FACULTY GINNY HOEING

These are the men and women who teach us. We set them together as a group and call them "the Faculty," but they are no more a homogeneous whole than we are. Their common ground is simply that they teach and (in general) they are older than we are.

We ask a lot of them. We're still idealists who want a combination of Socrates, the Encyclopaedia, Lenny Bruce, and our mother. We've learned not to expect much. We've learned to take what we can and make the most of it, although it's hard not to despise imperfection. We don't always learn what these people think they're teaching. But we learn something, maybe more valuable. What they're teaching may not be what we want or need to learn. They can't tell. They don't fit anyone's ideal conception of "teacher," but when they're good they come close to being gods. We are inclined to sit and worship at the feet of the few, because we've found that they're rare.

We differ too—we each have our own gods. Every leader has at least one follower; every teacher has one disciple. We may not all look for the same things; but we all look. And we find it in these people.

They know. They know they can't be all things to all men. They know what they want to do is not always what they do. Some are trapped, lost, unsure, as we are. Some dreamt dreams and woke up in Centre College. Some still think life is before them, beginning, full of opportunity; some are resigned that this is the end. Some are happy, work to build and change the college. They are the ones who can do something . . . and some of them do.

HISTORY AND

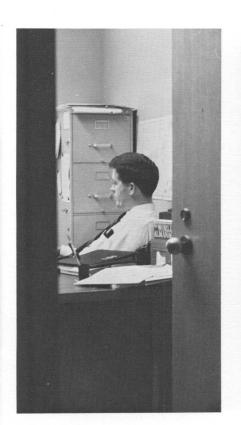

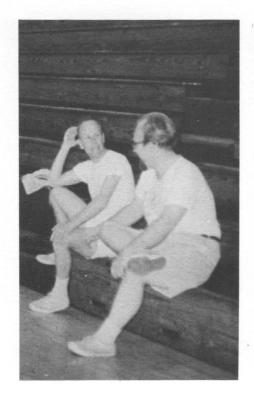

GOVERNMENT

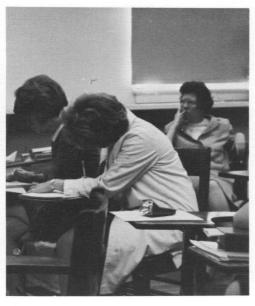

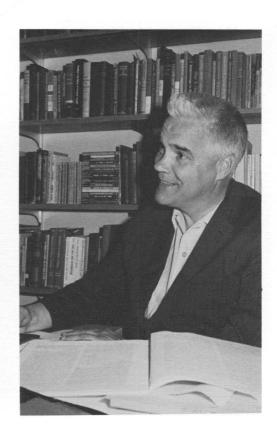

PSYCHOLOGY AND EDUCATION

PHILOSOPHY AND RELIGION

Some of them are helpful. Most really care about us, or about a few of us. They're frustrated, disappointed, feel failure. Some of us remain unreached, unreconciled. We sometimes leave before they can finish the job they've begun. They try to reach us their own ways. Each has a personal theory of teaching. Some talk, a few listen, some create dialogue. To some a subject is what they live.

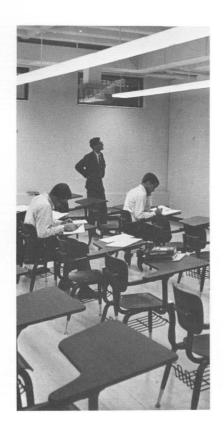

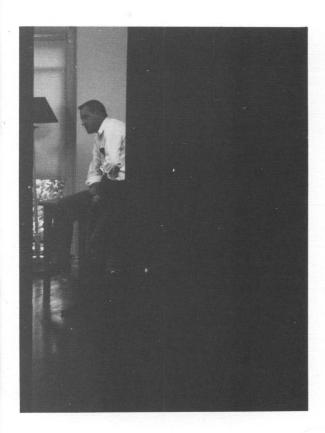

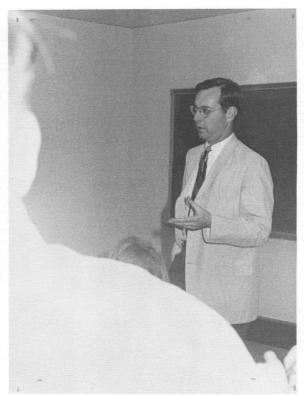

MATHEMATICS

With some of these people we forget it is "we" and "they"—some we call friends, meet outside of class—perhaps not as equals, but with equality. Some have taught too many of us to see any of us as individuals; to some we are always a class, or a type, or an idea. Some never can forget we are "students"—others never remember.

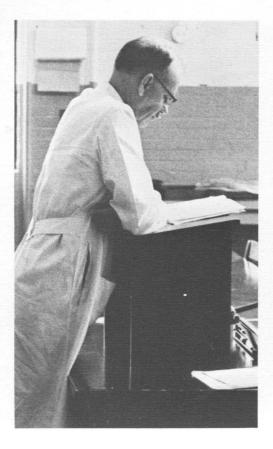

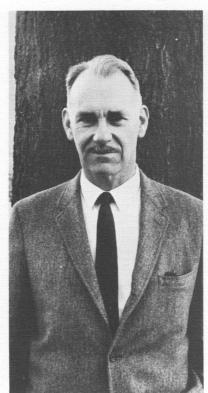

ECONOMICS AND BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

We are guilty of this too. We see them as the authority against which we rebel, the figure in front of the room who faces us with facts and too many words, the demanding professor from whom we hide when we've cut his class or not finished the independent study just yet.

Yet there are minutes when we glimpse our common humanity. There are times when a familiar gesture becomes meaningful as an expression of personality, when we step aside and see them apart from their office, classroom, and routine to guess at their life in their private existence when they think and wonder and mourn. There are sudden insights into the teacher as person, comrade, man, and woman . . . and these are what we remember long after forgetting the theories and dates we memorized. These insights, moments of recognition, are what we have tried to preserve here in pictures.

