*"At Lover's perjuries,
They say, Love laughs."*

With flickering lights, soft music, and voluptuous dancing, a beautiful maid tempts "Chinny" with a bouquet—and, lo, he spurns her! He is one of the classic figures of Danville. Valiant in war, love, studies, and pool. Was ever such a Lochinvar as Chenault? He is very popular in all circles. Carrol is a good man and a delight to both instructors and students (all Centre men included in this). When "Chenorse" leaves Danville, K. C. W. will undoubtedly hasten to hang out crepe de chenny.

"Let us have wine, women and laughter; Sermons and soda-water the day after."

"Skeet" is one of our best-loved Texas steers. He is an athlete of many attainments and a gentleman with many friends. With which we refuse to disclose his love affairs. "Long Goody" has had almost as many struggles with the deadlies of the species as with the faculty, but he has emerged victor in all of his many hotly-contested encounters. May he flourish as the green bay-tree of the Sultan's Harem! Come back to Centre, "Skeet," and when you get those Texas blues just remember that "the moonshine's still in the old Kentucky home." Pull up!

"I now begin to perceive that I am made an ass."

Milton wants to be a medical missionary, but we ask frankly, "Can any good come out of Indiana?" However, he will possibly escape pot-luck among the heathen, as the natives have no relish for monkey meat. The best thing Milton ever did was to impersonate Dr. John Willie Redd in the minstrel, and the worst thing he ever did was to put the "bull" in Durham. For loud costumes and fragrant handkerchiefs, he reminds us of one Charles A. Browning, lately unlamented. "Bull" is a good sport, a terror to the faculty, and a source of many guffaws to the world in general.

Truly Bill believes the way to a man's heart lies through his stomach. Shear's boarding house was the only place that Bill really loved to go. Why? Oh, just because! *"Get money, still get money, boy;
No matter by what means."*

After the long list of Joplin's attainments, we hesitate to make any comments. Like the Yiddish bumble-bee, we can only murmur, "Business, business." He is in every enterprise known, from safe-breaking to breaking hearts. This latter habit he acquired in England, and is now practicing it with military tactics in Kentucky. "Jop" makes more money than the mints coin, but rolls of bills and jelly rolls are hard to keep, ain't it so? "Jop" is one of the most gifted, energetic, and popular men in school. To know him is to admire him. In future life he will undoubtedly be a "printer's devil." Oh, Jawdige!"

Dr. Redd's little "bumptious bantam." Shades of immortal Oedipus! Here is Bullitt, the Greek Lit. shark, shop perfect vamp, and the boy with the roaming nose.
Last year he had to take off his aviation uniform and don his "cits" to keep the girls away. We predict a brilliant future for Bullitt, although his name is hard, and against him, but "What's in a name," any way? "Hugh" is very clever, having written the one-act "take-off" that was given

*"Of making books there is no end,
And much study is a weariness of the

This is the first year that Wright has been with the Class of '20, as his two years of service have kept him out of college. We now detect him by our sense of smell—he works long, long hours in the chemical laboratories. For hydrogen-sulphide and a queer mixture of test-tubes, he almost rivals our esteemed fellow, Vogel. Wright intends to study medicine at Johns Hopkins and will probably some day become a combination doctor and undertaker. May he never practice on us! We're afraid of these naval apprentices. Au revoir!

"How you gonna keep 'em down on the farm?"

Let us state at once that though "Navy" comes from the "country," he has rapidly risen. He now spends most of his time in Louisville. You see the stock yards are there, and, oh, yes, other things. Allen is one of the most versatile men in college and shines in the classroom as well as the gymnasium. He is probably the best basketball forward in the South. After the years flit by, Davis intends to be a mechanical engineer, and incidentally, a Benedict. He is a perfect model for Alger's "From the Farm to the White House." Allen is a clean, straight, popular bachelor of many arts. May he cause the pigen to blossom as the rose!

*"Night after night

"Tweet! Tweet!" The song of "Birdie"; the dance of the atoms! "Birdie is undoubtedly the chief "roue" of the Senior Class. He not only dissipates in every form, but he also snucks over to the laboratory and distills his own alcohol. The faculty have given Vogel up, and public prayers are to be offered in chapel to bring about his reformation. A hard, hard case! "Birdie" is a wizard in Chemistry. He spends all his leisure hours inventing evil-smelling chemicals and drinking sulphuric acid cocktails. Whenever Vogel is seen out at night a general holiday is decreed the school and the town booby-hatch gets busy. "Oh, Birdie, shake the H₂S for me!"

"With grave aspect he rose, and in his rising seemed a pillar of slate."

"Van" is dignity itself and pomposity personified, with which we forgive him and ourselves. It is probably not his fault; let Biology and Nature take the blame. Van drinks heavily—Coca-Cola, and was once seen at a dance almost as late as 10 P. M. Some think that he first practiced football in the ballroom, and developed the "Camel Walk" from an off-tackle buck. For energy, dependability, and capable endeavor, Howard is a genius and a rare jewel. He is our Valedictorian, brilliant, executive, and chief grind. Some are born great; some achieve greatness; and some have Van Antwerp thrust upon them. Van is one of the most versatile and intellectual men in Centre, and we know that he will be a great success in the broad world of men and events.

"Other men have acquired fame by industry, but this one by indolence."

"Sam" is our Duke—our flaming-haired Duke of "Heels." If you have anything you cherish, be it a cigarette or eleven cents, hide and guard it carefully or Cheek will relieve you of it. Since he is closely related to the faculty, Sam is an expert in dodging work and riding "crips." As an actor, he has acquired a notorious reputation both on and off the stage. Sam once attempted to flicker around K. C. W., but his rival soon burrowed him out of luck. Sammy is very talented, and oh, so temperamental! May we meet often, Sam, when our college days go by!

*"Whence is thy learning? Hath thy toil

Bruener was in the artillery, not aviation, but like a certain well-known wingless specimen, "he gets there just the same." Arthur is very quiet and rather shy, but he is an all-around man in both athletics and studies. He is very conscientious, and is often the only Senior present at chapel. Bruener wishes to become an expert accountant, but we fear that he sadly neglects the chance to study figures at the corner of Third and Main.

"A college joke to cure the dumps."

