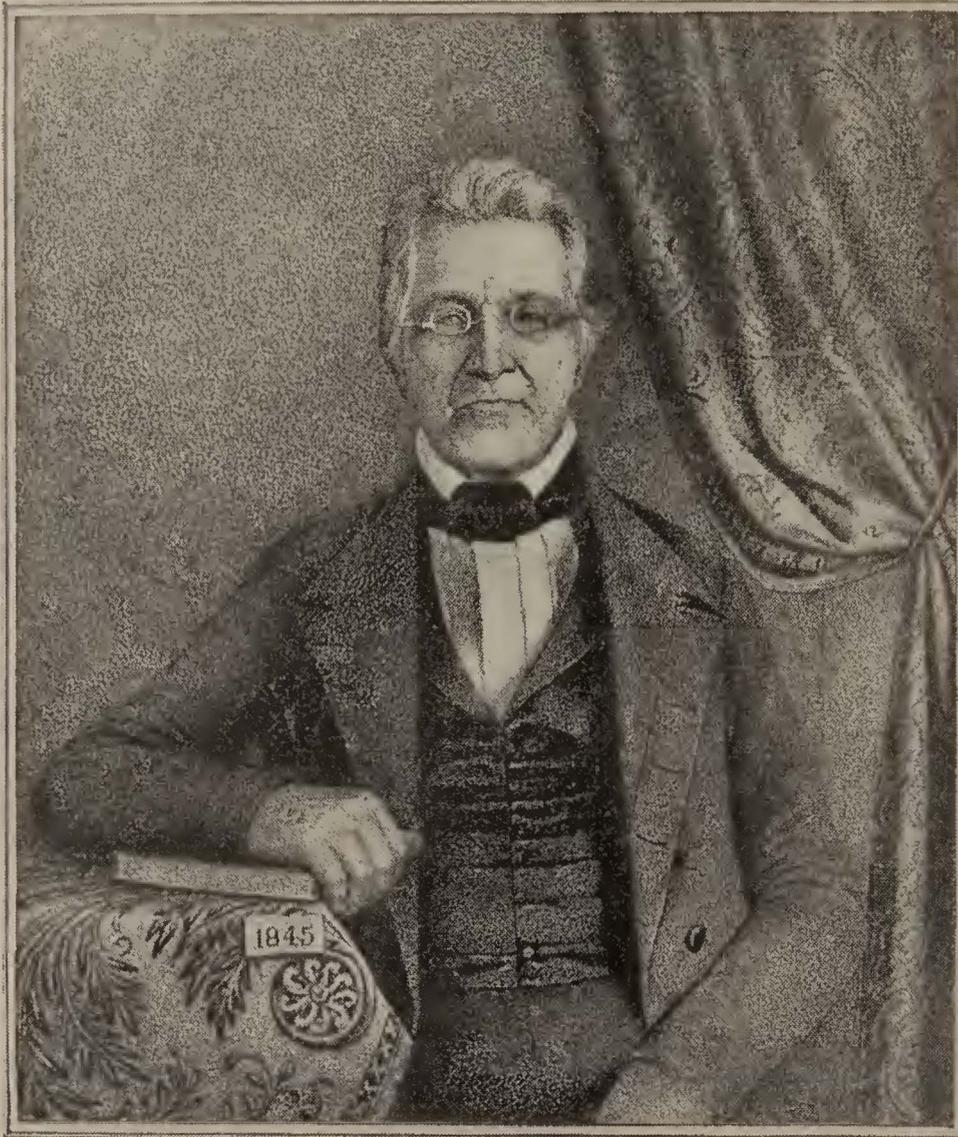

The first pastor, Rev. Moses Tuttle, was ordained and settled in 1747. The erection of the first church edifice was due in a large measure to his efforts. To accomplish this, he gave eight hundred and sixty-three pounds, old tenor,—the largest gift from one person it has ever received. The first church stood on the next hill to the west from the present site, on what is now known as the Hubbard farm.

The present church was built in 1802, and, although it has undergone some alterations, still remains. It was thoroughly repaired in 1890, Rev. Mr. Tade contributing largely from his salary, and the late Ralph S. Brown aiding materially in efforts to raise the required amount.

The last Wednesday in August, 1845, a Jubilee was held to commemorate the fiftieth year of Dr. Cooley's pastorate. There was at this time a very general return of the sons and daughters of Granville who had made homes in other parts of the country. The meeting was then adjourned to 1895. After the former Jubilee a monument was erected to commemorate the event.

