

Traditional Cambodian Weddings

To get ready for a Cambodian Wedding first the groom has to ask the bride's parents if the bride can marry with the groom. If permission is granted.

Then in one or two months they get married. The couple gets married in a house or a temple.

The parents start to cook food one or two weeks early. They cook special foods. Some food are chicken soup, rice, meat on a stick and on and on. They wrap the foods with with colored plastics wrap with the plates and the food inside.

Then the ceremony begins. The bride and groom wear bright shining pantaloon and something on their heads that look like crowns. The lady wears jewelry like necklaces, earrings and bracelets on her hands.

The groom has to go to the bride house to marry there.