"Have you a little fairy in your home?" If so, thank heaven and keep Dick Stout outside your back fence. By careful nursing and gentle spanking, we have weaned Dick away from the milk bottle and transplanted him into Centre's most distinguished Class of 1920. What place he deserves there is hard to state, unless it be a combination of mascot and class jester. The most severe "roast" we can give Dick is the note that he handed the Annual staff, "Print under my name that I am a good-looking boy." As his picture is here, Dick probably meant this for an apology. Dick imitates his namesake, Richard III, and his battle-cry is, "A pony, a pony! My picture show for a pony!" Gossip says that he once led the Rounde Table astray with "Gwenevere." Oh, la! la!

"The almighty dollar, that great object of universal devotion throughout our land."

Burwell believes firmly in the motto on a dime, "In God we trust." (He scarcely ever trusts any one else with a dime.) However, as the young lad plans to become a financier, we think he does wisely, and sits tight. He once tried to put the English Department under "Marshall" law, but failing in this, he returned to Greek and billiards, and ceased work. Burwell is rectitude itself, though scandal has of late whispered that he is somewhat of a "Rue-a." Garner in the shekels, Marshall, and may you lend us thirty cents in our future time of need!

Just picture to yourself a man who can cuss in five different languages! Arch has traveled in many places, and has finally come to roost at Centre, where he divides his time between Professors Maninni and Meier. The only language he has still to master is African. Arch is one of the best students we have ever welcomed within our classic halls, and we regret that he has only been with us two years. He intends to go to Texas and teach school, and we will just bet a pretzel that he discovers many, many strange things.

*"Satire does not look pretty on a

"The lessons for today are founded in the seventh chapter"—but here we have the Rev. Dr. Stephen Gilbert! "Steve" is conscientious, hard-working, and persevering. It is rumored that he once attempted to corrupt the Y. M. C. A. Cabinet with Big Six gin, but this has been proven false, as Steve comes from the "mountings" and only drinks "moonshine." (He has a noted aversion for water in any form—hot or cold!) Some day Steve will undoubtedly become the original Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come-seven, and much of the scandal of "Breck." Hall owes its origin to his wild habits. It is whispered that he soon will be married—and tamed. Best o' luck!

Senior Class History

IT WAS a momentous day in the fall of 1916 for perhaps fifty unsophisticated youths when the campus bars of Old Centre were let down for them. From September 20, when the college opened, these new-born Freshmen were very much in evidence. Most of us were somewhat shy, but there were some who wore a very blase air. This impression was, however, later suppressed by popular method.

After registering under our champion and protector, Dr. Crooks, and paying our respects to the treasurer, we of the Primary Class set out to learn the ropes. One of the first necessary duties was to buy a campus ticket which entitled the holder to all the privileges of the campus. Also to the vocal concerts at Breck Hall.

It was not long before the hospitable Sophomores invited the new men to an "informal" reception. Each Freshman was given a place on the program. This consisted mainly in rolling peanuts down Main Street, delivering prohibition and suffrage speeches, singing and dancing at Stout's, and otherwise amusing the spectators. From Main Street we were escorted to K. C. W., where, before a whole bevy of girls, our best musical and literary arts were displayed. The last act of the evening was a comedy entitled "Running the Gauntlet," with the Freshies as star performers.

In February of 1917, the chance that all of us had been longingly waiting for came. This was the annual flag-rush. At this time all of the scores were evened up. The rush was an all-night affair, lasting until the dawn peeped over the horizon. What a scene! with all of the Sophomores neatly tied up and our flag floating gaily in the breeze.

It is needless to say that during our first year the Class of '20 set a pace which has been kept up ever since. It may be mentioned that Centre's present athletic standing was established in 1916. From Texas that year came such men as Bell, Mathias, and "Rube" McMillan, forming the vanguard for others from the Lone Star State. Also Davis, Hackley, and Tom Moran made their football debut that season. Not only in athletics, but also in social activities as well, we took no little part.

Our second year was passed very peacefully, although during the latter half many rumors were heard that men were going to leave pell-mell for service with Uncle Sam. However, the majority of the students remained to finish the school term. Then during the following summer reports were gotten out that an S. A. T. C. was to be formed at Centre on a full military basis.

When the new and old students matriculated in September, 1918, the reports were confirmed by the appearance of commissioned officers, and things assumed a military aspect. In October, all of the eligible men were inducted into service and we became full-fledged "rookies." Here class prestige was forgotten and Freshmen and Seniors were treated alike. The S. A. T. C. lasted a little over two months, just long enough to get a good taste of military life. When the men were discharged in December, some of them left for good, but the most of us were determined to return and further our college training. However, it was not until the second semester that Old Centre really took on a college aspect and regular schedules again maintained. We may justly say that the feature of the year was the carnival held in June. At this time Old Centre celebrated her one hundredth anniversary, and alumnae attended from all parts of the country.

This, our Senior year, opened with an enrollment that is the largest in the history of the college, with the exception of the S. A. T. C. portion of last year. We are all proud of Old Centre's rise in the athletic world, and none more than we of the Class of '20. When our college days are over and we lay aside cap and gown, we may look back with a feeling that our work was not in vain.

Junior Class History

Motto: "They're All Sweeties"

Song: "Love's Old Sweet Song"

Flower: Red Rose

THE Class of '21 doesn't need much of an introduction; it speaks for itself. Two All-American football men, vamps, scholars, every type you can name, and each the very best in his own line. These are the Juniors. We are not egotistic, but we are sincerely proud of the Class of '21 and what it has achieved. Twenty-one—the numerals themselves suggest great things! Marriage, voting, etc., and in the future years we shall look back with delight on the days when we were '21.

The classic halls of Old Centre and all of the traditions dear to the heart of every loyal Centre man have all blended into a perfect Kentucky dream, which will ever leave its lasting impression upon each Junior.

When the call to arms came, practically the entire college responded, and to a man, the entire Junior Class was in some branch of the service. The laurels won have been worn gracefully and in a manner befitting a class which is a part of such a college as Centre.

Would you win some beloved damozel at K. C. W.? Then consult our own Cleopatra—Judy Walden.

If you aspire to become a Cicero, see J. Y. Brown, the Spanish athlete from Sturgis.

