CHANGE WITHIN TRANQUILITY

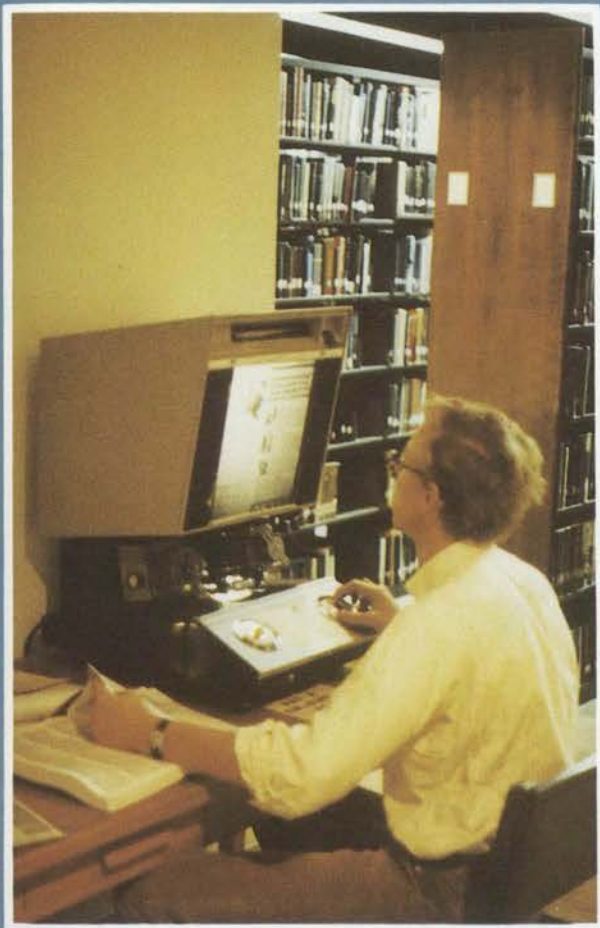

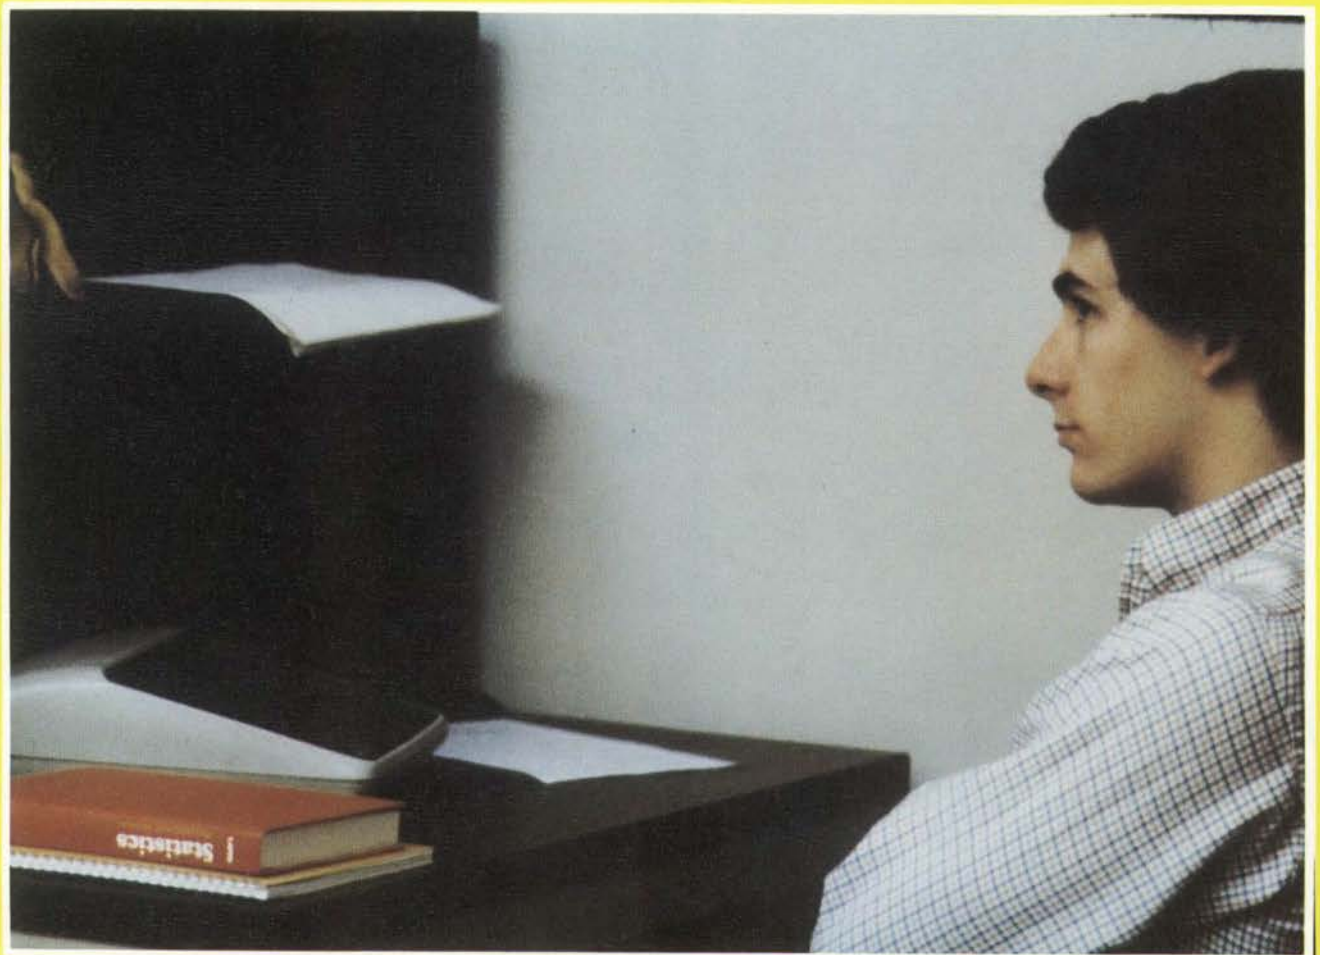

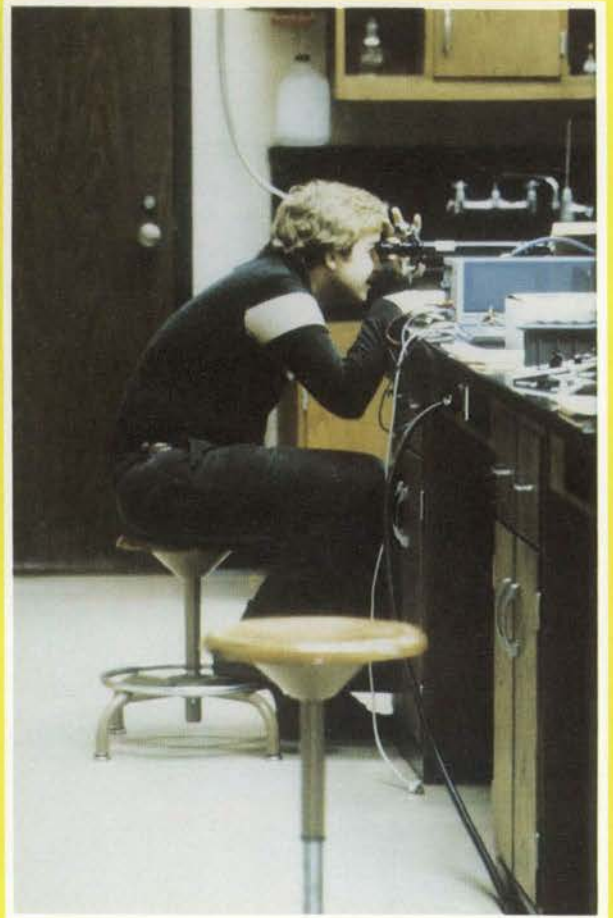

Like most small colleges, Centre has a tranquil — with the possible exception of weekends — laid-back atmosphere. Yet, each entering class possesses characteristics not found in any other. These qualities are manifested in the groups institutions they choose to participate within, and eventually the College itself reflects these qualities.

