Congressman 1st Dist. of Oklahoma

JAMES R. JONES, M.C.
WASHINGTON, D.C.

Dear Congressman Jones:

I am registered as a Democrat but I am growing ashamed of it. One year of Watergate is enough. It is time for the Congress to get on with the neglected affairs of the nation, instead of occupying its time with a vicious dastardly attack designed to destroy the President and our government.

And lets get the expense of running the government within a balanced budget.

However not at the expense of the National Defense.

Tighten up our belts elsewhere, including proposed salary increases for Congressman and Senators all the way down to senseless guaranteed income for people that don't want to work, - period!

Yours sincerely
A worried citizen

Dear Mr. Banks:

Thank you very much for communicating with me concerning your opinions on the question of impeachment.

After several resolutions of impeachment were introduced last year, the House Judiciary Committee was assigned the responsibility of investigating the facts to determine whether there was evidence to personally implicate the President in an impeachable offense.

A staff was assembled in December to begin this study. It is expected that the Judiciary Committee staff investigation will be completed sometime in April. At that time, the evidence will be presented and a vote taken to determine whether impeachment proceedings should begin or be dropped.

Most House Members, including myself, believe that we should keep an open mind and decide on the basis of the legal evidence which is presented later in the spring.

In the meantime, Congress has a full agenda of important business in the areas of energy, the economy, and other domestic legislation which will occupy my work and attention.

I do appreciate your taking the time to share your views with me, and I will keep these in mind at such time as I am called upon to decide on this issue.

With best wishes, I am

Sincerely yours,

JAMES R. JONES