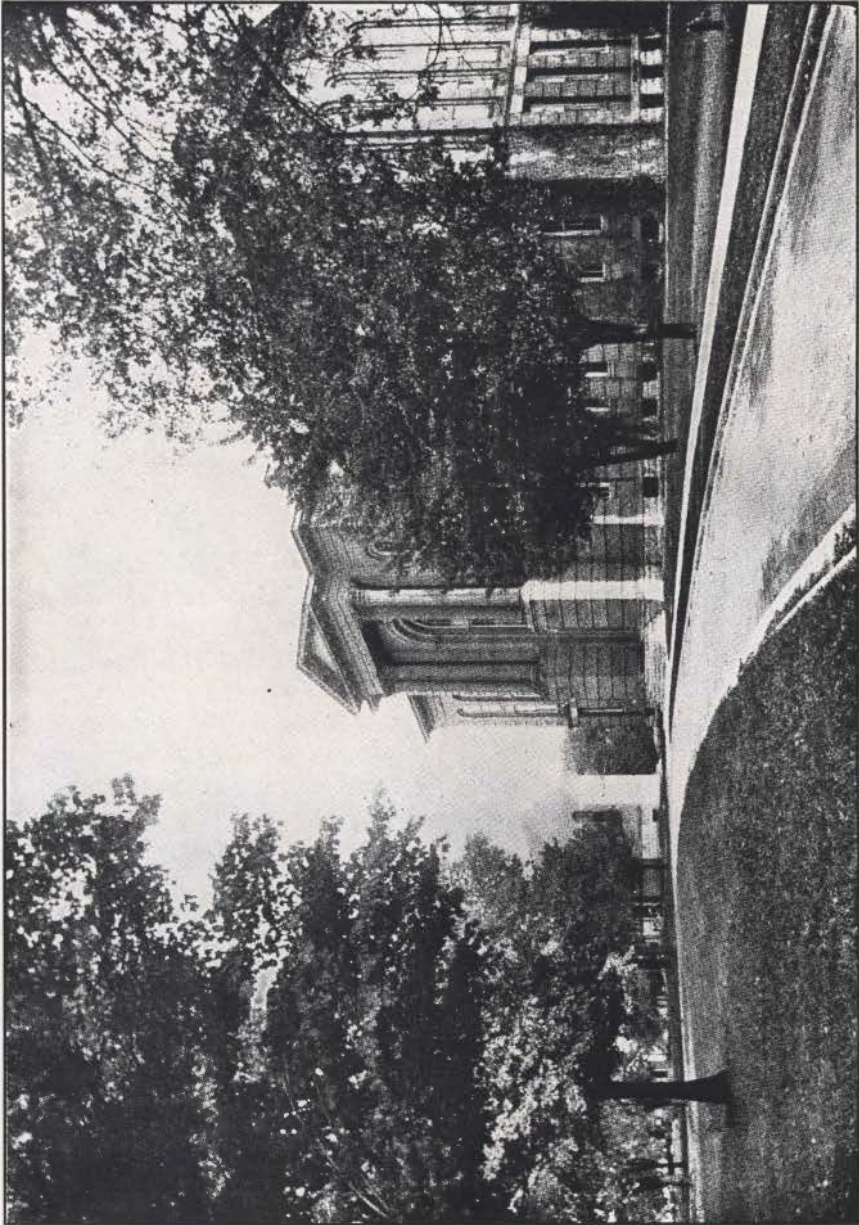

Julian Eltynge hasn't a thing on "Slats" Randall as a beautiful member of the fair sex, and so on until an entire list of "Who's Who and Why" could be completed. Modestly, we briefly pass over the fact that in inter-class track meets, baseball games, and the like, the lucky star has always been in the ascendancy for the Juniors. The faculty of our sister college has seriously considered presenting the Juniors with a loving cup. The majority of the student body there also believe that the Class of '21 deserves such a token.

Our own good Dean is convinced that perhaps fair Olympus has sent some of its godlike beings to Centre in the reincarnated forms of Juniors. So through the golden days and the grey yet to be, we shall ever hold Old Centre's vision bright.

"It's easy enough to be cheerful
When your pocketbook is full,
But the man who'll win
Is the man who can grin
When he has to depend on his—personality."

Sophomore Class History

DEAR BILL:

Of course you know that football at Centre in 1918 would have passed over the river and rested under the shade of the lilies, if this Class of '22, of which I am a charter member, hadn't functioned properly. We were Freshmen then, and for a while our class song had the same tune as "Home, Sweet Home." We got even with the Sophs in the flag rush, and what's funny, they hid the flag in a tree and wanted to claim the rush because we didn't find it. Wouldn't that stagger you?

This year we treated the Freshmen in all the prescribed ways, but like the old lady who had to be led by the auto while her spirited horse took a nap, the boys didn't squawk as much as the outsiders. It's ancient history that Centre led the world in football last fall, including Europe, Africa, and the Canary Islands. Well, we landed about eight men on the varsity, and a bird named Walter Camp even went so far as to give one of our red-headed Sophomores a berth on one of his All-American teams.

Bill, I must tell you about the flag rush, which is the big occasion. There are about fifty-three of us, and we were 100% present. After a few casualties early in the evening, we assembled and advanced on K. C. W. where the enemy was encamped. Bill, that was some scrap, but for the first time on record, we have 'em actually out-classed. We had to tie each man up eight times, thanks to the upper classmen. We then went to "Breck," hoisted the flag on the pole, and stuck around until morning. A naughty Freshman climbed the pole about 5:30 and pulled down our flag, but a few of the boys remonstrated with him gently but firmly. At six bells the flag was O. K. of course. It was a hard night, Bill, but in the words of the "hick" newspaper, "A pleasant time was had by all." Write me the news.

Sincerely,

T. A. SANFORD, Historian '22.

Freshman Class History

EARLY in September, 1919, a varied group of high school graduates collected on Old Centre's campus and started again as Freshmen. There was about one hundred of them to whom Old Centre extended a hearty welcome as she started the first year in the second century of her existence. The Sophs gave us a week to get acquainted, after which certain rules were published by which the actions of the Class of '23 were governed. Just a few nights later, these same Freshmen were called upon to perform certain unheard-of tricks and capers, assisted by large paddles in the hands of Sophomores. The eventful night ended with the running of the historic gauntlet by the Freshies. Were their feelings the only things that were hurt? Oh, no!

