Preamble

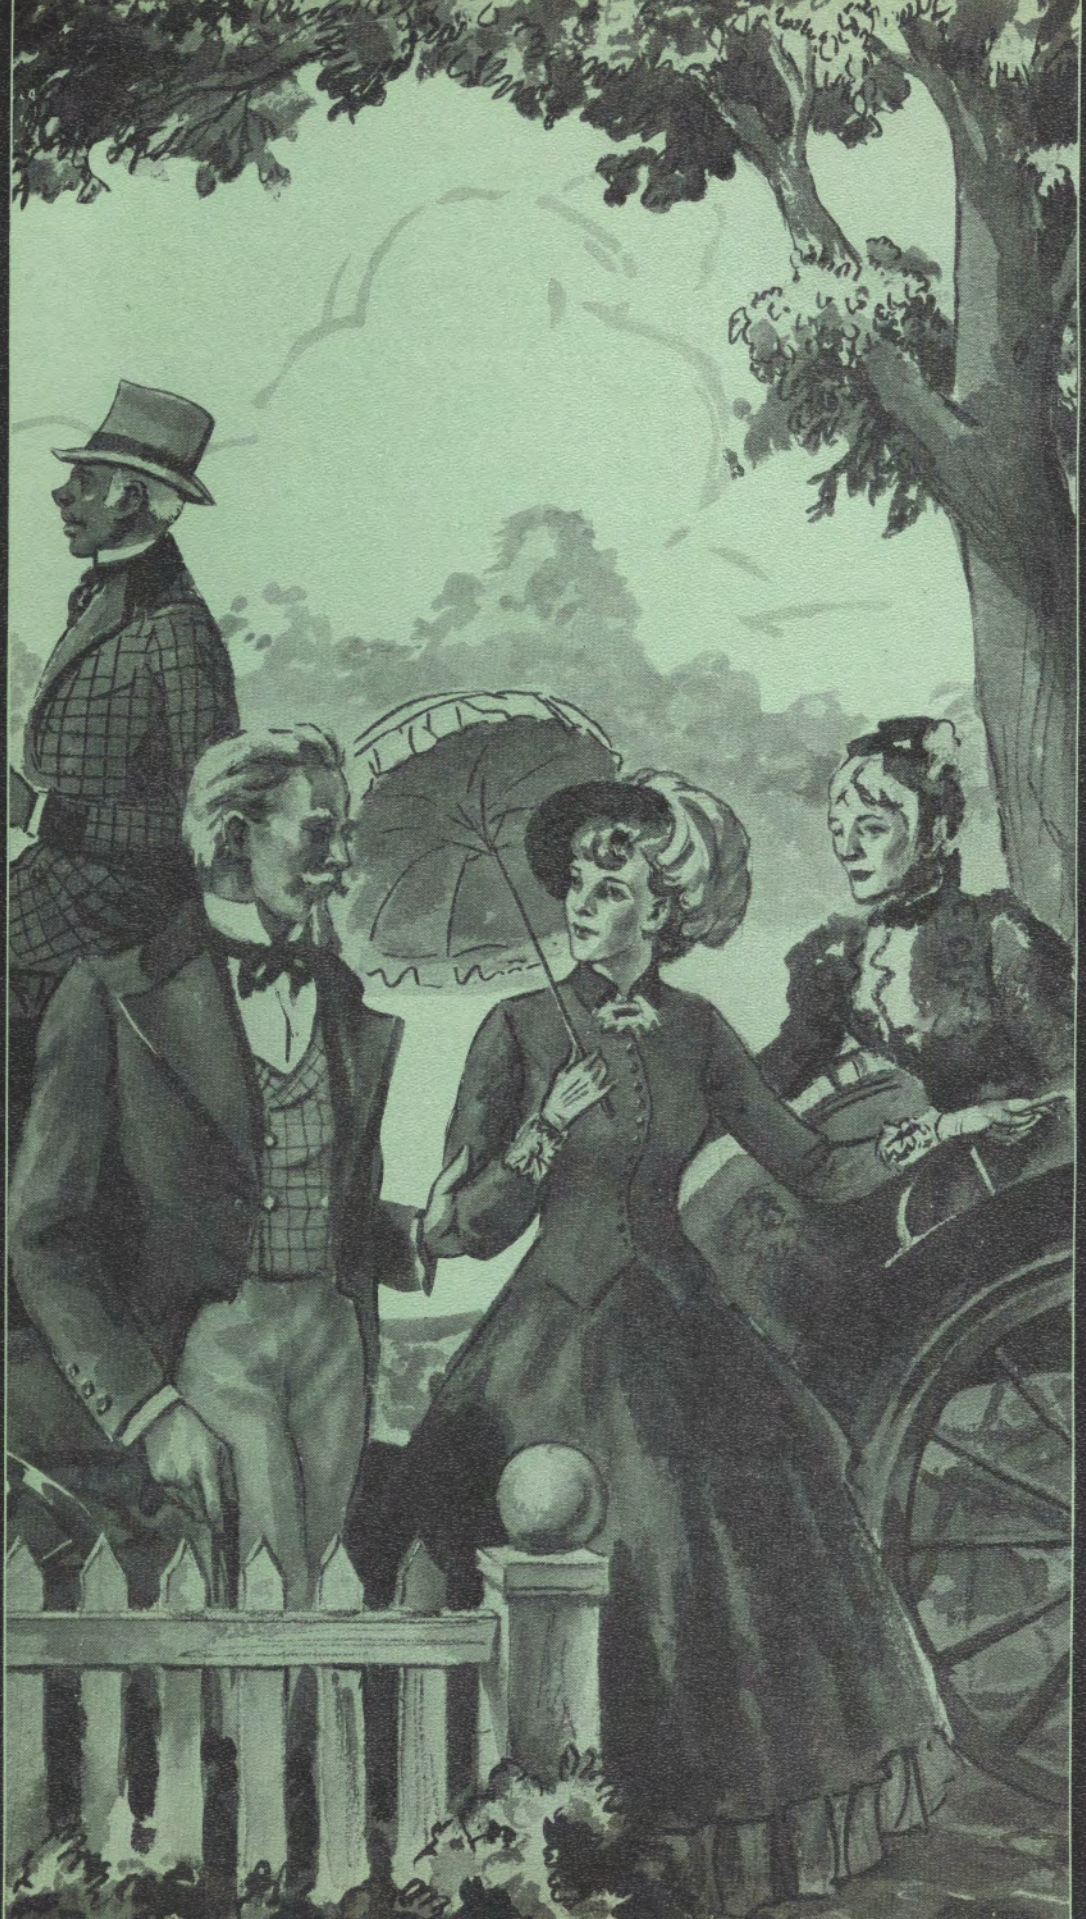

*As you turn perfunctorily from page to page,
Try, if you will, our theme to gauge.*

*Long, long did we probe for it,
But verily it seems there is not left a bit of it.*

*So, in frantic desperation for a mode,
We turned to old "Kaintucky" to bear the load.*

*Therefore, we prithee, pay careful note to him, the old twister,
The old "Kaintucky" Colonel with the long drooping Whisker.*

CENTRE COLLEGE

DANVILLE, KENTUCKY

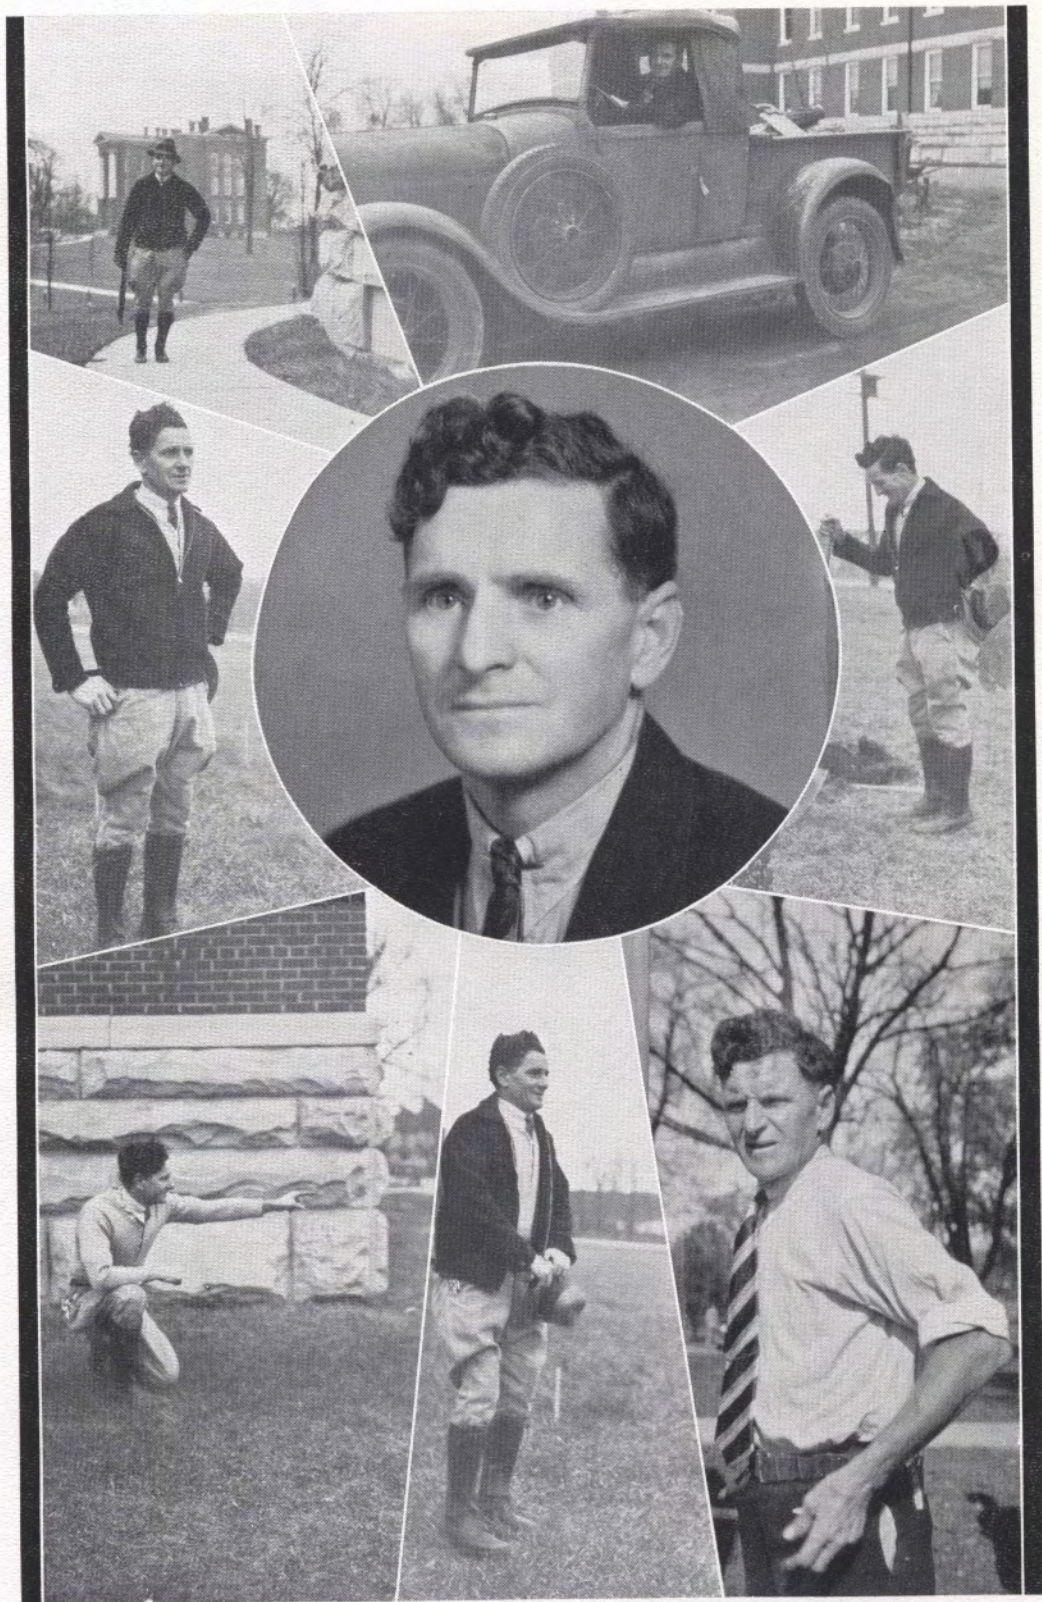

A Tribute to . . .

JACOB J. STEIGER

Of all the pleasure that has been ours in editing this book we hold as the greatest that of dedicating this volume to Mr. Jacob J. Steiger, one of the truest friends to be found anywhere. A gentleman supreme who has demonstrated that type of friendship which has service for its watchword. Not that type which is characterized solely by smiles and petty favors, but rather that kind which ever acts as a supporting influence during periods of trial and tribulation. We shall all remember this man as a real man when we have passed out into the maelstrom of life.

WHERE WE LEARN OUR GRADES AND SEE THE DEAN

OLD CENTRE

*Here in these olden halls
All Centre students gather in the fall
To put their names on yellow cards.
And in the spring to these halls the studes
Returneth to see whether
They can sign the yellow card the Following fall.*

MAIN BUILDING

*Stray canines as well as students
Gather here in Old Main in the Lifelong quest for knowledge.*