The one all-campus function still sponsored by a class as a group is the Gardenia Dance. The freshman class of '67 broke with tradition in that for the first time a financial loss was not incurred. The freshmen men nominated twelve girls, from which a court of six was chosen by the vote of the entire class. The court con-

Betsy McKee and Van Young Reign Over Carnival

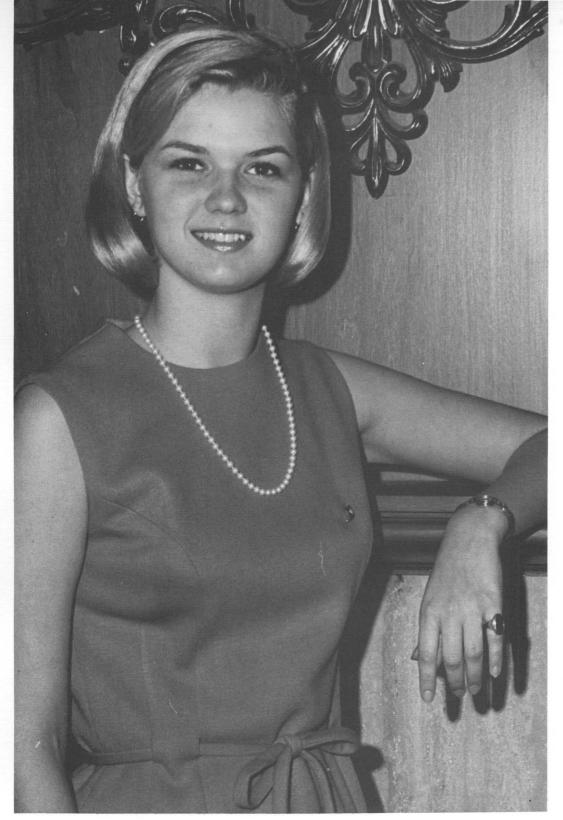

Despite a drizzly Saturday night, the campus enjoyed a Carnival Weekend rich in tradition yet edged with innovation. The weekend began on Friday afternoon with Spring Sing, as usual, with Sigma Alpha Epsilon, as usual, and Cheek-Evans House taking the honors. The traditional Old Centre setting for this event was replaced with the Grace Doherty Library

Betsy McKee and Van Young were crowned Carnival Queen and King on the steps of Old Centre. The pageant has traditionally taken place on the football field.

Long formals, tuxedos, and unsuccessful attempts at sedate dancing highlighted the formal dance. A dwindling crew of drooping couples kept on trying at the informal dance. A hot breakfast and a wet morning made most couples welcome, for once, the time for the girls' dorms to close.

Homecoming, the Christmas Dance, and Carnival were only a few of the many functions sponsored by the Student Congress this year.

The Student Congress becomes forum for campus discussions

The Student Congress officers for this year were Enloe Willingham, president; Jim Coy, vice-president; Francie Skidmore, secretary; Don Preston, treasurer; and Van Young, social chairman.

Enloe Willingham, Student Congress President, spoke at the dedication of the Grace Doherty Library in April.

The Women's Student Council, led by Betty Blandford, works for more liberal rules for women students

The WSC officers this year were Betty Blandford, president; Bonnie Adams, vice-president; Linda Inman, secretary; and Denise Catron, treasurer.

The dorm presidents, Jane Bogardus, Celeste McGehee, Yvonne Peay, and Alice Page, and the class presidents, Sallie Schulten, Patty Bentley, Jackie Collins, and Forrest Roberts, are members of the WSC.

The Honor Code Committee functions as an advisory board concerning rule enforcement and revision.

The junior sponsors live with the freshman girls and serve as advisors and friends as the freshmen adjust to college life.

Judiciaries Seek Justice

The Women's Judiciary, headed by Jennifer Smith, included Ruth Robins, Sylvia Clark, Mary Hardaway, and Kathy Gresh. Ron Carson, chairman of Men's Higher Judiciary, was assisted by John Hubbard, Bob Grady, Ted Kraft, and Rick Mitchell.

SPORTS

Steele Harmon, in his first year as head coach, led the Centre Colonels to their best season since 1955. The Colonels were nationally ranked among small colleges for their defense, one of the country's best. Centre compiled a 7-2 record, defeating a number of old foes, and finishing in a tie for second place among the CAC schools. The quality of Centre's team can be attested to by the fact that the Colonels placed ten men on the All-Conference team. Named to the All-Conference team were: Joe LaMonica, Ben Boone, Jack Smith, Lowell Thompson, Van Young, Jon Murphy, Stan Peskoe, Dick Edwards, Joedy Sharpe, and Jerry Schenz.

The 1966 season was an exciting one, seeing Centre come from behind to win in more than one game. Seniors Van Young and Gary Faulkner were chosen by the team as Honorary Captains. Centre had one of its best seasons in 1966, and an even better one is expected in 1967.

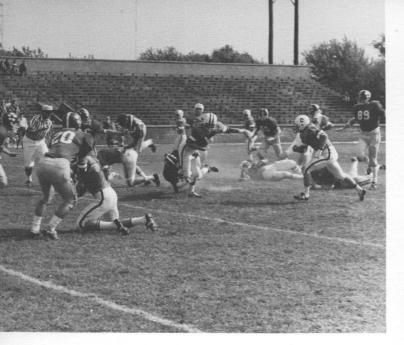

Colonels Capture Kenyon

Centre opened the season against Kenyon. The Colonels, led by Joe LaMonica and Ted Stafford, scored three touchdowns in the first half. LaMonica completed 8 of 9 passes while guiding the team to 243 yards total offense. Centre's defense allowed Kenyon only 57 yards total offense. Buck Rogers set the stage for Centre's first touchdown with an interception. Kenyon's only score came in the third quarter. The Colonels' winning ways were to continue throughout the season.