Timothy M. Cooley

D. D.

Timothy Mather Cooley, D. D., son of Capt. William Cooley, was born in the north-east part of Granville, March 13th, 1772. He fitted for college under Rev. Noah Atwater of Westfield, entered Yale in 1788 and graduated in 1792; taught school one year each in New Haven and Litchfield, Conn. In October, 1794, he commenced the study of theology with Rev. Charles Backus, at Somers, Conn., and was licensed to preach in June, 1795, at Durham, Conn., by the New Haven east Association. Preached his first sermon in Granville and then went to Salisbury, Conn., where he preached four months; was called to the First Church of Christ in Granville, Nov. 15, 1795, at an annual salary of £95, and was ordained Feb. 3d, 1796. He was married to Content Chapman May 14th, 1796, and to them were born ten children. In 1803, by appointment of the Hampshire Missionary Society, he made a tour of eighteen weeks through central and northern New York, riding 1,300 miles on horseback.

He was elected a member of the school committee in 1796, and served the town in that capacity for fifty years. In 1802, he was elected a trustee of the Westfield Academy; in 1812, a trustee, and in 1846, Vice-president of Williams College. In addition to his other duties, Dr. Cooley conducted a private school, instructing over eight hundred pupils, also assisted sixty young men in their studies for the ministry. He received the degree of D. D. from Hamilton College in 1831.

He died in Granville, Dec. 14th, 1859, aged 87, having served this church as pastor for more than sixty-three years.

House in which Rev. Timothy Mather Cooley, D. D. lived at the time of his death ; built by him about 1815 and still standing.

Hon. James Cooley, brother of Dr. Cooley, and his wife, formerly Miss Almira Parsons, for many years made this house their home. In disposition, equally public spirited but less grave than his brother, he filled a place in the history of the town, as lawyer and post-master, that will long be remembered. The two brothers always worked together in every good cause. His descendants are interested in the manufacture of drums, which industry has been the means of sustaining to a great extent the prestige of the town.

