*1/31/74 Honorable James R. Jones - as you no doubt know the people are sick to death of this Watergate mess and would like to have the House begin to attend to business. The President has violated nothing, only tried to do good for the country.
Thought of impeachment is ridiculous! The people have just begun to fight for the preservation of the highest office in our land.*

GM Watergate Winkler Dr. Ruth

Dr. Ruth Winkler

Dear Dr. Winkler:

Thank you very much for communicating with me concerning your opinions on the question of impeachment.

After several resolutions of impeachment were introduced last year, the House Judiciary Committee was assigned the responsibility of investigating the facts to determine whether there was evidence to personally implicate the President in an impeachable offense.

A staff was assembled in December to begin this study. It is expected that the Judiciary Committee staff investigation will be completed sometime in April. At that time, the evidence will be presented and a vote taken to determine whether impeachment proceedings should begin or be dropped.

Most House Members, including myself, believe that we should keep an open mind and decide on the basis of the legal evidence which is presented later in the spring.

In the meantime, Congress has a full agenda of important business in the areas of energy, the economy, and other domestic legislation which will occupy my work and attention.

I do appreciate your taking the time to share your views with me, and I will keep these in mind at such time as I am called upon to decide on this issue.

With best wishes, I am

Sincerely yours,

JAMES R. JONES
Member of Congress