Someone once said that college is four years of leisure before entering the "real world." That person must have gone to UK, for there is nothing leisurely about writing papers or studying for mid-terms, especially when they all fall due the same week, as they inevitably do.

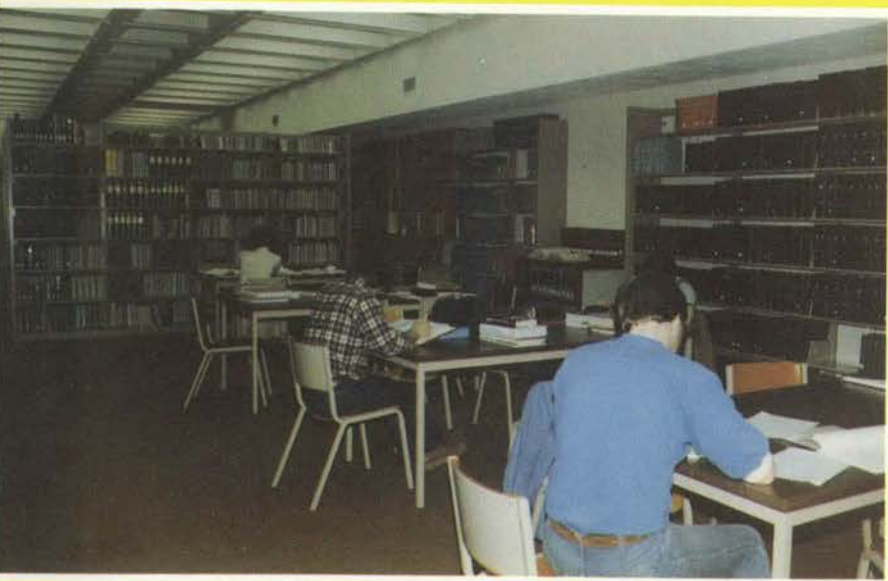