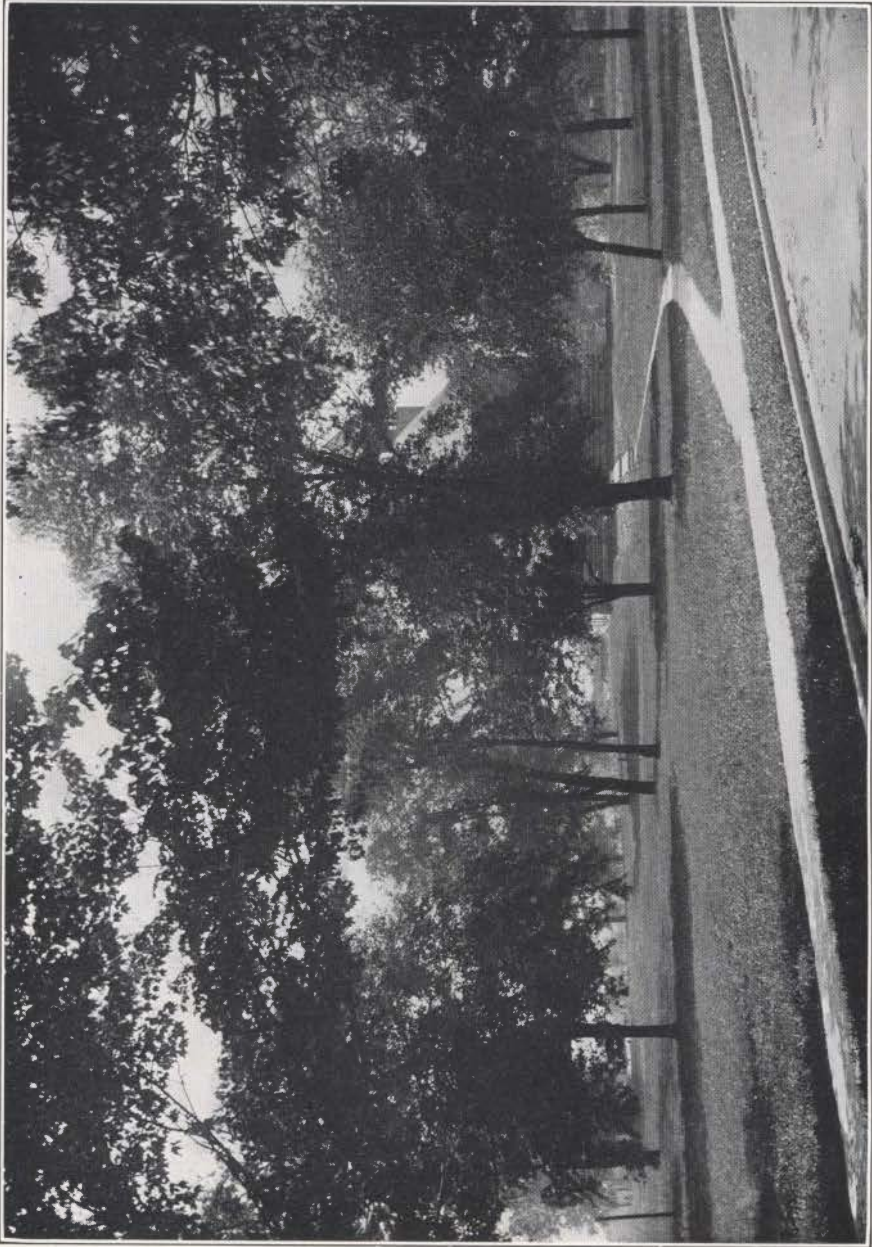

The athletic teams of the school have been strengthened by the Freshmen. Football, basketball, and baseball have seen this. In the literary circles especially the Freshman Class has shown that it is not altogether brainless.

The flag rush this year, due to lack of organization, was won by the Sophomores. But we put up a good fight and came very near winning.

We, the members of the Class of '23, are proud that we have among our number men who are active participants in all branches of college life. Fate has dealt us a fair hand, and we will play the cards to the best of our ability. On the high cards we can plainly see leaders in class work, athletics, and college spirit. The time will come when we will look fondly over these cards with pride and gratification. Here's to Old Centre and the Class of '23. A great future is assured for the former, and expected from the latter.

BASKETBALL SEASON OPENS

Danville, Ky., Jan. 25.—The Maryville college sports opened a fast consistent game of basketball here tonight and pleased the Centre fans with the margin of one point. Every minute of the game was a thrilling battle with Lady Luck smiling first on the girls and white and again with her characteristic fickleness transferring her favor to the Tennessee side. In a final Maryville got the best of both. The final score was 18-16. The game was a close one from start to finish. Maryville gave a high class of what is generally known as a "starring" Maryville. The game was held at the Danville gymnasium. The crowd was estimated at 100. The game was a fast one and the girls played well. The game was a close one and the girls played well. It has been recognized by those interested that Centre for some time had needed an organization definitely in charge of dramatics and music. So in the fall of 1919 three students, S. R. Cheek, Jr., Howard VanAntwerp, Jr., and Burwell K. Marshall, constituting themselves as a committee on organization, began a movement which resulted in a permanent organization—the Sock and Buskin.

In their efforts they were ably aided and advised by Prof. Frank L. Rainey, who had acted as coach for the carnival plays and minstrels of preceding years.

The Sock and Buskin is limited to a membership of twenty-four, who are elected to membership and whose qualifications are an active interest in and proven ability along the line of dramatics.

The first production of the new organization was on April 9, 1920, when they presented two one-act plays, "The New Word," by Sir J. M. Barrien, a truly ambitious attempt, and "A Girl to Order," a college comedy. These were well received and offered much encouragement to the aspiring actors.

To the Sock and Buskin has been intrusted the future of dramatics at Centre and it is to be hoped that all its efforts to enlarge the scope and field of endeavor will be met with hearty support and sincere co-operation.

The Carnival

THE Centre College Carnival has become an institution. It has come to mean more than the mere outlet of carnival spirit and gaiety. Too many things have hallowed it. Years have silvered its giddy head with the reverence and traditions of time. Hundreds of fair pilgrims have made it their mecca. It has snapped its pretty, foolish fingers, and all have obeyed. Whether one thinks of it in retrospect or in anticipation, makes little difference. Sweet and fond memories but form the basis for expectation and anticipation. Who is there whose heart does not quicken its beat at the remembrance of those wonderful times?

A shifting expanse of carnival, gay gowns and rainbow costume, kaleidoscopic in swift dash of color; music that melts into the dancer's soul; eyes that pass with naughty challenge of flashing smile; eyes—grey, brown, blue—and all happy; a thousand voices eagerly piping inanities; dances and dinners and dream-laden nights; taxis and flowers; shady nooks and stolen kisses; soft fragrance of summer nights; myriad whisperings of gossiping breezes; speeding over the gleaming ribbon of open road, until one wishes to drive on and on—humming the drowsy lullaby of that last waltz—toward the new day and the land of never-forgetting.

ATHLETICS

ROBERT L. MEYERS

A truer and more loyal son of Old Centre never breathed than Robert L. "Chief" Meyers. His love for the boys, his interest in the college and his knowledge of football made him a most valuable asset to the athletic activities of Centre College. That crying, fighting spirit that "Chief" instills into the teams can only be appreciated by those who are closely associated with him.