Centre traveled to Memphis for the second game of the season. Statistically, the Colonels dominated the game. A high snap from center caused Stafford's punt to be blocked. The Lynx recovered on the one yard line and went over to score. Later in the same quarter, a low snap from center forced Stafford to run, and he was tackled on the five, enabling Southwestern to score again. Centre's offense came to life in the fourth quarter when LaMonica directed a 64-yard march, capped by Jerry Ingram's plunge from the one. Ehrhard carried the ball over for the conversion. Time ran out before the Colonels could score again.

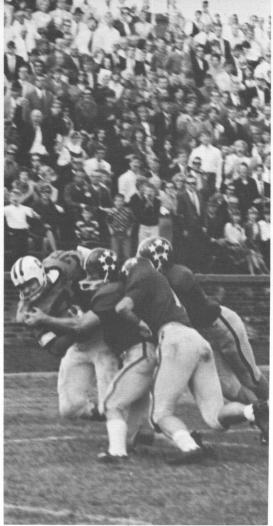

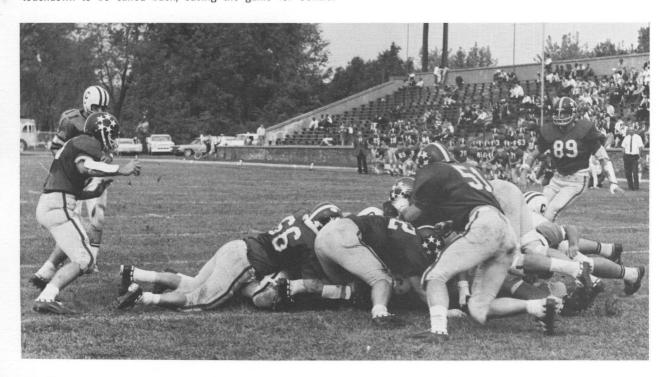

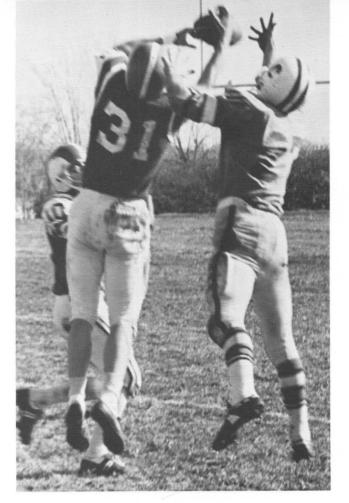

Hapless Victory Heightens Homecoming

The Colonels emerged victorious from their Homecoming battle with Washington and Lee. Centre knocked at the goal line all afternoon, but finally had to depend on the toe of Gary Faulkner for a third quarter field goal for the win. In the first half, the Colonels reached the W&L eleven, one, ten, and twenty-six yard lines and were unable to score. Faulkner attempted two field goals in the first half, both of which missed the mark.

Centre's only score came after returning the second-half kickoff sixty-one yards to the eight, where Faulkner hit the mark. The Generals almost pulled ahead when Centre lost a fumble which was carried sixty-five yards to cross the goal line. However, a penalty against the visitors caused the touchdown to be called back, saving the game for Centre.

Winning Streak Extended By Hanover and Sewanee Defeats

Centre came from behind to defeat Hanover in the rain, 13-12. The Panthers scored first, on a 79-yard march. Hanover scored again after recovering a Centre fumble, and led at halftime, 12-0. Centre did not score until the fourth quarter, when Bill Blackburn blocked a Hanover punt. The deflected ball rolled into the end zone where Joedy Sharpe took possession of it for Centre's first touchdown. Faulkner's kick was good, making the score 12-7. A few minutes later, Centre gained possession on a short, high punt. The Colonels reached the nine, but were driven back to the 30 on fourth down. LaMonica passed to Boone, who scored, after wrestling the ball away from a Hanover defenseman.

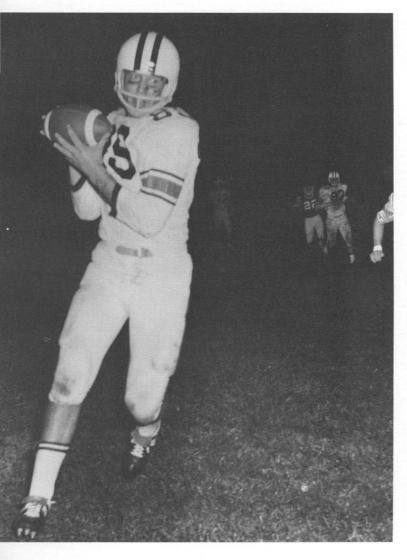

Centre managed to easily defeat Sewanee for the first time since 1957 by the score of 27-0. LaMonica scored the first touchdown for the Colonels in this CAC game. Centre scored after an 85-yard drive to lead at halftime, 14-0. The third quarter was scoreless, but Centre scored twice in the fouth. Jerry Schenz returned a punt 70 yards to set up another Centre touchdown from the fourteen. With four minutes remaining, the Colonels' Blue Team entered the game, and Gary Hall capped a drive by scoring from the two.

Centre Defeats Maryville, Loses to Washington U.

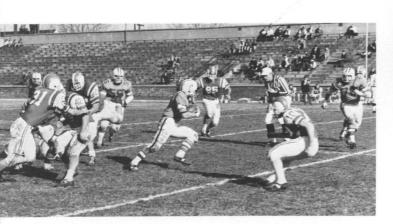

Centre edged Maryville 21-17 on Parents' Weekend. The Colonels entered the game with the No. 3 rating among national small colleges in total defense. The Colonels scored immediately after receiving the opening kickoff and returning it seventyfour yards. Stafford scored from the two, putting Centre into the lead. Early in the second quarter, the Scots scored on a pass and tied the score at 7-7. Centre came back with a 65-yard drive, capped by Boone's dive over right guard for the second touchdown. Centre led at halftime, 14-7. Late in the third quarter, Maryville was able to score on a short punt by Stafford. Stafford's punt set up a field goal and Centre led by 14-10. Later in the game, La-Monica scored from three yards out, and the Colonels were ahead 21-10. The Scots scored once more on a 47-yard pass but were unable to reach the goal line again as Centre won, 21-17.