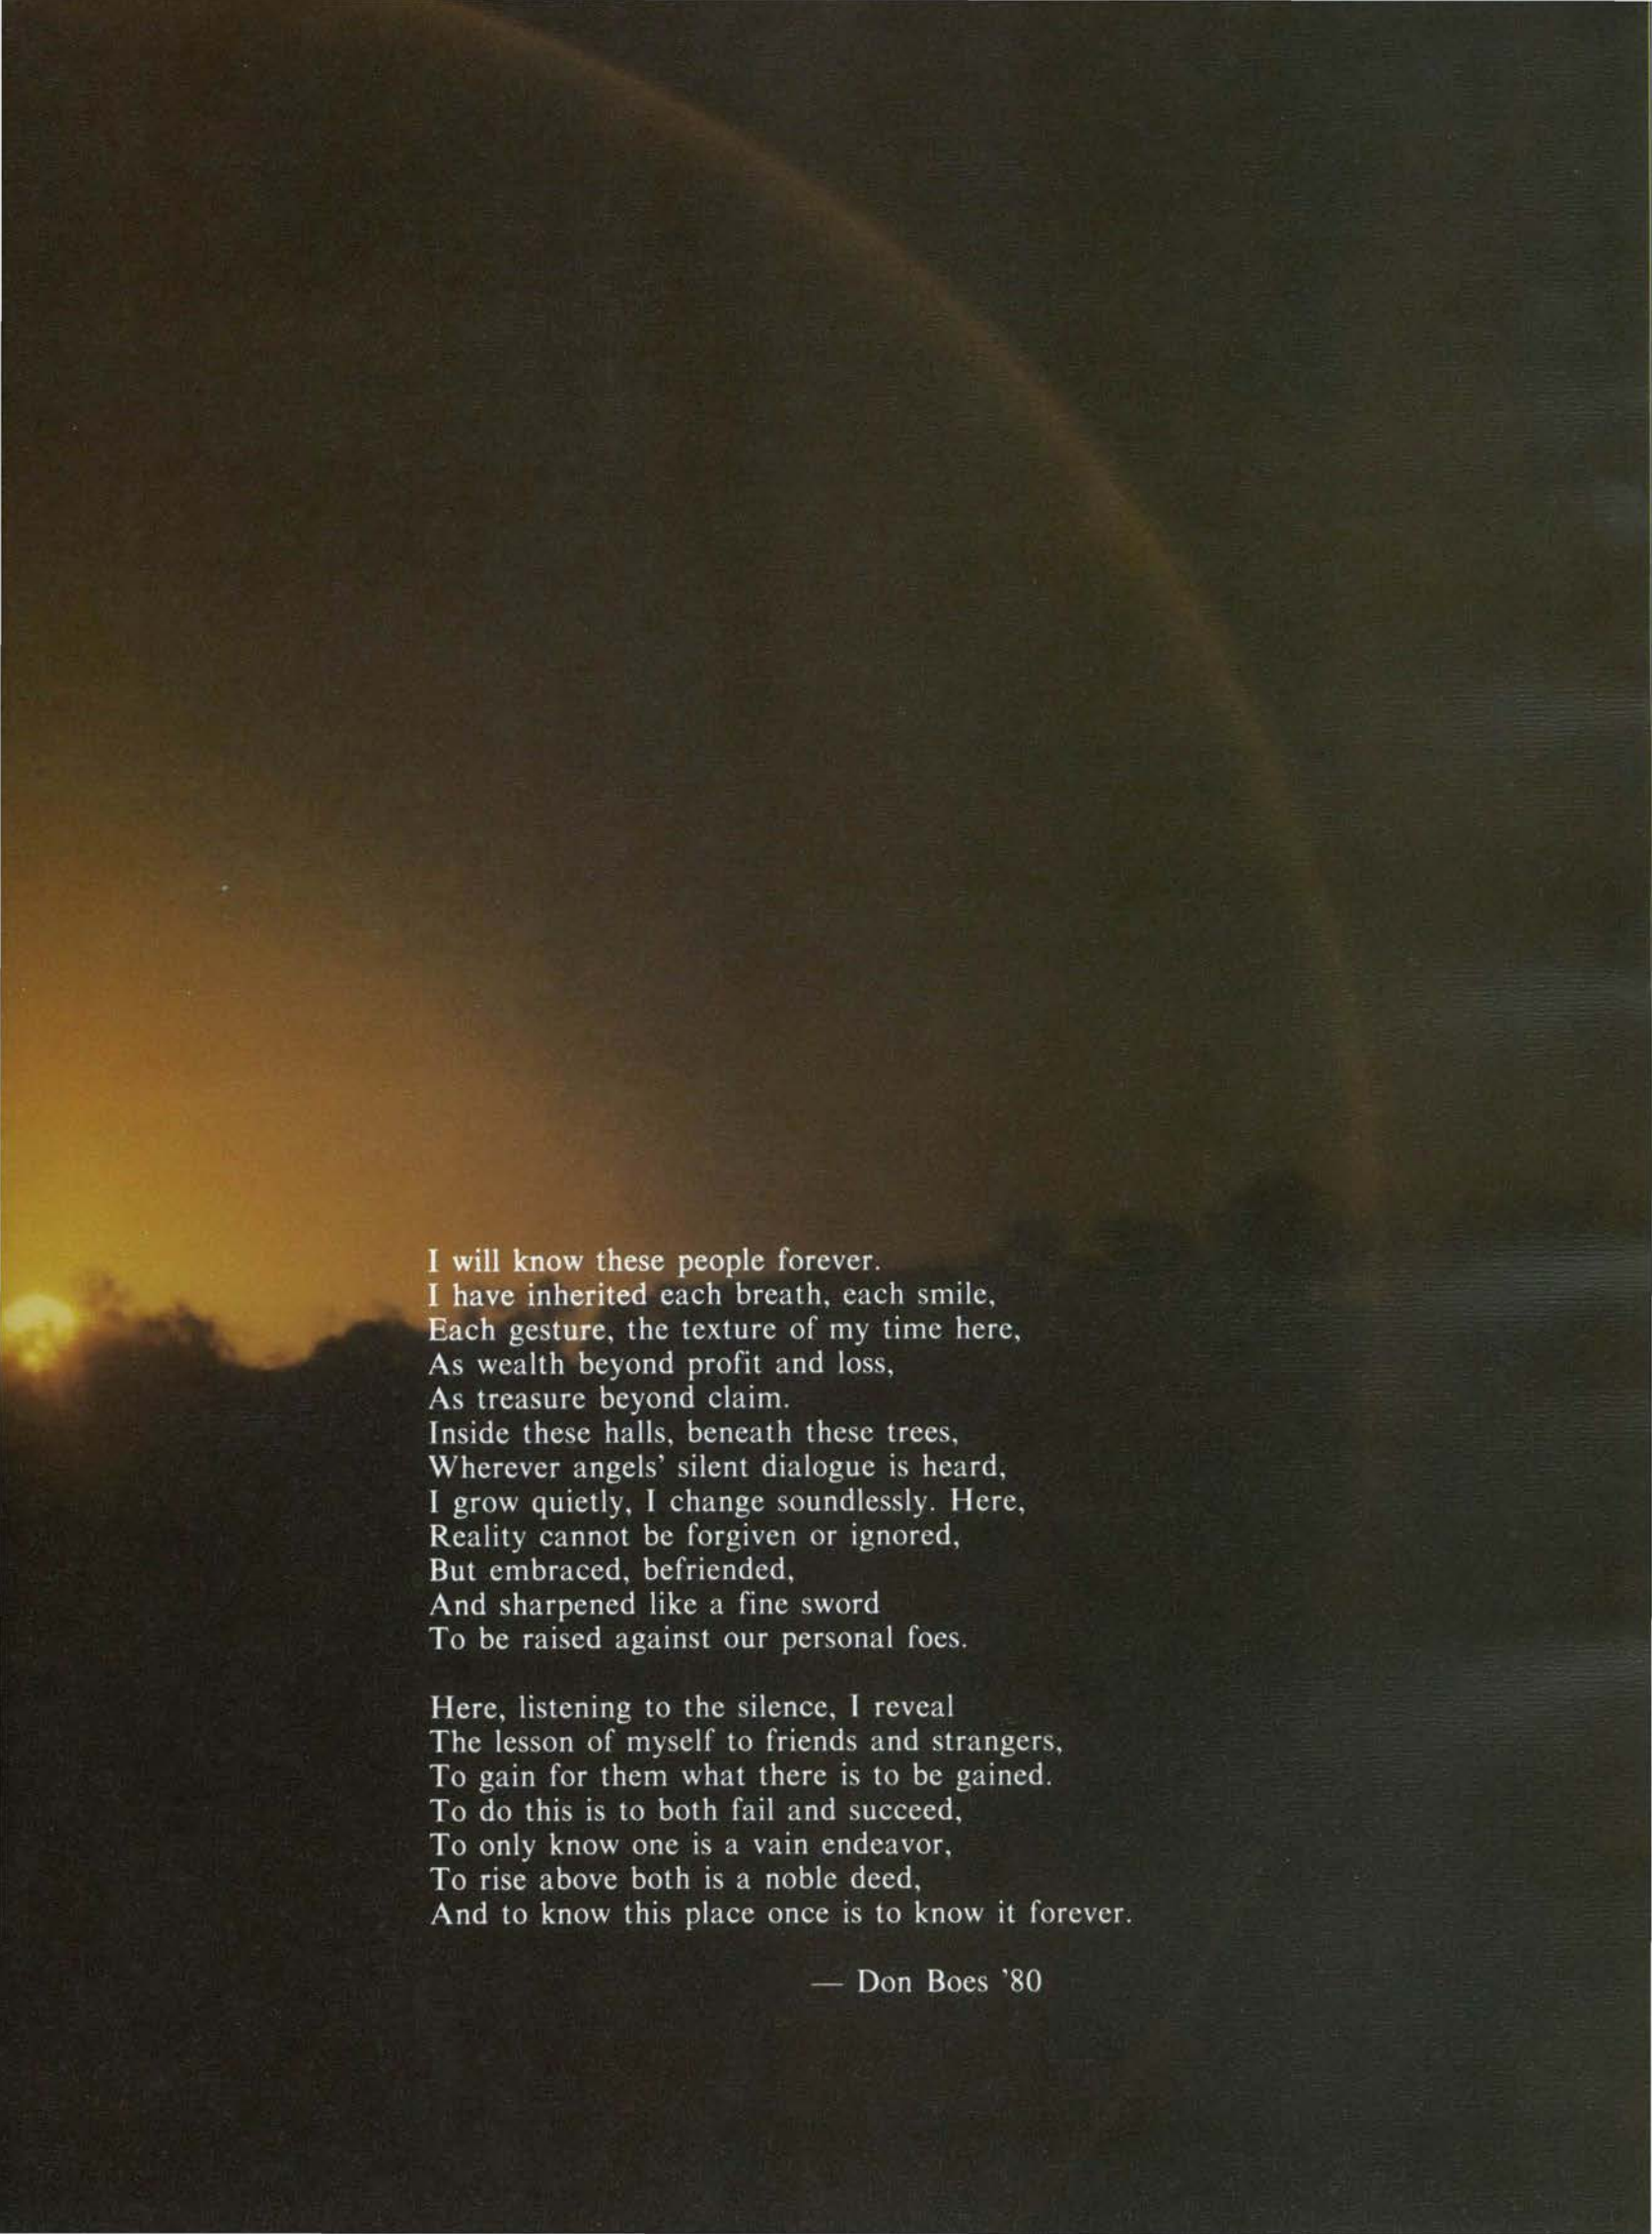

Yet by learning to cope with these crises, we find out more about ourselves and, hopefully, something about our subjects. This knowledge gradually forces us to change our perceptions of ourselves, our relationships with others, and, ultimately, our world.

