

Chantha Duong

June 8, 1990.

Cambodian Wedding Customs

When my father want to marry my mother. He has to ask his mother and father to go to my mother house. He has to say polite to my grandmother and my grandfather. My grandmother has to ask my father what do my father do in school. What was his job. And did he smart or not. When my grandma finished asking my father's mother ask my mother. What do you do in the house? My father's mother also said what job do you work. When my father mother finish asking my mother and my father got married. My mother wear a pantaloons when she got married. And my father also wear a pantaloons too. My grandmother and my grandfather make foods for the people who came to the wedding. The monks came and said good thing to my mother and my father. They say good luck has alot of baby and live happily. My mother and father was happy