The Washington University Bears were able to capitalize on a number of Centre errors and defeat the Colonels, 37-14. The Colonels gave up the ball at key points in the game and the Bears were able to take advantage of the opportunities. Centre lost three fumbles and had the ball intercepted twice. Statistics-wise, Centre easily outstripped Washington, but the Colonels were not able to make use of their power. Centre's touchdowns came on a nineyard run by Boone and a 46-yard pass from LaMonica to Takacs.

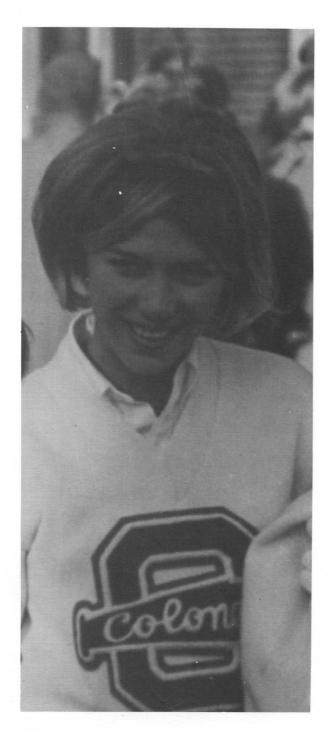

The Colonels scored three times early in the game against Hampden-Sydney. After Centre's early scoring the team settled back and let the nation's eighth best small college defense control the game. The Tigers were able to score twice, but Centre held onto the lead, and went ahead to win, 18-14. Tom Ehrhard and Ben Boone topped the Centre ball-carriers. Ehrhard carried the football 14 times for 58 yards and Boone carried 11 times for 43 yards. The Tigers were only able to gain 45 yards on the ground against Centre's defense.

Centre won a hard-fought game with Rose-Poly by the narrow margin of 15-14. Boone scored on a 38-yard run for the first touchdown, and then carried the ball over for the two-point conversion. Centre's other touchdown came on a 1-yard run by Jerry Ingram. Faulkner made the kick good, enabling Centre to win by one point, 15-14. The game with Rose-Poly ended a very successful season for Centre's Colonels and gave promise of a good season in 1967.

Basketball Fans Depend on Individual Performances for Excitement

The past basketball season was a disappointing one for Centre fans. The Colonels' only victory was a late season win over Berea with a score of 90 to 85. The one consolation for the Colonels' supporters is that the past season was indeed a "building year" for Coach Phillip's team. Many of the outstanding individual performances of the season were turned in by the least experienced members of the team. Many veteran "footstool sportsmen" are predicting that the 1967-68 team will be a hard one to beat.

Pam Racke is representative of the Centre cheerleaders, who were faced with the difficult task of trying to maintain student interest in a losing team.

Colonels Win Only One During Season

Although pre-season predictions were not for the best team in Centre's basketball history, no one was really prepared for the absolute disaster that was the season. Everyone knew that Coach Phillip's players had lost team-mates Mike Marx, Julian Palmer, Charlie Schomaker and others from the previous year, but the student body has a habit of deceiving itself where athletic teams are concerned. When the Colonels fell in the first game of the season to Kentucky Southern by the amazing score of 81-69, the initial reaction (preceded perhaps by a "Kentucky-WHO?") was that of shock. This feeling was only amplified in following games as the Centre team fell time after time by increasing margins. After a humiliating 116-65 loss to arch-rival Hanover, the Colonels seemed to be on the upswing, and lost their next heart-breaking game to Wilmington College by only two points, 86-84. After another near miss at the hands of Villa Madonna, the Colonels dropped another, to Union, by the very secure margin of 94-81, but rebounded to very nearly capture their first win of the season against Berea, losing finally by the score of 70-67.

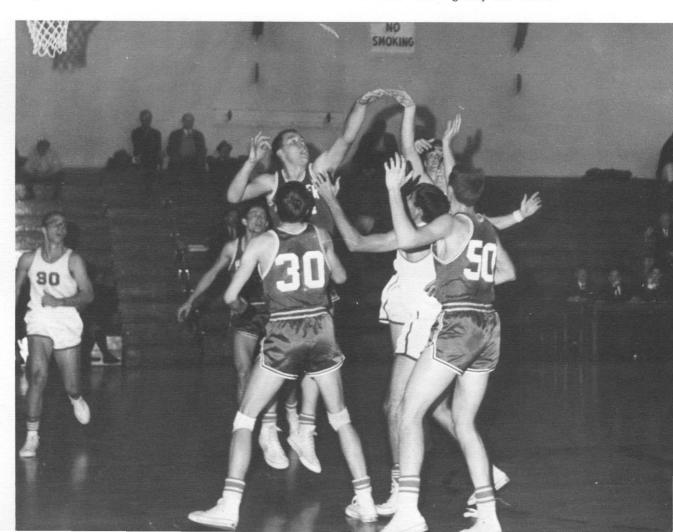

The plight of Benny Arnold was a familiar one to Centre fans. It seemed at times that the man with the ball (particularly if he was a Centre player) was always hemmed in by his opponents, while his team-mates looked on help-lessly.

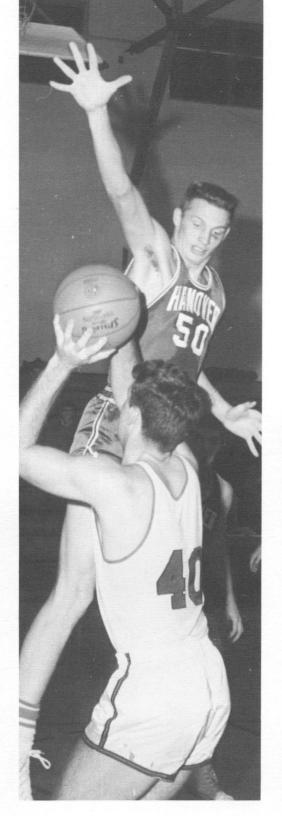

After the loss to Berea, a despondent group of Colonels lost once more, this time to Transylvania, before closing the first half of the season with a winless, 0-9 record.