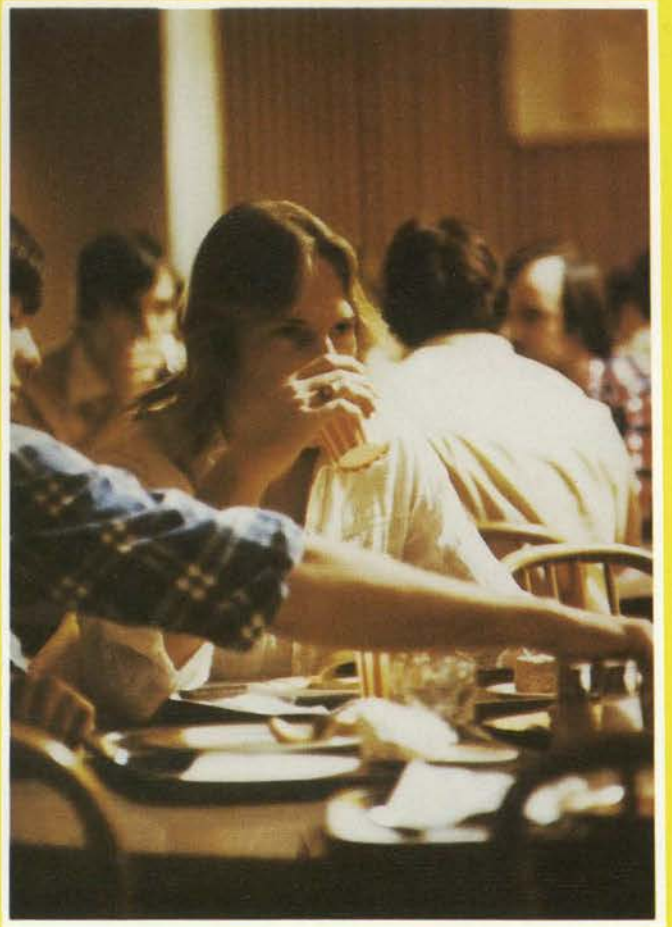

I will know these people forever.
I have inherited each breath, each smile,
Each gesture, the texture of my time here,
As wealth beyond profit and loss,
As treasure beyond claim.
Inside these halls, beneath these trees,
Wherever angels' silent dialogue is heard,
I grow quietly, I change soundlessly. Here,
Reality cannot be forgiven or ignored,
But embraced, befriended,
And sharpened like a fine sword
To be raised against our personal foes.

Here, listening to the silence, I reveal
The lesson of myself to friends and strangers,
To gain for them what there is to be gained.
To do this is to both fail and succeed,
To only know one is a vain endeavor,
To rise above both is a noble deed,
And to know this place once is to know it forever.