"Chief's" ability as an organizer is wonderful, and his knowledge of individual players is based on his close personal study of each man and his great-hearted spirit of encouragement and cheer. The Gold and White may well symbolize Robert L. Meyers. "White" to the backbone in his loyalty and honesty, and "gold" in his love, his work, and achievements. As a coach, an alumnus and a man, "Chief" holds an established niche in Danville. May all success and happiness be his in the seasons to come! Here's fightin' em, Chief!

"UNCLE CHARLIE" MORAN

The "Miracle Man" of 1919 Football

It is mighty easy to write something about Uncle Charlie. About the only trouble is to find a place to stop. Since he has been with us we have learned to love him. That is just the word, too. We may like, respect, and honor lots of people, but just a few enter that circle of true friendship of regard and affection.

As a football coach, Uncle Charlie of course dusts them all. But it is not so much as a coach that we like to remember him, rather as a personality. "Coach" Moran would express the first part of it, but "Uncle Charlie" is the real fellow we know. All you have to do to find that out is to turn to the records of recent years and those silent pages will attest his success and proclaim his greatness as a coach. Kind and fair, with abundant common sense and ability to do things honest and straight-forward, rather blunt at times but never unreasonable, this personality is the dominant force behind the team. "Moranism" is more than a system of winning games, it is mighty near a religion. His courage, his conviction, his inspiration, his sportsmanship and his example we covet for those men of Centre who have yet to know him.

To him we must attribute in a large part the success and prestige we enjoy in athletics and affectionately claim him as Centre's own, one only and original "Uncle Charlie."

ALVIN N. McMILLIN, '21

FORT WORTH, TEXAS

Quarterback

Age 22, height 5 feet, 9½ inches, weight 175. All-Kentucky '17, '18, '19; All-Southern '19; All-American '19.

The leading quarter of the year and one of the best of any year. A real field general. A man of superb courage and playing ability. Gets 100 per cent. efficiency out of his men. Inspires them to superhuman efforts. As a player, he has no weakness. He bucks the line, runs the ends, throws and receives passes, dropkicks, runs interference, equally well. Just as great on defense. Dominates every game. A fine, unselfish leader and a true sportsman.

JAMES R. WEAVER, '21

FORT WORTH, TEXAS

Center

Age 22, height 5 feet, 10 inches, weight 162. All-Kentucky '17, '18, '19; All-Southern '19; All-American '19.

A thorough veteran and an old fox. Uncanny defensive ability. Very light for his position, but one of the best men who ever played it. Knows what to do instantly and does it. Holds world's record for kicking 48 consecutive goals after touchdown. A heady and accurate passer. Holds team steady. Very active and always effective, both on offense and defense.

JAMES B. ROBERTS, '22

SOMERSET, KY.

Quarterback

Age 20, height 6 feet, weight 195. All-Kentucky '18, '19; All-Southern '19; Third All-American '19.

One of the very best men in the game at line-plunging and interference. A long-distance drop-kicker of great ability. Exceedingly powerful in physique. He has found no team that can consistently stop him. His defensive work at end has wrecked many an ambitious offense.

RALPH MONTGOMERY, '22

FORT WORTH, TEXAS

Tackle

Age 18, height 6 feet, 2 inches, weight 215. All-Kentucky '18, '19.

Ideal size and build for his position. All-American material. Powerful, fast, conscientious, handles ball well, runs great interference, tackles low, a fierce, smashing type of forward. Played top-notch type of game all season. Ought to be a world beater, with more experience.

NORRIS ARMSTRONG

FOORT SMITH, ARK.

Halfback

Age 21, height 5 feet, 10 inches, weight 162.
All-Kentucky '18, '19.

Fast as a streak, cool-headed, experienced and football "wise." A remarkable halfback. He can work his way out of a scrimmage in a second for a big gain, and can run an end like a flash. Hits like a catapult. A wonder on handling forward passes. Good enough for anybody's team.

MADISON BELL, '20

FORT WORTH, TEXAS

End

Age 21, height 6 feet, weight 170. All-K. I. A. A. Quarterback '16, All-Kentucky Guard '17, All-Kentucky End '19.

A fine type of all-around player. Can fill any position and has always been used to strengthen the weak spots. Has played quarter, center, guard, tackle, and end for Centre, each time in a championship club. A wonderful defensive player. They never fool him or get by him. He can pass the ball, receive it, block, tackle, and run a team at top-speed, or carry the ball himself. It would be hard to imagine a more valuable man.

TERRY SNODDY, '23

OWENSBORO, KY.

End

Age 20, height 5 feet, 10 inches, weight 175.
All-Kentucky '19.

An artist at running through a broken field and at receiving passes. Powerfully built and fast. Runs like Jim Thorpe—all spread out like a hat-rack. Carried the ball in his turn for big gains all season. A great offensive star.

Second year of football experience and a first-class halfback from the start. Has brains. Great at picking holes and on cut-in plays and running back punts. Never fumbles—sure-fire player—always good for a gain. Always does the right thing. Adds class to a great back field.

BILL JAMES, '21

FORT WORTH, TEXAS

Tackle

Age 21, height 5 feet, 9½ inches, weight 170.
All-Kentucky '18, '19.

Not a very big man for tackle, yet one of the best men in the country for the position. Wise—on to all the tricks of the opposition—he is rarely drawn in and almost no gains are made through his territory. Gets everything that comes his way. Just as good on offense. Very strong physically. A first-class man in every way for his position.

JOE MURPHY, '22

COLUMBUS, OHIO

Quarterback

Age 22, height 5 feet, 5½ inches, weight 130.

A little fellow, but wonderfully effective because of his speed. Always good for a gain. Also an excellent quarterback, side-stepper, and all-around back-field man. He gains against the best teams as well as the others. A great little player.

EDGAR A. DIDDLE, '20

ADAIRVILLE, KY.

SPRINGFIELD, KY.

Guard

Age 21, height 5 feet, 10 inches, weight 178.

A fast-charging, hard-driving line man. His game against West Virginia was perfect. Though lacking in varsity experience, he more than made good his first year as a regular. Always showed up best against strongest teams. He filled a difficult position well.

ROBERT C. FORD, '22

DANVILLE, KY.

Guard

Age 20, height 6 feet, weight 193.

Played some mighty good ball last season. Needs only experience and more confidence in himself. Given these, he will be one of the best line men in the game.

WILLIAM GARRETT, '23

COLUMBUS, OHIO

Center

Age 21, height 5 feet, 11 inches, weight 165.