The second half of the season started with anything but hope as the crippled Colonels fell to Union by the astonishing score of 105-73. The team's woes were multiplied even more when they were further hampered by more injuries and by losses to two Ohio teams, to Kenyon by the score of 94-71 and to Ohio Wesleyan by 74-65. The team fell once again to Transy by the comfortable (for Transy) margin of 85-76, and then lost a cliff-hanger to Maryville by a three point margin, 78-75.

Rejuvenated by the game with Maryville, the Colonels finally picked up a win when they rolled over Berea 90-85. It was a particularly good win because of the earlier, strongly contested game with the same team. In the final regular game of the season, the Colonels gained at least a small measure of self-respect when they lost to a strong Bellarmine team by only three points, in what was probably the most exciting game of the year.

In the CAC tourney, the Colonels fought with a slumping Washington University team, but lost to the much more sophisticated Bears by a score of 87-76, to end the season with a gloomy 1-16 record.

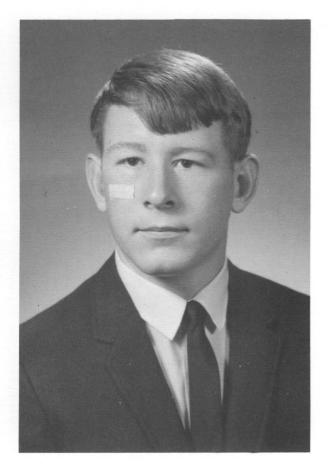

Two of the outstanding non-quitters of the year were Senior Benny Arnold and Junior Bobby Osborne, both of whom were starters nearly every game of the season.

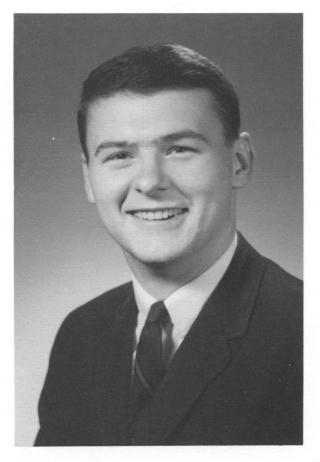

Freshmen Standouts Provide Hope For Next Season

Among Freshmen who contributed a great deal toward what little success the Colonels had were Danny Watkins, Dave Weidle, and Buddy Baker. Buddy led the team in number of assists.

Among other outstanding Freshmen players were Jim Lett and Tim Boyle. Tim can be considered the outstanding player of the year in view of his achieving both the honor of being top scorer and top rebounder.

The mood of Coach Phillips can be considered indicative of the mood of most onlookers at the end of the past season; sad and despondent, but with a glimmer of hope for next year.

Colonels Improve in Track and Field

Centre did well in the fall—the Cross-Country team finished the season with an even 4-4 record, and finished 4th in the CAC Cross-Country Meet, held at Centre. The team was made up of two sophomores and four freshmen, indicating strong teams for several years to come. In the spring, Centre's track team also broke even, with a 3-3 record. New school records were set by Kleine in the Pole Vault, Easley in the 440-yard Intermediate Hurdles, and the 440-yard Relay Team broke the old record. Easley also tied the old record in the 120-yard High Hurdles. One of the brightest aspects of Centre's track team was the mile relay team, which broke the record in that event.

In Centre's first meet, against Berea, the Colonels broke four records. The 440 relay team, Mike Easley, Joe La-Monica, Gary Kleine, and Tom Ehrhard, broke the school record in that event; the record in the mile relay was broken by LaMonica, Preston Miles, Wes White, and Bob Colclough; Gary Kleine set a new pole vault record; and Mike Easley set a new record in the 440 intermediate hurdles.

Centre lost its second meet to the University of Louisville, but won its meet against Campbellsville. Gary Kleine vaulted for a new record in the pole vault, and Centre placed first in ten of fourteen events, sweeping all three places in two events.

The Colonels went on to lose to Georgetown, but the Colonels soundly defeated Union. The regular season was ended with a loss to Hanover. Centre's Colonels did very well in the CAC Meet in Memphis. The 440 relay team, as well as the mile relay team, finished fourth. Mike Easley finished third in the intermediate hurdles. The high point of the meet for Centre was Bobby Colclough's first place finish in the 880 yard run, in a time of 1:58.7. Mike Easley tied the CAC record for the high hurdles, Gary Kleine finished third in the pole vault, Ben Boone finished fifth in the pole vault, Jerry Schenz placed fifth in the broad jump, and Jerry Ingram finished fourth in the shot put.

Cindermen Try Harder

Colonels Defeat Washington U., Making Up for Early Losing Streak

Centre's Colonels started slowly, losing the first four games, but came back to compile a 6-12 record. The Colonels were plagued with errors in their opening games, as well as pitching problems. Centre won its first game against Transylvania on a four-hitter by Steve Garrett, who also struck out thirteen batters. The team continued to improve on its slow start by winning two more from Transy. The Colonels continued the season by beating Hanover and Union.

The high point of the season came in Memphis at the CAC Tournament. The Colonels defeated Washington University in their first game of the season. This was Washington's first loss to another CAC school. Centre gathered three runs in both the second and seventh innings. In the second inning, Garrett walked and came home on Paul Ethridge's double. Hamilton singled, bringing Cotcamp home. In the seventh inning, Ethridge reached base on an error. Cotcamp sacrificed him to second, Dean and Silvey singled, scoring Ethridge and Dean. Silvey crossed home when Faulkner singled.

In the finals of the Tournament, Centre faced Sewanee. Sewanee jumped off to a two-run lead in the first inning and easily won 15-5. Bill Silvey was named to the All-Conference Team as an outfielder. Gary Faulkner was selected team captain, and Steve Garrett was named Most Valuble Player.