— Don Boes '80

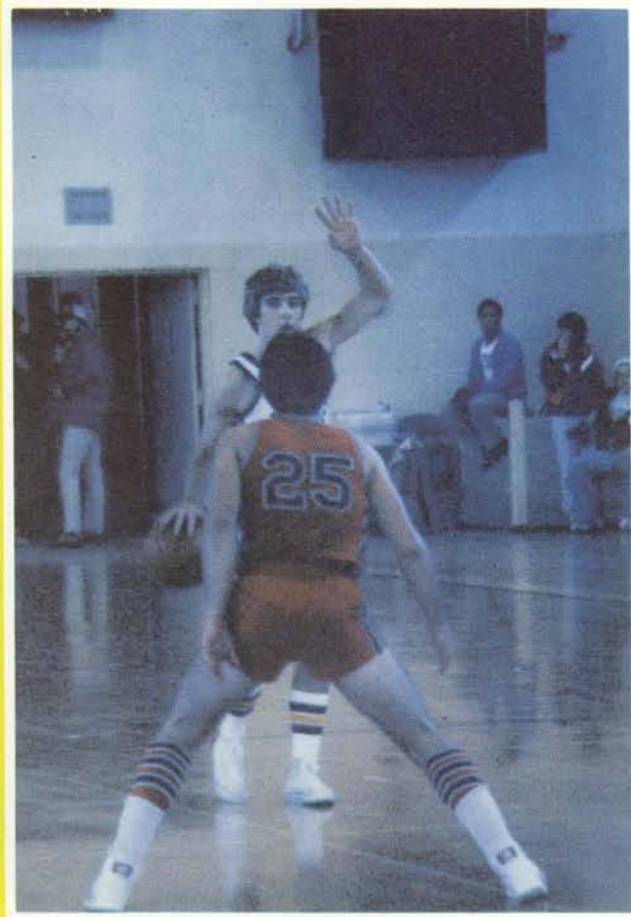

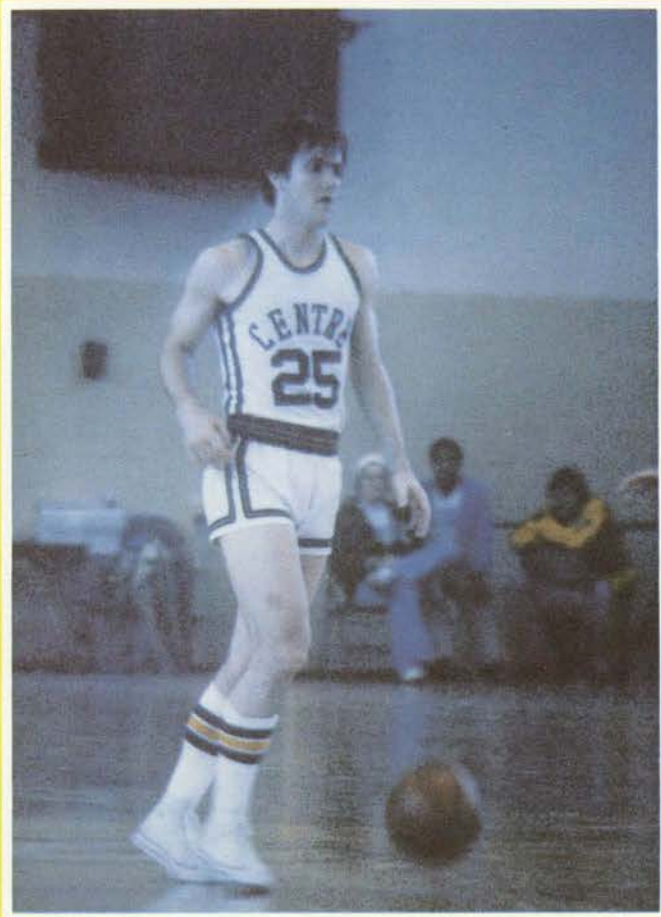

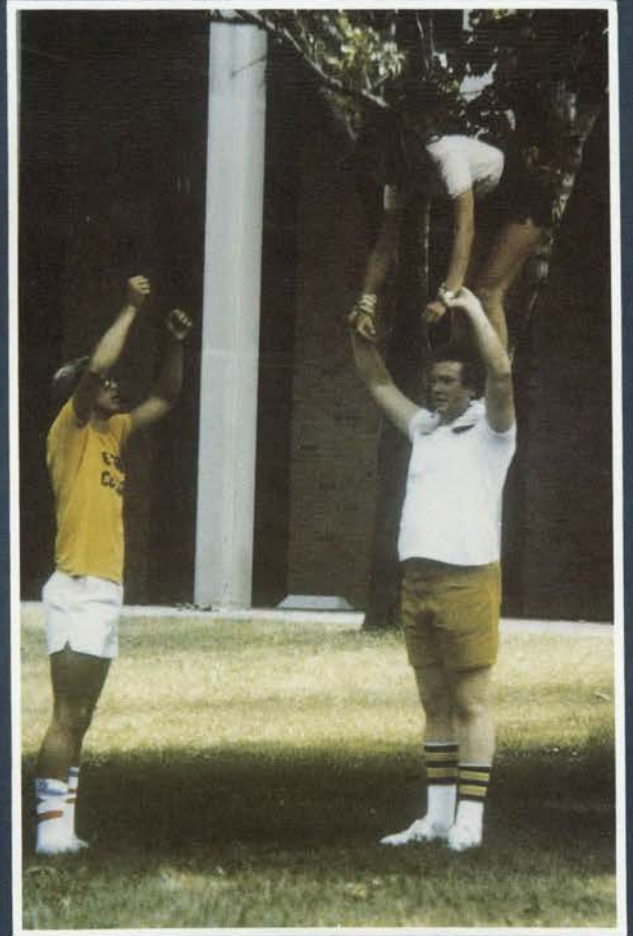

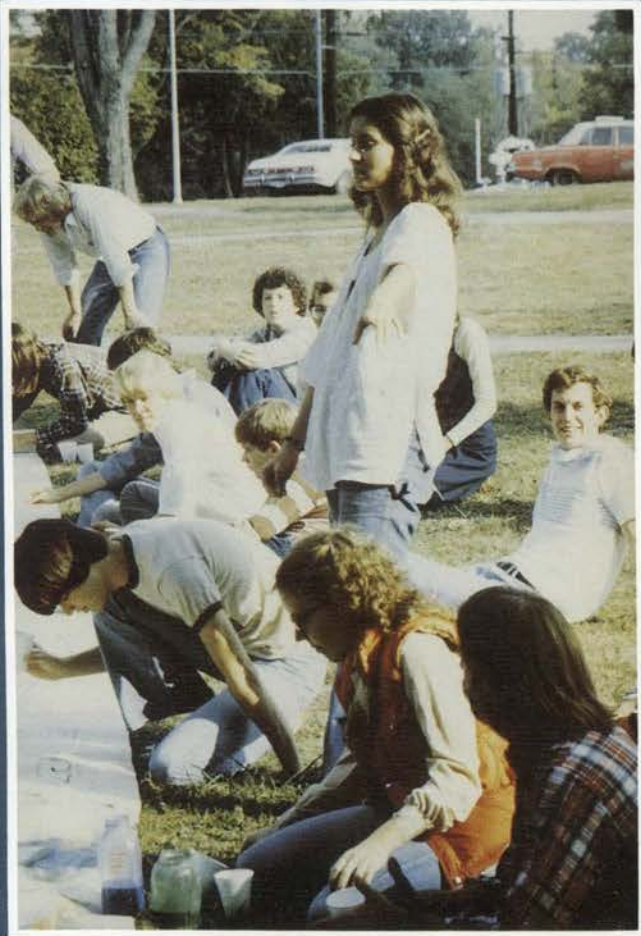

One of the least tranquil places on campus, gastronomically or otherwise, is Cowan at mealtime. But, since almost all students must eat there, it is also the primary meeting ground for cliques of friends. Each group, organized or not, has its table or set of tables and through these are able to establish some sort of day-to-day consistency in the inter-personal relationships of its members.

Almost everyone at Centre is involved in sports in some form, either as a participant in intercollegiate sports, a participant in an ever-growing array of intramurals, or as a spectator. An extraordinarily successful basketball season brought an ordinarily disinterested student body out in large numbers to cheer the Colonels all the way to semi-finals of the NCAA.