MAX MACCOLLUM, '22

LOUISVILLE, KY.

End

Age 20, height 5 feet, 11 inches, weight 160.

One of the most promising ends ever seen in Kentucky. Lacked only a little experience to be a star of the first magnitude. Of ideal build, with a swift charge and a low-driving tackle. Has uncanny ability to spear forward passes from the air.

MACCOLLUM - "RED"

KING - "GU"

JAMES COLEMAN, '20

Guard

Age 22, height 5 feet, 10 inches, weight 165.

A man who makes up for his lack of weight by using his wits. Unfortunately lost to the team in mid-season by severe injury. A veteran of years' experience and a capable line man.

1919 Season

ENTRE'S spirit has long been known in Kentucky. Today it has gained nation-wide recognition as one of the chief influences in making the "praying-fighting Colonels" world beaters. This same indomitable fighting spirit at times has turned what seemed to be certain defeat into victory for the Gold and White. Centre's record in the football annals for the past four years has been one of wonderful success. However, the zenith of Centre's warriors was reached in the season of 1919.

The superb coaching, the ceaseless and untiring efforts of the men and the morale of the student body all blended to make a most successful season. Centre's team was not built around the stellar work of any individual player, for each man was an integral part of the powerful machine, and each playing the position for which he was best fitted. Every player knows that he is responsible for every play, for a machine is no stronger than its weakest part. Dope and facts have conflicted strangely during the past football season, yet the majority of critics agree that Centre justly earned the national championship.

"Chief" Myers, with his characteristic love for Old Centre, and ably assisted by Captain McMillin, began working the squad into shape. The varsity had lost but few men, and among the new arrivals were football players of renown. "Chief" was more delighted each day with the appearance of the squad and threw all of his master ability as an organizer into the work.

Then came a day when excitement ran through the student body as well as the team. "Uncle Charlie" Moran was in town. The new men began to realize why a football field is called a "gridiron." Uncle Charlie gave 'em what Sherman said war war. New plays were introduced and the old ones made more perfect. The line was built up of average weight, shifty and experienced football men. The fact that brains and teamwork meant more than mere brawn was clearly demonstrated. The backfield presented a combination rarely seen on any gridiron. The positions were often made interchangeable in order to aid in the carrying out of plays, and also to bewilder the opponents.

The season of 1919 was a glorious one for the Colonels, and one that has never been duplicated by any school of like size. The team carved for itself a lasting niche in the football Hall of Fame. Centre placed Kentucky and Danville very definitely on the map, and in the limelight. Captain Pritchard, coach at West Point; Eddie Mahan, renowned Harvard player of '15, and countless other football men and sport writers have been to the Blue Grass to look the Colonels over.

Kentucky has ever been famous for her beautiful women, fast horses and good whisky. Now she may add a football team to the list.

THE GAMES

The opening game of the season was played with Hanover on the home field. Although the plucky little Indiana team fought hard, a score of 95-0 was piled up against them. The game resembled a track event rather than a football game. The second team played during the last half, and scored nearly as much as the varsity.

On October 4th the Colonels appeared on a muddy and rain-swept field at Bloomington, Ind., to battle against the heavy and well-coached eleven from the University of Indiana. The edge of Centre's offensive was dulled by the mud and the torrents of rain. The Colonels' light backfield was unable to get started. Hardly had the game begun when Mathys, Indiana's star halfback, dropped back to the thirty-yard line and made a perfect drop kick. Centre came back strongly after the kick-off and made two touchdowns in rapid succession, only to be called back by the referee, once for holding and the second time on a very dubious decision. The remainder of the game Indiana was entirely on the defensive and was unable to make a first down. Their goal was constantly threatened, yet Centre failed to score because of numerous penalties.

The time was almost up and it was raining harder. The band was beady to play "Indiana" and the impatient students ready to carry the victorious warriors from the field, then came the unexpected! With two minutes to play before the final whistle blew, McMillin and Roberts each scored a touchdown. A game is never lost until the last whistle blows. Final score, Centre 12, Indiana 3.

St. Xavier, one of the strongest of the Ohio football teams, tied up with the Colonels on October 18th on Cheek Field. At the beginning of the game some of St. Xavier's best men were injured, yet they presented a fighting, clean and sportsmanlike team, making the contest interesting throughout. This contest was the first in which the Colonels were able to perform on a dry field, and the wonderful interference, which was to serve so well in the future, was now brought into play. The game ended with Centre on the long end of a 57-0 score.

On October 25th Centre and Transylvania clashed in the Lexington ball park. A large, enthusiastic crowd was gathered to see the much-heard-of Centre team. Transy's best player, Milton, was injured and unable to play. The contest throughout was an uninteresting and one-sided affair. Centre's goal was never in danger. The opposing team rallied somewhat in the second half and succeeded in gaining a few first downs through Centre's line. Many second team men played in the game for Centre. "Sully" Montgomery, Centre's giant tackle, showed great ability as a line man, and proved his ability to carry the ball. The broken field running of McMillin was another outstanding feature. A score of 69-0 was piled up against Transylvania, yet both teams were out of their regular form.

The crisp morning of November 1st found the Colonels sidetracked in Charlottesville, Va. As the Gold and White warriors stepped forth on the field the rain once more came down in torrents, and drizzled during the entire game.

OLD CENTRE

This game was Centre's initiatory bow to Eastern football. The concrete stadium was well filled, for Centre's reputation had already preceded her in the East. Although the battling Virginia eleven fought hard, there was no doubt in the minds of Centre's men as to the outcome. Virginia succeeded in making one touchdown in the latter part of the game, but could not stop the onrush of the Colonels. When the whistle blew the score stood 46-6. Centre had victoriously invaded the East! Murphy gained the reputation of being an "Irish mud horse." Perhaps some future Poe within Virginia's classic halls wrote again, "Nevermore!" after Centre had departed.

On November 8th Centre faced the crucial game of the season. The husky mountaineers from Morganstown, W. Va., were called by Walter Camp "the team of the season." Everyone in Kentucky realized that Centre had a good team, but just how good was to be proven by this game. Odds were against the Gold and White, and the trend of football dope placed the balance in favor of West Virginia. Nevertheless, the fighting Colonels, accompanied by a trainload of Kentucky rooters, landed in Charleston determined to prove that football is not played on paper, and that the dope bucket can often be kicked over.

Rodgers, Bailey and others of the West Virginia eleven expected an easy victory—so easy, in fact, that the West Virginia coach went to scout what he believed would be a more important game.

