

At faculty meetings, for a long time I had the feeling that

I WAS TOLERATED, BUT MY OPINION WAS NOT SOUGHT.

[...] Very often I'd hear my own opinion expressed fifteen minutes later by another faculty member, as though it was a brand new idea, and adopted with enthusiasm.

"I Found it Very Difficult to Be Heard" from Generations: A Century of Women Speak About their Lives