WHERE WE SUFFER FROM FOUL ODORS

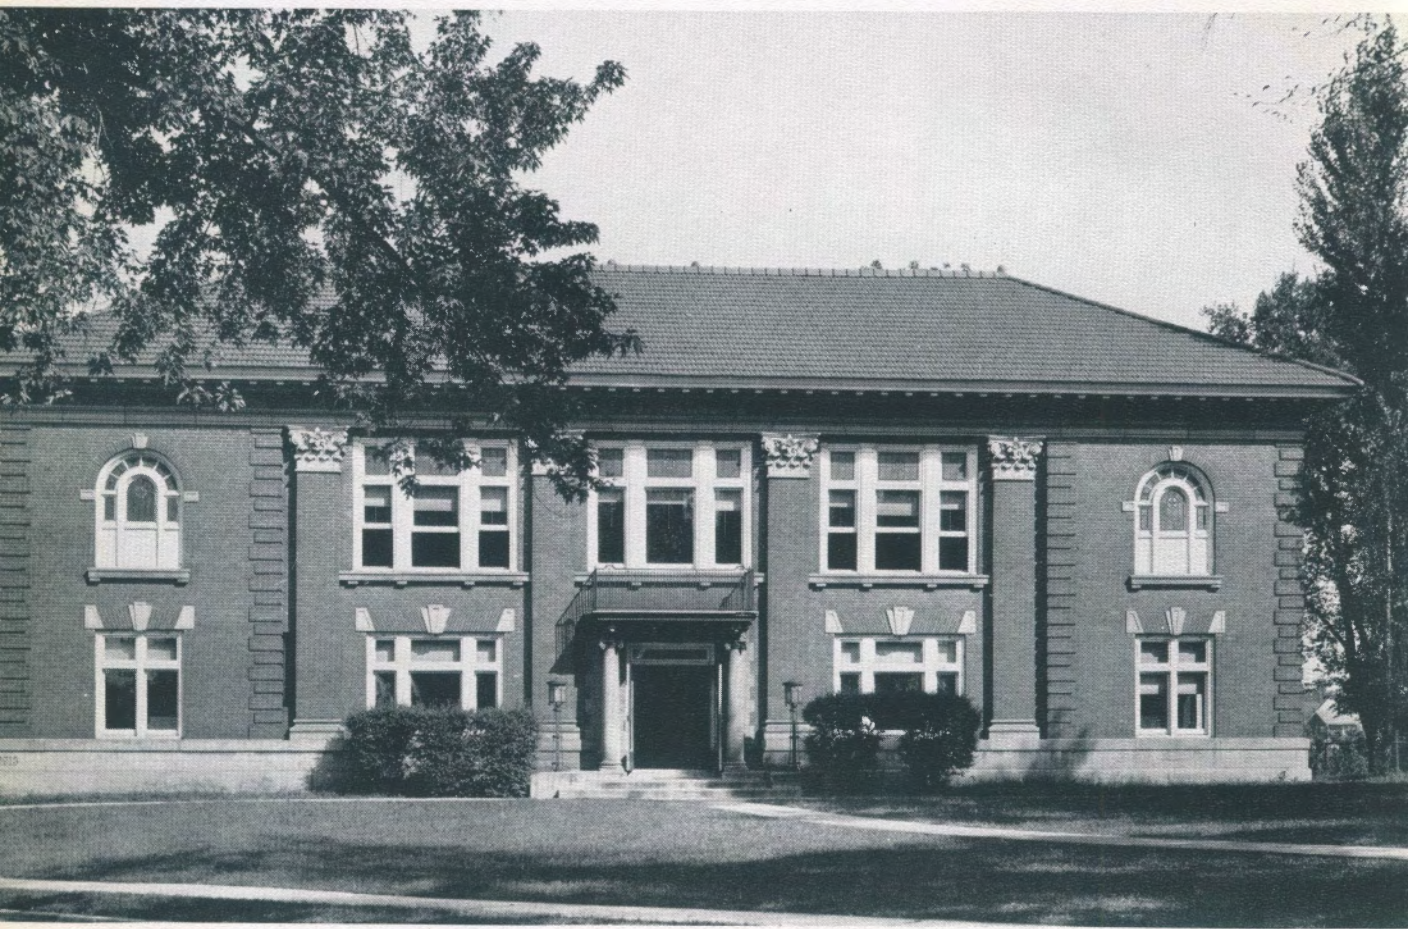

SCIENCE BUILDING

*Pickled animals, foul odors, and Gadgets galore fill this building
To overflowing. Contained herein are the labs
Of Biology, Chemistry, and Physics.*

WE SELDOM GO HERE TO READ; OFTEN TO SEE PROFS

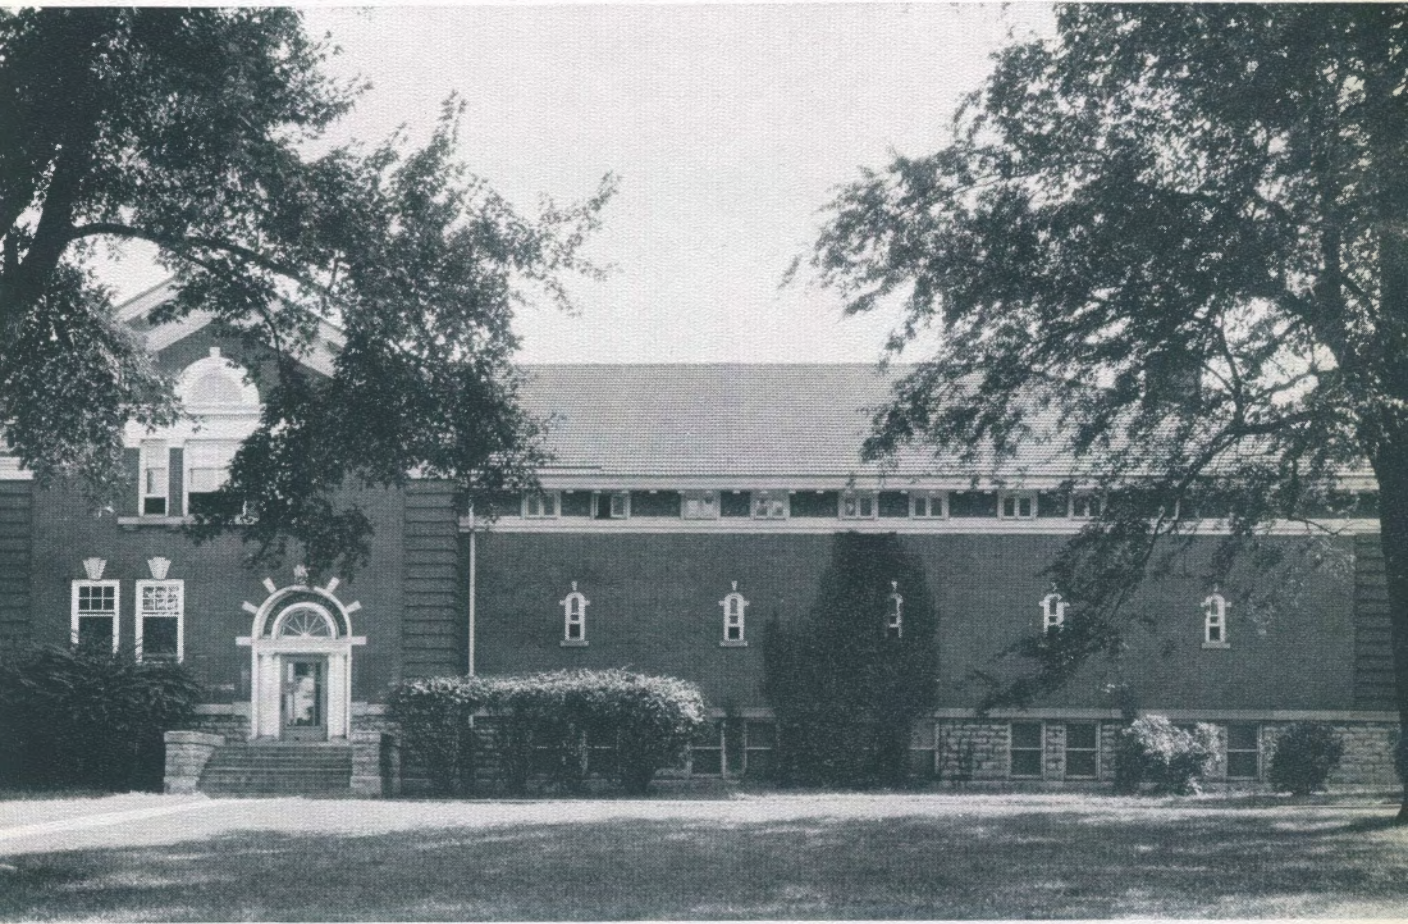

LIBRARY

*Musty books, old books, new books,
Worn books, they are all here.
Regardless of their condition the Smallest, the very smallest minority
Are ever "cracked."*

HERE SLEEP THE FRESHMAN GRIDDERS

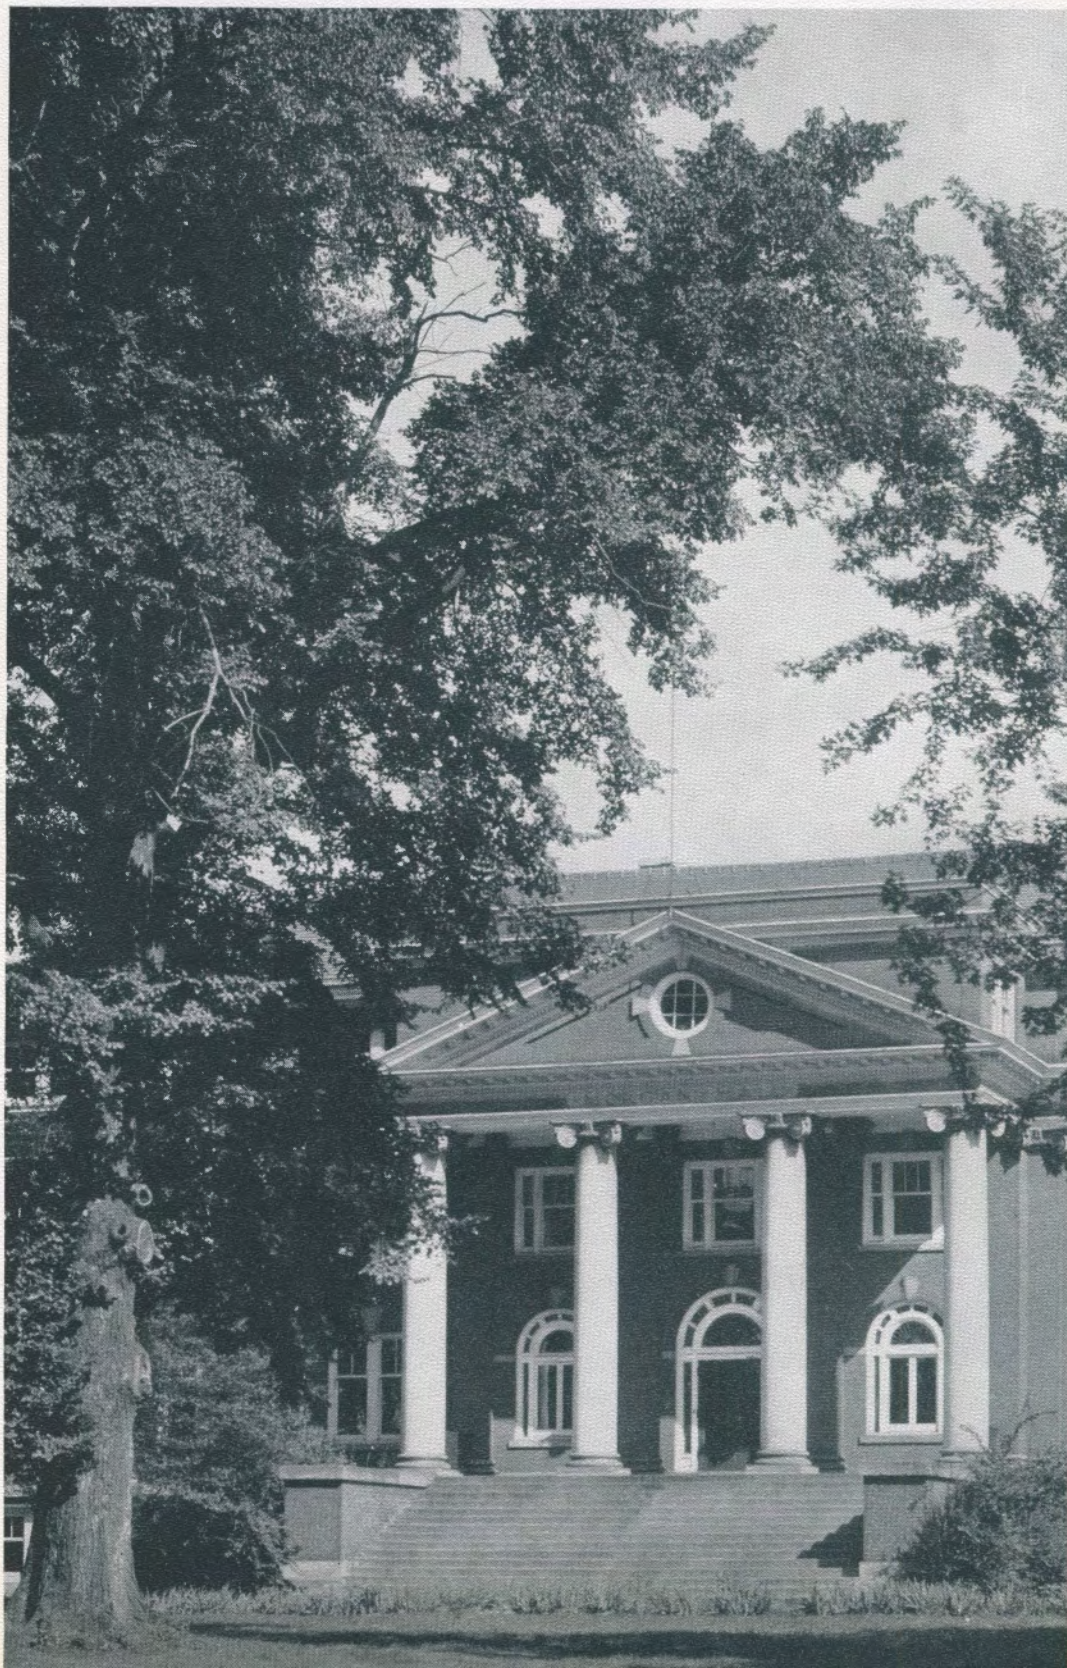

GYMNASIUM

*Dedicated to sweat and muscle
Is this noble structure.
Men enter here, don athletic togs
And, lo and behold, they emerge
"Praying Colonels."*

THE GIRLS LEARN HERE ABOUT EVERYTHING

MORGAN HALL

BRECK HALL

*Here above dwelleth the men, say no more.
Enough of them has been said already.*

*Across the page you see where
The Dean of the Woman's Department
Reigns and teaches the girls her ways.*

WHERE THE LASSIES REST THEIR HEADS

EAST HALL

*'Tis rumored about that practically
All the men of Centre have visited Here. This is the place that Shelters the freshmen of
Our never-to-be-neglected
Woman's Department.*

A GREETING FROM OUR . . . PRESIDENT

At the close of what has proved, I hope, to be a happy year for every student of Centre College, I want to give each one the assurance of a friendly interest that will follow you through life. The chain may lengthen that holds you to Old Centre, but it will never break. The marks of your experiences here are in your life. You henceforth represent Centre College to the world. Let something of the old tradition of culture and character that has grown up around the campus of Old Centre live in your hearts always. Never fail to be tolerant, for it is the mark of scholarship. Never fail to be brotherly, for that is the expression of the good character. Through such qualities in your own lives, shared with others, Centre College serves the world. Through you the college speaks.

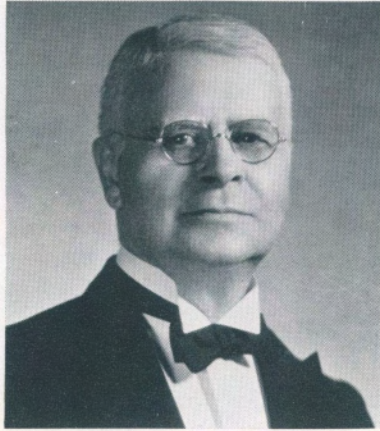

Sincerely your friend,

CHARLES J. TURCK,
President.

DR. CHARLES J. TURCK
President, Centre College

DEANS OF THE COLLEGE

DR. FRANK L. RAINEY
Dean of Men

MISS LUCY THOMAS
Dean of Women

GREETINGS FROM THE DEANS

I sincerely appreciate the privilege extended to me by the Editor of OLDE CENTRE of sending a greeting to the students, past and present, of the college that we so fondly cherish. The years of service that I have been permitted to give to Centre have been rich in valued associations with the men and women who have passed through her venerable halls. You have made and are making her history and traditions. That indefinable something that we call the spirit of the college is a matter of growth. It is not a sudden creation, but is a thing of progress and of change. It is your possession. My hope is that as the years pass each one of you will make your proper contribution to it. So Olde Centre will continue as a force for higher things in the cause of our common humanity.

FRANK L. RAINEY, Dean.

Another College year has come to its completion.

The Centre College Annual of 1936 makes its bow to an expectant body of students who have eagerly looked forward to its appearance.

As we look back upon the college year we have just cause to feel satisfaction in many ways. We may congratulate ourselves upon the personnel of our students and upon the high academic qualities of our faculty.