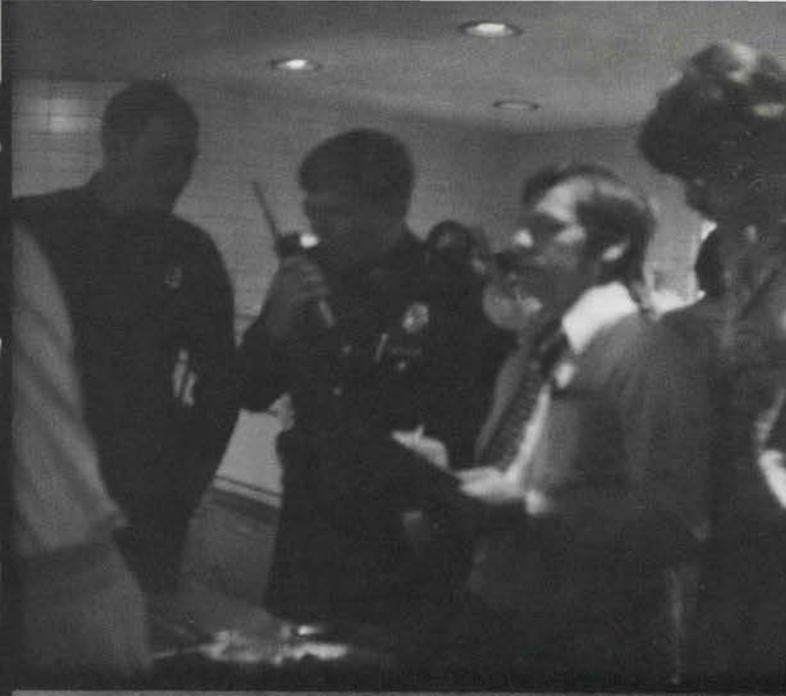

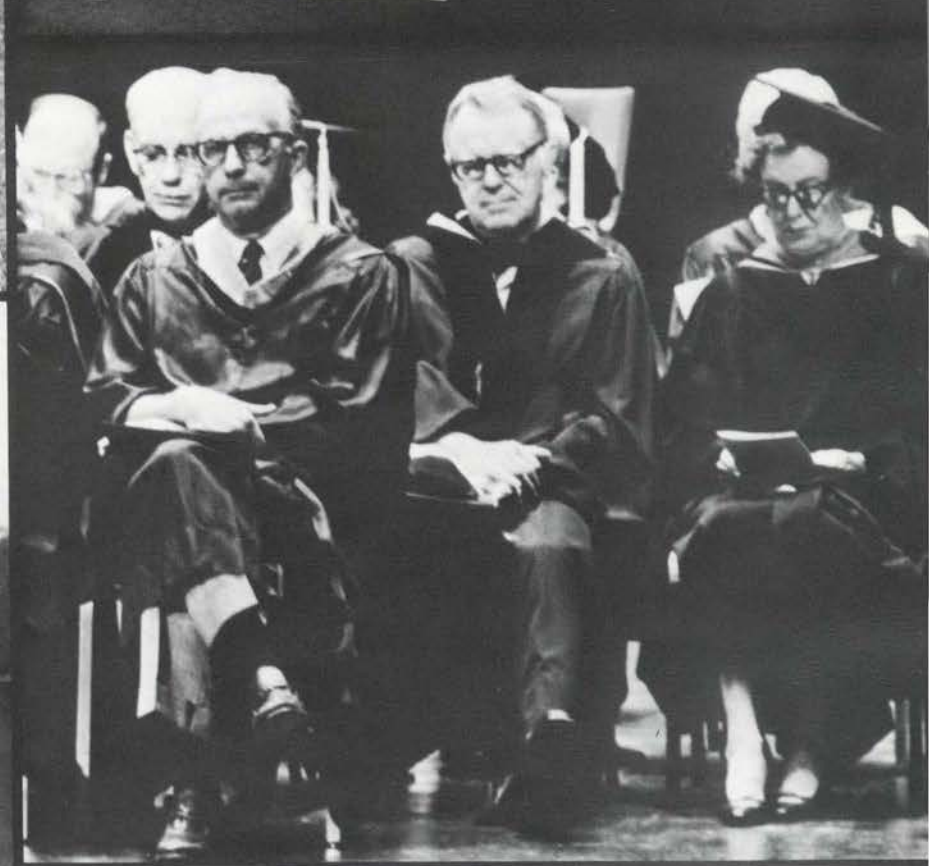

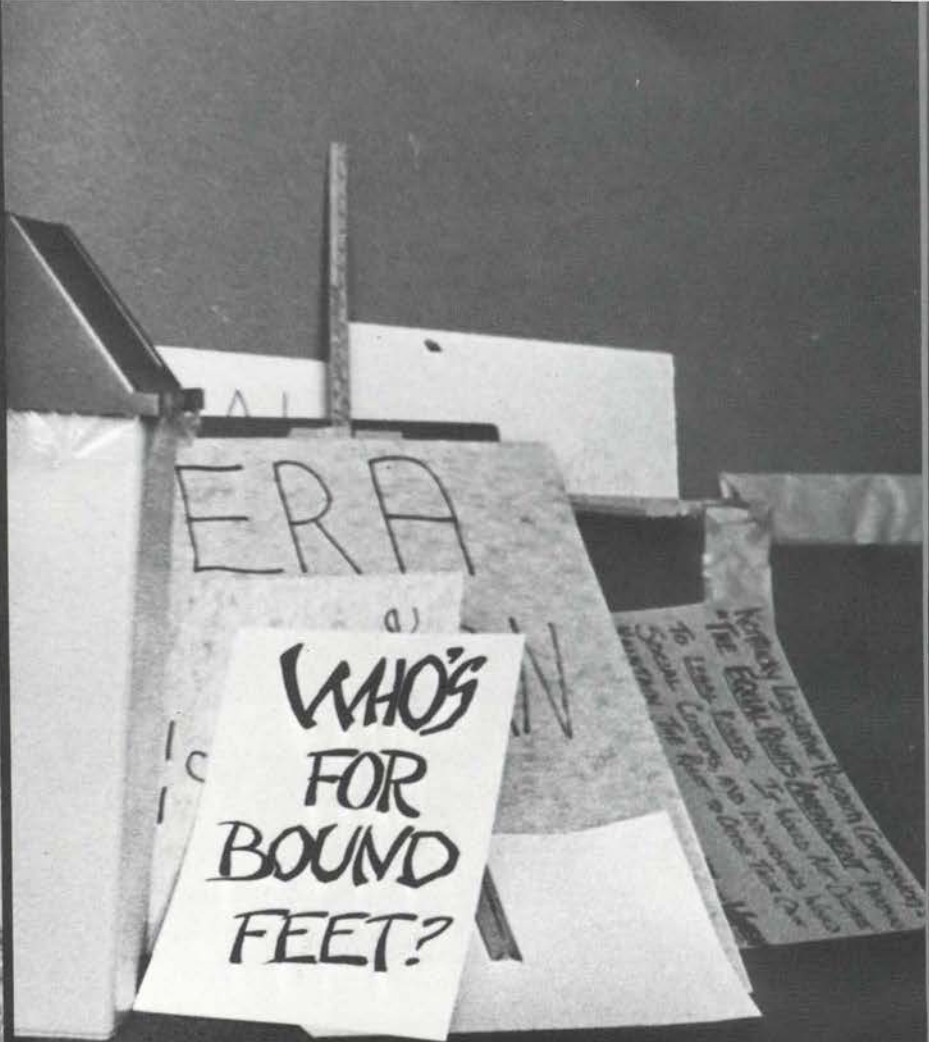

Probably the most rapidly changing element of Centre is the Central Kentucky weather it is subjected to, which seems to change every ten minutes — except when it's bad. Three consecutive cold winters have helped the enrollments of off-campus winter term courses. However most of us just bundle up tighter, turn the heater up, and hope for an early spring.

EVENTS

Homecoming

The Lionel Hampton Concert in the RAC on Friday, October 13th. was the kick-off event for the 1978-79 Homecoming. Next on the agenda was the Homecoming parade on Saturday morning. At half-time of the Principia game, Kit Garrett was crowned Queen. The Homecoming Dance, with Midnight Star providing the music, was the climax of the weekend.

1. Dean Dwyer meant business this weekend.
2. Lionel Hampton delighted jazz lovers at the Homecoming Gala.
3. The fans may have been dampened, but the spirits ran high at the game.
4. The Sigma Chis took a first in the "over one hundred dollar float division."
5. A proud Logan Askew keeps Homecoming Queen, Kit Garrett, dry.
6. The Senior Women rallied this year and came up with the winning float!

Parents' Weekend

An exciting football game, open houses, and a student talent show were all ingredients of a great Parents' Weekend. If we were lucky, our rooms were clean before Mom arrived, and if we were very lucky, we were treated to a steak at the Briarpatch!

1. Camilla Miller and Roy Martin welcome parents to the Sigma Chi house.
2. Lost and stray families could wait to be claimed in front of Sutcliffe.

The Prime Of Miss Jean Brodie

This fall the Centre Players performed the play "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie." The production ran from November 7th through November 11th.

1. Clara Atkins is Miss Brodie. Her girls here are Sallie Goodlett, Leslie Dame, Patti Holt, and Lisa Comingore.
2. David Rasberry as Teddy Lloyd.
3. Miss Brodie flirts with Gordon Lowther (Charles Killian) as Lisa and Susan Franks eavesdrop.

Ex Astris

As a tribute to the arts, "Ex Astris" now stands before the RAC. The brass sculpture is the work of Louisvillian, Tom Lear. Dedicated October 23, 1978, "Ex Astris" does, in the words of President Spragens, "evoke the spirit of the creative arts through its reaching, seking, soaring qualities."

The Sound Of Music

On October 23rd, the musical The Sound of Music came to the Newlin Hall stage. As the first of the 1978-79 attractions in the Subscription Series, this Roger's and Hammerstein's musical was truly an enjoyment for people of all ages.

Red Lite Revue

Red Lite Revue, an annual event sponsored by the ACW, was held November 4th. The theme was brought across by a glowing red room and people dressed in bright, flashy, and skimpy clothing.

1. Dressed to kill, Neil Spencer dazzles 'em on the dance floor.
2. A la Carmen Miranda, Sara Levy toasts the town.
3. "Sitting this one out" are, Lee Woehle, Lee Ives, and Susan Ross.

Harry Chapin

On November 12th, for the first time ever, a benefit concert was held in the RAC. Due to the efforts of Mark Nunnely, the Student Congress, and the Social Board, Harry Chapin gave two concerts to benefit the world hunger cause.

The Wiz

One of the major attractions this year in the RAC was the performance of the Broadway Production, "The Wiz" on November 17th. The vivaciousness with which the cast delivered this musical version of "The Wizard of Oz" thoroughly captivated and delighted the audience.

Oktoberfest

The Vantage Point staff held an Oktoberfest this fall in order to introduce themselves as a group interested in creative expression. Students and faculty enjoyed an afternoon of song, dance, painting, poetry, and cider.

1. Meg Ross, Shelby Reynolds, Jonathan Dowell, Brenda Elliott, Sara Levy, and Susan Ross.
2. Mary Griebstien paints Mary Hall Surface.
3. The Oktoberfest let you enjoy a second childhood.

Angel Street

Between February 6th and February 10th, the Centre Players presented "Angel Street", an intriguing detective story which featured Cornelia Dwyer.

1. Mrs. Manningham (Cornelia Dwyer) is re-assured by the kindly detective (Tom Ayres).
2. Mary Ann Seratt, as the housekeeper, comforts Mrs. Manningham.
3. The dastardly Mr. Mauningham (David Rasberry) schemes.

The RAC

The cultural experience of the Danville community was enriched this year by the appearances of pianist Vladimir Ashkenazy on January 19th, the Moscow Philharmonic Orchestra on February 12th, and opera singer Louise Russell on March 21st.