All of Charleston turned out to see West Virginia trounce Centre. The field was rather muddy, but by this time the Colonels had become reliable mud horses.

The Mountaineers started with a rush, and succeeded in landing a goal in the first five minutes of play. Centre's line now strengthened and assumed the firmness of Stonewall Jackson's famous brigade. The Colonels' backfield quickly diagnosed Rodgers' short, snappy passes and rendered them harmless. The remainder of the first half was spectacular and full of thrilling plays. Centre's thorough training was strikingly shown before the first half was over. McMillin completed a forward pass to Bell, which netted a touchdown, only to be called back for not being five yards back when he threw the ball. The first half ended with West Virginia 6, Centre 0.

The Colonels came back on the field determined more than ever to win. Rogers' speed and weight availed the Mountaineers little, for he was constantly watched by the Kentuckians. Red Roberts found little difficulty in tearing through their line. Centre giving a perfect exhibition of modern football tactics, marched down the field for eighty yards for the first touchdown for the Gold and White. Weaver's famous toe unerringly kicked the goal. The bleachers went wild! Nothing could stop the onrush of the Colonels, and soon after another touchdown was added to Centre's score. The time-keeper's whistle saved West Virginia from further defeat, with the Colonels on West Virginia's thirteen-yard line.

Thus by defeating the Mountaineers, whom the preceding Saturday had romped on Princeton 25-0, Centre proved her superiority to the Eastern teams.

Did West Virginia go Titanic? Centre says she did. Centre 14, West Virginia 6.

The more or less famous Wildcats departed from their lair in Lexington and ventured over to Danville. Accompanied by a horde of supporters and the cadet band, State presented a somewhat formidable appearance. November 15 was truly a gala day in Danville. An enormous crowd thronged every available place. Brilliant streamers were hung across the streets and adorned the fronts of buildings down town. A murmur of expectancy and excitement was ever passing through the great crowd. Never before had such a crowd gathered together in Danville to witness a football game. Cheek Field had been remodeled and new bleachers built to accommodate the spectators.

The game was called promptly at 3 P.M. Centre went into the battle weak and crippled from the preceding contest with West Virginia. Centre won the toss and chose to receive. The whistle blew and the game was on. The Colonels slowly, but steadily, pressed back the fighting Wildcats. Snoddy played a star game, and was the chief ground gainer. In vain did the State eleven strive to stop the onslaught of the Colonels.

In the beginning of the second half State came back with a rush. During the third quarter the Wildcats held Centre to one touchdown, then the storm broke. The Colonels piled up as many points during the last quarter as during the entire first three quarters. The home supporters saw what the Colonels were able to do, even to taming a Wildcat. One pass from McMillin to Whitnell, of fifty yards, was perfectly completed and gave Centre the last touchdown. Final score, Centre 56-State 0. The Wildcats' tail had once more been twisted!

The game with Depauw University was scheduled to be played at Greencastle, Ind., but due to the demand of many Louisville followers, the game was transferred to Louisville on November 22d.

One of the largest crowds that ever attended a football game in Kentucky was present. The colors of both schools are alike, and so there was some difficulty in locating the men. The Colonels were eager to revenge the 6-0 victory by Depauw in '17.

The game was spirited and interesting, although many believed that Centre was playing below par.

Calloway, Depauw's clever and shifty half, caused a moment of intense excitement during the second half when he caught Roberts' kick-off and raced down the field for a seemingly certain touchdown. He fumbled and dropped the ball on Centre's ten-yard line, and McMillin recovered it. The game was bitterly contested, but Centre's speed and perfect teamwork threw the balance in their favor.

Time was frequently called by Depauw. The referee's final whistle blew, leaving Centre on the winning end of a 56-0 tally.

Thanksgiving Day marked the schedule of the annual game with Georgetown. This contest has been staged for many years, and is one of Kentucky's football classics. The game was played in Georgetown on a muddy field. A large delegation accompanied the team from Danville, and the field was packed with enthusiastic rooters. Eddie

OLD CENTRE

Mahan, Harvard's all-American '15 captain, and Reynolds, of the Boston Post, were present to observe the Colonels. Interest in the Gold and White team was widespread throughout the East, and Mahan and Reynolds visited Danville to get a line on both the team and the college.

The outcome of the game was never doubtful. Georgetown's heavy, experienced eleven determined to score against America's best team if they could. A few days before the game Coach Moran found it necessary to change the signals. Due to this fact, and a lucky accident, the Tigers scored on Centre.

Centre's backfield charged forward with the line, leaving the football rolling toward the Centre goal. The mistake was observed too late! A Georgetown player seized the ball, and with many yards in the lead, raced seventy yards for a touchdown.

The impossible, at least the improbable, had happened! The game was a wholly one-sided affair, and Centre did not punt the ball during the entire contest.

McMillin displayed wonderful generalship and brotherly love for his teammates, allowing the two men who were playing their last game for Centre to score touchdowns. By making these himself "Bo" could have surpassed Rogers, of West Virginia, in points scored, and thus cinched a berth on the "all-American." "Red" Weaver kicked the forty-eighth consecutive goal, breaking all records. The final score was 77-7 in Centre's favor.

So ended Centre's '19 season. It was wonderful and successful. May the future hold as bright prospects for Old Centre as the honors which the past season gave the Gold and White.

"ON TO HARVARD!" is Centre's battle cry.

1919 Basketball Season

COLONELS AGAIN STATE CHAMPIONS

ENTRE opened the season of '19 with glowing prospects. Nine of the letter men had returned and many of the new men were high school stars. Coach Higgens, ably assisted by Captain Diddle, started early to work the team into shape. The old Wisconsin style of play was still used, with some added tactics.

The student body and the faithful followers of Old Centre were confident that the Gold and White basketeurs would prove themselves as great as the remarkable football team. However, an evil jinx appeared in the shape of injuries and the "flu." Centre found herself facing a serious dilemma. The previous season the golden quintette had won the Southern championship by defeating Vandy. With Roberts, Armstrong, and McMillan out of the line-up, Centre met the strong team from Maryville College on January 21. The contest was played on Centre's home floor, and after a terrific struggle, the Tennesseans won by a narrow margin of 28-27.

The realization of defeat was difficult, and with redoubled efforts the daily practice continued. The much-heralded University of Tennessee quintette, who had previously trampled Maryville, invaded Kentucky and easily defeated their opponents. Then on February 3 Centre and Tennessee clashed on the home floor. The Colonels were beginning to show some of their old championship form. The Gold and White cyclone wrecked the Mountaineers to the tune of 24-18.