The Woman's Department bids a regretful good-bye to the Senior Class of 1936. There is going out from us, into the new world that lies ahead, a group of young men and women, many of whom are filled with earnest ambitions, all of whom are likable. We look confidently to them to uphold the high standards of Centre College. They take with them our heartiest wishes for their prosperity and happiness. With all our hearts, we wish them Godspeed and bon voyage.

LUCY B. THOMAS,
Dean of Women.

1. Miss Keep doesn't look natural without some kind of gymnasium equipment around. . . . 2. We wonder if Dr. Rush, our faculty advisor, will smile like this when he sees the Annual. . . . 3. Miss Record, with the cheery smile that brightens library hours and Latin worries. . . . 4. Miss Nan Wood is hard to please about a picture, but we hope that she likes this one. . . . 5. Miss Cheek, the new member of the Woman's Department faculty, who is instructor of Sociology. . . . 6. We have Dr. Porter where we want him. He can't tease us. . . . 7. Miss Sutton is the one who smiles at us when we get those bad grades. . . . 8. Eddie Owens has grown up on us, and is now on the faculty. . . . 9. Miss Caldwell is the one who ushers us in to see Dr. Turck. . . . 10. Mr. Bottom doesn't look as hard as he did when he expounded freshman math to us. . . . 11. Miss Kautz, spirited musician and a ready friend,

A FEW OF OUR PROFS . . .

1. Miss Smith, Home Economics instructor, plus an extra talent for good sportsmanship. . . . 2. Doctor Munn, Economics Prof., with one of those extra fine ties and collars. . . . 3. So sorry, Miss Sweeney, the camera won't bring out your red tresses. . . . 4. Prof. McCoy, the versatile man, Spanish instructor, Tennis coach, and Band director. . . . 5. "Doc" Biles, fisherman, huntsman, dog fancier, and incidentally teacher of Physics. . . . 6. Judge Minor—expert on taxes, finance, and utilities. . . . 7. Mr. Ross Taylor, English Prof and native of the short grass country. Also, he is Prexy of the Tall Story Club. . . . 8. The walking library—Dr. Cochran, Psychology Prof. . . . 9. Dr. Thornton Terhune—of the snappy "Good Morning, Gentlemen" fame. . . . 10. This is the man who keeps Centre on a paying basis, Herb Meyer, Business Manager.

A FEW MORE PROFS . . .

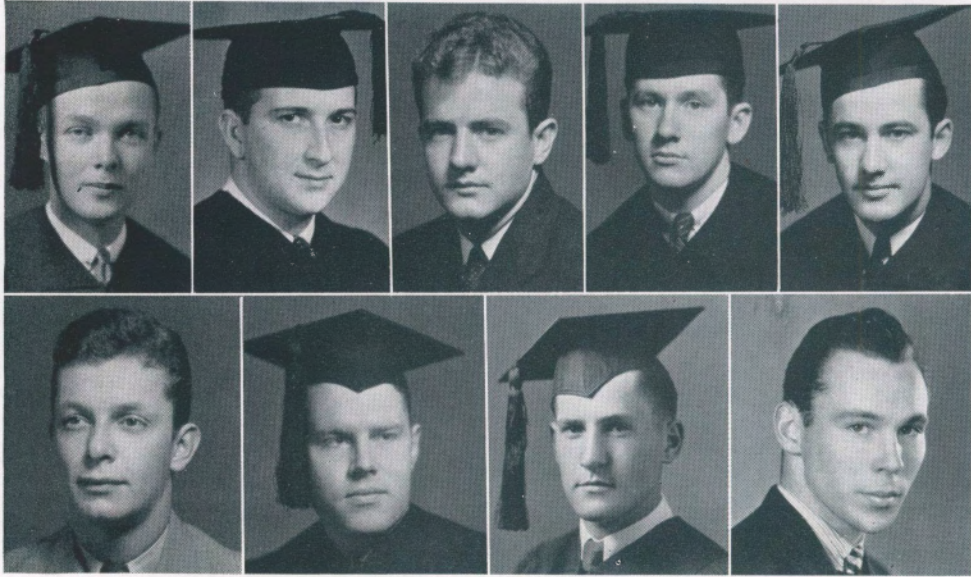

1. Dr. Knott, our French prof who reads a lot and always tries to keep things going up, up, and up . . .
 2. Dr. Allen certainly can tell you about the social, political, and economic upheavals of Europe . . .
 3. Dr. Fuchs may be the dispensary of German knowledge, but he likes the Park too . . . 4. Dr. Fehn can tell you all about Math, and what's more, we all are going to be glad to see him back in the classroom. 5. The color of your hair won't show up in this picture, Mrs. Cheek . . . 6. This lady, Mrs. Harlan, is responsible for those fine Glee Club programs, especially that "Woof, Woof" number . . . 7. If any of you do not like your pictures, Dr. Cook is the man who made them for us . . .

 8. Pat is the greatest Latin student on the campus, at least as far as et cetera is concerned . . . 9. Dr. Cheek, our Bible instructor, used to go to Princeton . . . 10. Dr. Hewlett, though an English prof, seems to know more about what boys and girls ought to do . . . 11. Dr. Munn from Georgia, again . . . 12 and 13. Dr. and Mrs. McMullen. We put their pictures right together . . .

DAVID WARREN ROBERTS
President of the Student Body

The Student Council under the capable and energetic leadership of its president, David Roberts, has done much during the year to promote the welfare of the students and the college. Under its auspices dances are held from time to time, school elections are conducted, intramural sports are overseen, and in general the attempt is made to harmonize the different interests and factions in college life so that college life itself will be more pleasant and beneficial to the student.

T H E C L A S S E S

*These stately legislators convene in solemn assembly,
For theirs is the task of governing so nimbly.*

*Together with one another deftly do they converse,
Matters of procedure, social sequence, but never a thing terse.*

*In corresponding manner the halls of our college,
Offer opportunities for accretion of knowledge.*

*Yet like the assembly of legislators of yore,
There is more we learn than matters of ancient lore.*

*Oh see those fair ladies with their escorts viewing the race,
That thing was done in the old days at a rapid pace.*

*Now county fairs there may be no more,—but a football game,
Can't you conceive of the general situation as the same?*

*There in the box are the sponsors with their dates,
And all around a motley crowd, their interests as diverse as fate.*

*A cheer here; a spirited lad there,
Everyone intent on the other's fare.*

THE YEAR IN SPORT—

If one considers tradition only, it might seem that the only sport engaged in at Centre College is football. It is true that it is undoubtedly the sport of principal interest, but it should not be assumed that it is the only sport. Basketball and track rank with it as major athletic activities. Both of these sports draw attendances to their exhibitions and are actively supported by the students. Likewise, intramural games, especially basketball, create and attract considerable interest. This latter program is supported not by the interested participants alone, but also by the athletic department as well. Consequently, when we think of the term, "the year in sport," let us not consider merely football with its spectacular formations and plays, but let us be mindful of all athletic interests.

These boys sit on the bench and try to watch the game as Mister Ku prances about before them rubbing his hands in anxious expectancy. They await his call in a similar mood. They may not get it today, but sometime their chance will project itself and that is when they will have to cease their vicarious playing.

EDWIN KUBALE

Quin Decker comes to Centre College from our great neighboring state of Tennessee. After having completed playing three years of varsity football with the Volunteers of the University of Tennessee he successfully coached the Central High School elevens of Knoxville. During the early part of 1935, when it became evident that Mister Kubaie needed an able assistant, Quin was signed to aid in the coaching of the Colonels. Since that time he has established himself here on the campus as a successful coach of football and basketball and as a man popular and friendly with everyone. The highest of praises are justly his.

Earl Bartlett has in his capacity as captain of the football team proved himself to be a leader of men as well as a good football player. Even in a very difficult and trying season he never gave up, but by his consistent playing and encouragement gave his men the heart to go on, even while playing against the greatest of odds. He has the appearance of being a "hard," "tough" man, and so unlike many others who are prone to give this impression, he is really a "hard," "tough" man. I believe that we will all agree in saying that if Oklahoma has any more of the type of Bartlett we can certainly use them here at Centre.

EARL BARTLETT
Varsity Football Captain

D U E , S A Y W E A L L

EARL BARTLETT—the Wildman—is universally reputed to be the toughest man in the school, or in town—however, is a good fellow to meet on Saturday night.

BOB MARKS—as big as a bale of cotton—is difficult to sleep with—chews tobacco in a very nasty manner—has a big heart and will give you anything he has.

KENNETH EICHOLZ—another portly lad—loves to live life—has been elected next year's captain and promises a reform.

CALVIN GAINES—is very irksome and insistent at times with his friends when he wants one of them to walk to town with him—is a congenial companion to make a trip with on the way home for vacation.

MUREL GORE—has a tough appearance, but everyone knows that he is not “all-bone”—is universally recognized as the most proficient sleeper in the school.

ROBERT CAMPBELL—is a darn Yankee from New York—is very consistent about one thing—tries to act harder than he actually is—for some reason or other hangs out a lot at the S. A. E. House.

LARRY MOORE—would rather read Maupassant and grouch with his friends than do anything else—really likes as many as one or two people—is reputed to be not foot loose and fancy free.

GORDON GARRET—said to be the best looking man in school—likes summer school—is acclaimed everywhere as the most active of all cigarette bummers—likes to grab librarians by the collar.

ELVIN GAINES—likes to study his Bible but seldom does—never goes out except on Saturday night—lives a mild life during the week.

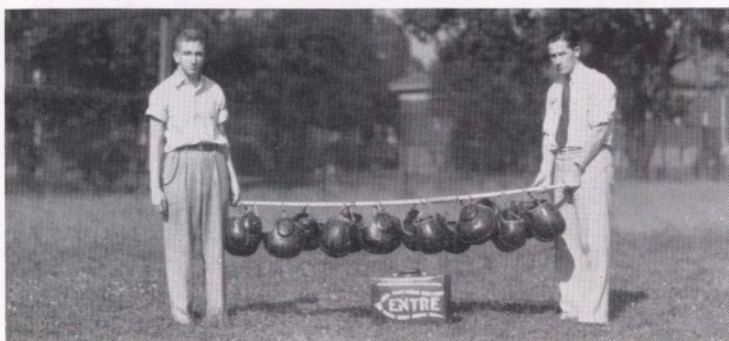

CHARLES CARPENTER—has a brilliant mind, and unlike others uses it—has become consistent in his courting—likes to talk about Frued or “Froid” as his condition may dictate.

BROOKS LUAllen—knows how to throw things, including a football—like all Parisians is a little cocky.

BERNARD WHITEHOUSE—is a miserable fellow to sit with in English class—has a tendency to argue that is profound as is his size.

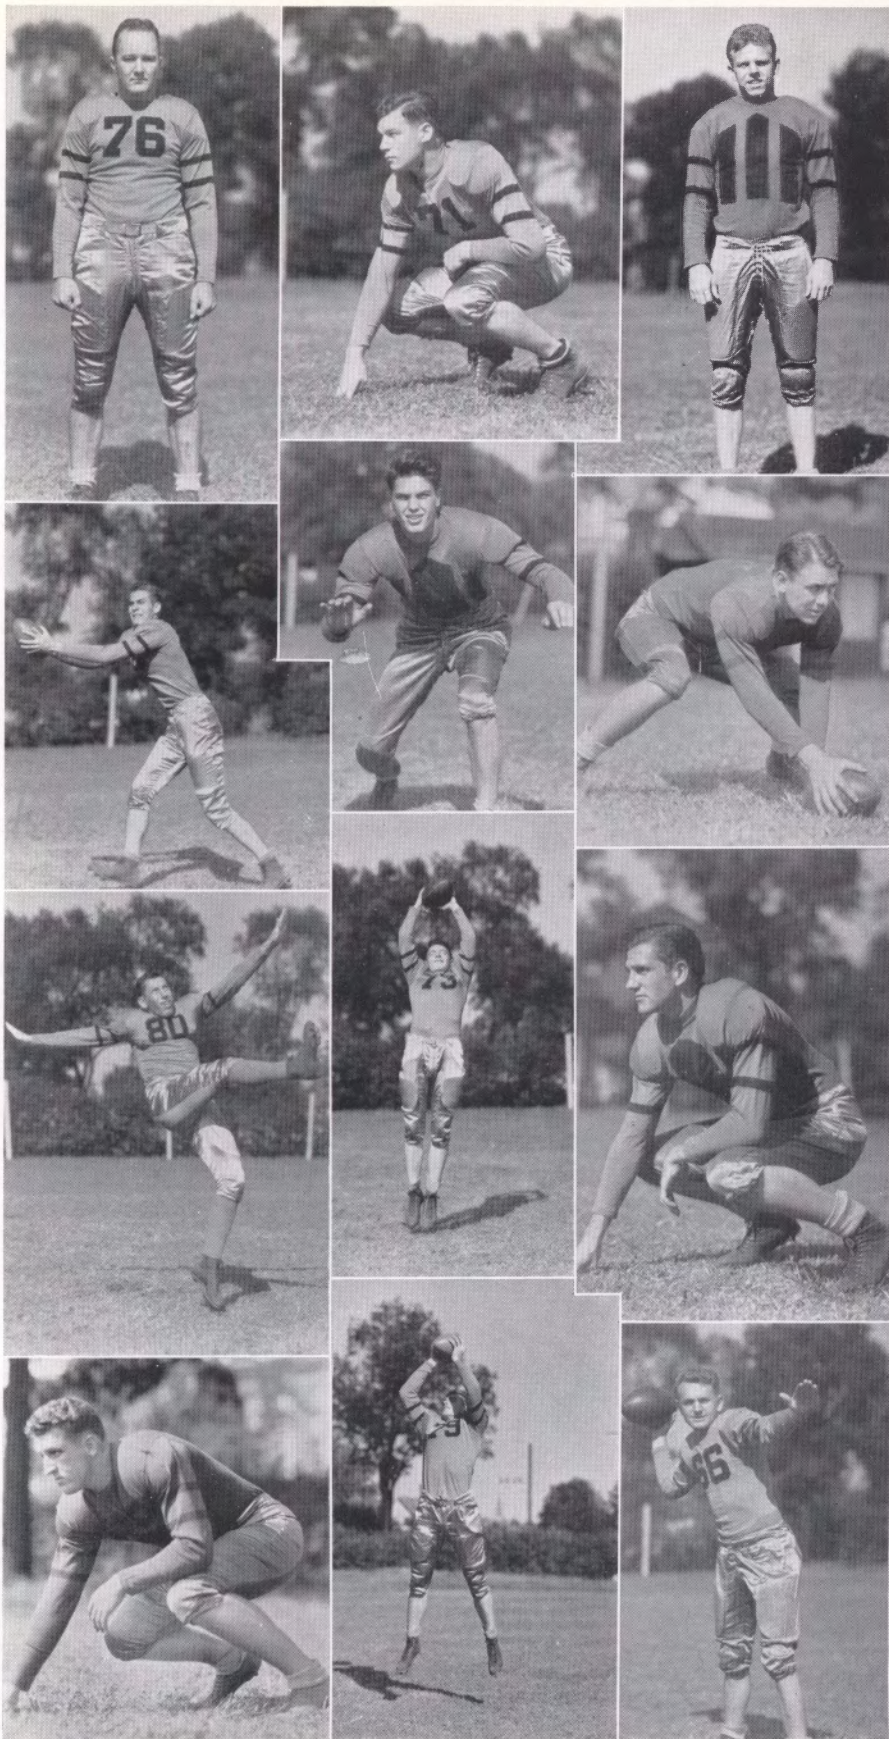

WILLIAM KENNEDY—Red, the little Sigma Chi—hangs around the Park a lot—kept Temple's boys guessing.