Gardenia

Freshman peon sales, bake sales, faculty favors, and other assorted projects finally culminated one freezing March weekend with Gardenia. The freshmen women, headed by Mitzi Caldwell, came up with a lovely queen and court, beautiful decorations, and a great time for everyone. With Sadie Hawkins Day still dear to their hearts and fresh in their minds, they reminded us that "turn-about" in't just fair play, it's fun play, too!

1. Gardenia Queen, Joan Ryan and Escort, Brad Eden.
2. Ruth Phaire is escorted by Mike Shannon.
3. Last year's queen, Suzanne DeMunbrin presents nosegays to each on the court.
4. Even the best decorations go, sometime . . .
- 5, 6, 7. Though the weather outside was frightful, the dance was still delightful!
8. It wasn't all play!

Arms And The Man

For their Spring production the Centre Players presented George Bernard Shaw's Arms and the Man, a colorful comedy set in Bulgaria in the 1880's. The play was the main-stage debut for the director, Dr. Tom Van Brunt . . .

... The production included seasoned actors Mary Hall Surface as Raina Petkoff, Danny Tiberghin as Major Sergius Saranoff, Shelby Reynolds as Nicola, and Charles Killian in a delicious performance as the chocolate cream soldier himself, Captain Bluntschli. It also introduced Margaret Pritchett as Louka, Chris Vaida as Major Paul Petkoff, and David Summerfield as the Russian Officer. The play was stage-managed by Judy Machal, with Professor Dan Niccum as the Technical Director.

Carnival

Just the right combination of tradition and innovation made for a delightful Carnival Weekend. On Friday, Cowan served up a down-home picnic that whetted our appetites for more outdoor fun. That night, with Walnut blocked off, we reveled in the street and enjoyed the booths sponsored by various organizations. Saturday, the brothers battled for their fraternities at Greek Olympics. It was a wonder anyone had energy for the formal dance that night! Sunday, "Spring Sing" was won by the Senior Women for a change. Then the rains came and we headed home to rest up for the Emmy Lou Harris Concert that wrapped up the weekend.

Dance-A-Thon

There are different types of fun here at Centre: unadulterated fun is rampant, organized fun is frequent, but every once in a while you may come across a sort of "fun" that springs from helping others. Students participated in a twelve hour dance marathon this spring with the proceeds going to the Crusade for Children. Whether a sponsor or a dancer, you had fun in giving.

SPORTS

Football

After beginning the season with high hopes, the Centre football team finished the 1978 season with a dismal 3-6 record. Rose-Hulman's desparate come-from-behind victory over the Colonels was the turning point of the season.

Bright points in the season include Mike Shannon's record 98 yard touchdown run from scrimmage against Sewanee and Russ Atchison's ranking first in kick-off returns in Division III. Jim Donlon and Wally Koenig were named to the All-CAC team for the third time. Also named were Mike Shannon (2nd time), Tim Dexter, and Dick Cross.

Although the team expected to do better, they placed 4th in the CAC Tournament. The Southeast Regionals in Tennessee were highlighted by a 7th place finish turned in by Bill Rayens. Hopes for next year remain high as the relatively young team can count on a core of experienced runners.

Choirs And Orchestra

The three Centre choirs — the Centre College choir, open to all members of the college community, the Centre Singers and Chamber Singers, select groups of student singers requiring auditions for membership — maintained an active and busy schedule.

Specializing in major works and performing with the orchestra, the choir's performances were Mozart's Vesperae Solennes De Confessore, K.U. 339 in the fall and Handel's Zadok The Priest and Braham's The Song Of Fate in the spring.

The Singers highlighted their year with two performances of The Unicorn, the Gorgon, and the Manticore — a madrigal fable for chorus, dancers and orchestra — along with members of the dance class in January. For the Spring Concert they performed Rejoice in the Lamb.

Centre Players

The three main productions of the Centre Players were The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie, Angel Street and Arms and the Man. All were quite successful, as was the studio production of The American Dream in the Green room. New events included the Radio Mystery Theatre Hour presented by the Hillside Theatre House and doing Halloween make-up for students. Direction was provided by Delores Ramsey, Pres. and Danny Tiberghin, V.P.

Clubs

Since sorority affiliations are not available, the ACW has become the unifying force on campus for Centre women. As a service club, the ACW sponsored the Big Sister/Little Sister program, the Valentine's Day Dance, and Red Lite Revue. As a service to the community, they planted tulip bulbs and became pen pals with children at the Kentucky Children's School for the Deaf.

The Education Club's major projects included a career planning dinner, a Student-Teacher panel and a symposium of Centre graduates discussing their success in obtaining positions in the educational field. The Education club helps familiarize students with various fields in Education and to provide a meeting place for present and prospective student teachers.

Clubs

The purpose of the Language Societies was to enrich the cultural experience of each of the languages in the Centre community by tutoring services and other various activities. The German Society published a newsletter about every two weeks, provided a successful film series and sponsored the annual fall Oktoberfest. The Hispanic Society showed two full length movies, El Cid and Man of La Mancha for the student body. They also participated in poetry readings and gave two parties where they learned Spanish music and dances. To raise money for a scholarship to France, "Le Cenac le", the French Society, sold crepes as one of their major projects. They also provided a feature film entitled, Breathless and a trip to a French restaurant in Louisville.

- (1) "LE CENACLE": Durham, Ciholas, Miller, Streble, Burke. Back — C. Brown, Pres.
- (2) GERMAN SOCIETY: Sitting — W. Klimke, Cash, Marquardt, Pres., Onkst, Sec., Engelhard, S. Brown. Standing — Harmon, Truitt, Kuhlenschmidt.
- (3) HISPANIC SOCIETY: Bottom: Hayes, Houchell, Boyd, C. Brown, Gift, Pres., Cain, Sec-Tres., Rocha. Back: Tiberghin, Moreno, Streible, V.P., Johnson, Jones.

The Pre-Med Society acquainted its members with admission policies and medical school curriculum in order to test their interest in medical school. Their major undertakings involved a student volunteer program at Ephriam McDowell Memorial Emergency Room, field trips to local medical schools, and bringing in guest speakers from the medical community.

Persons interested in becoming future commissioned army officers need to look no further than the ROTC organization. The members attend classes at the University of Kentucky regularly. Also, guests speakers from the faculty were asked to relate the military to their specific fields.

The Pre-Engineering Society is designed to bring together students interested in the career possibilities of engineering and to orient students who have decided to go into the 3-2 Engineering program. A film on the careers of Engineering and a field trip to Corning optical glass factory at Harrodsburg were some of the club's activities.

(1) PRE-ENGINEERING SOCIETY: Baker, Kabir, Moreno, Ali.
 (2) ROTC: Fields, Parks, Saufley.

Student Congress

The Student Congress are in charge of all elections, rent refrigerator to students, and provide a shuttlebus to and from Lexington's airport. In addition, they are in charge of dispersing money to other organizations. They jointly sponsor many activities with other organizations such as the Harry Chapin concert and Red Cross Blood Drive. A trip to Rock Island, Illinois for the NCAA finals was made possible through the efforts of the Student Congress. (4) Encounter Committee: Sitting — Anderson, Scales, Shearer, Garrett, Little, Miller. Standing — Nunnelly, McKee, Surface, Gardner, Eting.

