JAMES R. JONES, M.C.
WASHINGTON, D.C.

Mr. Congressman -

After hearing your speeches when you returned to Washington DC "Quater" in the press and then listening to Nixon last nite - I can't believe I am being represented. I surely didn't vote for you to be a "yes-man" to the house - There are too many of those already - I didn't vote for Nixon or Agnew -

Can you imagine how far back in jail I would be if I had done what Agnew did - even today in "our" Republic "Tulsa World" another story about his payoffs -

How - after all the evidence - You could not vote for impeachment would be a mystery - A man that has impeached the law at every turn for at least 25 years -

I have always been so proud to be an American - an Oklahoman (Sooner not Okie) - I'm afraid if you go along with the sheep. You have to apologize to my out of state friends and relatives -

As far as Watergate - Amen - Lets go ahead until the bitter end - Nixon (I cannot call him President) is wanting to call and end to it and dwell on his foreign policy - Peace - what peace?? How about you asking him to let us know what Kissinger has given them - Has many "bags of gold from Fort Knox has he packed"?

Our only real information comes from the National Observer and since its a weekly, we miss a lot of the "news today"

I hope you will take this letter (if you see it) as a true expression of my concern. I hope the signs for your election posted in my yard (amid the republicans) won't in vain -

In the last of April -

Mrs. Harry L. Abramson
1743 E. 59th St.
Tulsa, Oklahoma 74105

Dear Mrs. Abramson:

Thank you very much for communicating with me concerning your opinions on the question of impeachment.

After several resolutions of impeachment were introduced last year, the House Judiciary Committee was assigned the responsibility of investigating the facts to determine whether there was evidence to personally implicate the President in an impeachable offense.

A staff was assembled in December to begin this study. It is expected that the Judiciary Committee staff investigation will be completed sometime in April. At that time, the evidence will be presented and a vote taken to determine whether impeachment proceedings should begin or be dropped.

Most House Members, including myself, believe that we should keep an open mind and decide on the basis of the legal evidence which is presented later in the spring.

In the meantime, Congress has a full agenda of important business in the areas of energy, the economy, and other domestic legislation which will occupy my work and attention.

I do appreciate your taking the time to share your views with me, and I will keep these in mind at such time as I am called upon to decide on this issue.

With best wishes, I am

Sincerely yours,

JAMES R. JONES
Member of Congress