Win Over UL Highlghts Golf Season

The Golf Team finished the year with a 6-14 record. During spring vacation the team toured Tennessee, playing Arkansas State, Southwestern, Sewanee, Middle Tennessee and Tennessee Tech. The only match which the team was able to win was with Arkansas, by a score of 13-11. Returning from Tennessee, the Colonels faced Bellarmine and Kentucky Wesleyan, losing to both, then defeated Transylvania 15-9. The highlight of the regular season was the match with the University of Louisville. John Sturges shot a par 72 in leading the team to the big win over UL.

At the end of the regular season, the team played in the CAC tournament. The Colonels finished fourth in the tourney, only 13 strokes off the pace. Mike Lick placed third in the conference meet, leading the team in the tournament, and finishing the season with a flourish.

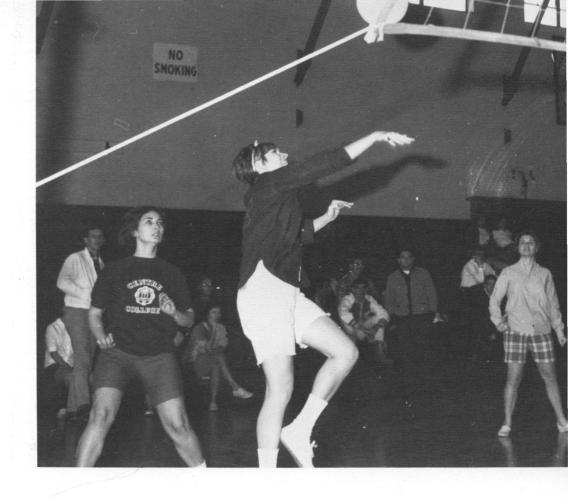

Townsend Finishes Strong in CAC Meet

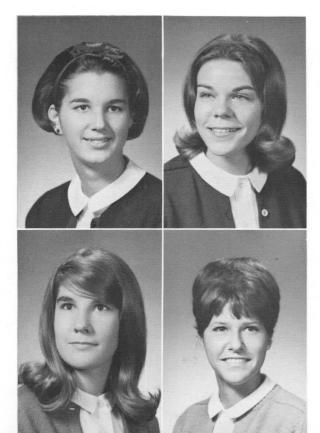

Centre's tennis team started the season well with a 7-0 win over Villa Madonna. Duane VanHorn, playing number one for this match, led the team to an easy victory. Though off to a good start, the team lost all momentum, and fell easily to their next three opponents (Bellarmine, UK, and Transylvania), before rebounding with a 6-3 win over Campbellsville College. The Colonels were outclassed in their next meet, however, and fell to a strong U. of L. team.

At the CAC tournament, Richard Townsend helped to revive the Colonels' failing spirits with a fourth place finish in singles competition, and then went on to an equal finish in the doubles division with teammate Duane VanHorn. After the tourney, the Colonels came home with a 5-8 season record.

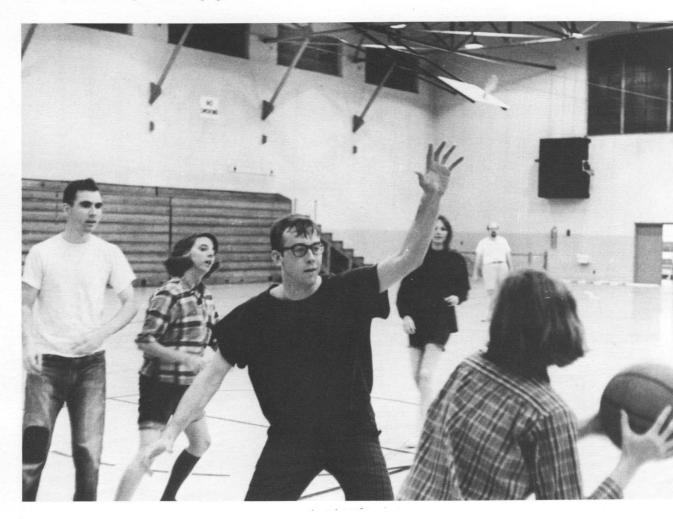

WRA Elects Chairmen

Pictured are four of the seven chairmen in charge of handling the various functions of the WRA. They are Anne Durham, publicity; Susan Grissom, field hockey; Beverly Morris, modern dance; and Judy Sitz, tennis. The WRA was headed this year by Gwen Sibley, president; Suellen Douse, vice-president; and Mary Anne Royster, treasurer. Teams were organized in field hockey, basketball, and volleyball; and the Modern Dance Association of the WRA presented a recital in February.

Dekes Win All-Sports Trophy

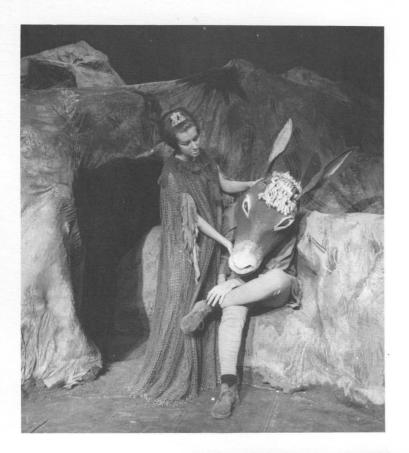

Intramural competition ranges from blood-giving, through sports, and on to float-building (with a short stop at academic competition). A source of intense and constant rivalry, intramurals are, nonetheless, the only area of a concentrated meeting of campus sects on a sub-official basis.

In sports, the Dekes won football, basketball, and, predictably, the all-sports trophy. The Phis, somewhat fallen from the all-encompassing glory of the immediately past years, still managed to retain the basketball tournament crown and took a host of seconds, though they appeared to be in danger of losing the treasured Yerkes cup. Other prizes, awards, mementos, etc., were distributed very evenly among the trophy-cases and foyer credenzas of the various dorms, houses, or what-not.