MILTON ENSMINGER—an Arkansas boy who says little but thinks a good bit—is better known as “Joe.”

FRED BELL—is affectionately called by his friends, “Fat Freddy”—is a member of the Pitkin Club and consequently is a good boy.

OWEN OSBORNE—a handsome fellow from Lexington—leads the singing at chapel—his favorite expression is “what I mean”—otherwise, he can be tolerated.

CHARLES ASHER—is a little rough at times, but usually manages to keep himself under cover—ran his Ford into Dr. Cochran’s Chevy once, but otherwise he has a good record.

SHELTON GRAVITT—is very proud of his first name—loafs around most of the time.

ED DANCE—says he likes to study, but for some reason or another has never been able to start out right—is often seen on the corner at Jahew’s place.

IRVIN SAMPSON—Sam has the sleepest appearance of anyone, but he is not as dead as he seems—always argues with his friends, Dance and Turner.

CLAUDE PURDOM—for some reason or another is called “No Tar”—his portliness gives him the appearance of a little Cupid, and he is reputed to be fast in more ways than one.

BOB KIDD—is small but is a hard fighter—made a trip to Chicago once—was made in many ways by his seventy-yard touchdown run against W. & L.

JAMES TURNER—is never called “James”—plans to build a bridge around the world.

PAUL WILCOX—is called “Shorty”—goes home nearly every week-end—doesn’t worry about anything around Danville.

HARRY FITZPATRICK—another consistent fellow who, nevertheless, has a good time on football trips—chatters as much as an old maid.

BILLY MAY—has a bad reputation in English class and is bad to associate with there—otherwise is safe to be seen with.

BOB RAMSIER—is quiet and doesn’t talk a lot—can’t use the girls—is a smart fellow.

L. A. BIBLE—can be identified by his pipe at the entrance to the gym floor—ask him about his definition of a nice girl.

EDWARD MAY—“Speedy” got his nickname because of his remarkable slowness with a tray of food—has been seen with a certain professor’s daughter.

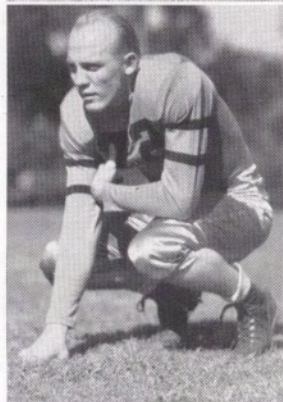

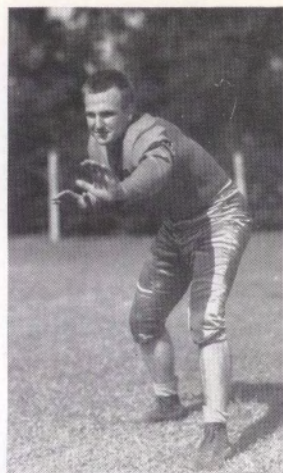

RICHARD MARTIN—a true Cincinnatian—all over town on Saturdays—sleeps a lot on Sunday.

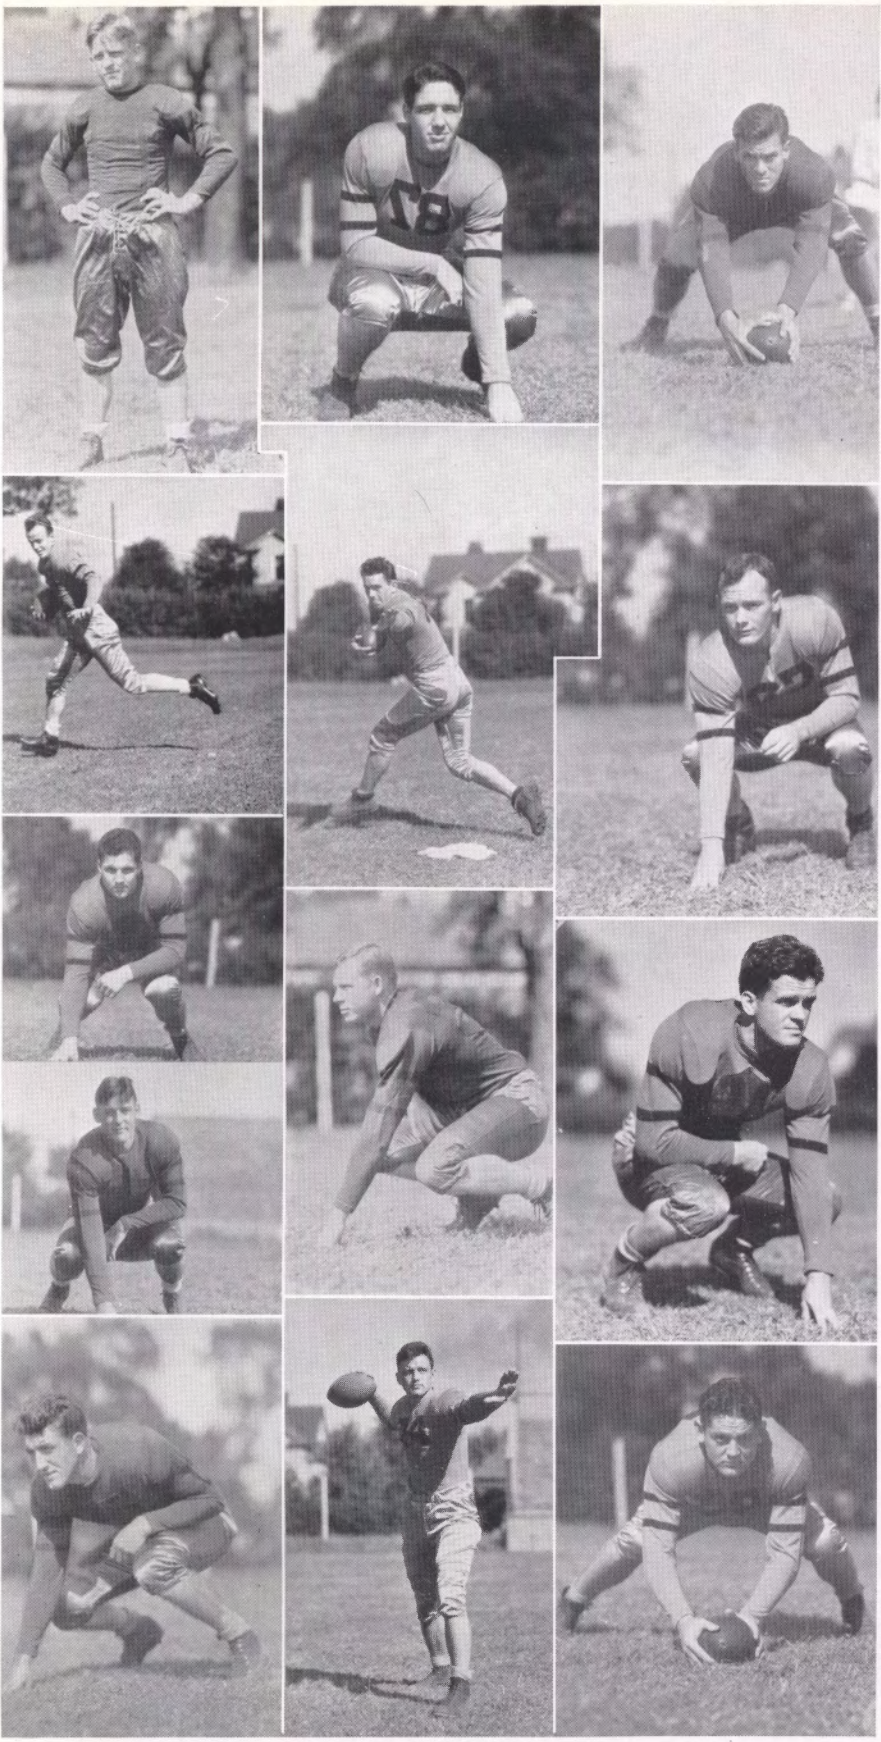

B. G. DAVIDSON—the bouncing boy from Bowling Green—it is hard to tell what he thinks about a thing, but he usually has good plans.

NORMAN TRUE VIOLETT—“Reddo,” the Pink Flash—another lad from gay Paris—is a natural clown—has more friends than anyone.

Centre, 13; Temple, 25. By their alertness and ability to take advantage of every break of the game the Colonels threatened to register the first major upset of the 1935 season in their initial engagement with the Warner-coached Temple Owls at Philadelphia. Leading 6-0 at the end of the first quarter, and again in the third, 13-12, the Colonels went down to glorious defeat only under the drive of the numerous fresh Owl reserves which netted Temple two more touchdowns before the game ended. Coach Kubale was pleased with the showing of the squad against this, one of the most powerful teams in the East, and entertained high hopes for Centre's future fortunes.

Centre, 0; Indiana, 14. Centre showed her true mettle in holding to two touchdowns the vaunted Hoosiers, who, under the tutelage of Colonel "Bo" McMillin, later defeated decisively such powerhouses as Chicago and Purdue. When their ground attack was smothered by the Indiana line, the valiant Kentuckians took to the air; passes, initiated for the most part by Captain Bartlett and Lullien, were a constant source of anxiety to the Indians, and hard pushed them to turn back the Colonels from dangerous territory. The contest was marked by numerous fumbles, but here the breaks favored Indiana, for they recovered their own bobbles many times in positions where loss of the ball would have made an entirely different story.

Centre, 20; Georgetown, 0. Encountering unexpected opposition in its first home game, which had been rated as a "breather," the Gold and White second string was extended to the utmost by an aggressive Tiger eleven. Although they completely outplayed their opponents, the showing of the Colonels was by no means as promising as it should have been, and the small crowd of fans was disappointed. However, Coach "Ku" was able to get a glimpse of his future regulars under fire, and their performance was promising.

Centre, 7; Washington and Lee, 14. Although gaining more yardage than the Generals and garnering four earned first downs to one, Centre could not equalize the eight points earned by W. and L. in the opening seconds—adverse penalties and fumbles always prevented the Colonels' heroic efforts from crystalizing into points. Centre's touchdown came late in the fourth quarter when Bob Kidd grabbed a fumble and, in front of a determined cordon of his teammates, legged it 75 yards to the Virginians' goal. The loss, Centre's first of the five-game series, was made an additionally bitter dose by the presence of five Kentuckians in the General's lineup.

Centre, 14; Tennessee, 25. Never before in their brilliant history did the Colonels show more gameness and fighting heart than in this crucial struggle at Knoxville. At no time did they admit defeat, even though facing a 25-0 score at the half. Making a great comeback, Centre held her opponents scoreless, opened up a disastrous passing attack which netted her two touchdowns in the fourth quarter, and was well on the road to another when a Tennessee interception gave the Vols possession for the remainder of the game. Statistics show that Centre outplayed Tennessee in several departments, making eleven first downs to nine for the Vols, and gaining a total of 252 yards to their opponents' 219—nevertheless, the score remains Centre 14, Tennessee 25.

Centre, 0; St. Xavier, 27. Again resorting to the air after the failure of their rushing tactics, Centre, following the example of Captain Bartlett, never once gave way to despair, though a huge enemy score was constantly staring her in the face. Patently no match for the Musketeer offense, the Colonels nevertheless made several serious threats; even in the closing minutes they drove to the two yard line, where the Xavier "iron line" held them for downs. Therein lies the story—a championship backfield behind an "iron line"—the unbeatable Musketeer combination.

Centre, 0; "Ole Miss," 26. Before a melancholy homecoming crowd Centre's spirits reached a new low-water mark in the face of the disastrous running attack of "Ole Miss." The Southerners, who later defeated Mississippi State, conqueror of Army and Alabama, were battled on even terms in the first quarter. Their 20-pound advantage finally proved too great a handicap however, and virtual demoralization resulted for the Colonels in the last half, although the forward wall valiantly repulsed additional attempted scores.

Centre, 7; Chattanooga, 7. Once again proving themselves possessors of that fighting heart which has characterized Centre elevens since time immemorial, the Colonels, on the small end of the 7-0 score after the Moccasins' capitalization of a first quarter fumble, rebounded and turned on the power in the fourth period to march from their 46 to the Chattanooga 5 without losing the ball. Bartlett plunged over for the touchdown and Marks booted a perfect placement to tie the count. By their alertness in taking full advantage of Centre's fumbles, the Moccasins earned their deadlock, despite the fact that the Colonels made ten first downs to five, and gained 262 yards to 183.

Centre, 7; Western, 13. Early in the second quarter, Captain Bartlett, behind the perfect blocking of his teammates, magnificently retaliated to the first Western touchdown with a spectacular 90-yard kickoff return. Marks added the extra point to put the Colonels in the lead 7-6. But downing a punt on the Centre one-foot line in the third period, Western completed a pass into the end zone after Bartlett's kick to the 24 which, with the conversion, gave them the advantage 13-7. In the closing minutes, Centre made a heroic march from her own 20 to the Hilltopper 20, but ended her threat with four incomplete passes, and permanently lost the ball. This last defeat at Danville was, for obvious reasons, perhaps the most heartbreaking one of the entire year for the Centre students.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL SEASON

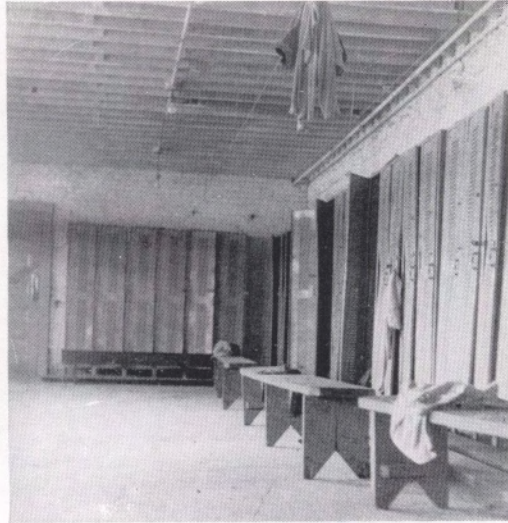

The Freshmen, utilized as cannon fodder for the Varsity, thereby performed a very useful purpose, but, consequently, were not able to win more than one of their three games due to lack of practice. The Looies were defeated 7-6 in their opening contest with Georgetown, when the Baby Bengals scored early in the first quarter and held tenaciously to their lead. However, a last-quarter pass gave Centre a touchdown, and the loss came only when the Frosh failed to convert.

In their only home game the Little Colonels gave promise of future greatness by conquering the Eastern Frosh, 19-0. Centre completely outplayed the visitors and were superior in all phases of the game. At Bowling Green, the Looies lost to an admittedly inferior Western Freshman eleven, 13-7. Fumbles and miscues cost the Frosh their last and most important game.

When the slush of the snows of March are just right Coaches Massa Kubale and Quin Decker sound their little tin bugles and it is time for spring football practice. The freshmen are just right to take the places of the worn out senior gridmen.

Interior of Gymnasium

V A R S I T Y B A S K E T B A L L

Any statistical statement of the games won and lost during the past season, although true, would not reveal the real state of affairs relative to basketball at Centre. However, a close scrutiny of the schedule would certainly disclose the pertinent fact that very nearly the only consistent action exhibited by the squad was that of inconsistency, a great deal of which was due to the loss of last year's captain, Sullivan, to West Point, and of Smith at mid-semester.

