JAMES R. JONES, M.C.
WASHINGTON, D.C.

Dear Sir;

Impeachment of President Nixon would reflect America's demand for morality and integrity. We've displayed to the world our mistakes. Now let's show the rest of the world how we react to bribery, obstruction of justice, organization of a secret police and secret bombings. The longer we stand for this, the more perilous our future. Impeach now.

Sincerely,

Mr. & Mrs. E. D. Sackett

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Sackett:

Thank you very much for communicating with me concerning your opinions on the question of impeachment.

After several resolutions of impeachment were introduced last year, the House Judiciary Committee was assigned the responsibility of investigating the facts to determine whether there was evidence to personally implicate the President in an impeachable offense.

A staff was assembled in December to begin this study. It is expected that the Judiciary Committee staff investigation will be completed sometime in April. At that time, the evidence will be presented and a vote taken to determine whether impeachment proceedings should begin or be dropped.

Most House Members, including myself, believe that we should keep an open mind and decide on the basis of the legal evidence which is presented later in the spring.

In the meantime, Congress has a full agenda of important business in the areas of energy, the economy, and other domestic legislation which will occupy my work and attention.

I do appreciate your taking the time to share your views with me, and I will keep these in mind at such time as I am called upon to decide on this issue.

With best wishes, I am

Sincerely yours,

JAMES R. JONES
Member of Congress
