

Khmer
Khoep and Chanda

Lotus are lilies that grow in the water.
Cambodian people eat the stems and seeds of this plant. They taste very good.
The stems grow under the water.