Once more every one was jubilant and looking forward. The terrible Tigers from Georgetown had been sharpening their claws. On February 6 they too sought to wallop the Colonels on Centre's floor. Due to the stellar work of Bell and Davis, the Baptists were baptized, 27-14, by the Colonels.

February 9 the Centre net men opposed Transylvania on Transy's floor. The Crimson team played at a great advantage. Only a few regulars had accompanied the Centre squad to Lexington and the entire contest was virtually played by the second team. After a sharp struggle, Centre won by the slight score of 17-15.

The Wildcats, growling ferociously, appeared on February 19 in Danville. The State quintette expected to get revenge for past defeats, but instead they fell an easy prey to Centre's five. The game was interesting throughout, although exceedingly one-sided. The Blue and White players were never quite able to understand just how the Centre team piled up a score of 45-15. Once more the Wildcat's tail had been severely wrenched.

Centre's Southern tour was disastrous. The University of Louisville, confident and fighting hard, fell before the Colonels by the one-sided score of 61-7. The pass work of the Centre five was superb.

A slide rule was used in keeping the score, and the Cardinals' song was a "still, small voice" by the time the referee's whistle blew. Vanderbilt obtained revenge for last season's defeat on February 19. The Colonels faced the best college quintette in the South. The Commodores were experienced, heavy veterans, with lightning-like speed. Worn out by their railroad journey, the Colonels fell before the Commodores, 29-18.

"Oh, what a fall there was, my countrymen," for Centre's hopes to gain the Southern championship were rudely shattered.

Undaunted, the Centre squad pressed on to Atlanta, Ga. There, on the evening of February 21, the Colonels met the Atlanta Athletic Club, undefeated by any team for two seasons.

A battle royal ensued, with the Colonels emerging on the small end of a 34-29 score. Atlanta papers called the Centre team the "best team that ever appeared on Atlanta's floor."

The Athletic Club was exceedingly anxious to have the Colonels return and play in a tournament to be held later in the season. Although the trip had proved to be unfortunate for Centre, the team ran up a total number of points greater than their opponents in the three games played.

With the return home of the Colonels, Transy was again defeated—this time in Danville before an enthusiastic and crowded assembly. The contest was extremely rough, at many times slow. The Transylvania team played a good game, but could not stand the pace. The game resembled a football contest more than a basketball game. Centre won by a 32-12 score.

Centre met State in Lexington on March 2. State had been putting in some hard practice since meeting the Colonels. The Wildcats struggled splendidly, and only lost after five minutes of extra play. The final score was 20-18. This game gave Centre the undisputed right to the championship of Kentucky.

The last game of the season was played at Georgetown on March 6. The Tigers were again defeated, 46-20, by Centre. The game was snappy and interesting, the whole Centre team showing remarkable ability.

The season closed, although Centre had four more games scheduled and were cancelled by mutual agreement. The Gold and White team had constantly presented a fighting, clean aggregation. No small amount of credit is due to the faithful, consistent work of Cord, Murphey, Milliken, Bruener, McDonald, Ausier, and others. The letters were awarded Diddle, Bell, Davis, McMillan, Armstrong, Roberts, and Walden.

1919 Baseball

HE nine would hardly be a Centre team unless it was a good team. That is just the sort of team that represented Centre in '19. The previous year baseball was laid on the shelf as an intercollegiate sport in Kentucky. Then in the spring of '19, when Coach Green issued the call for recruits, a large and promising number were out in uniform. It didn't take long to line the squad into good shape. There was keen competition for each place, and Coach Green and Captain Allen deserve much credit for their excellent organization and coaching of the team.

The University of Tennessee sent a team up to play the Colonels and they put up a good game. The game resulted in a score of 8 to 8, and was called in the tenth on account of a rain-storm. Bishop and Roberts pitched a high-class game, holding the Mountaineers well in hand.

The Georgetown Tigers were next blocked by a 2-0 score, after a hard-fought game. Murphy did some excellent fielding, and Bishop starred as pitcher. Bailey pitched for Georgetown. Only four hits were made by the Tigers during the entire game. Whitnell and Davis were the heaviest batters for Centre.

By th close score of 7-6, Centre defeated Transylvania on an extremely rough diamond. Chandler pitched a good game for the Crimson, but lost it in the ninth, after the Centre men tallied three runs in quick succession. McMillan made some very good hits for Centre.

Centre next started out to romp on the Wildcats at Lexington. The Colonels had the game practically cinched until the last. Then came a sudden slump, and through errors in the infield the Wildcats won. Bishop pitched a good game, but the game was lost.

Georgetown was again defeated by Centre, with Bishop pitching a five-hit game. In the first inning, Centre started off with a rush as usual, Embry and Allen each getting a hit, which resulted in the first score of the game. Davis made a spectacular home-run in the third inning. "Navy" can claim the distinction of making the only home-run of the season. Centre won by a 3-1 majority.

Next came the final game of the season, the carnival game. Centre never loses a carnival game, so the Colonels knew that they just had to beat State, and they did, thereby tying the score with the Wildcats for championship of Kentucky.

Embry is always there with the goods and pulled a well-nigh impossible catch in the sixth, which brought the spectators to their feet with a roar of applause. Bo did some nifty batting, and the game came to a close when Cregor lined out a two-bagger with all of the bases full. The score was 4-3, and the Colonels had once again won.

Due to weather conditions, a return game was never played with Transylvania. A game which was scheduled with De Pauw was also cancelled.

Catherine Day says her ideal must have:

The wealth of J. J. Astor,
 The form of Wallace Reid,
 The warble of Carusoe;
 And then I think you'll need
 The smile of Doug Fairbanks,
 The pen of Mark Twain,
 The brain of Wizard Edison,
 The tongue of J. G. Blain.

She received a quick response from Bill Kinnaird, who says: I am such a man;
 but unless she meets these conditions she can't have me:

The eyes of Norma Talmadge,
 The smile of Dorris May;
 The voice of Nellie Melba,
 Maud Adams' winning way;
 The form of Gloria Swanson,
 The hair of Billie Burke;
 Mary Pickford's salary
 And a fondness for housework.

SOMETHING MORE THAN PROFITS

Most men are in business for the purpose of making money—you understand that the profits are the objective.

—All right. The next question is: How can we make our business pay the best profit? And in the answer to that question lies the big difference between business.

—We figure that a small margin on a large volume of sales is more profitable than a large profit on each sale. We figure that if we serve our community by having right prices and giving each purchaser our assurance that he shall have satisfaction or money back, our profits take care of themselves.