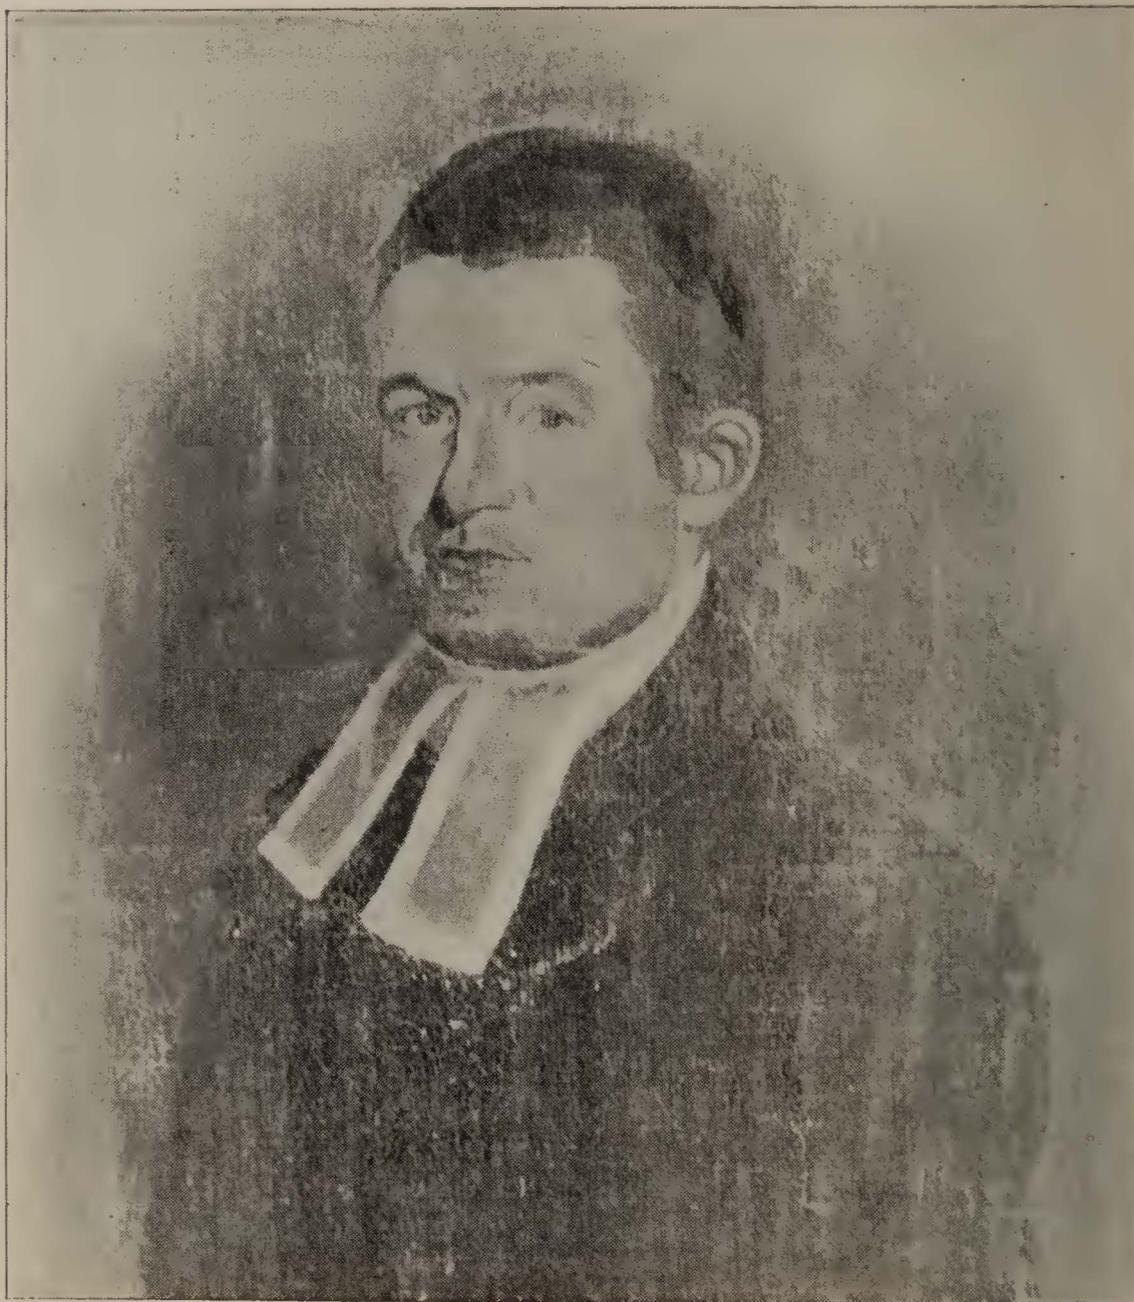

In this location settled Samuel Bancroft and his young wife, Sarah White, in the year 1735. It was as great an undertaking to settle in this then unknown wilderness and required as much courage as it would in the present day to settle in the wilds of Africa. Three generations lived on this spot and from them are descended many eminent men.

This house was built by Jesse Spelman soon after the close of the war of 1812. The emigrants to Granville, Ohio, met and formed their procession near this house. It is still standing and is owned and occupied by Dea. James W. Johnson.

This house was built in the early part of this century by Col. Israel Parsons; and has for many years been the home of Mr. Elijah Seymour and family.

HON. OLIVER PHELPS.

Col. Jacob Bates and Hon. Oliver Phelps were the two most noted citizens of Granville during the Revolutionary period. Col. Bates was the trusted friend of Washington and crossed the Delaware river with him on the famous night before the battle of Princeton.

Hon. Oliver Phelps, although he lived in Granville the greater part of his life, is far better known in the new home to which he emigrated in 1802. We copy the inscription from his tombstone in Canandaigua:—

“This is erected to the memory of the Hon. Oliver Phelps, Esq., who died 21st of Feb., 1809, in the 60th year of his age. He was born in the town of Windsor, in the State of Connecticut, and at the age of 7 years, he removed to Suffield. And at the age of 22 years he removed from thence to Granville, in the State of Massachusetts, where he was honored with many important trusts under the government of that commonwealth. At the commencement of the revolutionary war, he took an active part in the defence of his country, and in various offices and relations, remained with the American Army until Great Britain was compelled to acknowledge the independence of the United States. On the 1st of April, 1788, the deceased, in company with the Hon. Nathaniel Gorham, Esq., purchased of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, its pre-emptive right to the lands now comprised in the counties of Ontario, Steuben, Genesee, Niagara, Cattaraugus, Chatauque and Allegany. In July of the same year he extinguished the Indian title in that part of it comprehended in the counties of Ontario and Steuben, and immediately thereafter opened the settlement of the country which has been generally known by the appellation of the Genesee Country. In March, 1802, he removed with his family to this place, where he resided till his death. He was appointed the first Judge of the County of Ontario, and elected a representative in Congress for the district. —Enterprise, Industry, and Temperance, cannot always ensure success, but the fruit of these virtues will be felt by society.”

REV. DAVID B. COE, D. D.

David Benton Coe was born in Granville, Mass., August 16th, 1814; was graduated from Yale College in 1837, among the first in a class numbering Hon. William M. Evarts, Judges Morrison R. Waite, Edwards Pierpont and John P. Putnam, Dr Andrew L. Stone, Profs. C. L. Lyman, B. N. Martin, and others who attained to distinguished eminence.

He was tutor in Greek at Yale in 1839-40; was pastor in Milford, Conn., for four years; in New York city (the Allen street church) for about five years; was District Secretary of the American Home Missionary Society, in which office—for these latest years as Honorary Secretary—he continued until his death at his home in Bloomfield, N. J., February 13th, 1895.

Dr. Coe was the son of Deacon Oliver Coe, one of the first settlers of this town and among the first deacons of this church. Dr. Coe preached the sermon on the afternoon of the day of former Jubilee.