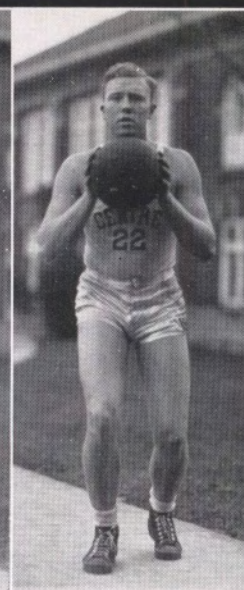

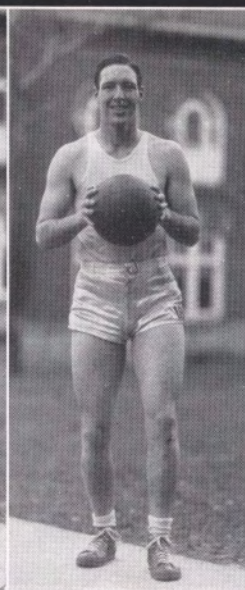

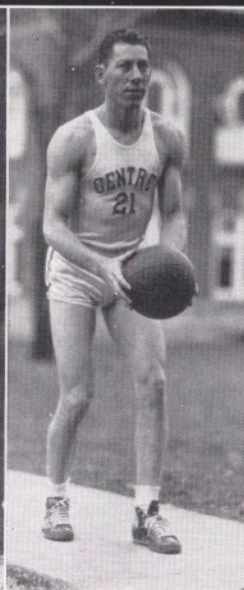

With less than a week of practice—because of the late football season—under the belts of such regulars as Kidd, May and Campbell, as well as Bell, Bartlett and Gravitt, the Colonels, for their opening game, engaged Xavier's powerful five in Cincinnati and lost 25-41.

The next two games were played before home crowds. Only two days after the Christmas holidays, the University of Louisville provided the opponents for Centre. The Cardinals were victorious 25-34 in a contest remarkable for the fact that there were eighteen personal fouls called on each squad. Three days later the Colonels won their first fray 38-36; the Pioneers of Transylvania were the victims in the hotly contested battle.

Taking the road for a two-day jaunt, the Gold and White first lost to Eastern at Richmond. Although in the lead at the half, Centre could not overcome the last period rally of the Maroons which produced a final score of 20-28. But the following night Coach Munn's proteges clicked together more smoothly and tallied their second victory, 37-34, over Morehead. Thirty-seven fouls were called in the game; three Colonels and two Eagles were ejected for this reason.

The following contests, both away from home, were losses. Kentucky Wesleyan, at Winchester, after the score was tied 23-23, was able to sink a long one and win, 23-25. At Berea, Centre fared even worse—Cooper was ousted on personal fouls early in the game, leaving his teammates somewhat bewildered by the tactics of the Mountaineers. The score of the most severe defeat of the season was 22-42.

Continuing her sterling play in Louisville, Centre exhibited her best game against the Cardinals, who had defeated her decisively on her home floor. At the end of the struggle the score was 40-40, but the overtime period saw Centre nosed out by one point, 45-46.

At home again, the Colonels gained revenge over Kentucky Wesleyan, 32-28, in a closely fought fray in which the lead changed five times during the second half. Next, Eastern produced her second win over the Munnmen, this time by 30-41. However, they came back and defeated Morehead 36-35 by virtue of an accurate free throw by Billy May, after a five-minute overtime failed to affect any change in the 35-35 tie. This was their second victory over the Teachers.

Transylvania, victim of Centre's first win, recovered and downed the Danvillians on her home floor. The score was 16-16 at the half, but a relapse on the part of the Colonels enabled the Pioneers to blaze the trail to a 33-47 decision. Too, Georgetown evened the count with the Gold and White in her own gymnasium, this time 24-35.

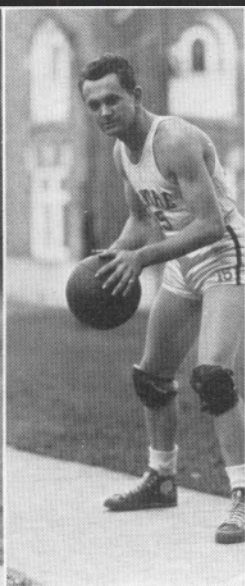

One of the most interesting games of the season, from the spectators' point of view, at last, was the Tennessee Wesleyan "battle"—and that's no exaggeration! After ordering his men off the floor because of alleged unnecessary roughness, the Wesleyan coach reluctantly returned his charges, only to lose in an overtime period, 60-53.

The squad again took the road for a three-game series, their last before the K. I. A. C. tournament. The first of the trio was lost to Union at Barbourville. Although in the lead, 27-17, at half time, the Colonels could not withstand the drive which netted their opponents twenty-five points in the second portion, and were on the short end of the 36-42 tally at the close. Maryville provided the only victory of the trip; with Centre leading all the way she coasted to a 51-37 triumph. Putting up an even better fight than in their previous game, Centre's Colonels raced neck and neck with the Hilltoppers of Western until they weakened in the final minutes to allow a 38-46 defeat to close their season.

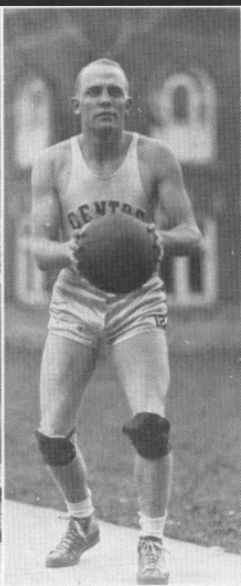

Centre drew Georgetown in the first round of the K. I. A. C. tournament and trounced her soundly to the tune of 34-24, which advanced her into the second bracket with Berea. Although they greatly improved the score of the inglorious mid-season defeat, the Colonels were still unable to cope with the Mountaineers and lost their last game, 35-44, to the team which went to the semi-finals.

Resume of Freshman Basketball

The Lieutenants started off with a bang. Composed of the cream of Central Kentucky's high schools, besides players from several other states, the young Colonels humbled Kentucky School for the Deaf by a huge margin in the season's opener. Their string of victories continued as they conquered Transylvania, Wesleyan, and Greenbrier in rapid succession.

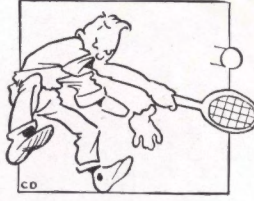

Then came the semester. O Dismality! The Looies lost eight of their best men—Johns, Cundiff, and Maples off the first five, and Lominac, Williams, and Murphy from the front end of the sub bench. That left Davis and Copeland to carry on for the first string. Gruszkowski, Merriman, and German took the vacated positions and the season went on, but not with the "wim, vigor, and witality" of the first semester. Having lost only to Morehead in the first half of the season, the Frosh lost to Transy, to Georgetown twice, and again to Morehead, and gained one lone victory by beating Wesleyan.

With this wealth of material going over to the varsity next year, the season should certainly prove to be a successful one.

TENNIS RESUME

For the first time in recent years Centre's tennis team is being handled in an efficient and businesslike manner. Under the able direction of the new coach, Prof. J. H. McCoy, the Centre Tennis Club was organized last September immediately after school opened. Two officers were elected to serve for one year. They are Charles Coleman, President, and Jimmie Heizer, Secretary. Regular fall practice was held by the club with about ten members reporting for each session. When inclement weather forced the closing of Centre's courts, work was carried on in the gymnasium at the Woman's Department.

The season last year was a success in that the team was undefeated, but we might go on to say that only two matches were played. Centre downed Eastern at Richmond by the score of 7 to 0. The game was played on asphalt courts while a miniature cyclone made accuracy impossible. St. Xavier at Cincinnati was the next and last victim of the year, falling before Centre to the tune of 6 to 1. After having completed two matches on the outdoor courts, rain made it impossible to continue, and the remaining games were finished in the field house. Twelve straight matches were cancelled because of weather conditions.

At the time of writing, the team for the season of '36 has not been picked, and only a tentative schedule drawn up. Three men were lost by graduation from last year's team, leaving only two to form the basis of this year's aggregation. They are Coleman and Heizer. However, there seems to be more good material from which to select this year than ever before. Among the most likely candidates are Rodman, half of Frankfort's doubles champions, Platt, Patton, Cheek, and Thurmond.

The schedule has as yet not been completed. Twenty matches are desired, ten at home and ten away. As is the custom here a week's tour is being arranged, beginning with Bowling Green College at Bowling Green, Ohio, and ending with London University at London, Canada. Wayne University of Detroit is to be played here at Danville. Wayne boasts of the enviable record of only 12 defeats in the last 91 matches played. Other schools to be scheduled are Berea, Western, Transylvania, Eastern, and St. Xavier.

Prof. McCoy has had a great deal of experience in coaching tennis. The last team of which he was in charge won the championship of Pennsylvania, defeating in the finals a team composed of four former state champions. He has ordered slow motion pictures of world famous players so that the enthusiasts may analyze perfect form.

Interest in tennis here has reached an all time high, and we expect to end this season like we did last year—undefeated.

"LITTLE" GAINES, with a tired expression on his face, tipping the string just a wee bit before the swift Eison, Georgetown's ace hundred yard sprinter. Gaines didn't fall down after the race either.

ON THE TRACK

Last year the Centre track team took a step upward on the college's ladder of sports. From the initial meet with Vanderbilt to the State contest, Centre's men of the cinders failed but once to take first place. In view of the stiff competition, the '35 squad can rightfully boast of the best record within recent history of the school.

Perhaps the most important tilt of the season was with the Vanderbilt Commodores in Nashville. (Its value was in the confidence which its 63-54 victory instilled into the Colonels.) It gave the team an opportunity to discover weaknesses which needed to be eliminated before the contest with Georgetown, and likewise showed us that we had a consistent star in Calvin Gaines, who chalked up the sum of twenty-one and a quarter points for Old Centre.

In the Georgetown encounter "Little" Gaines found himself matched with opposition of the most trying kind in Eison, the invaders' main speed entry and holder of numerous state records. However, by dint of the sterling work of Bartlett, Charlie Carpenter, and Ensminger, Centre managed to overcome the Tigers by the score of 80-34.

The third meet of the '35 season was a triangular affair among Centre, Berea, and Eastern. Berea showed phenomenal strength and prowess in the distance events, but as Eastern was markedly weak in practically all fields, we were able to beat off the challenge of the mountaineers and achieve victory. Calvin Gaines, the Texas Longhorn star, again demonstrated his ability in this combat by stepping off the hundred-yard dash in the time of 9.6 seconds—an unofficial all-time record for the State of Kentucky.

The contest directly preceding the State meet was another triangular tilt, among Centre, Georgetown, and the University of Louisville. Through the consistent work of her stars Centre amassed eighty-three and two-thirds points, more than twice the combined total of her opponents.

The most important combat of the Colonels' season, the State encounter, proved to be a veritable swimming meet—for truly the water did fall. Berea's distance men were successful in their attempts, while our speed merchants were totally unable to make headway in the heavy mud, and we were lucky to bring second place home to Danville.

The '36 season on the track looks particularly favorable to the Colonels. The Gaines brothers, Bartlett, Ensminger, Walker, and Childress all return, although Charlie Carpenter, star half-miler and invaluable all-round performer, was lost by graduation. In addition, certain valuable men come up from the ranks of the Freshman team of last year. We should be successful in winning the State meet this year—even if the team is forced to learn to swim!

MISS JESSIE L. KEEP

Miss Keep in her position as Instructor of Physical Education at K. C. W. has made the athletic program at the Woman's Department mean something. She has aided the W. A. A. Council in the formation of its programs, and with her active personality has seen that the programs actually function. Aside from her professorial capacity, she is, too, one of the best liked personalities of the faculty.

Members of Girl's Athletic Teams

The W. A. A. Council, under the direction of Miss Jessie Keep, is the governing board of athletics at K. C. W. To many of the students of the Men's Department the various intricacies of the functioning of the athletic program at the Woman's Department are of remote, if any, meaning. However, such lack of understanding is merely the result of the lack of any direct interest, and not of the lack of an active program.

The personnel of the Council itself is composed of the captains of the various Colonelette and Gym Dandy teams. At the beginning of the school year the Council, thus composed, elects its president, and the work of the year is put under way. Swimming meets, basketball games, tennis matches, and other athletic activities are planned and arranged by the Council.

Thus the Woman's Athletic Association Council is a successful student governing body, promoting the general aims of an athletic program at K. C. W.

Here is a representative group of the Athletic Council. Each girl in her special field led those interested in that particular sport. This pictures Margaret Broaddus, Catherine Blanc, Ann Walters, Catherine McMullen, Madolyn Lancaster, Saradele Godbey, and Opal Lee Roberts.

The Hockey Team had more fun than anybody this year, and as you see there were many to enjoy it. In the fall, they were hosts to teams from Berea and Kentucky State. In return, they were guests at Kentucky in the spring to observe a professional team in action.

In a difficult yet graceful pose, Miss Alois Blalock demonstrates one of her acrobatic accomplishments. It is rare that so talented a performer as Alois is discovered at Centre. If you think it isn't hard, try it sometime, and see for yourself.

Another of Alois' unique twists is her back handstand. The annual performance of the pyramid builders is a feature in the vaudeville, which usually presents many laughs. Maybe this clever little freshman will cause something else besides laughter.

Miss Jessie Keep tosses the ball and Margaret Broaddus and Koreen Alcock jump for it. The Colonelettes seem a little better in this picture, and they were too, for they won this season in the basketball tournament over the Gym Dandies.

The Gym Dandies and The Colonelettes

Woman's Department Competition

Athletics at the Woman's Department, under the careful supervision of Miss Jessie Keep, Professor of Physical Education, becomes more popular and successful every year. The 1935-36 season was organized on a somewhat different basis than was customary; Miss Florrie Ford, president of the Athletic Association, working with her executive board, formulated the sports program. By the new method more emphasis was placed on a carefully planned and inclusive schedule, for the Association, as well as the Council which held this position formerly, met only two or three times a semester.

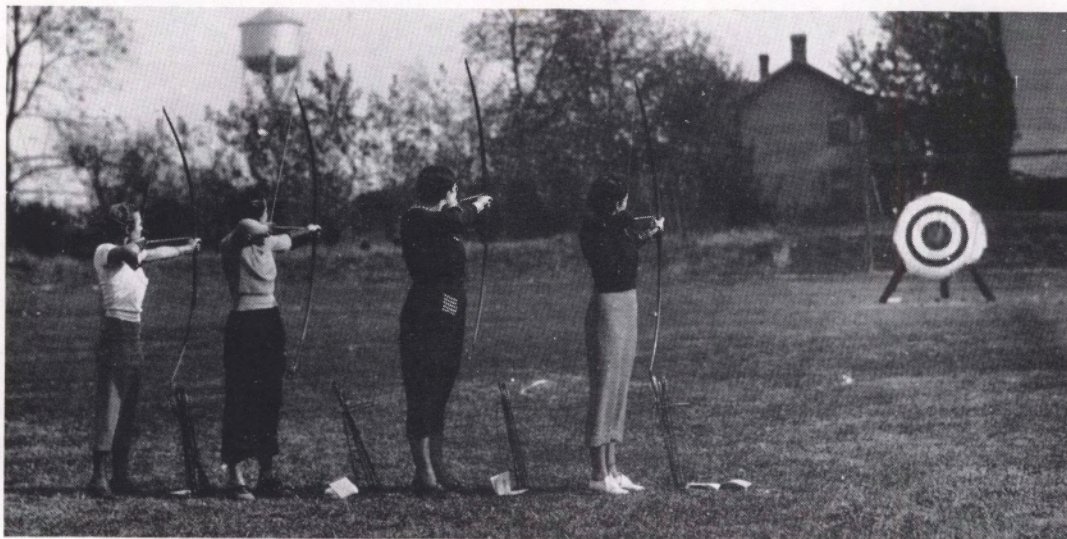

The basis of women's athletics is a point system; points were given to participants in all sports toward the winning of monograms, letters, and blankets. In addition to these, smaller emblems were given, for the first time this year, to those trying out for particular sports for the whole season. At the end of the year a Letter Camp was held at Gwinn's Island for those earning such honors.