A DREAM

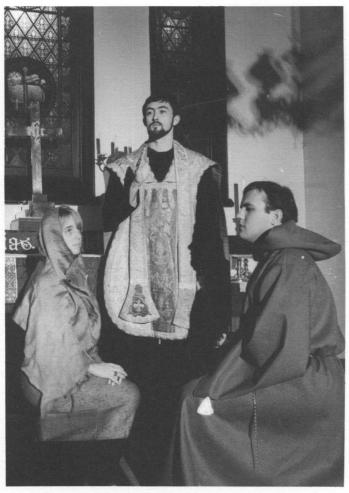

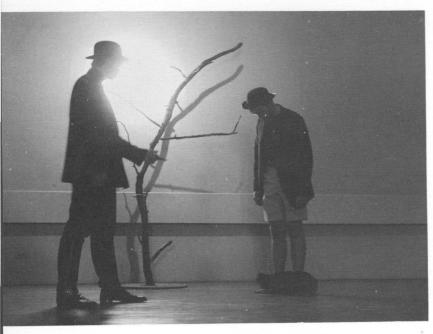

A SAINT

A WAIT

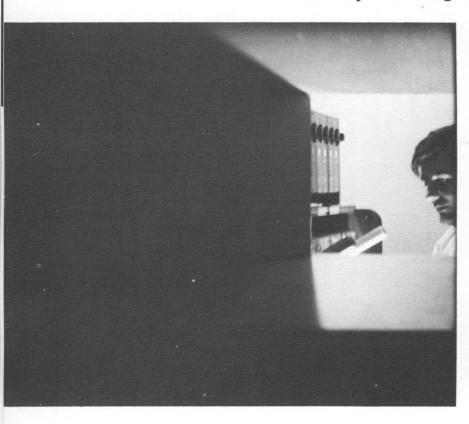

A Party At George and Martha's

The Play's The Thing

Dr. Hill is fond of reminding his charges that there can be no criticism of a college performance, only criticism of a performance. During the course of Dr. Hill's twenty years at Centre, college playgoers have become accustomed to a standard of performance that can be compared favorably with any, professional or amateur. Though not a particularly outstanding year, the past season was not a disappointing one. Material ranged from the ultra-classic "A Midsummer Night's Dream" (Dr. Hill's fourth Shakespearean production) to the bizarre "Waiting for Godot."

The most elaborate endeavor of the year was the fall production, "A Midsummer Night's Dream." The traditional format for the players has become that of choosing an elaborate and well-known vehicle for the fall production, following it with an equally well-known but less elaborate play for the winter effort, and climaxing the year with some sort of experimental endeavor. "MND" was definitely the most "large-scale" production, with Greek classical sets, woodland scenery, and a complete pack of Shakespearean fools.

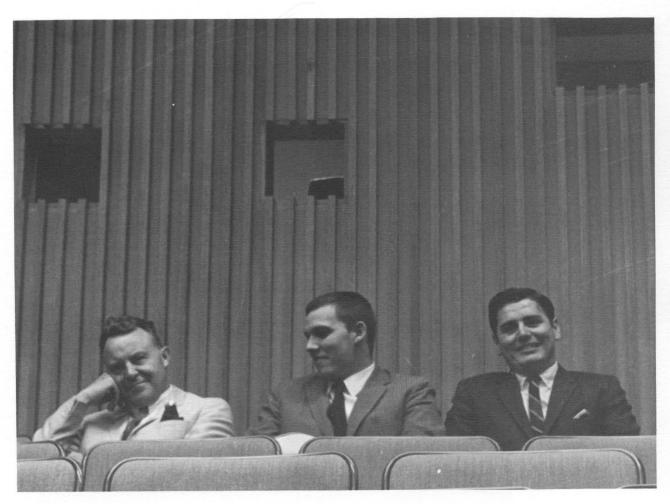

After holding forth in Danville's Trinity Episcopal Church for a March week, the players took their winter production, "Murder in the Cathedral," on tour to various cities in Kentucky. Despite minor tragedies such as the late arrival of costumes, locked doors at inopportune times, and a choir inclined toward the comic, the players managed to turn the "talky" Eliot drama into a very exciting production, at least for the participants.

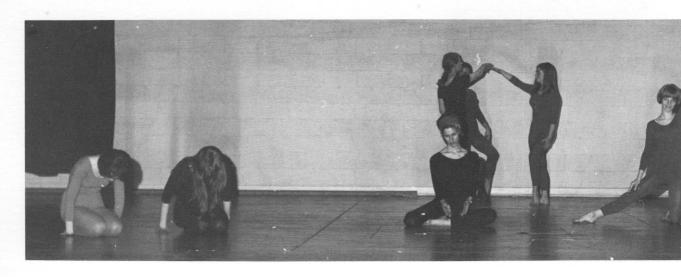

A very special topping for the Centre Players' twentieth anniversary cake was provided by the Spring production. Members of the acting and directing class joined together to present complete productions of "Fumed Oak," "The Lesson," and "Waiting for Godot." This bonanza of dramatic activity was further enhanced by cuttings from "The Rainmaker," "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf," and an original pantomine. The week of frenzy ended in due course, and the Centre Players were able to breath contentedly after this final multitude of offerings.

... A word about the players. Although one of the most loosely organized groups on campus, it is, none-theless, the most active. It was guided this year by Al Nelon, who deserves special recognition because of his many contributions through the players. His dramatic experience ranged from a fine supporting role in "Death of a Salesman" to his unforgettable characterization of "El Gallo" in "The Fantastics." This year he took leading roles in both "Dream" and "Murder," and was awarded the director's prize for outstanding dramatic contribution to campus theatre.

But it is people like Steve Young, Kay Lilly, Ginny Hoeing, Thayr Ritchie, John Rogers, Alan Culler, and Chuck Bolton who formed the backbone of the Centre Players . . . people willing to accept the maxim that there are no small parts, thus participating in all three productions . . . people proving that indeed "the play's the thing."

