

A Cambodian Ghost Tale

If a man is building a house and the owner doesn't pay him enough money to build the house the builder can put blood on the nail.

Then the owner of the house will have bad lucks and the ghosts will haunt him.

But a monk can come to the house and discover if there is blood on one of the nails and if there is the monk will say prayers to get rid of the ghost.

This is a true story. It happened to my teacher's friend.