During the first term hockey was the main interest; besides regulation games between the Colonelettes and Gym Dandies, play days were held in which women from Berea College and the University of Kentucky took part. A tennis tournament and a swimming meet were also conducted in the fall. Basketball predominated during the winter months, with volley ball and bowling competing for second place popularity. In the spring another tennis tournament was held as well as a track meet.

Supplementing these regular programs were some of the lesser known recreational sports, such as badminton, tether ball, deck tennis, shuffle board, and horse-shoes. Archery also proved to be of more than passing interest and popularity. Horseback riding, which may be enjoyed upon payment of a nominal fee, is rapidly coming into vogue.

At meetings of the Athletic Association opportunities were afforded to learn all kinds of dancing, including folk, tap, natural, and ballroom, as well as various other stunts. Play Nights and dancing classes were also sponsored for the men and women students, in addition to numerous hikes and picnics during the course of the school year. The May Day exercise, with its beautiful and traditional ceremony, provided a fitting culmination for such a program.

K. C. W. Archery

Fitting in well with the regular athletic activities at the Woman's Department is an active program of Archery practice and instruction. Target practice is conducted out of doors when the weather is warm, and indoors during the early months of winter. As an alternative, instruction in tap dancing is offered during some of the winter months. 'Tis rumored around the school that the girls are more proficient in shooting the arrows than in perambulating around on their heels. This we suppose, though, doesn't matter very much.

FRATERNITIES

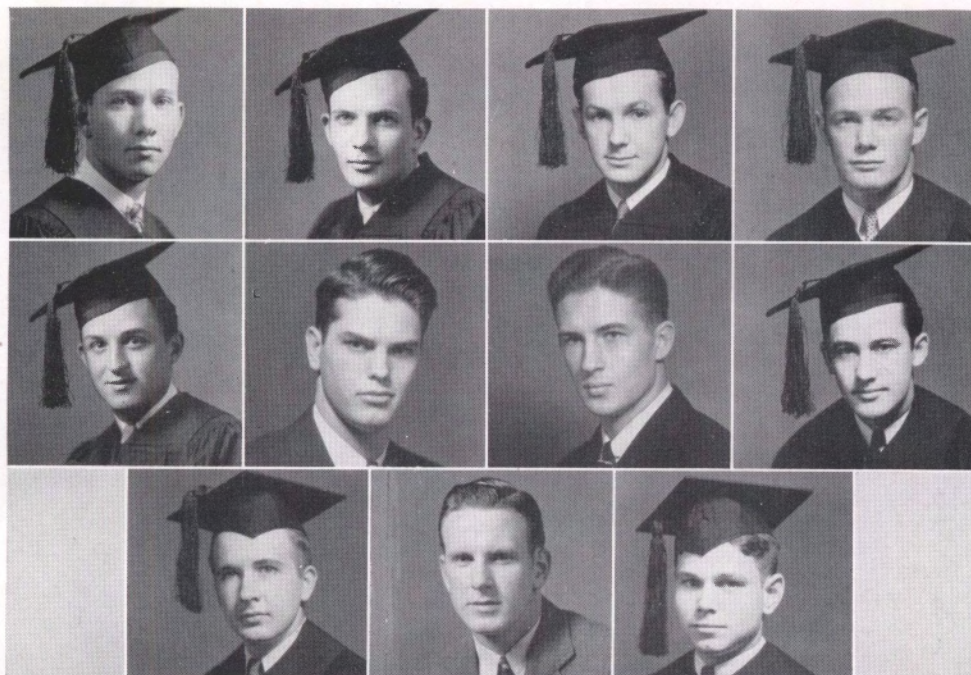

*Behold these gentlemen above convened,
Theirs, I tell you, are evil machinations so screened.*

*They exclusively for themselves do plan,
Leaving others to care for themselves as they can.*

*So our Greek brethren meet today,
To pursue their own mission as they may.*

*And so they live, these friendly Greeks, one with another forever in competition,
Leaving the rest of the college to seek its own mission.*

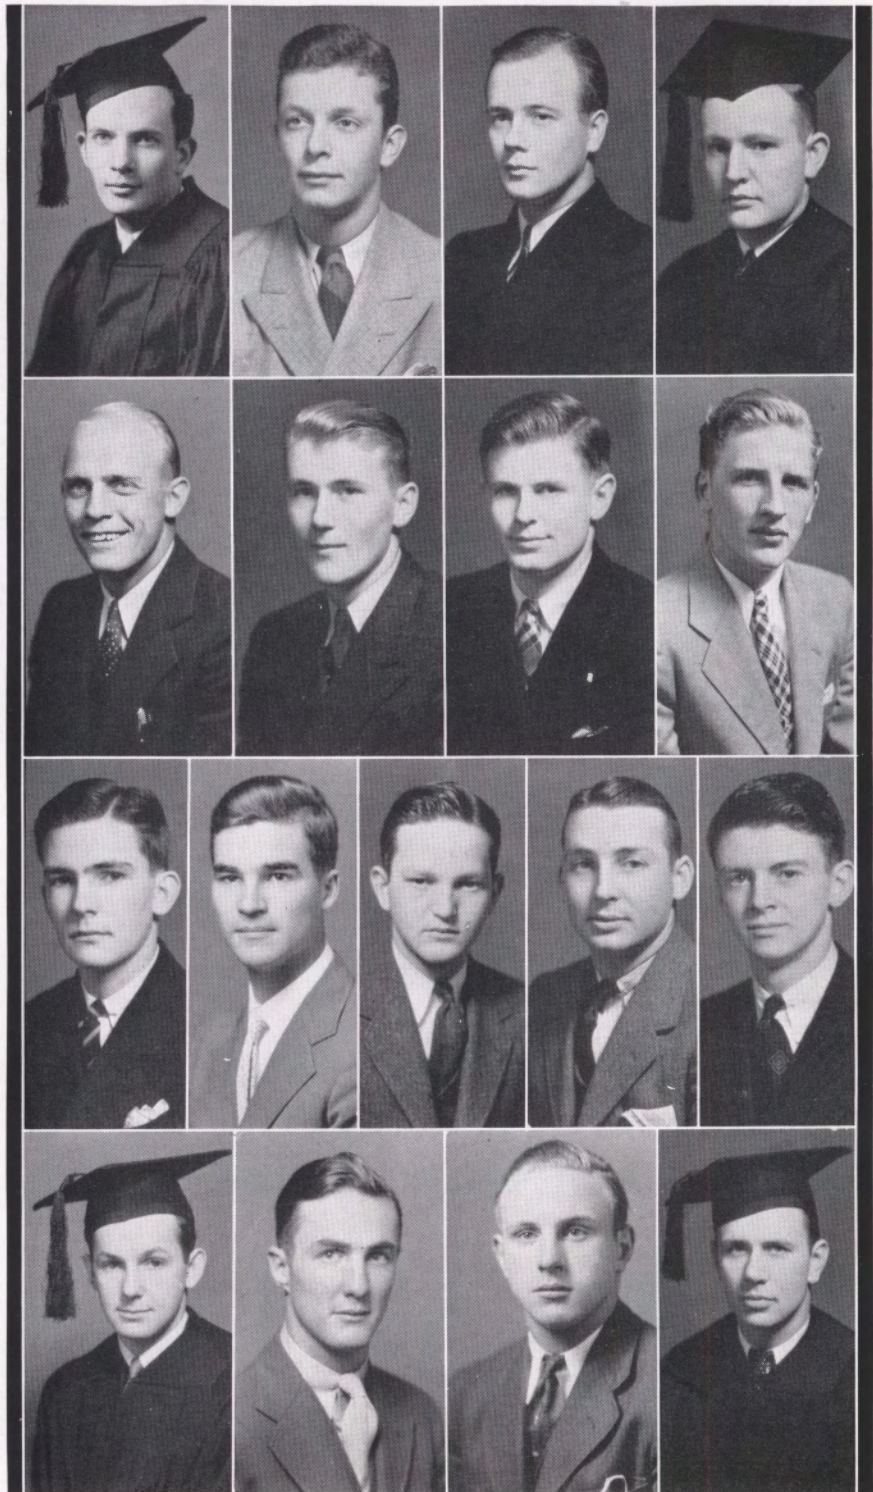

The Interfraternity Council

Two representatives from each fraternity having an active chapter on the campus comprise the personnel of the Interfraternity Council. The group holds a meeting every two weeks, in which are discussed considerations pertinent to fraternity life and more harmonious interfraternity co-operation and accord. The Council sponsors the Pan-Hellenic Ball, the first formal dance of the school year. In general, the function of the Council may be summarized as that of effecting a medium whereby and where-through the various fraternities may meet and solve their individual and collective problems.

Omicron Delta Kappa, National Fraternity founded at Washington and Lee University, has a three-fold purpose on any campus. First, it is that of recognizing and honoring men who have evidenced proficiency in college activities. Second, it is that of bringing together the most representative men in all phases of college life and of thus creating an organization that will help to mold the sentiment of the institution on various questions. Lastly, it is that of bringing together members of the faculty and student body on a basis of mutual understanding and cooperation.

Ye Rounde Table is the honorary scholastic society on the Centre Campus. Membership requirement is that a student must have completed the first semester of his Junior year and must have an average on all work of at least 2.5 or stand in the upper ten per cent of his class. During his membership each member is required to read before the club a paper of his composition on any subject which he chooses. The purpose of the club is "to conserve and stimulate an interest in cultural subjects beyond the work of the class-room."

Chi Beta Phi, the national scientific fraternity, organized its chapter on the Centre campus in 1931. This fraternity includes the sciences of Astronomy, Biology, Chemistry, Physics, and Mathematics. Work of a high standing is required in any two of these fields in order to be eligible for membership. At its bi-monthly meetings papers are presented by the members on some specific scientific subject in which that individual is most interested. Current happenings in the world of science are also discussed along with the papers at each meeting.

The Senior Pitkin Club, composed of students from the three upper classes, half of whom are women, and half men, is an organization for the promotion of a progressive Christian attitude toward life, and for the rendition of service to the college. Membership is by election based on scholarship and meritorious campus activities.

The club meets regularly every Thursday at the Second Presbyterian Church for a luncheon, after which there is a round table discussion led by the guest speaker. The personnel of the group is such that the exchange of ideas effects inevitable improvement and enrichment of campus life.

The Freshman Pitkin Club is a group of the outstanding Freshmen from both departments; its membership is selected by the same methods employed in the Senior club, with the ideals of scholarship and commendable activities always in mind. It seeks to develop those discursive and constructively critical faculties so necessary if the student is to learn to think for himself and form his own opinions of critical issues.

The club meets every Tuesday; the luncheon is followed by an open forum, under the guidance of the sponsors, on the topic presented by the speaker. The most promising members of the Freshman club are taken into the Senior organization at the end of the year.

The Season—Players Club

For the Carnival production in June, 1935, the Centre College players presented "The Whole Town's Talking." The leads of the production were Alice W. Pilkington, Roberta C. Baughman, and Ellis Graves. Other members of the cast included Inez Lyon, Margaret B. Hamlett, Elnor Stith, Mattie Robinson, Henrietta Simmons, Fred Ehrman, James Millen, and Arch Pulliam.

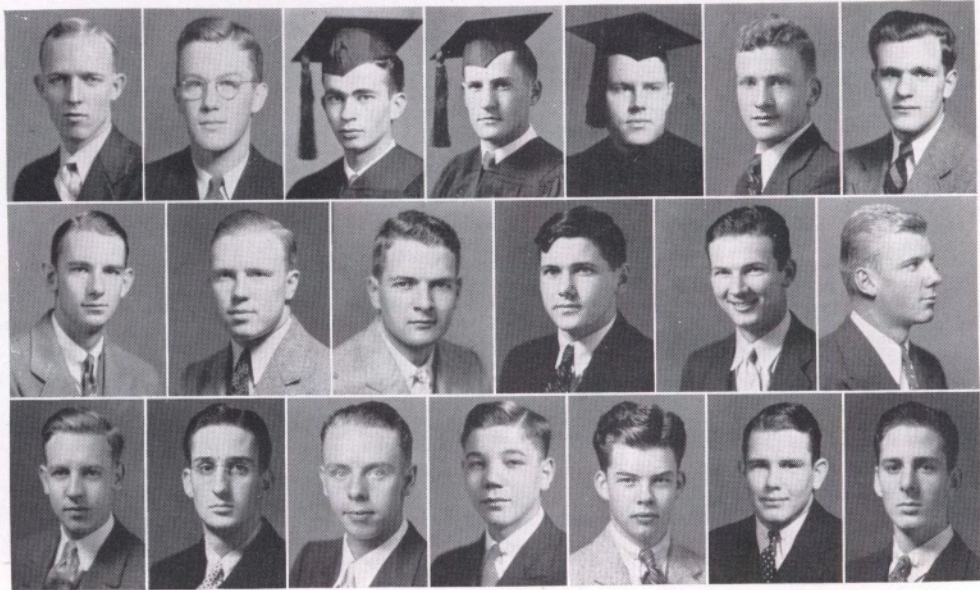

The Players again organized a Workshop at the beginning of the present school year. This unit was designed to train students in the various departments of the theater under the competent direction of members of the parent organization. The work in make-up was supervised by William Dorsey, while Director Taylor had charge of a class in technique in dramatic art and stage management. Student enrollments in both of these departments were large.

For the fall production, presented on December 12th and 13th, a comedy, "None So Blind," was chosen. Murl Carpenter, Onalouise Rowell, and Jack Stith carried the leading parts in this play. They were assisted by Elizabeth Vallandingham, Marjorie Woolfolk, Inez Lyon, Alice Pilkington, Opal Lee Roberts, Preston Young, Fred Ehrman. Philip Foley was stage manager for these performers and Ruth Van Winkle and Charles Allen had charge of the properties.

During the early spring several groups of one-act plays were given. One of the plays, "The Worm That Turns," was written by George L. Murauskar, a sophomore student.

The Carnival play and cast will be decided upon about April 15th and work will be begun immediately. This will be the last production of the year and also the last appearance of several stars of the present club. Nine members of the Players will graduate from the College in June.

The Deinologian Literary Society was founded at Centre College exactly one hundred and one years ago. It is the oldest club on the campus that has enjoyed continuous activity.