CASINO '77

The Social Board helped sponsor many social activities during the year. Their major project was Las Vegas Weekend during which a T.G.I.F. was held where the drawing for a trip to Las Vegas, Nevada took place. The trip included transportation, hotel accomadations and spending money for two. Winner Vicki Bennett challenged the gambling casinos while students at Centre tried their luck at tables set up in Sutcliffe using fake money. The Social Board also sponsored the Homecoming Dance, Midwinter Weekend, several TGIFs and helped in the production of the Harry Chapin concert.

Beta Theta Pi

It was a busy year for the Betas — sponsoring a foster child in El Salvador, helping Circle K clean up McDowell park, winning the Frisbee golf Tournament and the Greek Olympics, and if nothing else, spending time at Beta Beach. Besides the ever-popular Bourbon Street, WBO2 — on the air and the traditional Christmas party, a Drink For Those Who Can't party was held with proceeds going to the Liver Foundation. During the South Seas weekend, they chartered a bus and went to see the Reds play. Officers were Charlie McNutt, Pres., Gary Cooper, V.P., and Don Richards, Sec-Treas. Ann Howard was once again the sweetheart.

- (6) Noel Booker is eager to drink for those who can't.

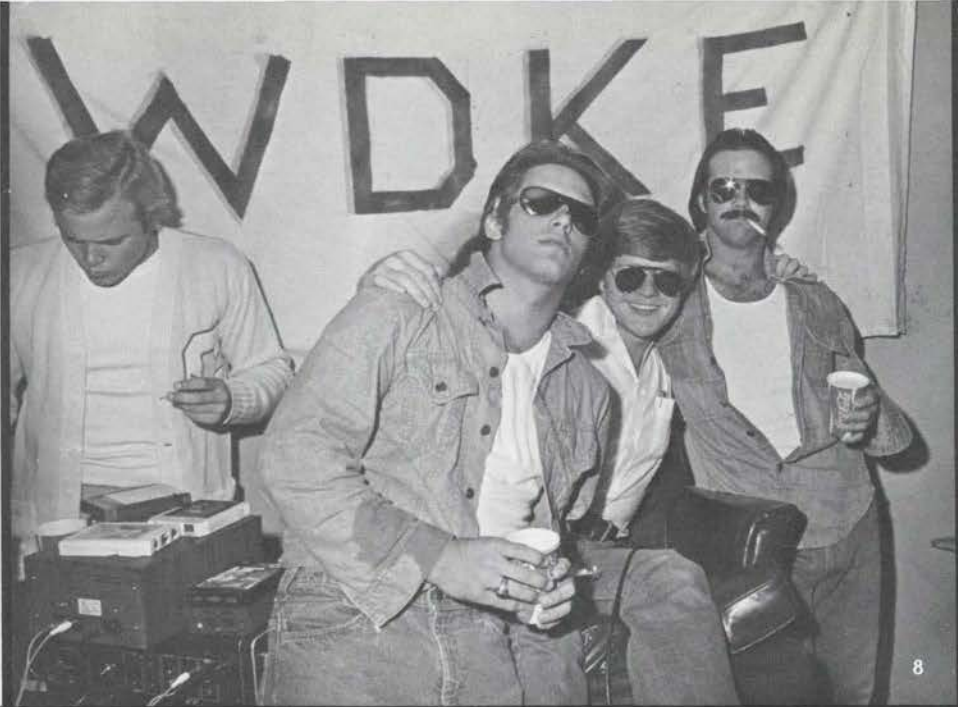

Once again the Dekes sponsored a leapfrog relay from Danville to Frankfort in order to raise money for the WHAS Crusade for Children. Members of the Fraternity also tutored children at the Christian Children's Home. The year was very successful under the leadership of Tony Apro, Ralph Miller, V.P., Mike Kelley, Sec., and Tom Hinkle, Treas., with much support from sweetheart Ginny Graham.

Phi Delta Theta

The Phi Delts had several successful theme parties, among them were Wild West, Battle of the Beers, Playboy after Dark and the Halloween Hanging. The fraternity managed once again to recruit the most blood donors for the annual Red Cross Blood Drive. Officers for 1978-79 were John H. Lacy, John Barton, John Rhodes, Jim Shadburne, Dennis Newman, and Eugene Cindea.

Cindea, Barto, Shadburne, Silverstein, Wheeler,

It could be said that 1978-79 was the first year in recent memory in which the Phi Taus experienced no major crises. That in itself might qualify it as a good year for the Taus but there were many pluses on the more positive side as well.

Parties with the bands Eurmama and Solo-both groups containing present and past Taus were among the highlights of their social activities as was the pledging of ten new members.

The year was culminated by the Taus winning the intramural softball championship for the second straight year.

The 1979 school year was one of important changes for the SAEs as they became the first Centre fraternity to recognize an organized Little Sister auxiliary. The Sisters augmented the SAEs in many ways and added extra vitality to the annual Pig Roast and Hairy Buffalo parties. Their support was also helpful in the SAEs pledging ten new brothers and in their pursuit of the Yerkes Cup.

History

During Winter term, the History department offered a trip to Russia. Dr. Hamm and Dr. Newhall led the students on the Russian Expedition. Their first stop was in Vienna where they spent three days visiting cathedrals and seeing two operas. Traveling by train, their next stop was Budapest. They also visited Kiev, where they attended a circus. Then they left for Moscow. In Moscow, they went to a hockey game and the opera, and visited the U.S. Embassy. Some of the group even attended an underground Baptist Church Service. Leningrad was their next stop, where they visited the Winter Palace, and saw the ship which fired the shot that started the Russian Revolution.

As a consolation to the History student who did not go on the trip to Russia, the History department offered two new courses during Winter term. One of the courses was entitled Ben Franklin and Enlightenment. The other course was The Life and Times of Mao Tse-Tung. Because of the interest which was sparked by the Mao Tse-Tung course, the department hopes to plan a trip to China next winter.

Public Affairs

The year 1978-79 was very productive for the public affairs section — especially for the economics department, as they added two new members (Drs. Brownlee and Bramwell) to their staff and greatly strengthened both the organization of courses and the requirements for future economics majors.

Life Outside The Centre Community

Danville, Kentucky, like many small towns in the Bluegrass a quiet mix of city and country. From the solitude of a foggy morning to the night traffic on fourth, and from machines that plough the farmlands to the autos that plough the streets at rush hour, Danville offers an escape from Centre. Urbanites and country folk both share in the life of Danville.

Life in Danville tends to be slow-paced. The family unit is still stable. Relaxation and sitting on the front porch is almost a universal hobby. Work goes on, however. A guardsman takes down the flag after a long day. A lone traffic policeman marks tires on his daily sojourns up and down Main Street. The day to day happenings become routine, but they offer a refreshing change from the wonders of dorm life.

The People — A Lifestyle

Old, young and middle-aged all fit into the daily operations of the city. Couples have spent their whole lives in Danville, making it more of a home for those of us who spend only a few years here. Repairs and construction that we never see employ the men below. Hot summer days pass quickly, just like the tax money you gave to pay these men. Danville grows daily, but remains a safe haven for old and young alike.

Olde Centre 1979

Jim Rose — Editor
Dean Langdon — Business Mgr.

I can't exaggerate the importance of the contributions of the people listed below in the creation and completion of this yearbook. Any improvements in the style and delivery date of this book over previous yearbooks are attributable largely to them. If you see something you like an area where they were involved please say something to them, for any appreciation goes a long way toward justifying the long hours. If you see something you don't like, say something to me — as it is at least indirectly my fault — and I will discuss it with next year's editors. Above all, we hope you like it since it is your yearbook and we done our damn'dest.
