Congressman Jones

I have been a Democrat for years, but I feel that our President, and regardless of his Party, he is our President, deserves credit for the many accomplishments during his administration.

I think we should do everything we can to stop the wild panic to impeach. I am ashamed for some people.

If we must criticize, the only fair thing is to give credit where it is due.

There are about 20 girls working here. We all plan to write. We have been silent, thinking that things would settle down. No matter what the President says, no one is satisfied. There seems to be nothing he can do to make people happy,

I have never seen so much unfairness in my life.

If other Democrats are so blind and power mad, of course some republicans are doing the same, I think I'll switch.

Very, Very Discontent

Dear Ms. Clark:

Your letter arrived while Congressman Jones is out of the country. As you may know, Mr. Jones was appointed to a special subcommittee of the House Armed Services Committee to gather facts about the Middle East with which to report back to the House of Representatives. The Congressman is presently in Egypt and Israel.

I am taking the liberty of acknowledging receipt of your letter, and I will bring your correspondence to Congressman Jones' personal attention immediately upon his return to the United States in late November.

Sincerely yours,

Stephen Kaplan
Staff Assistant