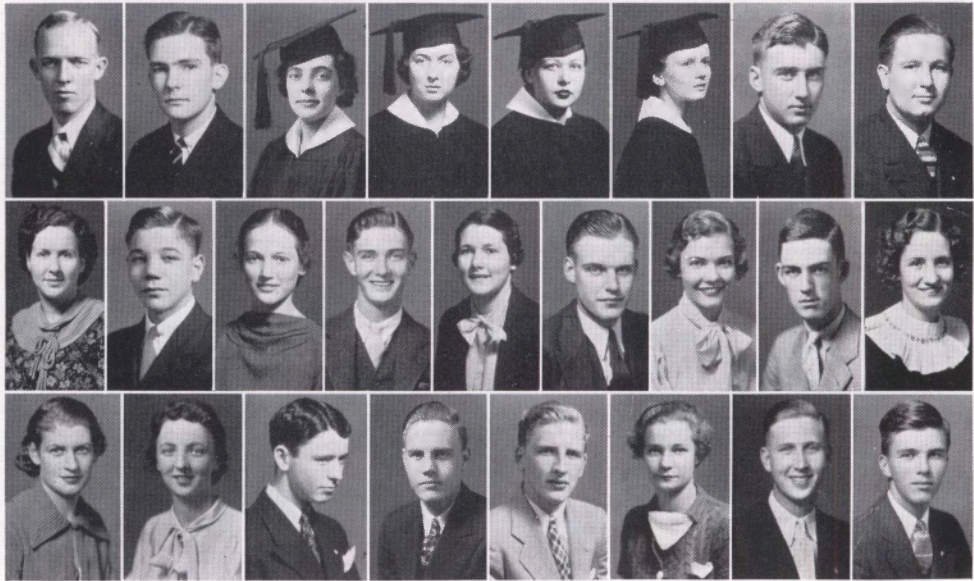

In 1835 a group of young men who were dissatisfied with the old Chamberlain Literary Society broke away from that organization and founded Deinologian. From the first the young club flourished and grew till in about 1840 it was a real rival of the parent organization.

For the next ninety years the two clubs had numerous intersociety debates. Each year the two groups clashed in a debate and oratorical contest to which the public was invited. This rivalry ceased in 1932 when Chamberlain was disbanded.

Since 1932 Deinologian has been a veritable lone wolf in its field. All declamation and oratory sponsored by the club is held in its hall in the Main Building. Within the past two years its scope has been greatly widened with the introduction of book reviews and round table discussions into its programs.

During the past year this organization has been built up and strengthened till now its membership includes several students from each of the four classes in the College. The Society meets regularly every two weeks during the school year.

The Centre College Glee Club was organized for the purpose of training those who are interested in singing. Under the able direction of Mrs. Jay W. Harlan the Glee Club, composed of twenty-six voices, made its first public appearance of the year in the Woman's Department auditorium in a very beautiful and effective candle lighting service immediately preceding the Christmas holidays. Several trips are made each spring to neighboring campuses and radio stations. These programs include not only ensemble numbers but also selections by the women's trio and the male quartet. Miss Anna Louise Kautz is the accompanist.

Throughout the school year the Centre College "Cento" has endeavored to present to the students a comprehensive weekly review of collegiate affairs, both local and national, which are most likely to be of interest and benefit to its readers.

In order to make the paper interesting to all Centre students—and graduates as well—several new features were added this year. They include "With the Alums," "Faculty Facts," "Campus Parade," "Doings of the Dinks," and "The Inquiring Reporter," the last of which has served as an organ of student thought, supplementing the regular "Student Opinion" column. Syndicated articles included the weekly "Beauty School" by Helena Rubinstein. The "Cento" is a member of the Kentucky Intercollegiate Press Association and of the Associated Collegiate Press.

In addition to the new material, all the old which was representative has been retained, including features written by students, such as short stories and "scandal" columns, and last but not least, thorough local coverage of straight news. These comprise the Centre College "Cento," "Kentucky's Leading College Weekly."

This business of producing the OLD CENTRE has been an inestimable pleasure to us. It is true that at times the problems of finance and structure have caused us a bit of worry. Likewise, we are aware of the fact that some of the comments herein expressed may not meet with the good will and sympathy of some of our friends and associates. However, as the first lesson in annual production is that of the essential necessity of the expression of personality in the book, we feel that we should give vent to only those views which are actually ours. We hope, then, that this book will meet with your understanding and will stand the test of time.

Gratitude should be evidenced to the following persons who have materially aided us in the production of the book: Mr. J. T. Benson of the Benson Printing Company; Messrs. Harold and Lee Mann of the Jahn & Ollier Engraving Company; Mr. L. D. Martin of the Martin Studios; Professor E. Wilbur Cook, campus photographer and advisor; Dr. Richard I. Rush, advisor on matters of finance; and Mr. Herbert Meyer, faculty advisor.

The Girl's Student Council is an organization at K. C. W. which has as its aim the furtherance of the system of cooperation in student government between the faculty and students.

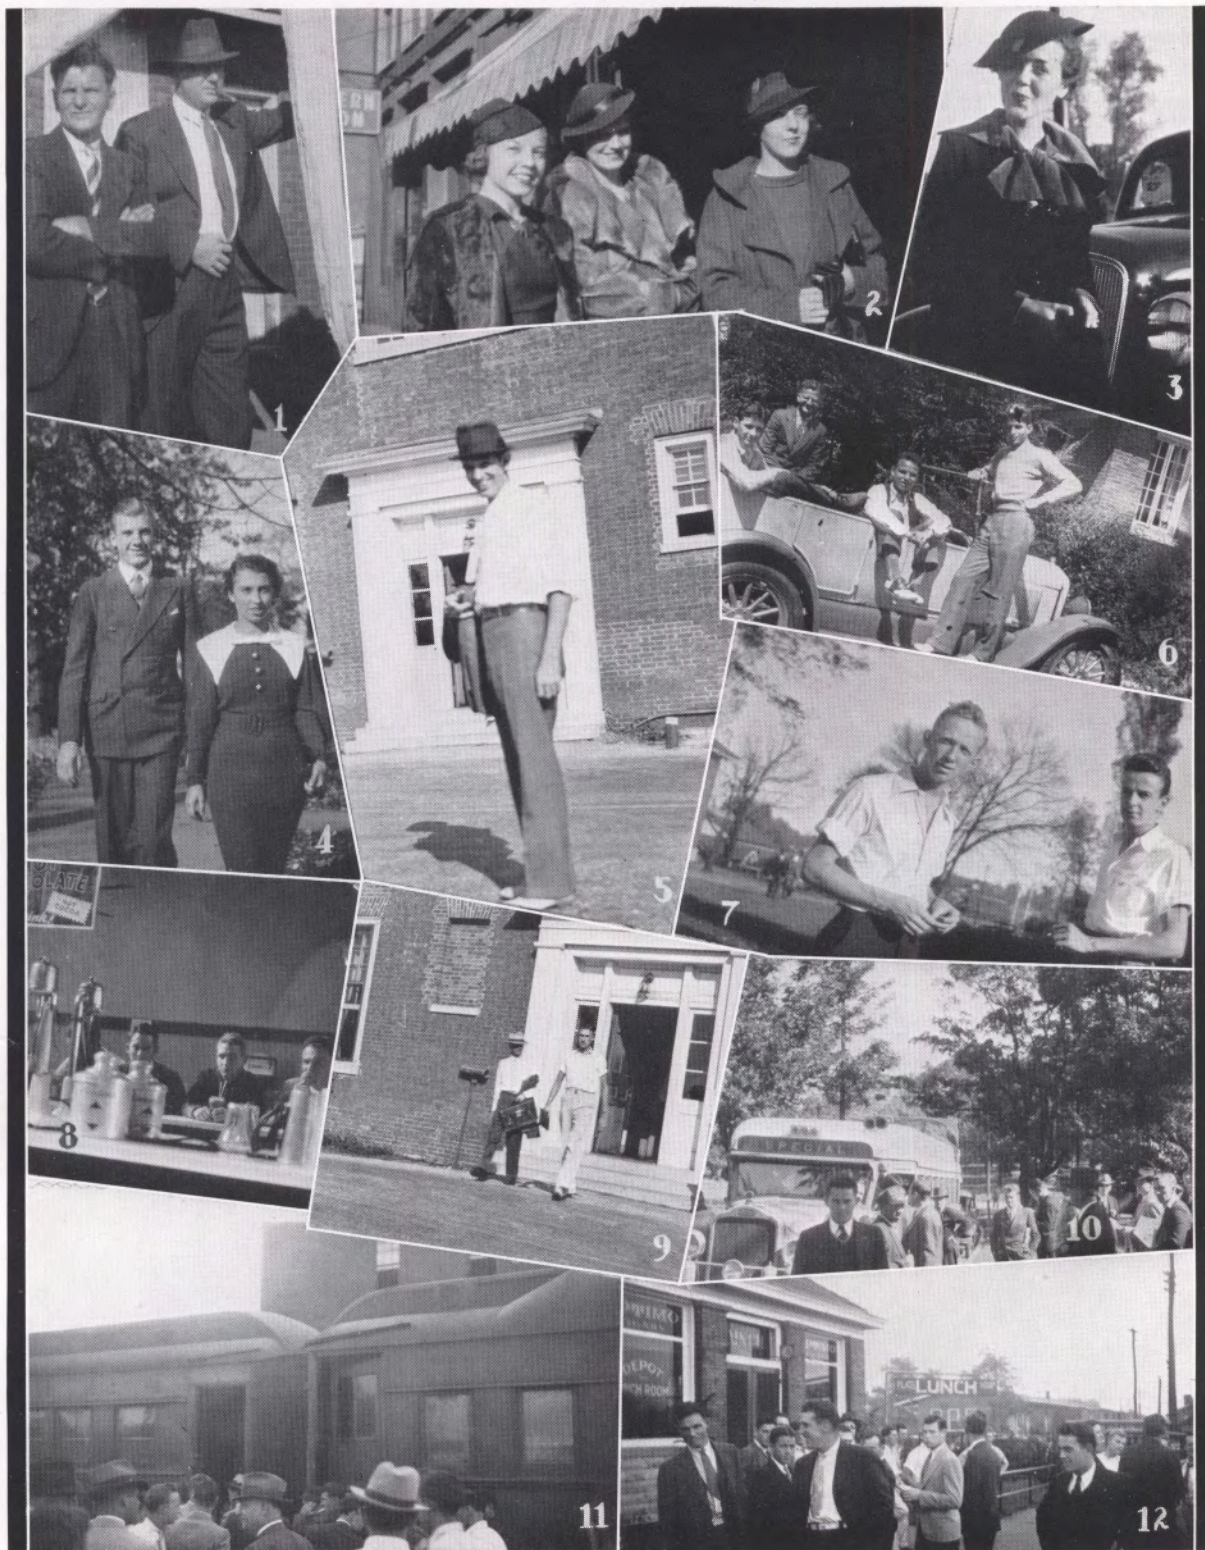

MISS LILLIAN FORSYTHE BOSLEY

Queen of the 1935 Carnival

The epitome of all social life during the school year is attained with the presentation of the Centre College Carnival, held on graduation night. This crowning event, in which the personnel of all social activities pass in review like the stars of the heavens, is an apropos finale to the school year.

DAVE ROBERTS

Dave might be termed as the answer to any maiden's prayer, but luckily for us his aspirations were toward things other than the fairer sex. (For all that, he's no woman-hater.) He has well earned the honors bestowed on him as president of the Student Body, president of the Rounde Table, vice-president of Senior Pitkin and member of O. D. K. With a disposition like his he can't fail.

HAROLD WALKER

He talks like a house afire but we've found that he usually knows what he's talking about. As a result he's quite an orator as well as our star debater. In addition, Harold is a member of the Rounde Table and president of O. D. K.

CLARECE NICHOLS

An all around good sport and an excellent student—that's Clarece. She has earned her seat at the Rounde Table and is recognized for her leadership in the Y. W. C. A.

ROBERTA BAUGHMAN

Very quiet and reserved, but that's just because you don't know her. Her membership in the Rounde Table proves her ability as a student. By no means a recluse, she never misses an opportunity to increase her circle of friends.

LESLIE BOYD

Les never believes in mixing his work and his play but enters into both whole heartedly. As a result he is editor of the Cento, president of the Deinologian Literary Society, and a member of O. D. K.

WOODROW CHAMBERLAIN

A true friend if there ever was one. Brownie was wisely elected president of the Y. M. C. A. and has admirably filled that office. He is also a member of the Rounde Table and of O. D. K. His noble brow will always be furrowed with lines due to his maltreatment while business manager of the OLDE CENTRE. We can wholeheartedly sympathize with you now.

STANLEY HARBISON

He has developed quite a knack for getting sick—appendicitis operations, etc.—when there's a lot of work to be done. Ask Brownie, he knows. Don't be too severe on him though, because it requires plenty of hard work to be editor of the OLDE CENTRE and to become a member of the Rounde Table, O. D. K., and Chi Beta Phi. Stan's a swell fellow and he deserves everything he gets.

EARL BARTLETT

Alias the "King Bee" or "Stud." Maybe he's no brain storm but he sure knows what to do on the gridiron. Stud really has made a swell captain for the team and we won't know how indebted we are to him until after he has left us. Well, Stud, here's wishing you the best of luck, you deserve it.

ROBERT KIDD

Bob, you've done some darned good playing for us and we want you to know it. If you'll get out there and fight at everything else like you have at basketball, we have no doubts about your success. More power to you.

LILLIAN BOSLEY

Through her attractive personality, Lillian has gained for herself as many friends as any one person on the campus. That is because she practiced that age-old maxim of first being a friend. It was because of her popularity that she was elected carnival queen last year. Lillian has set her goal high. Don't worry, she'll get there.

KATHERINE BLANC

Her engaging personality and enviable and deserving reputation for getting things done have mirrored themselves in her election as Senior Class President, and as President of Pitkin Club. And is she a scholar? Just ask any of her fellow Rounde Table members!

CENTREE COLLICH IS SCHOOL FOR SISSIES

POLITICS BY THE "JUDGE"

By the time you cast your persuasive glances on these lines the exhilarating subtleties of spring will be floating by your amorous souls. The little birds will have returned from the south. I suppose too that if a certain erudite verse maker was correct in his speculations on life and its finer possibilities that young men's thoughts will lightly turn to love.

However, these comments effect only a few, a comparatively few of us who are prone to call ourselves men so that their intrinsic value may be rated at nil. Consequently let us forsake idealism and its concomitant speculations and concern ourselves with a stark realism which affects us all.

Love may be with us and it may not be. However, we are sure of one thing, and that one thing is campus politics.

Thus far it may appear to you that I have said nothing of my subject. You may think that you are wrong in your conclusion, but you are not. I have actually said nothing of the political situation. The truth about the darn thing is that I don't know a fool thing about it. However, give me a little time and I will think something up.

Now, it occurs to me that there are about seven political units here on the campus, namely, the Lie Delts, the Rekes, the Likma Phis, the Skatas, the A. K. T's, the Swig Alphas, and the non-frat group. Like all other conventional groups around here these organizations evidence a spirit of friendliness of one toward the other for the sake

When ye editor decided to bang out a pillar of scandal he, without knowing, turned up one of the richest bits of literary pay-dirt around this neck of the woods. So hold on tight, my children, we're off to do a little digging:

With the registration of a fair to middlin' crop of frosh up at the "woiks" scandal got off to a flying start. Billie Cobb started making copy by giving her few and far between dates a swell bawling out for saying "durn." We didn't know there were such women as Billie.

Burpee started getting in the hair of the lads right at the first crack out of the box with that super smooth line of hers and that smooth cat-like manner in which she heels and toes down the drag.

"Gawgia" is still causing titters of laughing with that drawl of hers, but regardless of the drawl and that personality plus of hers she failed to captivate.

Over on the men's campus Glen Hendrickson takes the fur lined sauce pan for attempting to "Don Juan" every little gal that got in his way. According to some of the gals that have gotten in Glen's way the Maysville Senior likes his woo. Nuf sed—

S. A. E. Waller has gone the entire year without a date and incidentally without combing his hair. If I were a gal I wouldn't give him a date either.