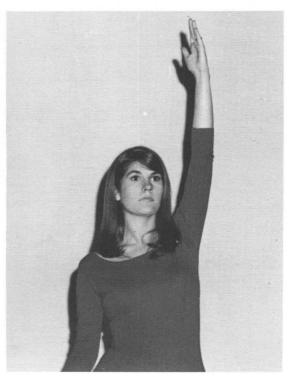

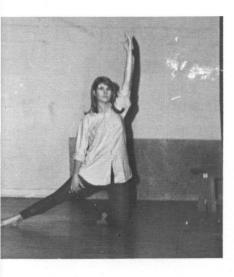

Dancers Update Tradition

One of the most ancient forms of artistic expression is the dance, and one of the most exciting forms of the dance is modern interpretative dancing. The Centre Modern Dance Association entered its second full year this year, and added quite a bit to the artistic scene with its winter recital, which was highlighted by the the dance interpretation of "God's Trombones."

Probably the most under-rated group on campus is the college choir. The impressions that most people have of the choir is that of a group of people needing hours, supplemented by a few Tudor Singers seeking Kelso "brownies." On the contrary, the choir not only makes chapel a little more worthwhile for the faithful few, but this year, for the first time, gave an excellent concert.

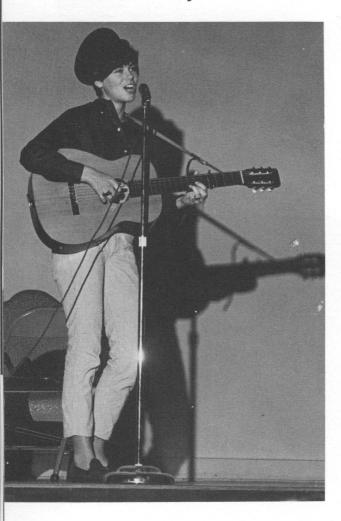

For Tudor Singers, however, this was anything but a year of great progress. Although the traditional Christmas concert was one of the highlights of the year, the Spring concert was one of the most disappointing of the year's events. Mr. Kelso's group was constantly plagued by absenteeism, drop-outs, and laziness, particularly among the older members of the group.

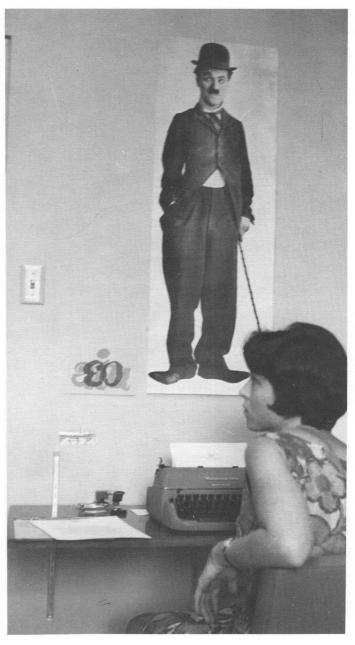

Musical Competition Increases

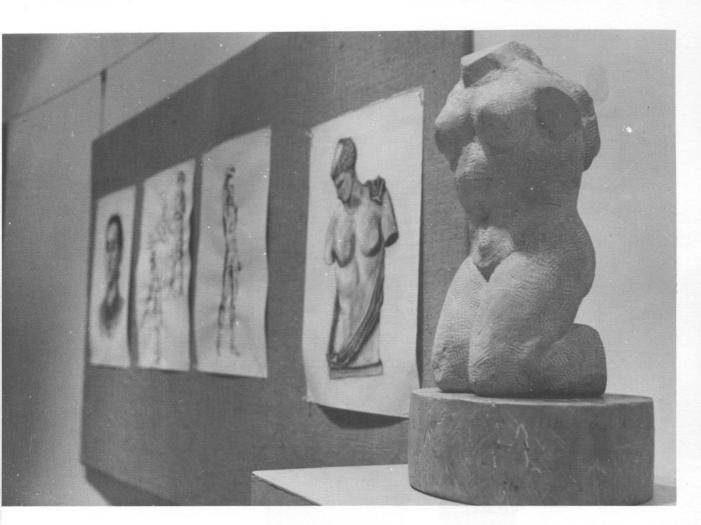

Students Find Limited Outlets For Creative Ability

Interested students combined with "Winkie" Hutchins to produce the most diversified and efficiently run Image Film program in several years.

Miss Sherry Landrum was one of Centre's outstanding exponents of guitar and voice. She performed at both Orientation and Parents Weekend.

The winning Homecoming decoration, representative of the senior women and primarily the effort of Lori Emory, was one of many fine creative endeavors during this weekend.

RODERICK R. HUFF

In retrospect, the year 1966-1967 had all the normal highs and lows, supplemented by overwhelming joy and unbearable sorrow. With the fall came the smug self-satisfaction that always comes with a championship football team. But in the spring there was the stunning blow of the sudden death of a friend, John Duff. But there was the natural exuberance of spring to ease some of the pain. And there is always time.

There is so much to be said that cannot be said merely with slick pages and glossy photographs—an indescribable something that cannot be expressed, one which manifests itself as the melancholy of a feeling growing up. We would like to be able to say what it is to discover that two-tenths of a point has kept you off of the Dean's List, or how it feels to breathe a sigh of relief when you type the last page ten minutes before class. But these are things that must be felt, and then recalled. It is our hope that, in perhaps ten years, you will look at Old Centre 1967 and recall.

In remembering the year 1967, you will perhaps think, as we do now, of the outstanding winners of the year: people like Libby Dedman, whose beauty represented us so well, and John Harrod, whose brilliance won for him a Rhodes Scholarship.

But remember also the "losers," for, in losing, many of them served as ably as winning ever could. Remember students like Mark Harris, whose failure at trying to make the Cento a living organ of the student body merely pointed up the complacent, apathetic attitude of most of us.

Remember Adam Fischer, Eric Mount, Winkie Hutchings, and other teachers like them, who cared more for the student than for the machinery of a college.

Remember student organizations such as the Image Film committee, who managed to compile one of the best film schedules available—one wasted, unfortunately, on its audience. Remember other organizations, perhaps the WSC and the IFC, both of which worked for a more mature self-direction of student affairs.

But also remember teachers who lived for academics and records, students who didn't care, and organizations that were merely dead honors, archaic traditions. Remember the success and the failure, the good and the bad. Only then can you remember Centre College and the short year that was one-fourth of a segment known as the best years of our lives.