FINEST TEA SIP- PERS RAISED HERE

According to the latest announcement issued by the National Safety Council Centree Collich is the safest and most secure joint this side of Harlan. The Council elucidated further and announced that the pants wearing portion of our student body are actually safer here than in the Elysian fields to be found at home. Collich authorities were elated to the point of having a convocation when this was revealed. Just think, deah mothers, you can send your boy to Centree and rest assured that he will come home without a wife and with his bones unbroken.

In a recent interview with collich authorities it was stressed that this great achievement was attained through the hardest of all hard work. The startling part of this interview was the fact that several dastardly plots had been reported by the collich authorities' "stooges" which were in the making in an attempt to spoil this collich's record for turning out the world's finest "sissies."

When summer breezes were still zephering 'cross campus several adventurous young lads tossed discretion to the winds and purchased a fleet of Fords that should have been retired to homes for the aged and infirmed many years before and began to drive them around in a very vicious and unsissy-like manner. The bewhiskered members of this fair city raised a yelp that was heard for miles. It seemed that the ancient motors caused their sleeping hours to be punctuated by extremely loud and boisterous "back-fires." Danville's disposition and digestion had been completely ruined by panting, wheezing motors, and the old boys were getting "cricks" in their necks from shaking their heads over the situation of seeing the fine sissies of Centree turn into regular boys.

An automobile race between these broken down excuses of automobiles to a neighboring city and back was planned, but the plan was nipped in the bud by the collich authorities as being not in keeping with our ancient sissy tradition.

Another near catastrophe was barely averted when the Greeks of the campus were halted in their bold attempt to play interfrat football. One game was actually played, and one participant was unfortunate enough to sustain a very bloody nose! "Horrors!" screamed the authorities, "what are the boys thinking about today? When we were in collich we were satisfied with nice long afternoon walks."

As Head Screwball of the "screwiest newspaper printed," I wish to predict a few things for next year. There will be no walking in the rain sans rubbers or coat, umbrella optional. Another prediction is that boys will not be allowed to court more than twice a week, and smoke no more than eight cigarettes a day.

We must maintain our tradition of turning out the finest sissies in the world.

BRIGHT SAYINGS DEPT.

The old lady stooped and looked into the little darling's face, and patted his wee head. "Say 'Mama' for me, sweetness," she cooed softly. The baby didn't make a sound. The old lady became more earnest: "Come, little one, say 'Mama' for poor old me." Finally the baby looked at the old woman and gurgled in a very agitated manner: "How the heck do you expect me to talk when I'm only three months old?"—Penn State Froth.

Pully: "I suppose you dance?"

Stith: "Oh, yes. I love to."

Pully: "Great. That's better'n dancing.

the Joe College Club for his persistency in wearing the foulest colored pajamas you ever saw as underwear. Why doncha ask your folks real nice like; they might break down and buy some drillies, Charlie.

We are of the opinion that the finances of our fair school could be helped considerably by staging some wrestling and boxing matches between members of the faculty. An admission price of ten cents should be charged and with such men as Munn, Terhune, and Taylor on the card the house should be packed for every match. We are placing our money on Prof. Taylor. From his own lips we have heard how tough he is and how many matches he has won.

It seems to us that some method should be devised which would enable ambitious young men to meet the young ladies under proper conditions when they first arrive at the "woiks." Of course, parties and that sort of thing are provided; but, heck, that don't give a man half a chance. We have it straight from such "smoothies" and power houses as Joe Wycoff and Hi Williamson that they were handicapped by the lack of such facilities when they first came to school.

Something ought to be done about our good friend Leslie Boyd. When he first arrived in our midst he was without a doubt the best little boy that ever trod a sidewalk, but let me tell you, he's not that now. He smokes a package of cigarettes a day, says a curse word ever now and then, and the latest thing as we have it, he collects empty whiskey bottles. Where do you get all the glass wrappers, Leslie?

Taking everything into consideration, Doc. Hewlett isn't such a bad fellow after all. He does carry on a lot of gab about Bacon, Carlyle, and a flock of other fellows of their ilk, but he is fairly interesting in his comments on the duties of the wife and man's conception of beauty. We believe he knows more about the latter subject than the former, if that be possible.

Good night, you rascals.

SMART FELLER,
HARBISON

Stanley Harbison, Editor of the 1935 OLDE CENTRE, is undoubtedly the smartest little boy who ever did the book here at Olde Centre Collich. I admit that that sounds like a paradox, but let me explain myself.

Harby is darn smart because he got out of a lot of work in editing the book last year. Just when the clover was beginning to get long and deep, just when the editor's typewriter has to bang away about four hours every day to get all of the copy in, Stanley managed to get sick, and at that good and sick. He had his appendix removed and was in bed for about two weeks. Meanwhile he directed his amiable staff and business manager in the preparation of the copy from the soothing comfort of his soft, white pillow.

I don't really know why I am writing this story, but I suppose that I am doing it from envy. I have been trying to get sick all year, and it just seems that I can't do any good.

Stanley still refuses to tell me how he managed it.

SMELLY NEWS

BY

SCREWBALL BAIRD

Once upon a time a prominent city editor told a reporter that every good news gatherer had to have a good "nose for news" before he could reach the top in journalism. This reporter took this "nose for news" business seriously and one fine day he sallied forth, sniffing every other step in the age long quest for noseworthy, I mean newsworthy, happenings.

This reporter roamed the campus from one end to the other and did not smell a thing. He saw a coupla dogs doing a powerful lot of sniffing around the flag pole, but this "nosey" reporter decided not to stoop that low. Finally this young man suffering from acute probuscuity walked in the gym, ev-

EDITORIALSWHAT WE THINK

What we think doesn't amount to two hoots in a rain barrel, but nevertheless we are going to tell you about it. You may not like what we have to say, but you can't do anything about it, so just take it and pretend that you like it.

We had a few pages in the annual that were blank. To be perfectly frank with you we didn't know what to do with the darn things. Some bright boy suggested a beauty review section, but after taking one look around the Campus we decided that there wasn't enough really good looking gals to fill up these blank pages. Therefore, as an alternative the idea of the "screwiest newspaper" was born as a medium to put in print some of the "collegiana" that ever doggone one of us have indulged in one time or another.

So if you happen to be on the receiving end of one of our "cracks" please don't take it to heart, but come around and tell us that you liked it. It will make us feel mighty swell, and after all we don't mean a thing we say.

ANNUAL SERVICE

We have just finished talking to one or two good friends that we have, and we have decided to conduct this business of getting the annual out in a different way next year. We have decided to work on the premise that every one is egotistical, or to express it in a different term, is affected with a turgid case of megalomania. Every one likes to see his or her picture as many times as possible. Therefore, we are going to make the astounding offer of putting your picture on every page for the mere pittance of a buck a page. Furthermore, for ten cents extra we will put your picture next to your best gal or vice versa. Some joke, I'm not editor next year.

Everything smelled okay, but the lad made the horrible mistake of walking down the stairs into the locker rooms. An odor, a terrible odor, assailed his sensitive and quivering nostrils, the smell emanated from football uniforms hanging over steam pipes above. This reporter tried and tried to classify this lusty perfume and finally he arrived at the conclusion that it was B. O. in its purest and strongest form.

The whiff of B. O. started the greatest journalistic agitation that has ever been held in this institution for first and second grade sissies. Besley Loyd turned his mighty news organ over to the drive to do away with B. O. in the basement of the gym. The giant presses poured out thousands upon thousands of editions per day, with screaming scareheads to the effect that "This Is an Institution for Prime Softies. Must We Tolerate B. O. in the Basement of Our Glorious Gym?"

Editor Loyd agitated and agitated and finally one morning a huge hamper of lavender bath salts was delivered to the back door of the gym. A holiday was declared and all the primest sissies danced around the flag pole for ten minutes then all together they pip squeaked a mighty "Whoops, Dearie." After the huge rally the sissy students flounced their way to the chapel where Editor Loyd had a medal embellished with a dainty pink ribbon pinned to his palpitating breast.

So there, my students, you see what a sensitive nose did for all the goody goodys in deah ole Centre.

BULLING WITH "YE EDITOR"

This is not February 1st, but ye bearded editor of the Olde Centre came wabbling out of his den today long enough to say once more that the publication would be out on time for a change. After that he went back in his hole again, but don't believe that that means bad weather.

It seems that the printing firm of Benson, Benson, Benson, and Benson has been working furiously on the copy that has been sent in and unless the dilapidated place falls down it is probable that everything will work out all right in that sector. There is a probability too that the L. & N.'s crack train, the Pan-American, will jump the track as it brings the books to Danville. However, should neither of these contingencies materialize, it is probable that the book will appear on time.

The editorial staff has only one worry. The members of the staff have been unable to conceive of a scheme which will enable them to place their pictures on every page and at the same time give no one the impression that they are in any way conceited. If anyone is able to think of such a scheme we know that our successors would appreciate hearing of it.

of propriety. Apparently, they are just one happy family.

Such, you all know, is not a representation of reality. Spring elections are near at hand. Soon those nocturnal visits from one group to another will begin. The poor fellows who are not on the "inside" will be left out.

Such, my friends, is the situation as I see it. So be careful or that little boy with the pretty hair will get you.

"HELL-WEEK" ABOLISHED HERE

Believing that no one at no time should receive a spanking unless they deserve it, the college and the fraternities of the campus have actually abolished hell-week. This decision fits in well with the college's purpose to make this place the safest on this green earth.

As an alternative a probation week for the pledges has been devised by the Greeks. The first two commandments of this week are: there shall be no spanking with long, hard boards with splinters in them. Second, no one shall be kept up all night long. Instead, a system of Hopscotch playing and crossword puzzle working has been drawn up. (The privilege of working crossword puzzles being granted to peg leg pledges.)

The system has worked well. All of the pledges have continued their "A" work right on through hell-week, I mean probation week. They didn't go to sleep in any classes and they were just as active as little grasshoppers at all times.

The only ones who don't like the new system are the experienced, "hard fathers" of some of the fraternities who find it hard to get enough exercise unless they swing their paddles. Some of them claim that they are going to leave school as they are having no fun.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Learned Editor:

What course do you suggest that I take next year? Bill Baird.

Dear Buckethead:

Listen heah, I think you are a prime sap for not knowing that, but I will tell you. Take German at any cost.

P. S.—My advice only holds good in the case that you are going to have some more fair red-headed visitors from Missouri. After all I hear, German is a "pinkiegood" course, you know.

Heh There, Friend Editor:

Do you think that I will ever, ever get out of this hyar Centree Collich?
Sherman Goodpaster.

You Deah Rascal, You:

Hain't you got no sense? You know you will never get out of this school. They don't educate Cab Calloway's down here in the Athens of Kentucky.

Honest, Friendly Editor:

How can I do more good out Lebanon Pike way?

Danny Sanders.

My Deah Bright-Faced Cherub:

You should know by now that gals don't like playing cards for Christmas presents. Ya dope.

Dear Editor:

Say, I feel terrible every Sunday morning. What the heck can I do about it?
Kenneth Eicholz.

Dear "Sweet Boy":

There is not really very much a man like you can do about a thing like that, but I suggest that you stay from fellows like the Gaines boys and Bartlett on Saturday night.

Kind Editor:

The girls don't like the music I play on my guitar. What am I going to do about it?
Eugene French.

Amiable Eugene:

You go in for the wrong type, son. Try some of those Western Kentucky gals like Katherine Blanc and Mattie Hickman Moore. They're used to your kind of music.

Lovable Editor:

Don't you think Calvin Gaines is the cutest, cutest boy?

Betty Adler.

Petite Little Girl:

I don't believe you know the blackguard, Sweetie.

Handsome Fellow:

What can I do to make me stay in Danville over the week-ends?
Eleanor Burpee.

Captivating Charmer:

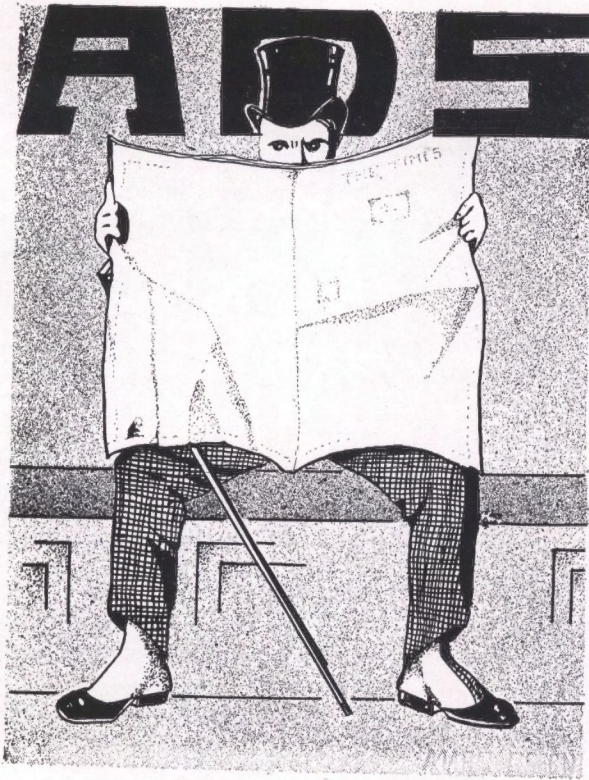

Stick to Brother Stanley a little more. He's a powerhouse when he gets started.

Erudite Brother:

What can I do to help me along at a certain place? I've tried crooning, but her "old man" told me if I opened my trap again he'd throw me out.
Junie Calvert.

Cheery Faced One:

Get this into your pretty little head. You can't do anything with your singing or with that Plymouth of yours when you have to compete with a Spaniard. Remember Don Juan? You just can't stop those fellows. Give up, you sap.

CENTRE COLLEGE

Founded 1819

DANVILLE, KENTUCKY

Fully Accredited

Centre College has been educating young people for one hundred and seventeen years. There have been no departures from the primary purposes of the foundation of the college. The first was that the building of Christian character should be the primary objective. The second was that a broadly cultural education in the liberal arts and sciences be offered. Both of these principles are accepted by the present administration as correctly defining the attitude of the small college of liberal arts. It aims to develop character. It is cultural and not vocational.

Centre College has always been more concerned with training for life than with increasing earning power; with scholarship for its own sake rather than for its financial returns; with character of heart as well as with strength of intellect. Centre College in 1936 presents an ideal of education that for more than a century in countless colleges has given to the nation its finest spirits and that ought not to be surrendered overnight for a purely utilitarian view of school and life.

FULLY ACCREDITED

On the basis of one hundred and seventeen unbroken years of service in the South and the nation, Centre College invites a consideration by young men and young women seeking the best in college training.

The acquisition by Centre College in 1926 of the property and assets of Kentucky College for Women gave to Kentucky its only system of co-ordinate education. The two colleges are under one administration and faculty, but with separate buildings and campuses and separate student bodies. This plan of organization provides the advantages of separate colleges for men and women without the disadvantages of complete separation. It is the plan adopted by Columbia and Barnard, by Harvard and Radcliffe, by Brown and Pembroke Hall, and by Tulane and Sophie Newcomb. It has worked with complete success at Centre College for the past ten years.

The Woman's Department of Centre College is the only four-year woman's college in the State. Like the men's college, it is fully accredited by the Association of American Universities, and the Association of the Colleges of the Southern States, and is on the approved list of the American Association of University Women. The same broad cultural education is now offered to the young women of the South that Centre College has offered to young men for over a century.
